PLAINTIFF WOULD LOVE TO FULLY KNOW THE TRUTH; HOWEVER, PLAINTIFF HAS BEEN OBSTRUCTED FROM FINDING OUT THE FULL TRUTH AND THIS IS TO THE BEST OF PLAINTIFF'S ABILITY TO ASCERTAIN THE TRUTH. PLAINTIFF IS NOT A TERRORIST NOR THE DEVIL.

10. Plaintiff further alleges as follows: (Describe what happened that you believe supports your claims. To the extent possible, be specific as to your own actions and the actions of each defendant.)

For more than 20 years, PLAINTIFF has been legally a slave recorded in every single moment & controversy since Freshman year of High School in 2003 in which PLAINTIFF was cruelly used & abused. At one time or another PLAINTIFF was not even a human being to DEFENDANTS because he was a liability to them because of their crimes against PLAINTIFF (or coerced into committing crimes for them for their complete control) or wasn't human to DEFENDANTS because PLAINTIFF because he is Autistic, which was the worst thing to be in an Indian caste system, huge stigma in Japan, and/or Eastern Europe in which it was a crime to the state to be crippled. DEFENDANTS intentionally exploited PLAINTIFF's disabilities for their own political & financial gains & their own personal insecurities between 2003-2023 in which PLAINTIFF needed help like in Tokyo 2015 when he was being tortured & having war crimes committed against PLAINTIFF, being forced to eat PLAINTIFF'S own vomit by his father as a child, threatening to kill PLAINTIFF having attempted to kill PLAINTIFF in 2017, intentionally undertook actions knowing that to PLAINTIFF it was worse than death, etc. & DEFENDANTS knew all of the crimes & still did nothing despite having complete control over PLAINTIFF'S life like access to his cell phone and laptop and email accounts

Instead of meaningfully helping PLAINTIFF & come to a resolution as of 12/22/2023, DEFENDANTS continue to maliciously treat & falsely believe PLAINTIFF groomed children, was a terrorist and the worst things known to man in which they are actually based on fact the terrorist pedophiles that imported Angie Ortiz to blackmail PLAINTIFF in 2015 in which I was never a terrorist nor pedophile. PLAINTIFF is under their absolute control of DEFENDANTS in which PLAINTIFF was falsely & routinely labeled horrendous things & completely lied about in Court proceedings for years & had fabricated evidence used against him, forced to commit crimes & framed to commit crimes to justify an unconstitutional expansion of power, money, & policy in which DEFENDANTS had & have absolute control over PLAINTIFF like having access to his phone & laptop 24/7, DEFENDANTS got more callous, richer, and crueler all the while PLAINTIFF got poorer, fatter, unhealthier, more broken in mind, body, & soul living in squalid conditions being forced to endure horrors unspeakable all the while depriving PLAINTIFF of everything including compensation, respect, friendship, family, career, love, & honor denying PLAINTIFF access to the Courts like clockwork. DEFENDANTS like HILLARY CLINTON, ERIC HOLDER, JEH JOHNSON, India, knew they could treat PLAINTIFF as a subhuman because that is the way PLAINTIFF'S parents treated PLAINTIFF through the years like forcing & coercing PLAINTIFF to sign things without knowing the contents of it, making shit up, and torturing to the point of doing things against PLAINTIFF'S own legal and constitutional interests for any semblance of love & respect. PLAINTIFF has been intentionally deprived of notice & information & even when PLAINTIFF sought to be informed of the decades long fraud by filing more than 25 FOIA requests, filed more than 10 complaints at respective agencies, PLAINTIFF was routinely & intentionally ignored, obstructed in which PLAINTIFF has actual video evidence of one instance. PLAINTIFF even emailed the FBI and told them he has a phone that has evidence of domestic & international terrorism & they completely ignored PLAINTIFF.

False accusations were routinely believed as truth because it was in DEFENDANTS' financial & power interests to believe so. In a way, it started in 2003 or 2004 when the "BELLOS (Mary, Anthony, & Joe)" under the direction of "Anthony Bello" had his son Joe Bello coerce PLAINTIFF into declaring allegiance to a hostile force because of PLAINTIFF'S beliefs, religion of orthodox Christianity, autism & disabilities, his speech, super computer algorithms/pre-crime, & part of their RICO Enterprise in which the pattern was continued with both GRIFFIN FRY (YOUNG) & REBECCA WETHERBEE in which DEFENDANTS failed to retain texts proving such or deleted such to obstruct an investigation & to continue a lifelong pattern of exploiting PLAINTIFF'S disabilities & retaliating against PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disabilities, religion, nationality, & speech to further the financial, personal, and political policy decisions of DEFENDANTS. Based on current knowledge and belief, Sir Evelyn de Rothschild: Chairman, E.L. Rothschild LLC and Lady Lynn Forester de Rothschild conspired with Bill Clinton in London on June 26th, 2015 in which Bill Clinton conspired on the same day with Hillary Clinton on June 26th, 2015 when she affirmed the hit against PLAINTIFF in Japan that was established in March 2015 by Bill Clinton that PLAINTIFF explained in Attachment A because of what HILLARY CLINTON did to PLAINTIFF in London and was a liability to her & the ROTHSCHILDS in which the Rothschilds and the Clintons had a reason to retaliate against PLAINTIFF and commit a hit against PLAINTIFF that concerned PLAINTIFF and Corruption that the Rothschilds and Clintons sought to dispose of a political and financial liability in which the Indian Government under Modi principally aided and abetted or did a favor on behalf of them in which DEFENDANTS violated PLAINTIFF'S soul, degraded and humiliated PLAINTIFF sexually, fundamentally changed the personality of PLAINTIFF. The ROTHSCHILDS all have major interests in Qatar, the United States, United Kingdom, and India in which Lady Lynn Forester de Rothschild had a fund raiser for Hillary Clinton in 2016 after the hit was accomplished. Andrew McCabe, Jeh Johnson, and/or Peter Strzok leaked the details of conversations I had to Hillary Clinton that Hillary Clinton specifically referenced on June 26th, 2015. Alphabet, Xfinity, and Cox conspired with American Intel DEFENDANTS to intentionally deprive PLAINTIFF of information & facts to fully support PLAINTIFF'S allegations in the course of the RICO Enterprise between 2003-2023. Qatar Airways used QIA owned refinery and gas that was obtained through a QIA company to get their aircraft from Doha to London on March 10th 2011 or March 11th, 2011 as part of the RICO Enterprise. PLAINTIFF has repeatedly tried to talk to Corporation DEFENDANTS Chase, Delta, United, AT&T, Verizon, Apple, and more in which PLAINTIFF explained the basis of the claims of liability in which all afor to discuss the issues further in which they all ignored PLAINTIFF (or into I don't want any war. PLAINTIFF incorporates Attachment A [here].

11. Defendants acted knowingly, intentionally, willfully and maliciously.
11(a). PLAINTIFF wishes to state the truth about himself. continued below.
12. As a result of defendant's conduct, plaintiff was injured as follows:

$60 Billion USD in Damages. See Attachment A. Loss of new BOEING aircraft: 6 Apache Helicopters Fully Armed,
5 new 777-8fs, 10 787s, 10 737s; landing slots & gates without tax or fees at London-Heathrow, Dulles Airport (and a hangar big enough to fit one of my new 777-8F's or 787-10s at IAD), Doha International Airport, New Orleans Airport, Chicago O'Hare, and Atlanta Heartfield-Jackson Airport. Complete legal ownership of Dulles International Airport. 68 or so new General Electric Locomotives or combo; partial ownership of United Airlines, Delta Airlines, QIA, Qatar Airways, and Boeing. The degradation of being a slave

The psychological pain and turmoil of 20 years of unconstitutional abuse, surveillance, torture, war crimes, RICO, and more without Due Process of Law or NOTICE. DEFENDANTS intentional scarring of mind, body, heart, and soul; health issues, undetermined rectal bleeding for nearly 3 years even after clean colonoscopy, loss of mental capacity, severe PTSD, absolute intellectual, personal and social regression, massive weight gain 150 lbs or 68 Kilograms, loss of humorous self, loss of friendships, loss of family, loss of purpose, loss of trust, loss of faith, living in hell when I die, loss of employment, loss of future opportunities, I don't know how to make new friends, have a girlfriend/wife, maintain relationships anymore, and more. See Attachment A.

13. Plaintiff asks that the case be tried by a jury. ☒ Yes ☐ No

11a. My name is Miki Kotevski. I am a straight, crude, sarcastic, truthful, autistic orthodox christian man that loves to put my head in between most adult women's boobs. I love the Constitution. I love Free Speech, Nascar, Trains, Planes, Learning, & & helping people when I can. I am not a terrorist. I am not a spy. I am not a rapist. I am not a pedophile. I'm not in any Cartel nor am I russian. I have never been married in the eyes of God. I revealed things in Attachment A out of fidelity to the truth, law, even if some things might harm me legally at least I owned up to my mistakes so many times before & there too unlike DEFENDANTS. I never did anything on behalf of Kristina Khomova nor Russia in 2016 nor did I mean what I wrote to Kristina Khomova in 2018 or so. I never intended to subvert any electoral process nor decide who is going to be the President. I want my restitution, I want my planes, I want my trains. I want respect and an apology for the things that were committed against me.
I am not a danger to the United States nor to anyone nor am I doing this as a terrorist act. I want to be certified as a pilot, locomotive engineer/conductor, apache helicopters operator and owner. I had and have the right to defend myself.

PLAINTIFF has been intentionally deprived of fully learning the information and has to make guesses in the wind because he knows the harm that was done to him but the people that committed the harm are the ones obstructing.

Basic reasons why certain DEFENDANTS are included:

Due to the secrecy of intelligence and military in which all intelligence agencies and militaries and governments have substantial reason to commit war crimes against PLAINTIFF, torture PLAINTIFF, prevent PLAINTIFF from accessing the Court, and in which numerous DEFENDANTS intentionally obstructed PLAINTIFF in the process, at one time or another between 2003 through 2023, one of the following applies to any DEFENDANT:

- 1) PLAINTIFF'S name and file came across their desk(s) in the course and scope of their employment in which they processed, viewed, analyzed, or undertook some type of action involving PLAINTIFF in the course of their employment sometime between 2003-2023;
- 2) Are corporations that necessarily profited from different DEFENDANTS' RICO Conduct that caused PLAINTIFF extreme peril, damages, and more;
- 3) Aided and Abetted WILLIAM JEFFERSON CLINTON and HILLARY CLINTON;
- 4) Knowingly and willfully lied to the Court thereby committing judicial and legal fraud;
- 5) Violated the oath to the United States of America;
- 6) Knew of harm being done to PLAINTIFF and took no affirmative steps to do anything to help PLAINTIFF;

U.S.-Japan Joint Vision Statement

Today the United States and Japan honor a partnership that for seven decades has made enduring contributions to global peace, security, and prosperity. In this year which marks 70 years since the end of World War II, the relationship between our two countries stands as a model of the power of reconciliation: former adversaries who have become steadfast allies and who work together to advance common interests and universal values in Asia and globally. Together we have helped to build a strong rules-based international order, based on a commitment to rules, norms and institutions that are the foundation of global affairs and our way of life.

This transformation into a robust alliance and global partnership was not inevitable. Generations of people from all walks of life built the relationship between our countries over time, working in the belief that the experiences of the past should inform but not constrain the possibilities for the future. This endeavor has brought the United States and Japan to where we stand today: two of the world's leading economies, advancing regional prosperity through a mutually beneficial economic partnership, anchored by an unshakeable Alliance that is the cornerstone of peace and security in the Asia-Pacific region and a platform for global cooperation. The journey our two countries have traveled demonstrates that reconciliation is possible when all sides are devoted to achieving it.

Over the past 70 years, the U.S.-Japan relationship has successfully grown and adapted to challenges and significant changes in the international system. Together we helped to win the Cold War and manage its aftermath; we have worked together to fight terrorism after the September 11, 2001 attacks; we cooperated to strengthen the international financial architecture following the global financial crisis; we responded to natural disasters such as the tragic Great East Japan Earthquake and tsunami of March 11, 2011; we have confronted North Korean nuclear and missile threats, as well as human rights abuses and abductions; we have worked together to address concerns about Iran's nuclear program; and we have cooperated to address complex transnational challenges.

Today's meeting between President Obama and Prime Minister Abe marks a historic step forward in transforming the U.S.-Japan partnership. Through the United States' Asia-Pacific Rebalance strategy, and Japan's policy of "Proactive Contribution to Peace" based on the principle of international cooperation, we are working closely together to ensure a peaceful and prosperous future for the region and the world. We recognize that the security and prosperity of our two countries in the 21st century is intertwined, inseparable, and not defined solely by national borders. Our current and future commitments to each other and to the international order reflect that reality.

The United States and Japan are committed to a transparent, rules-based, and progressive approach in pursuing the prosperity of the region. Our leadership in this area encompasses trade and investment through the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP), development cooperation, and internet governance. The United States and Japan are leading efforts to set the rules for trade and investment, both in the dynamic and fast-growing Asia-Pacific region and around the world. As the two largest economies in TPP, we are working to finalize the most high-standard trade agreement ever negotiated. TPP will drive economic growth and prosperity in both countries and throughout the Asia-Pacific region by supporting more jobs, raising wages, and reinforcing our work together on a range of long term strategic objectives, including the promotion of regional peace and stability. We welcome the significant progress that has been made in the bilateral negotiations and reaffirm our commitment to work together to achieve a swift and successful conclusion to the broader agreement.

The new Guidelines for U.S.-Japan Defense Cooperation will transform the Alliance, reinforce deterrence, and ensure that we can address security challenges, new and old, for the long term. The new Guidelines will update our respective roles and missions within the Alliance and enable Japan to expand its contributions to regional and global security. The new Guidelines will enable us to work more closely on issues including maritime security, and to partner with other countries that share our aspirations, in the region and beyond. As we strengthen an Alliance that has become global in reach, the United States stands resolute and unwavering in all of its commitments under the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty, based upon a stable, long-term U.S. military presence in Japan.

The United States and Japan are building a partnership that addresses global challenges. Our agenda is broad: we will work together to address climate change and environmental degradation, one of the greatest threats facing humanity; to further strengthen our economies and to promote strong, sustainable and balanced global growth; to deliver secure, affordable, sustainable and safe energy; to eradicate poverty and achieve sustainable development; to promote human security; to counter violent extremism; to strengthen the NPT regime to achieve the peace and security of a world without nuclear weapons; to promote global trade and investment; to combat epidemics and threats to global health; to advance scientific inquiry and promote resilience in space; to ensure the safe and stable use of cyber space based on the free flow of information and an open internet; to promote disaster risk reduction and relieve those afflicted by natural disasters and humanitarian emergencies; to advance human rights and universal freedoms; to promote girls education and empower women and girls around the world; and to strengthen U.N. peacekeeping. The United States looks forward to a reformed U.N. Security Council that includes Japan as a permanent member. Seventy years ago this partnership was unimaginable. Today it is a fitting reflection of our shared interests, capabilities and values.

As we work to expand our global cooperation, we will be guided by shared principles:

- Respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity;
- Commitment to the peaceful resolution of disputes without coercion;
- Support for democracy, human rights, and the rule of law;
- Expansion of economic prosperity, through open markets, free trade, transparent rules and regulations, and high labor and environmental standards;
- Promotion of globally recognized norms of behavior in shared domains, including the freedom of navigation and overflight, based upon international law;
- Advancement of strong regional and global institutions; and
- Support for trilateral and multilateral cooperation among like-minded partners.

Today the international order faces fresh challenges, ranging from violent extremism to cyber attacks. State actions that undermine respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity by attempting to unilaterally change the status quo by force or coercion pose challenges to the international order. Such threats put at risk much that we have built. We must and will adapt again, working in concert with other allies and partners. But we also have before us exciting opportunities to raise our collaboration to a new level, in areas like science and technology, energy, infrastructure, and arts and culture. The spirit of innovation and entrepreneurship in these and other areas, supported by public-private collaboration, will continue to be the driving force of economic growth and prosperity in our two countries. The benefits of our work in these diverse fields will be global in reach. As we move forward, we will actively promote people-to-people exchange as a key pillar of our relationship, especially among younger generations. We take up these challenges and opportunities, knowing that the strength and resilience of our 70-year partnership will ensure our success in the decades ahead.

PART 1:

SECTION I: Introduction & Initial Issues.

SECTION I(A): DEFENDANTS, Relevant Factual Information, and some rules of construction:

Primarily due to the extremely secretive nature involving most of the DEFENDANTS and their actions and other DEFENDANTS complete reluctance to cooperate with PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF has done the best he can to identify when specific DEFENDANTS did what and PLAINTIFF has to resort to the following because there is no other way to express a claim of what happened without PLAINTIFF necessarily having to incorporate definitions this way. PLAINTIFF'S RICO complaint is essentially a res ipsa loquitor in nature where in certain chapters, the harm done was a thing that speaks for itself in which secret actions were taken that resulted in the harm, but PLAINTIFF has done his best to fill in the gaps and lead to enough plausibility and enough connectivity to pass a 12(b)(6) motion.

For the sake of brevity and to save on space and over-repetitiveness when it comes to intelligence or government agencies, PLAINTIFF will incorporate the following definitions in which it shall have the same legal purpose and effect as PLAINTIFF making an allegation against a specific individual listed in the definition or for a bivens/RICO claim/legal claim. For example, the definition of the CIA is listed below. Instead of typing the exact definition of CIA (below) whenever it is applicable over and over again, it makes it easier to read and understand the claim by simply just stating CIA in every single part of this complaint (section and/or chapters and/or subchapters). Most of the time, PLAINTIFF is not including the whole entire organization of the CIA itself in the definition of the CIA; PLAINTIFF will draw attention to when he specifically alleging incorporating the whole entire organization, agency, or company for legal purposes.

CIA: MICHAEL HAYDEN, LEON PANETTA, GINA HASPEL, JOHN O. BRENNAN, WILLIAM BURNS, MICHAEL JOSEPH MORELL, and/or 1) any current and former unknown officers, sub-contractors, any middlemen or actors between CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY and any other applicable DEFENDANT¹ and/or 2) any current and/or former employees of the CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY.

Furthermore, this is an example of when the definition would be inapplicable. Example: in one chapter entitled: Miki's Tea Party, PLAINTIFF alleges that the CIA was part of the incident. JOHN O. BRENNAN and WILLIAM BURNS were a part of the underlying factual circumstances in Miki's Tea Party, but they were not employed by the CIA at the time of Miki's Tea Party. Since WILLIAM BURNS and JOHN O. BRENNAN would necessarily know they were not employed by the CIA at the time of Miki's Tea Party, the definition of CIA would be inapplicable to them for legal purposes in Miki's Tea Party unless they meet part of the criteria listed in #1 in the definition above; however, the definition of State Department would be applicable to WILLIAM BURNS at the time of Miki's Tea Party. PLAINTIFF is not asking for much when it comes to the knowledge of DEFENDANTS because they knew who they were employed by a certain organization listed as a DEFENDANT at the time.

Section I(D).

PLAINTIFF immediately moves under F.R.C.P, Rule 65, PLAINTIFF for a permanent and/or preliminary injunction against all as not to waste precious judicial resources and because PLAINTIFF is completely destitute in which this case will last for years, if not a decade or more, if the preliminary or permanent injunction is not granted now.

So, all PLAINTIFF has to do in “...seeking to obtain a preliminary injunction must demonstrate: (1) its case has some likelihood of success on the merits; (2) that no adequate remedy at law exists; and (3) it will suffer irreparable harm if the injunction is not granted.” Ty, Inc. v. Jones Group, Inc., 237 F.3d 891 (7th Cir.2001). If these requirements are met, I must “consider the irreparable harm that the nonmoving party will suffer if preliminary relief is granted, balancing such harm against the irreparable harm the moving party will suffer if relief is denied.” Id. I must also consider the public interest, if any, in granting or denying the motion, then weigh all of the factors together. Id. The Seventh Circuit has adopted what it terms a “sliding scale approach,” which means that “the more likely the plaintiff will succeed on the merits, the less the balance of irreparable harms need favor the plaintiff’s position.” Id. This analysis (which applies equally to motions for a temporary restraining order), Long v. Board of Educ., Dist. 128, 167 F.Supp.2d 988, 990 (N.D.Ill.2001), is not “mathematical,” but rather “subjective and intuitive.” Domanus v. Lewicki, 857 F. Supp. 2d 719 (N.D. Ill. 2012) Furthermore, the “Seventh Circuit’s opinion in National Organization for Women v. Scheidler, 267 F.3d 687 (7th Cir.2001) (“NOW”), rev’d on other grounds, 537 U.S. 393, 123 S.Ct. 1057, 154 L.Ed.2d 991 (2003), the most salient holding of which was the affirmative conclusion that RICO empowers private plaintiffs to seek injunctive relief, rather than limiting them to suits for money damages. Id. at 699 (observing that “the plain text of the statute strongly suggests that private plaintiffs can seek injunctions”). The NOW court was not concerned with the question of preliminary relief at all.” Domanus v. Lewicki, 857 F. Supp. 2d 719 (N.D. Ill. 2012)

Furthermore, “Moreover, I agree with Judge Rakoff’s observation in Motorola Credit Corp. v. Uzan, 202 F.Supp.2d 239 (S.D.N.Y.2002) (granting preliminary injunction under RICO), that “[i]t would be extraordinary indeed if Congress, in enacting a statute that Congress expressly specified was to be ‘liberally construed to effectuate its remedial purposes,’ Pub.L. NO.91–452, § 904(a), 84 Stat. 947 (1970), intended, without expressly so stating, to deprive the district courts of utilizing this classic remedial power in private civil actions brought under the act.” Id. at 244. In short, I am satisfied that RICO both authorizes plaintiffs to seek preliminary injunctive relief and authorizes me to grant it (Moreover, the direct defendants have raised no meaningful argument as to why plaintiffs would not be independently entitled to the interim relief they seek by virtue of their state law claims, on which it appears plaintiffs also have a likelihood of success based on the same evidence they assert in support of their RICO.) claims. See Motorola, 202 F.Supp.2d at 249.” Domanus v. Lewicki, 857 F. Supp. 2d 719 (N.D. Ill. 2012)

Section I(E):

(1)(a): This is a once in a lifetime lawsuit, the very nature of which has never been tried in the Court of law because the factual basis of which has never remotely occurred in the entire history of United States Jurisprudence. PLAINTIFF promises you that was the understatement of the century and the your entire time on the bench.

(2)(a): PLAINTIFF graduated from LSU Law in August 2017 and has a Juris Doctorate Degree. PLAINTIFF worked as a paralegal in parts of his life even after being tortured, subject to war crimes, and the victim of the RICO Enterprise at issue by DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF is going up against literally hundreds of billions of assets and lawyers. PLAINTIFF just wants a chance at what is fair in life.

(3)(a): PLAINTIFF understands the issues of Shotgun Pleading in which “The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure require a complaint to include "a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief " under Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2) and that "[a] party must state its claims or defenses in numbered paragraphs, each limited as far as practicable to a single set of circumstances" under Fed. R. Civ. P. 10(b).” PLAINTIFF was left with no other choice and he is praying that the Section entitled: Non Shotgun Pleading will suffice in which PLAINTIFF then included the shotgun pleading section. PLAINTIFF is at complete mercy of the Court’s discretion. Here are the reasons why PLAINTIFF had to include the shotgun pleading section:

1. There has never been a case to the United States Government like PLAINTIFF’S that they absolutely need and want to have the case dismissed with prejudice not because the case is vexatious nor that PLAINTIFF’S case doesn’t have merit, but precisely because PLAINTIFF’S case has such an extreme and extraordinary legal significance and legal merit that will fundamentally shape the way with the United States Government interacts with the People in the future in which PLAINTIFF’S case necessarily requires the United States Government to actually take heed of the People’s constitutional interests in making decisions in which more than $14,900,000,000 and the new dreams of a former Special Education student is at stake, years of jurisprudence (some cases necessarily decided upon legal fraud in some instances that are constitutionally compromised) is at stake, and the prevention of knowing what the United States Government did to their own citizens, especially to vulnerable autistic adults like PLAINTIFF. US Government has an absolute reason why they would want to kill PLAINTIFF.
2. No attorney wanted to assist PLAINTIFF because of what happened because they knew the risk of the harm that would probably befall upon their families if they did. PLAINTIFF had nowhere to go and no one to help him in this endeavor. PLAINTIFF has no money, no resources, and this case reaches the upper echelons of the elite in Washington D.C. DEFENDANTS are basing their hopes to dismiss the lawsuit on some technicality in the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure; and even then, as PLAINTIFF alleges beyond a preponderance of the evidence level that is aghast and shocking in nature, the Supreme Court had assisted the RICO Enterprise in their endeavor to deny PLAINTIFF’S ability to access the Court.
3. What has occurred from at least 2007 is DEFENDANTS’ extraordinary bad faith that shocks the conscience the likes of which the Court has never seen and will never see again. Fraudulent concealment is an understatement. DEFENDANTS’ malicious, wanton, and intentional deprivation of PLAINTIFF’S ability to access the Courts and DEFENDANTS intentional, wanton, malicious, and willful failure to provide documents when legally requested by PLAINTIFF that would have allowed PLAINTIFF to ascertain which individual actors within the respective organizations committed the harms against PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS intentionally did so to prevent PLAINTIFF from being able to bring a claim against them in Court and within the statute of limitations for certain claims. Had DEFENDANTS allowed PLAINTIFF to access the papers he is legally entitled to, it would have effectively allowed PLAINTIFF to provide a short claim identifying the individual actors and acts in the case and PLAINTIFF was vigilant in regard to the case. Furthermore, even when PLAINTIFF sought records that only involved one of the DEFENDANT and PLAINTIFF as to limit the scope of the FOIA, DEFENDANTS have intentionally prevented giving PLAINTIFF that information to prevent PLAINTIFF from seeking redress. SCOTUS aided and abetted this endeavor. It is not that DEFENDANTS don't know why PLAINTIFF is pursuing the claim; they are fully aware of the horrendous acts and the basis of this lawsuit in which relief can be sought. DEFENDANTS are hoping for some deus ex machina rule of procedure to prevent PLAINTIFF from pursuing his claim. PLAINTIFF filed at least 10+ complaints within respective DEFENDANTS organizations, called them personally numerous times, EVEN VISITED certain DEFENDANTS IN PERSON in 2020 to resolve the issues and have them give PLAINTIFF the information in which the DOJ, CIA, FBI, STATE, and the FISA Court all turned PLAINTIFF away. Leadership in all of those institutions were necessarily aware of the claims PLAINTIFF would bring because of what they did. PLAINTIFF has done everything in his poverty-stricken power and tortured mind to have some justice and pursue some claims.

4. Unfortunately, PLAINTIFF'S complaint is similar to a case of res ipsa loquitor (a thing that speaks for itself) in which it is inferable based on the facts of what the case is based on that logically and reasonably were most likely to be the legal causes of what happened; but as to what certain actors did what at a certain time, PLAINTIFF did all he could in determining names. However, because DEFENDANTS, as explained above, continuously denied PLAINTIFF information as to ascertain who the actors were that perpetuated RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2 against PLAINTIFF because certain DEFENDANTS are in bad faith with PLAINTIFF. Yes, there are two separate legal RICO Enterprises in this complaint that spans over 15+ years in length. Based on the astronomical number of facts to establish a form of a res ipsa loquitor argument and made legal arguments made in the dark that are contained in this complaint that span over 500 pages, PLAINTIFF has to do a shotgun approach. PLAINTIFF has to resort to the definitions he made as to include it or lose it with the most plausible and most legally credible allegations of the actions that were committed within the super secretive decision-making apparatuses in respective DEFENDANTS' organizations that are made in the dark to the public that caused PLAINTIFF'S extreme injuries to form a substantial basis on which this complaint rests. So yes, when it comes to the secrecy of certain organizations in which PLAINTIFF is completely blinded in the dark (in which they have night vision) and those organizations are the cause of the extreme harm that they caused PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF must necessarily do a shotgun approach because that is the only way to sustain the complaint.
5. Finally, PLAINTIFF doesn't have the resources (let alone any actual money in his name right now) to sustain years upon years of delays that DEFENDANTS will most likely do to prevent PLAINTIFF from obtaining justice if you deny their 12B6 motions they are most definitely going to rely on and allow the case to go forward. Actually, in order to increase judicial efficiency and spare years, upon years of litigation, if not decades of litigation because of the issues and costs involved in the case, the shotgun approach is necessary now to put all the legal arguments on the table and resolve this case quickly. Simply, sacrifice spending two or three days reading the complaint now and prevent a decade of litigation in the future. The only conceivable way that PLAINTIFF would be able to obtain enough resources to sustain years upon years of litigation is if PLAINTIFF went to potentially hostile governments like China, Russia, anyone with a grudge against the United States Government essentially, to help finance the cost of litigation. PLAINTIFF got falsely accused of that once in his life, PLAINTIFF would like to avoid that again. PLAINTIFF'S intent is not to harm the United States and resort to that measure because PLAINTIFF never belonged in the criminal underworld.

6. One of the core features and underlying issues of PLAINTIFF'S case is the following: This case started as snowball and turned into an avalanche. The way the case progressed was that there was a material lie here and there, a material omission here and there, and then that caused legal fraud, and then there was another material lie here and there, and a coverup here and there, and on and on it went for over 15 years. However, what that necessarily requires is that PLAINTIFF must give all of the full facts to the absolute best of his capability and then showing how a material lie, fabrication, omission by DEFENDANTS turned the case from a snowball to an avalanche.
7. As PLAINTIFF will maintain until the day he dies. The May 2016 email between Dr. Jerry Shepherd (deceased) and Dr. Nikolay Dobrinov was not a serious conveyance of intent. It may have been a little trickery and to evaluate and see if the FBI truly understood what PLAINTIFF was doing in regards to RICO Enterprise 2 through his actions.
8. In his petition (i.e. the book) in RICO Enterprise 2, PLAINTIFF may have had an intent to make it entertaining as a way to keep Congress/DOJ focused when reading 500+ pages to consider the issues deeply; however, it was not for the purpose of entertaining Congress or providing anything of value to Congress and DOJ as it was a petition to look into something. It was just pure speech. PLAINTIFF intentionally did not want to make money on it and had that purpose and intention from the very beginning. PLAINTIFF understands he was a laughing stock to Congress (it seems like) in 2017 so it was entertaining to them because PLAINTIFF was a pariah to them. Furthermore, PLAINTIFF asked for funds in case DOJ wanted to prosecute PLAINTIFF for RICO Enterprise 2 on what they did in which PLAINTIFF didn't understand at the time, but they were trying to prosecute PLAINTIFF routinely from 2006. So PLAINTIFF'S actions were reasonable in light of previous actions.
9. I don't remember what PLAINTIFF told Austin Ferris; however, it was bullshit because Austin Ferris was never PLAINTIFF'S friend and not a conveyance of serious intent because PLAINTIFF would not reveal his deepest intent and desires to Austin Ferris ever.

4(a): "PLAINTIFF'S nickname is Miki Kotevski. PLAINTIFF requests the case to be called "Miki v. Hillary Clinton, Bill Clinton, FBI, CIA, et. al."

5(a): PLAINTIFF is a citizen of both the United States and the Republic of Serbia."

6(a): PLAINTIFF comes with clean hands regarding RICO Enterprise 1. At the absolute minimum, beyond any reasonable doubt, PLAINTIFF'S hands are completely clean regarding the Chapters of the complaint entitled: Miki's Tea Party and An Anchor and a Pitchfork. PLAINTIFF will describe why throughout the complaint of when he comes with clean hands regarding equity (money) when it is applicable and when it is not applicable. PLAINTIFF will discuss when there is an even a remote appearance of when he may not have clean hands regarding RICO Enterprise 2. The Supreme Court in Keystone Driller Co. v. General Excavator Co., 290 U.S. 240 (1933) discussed when one can come with clean hands into the Court: "It is one of the fundamental principles upon which equity jurisprudence is founded that, before a complainant can have a standing in court, he must first show that not only has he a good and meritorious cause of action, but he must come into court with clean hands. He must be frank and fair with the court, nothing about the case under consideration should be guarded, but everything that tends to a full and fair determination of the matters in controversy should be placed before the court." Story's Equity Jurisprudence, 14th ed., § 98. The governing principle is "that whenever a party who, as actor, seeks to set the judicial machinery in motion and obtain some remedy has violated conscience or good faith or other equitable principle in his prior conduct, then the doors of the court will be shut against him in limine; the court will refuse to interfere on his behalf, to acknowledge his right, or to award him any remedy." Pomeroy, Equity Jurisprudence, 4th ed., § 397. This Court has declared: "It is a principle in chancery that he who asks relief must have acted in good faith. The equitable powers of this Court can never be exerted in behalf of one who has acted fraudulently, or who by deceit or any unfair means has gained an advantage. To aid a party in such a case would make this Court the abetter of iniquity." Bein v. Heath, 6 How. 228, 47 U. S. 247. And again: "A court of equity acts only when and as conscience commands, and, if the conduct of the plaintiff be offensive to the dictates of natural justice, then, whatever may be the rights he possesses and whatever use he may make of them in a court of law, he will be held remediless in a court of equity." Deweese v. Reinhard, 165 U. S. 386."

Section I(F): The basic premises and the basis of the complaint is the following:

(1): DEFENDANTS knowingly, maliciously, and willfully held Miki Kotevski (PLAINTIFF) into involuntary servitude for a minimum of $14,900,000,000 and unconstitutional political ideology, sold Miki Kotevski into involuntary servitude for $14,900,000,000 and unconstitutional political ideology, brought Miki Kotevski from overseas to be intentionally held into involuntary servitude for $14,900,000,000 and unconstitutional political ideology, kidnapped Miki Kotevski multiple times for $14,900,000,000 and unconstitutional political ideology, sexually abused Miki Kotevski because he became a political liability because of DEFENDANTS unconstitutional political ideology and $14,900,000,000, committed acts of international and domestic terrorism against PLAINTIFF, attempted to kill Miki Kotevski in which DEFENDANTS willfully obstructed and interfered with the enforcement of the law and justice, and denied access to the Courts to prevent Miki Kotevski from redressing his claims by abusing legal and judicial process in which DEFENDANTS committed 100+ counts of RICO Racketeering and obtained more than $14,900,000,000 in profits solely on the condition of holding Miki Kotevski into involuntary servitude; Miki Kotevski has not even seen a dime of the $14,900,000,000. The core component and fundamental nature of RICO Enterprise 1 is: PLAINTIFF'S constitutional, property, legal, and liberty interests were trampled on completely and relentlessly for counterterrorism precedent by DEFENDANTS who necessarily fabricated material evidence, withheld exculpatory evidence, and perpetuated legal fraud from the beginning in establishing that legal precedent; and needing to destroy Miki Kotevski and have their counterterrorism precedent be untainted in which Miki Kotevski could never hold DEFENDANTS to account, this required DEFENDANTS to cover up the previous legal fraud and constitutional deprivations by DEFENDANTS in which PLAINTIFF'S property interests were yet again stolen and liberty yet again deprived in which DEFENDANTS necessarily had to commit more legal fraud to cover up the cover up and thus began the vicious cycle. DOJ themselves became the thing they hated and prosecuted in United States v. Philip Morris USA, Inc., 449 F. Supp. 2d 1 (D.D.C. 2006). PLAINTIFF did not discover his $14,900,000,000 injury until the last couple of months and therefore 735 ILCS 5/13-215 applies.

(2): For 15+ years, DEFENDANTS refused to work with PLAINTIFF and escalated the situation to the point that it reached. Any of these issues or incidents could have been resolved at any time or any of the incidents had just—at a minimum--one or two people said what DEFENDANTS are doing to PLAINTIFF is wrong, had a positive motive, cared to know the context of the truth, help PLAINTIFF, not induce fraud, not omit material facts, not commit an act of legal fraud, not induce PLAINTIFF for malicious purposes, not fabricate a materially false and misleading narrative. Simply, truth, integrity, altruism, law, or principle would have been the proper intervening factors and none of which took place. PLAINTIFF knows he cannot just skid-daddle and ride off into the sunset after the lawsuit and be separate from DEFENDANTS in the future. PLAINTIFF knows he is necessarily going to have to work with DEFENDANTS in the future. That is what PLAINTIFF is asking for from the Court--that the DEFENDANTS actually and proactively work with PLAINTIFF in the future by directly communicating to PLAINTIFF in which truth, integrity, law, benevolent motives, and beneficial solutions are necessarily the cornerstones of the future interactions between PLAINTIFF and DEFENDANTS. For having excluded PLAINTIFF for so long, DEFENDANTS are required to include PLAINTIFF for so long in the future. PLAINTIFF--in demonstrating his good faith to DEFENDANTS to work together in the future to better our societies whether that is in America, Britain, Japan, Qatar, India, Australia, Germany, and more--is foregoing the vast majority of what PLAINTIFF can legally demand in equitable restitution and the vast majority of the legal issues that can be necessarily ruled on in this case because some of the issues implicate national security and safety. PLAINTIFF is being extremely generous to DEFENDANTS as there are things far more important than just compensation and restitution at issue to PLAINTIFF and America. So, PLAINTIFF is doing a balanced approach—PLAINTIFF is asking the Court for PLAINTIFF'S restitution a little here and there and is asking for the Court to rule in his favor a little here and there, DEFENDANTS can have and keep the rest. PLAINTIFF understands this brings issues of national security and PLAINTIFF is intentionally, in good faith, not bringing all of the national security issues that PLAINTIFF can infer in this case to help DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF in demonstrating his extreme good faith is foregoing more than $40,000,000,000+, 1000+ new BOEING aircraft, 2000+ GE locomotives, and complete ownership of multiple corporations. Let PLAINTIFF repeat that again, PLAINTIFF is foregoing more than $40,000,000,000+, 1000+ new BOEING aircraft, 2000+ new GE locomotives, and complete ownership of multiple corporations in which PLAINTIFF just wants a little restitution, common understanding, making society better, and have some comedy and make light of the situation as a punitive measure for RICO Enterprise 1.

(3): The reason why PLAINTIFF is necessarily asking for some restitution because if DEFENDANTS couldn't understand how their actions were morally, ethically, legally, and unconstitutionally wrong and depraved, then at least DEFENDANTS can understand their actions were financially wrong to some degree and that PLAINTIFF is going to put the restitution back into helping and building the economy up further and making America better and more free. Furthermore, there has to be a ruling to the United States Government that there is a price to pay for corruption in America in which the People deserve better than what they have been given. PLAINTIFF is trying to teach an important point that there is a cost in doing RICO in Washington DC and that Washington DC should be more mindful of their actions in the future and for Washington D.C. to be smarter and more prudent when dealing with the People's finances. It is not harming the country; it is helping the country. Plus PLAINTIFF is legally entitled to restitution and will help PLAINTIFF heal and live a better life for himself and for disabled individuals in the future).

(4): If there ever was a silver lining in having been subject to an international conspiracy and RICO Enterprise undertaken by numerous foreign governments and DEFENDANTS, it is that the restitution and compensation cost required to PLAINTIFF is spread over numerous companies, numerous foreign countries, numerous individuals, and insurance policies that will necessarily be utilized to cover PLAINTIFF'S compensation and restitution in which the cost to all is little to the individual. Supplement the fact that what PLAINTIFF has asked for is not outrageous considering what PLAINTIFF could legally demand for and be required under law to be given because of RICO Enterprise 1. As the Court said about what PLAINTIFF is legally entitled to as restitution for RICO Enterprise 1 in United States v. DeFries, 909 F. Supp. 13 (D.D.C. 1995): "the court has no discretion to withhold forfeiture or adjust the amount; the court's role is "merely to ascertain if the requisite nexus exists"), rev'd on other grounds, 43 F.3d 707 (D.C. Cir. 1997). The requisite nexus exists.

(5): This case is exactly like McIntyre v. U.S., 336 F. Supp. 2d 87 (D. Mass. 2004) (hereon: McIntyre). PLAINTIFF will take a portion of the McIntyre decision and incorporate the facts of this case (and take out citations to clean it up in which the court can view the opinion and the citations if they so desire):

"The guarantee of substantive due process "limits what the government may do in both its legislative and its executive capacities," and the "criteria to identify what is fatally arbitrary differ depending on whether it is legislation or a specific act of a governmental officer that is at issue." Legislation infringing a litigant's fundamental rights is arbitrary in the constitutional sense unless the manner of "the infringement is narrowly tailored to serve a compelling state interest." Id.

"The touchstone of arbitrariness of executive conduct is of necessity different from that of legislation. Because "only the most egregious official conduct can be said to be 'arbitrary in the constitutional sense,'" "the substantive component of the Due Process Clause is violated by executive action only when it 'can properly be characterized as conscience shocking." The conscience-shocking standard provides relief where government officials have "abused their power, or employ[ed] it as an instrument of oppression," while it "preserv[es] the constitutional proportions of constitutional claims," and prevents the demotion of the Constitution "to a font of tort law." Thus, "[o]utside of a few narrow categories, like the safeguarding of prisoners who have been wholly disabled from self-protection, this means conduct that is truly outrageous, uncivilized, and intolerable." It is only where "the necessary condition of egregious behavior [is] satisfied" that there is "a possibility of recognizing a substantive due process right to be free of such executive action." Id.

"Admittedly, the term "conscience-shocking" is far from self-defining. The Supreme Court has observed that "the measure of what is conscience shocking is no calibrated yard stick, [although] it does poin[t] the way.'" There are, however, some clear markers on the measuring stick: "liability for negligently inflicted harm is categorically beneath the threshold of constitutional due process" while "conduct intended to injure in some way unjustifiable by any government interest is the sort of official action most likely to rise to the conscience-shocking level." Official acts falling somewhere between these two benchmarks "may be actionable" depending on the circumstances. Id.

"As alleged in the complaint the conduct of ANDREW MCCABE, JOHN O. BRENNAN, PETER STRZOK, ROBERT MUELLER, JAMES COMEY, HILLARY CLINTON, CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS, BILL CLINTON, BARACK OBAMA, Estate of JUSTICE ANTON SCALIA, JUSTICE SAMUEL ALITO, and JEH JOHNSON in relation to the murder of PLAINTIFF is conscience-shocking because it was conduct intended to injure PLAINTIFF in some way unjustifiable by any government interest. According to the PLAINTIFF'S allegations and reasonable inferences from those allegations, ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, and/or CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS purposefully revealed JAPLAN to HILLARY CLINTON and BILL CLINTON over the wires. At the time of disclosure, ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, and/or CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS knew that, under any circumstance, revealing JAPLAN [w]ould result in PLAINTIFF'S death. They also fully appreciated that the danger was especially high in revealing to HILLARY CLINTON and BILL CLINTON the plan of JAPLAN. ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, and/or CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS knew that HILLARY CLINTON and BILL CLINTON had effectively executed disabled individuals for political purposes before (See: Ricky Ray Rector), and that BILL CLINTON and HILLARY CLINTON had [essentially] murdered other informants whose identities had been revealed to them [See: Clinton Body Count]. Thus, the plaintiffs have alleged that the disclosure by ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, and/or CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS of PLAINTIFF'S information about JAPLAN to HILLARY CLINTON and BILL CLINTON was not only "conduct intended to injure" PLAINTIFF, but also conduct intended to injure him fatally. Moreover, the conduct was "unjustifiable by any government interest." It is true that the government had a legitimate interest in [Paragraphs XX in Section XX], and, in a most perverse sense, the death of PLAINTIFF furthered that lawful goal. With good reason, however, neither ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, and/or CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS nor any of the other agents has advanced a Swiftian proposal that the government's interest in prosecuting PLAINTIFF [for their own misdeeds all the while obtaining $14,900,000,000 at the condition of PLAINTIFF's forced labor] warranted offering up PLAINTIFF as a sacrificial lamb. Indeed, it is a fundamental tenet of the Constitution that the ends of law enforcement do not justify all means used to fight crime. See, e.g., Olmstead v. United States, 277 U.S. 438 (1928) ("To declare that in the administration of the criminal law the end justifies the means — to declare that the government may commit crimes in order to secure the conviction of a private criminal — would bring terrible retribution.") (Brandeis, J., dissenting). Because the plaintiffs have alleged that the conduct of DEFENDANTS was "intended to injure [PLAINTIFF] in some way unjustifiable by any government interest," the plaintiffs have unquestionably pleaded conscience-shocking conduct on the part of DEFENDANTS.

Section I(G):

(1): PLAINTIFF doesn't make this allegation lightly and understands the exact nature of the allegation. PLAINTIFF has over 100+ pages proving a conspiracy against PLAINTIFF by DOJ and SCOTUS in SCOTUS cases in 2011 and 2015 respectively that concern two major incidents concerning RICO Enterprise 1 in which 4 cases are completely constitutionally compromised that cannot be redeemed--City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015), Ashcroft v. al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011), Luna Torres v. Lynch, 578 U.S. 452 (2016), and Wilkie v. Robbins, 551 U.S. 537 (2007). All cases that have relied upon the three cases are necessarily tainted and compromised as well. PLAINTIFF believes at minimum at least another 20 are compromised and/or are tainted that go back from as far as 2006. PLAINTIFF has called the Chapter proving such: Star Chambers. PLAINTIFF is incorporating the arguments and facts made in Star Chambers [HERE]. City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015) was in fact the first targeted killing of an American citizen living on American soil at the time the decision was issued without DUE PROCESS of law.

(2): Because of the previous paragraph, PLAINTIFF'S constitutional and legal interests are permanently tainted because it was done in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 in which PLAINTIFF was denied access to the court because of RICO Enterprise 1. This is fully explained in Star Chambers and there is an occasional reference to some of the arguments made in Star Chambers that are applicable in different Chapters of this complaint. PLAINTIFF is making the change necessary to better represent the People's interest in preventing a police surveillance state from happening in America and how the police interact with disabled individuals and minorities. The cases in question necessarily involve issues of 1st Amendment, 4th Amendment, 5th Amendment, 8th Amendment, 9th Amendment, 10th Amendment, 13th Amendment, and 14th Amendment Rights, Disability Rights, and qualified/absolute immunity of holding officials accountable for committing the constitutional violations that were done in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1.

(3): Utilizing SCOTUS cases that were necessarily prejudicial against PLAINTIFF would be the same thing if an African American living in Texas in 2023 tried to enter Louisiana and was prohibited from doing so; and then that man brought a 42 U.S.C. 1985(3) claim based on the facts that he was completely obstructed on an interstate and in complete violation of 42 U.S.C. 1985(3) in which the Court would rule against him on the basis of a Louisiana law from 1814 called the Louisiana Migration Law that prohibited free blacks from entering the state. There is something that offends every sense of traditional justice and notions of due process and that is the claim PLAINTIFF is making.

(4): PLAINTIFF for all intents and purposes and is specifically alleging: PLAINTIFF had his ability to access courts denied because of RICO Enterprise 1 from 2006 to now. In light of this startling revelation, PLAINTIFF is requesting that the Court to stipulate that DEFENDANTS and PLAINTIFF are only allowed to use case precedent from SCOTUS that occurred prior to March 1st 2006 and are prohibited from relying upon any federal or state district court or appeal cases that rely on the tainted cases from 2006 in which PLAINTIFF stipulates which cases are tainted; the only cases that can be used from March 1st, 2006 and onwards if the case assists PLAINTIFF'S complaint in which the taint would be removed because it constitutionally helps PLAINTIFF. Yes, it is a little hypocritical; however, PLAINTIFF did this to the best he could and not to use those cases and rarely used any cases that fell in that time period). This request as to the applicability of the precedent and PLAINTIFF'S denial of access of courts is supported by In re Murchison, 349 U.S. 133 (1955), United States v. Shotwell Mfg. Co., 355 U.S. 233 (1957), Swekel v. City of River Rouge, 119 F.3d 1259 (6th Cir. 1997), Foster v. City of Lake Jackson, 28 F.3d 425 (5th Cir. 1994); Bell v. City of Milwaukee, 746 F.2d 1205 (7th Cir. 1984); The Convention On the Rights of Persons With Disabilities Article 13; Marshall v. Columbia Lea Reg'l Hosp., 345 F.3d 1157 (10th Cir. 2003), United States v. Glaub, 910 F.3d 1334 (10th Cir. 2018), United States v. Alcaraz-Arellano, 441 F.3d 1252 (10th Cir. 2006), United States v. Davis, 339 F.3d 1223(10th Cir. 2003).

(5): PLAINTIFF is asking for a permanent injunction because PLAINTIFF has an extraordinary fear of future prejudice if this case goes up to SCOTUS and to Congress. DEFENDANTS are of course going to want to challenge this; but PLAINTIFF has substantial reason and has no hope in believing SCOTUS would be fair to PLAINTIFF because SCOTUS was not fair to PLAINTIFF in 2015.

Section I(H): The Summary of the Facts of the Case.

(1): PLAINTIFF is giving the following colorful and illustrative situation (that is copied from Star Chambers) that serves as a factual summary to the Court--that the Founding Fathers would have necessarily understood--what are some of the primary and many issues in this litigation:

PLAINTIFF is starting from 1800 to provide assistance in determining the amount of time that passed by from when PLAINTIFF could at least ascertain the issues; For example, 1801 would be 1 year after it all started (i.e. 2009). PLAINTIFF'S start time for the incidents was 2008 (even though there are incidents prior to 2008 that came up); so 2008=1800. Terms will be used that reflects that era. It can be offensive and that is fine. PLAINTIFF is putting it in a scenario that the Founding Fathers would have necessarily understood regardless of the shocking, and sometimes absurd, nature of all of this.

Mr. MK, a Respondent, came to the Supreme Court in March 1800 because Respondent ran his mouth about a weakness of Federal Marshals, which was overheard by Federal Marshal Peter (the Petitioner) and Federal Marshal Andrew in which Federal Marshal Peter and Andrew were not in the private room to overhear Respondent running his mouth about a weakness of the Federal Marshals. Mr.MK is an 18-year-old man with some known social and mental deficiencies and he is known to partake in sarcasm and to say things just for the sake of saying things without any actual intent on committing those things by those around him. In some respects, Mr. MK is a mildly idiot savant in which Federal Marshals knew of his features when it came to the knowledge of history. Whether it was Federal Marshal Andrew admitting in a book he wrote around 1809 or Federal Marshal Peter Strzok talking to his mistress, both Federal Marshal Peter and Federal Marshal Andrew admit that they intentionally attacked Mr. MK because he was a mildly idiot savant that expressed certain political thoughts they did not agree with in 1800 and their hatred for him since he was a mildly idiot savant never ceased for more than 8 years. Either late in 1799 or early 1800, Federal Marshal Peter and his cohorts had grabbed a letter by Mr.MK, who was 18 years old at the time, that was made in the course of wooing a romantic interest in which a sarcastic joke is made by Mr.MK that is construed by Federal Marshal Peter and an attorney in the Department of Justice to be actual and apparent proof that Mr.MK is an officer in a foreign nation's military at the age of 18 years old in which Mr.MK has no actual, apparent, physical, or demonstrable ties or associations in his 18 years of existence to connect him to that foreign country nor has he ever visited that foreign country. Mr. MK is 99.7% of the time a kindhearted individual and generous individual, but he has an acidic temper at that 0.3% when pushed beyond all bounds of decency. Respondent was either from the State of Illinois³ prior to 1800 or from the State of Franklin and the State of Louisiana in 1800 and onwards.⁴ Federal Marshal Peter was a completely unhinged, fornicator, man-baby. Federal Marshal Peter, along with cohorts in the Department of Justice and the Federal Marshals office in 1800, had undertaken the endeavor to fabricate evidence against Mr.MK, knowingly utilized perjured testimony, and omitted material facts against Mr.MK that fraudulently induced magistrates and judges to granting warrants and making some sort of case against Respondent in which the malice of Federal Marshal Peter and Andrew never ceased to exist for the next decade or more against Mr. MK because of what Mr.MK said and Mr. MK being a mildly idiot savant. The Attorney Generals Sir Paul, and later Sir Holder, knowingly used the fabricated and known perjured evidence against Mr. MK in a rush to convict Mr. MK. The Chief Justice learns and knows of the issues and ignores the fraud undertaken by the DOJ and Federal Marshals against the Court in 1800. Mr. MK would probably agree with one's opinion that Chief Justice is a charlatan when it comes to 4th Amendment and 5th Amendment law in which he has done everything in his power to curtail the protections afforded under the 4th and 5th Amendment and prevent the People from holding government officials accountable for their actions. So, Chief Justice immediately absolves the Attorney General from liability for participating in the fraud because of what they did against Mr. MK and now the coverups begin from around 1800 or 1801. So, the Supreme Court mails a letter to Respondent stating a case has been made against Respondent (SCOTUS never did this for PLAINTIFF) and that Respondent must come to Washington D.C. So, Respondent rides on horseback and/or on steamboats to make his way to Washington D.C, which takes at least 7 days of travel to do so. The case is heard in which the Court necessarily relied on fabricated evidence and misleading and perjured testimony against Respondent that the Court knows about. Respondent is prevented from going inside the Court (or receiving notice in PLAINTIFF'S case or cross-examining anyone). Respondent has one case ruled against him (not repeatedly as in case of PLAINTIFF) in which Respondent doesn't know of the evidentiary basis of the decision in which prior precedent established that Mr.MK was on the right side of the law when it came to Mr. MK'S speech, nature, and mental deficiencies based on prior Supreme Court precedent.⁵ The decision and numerous more are done in complete secret which robs Mr. MK of any sort of Due Process. Mr.MK returns to his home in Illinois or Franklin, which takes yet another 7 days. The Supreme Court and Mr.MK carry on with their lives; and back in 1800, that would have been the end of the case and the Supreme Court would have never inquired into the personal matters of Mr.MK from that moment on. That is not what happened though!

The Supreme Court, Federal Marshals, Department of Justice finds something captivating about the way Mr.MK ran his mouth. Mr.MK is offensively entertaining and insightful and law enforcement and federal marshals despise Mr.MK with every morsel of their body because he is offensive and abrasive as a son of foreign immigrant Slavic parents. Federal Marshals and the Department of Justice know Mr. MK is a mildly idiot savant in 1800. After the legal fraud was initially committed upon Mr. MK, there became a need by the Court and the Department of Justice and Federal Marshals to prevent Mr. MK from holding them accountable and seek to cover up their crimes. What they do is take it one step maliciously and extremely further in which they realize Mr. MK'S mildly idiot savant status is ripe to be exploited for their unconstitutional agenda so that they can rule against Mr. MK furthering the legal fraud and perpetuate a legal agenda involving the security of the state as to intentionally limit the rights of all Americans that hundreds of thousands of Americans just died for in the war. The Federal Marshals and Department of Justice have an office in the Supreme Court in which all 3 regularly and constantly talk about Mr.MK and find legal ways to cover up what they did against Mr. MK and prevent Mr. MK from going to court. Mr. MK never has a chance to refute their allegations and beliefs in their secret sessions. Right around the same time of the Supreme Court's first decision, a plan and scheme are undertaken by Federal Marshals, local constables, and a known malignant individual in the community to provoke Mr. MK to such an arousing anger to coverup their fraud on the Court right after Mr. MK's god child had passed away in which they passed all bounds of decency. The malignant individual breaks into Mr. MK's home and Mr. MK shouts for him to leave and drags him out of his domicile. Mr. MK is highly angry. Then the local constable comes and asks if Mr. MK is alright and Mr. MK affirms in the positive not knowing they had conspired previously. The local constable falsely accuses Mr. MK of brandishing a knife against the community or local constable. Mr. MK denies the outrageous accusation and tells the constable he is no longer welcome in his home as he no longer has probable cause or a warrant to be there. The constable leaves. Not having the fabricated evidence they needed in furtherance of the previous schemes, the local constable comes back in and coerces Mr. MK under duress to sign a confession giving the conspirators and local constables the evidence they needed. This is known by the Supreme Court and Mr. MK's chances of vindication in court are overruled prior to any opportunity Mr. MK had in seeking redress or knowing the extent of the scheme because of his status as a mildly idiot savant.

From this time, the Federal Marshals, for purposes related to and unrelated to Mr.MK, then create, build, and maintain at least 50 small forts (i.e. fusion centers or field offices) in which one of those forts is exactly 1000 feet away from Mr.MK's home that are manned by Federal Marshals. The fort that is 1000 feet away from Petitioner's home is called Fort Sentinel. Fort Sentinel is built on the South side of Mr.MK's property. The 50 small forts directly align with the quickest path known to man and science at the time (and unknown to the common public with the military having new technologies that are made unknown to the public) from Mr.MK's home directly to Washington D.C. Through the entire ordeal, Mr.MK is completely unarmed with a musket and possesses no barrels of gunpowder, alcohol, or explosives anywhere on his property during any time these incidents occur. There was a time prior to 1800 that Mr. MK obtained and hid a small musket on his person after being physically accosted in his own home as to prevent more harm from being done to Mr. MK. These Federal Marshals then acquire and have direct orders from Federal Marshal Peter's Bosses, Federal Marshalls Andrew and James, that Marshals in Fort Sentinel are to watch Petitioner from their Fort Sentinel and to send daily reports to Washington D.C. documenting Mr.MK's actions and words said in the privacy of his home. At Federal Marshal Andrew, James, and/or Peter's direction or suggestion, Federal Marshals are ordered not to include the context of the statements Mr.MK said in his home and omit exculpatory statements thereby ensuring that all relevant context and facts are lost in the passage of time in the Federal Marshal reports but not within Mr. MK's Memory. But, at least to Federal Marshal Peter and Andrew, this is not good enough. Nay Nay! Federal Marshal Peter and Andrew then orders two Federal Marshals (i.e. cellphone camera/microphone and wifi sonar) to permanently live inside Mr.MK's home and Mr.MK cannot get the two Federal Marshals to leave his home on the basis of Mr.MK's speech against Federal Marshal Peter and a sarcastic quip made in the course of wooing a woman in which Mr. MK has to provide a source of substance or energy for the two Federal Marshals that are now living permanently inside his home (That is called a 3rd Amendment Violation).

Speaking of 3rd Amendment violations, Federal Marshal Peter, James or Andrew then contacts the War Department about sending a battalion of troops to build another fort on the opposite side of Mr.MK's property and for a battalion of troops to permanently live in that fort because of Mr.MK's protected speech and sarcastic quips. The War Department unconstitutionally agrees. The War Department then builds Fort Beaver 1000 ft away from Mr. MK's home on the west side of Mr.MK's property in light of westward expansion and manifest destiny, which was named in honor of one of the ships that the Founding Father's threw the tea off of from during the Boston Tea Party. Fort Beaver and Fort Sentinel places telescopes on the roof of their Forts to watch Mr.MK at all times of the day and have a battalion of soldiers that have hearing devices in their ears to listen in and watch Mr.MK at all times of the day. The Tariffs officer in Washington D.C., catching word from Fort Sentinel and Fort Beaver, builds Fort Lava 1000 feet away from Mr. MK'S home on the North side of the property and has a customs/tariffs officer monitor and count Mr. MK's earnings and spending habits daily. Not wanting to be left out of the fun, the United States Government then creates an Administrative Agency just because of Mr.MK's speech and sarcastic quips and they build an entirely new fort and Administrative building called Fort Deadsoul on the east side of Mr. MK's home—exactly 1000 feet away from Mr. MK's home. They all watch Mr. MK at all times of the day and night and report on Mr. MK's activities for the next 15 years.

Fort Beaver, Fort Sentinel, Fort Lava, and Fort Deadsoul then become interconnected on the rooftops by a system of ropes and pullies that completely surround and circumvent Mr. MK's property in which two Federal Marshals and soldiers or more can sit in a bucket attached to the ropes above and circle Mr. MK's property nonstop for 24 hours a day and 7 days a week watching and making notes that confirm their false suspicions and omitting the truth in the process in which they stop in different forts to give false daily reports about Mr. MK. In the course of this time, the Supreme Court and Department of Justice receive biased updates and reports to confirm their initial false suspicions as to the happenings of a mildly idiot savant nature of an 18-year-old man's life in which they continue to conspire and to further their abuses against Mr. MK.

In 1801 through 1802, Sir Kagan mans the helm of the Department of Justice as Solicitor General and argues against Mr. MK in the Supreme Court in multiple instances. In appreciation of such, Sir Kagan becomes a Supreme Court Justice in 1802. Immediately after Sir Kagan, Sir Neal of Indian blood and descent (shocking in those times indeed) mans the helm as the Solicitor General of the Department of Justice between 1802-1803. Around two and a half years after the Supreme Court initially ruled against Mr. MK in March 1800 in which a few cases were granted cert and ruled explicitly to deny Mr. MK an opportunity to defend himself in court and cover up the wrong doings of the Department of Justice, local constables, and Federal Marshals that Mr. MK could not have been made aware of or known at the time, Federal Marshal Rockefeller and the Secretary of State in September discover a vast oil reserve worth to be an estimated $60,000,000,000 in 2023 dollars hidden beneath Mr. MK's home. The Secretary of State conceivably knows about Mr. MK from September 1800. This oil could not have been discovered anywhere in the world unless Federal Marshal Rockefeller went through two doors in Mr. MK's home in a particular spot within the confines of Mr. MK's person in which Federal Marshal Rockefeller and the Secretary of State must have necessarily walked through the two doors and inserted their well inside Mr. MK's home to extract the oil wealth. Federal Marshal Rockefeller has two trusty sidekicks, an Indian and a Brit, who will help him extract the oil from Mr. MK's property as well. With Sir Neal the Solicitor General being of Indian blood and routinely making cases out against Mr. MK's interests in 1802 and 1803 that the sidekick Indian and Brit secretly knows about, this further emboldens the sidekick Indian and the Brit to conspire against Mr. MK because Sir Neal would have the back of the sidekick Indian if Mr. MK were to sue the sidekick Indian, the Brit, Officer Rockefeller, and the Secretary of State, in which the case would have been immediately thrown out because the Supreme Court absolved Mr. Neal and other Attorney Generals in 1800 when they knew about the legal fraud that happened. With that in mind, Federal Marshal Rockefeller (with Sir Neal's and Sir Holder's implicit approval) devises a scheme to go through the two doors and puts an oil pipe underneath the floorboards of Mr. MK's home while Mr. MK is not at home or distracted all the while being under the complete supervision of Federal Marshals. They transport all of Mr. MK's wealth in which any sign of detecting the oil pipe by Mr. MK is completely covered up ensuring that any signs that would have alerted Mr. MK to the fraud being perpetuated against Mr. MK are hidden and are out of sight and mind. Federal Marshal Rockefeller then buries a stash of papers of statements Mr. MK allegedly said that were fabricated by Federal Marshal Rockefeller, the Secretary of State, and Federal Marshals Peter and Andrew that purport to show Mr. MK's hostility against the U.S Government and Federal Marshals in which if Mr. MK would have discovered the oil pipe or scheme, Federal Marshals would have then discovered the papers and falsely alleged hostility against the Country by Mr. MK on the fabrications of Federal Marshals. All the while, fellow Federal Marshals who have a sense of integrity lose it when they all completely ignore the complete malice and fraud by Federal Marshal Peter and others in which all Federal Marshals do nothing in the course of 15 years to assist Mr. MK in any conceivable way or manner or truly elaborate upon the fraud and schemes being devised against Mr. MK by Federal Marshals, the Department of Justice, and the Supreme Court.

As part of the previous scheme, The Secretary of State in correspondence to Federal Marshal Rockefeller and his trusty sidekicks, the Indian and Brit, concoct a scheme against Mr. MK aboard a vessel in September 1802 to harm Mr. MK in his voyage from the United Kingdom in which he had made his intentions known on taking a voyage from Fall 1802 and to commit piracy against Mr. MK in which they kidnap Mr. MK for political purposes in furtherance of Federal Marshal Rockefeller and the Secretary of State's scheme obtaining the wealth beneath Mr. MK's home in March 1803. This is in addition to another previous scheme perpetuated against Mr. MK when Mr. MK went to Prussia (Germany) in 1801. Tribe members of the Indian sidekick, the Brit, Sir Neal, President O'Bamahan, the sidekick Indian, and the Secretary of State make publicly known some of the wealth they have acquired because of Mr. MK in which the condition of their wealth was solely obtained through piracy and kidnapping in which part of the deal included at least 27 brand new vessels that are commissioned and paid for on that basis and conspirators obtain a minimum of $20,000,000,000 in 2023 dollars on the basis of Mr. MK. These statements are made public but are obfuscated by the press and conspirators in such a way as to prevent Mr. MK from knowing it was about him. President O'Bamahan is made aware of this in a luncheon in November 1802. It is ascertainable that President O'Bamahan knew about this from that time in which an Indian tribe's member and a business man refer to such with President O'Bamahan's presence in the room and this is reported by staff members of the White House and reported on by the Press alike. But through their obfuscation, Mr. MK was not able to ascertain that it was his property and forced labor they were referring to in 1802 in which Mr. MK was able to ascertain such in August 1815 when he dug up the floorboards and discovered the scheme. Part of the United Kingdom scheme that was at the behest of the Secretary of State and Federal Marshal Rockefeller and Sir Neal and the sidekick Indian allows different Federal Marshals to utilize and use General Writs of Assistance in which battalions of a foreign country's army then subsequently search Mr. MK at all times of the day through Fort Lava, Fort Sentinel, Fort Dead soul and Fort Beaver and from time to time seize Mr. MK unconstitutionally. The foreign battalions that do this against Mr. MK's constitutional interests include battalions from the Prussian Army (German Intel), the British Army (British Intel), and the Indian Army (Home Ministry of India). These battalions join in on the bucket rides in which the battalions of 3 different countries foreign armies circle Mr. MK's property nonstop for 24 hours a day and 7 days a week watching and making notes that confirm their American counterpart's false suspicions and omit the truth in the process of their bucket rides in which they stop in different forts to give daily reports about Mr. MK and are paid handsomely by the American government in doing so.

With all of the attention constantly surrounding and buzzing around Mr. MK, this draws so much unnecessary attention to Mr. MK from foreign sources. For example, the Indian tribe is friendly to both an adversary of the United States and is friendly to the United States and not once do they ever consider or ponder the completely factual and real possibility that the Indian tribe's military forces are going to boast about their successes in raiding and pillaging the mentally deficient Mr. MK on how they made so much money on Mr. MK with the military personnel of a United States' adversary when the United States and the Indian tribe led a war party on Mr. MK's property in March 1803. Obviously, malicious countries and actual adversaries against the United States see the fox-in-the-hen-house-commotion surrounding Mr. MK by Federal Marshals and local constables. Federal marshals do have to know in fact that to be true or they were that deliberately and willfully ignorant of that risk of danger to Mr. MK; and yet, at no time, do Federal Marshals ever provide any direct training to help a 18-34 mild idiot savant man in the 15+ years they have come to know Mr. MK to avoid the attention and siren songs of the adversaries because of their actions against Mr. MK.

Federal Marshals necessarily and completely knew Mr. MK was in complete 100% danger on his voyage to the orient on May 18th, 1807 and how that would come back on them if danger befell upon Mr. MK. Any Federal Marshals with integrity would have ridden horseback (drove directly) and made their way to the State of Louisiana from Washington D.C to save themselves and the institution and have the Federal Marshals have integrity and warn the mentally deficient man of the oncoming & imminent danger. Federal Marshals did not. Federal Marshals could have anonymously sent a dire letter of warning of Mr. MK of the imminent harm that was going to befall upon him and send it via horseback and would have necessarily known Mr. MK received the letter in time before the dastardly scheme happened because of Fort Sentinel, Fort Lava, Fort Beaver, and Fort Deadsoul were always watching Mr. MK. Federal Marshals did not. A month passes in which the Federal Marshals still necessarily and legally know of the incoming and imminent danger that is going to befall upon Mr. MK in the orient. Federal Marshals do nothing for an entire month. Federal Marshals in multiple Federal Marshals offices across Washington DC, Fort Sentinel, Fort Lava, Fort Deadsoul, Fort Beaver, in London, in India, and Federal Marshals living and work in the town in the orient Mr. MK was residing at the time have an even stronger, concrete, explicit, definite, and obvious reason to know (beyond any reasonable doubt) that imminent harm was necessarily and unavoidably going to befall upon Mr. MK on 06/26/1807. Federal Marshals had at least a minimum of three days and up to a week to send immediate rescue and aid and prevent the plot from occurring. Federal Marshals did not do this. The Chief Justice knew of the plot from May 18th, 1807. When he visited Mr. MK in the orient on July 7th, 1807, he did nothing.

The Secretary of State, being of a questionable character, has a charity in which foreign countries contribute massively to the charity so long as the Secretary of State is in a position of influence or power, or as some ruffians would dare say about the contributions only occurring when he is in a position of influence or power, bribing the Secretary of State when ‘he’ has the power to influence. Some of the highest amounts the Secretary of State received in his charity was during his tenure at Secretary of State and the years of announcing and running for President. In April 1807 when he declared his intention on running to be the President of America in 1808. The Secretary of State, as observed by an intellectual, described ‘him’ thusly: “The Secretary of State has the most unappetizing combination of qualities to be met in many days’ march: ‘he’ is a tyrant and a bully when ‘he’ can dare to be, and an ingratiating populist that will serve. ‘He’ will sometimes appear in the guise of a strong confident ‘man’ and sometimes in the softer garb of a winsome and vulnerable ‘male.’ ‘He’ is entirely un-self-critical and quite devoid of reflective capacity, and has never found that any of ‘his’ numerous misfortunes or embarrassments are his own fault, because the fault invariably lies with others...Like (his partner), ‘he’ is not just a liar, but a lie; a phony construct of shreds and patches and hysterical, self-pitying, demagogic improvisations.”⁶ One day and prior to running for president, The Secretary of State and his partner are not doing well politically in their home state. Needing to find a public spectacle to appease the masses to create a show demonstrating their adherence to the rule of law--all the while living a life marred by bribery and corruption--they lynch a mentally deficient negro who had no concept of time who had committed a murder before his mental deterioration. Cheers are subsequently had by the Secretary of State and his partner and the masses alike and the Secretary of State and his partner's popularity increases. Some may say this is learned behavior by the Secretary of State and his partner.

Furthermore, different unknown Federal Marshals realize that Mr. MK has a penchant for entertainment, poetry, journalism, and history. They seize Mr. MK's papers utilizing battalions of foreign armies, general writs of assistance, and deception, and they give his papers to local entertainers in which the entertainers took Mr. MK's ideas, stories, and thoughts and passed it off as their own and made money in the process in which Mr. MK does not receive an ounce of gratitude or silver from the local entertainers. Mr. MK is a peon for all intents and purposes and he becomes an indentured servant to the United States government in August 1805. Mr. MK never conceives of the idea in his head that general warrants were utilized and that the local entertainers were using his ideas when Mr. MK had watched the local entertainers' performances. Mr. MK is told by an officer in the Navy that some of the Federal Marshals had done this against Mr. MK in 1809 in which Mr. MK is thankful and appreciative that they did in which one of his poems about love was used because love meant so much to him because Mr. MK was not well loved and constantly abused by the government, but Mr. MK still wondered where the appreciation was for using Mr. MK's thoughts and ideas.

In September of 1801, Federal Marshals, the Secretary of State, and local constables create a plan to seize Mr. MK when Mr. MK was walking through town after leaving a pub with a beer in his hand. Part of the reason of this plan was so that general writs of assistance could be continued to be used and continuing the legal fraud perpetuated against Mr. MK and the Court by the Court, DOJ, and Federal Marshals. Through the years after undergoing numerous searches and seizures, Mr. MK's home burns down in May 1802 in which Mr. MK's beloved orange gargantuan cat is killed. Mr. MK is devastated that his cat is killed. Mr. MK would have never killed his beloved cat for any amount of money. Mr. MK has no part in the home burning as he is more than 4 different states away when his house burned down. Federal Marshals knew all of that information and the previous conditions in which Mr. MK did not purchase anything to cause the home to be burned down. This doesn't not prevent Federal Marshal Andrew or others in the White House from alleging in a warrant in Spring 1807 that Mr. MK was the cause of his house burning down in 1802 and Federal Marshals search and seize unconstitutionally yet again Mr. MK's new papers in which all of his old papers were burned in the home in 1802 and this was done in furtherance of a scheme against Mr. MK at behest of the Secretary of State and Officer Rockefeller who has been given complete unfettered discretion to obtain everything from inside Mr. MK's home.

Mr. MK is getting sick of this grotesque and unconstitutional treatment. He rants about it from time to time and tries to live day by day. Mr. MK provides documentation that demonstrates through his talks inside the privacy of his home all of the unconstitutional treatment he has received through the years. Mr. MK documents at least 18 examples in which the Secretary of State and Mr. MK are treated completely differently under the law and questions the integrity of the Supreme Court in a mail sent to one of his colleagues in July 1807 prior to meeting the Chief Justice that involve issues concerning his speech and search and seizures that the Chief Justice knows about and read. In these messages prior to meeting the Chief Justice that the Chief Justice necessarily knew about, Mr. MK even insinuates that it was the Chief Justice that had murdered him on the basis of his mental deficiencies. Prior to this, Mr. MK hears that the Secretary of State is running for office in Spring 1807. In Fall 1801, Mr. MK becomes a journalist for his local town's newspaper. He stops being a journalist at that newspaper in May 1803; however, Mr. MK becomes a journalist again in 1806 & 1807 while living in Baton Rouge, Louisiana having written an article for a publication in Nashville that the Federal Marshals necessarily knew about at that time in which the article was mailed to the publication in Nashville from Baton Rouge. Being deceived by the two federal marshals in his home to create a false sense of privacy in his home, Mr. MK makes humorous jokes about The Secretary of State and Mr. MK's intention on writing an article concerning bribery and the Secretary of State and one of his wealthy benefactors. The battalion and standing army that is circling his home immediately report Mr. MK'S jokes and the intention on writing an article about the Secretary of State and one of his wealthy benefactors to the Secretary of State and from there falsely label Mr. MK as having an intent to influence the election. Mr. MK had no reasonable basis in determining and concluding what Federal Marshals, the Supreme Court, and the Secretary of State had done to him between 1800-1807; however, they knew Mr. MK had a penchant for writing despite his mental deficiencies and they knew Mr. MK had some of the material and his personal experiences to connect all three conspirators together in an article if he so chose. Furthermore, the standing battalion and leagues of soldiers and marshals through a general writs of assistance overhears a dastardly scheme on how to perfectly harm Mr. MK on his mental deficiencies over a course of time in a foreign country and the conditions necessary to do so. Part of the scheme required Mr. MK to lose his mental capabilities through human conditions. Where there is motive, there is opportunity.

Mr. MK takes a vessel and sails to the orient in May 26th, 1807. Prior to Mr. MK's Departure, in March 1807, both the Secretary of State's partner visits the orient and talks to the Head of the Japanese people and the Chief Justice of Japan and the Chief Justice are in regular dialogue during this time in which they paid for Mr. MK's vessel fare and lodging abroad, implementing the conditions of his demise, Mr. MK was to be hurried there to Japan for the Secretary of State's and Federal Marshal Andrew's prosecution and coverup scheme under mob domination against Mr. MK in which the whole proceeding was but a mask that failed to provide or supply any corrective process. On May 18th, 1807, the Supreme Court informs the world and conspirators that they would legally absolve any conspirators in harming Mr. MK when he was abroad in the orient and that they had the purpose of arresting Mr. MK in the orient to prevent him from ever coming back home. During Mr. MK's time in the orient, The Secretary of State has a fundraiser on 06/26/1807. Reporters are in the room and make full and complete observations as to the statements The Secretary of State made that night. Federal Marshal Andrew's best friend and partner in life, Jack McCabe, decides he is going to run for a local position as state senator in the state of Virginia. Federal Marshal Andrew would do anything for his best friend Jack, having a complete hatred for Mr. MK and the need to coverup what Federal Marshals and the Supreme Court have done over the years, Federal Marshal Andrew is intimately aware of and knows of Mr. MK and all of the Constitutional Deprivations that took place against Mr. MK. The Secretary of State gives a rousing speech, but the details of the speech contain information obtained through general writs of assistance in which only the Federal Marshals and the Secretary of State know the source of the information directly. The Secretary of State quotes Mr. MK directly and uses his jokes as The Secretary of State knows in good showmanship that the ignorant masses enjoy a laugh in which The Secretary of State derived sadistic pleasure using the good of Mr. MK against Mr. MK. In conjunction with the Supreme Court absolving all legal liability for conspiracies to be undertaken against Mr. MK by May 1807, the Secretary of State officially sanctions and orders the conspiracy to start and plans on forever, once and for all, end Mr. MK as being a political liability on June 26th, 1807. One reporter noted that there was a part of his speech in which the eyes of The Secretary of State brimmed with anger at the exact moment of the hit ordered against Mr. MK. The conspiracy also directed Federal Marshal Andrew to prosecute Mr. MK in which his friend Jack McCabe would be paid handsomely in his election. That's bribery someone shouted from the back and they should be prosecuted and removed from office under Section IV. But who is Mr. MK to tell?

As previously mentioned, The Supreme Court between 1800 and 1808 observe and have constant updates as to the life and progress of Mr. MK. The Supreme Court rule on cases that directly impact Mr. MK's ability to defend himself in the court of law based on the same facts that the Supreme Court became aware of that involved Mr. MK's life if Mr. MK were ever to defend himself against such unconstitutional and egregious actions. The cases limit the ability of Mr. MK to seek judicial redress and holding the federal marshals, the army, and the standing foreign army accountable for their actions. The Supreme Court necessarily decided those cases upon using Writs of General Assistance and foreign standing armies to do so. The Supreme Court through 1800-1808 can be characteristically characterized as having engaged in a pattern of limiting 4th Amendment rights against search and seizures and absolving all federal officials in depriving the People of their constitutional interests. "That could never happen in the course of this country's history" shouted a founding father in the back. WRONG. It did. Mr MK shouted back. The Chief Justice also visits the Orient to see that the scheme is done against Mr. MK in July 1807 in which he knew about Mr. MK's insinuation in the mail sent. Mr. MK had developed some legal knowledge at this point and had been pursuing a career as a lawyer. Mr. MK and the Chief Justice meet in a common hall in Tokyo, Japan. The Chief Justice offers no help or legal assistance after years of jurisprudence ruling against Mr. MK on the basis of fabricated evidence and obstruction of justice by Federal Marshals. For once in their lives, The Chief Justice and Mr. MK look each other in the eyes in the orient while the Chief Justice gives a speech in the common hall. The Chief Justice said nothing directly to Mr. MK, gave no opportunity for Mr. MK to ask any questions about the speech, never acknowledged what he had done over the years against Mr. MK, and fled out of the room like a coward and a man of dishonor when the speech ended for allowing years of fraud to be perpetuated against Mr. MK and the Court.

The conspiracy and dastardly scheme is complete and an attempt is had to serve notice on Mr. MK, but somehow to this day he does not understand how he evaded service or being arrested when there was a federal marshal in his residence the entire time he was in Japan and other Federal Marshals living & working nearby that could have provided aid and rescue as the Federal Marshals lives were not in any danger in providing aid or warning in the entire month of June 1807. But Mr. MK keeps running his mouth in January 1808 and starts to discover different unconstitutional actions and obstruction of justice by Department of Justice officials in which at this time of constant surveillance by standing foreign armies and federal marshals, Federal Marshals do nothing to assist Mr. MK (to his understanding though it is possible the attorney general knew about it, because of course he did, and maybe the attorney general had some integrity to allow Mr. MK to pursue that endeavor). Either way, from the time Mr MK arrives back to his home from the orient in August 1807, Federal Marshals and some Department of Justice officials want to prosecute Mr. MK at the behest of the Secretary of State for being a victim of their own dastardly scheme undertaken by Federal Marshals and the Secretary of State in which the Secretary of State now has full-fledged control over the Marshals in 1807/1808. No one in this time alerts Mr. MK of anything that he needs to know about.

Federal Marshal Peter, along with Federal Marshal Peter's girlfriend, who was an attorney at the Department of Justice, and Federal Marshal Rockefeller through the years of war parties and raids against Mr.MK's home on completely fabricated reasons and in conspiracy with different soldiers and Federal Marshals in which the man-baby Federal Marshal Peter refuses to accept responsibility for his actions, bemoans that after 8 years of outrageous intrusions and constitutional violations and deprivations, he may be the one responsible for it all: "And I'm the one facing the music. From some who I have known for a long time. Nobody else pays the price. Nobody else will have the same straight hard discussion. Yet I'm the only one who violated his sense of integrity to swallow hard and deliver the message. I'm not sure I want to be part of this." His girlfriend attorney Lisa that enabled Federal Marshal Peter to cheat on his wife with her being fully supportive of the scheme said: "You are a part of this and that's not going to change. But I think you have every right to be angry and frustrated about being left out of the loop in your investigation, especially when you're going to be left holding the bag."

Mr. MK mails correspondence questioning the conduct of Department of Justice Officials in which Mr. MK through 9 months of meticulous research in his local library in 1808 discovers the conduct unbecoming of different Department of Justice employees primarily unrelated to his initial issues in 1800 in which he hears nothing meaningfully back from Department of Justice officials in Washington D.C in Spring 1809. Federal Marshal James documents all of Mr. MK's questionable history to President O'Bamahan via mail in Spring 1809 an image that Mr. MK that only Federal Marshal James, President O'Bamahan, and Mr. MK could have known what it meant as Mr. MK becomes aware that the image relates to all of the questionable things Mr. MK has ever done from 1800-1808; and this was made public knowledge after having used general writs of assistance against Mr. MK and committing legal fraud against Mr.MK for years. Under new President Mike Trump in 1809, the People decided that the Secretary of State should not have won. The Secretary of State did what he always did and blamed Mr.MK for his defeat when he had perpetuated legal fraud and stole billions of dollars from Mr. MK in 1802 and 1803 and never gave him a dime, ordered a hit on Mr. MK on 06/26/1807, and had full fledged control over a particular office of the Federal Marshals in Washington D.C. in 1807 and 1808 as a private individual and not a federal government employee. Surprisingly, Department of Justice do in fact do somethings to adequately address the prohibited conducted at issue in 1809 that Mr. MK discovered in 1808, but do absolutely nothing in regards to the flagrant constitutional violations that occurred prior to this incident from 1800-1808 in which the Department of Justice does not inform Mr. MK of any of the acts involving the Supreme Court, Officer Rockefeller and his sidekick Indian, or what they themselves had undertaken against Mr. MK, or the dastardly scheme by the Secretary of State and Federal Marshal Andrew when they had the opportunity to do so. They had Mr.MK's contact information at all times between 1800-1815 and they still did nothing. Washington DC is in uproar at the inauguration of President Mike Trump in 1809 and pure chaos reigns down in the city of Washington DC having been corrupted for so long and held completely unaccountable in the process in which people started to go to jail. Cruel and constant torture is inflicted upon Mr. MK through the years in which Mr. MK seeks the help of a physician in April/May 1809. Around this same time, President Mike Trump fires Federal Marshal James and Federal Marshal Andrew gains even more leadership positions after being promoted after committing the dastardly scheme against Mr. MK in which his partner for life Mr. Jack McCabe was paid off by the Secretary of State. Just before seeking help by a physician, 3 unknown individuals in disguise cross state lines with full assistance and cooperation of the Federal Marshals and the standing foreign and domestic army, allow the 3 individuals to try to assassinate Mr. MK at a local school in February or March 1809. The assassination attempt is foiled by Mr. MK's keen observations and rides off in time before the plot is completed. Federal Marshals, the War Department, and the foreign battalions of the Prussian, British, and Indian armies all knew that happened and they all did nothing. Through the battalion of a standing foreign army, the army, and federal marshals, Federal Marshal Andrew learns that Mr. MK is in need of help and care by a physician. Federal Marshal Andrew in disguise goes across state lines to Illinois in April or May of 1809 and then interrogates Mr. MK for two days in which Mr. MK does not know it was that Federal Marshal Andrew who obtained higher leadership positions in the Federal Marshals that committed the acts against him in the orient at behest of the Secretary of State in which the interrogations are done to implicate Mr. MK in any crime. All the while, the Department of Justice, Federal Marshals, and The Supreme Court at this time continue to rule against Mr. MK. In August/September 1808, a different Navy officer made Mr. MK stay up for 36 hours in which he was told to confess to all crimes. Federal Marshal Andrew steps down in leadership from the Federal Marshals around this same time. Either President Mike Trump or his advisors or the War Department or the Federal Marshals send a fully armed battalion of the army and invaded Mr. MK's space again from Fort Sentinel while Mr. MK was engaging in commerce and seeking comfort at a nearby lake in which the battalion followed him from the store to the lake and disappeared off into the night--exactly two years on the day of President Mike Trump was elected President on November 8th, 1810. Federal Marshal Andrew gets fired by President Mike Trump in 1811.

Prior to this Mr. MK starts to become aware of how Congress truly operates in Spring 1809 through the legislation proposals of a Senator from Oklahoma (that were lawfully given by Mr. MK to the Senator's office in Oklahoma in December 1808). The town of D.C. has acquired the knowledge that Mr. MK started to acquire the mental ability to figure out their schemes and tricks through the years from at least Spring 1809, even more so in 1815 as knowledge is power. Mr. MK thought it was at least an interesting coincidence that there involved a ruling involving the slants and free speech as it was a win for free speech in 1809 and wished it was a token of their appreciation for Mr. MK's free speech battles that Mr. MK endured in 1807, 1808, and 1809 and years before. (never truly knowing or having reason to know the true extent of what happened to Mr. MK over the years as Mr. MK connected his free speech battle in 1808 to the ruling in 1809 and thought it only derived from that incident independent of anything else). Mr. MK still had faith in the institutions when they did him wrong from over the years since 1800. Mr. MK could have never known what the Supreme Court did through the years, what the Secretary of State did and Federal Marshal Andrew did in 1807, and what the foreign armies did against Mr. MK from 1800-1808; and Mr. MK is completely outraged in 1815 as that is when he fully understands the scope of the issues and the psychopathic depths of their schemes.

Through the entirety of President Mike Trump's tenure and President Robin O'Brien's tenure, Mr. MK filed at least 20 different requests with the Department of Justice and Federal Marshals requesting information and filing complaints that they all necessarily knew about from 1809-1815 regarding what happened from 1800. Then Federal Marshal Andrew having established a relationship with Chief Justice from at least Spring 1807 prior to Mr. MK's departure to the orient mails a picture in Spring/Summer 1815 of a caricature poking a stick at a drawing of the Chief Justice with the caption of "do something" as if 10+ years of rulings against Mr. MK were not enough. Mr. MK is very upset. Mr. MK in Summer 1813 travels on horse and vessel and makes his way to Washington D.C for a personal visit. Mr. MK arrives on June 20th, 1813 in Washington D.C. That day, Mr. MK goes directly to the Department of Justice, a Court to obtain evidence and a record that was used against Mr. MK so that Mr. MK could refute the allegations and the legal fraud that was undertaken against him, and two headquarters of the Federal Marshals in which Mr. MK is turned away and prohibited from entering in all four locations even with his prior history involving them in which Mr. MK even provided them a viable means to cover up their actions and resolve the issues right then and there and they all continued having their backs turned to Mr. MK shouting and screaming with their fingers in their ears: "la la la la la I can't hear you la la la la la." It wasn't until August 1815 that Mr. MK discovered and fully understood all of the actions involving the Secretary of State, the foreign army, the Federal Marshals, sidekick Indian, Federal Marshal Andrew, Federal Marshal James, and Federal Marshal Peter and Federal Marshal's best friend Jack McCabe, Officer Rockefeller, and the Supreme Court and Chief Justice... and that is where the Court is to decide on some of the issues.

Section I(I):

(1): "PLAINTIFF is filing lawsuit in good faith and is relying on information found online; there is a tremendous possibility that PLAINTIFF has been obstructed in some way based on the information found online by DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF wants to be healthy again. It is only the Bad Faith of DEFENDANTS that caused PLAINTIFF to file or erroneously decide to file with diminished brain capacity after their treatment or not having the knowledge necessary to make a reasonable decision. PLAINTIFF feels as though he is being experimented upon by DEFENDANTS or deliberately isolated making PLAINTIFF worse; and PLAINTIFF demands an immediate injunction prohibiting the psychological torture from continuing. PLAINTIFF thinks he has been deliberately and intentionally isolated and deprived of information concerning his legal issues and has not been made aware of it from at least 2008. So if that is true, then this is in partial fault of PLAINTIFF'S parents and DEFENDANTS.

Section I(J).

(1): "PLAINTIFF lacks the necessary mental and financial capacity to fully articulate all of his claims as the United States Government and DEFENDANTS intentionally tortured PLAINTIFF & denied him information routinely from 2006-2023. PLAINTIFF had a severe problem of ascertaining what the truth was in regards to what DEFENDANTS did in regards to PLAINTIFF as DEFENDANTS have completely obstructed PLAINTIFF in obtaining the proper redress through recourse methods in filing complaints with DOJ and DEFENDANTS ignoring FOIA requests and giving bullshit answers in FOIA requests. The main problem is that PLAINTIFF is autistic and believes the good in people, trusts too easily, and won't believe the evil that exists out there; and then there is an elite bubble in Washington D.C. that speak in a completely different, initially unintelligible manner, to PLAINTIFF; and to PLAINTIFF, it was like PLAINTIFF observing aliens and communicating with aliens in which PLAINTIFF had to figure out what the WASHINGTON DC Double-speak consists of, how it operates, and to show that PLAINTIFF is not crazy in regards to DC Double-Speak. It took a lot of time to figure it all out and to get rid of prior misconceptions. PLAINTIFF did the best he could in this complaint.

(2): PLAINTIFF only really started to acquire knowledge of what PLAINTIFF calls: "DC Double Speak" when U.S. Senator JAMES LANKFORD-R. OK. introduced to Congress some Administrative Laws in Spring 2017 that concerned RICO Enterprise 2 in which PLAINTIFF listened to Congressional debate about all relevant administrative laws around that time in which they were proposed. During these Congressional debates concerning administrative law, it came to PLAINTIFF's understanding that some members of Congress were talking about PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF started to connect the dots. PLAINTIFF did not have a full-on knowledgeable basis in determining the commands contained in DC Double Speak as they pertained to PLAINTIFF until at least 2022 or 2023 for sure. PLAINTIFF'S tweets would convey his current knowledge and understanding as to DC Double-Speak.

So, PLAINTIFF start to become aware of the DC Double-Speak in Spring 2017 only based on RICO Enterprise 2 and still-- at times-- doesn't fully understand or know how DC Double-Speak works and operates because he is autistic man trying to learn the language of aliens with no guide nor social and verbal skills with no one to affirm if he is correct. PLAINTIFF through years of listening to DC double-speak via Congress and the FBI slowly learned how it can work and the importance of double attributable facts, vagueness of language, being a party to confidential information that no one else could have known besides an extremely porous US Intel service that gushed out all of PLAINTIFF'S private and confidential info to DC between 2006 to Present in which the vagueness of language allows one to convey direction and explanation all the while having layers of added protection in double meaning and double speak that creates plausible deniability. What PLAINTIFF most of the time can do is point out that the facts of when PLAINTIFF is talked about; and based on hindsight, what is a reasonable explanation of what the DC Doublespeak at that particular time had intended on conveying. PLAINTIFF really acquired the first time how DC double-speak and solidified how it worked when he came across City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015). After one read of it and sheehan brief by DOJ, he explored the ideas of it on Twitter; but it was a second or third time reading and filling out this complaint to show you how it really worked against PLAINTIFF and that occurred primarily around mid to late July 2023 and August 2023.

Because American INTEL knew about the importance of City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015) in RICO Enterprise 1 in which they necessarily knew that PLAINTIFF started to figure somethings out, American INTEL and DOJ could ascertain what PLAINTIFF would fully and reasonably start to discover the extent of RICO Enterprise 1 in which PLAINTIFF even admits he doesn't know how far it goes and how deep it goes. The point being, PLAINTIFF started to discover RICO Enterprise 1 in which DEFENDANTS retaliated against PLAINTIFF yet again by having issued Executive Order 14105. PLAINTIFF is a simpleton in trying to beat more than 20 different intelligence agencies from more than 3 countries with hundreds and billions of dollars in assets, manpower, super computers, troves of databases, and the whole entire Department of Justice in which they all had been monitoring PLAINTIFF since 2008 and absolutely from July 15th or so 2023 to August 9th, 2023 to the Courthouse so that PLAINTIFF could vindicate his claims in Court. PLAINTIFF had exactly 624 hours (about 26 days or so) between July 15th, 2023 to August 9th, 2023. Let's assume that PLAINTIFF had only slept for 4 hours a night between that time and that would be around 500 or so hours. So PLAINTIFF had 500 hours to somehow miraculously do the following in the following conditions: 1) figure out the full extent of DEFENDANTS fraudulent concealment of RICO Enterprise 1 that spanned over fifteen years, 2) for PLAINTIFF to remember everything from the last 15 years to make sense of it all, 3) read hundreds of cases, 4) research as much as PLAINTIFF could to ascertain names in intelligence which is already super-secret as it is 5) organize the material and evidence coherently for the court to understand, 6) draft a complaint that exceeds more than 1,000 pages single spaced and more than 500,000 words in less than a month, 7) PLAINTIFF having no money at all, 8) no lawyers wanting to help PLAINTIFF in which PLAINTIFF went to people and friends and got turned away from every place, 9) PLAINTIFF had no access to legal databases besides the free Justia and Casetext database online in which PLAINTIFF doesn't even know if the cases he cited are valid law anymore, and 10) all PLAINTIFF had was PLAINTIFF'S internet researching skills and mind. In showing a continuous on-going pattern of racketeering, President JOESEPH R. BIDEN issued Executive Order 14105 that completely undermined PLAINTIFF'S ability to argue his case in court and denied PLAINTIFF access to the Court. Then arguably part of it is because it involves President BIDEN'S son, HUNTER BIDEN because of what happened in 2015. That is why equitable tolling applies and that is why PLAINTIFF demands no Supreme Court case law and no cases that are dependent on SCOTUS precedent from 2006 because it is so manifestly prejudicial against PLAINTIFF as to have his Due Process rights denied even before going to Court.

So speaking of how PLAINTIFF discovered RICO Enterprise 1 by reading City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015), PLAINTIFF reversed engineered it with an extremely particular set of skills that no ordinary or reasonable person could have or acquire (so to speak) because there are too many psychological issues that would prevent a person from acquiring the skills necessary to figure it out. There is not an ordinary or reasonable prudence that can be deduced from the facts because nothing like this has ever happened in American Jurisprudential History. Period. PLAINTIFF went through past SCOTUS cases to show the Court what was really going on. PLAINTIFF doesn't know how far it all goes and how deep it goes and doesn't really want to know how far it goes and how deep it goes. PLAINTIFF knows it is deep and doesn't know what it all really means. PLAINTIFF is not exploring the rest of the dirt and is putting it back and is just limiting the present dirt to this case and nothing outside of it. So in order for PLAINTIFF to move on and not keep exploring and digging, what PLAINTIFF is hoping for is a start of a new life with the Prayers of Relief section where he can finally put the era of 2003ish-2023 to rest and have the future be something beautiful and meaningful to him and to America and the world. Okay? Okay.

Section I(K).

Equitable tolling applies for any claims in which the statute of limitations has passed via Stoll v. Runyon, 165 F.3d 1238 (9th Cir. 1999). Furthermore, as the Court said in Capiz-Fabian v. Barr, 933 F.3d 1015 (8th Cir. 2019). “To qualify for the remedy of equitable tolling, [Urrutia] bears the burden of establishing two elements: (1) that he has been pursuing his rights diligently, and (2) that some extraordinary circumstance stood in his way.” Id. (cleaned up), quoting Pace v. DiGuglielmo, 544 U.S. 408 (2005).” PLAINTIFF has been pursuing his rights diligently through the years and through hoping DEFENDANTS would have an iota of integrity and that by remaining silent for a few years, hoping DEFENDANTS would come to their senses and work on a solution with PLAINTIFF in which they consistently and routinely failed in which they only harassed and intimidated PLAINTIFF; furthermore, PLAINTIFF has not had the proper mental capacity to file a lawsuit of this magnitude in which no attorneys sought to assist PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF is filing something for some of his claims as not to completely lose all claims due to uncertainty in psychological, physical, and mental healing or lack thereof because of DEFENDANTS’ actions. PLAINTIFF was in Special Education after all and is kind of slow--so equitable tolling applies to slow people. Furthermore, PLAINTIFF is not disclosing all RICO acts known to him as not to prejudice the future administration of law in order for the United States to continue to be a beacon of legal hope in the future & not waste valuable judicial resources. All PLAINTIFF has left in this world is his wonderful Shiba Inu dog, KAWAIL, and hopes KAWAIL and PLAINTIFF can grow old together in the future. PLAINTIFF has nothing left to give or offer.”

Section I(L):

(1): “To DEFENDANTS who have supported PLAINTIFF in which PLAINTIFF has included as DEFENDANTS: I am so sorry that I included you, your companies, or your institutions as DEFENDANTS after the positive steps you have helped me in my life. If you were in my shoes, I would hope you would understand; and you would do this as well. It’s not you—it’s them. I have to find out who did what to me and hold them accountable and you are unfortunately part of the picture.” I realize I have not been perfect by any stretch of the imagination. I have tried so damn hard in life and I’ve messed up so many times in my life. However, I have been treated worse than a slave and have continuously been taken advantage of for far too long in which at least slaves had more legal rights and legal certainty than PLAINTIFF ever did in his life.”

(2): PLAINTIFF simply wants to die an old happy man that tried in life and PLAINTIFF wants the Court to grant his Prayer of Relief; and once the Court does, things will go back to normal, and PLAINTIFF will start a new chapter in his life.

The last time PLAINTIFF was truly up to his highest cognitive capabilities was Spring 2015. PLAINTIFF is not that up to par, yet, but, is trying to get there. After Spring 2015, any legal acts committed by PLAINTIFF were done after having been tortured by DEFENDANTS. So whatever PLAINTIFF did in regard to RICO Enterprise 2 that concerned money, there was no possible way PLAINTIFF knew or had the capability or capacity to understand all the factual issues involved. PLAINTIFF consistently confirmed that RICO Enterprise 2 was not about money as he wanted it to be about the vindication of rights. PLAINTIFF set up a GoFundMe for legal defense fees as a precautionary measure and for standing up for rights in case DOJ decided to legally retaliate and pursue PLAINTIFF because PLAINTIFF brought RICO Enterprise 2 to DOJ and Dept of Education's attention (even though they were completely aware of it the whole time in 2016) and Congress' attention. PLAINTIFF did not obtain a single dollar from the GoFundMe even though he posted a link to it on Facebook and other social media. PLAINTIFF never directly asked for any amount from DEFENDANTS (DOJ, Dept of Education, etc) for RICO Enterprise 2 and the story. By Winter 2016/January 2017, PLAINTIFF was that obsessed with the story where he was barely able to take care of himself.

Section II: Bivens Purposes:

(1)(a): Some of the municipalities, townships, towns, cities, county, provinces, states, or country who authority DEFENDANT officers or officials acted is: SEWANEE, TENNESSEE; BATON ROUGE, LOUISIANA; WADSWORTH, ILLINOIS; ALICE SPRINGS/PINE GROVE/PINE GAP, AUSTRALIA; JAPAN; WASHINGTON D.C.; FAIRFAX, VIRGINIA; GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY; State of Minnesota; INDIA; the HEAD QUARTERS or any OFFICES of DEFENDANTS; any DATA FUSION CENTERS located anywhere in the UNITED STATES, EUROPE, AUSTRALIA, INDIA; or other location that has a connection with the issues presented herein; or under the jurisdiction of any city, state, or country in which PLAINTIFF lived or visited or DEFENDANTS had in-personam jurisdiction over PLAINTIFF at any time in PLAINTIFF’S life.

(1)(b). In addition, to PLAINTIFF’S federal constitutional claims, the municipality, township, county, state, country, or location where violations occurred/custom or policy violations occurred (in the next paragraph) were: SEWANEE, TENNESSEE; BATON ROUGE, LOUISIANA; WADSWORTH, ILLINOIS; ALICE SPRINGS/PINE GROVE/PINE GAP, AUSTRALIA; TOKYO, JAPAN; WASHINGTON D.C.; ATLANTA, GEORGIA; FAIRFAX, VIRGINIA; GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY; State of Minnesota, ; the HEAD QUARTERS or any OFFICES of DEFENDANTS; any DATA FUSION CENTERS located anywhere in the UNITED STATES, JAPAN, EUROPE, AUSTRALIA, INDIA, UNITED KINGDOM; or other location that has a connection with the issues presented herein; or under the jurisdiction of any city, state, or country in which PLAINTIFF lived or visited or DEFENDANTS had in-personam jurisdiction over PLAINTIFF at any time in PLAINTIFF’S life.”

(2): DEFENDANTS officers acted pursuant to a custom or policy, which custom or policy is the following: “prohibitions on torture; prohibitions on entrapment; prohibitions on fabricating evidence; prohibitions on outrageous government conduct; prohibitions on revealing information in the course of an on-going investigation; prohibitions on having private individuals having de-facto leadership over certain agencies and directing agencies’ course of actions; prohibitions on planting evidence; prohibitions on obstructing justice; prohibitions on doing any RICO predicate acts in enforcing the law; prohibitions on using known perjured testimony; prohibitions on war crimes; prohibitions against using an individual’s disability against a subject or witness to cause said individual to commit crimes against their legal and constitutional interests; prohibitions on inhumane treatment; prohibitions on aiding and abetting the enterprise without reporting it to the proper authorities or to PLAINTIFF; prohibitions on the creation, facilitation, and use of a Star Chamber tribunal against custom and traditional notions of justice and fairness; prohibitions on Bills of Attainder/Ex-Post Facto laws and punishments; and other prohibited acts.

Section III: Short statement entitling PLAINTIFF to relief: (Non-Shotgun Pleading).

On May 21, 2018, GE and Wabtec announced that GE Transportation, valued at $11.1 billion, would be divested from GE and subsequently merged with Wabtec in a Reverse Morris Trust transaction by early 2019.^[10] Upon completion on February 25, 2019, the merged company was 50.8% owned by instead is whether a court decision was procured by corrupt means, regardless of whether the cause was just. An innocent defendant is no more entitled to submit false evidence, to coopt and pay off a court-appointed expert, or to coerce or bribe a judge or jury than a guilty one. So even if Donziger and his clients had a just cause—and the Court expresses no opinion on that—they were not entitled to corrupt the process to achieve their goal. Justice is not served by inflicting injustice. The ends do not justify the means. There is no “Robin Hood” defense to illegal and wrongful conduct. And the defendants’ “this-is-the-way-it-is-done-in-Ecuador” excuses—actually a remarkable insult to the people of Ecuador—do not help them. The wrongful actions of Donziger and his Ecuadorian legal team would be offensive to the laws of any nation that aspires to the rule of law, including Ecuador—and they knew it. Indeed, one Ecuadorian legal team member, in a moment of “panicky candor, admitted that if documents exposing just part of what they had done were to come to light, “apart from destroying the proceeding, all of us, your attorneys, might go to jail.”” Chevron Corp. v. Donziger, 833 F.3d 74, 86 (2d Cir. 2016) No In Terrorem effect in this complaint.

Wabtec shareholders, with GE shareholders owning 24.3% and GE itself owning 24.9%; GE also received $2.9 billion in cash.^{[10][11]}

The Chevron 2016 condemned the actions of one of the Defendants in the case and highlighted: “Calmbacher had “never concluded that TexPet had failed to remediate any site or that any site posed a health or environmental risk.”... The submitted “reports were not the reports he wrote and did not reflect his views.”... “Thus, someone on the LAP team used the blank pages Calmbacher had initialed and his signature pages to submit over his name two reports that contained conclusions he did not reach....[S]omeone on the LAP Ecuadorian legal team revised his draft reports, printed them on the blank pages that Dr. Calmbacher initialed, and filed them with knowledge of the falsity.” Chevron Corp. v. Donziger, 833 F.3d 74 (2d Cir. 2016). This is what happened in Big Brother Big Sister and Trespass Incident #3 by TKL and Sewanee PD.

In Chevron 2016, the Court discussed how “The district court summarized the fraudulent provenance of Cabrera's reports to the Lago Agrio court as follows: in the last analysis, the facts concerning the Cabrera Report are crystal clear. The remaining LAP judicial inspections were cancelled, the global expert proposal adopted, and Cabrera appointed in consequence of the coercion of and pressure placed upon Judge Yáñez. As Donziger admitted in a Crude outtake, Judge Yáñez “never would have done [that] had we not really pushed him.”

Cabrera was not even remotely independent. He was recruited by Donziger. He was paid under the table out of a secret account above and beyond the legitimate court-approved payments. He was promised work on the remediation for life if the LAPs won. The LAPs gave him an office and life insurance, as well as a secretary who was a girlfriend of one of the LAP team members. Stratus and, to some extent others, wrote the overwhelming bulk of his report and his responses to Chevron's objections, as well as to the deceitful comments Stratus had written on its own report. And, in accordance with Donziger's plan to ratchet up the pressure on Chevron with a supposedly independent recommendation that Chevron be hit with a multibillion dollar judgment, he repeatedly lied to the court concerning his independence and his supposed authorship of the report.

Donziger, 974 F.Supp.2d at 446 (footnote omitted) (quoting June 13, 2007 “Crude” film clip (emphases ours)). Donziger had chosen Cabrera for the global expert position because Cabrera would cooperate with the LAPs. He and Fajardo procured his appointment by coercing Judge Yáñez. They had caused Stratus to write all or most of his report and then falsely passed that report off—both to the court and to the world press—as the independent work of a neutral, court-selected expert.

“Donziger was the architect of all that occurred with respect to the Cabrera Report,” id. at 447 n.484 ; “[h]e knew at all times that his actions were wrongful and illegal,” id. at 448 ; and “he had no illusions about the impropriety of what he and his colleagues had done,” id. at 459 n.563. “In sum, Donziger knew at every step that what he and the LAP team did with Cabrera was wrong, deceptive, and illegal.” Id. at 460. C. The February 14, 2011 Lago Agrio Judgment Largely because of the Ecuador court's system of assigning cases to judges for limited periods of time, a total of six judges presided over the Lago Agrio Chevron case from the time it was filed in 2003 until the Judgment was entered in 2011. Three of them figure prominently in the present case; two of them testified at trial. When the case was filed in May 2003, it was assigned to then-Judge Alberto Guerra Bastidas (“Guerra”), and he presided over it until January 2004; Guerra, who was removed from the bench in May 2008 because of misconduct, became an important witness at trial in the present case. From January 2006 until October 2007, Judge Yáñez, as discussed in Parts I.B.4.-I.B.6. above, was presiding. Nicolás Zambrano was a judge from July 2008 until he was removed from the bench for misconduct in February 2012. Zambrano first presided over the Lago Agrio Chevron case for a four-month term beginning in September 2009; he again presided over the litigation beginning in October 2010 and issued the $17.292 billion Judgment in February 2011.

The Lago Agrio Judgment awarded the LAPs $8.646 billion in damages for at least seven categories of injury, including harm to the environment and human health, and another $8.646 billion unless Chevron issued a public apology within 15 days. See Donziger, 974 F.Supp.2d at 481. In addition, the Judgment ordered that the LAPs establish a trust for the benefit of the ADF “or the person or persons that it designates” and that Chevron pay the damages awarded to that trust. It directed that the trust's board of directors be made up of the “representatives of the Defense Front,” i.e., the ADF, and provided that the board would choose the contractors who would perform the remediation. Thus, the Judgment did exactly what the complaint had asked—it put the ADF in complete control of any proceeds of the Judgment.

Id. at 481–82 (footnotes omitted) (quoting Lago Agrio Judgment (emphasis added)).

In explaining the Judgment, the court “professed to disclaim reliance on the Cabrera Report.” Donziger, 974 F.Supp.2d at 481. It stated that it had “ ‘not considered the conclusions presented by the experts in their reports, because they contradict each other despite the fact that they refer to the same reality.’ ” Id. (quoting Lago Agrio Judgment). The court also noted some of Chevron's charges of misconduct on the part of Donziger but said they were not attributable to the LAPs because the LAPs had not granted Donziger a formal power of attorney. See Donziger, 974 F.Supp.2d at 481.

Chevron issued no apology. Instead, it filed a motion for clarification and expansion of the Judgment three days after it was issued. It requested further explanation of several of the Judgment's conclusions.... It questioned also the Judgment's award of punitive damages, “which are not defined in the Ecuadorian legal system,” and were “completely identical to the items indicated in the Cabrera Report,” which the Judgment purported to exclude from its consideration.

Id. at 482 (footnote omitted) (quoting Chevron motion (emphasis ours)).

The Lago Agrio court issued a clarification order on March 4, 2011. It held inter alia.... that “the Court decided to refrain entirely from relying on Expert Cabrera's report when rendering judgment.... [T]he report had NO bearing on the decision. So even if there was fraud, it could not cause any harm to” Chevron.

Donziger, 974 F.Supp.2d at 482 (footnote omitted) (quoting Judgment Clarification Order (emphases ours)).

Chevron Corp. v. Donziger, 833 F.3d 74, 101-3 (2d Cir. 2016)

The court in Chevron Corp. v. Donziger, 384 F. Supp. 3d 465 (S.D.N.Y. 2019) (Hereon: Chevron 2019) summarized what the court in Chevron Corp. v. Donziger, 833 F.3d 74 (2d Cir. 2016) (hereon: Chevron 2016) ruled upon: “Nor is this the only tribunal to reach such conclusions. To mention one other, an arbitration tribunal under the auspices of the Permanent Court on Arbitration at the Hague, after extensive hearings, found, among many other things, the following:

- "This assessment starts with certain of the Lago Agrio Plaintiffs' representatives, especially Mr Donziger and Mr Fajardo. The evidence before this Tribunal points clearly to the conclusion that they engaged in prolonged, malign conduct towards the Respondent's legal system generally and, particularly, the Lago Agrio Court in a manner that almost beggars belief in its arrogant contempt for elemental principles of truth and justice. It is pointless here to characterize such conduct any further, because these individuals are not the object of the exercise required for this Award under the Treaty applying international law. Such conduct, as related above, also speaks for itself. Moreover, others unknown were also involved in the ‘ghostwriting’ exercise."

- The Ecuadorian "Judge Zambrano actively solicited a bribe from whichever side in the Lago Agrio Litigation would be willing to pay him for issuing a favourable judgment in the Lago Agrio Litigation. Chevron refused his approaches; but certain of the Lago Agrio Plaintiffs' representatives did not. It is not proven that Judge Zambrano did receive a monetary consideration actually paid to him before the issuance of the Lago Agrio Judgment. On a balance of probabilities, however, it is proven that the consideration was a promise to reward him financially at a later date from proceeds to be recovered from the enforcement against Chevron of the Lago Agrio Judgment. "

- "Judge Zambrano did not draft the entirety of the Lago Agrio Judgment by himself, as he falsely testified on oath in the RICO Litigation. The Tribunal finds that Judge Zambrano, in return for his promised reward, allowed certain of the Lago Agrio Plaintiffs' representatives, corruptly, to ‘ghostwrite’ at least material parts of the Lago Agrio Judgment (with its Clarification). These representatives included Mr Fajardo and Mr Donziger. " Matter of Chevron Corp. v. Republic of Ecuador, PCA No. 2009-23, Second Partial Award on Track 2 §§ 5.229-5.231 (Aug. 30, 2018) [DI 2082-1] (emphasis added).” Id.

Tech DEFENDANTS: the basis of your liability is the following: United States v. Miller, 116 F.3d 641, 674-75 (2d Cir. 1997) (act involving murder need not be actual murder as long as the act directly concerned murder, and facilitation of murder was a proper RICO predicate because accessorial offenses described in the New York State statutory provisions involved murder within the meaning of RICO where defendant provided information he knew would enable inquirer to commit murder or other RICO violations. Furthermore, United States v. Perrin, 580 F.2d 730 (5th Cir. 1978) highlighted the following: "Perrin was a consulting geologist who had to interpret and analyze data stolen from one of the co-defendants. The court said: "We simply need not determine if the gravity maps were an essential part of the scheme. Since it is undisputed by the appellants that the gravity maps would have been used to exploit the stolen data, the requirements for jurisdiction under the Travel Act are met. There is no requirement that the use of interstate facilities be essential to the scheme: it is enough that the interstate travel or the use of interstate facilities makes easier or facilitates the unlawful activity." Whenever any employee of APPLE, AT&T, VERIZON, XFINITY, etc. shared any information about PLAINTIFF when American INTEL DEFENDANTS requested it in furtherance of their Enterprise, Tech DEFENDANTS then became co-conspirators under 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 18 U.S.C. 241, 42 U.S.C. 1985 (2), 42 U.S.C. 1985 (3) aided and abetted RICO Enterprise 1 and are therefore substantively liable for the co-conspirators actions under Pinkerton, etc.
74. 18 U.S.C. §880 as American INTEL, Qatari DEFENDANTS, British DEFENDANTS, Indian DEFENDANTS, BILL CLINTON, HILLARY CLINTON, JOHN O. Count XX: An Anchor and a Pitchfork.
76. 18 U.S.C. §1956-- Count XX: Miki's Tea Party. Count XX: An Anchor and a Pitchfork in which DEFENDANTS concealed the ownership of PLAINTIFF'S forced labor with the intent to carry on the illegal activity done in Count XX: Miki's Tea Party. Count XX: An Anchor and a Pitchfork.

79. 18 U.S.C. §2335—doesn’t apply as PLAINTIFF tried to obtain information regarding the totality of the circumstances when PLAINTIFF visited FBI, DOJ, FISA, and CIA directly in 2020 which PLAINTIFF was turned away on top of filing numerous complaints and FOIA requests because of Count XX: Miki’s Tea Party. Count XX: An Anchor and a Pitchfork 80. 18 U.S.C. §2336: see above.

[X]: conspired together to violate one or more of PLAINTIFF'S civil rights.

[X]: Other violations, including, but not limited to, a predicate act of RICO; 18 U.S.C. 242; 18 U.S.C. 249; 18 U.S.C. 250; 18 U.S.C. 2234; 18 U.S.C. 2235, having used, procured, or created perjured or materially false testimony; providing false evidence or testimony when paid by one of CO-DEFENDANTS or CO-CONSPIRATORS; planning or implementing a mechanism to entrap PLAINTIFF; 18 U.S.C. §2236; 18 U.S.C. § 2261A; 18 U.S.C. §2340; 18 U.S.C. §2441; 18 U.S.C. §2, 18 U.S.C. 2331 1(B)(iii) and 5(B)(iii), See also: DOJ'S CRIMINAL RICO Handbook: Section 2332b(g)(5)(B) (iii) - 49 U.S.C. § 46502 (relating to aircraft piracy); 18 U.S.C. § 1956 (Financing Terrorism); DEFENDANTS shared the information amongst each other. See: United States v. Miller, 116 F.3d 641, 674-75 (2d Cir. 1997) (act involving murder need not be actual murder as long as the act directly concerned murder, and facilitation of murder was a proper RICO predicate because accessorial offenses described in the New York State statutory provisions involved murder within the meaning of RICO where defendant provided information he knew would enable inquirer to commit murder or other RICO violations); committing or contributing to or aiding/abetting an act that violated one of PLAINTIFF'S 1st, 2nd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, or 14th Amendment rights; TITLE VI of the Civil Rights Act 42 U.S.C. §1983; 42 U.S.C. §1985; 42 U.S.C. §1986; or other crimes & violations not herein listed within or outside of PLAINTIFF's or DEFENDANT'S knowledge.

[X] PLAINTIFF has filed over 10 complaints/requests to DEFENDANTS, more than 15 FOIA requests with DEFENDANTS (from 2017 onwards in which PLAINTIFF started becoming aware of RICO acts done against PLAINTIFF regardless of who was POTUS at the time & has not received anything of merit or of substantial or significant value) & PLAINTIFF had even visited some of DEFENDANTS in WASHINGTON D.C. in 2020 to resolve the issues and was spurned by DEFENDANTS: FBI, CIA, DOJ, and FISA Court. Furthermore, PLAINTIFF has excessively/obsessively tweeted at DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE and other DEFENDANTS with no legitimate response to issues presented. These botched responses to a FOIA request or civil Rights complaints made to and filed with DEFENDANTS constitutes an act of one of the following: 18 USC §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 USC §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), or 18 USC §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant) in which PLAINTIFF was not given the opportunity to peacefully pursue a resolution without having to resort to litigation and discovery to resolve the issues. Furthermore, with the-- at least--more than 500 tweets directed at DEFENDANTS since 2017, the contents of the tweets contained exculpatory evidence. LAWYERS have an obligation to remedy issues when they have the requisite knowledge of material errors made. Even when provided mountains of tweets of exculpatory evidence, no actions were taken by DEFENDANTS when they had the knowledge of it from 2017 onwards.

[X] “PLAINTIFF can also describe in meticulous detail the factual allegations that would pass the legal factual threshold required under Iqbal & F.R.C.P. 9(B) for RICO claims; but is not doing so in the interests of Justice. PLAINTIFF can provide the Court some evidence of his allegations upon request; however, DEFENDANTS most definitely can provide more evidence proving PLAINTIFF correct in discovery; if DEFENDANTS fail to do so; they are doing so in bad faith with the Court and is a continuation of the contempt that some DEFENDANTS have for the proper administration of justice in America and a continuation of the pattern of obstructive acts by DEFENDANTS.

[X] “PLAINTIFF claims violations by DEFENDANTS of the Laws of Louisiana (Louisiana Civil Code (that include some of the following): §1756; §1757; §1760; §1761; §1948; §1949; §1950-1956; §1959), International Treaties, the Geneva Convention, and other US Federal Laws, Regulations, and Procedures, as well as the laws of Utah that are applicable and relevant to anything stipulated in Paragraph 11 of the Statement of Claims section below”

“Plaintiff was not charged with a crime to the best of his current knowledge; however, he served as legal fodder against his constitutional interests without being given the chance or opportunity to defend himself in violation of the prohibition on Bills of Attainder and a denial of access to courts in which such cases like City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015) were decided. FISA Court issued rulings which were adverse to PLAINTIFF’S constitutional interests that were made upon and decided upon by fabricated evidence and allegations despite PLAINTIFF going to FISA Court in June 2020 to refute any possible allegations because certain DEFENDANTS went too far with their power and PLAINTIFF went there specifically to obtain evidence that would have either shown my true innocence or proven the existence of the enterprise. In violation of Tennessee v. Lane, 541 U.S. 509 (2004), PLAINTIFF was denied access to the FISA Court in June 2020. PLAINTIFF was denied an opportunity to obtain or view the evidence a court utilized against PLAINTIFF against his 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, 14th Amendment rights, was denied access to counsel in the proceedings in violation of Powell v. Alabama, 287 U. S. 45. (1932), was not made aware of proceedings, was not served, and other horrendous constitutional violations in which FISA court exceeded their statutory authority in which they unconstitutionally expanded the scope of their power and purview.

If Civil Asset Forfeiture was utilized against PLAINTIFF and his Intellectual Property, then it was done without PLAINTIFF’S knowledge in which fabricated evidence and perjured testimony was used to create allegations of crime in order to deprive PLAINTIFF of numerous constitutional and property interests because of the money & power interests that DEFENDANTS either did, or would have, exponentially obtained through their RICO enterprise.

Destroying me as a person for being a legal liability once made aware of their actions and other actions. The utilization of Civil Asset Forfeiture was only possible because of some of DEFENDANTS acts of: 18 USC §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 USC §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 USC §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 USC §1961 section 1512 (relating to tampering with a witness, victim, or an informant), 18 USC §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant), 18 USC §1961 sections 891–894 (relating to extortionate credit transactions); 18 USC §2 by providing DEFENDANTS PLAINTIFF’S information in which DEFENDANTS obtained information either in Bad Faith or knowingly doing so with the intent to further their RICO enterprise.

Paragraph 9 Part 1/Part 2/Part 3.

Part 1: Plaintiff was found guilty of one or more charges because DEFENDANT deprived PLAINTIFF of a fair trial as follows: Based on fabricated evidence given to SCOTUS by DOJ in which PLAINTIFF did not have the opportunity to refute or stand up for himself when the Court decided City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015).

Part 3: DEFENDANTS, knowing the far-stricter Japanese legal system that: has a 99.9% conviction rate,⁷ has “a sentencing policy that is heavily geared toward retribution, isolation, and punishment, rather than deterrence and rehabilitation,”⁸ a heavily critiqued criminal justice system that has been described as “hostage justice,”⁹ knowing PLAINTIFF’S extreme legal vulnerability and personal vulnerability to such attacks in JAPAN via conversations had in the course of PLAINTIFF’S second 1L year, emails sent in May 2015, and DEFENDANTS’ prior knowledge, violated PLAINTIFF’S Due Process rights per Frank v. Mangum, 237 U. S. 309, (1915), obstructed justice under 18 USC §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice) and tried to ensure a criminal conviction of PLAINTIFF in a Japanese court when DEFENDANTS knowingly committed different predicate RICO acts involving ANGIE ORTIZ by violating Brown v. Mississippi, 297 U.S. 278 (1936). PLAINTIFF believes that he is possibly under a legal guardianship that he was not been made aware of; PLAINTIFF may have been forced to legally marry someone against his religious beliefs (i.e. Sunny); PLAINTIFF may have been forced to and coerced into adopting a “child” (ANGIE ORTIZ) if she was a child that was DEFENDANTS blackmail and extortion when PLAINTIFF was led to believe ANGIE ORTIZ was at least 18 years old when PLAINTIFF was drugged against his will, made to lack capacity through mechanisms or procedures, or lacked capacity to understand what happened to him in Japan in late June 2015, July 2015, and afterwards based on his disabilities.”

PLAINTIFF necessarily had to make a shotgun pleading as the nature of this case will dictate why it was necessary for PLAINTIFF to do so. So PLAINTIFF has incorporated his shotgun pleading in Section: XX

Brief legal assumptions, arguments, general legal housekeeping, etc. presented herein:

Paragraph #10. Part 1.

PLAINTIFF alleges the following:

U.S. v. Rastelli, 870 F.2d 822 (2nd Cir. 1989). (Holding: statements admissible that discuss the identity and activities of his coconspirators; refusing to sever the perjury and obstruction of justice counts in a RICO case; a defendant may agree to join a RICO conspiracy without knowing the identities of all the other conspirators and without full knowledge of all the details of the conspiracy; noting proof that RICO conspirator knew all other conspirators, or had full knowledge of conspiracy was unnecessary, because it is sufficient that defendant know the general nature of the enterprise and know that the enterprise extends beyond his individual role; adopting Trombetta and Youngblood and held that in order to succeed on a claim that missing evidence would play a significant role in his defense, and was thus material, a defendant must meet the two prong materiality standard as established in Trombetta as well as show that the government acted in bad faith.

Bad faith in Miki's Tea Party→hears details of JAPLAN→conspiracy entered into by March 2015→ conspiracy fully formed by SCOTUS in May 2015 and hit ordered June 26th, 2015→ JAPLAN→ recordings of JAPLAN get destroyed or missing= Bad Faith

U.S. v. Norton, 867 F.2d 1354 (11th Cir. 1989), Holding that even if defendant was not a member of the class of persons who could be held liable as a principal under 18 U.S.C. 1954, one need only prove that defendant conspired to commit the substantive RICO offense and was aware that others had done likewise' in order to support a RICO conspiracy charge.

United States v. Caporale, 806 F. 2d 1487 (11th Cir. 1986), imposition of joint and several liability in a forfeiture order upon RICO co-conspirators is not only permissible but necessary to effectuate the purpose of the forfeiture provision.

United States v. Anderson, 872 F.2d 1508 (11th Cir. 1989) (Holding because CIA agents have no authority to violate federal statutes, defense fails; disallowing defendants' reliance on apparent authority of CIA agent because the latter lacked actual power to authorize violation of laws.

Paragraph 10. Part 1.

Short & Brief Explanation of why PLAINTIFF is entitled to relief under Rule 8.

Each RICO Count will have a specific nickname associated with it as the specific nickname will also refer to a specific title of a 'Chapter' of the same specific name in Paragraph 11. That way, PLAINTIFF can provide a short concise statement of facts and in addition incorporate the allegations made within the specific Chapter in Paragraph 11 to provide a full explanation and legal argument.

If there is anything PLAINTIFF asks the Court, just read: Miki's Tea Party, Star Chambers, and An Anchor and a Pitchfork

In Each RICO Count and Chapter below, PLAINTIFF also alleges numerous federal crimes, constitutional deprivations, violations of international treaties, state claims, and other causes of action.

#XX. PLAINTIFF attended Northridge Preparatory High School in Niles, Illinois from 2003 to 2007, which is a private all-male catholic high school.

#XX. When ROBERT MUELLER, MICHAEL HAYDEN, and/or American INTEL failed to relay to the FISA court Joe Bello's coercion of PLAINTIFF into falsely declaring allegiance to the Taliban or Al-Qaeda, intentionally omitting all material exculpatory evidence that includes text messages expressing the involuntary nature of Joe Bello's actions against PLAINTIFF, CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS who oversees the FISA Court necessarily became unobjective and would continuously deny PLAINTIFF his Due Process rights because his actions would be exactly akin to the nature of In re Murchison, 349 U.S. 133 (1955) which held that Due Process violations occurred in a judge's created a situation, especially when done in secretive chambers. By the time that Wilkie v. Robbins, 551 U.S. 537 (2007) was argued in March 2007 and decided in June 2007, Chief Justice JOHN ROBERTS knew PLAINTIFF was going to the University of the South, a private institution, in which the decision in Wilkie v. Robbins would absolve American INTEL of their actions in continuing to harm PLAINTIFF'S constitutional and property interests because there is this exact passage that shows the intent of RICO Enterprise 1: "The importance of the line between public and private beneficiaries is confirmed by this Court's case law, which is completely barren of an example of extortion under color of official right undertaken for the sole benefit of the Government. More tellingly, Robbins cites no decision by any court, much less this one, in the Hobbs Act's entire 60-year history finding extortion in Government employees' efforts to get property for the Government's exclusive benefit." Wilkie v. Robbins, No. 06-219, 4 (2007). American INTEL would deny PLAINTIFF his property interests and educational benefits received by attending The University of the South before August 2007 in which they planned to violate PLAINTIFF. Furthermore, by the Bureau having committed constitutional violations against PLAINTIFF in High School, they denied PLAINTIFF the full benefits of a High-School education.

XX. PLAINTIFF alleges you can read Wilkie v. Robbins, 551 U.S. 537 (2007) as applying to PLAINTIFF because it concerned a SPECIAL use permit (i.e. PLAINTIFF was a former special education student) in which the Bureau (you can read that as referring to the Federal Bureau of Investigation) in which the FBI committed various offenses regarding PLAINTIFF.

XX. Furthermore to support the allegation made in the previous paragraph and most importantly, is this selection of Wilkie v. Robbins, 551 U.S. 537 (2007) (that PLAINTIFF only altered the capitalization of certain names) that says: “Defendant Gene LEONE fielded a call from PENNOYER regarding the incident, encouraged her to contact the sheriff, and himself placed calls to the sheriff suggesting that Robbins be charged with trespass. After the incident, Parodi claims that LEONE told him: “I think I finally got a way to get [ROB-bin’s] (hyphen was supreme court’s) permits and get him out of business.” “ROB-bin” is referring to ROBERT Muller BureauINtelligence. LEONE is referring to United States v. Leon, 468 U.S. 897 (1984) about independent source in evidence that would cure Wong Sun violations. PENNOYER is referring to Pennoyer v. Neff, 95 U.S. 714 (1878) which held: “Whilst the courts of the United States are not foreign tribunals in their relations to the State courts, they are tribunals of a different sovereignty, and are bound to give a judgment of a State court only the same faith and credit to which it is entitled in the courts of another State. The term “due process of law,” when applied to judicial proceedings, means a course of legal proceedings according to those rules and principles which have been established by our jurisprudence for the protection and enforcement of private rights. To give such proceedings any validity, there must be a competent tribunal to pass upon their subject matter, and if that involves merely a determination of the personal liability of the defendant, he must be brought within its jurisdiction by service of process within the State, or by his voluntary appearance.” Simply, PENNOYER was about jurisdictional limits and due process.

XX. PLAINTIFF is alleging part of RICO Enterprise 1 scheme is to surpass rigorously adhered to APPROPRIATE jurisdictional limits and boundaries in which members of RICO Enterprise 1 abused legal process in order to deny PLAINTIFF his educational opportunities and benefits and constitutional rights since at least high school when PLAINTIFF was a child with autism in which a child with autism could in no possible way allege or conceive of the nature of RICO Enterprise 1 to his parents and to seek redress in Court. By ruling Wilkie v. Robbins, 551 U.S. 537 (2007) the way CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS did in which ROBERT MUELLER committed legal wrongs against PLAINTIFF, this effectively denied PLAINTIFF access to the Court and all future property interests in education and benefits and constitutional rights that existed INDEPENDENT of any prior self-inflicted harm to PLAINTIFF’S property interests.

XX. Compounded to the fact that PLAINTIFF’S parents have legally abused PLAINTIFF and forced and coerced PLAINTIFF to violate the law in which all PLAINTIFF was their approval and love, in which PLAINTIFF’S parents would deny PLAINTIFF the opportunity to seek redress in Court, there is no conceivable way PLAINTIFF would have been able to vindicate his rights in Court until now because at EVERY STEP ALONG THE WAY PLAINTIFF’S father and mother BOTH continuously forced PLAINTIFF into committing criminal acts in which PLAINTIFF could not come with clean hands and PLAINTIFF’S parents both knew better.

XX. PLAINTIFF alleges that his parents pawned PLAINTIFF to the United States Government to get the heat off them in which they benefitted materially.

In United States v. Lomas, 706 F.2d 886 (9th Cir. 1983), In the absence of exigent circumstances the warrantless entry of government agents into Margolis's hotel room to conduct even the most cursory search was illegal. See Vale v. Louisiana, 399 U.S. 30 (1970). Further, "[w]e draw no Fourth Amendment distinction between 'searches' and 'seizures' of residences. Seizures of residences, like searches, require a warrant, unless exigent circumstances are present." United States v. Kunkler, 679 F.2d 187 (9th Cir. 1982). Under the broad definition of police activity constituting the seizure of a room announced in Allard II, we conclude that unless there were exigent circumstances to justify the failure to obtain a warrant, see, e.g., Kunkler, 679 F.2d at 191-92 (9th Cir. 1982); United States v. Spanier, 597 F.2d 139, 140 (9th Cir. 1977), the entry and subsequent securing of Room 2214 for approximately three hours was illegal. But see People v. Arnau, 58 N.Y.2d 27, 444 N.E.2d 13, 457 N.Y.S.2d 763 (1982) (4-3 decision)... "... The Court held that "Our conclusion that in the absence of exigent circumstances the government illegally seized Room 2214 does not afford Lomas the right to challenge the government's use of items obtained from the room unless he had "a legitimate expectation of privacy in the invaded place." United States v. Lomas, 706 F.2d 886 (9th Cir. 1983)

McIntyre v. United States, 336 F. Supp. 2d 87 (D. Mass. 2004) Stating that "revealing to known murderers that one of their associates is an informant, cooperating with the government, unquestionably endangers the safety of that informant and concluding that when plaintiffs alleged that, in disclosing the informant status of the individual to known murders, defendant FBI agent acted affirmatively to put the life of the individual in jeopardy, they have sufficiently alleged a violation by defendant FBI agent of individual's substantive due process right to be protected from the danger of the government's own creation that would shock the conscience.

#XX. The HONOR CODE is necessarily a provision in the contract in attending Sewanee that one paid in their tuition in attending Sewanee.

#XX. When a SEWANEE student violates the HONOR CODE, that student no longer has a property interest in attending Sewanee.

#XX. Violating the HONOR CODE is the same as perjury. There is a legal prohibition on lying and there is a financial penalty in which one loses their property and liberty interests in attending Sewanee. Lying at Sewanee is the same as perjury.

all parties asserting claims pursuant to the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act ("RICO"), 18 U.S.C. § 1961, must file and serve upon the opposing party a RICO Statement in the following form within twenty days of filing the pleading asserting the RICO claim.

The RICO Statement shall include the facts the party is relying upon to assert the RICO claim as a result of the "reasonable inquiry" required by Rule 11, Fed.R.Civ.P.

The Statement shall be in a form that uses the numbers and letters set forth below, and shall state the following information in detail.

1. State whether the alleged unlawful conduct is in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1962(a), (b), (c), and/or (d).

5. Describe in detail the pattern of racketeering activity or collection of unlawful debts alleged for each RICO claim.

The description of the pattern of racketeering shall include the following information:

- (a) List the alleged predicate acts and the specific statutes that were allegedly violated;
- (b) Provide the dates of, the participants in, and a description of the facts surrounding the predicate acts;
- (c) If the RICO claim is based on the predicate offenses of wire fraud, mail fraud, or fraud in the sale of securities, the "circumstances constituting fraud or mistake shall be stated with particularity." Fed.R.Civ.P. 9(b).

Identify the time, place and contents of the alleged misrepresentations, and the identity of persons to whom and by whom the alleged misrepresentations were made;

- (d) State whether a predicate act is based upon a criminal conviction;

(e) State whether civil litigation has resulted in a judgment with regard to the predicate acts;

(f) Describe how the predicate acts form a "pattern of racketeering activity";

and (g) State whether the alleged predicate acts relate to each other as part of a common plan.

If so, describe in detail.

6. Describe in detail the alleged enterprise for each RICO claim. A description of the enterprise shall include the following information:

(a) State the names of the individuals, partnerships, corporations, associations, or other legal entities that allegedly constitute the enterprise;

(b) Describe the structure, purpose, function and course of conduct of the enterprise;

(c) State whether any defendants are employees, officers or directors of the alleged enterprise;

(d) State whether any defendants are associated with the alleged enterprise;

(e) State whether you are alleging that the defendants are individuals or entities separate from the alleged enterprise, or that the defendants are the enterprise itself, or members of the enterprise; and

(f) If any defendants are alleged to be the enterprise itself, or members of the enterprise, explain whether such defendants are perpetrators, passive instruments, or victims of the alleged racketeering activity.

7. State and describe in detail whether you are alleging that the pattern of racketeering activity and the enterprise are separate or have merged into one entity.

8. Describe the alleged relationship between the activities of the enterprise and the pattern of racketeering activity. Discuss how the racketeering activity differs from the usual and daily activities of the enterprise, if at all.

9. Describe what benefits, if any, the alleged enterprise receives from the alleged pattern of racketeering.

10. Describe the effect of the activities of the enterprise on interstate or foreign commerce.

11. If the complaint alleges a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(a), provide the following information:

(a) State who received the income derived from the pattern of racketeering activity or through the collection of an unlawful debt; and

(b) Describe the use or investment of such income.

12. if the complaint alleges a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(b), describe in detail the acquisition or maintenance of any interest in or control of the alleged enterprise.

13. If the complaint alleges a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c):

(a) State who is employed by or associated with the enterprise, and

(b) State whether the same entity is both the liable "person" and the "enterprise" under § 1962(c).

14. If the complaint alleges a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(d), describe in detail the alleged conspiracy.

15. Describe the alleged injury to business or property.

16. Describe the direct causal relationship between the alleged injury and the violation of the RICO statute.

17. List the damages sustained for which each defendant is allegedly liable.

XX. But for Bush's White House, Bush's DOJ, and Bush's material pattern of fabricating evidence and narratives against PLAINTIFF, most of the basis of Miki's Tea Party could not have happened.

XX. PLAINTIFF was a resident of Illinois in 2010 and 2011 when the injury occurred, therefore the following statute applies to this situation because the injury started when PLAINTIFF was an Illinois resident: Illinois Compiled Statutes 735 ILCS 5/13-215 provides the following—

"Fraudulent concealment: If a person liable to an action fraudulently conceals the cause of such action from the knowledge of the person entitled thereto, the action may be commenced at any time within 5 years after the person entitled to bring the same discovers that he or she has such cause of action, and not afterwards." PLAINTIFF did not discover "the offing" and Operation Offing that happened to PLAINTIFF when PLAINTIFF was an Illinois resident and it was not until August 2023 then did PLAINTIFF, while he was in Illinois, discover "the offing" and Operation Offing. Therefore, it equitably tolls under 735 ILCS 5/13-215 in which PLAINTIFF has until August 2028 to bring a cause of action. American INTEL, British INTEL, and Indian INTEL necessarily know that is the truth after having PLAINTIFF under surveillance since 2011. Not once did PLAINTIFF directly bring up "the offing" until August 2023 in any meaningful way.

XX. But for Miki's Tea Party (and some other reasons), An Anchor and a Pitchfork happened against PLAINTIFF in Spring and Summer 2015. Since the fraud committed in Miki's Tea Party started in 2011, more fraud against PLAINTIFF was committed and furthered in the State of Louisiana on the basis of Miki's Tea Party with very much the same actors involved. Therefore, PLAINTIFF has a choice in utilizing either Illinois Fraud Law or Louisiana Fraud Law and PLAINTIFF chooses Louisiana Fraud Law because fraudulent acts were committed against PLAINTIFF in 2015.

XX. In Summer 2010, PLAINTIFF met an INDIAN man named SURESH in Pennsylvania at CAMP WAYNE in Preston Park, PA. SURESH and PLAINTIFF became friends at Camp Wayne and SURESH had invited PLAINTIFF to come to the state of Gujarat in INDIA.

XX. The only two Indians whom PLAINTIFF ever interacted with for more than 10 minutes was Chetna (See: Big Brothers and Big Sisters) and Suresh up until that time.

XX. PLAINTIFF decides to take SURESH MAURYA up on his offer to go to India.

XX. PLAINTIFF throughout the Fall Semester of 2010 and throughout the Spring Semester of 2011 at SEWANEE maintains contact with SURESH MAURYA in which PLAINTIFF has an unrelenting desire to go to India from August 2010 through May 2010.

XX. PLAINTIFF, to the best of his recollection, may have flown into London in August 2010 because of his grandmother's 6 month passing and had to go to Serbia.

XX. To the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, there was a time that PLAINTIFF had tried to go to INDIA in Fall 2010 and had to cancel; and conceivably that is where it starts. Section 215 would reveal if PLAINTIFF purchased tickets and had to cancel them in Fall 2010 or what he told SURESH MAURYA on META in Fall 2010.

XX. PLAINTIFF, in Fall 2010, gets into arguments with his mother about going to India, hence the reason for cancelation.

XX. So as PLAINTIFF makes plans to go to INDIA, American INTEL, HILLARY CLINTON, HONGJU KOH, JOHN O. BRENNAN, ROBERT MUELLER, LEON PANETTA, in turn, make plans and conspire to use against PLAINTIFF.

XX. PLAINTIFF talks to British woman LAUREN DELLER (who he met at Camp Wayne) about coming to London in December 2010. The point being, DEFENDANTS made a plan involving PLAINTIFF in Fall 2010 in which there is ample evidence on the record PLAINTIFF was doing everything he could to come to or go from LONDON/INDIA since FALL 2010.

XX. SCOTUS knowing DEFENDANTS' numerous plans and schemes against PLAINTIFF in FALL 2010, took an extremely long time in deciding Ashcroft v. al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011) when they granted cert to the case on: October 18th, 2010 (after DEFENDANTS plans were formalized in which ERIC HOLDER knew about them). Ashcroft v. al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011) is argued by DOJ Solicitor General NEAL KATYAL in March 2011 who has an office in the Supreme Court the entire time between October 2010-May 2011, and Ashcroft v. al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011) was decided on May 31st, 2011 because SCOTUS would absolve ERIC HOLDER and different Solicitor Generals and Attorney Generals concerning their past conduct regarding PLAINTIFF.

XX. DEFENDANTS knew that from 02/27/2011 PLAINTIFF had intended on going to INDIA because he sent Suresh the following on 02/27/2011 at 02:29am: “My dear apologies Suresh for not talking to you as of late; this semester, to say the least, has been tumultuous as in matters regarding the self, matters of my existence, etc, and I have acquired some funds that would allow me to come visit you, that is, if you have the time to. I would arrive on the 9th and return back home on the 16th/17th. I have done some research and would love to see some things....”, XX. “The Offing” went down on March 11th, 2011.

XX. But what is “The Offing?”

XX. “The Offing” or Operation Offing is a plan XX.

XX. OPERATION OFFING FROM PLAINTIFF’S PERSPECTIVE.

XX. PLAINTIFF’S family can attest to the following. PLAINTIFF as a youth and maybe up until the last 4 or 5 years (up until like 2018 or so) did not fall asleep on airplanes and stayed awake the whole entire flight. American INTEL, having had listened in on PLAINTIFF’s life from at least 2008, would have necessarily come across conversations PLAINTIFF had with his family or friends that stipulated he did not fall asleep on planes.

XX. PLAINTIFF is not alleging a violation of United States v. Verdugo-Urquidez, 494 U.S. 259 (1990) as that involved non-citizens and constitutional rights; but what PLAINTIFF is alleging is a violation of: United States v. Curtiss-Wright Export Corp., 299 U. S. 304 (1936), that “[n]either the Constitution nor the laws passed in pursuance of it have any force in foreign territory unless in respect of our own citizens,”

XX More importantly with the phrase of “in respect of our own citizens” means that as it relates to or involves an American citizen. So any searches that relate to or involve PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS all have agreements with one another; so any shared communications amongst DEFENDANTS that related to or involved PLAINTIFF in any way (regardless of who sent them—american or non-american alike) means by prior precedent are entitled to at least 4th Amendment Protections because the content of the message is in respect to PLAINTIFF; and as Stanford v. Texas and Ex Parte Jackson so elegantly demonstrated, generalized warrants against PLAINTIFF’S 4th Amendment interests are unconstitutional when the content of the message is seized on the basis of PLAINTIFF’S protected speech in the course of transmission of message without a warrant. Therefore, any shared communications about PLAINTIFF’S obtained by foreign DEFENDANTS are unconstitutional. DEFENDANTS tainted from 2008 most definitely existed at this time and DEFENDANTS’ taint became immortalized from the entirety of the circumstances in Miki’s Tea Party in which DEFENDANTS could not have absolved themselves of any unconstitutional taint and been in good faith or constituted an independent source because DEFENDANTS were all tainted.

XX. There is an issue with the dates of when Operation Offing occurred. According to PLAINTIFF’S passport, PLAINTIFF arrived in London-Heathrow airport on 03/10/2011. However, 10/31/2010 is also extremely similar. What PLAINTIFF distinctly remembers about the days of the flight in Operation Offing was that there was a ‘3’ and ‘1’ next to each other in which there were lots of 1’s and 0’s. 10/31/10, 03/10/11 and 03/11/11 all fit that criterion. So to PLAINTIFF’S best recollection, it was either 10/31/2010, 03/10/2011, or 03/11/2011.

XX. PLAINTIFF went to Serbia around August 12th, 2010 for the Serbian Orthodox Church requirement of going 6 months to a graveyard after a family passed (I.e. PLAINTIFF’S grandma in 2010 in which she died in February 2010) in which DHS interacted with PLAINTIFF on 08/19/2010.

XX. Another issue with PLAINTIFF’S passport. PLAINTIFF reported his passport had been fraudulently obtained by a scammer to the Department of State, FBI, and British INTEL around the beginning part of 2012; but, PLAINTIFF was allowed to fly and used a compromised passport that DHS and Department of State necessarily knew about in which PLAINTIFF even then gave the same passport to DHS on August 7th, 2012, which strikes PLAINTIFF as quite peculiar and only affirms it was British INTEL that compromised PLAINTIFF’S passport in 2012. This gives an inference that DHS and Department of State did not view the passport as compromised because DEFENDANTS allowed PLAINTIFF to use it; how could have the passport been compromised if the compromise was committed by a friendly foreign intelligence service British INTEL against PLAINTIFF?

XX. At issue is the following and the financial basis of Miki’s Tea Party: “On the margins of the President’s trip, trade transactions were announced or showcased, exceeding $14.9 billion in total value with $9.5 billion in U.S. export content.”¹⁰ The total $14,900,000,000 is at issue with Miki’s Tea Party.

XX. PLAINTIFF purchases roundtrip tickets on Qatar Airways to go from London to Ahmedabad, India in March 2011 sometime prior to the time of the flight.

XX. On or about 03/10/2011 and 03/11/2011, PLAINTIFF takes stand-by on United Airlines from Chicago to London. PLAINTIFF does so because PLAINTIFF’S aunt works for United Airlines and their policy--at the time--allowed for stand-by travel for family and relatives.

XX. PLAINTIFF lands in London-Heathrow with United Airlines on or about 03/10/2011 or 03/11/2011 in which DEFENDANT BRITISH AIRWAYS aids in guiding PLAINTIFF’S plane to land, directs the plane to the gate, and in which BRITISH AIRWAYS would be watching and monitoring the movement of the plane of United Airlines Flight #925, and know about the incident that would take place at their hub.

XX. So PLAINTIFF is inside LONDON-HEATHROW AIRPORT on or about 03/10/2011. PLAINTIFF deboards his plane from Chicago and must go through a security checkpoint in which a British immigration officer verifies that it is a legitimate passport. The British Immigration officer doesn’t inform PLAINTIFF about the peculiar circumstances of that day so then British Immigration officer stamps PLAINTIFF’S passport and allows PLAINTIFF to go to the Qatar Airways ticket counter.

¹⁰ <https://obamawhitehouse.archives.gov/the-press-office/2010/11/08/us-india-partnership-fact-sheets>. Last Checked 08/17/2023

XX. Because of the previous paragraph, PLAINTIFF recalls that around a 75% probability this is true, there may have been a text message PLAINTIFF sent concerning an issue of dyslexia and the date that was stamped by the London Immigration Officer in which the officer stamped the wrong date. So even if it says 03/11/2011, it may not have been even the right date anyway. American INTEL and British INTEL would have a copy of the text message they obtained through the FISA Court and Section 215.

XX. At no time on his flight from CHICAGO to LONDON-HEATHROW on or about 03/10/2011 did PLAINTIFF fall asleep on the plane.

XX. Having landed in London-Heathrow and having stepped foot into London, this gives 5 EYES and British INTEL in-personam jurisdiction over PLAINTIFF and thereby makes them a party from this moment on. This gives American DEFENDANTS a way to circumvent PLAINTIFF'S Constitutional Rights and a way to further RICO Enterprise 1. Because now DEFENDANTS in America can get "allegedly" untainted evidence from BRITISH DEFENDANTS knowing that American DEFENDANTS' evidence is necessarily tainted and unconstitutionally compromised

XX. Based on PLAINTIFF'S google search history he acquired (PLAINTIFF'S use of google and YouTube in Fall 2010 and Spring 2011 are included in the exhibits),¹¹ PLAINTIFF searched on March 5th if he needed medical shots or immunizations to go to India. America always having one of the strongest passports in the world (especially in 2010/2011) and having traveled to numerous European countries before, all PLAINTIFF thought was required to go to INDIA at the time was a passport and PLAINTIFF based on his experiences in Europe did not think PLAINTIFF needed a visa application that PLAINTIFF was supposed to fill out prior to arriving in INDIA. PLAINTIFF searched on google "India visa" on March 17th, 2011 just to verify the truth of the INDIAN embassy because he was pissed about what was to come. PLAINTIFF would verify a material misrepresentation but ascertain the truth. INDIA is apparently super bureaucratic because INDIA allegedly required a visa application at that time.

XX. At London-Heathrow, PLAINTIFF goes to the Qatar Airways ticket counter. PLAINTIFF remembers where it was because it struck PLAINTIFF as peculiar. It has come recently to PLAINTIFF'S attention that Qatar Airways had around 3-5 flights daily from London to Doha. The ticket counter in which PLAINTIFF went to was at some ticket counter all the way in the back and left side of the hall in which Qatar Airways had just like two or four stations, which struck PLAINTIFF as odd at the time because they flew big planes; and for the little amount of stations for one plane, struck PLAINTIFF as odd. PLAINTIFF remembers it was in the back left corner because PLAINTIFF had at times looked to his left to see the wall and the windows outside that were upward.

¹¹ And even then it is a problem because prior to like March 2011 or so, the records PLAINTIFF obtained were really screwy and seemed compromised which further substantiates the possibility that it could have been on 10/31/2010. PLAINTIFF had some facebook messages that corroborated such, but even then, PLAINTIFF doesn't have a record of the communications between Suresh in Fall 2010 and some of LAUREN DELLER'S in Fall 2010.

XX. Based on the previous paragraph, the question becomes: what PLAINTIFF would infer at the time. PLAINTIFF traveled primarily to Serbia and from O'Hare. International airlines could have as little as two to four stations, but also could have had a lot more as in the case of Lufthansa and ANA in Terminal 1 at O'Hare. It varied and it could depend. There was reason to believe this was in line with PLAINTIFF'S previous experience, but just a little bit odd. What PLAINTIFF most definitely did not know at the time was how big an impact Qatar had in London at the time. Sure there may have been a video where middle-easterners flew their cars from the middle east to London during the summer, but what that means is that the cars came on a cargo flight in which PLAINTIFF assumed rich people flew in on private jets with their cars nearby in flight and not on Qatar Airways.

XX. Based on the previous paragraph, but for PLAINTIFF to have had a credible reason to be actually suspicious of the circumstances in which it would cause an ordinary person in PLAINTIFF'S shoes to believe fraud was being perpetuated against him by Qatar Airways and British Intel, Indian Intel, American Intel, no way back then in 2011. So, the gate location, was peculiar as something that would cause one to just shrug their shoulders and move on with their life, but not something that demanded an investigation into the highest levels of government concerning fraud and terrorism against PLAINTIFF.

XX. At the Qatar Airways ticket counter, the Qatar Airways representative pulls up PLAINTIFF'S reservation on their computer. Qatar Airways never issues PLAINTIFF a ticket and this is extremely important. Qatar Airways in their conditions of carriage says that stopovers may be permitted at agreed stopping places subject to government requirements and their regulations and article 5 says the following in regards to routing: if there is more than one routing at the same fare, you may specify the routing prior to the issue of the ticket. If no routing is specified, we will determine the routing. The Qatar Airways "representative" then informs PLAINTIFF that he is being denied access to the flight to India in London because, and only because, of "visa issues."

XX. PLAINTIFF, not having been issued a ticket and even after paying full price for roundtrip tickets from London to India with a stopover in Doha, specifically asked the fact and question to the Qatar Airways representative if PLAINTIFF could continue on to at least Doha and fix the visa issues in Doha because PLAINTIFF had traveled so far already; and because PLAINTIFF didn't want to turn back home when he was in London, he specifically asked if he could just only go to Doha to see Doha and fix the visa issues there in Doha because PLAINTIFF had never been in Doha; and if PLAINTIFF couldn't get a trip to India, he could get a trip to Doha and that was PLAINTIFF'S Modus Operandi and thinking at the time; and to PLAINTIFF at the time, PLAINTIFF would rather have seen anything and not be disappointed and turn back around in London. There was absolutely no problem with this request because Qatar Airways' conditions of carriage did not prohibit 'skiplagging' (even if you can call that skiplagging) and PLAINTIFF had negotiated with Qatar Airways representative as to the limitations of the ticket that he paid for in which he would utilize part of the ticket he paid for prior to Qatar Airways in issuing the ticket.

XX. The Qatar Airways representative denies PLAINTIFF the ability to go to just Doha when he had paid for the ticket to go to Doha. Furthermore, above an 80% chance of being true, PLAINTIFF asked if he needed a visa to go to Doha prior to landing in Doha as an American in which immigration would check PLAINTIFF'S passport and allow PLAINTIFF into Qatar. Qatar Airways representative, to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, said that is how it works. So PLAINTIFF is attempting to negotiate with Qatar Airways in which PLAINTIFF'S requests were completely legal and in accordance with Qatar Airways policy. PLAINTIFF was still turned away. This request to go to Doha was denied by the Qatar Airways representative as the Qatar Airways representative gave some bullshit answer.

XX. Here are some underlying and unspoken problems with PLAINTIFF here: 1) PLAINTIFF is creative where he can create things in which an explanation could be plausible in which PLAINTIFF would create or think as to why it could be true; 2) because PLAINTIFF dealt with bullshit justifications involving his school administrators whether that was in Rhetoric, Midyear, Trespass Incident #3, TKL, and more, in which Sewanee representatives always gave PLAINTIFF bullshit answers. Sadly, this works to PLAINTIFF'S detriment to diminish his capacity where at that time, even if there was a reason to believe this was suspicious enough to justify further investigation, but for American Intel's interventions in creating bullshit in Sewanee in which PLAINTIFF received so many bullshit answers in the past from "customer service representatives" by Sewanee, PLAINTIFF very well would have thought it was just an ordinary day to PLAINTIFF in which stupid bullshit ruined the day. This is especially more so when autistic individuals look for repetitive behaviors and having it had repeated so much in PLAINTIFF'S life, PLAINTIFF thought it was normal.

XX. Not once does the Qatar Airways representative inform PLAINTIFF that any government, whether it was the British, American, Indian, or Qatari Government prohibited PLAINTIFF from flying from London to Doha as PLAINTIFF understood his passport had no restrictions at the time. Therefore, Qatar Airways (as well as American Intel, British Intel, and Qatari Intel) violated: 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 18 U.S.C. §241; 18 U.S.C. §226, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d) when they had conspired and went in disguise at London Heathrow Airport for the purpose of depriving PLAINTIFF equal protection of the laws, equal privileges and immunities under the laws and willfully and maliciously conspired, planned, and agreed to block the passage of PLAINTIFF in going to Doha in which they stopped and detained PLAINTIFF to commit an international and domestic act of terrorism against PLAINTIFF. 1985(3) provides a cause of action for damages against the conspirators in Qatar Airways, Qatar Airways, QIA, Qatar, Leon Panetta, Robert Mueller, Hillary Clinton, etc. XX.

XX. Furthermore, this is the first act of kidnapping or false imprisonment in the incident in which Qatar Airways violated: Louisiana Revised Statutes §46 which defines False Imprisonment as "the intentional confinement or detention of another, without his consent and without proper legal authority." PLAINTIFF requested not to be confined or detained in London by going to Doha in which PLAINTIFF paid for that ability to do so and had negotiated in good faith with Qatar Airways. If you falsely imprison someone, you kidnap someone. Furthermore, Illinois defines Kidnapping under 720 ILCS 5/10-1 as when one "knowingly and secretly confines another against his or her will." PLAINTIFF was confined to London-Heathrow and had informed his complete intent on exercising his option to go to Qatar and Qatar Airways denied PLAINTIFF'S opportunity in which Qatar Airways did not inform PLAINTIFF the reason why he was not allowed to go to Doha.

XX. The Qatar Airways representative was one part of the mail and wire fraud undertaken against PLAINTIFF since under Louisiana Civil Code Article 1953, fraud "is a misrepresentation or a suppression of the truth made with the intention either to obtain an unjust advantage for one party or to cause a loss or inconvenience to the other. Fraud may also result from silence or inaction." Louisiana Civil Code Article 1955 states that "Error induced by fraud need not concern the cause of the obligation to vitiate consent, but it must concern a circumstance that has substantially influenced that consent." Louisiana Civil Code Article 1956 states that "Fraud committed by a third person vitiates the consent of a contracting party if the other party knew or should have known of the fraud." PLAINTIFF does not have to prove the fraud directly and all PLAINTIFF has to do under Louisiana Civil Code Article 1957 states that "Fraud need only be proved by a preponderance of the evidence and may be established by circumstantial evidence." Louisiana courts tend to scrutinize cases involving a merchant and a layman for facts upon which to raise an inference of fraud, the essence of which is said to be unjust advantage. Cotton States Chem. Co. v. Larrison Enters., Inc., 342 So. 2d 1212 (La. App. 2d Cir. 1977); Altex Ready-Mixed Concrete Corp. v. Employees Commercial Union Ins. Co., 308 So. 2d 889 (La. App. 1st Cir. 1975).

XX. If an American would be allowed to go from London to Doha with just his passport without obtaining a visa prior to departure, it shows that Qatar Airways intentionally prevented PLAINTIFF from going to Doha in which PLAINTIFF paid for that ticket. DEFENDANTS kidnapped PLAINTIFF when he was free to leave and continue on to Doha in which they intentionally in disguise prevented the free movement of PLAINTIFF. The only reason for denying that request was if there was a completely different scheme afoot and PLAINTIFF could not have known at the time of the scheme against PLAINTIFF. So, the Qatar Airways "representative" then tells PLAINTIFF "if he goes to the INDIAN EMBASSY in LONDON, that PLAINTIFF could possibly board the next day's flights." As a side note: PLAINTIFF lost some of his hearing in his ears via numerous surgeries on his ears; PLAINTIFF can sometimes have a hard time modulating his voice. PLAINTIFF may have inadvertently been perceived as having raised PLAINTIFF'S voice in which in the discussion. PLAINTIFF never yelled or was belligerent to the Qatar Airways representative, maybe accidentally just raised his voice a little bit (to the point of being loud, but not yelling) once, but that's it. State Department even in 2023 said about "Travelers with Disabilities: The law in Qatar prohibits discrimination against persons with physical, sensory, intellectual, or mental disabilities, the law is not enforced. Social acceptance of persons with disabilities in public is not as prevalent as in the in the United States. Expect accessibility to be limited in public transportation, lodging, communication/information, and general infrastructure."

XX. So, given the advice and direction by the Qatar Airlines Representative, PLAINTIFF went to the INDIAN embassy to try to get an immediate visa for the next day. This endeavor fails and PLAINTIFF then returns back to LONDON HEATHROW AIRPORT. PLAINTIFF spends money taking transportation to the INDIAN embassy thereby this affects interstate and foreign commerce.

XX. PLAINTIFF needs to make a brief argument about his financial situation at the time. PLAINTIFF did not have a full time or part time job outside of campus. He had a work-study in which he was a grounds keeper for Sewanee. PLAINTIFF, in his senior year at Sewanee, received reduced tuition in which his mother paid the portion of his tuition from some of the insurance settlement money when DEFENDANTS murdered his cat. DEFENDANTS knew that around this time in March 2011, PLAINTIFF in his own Bank Of America account could not have had more than $2,000. To the absolute best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, it would shock him if he had more than $2,000 in his Bank of America bank account. PLAINTIFF'S Bank of America or Chase credit card were not paid down significantly. PLAINTIFF, to the best of his recollection, would not have been able to purchase a single one-way ticket to Chicago on either British Airways or American Airlines as those would be the only two airlines that would have gone directly to Chicago at that time at Heathrow in addition to United Airlines.

XX. Because of the previous paragraph, DEFENDANTS necessarily knew the only option for PLAINTIFF based on his financial resources was that he was going to have to take United Airlines back to Chicago. For all intents and purposes, PLAINTIFF was a broke college student on March 10th, 2011 or March 11th, 2011. In Louisiana unconscionability cases, courts have necessarily included the factor of whether or not DEFENDANTS knew of PLAINTIFF'S financial issues and DEFENDANTS in this case beyond any reasonable doubt knew of PLAINTIFF'S financial issues on how he was a broke college student. See: First Progressive Bank v. Costanza, 427 So. 2d 594 (La. App. 5th Cir. 1983) (applying Civil Code article 1897 to seller's knowledge of buyer's financial problems) Carter v. Foreman, 219 So. 2d 21 (La. App. 4th Cir. 1969): when talking about unconscionability, the case talked about how "there was financial figure was not disclosed to PLAINTIFF by the home improvement contractor. The contract was not properly performed by the contractor" but more importantly, the contractor was aware of Carter's educational deficiencies and knew that Carter's income was only $200 per month, primarily derived from Social Security. This produced an inference of fraud and a vitiation of consent."

XX. Back in the airport after going to the Indian embassy and in the course of the saga, PLAINTIFF informs his aunt of the issues via a Facebook message, texts his aunt, or calls his aunt asks what United Airlines flights are available via stand-by from London to get PLAINTIFF back home to Chicago (CHICAGO-O'HARE). PLAINTIFF'S aunt informs him that the only option available is the flight from London-Heathrow to Washington D.C. Dulles Airport and then on to Chicago. PLAINTIFF, left with no other way to get back home to CHICAGO-O'HARE with the cost going to be astronomical with a one-way ticket to a broke college student with any other airlines, agrees with his aunt and then PLAINTIFF'S aunt places PLAINTIFF on stand-by on UNITED AIRLINES FLIGHT #925.

XX. BOEING 777-200 with the Aircraft Registration of: XX. UNITED AIRLINES FLIGHT 925 on 03/11/2011 or 10/31/2010 is initially delayed once; then the same flight is DELAYED even further for a second time. PLAINTIFF asks and inquires multiple times what was the exact reason PLAINTIFF'S plane was being delayed and the United Airlines "representative" (or DEFENDANTS) said vague things and no definite answers were provided to PLAINTIFF as to why UNITED AIRLINES FLIGHT 925 on 03/11/2011 or 10/31/2010 was being delayed so many times.

XX. PLAINTIFF asks the United Airlines representative on at least one occasion, if not twice or more, why the aircraft was being delayed. The United Airlines representative gives a vague non-specific answer in which PLAINTIFF cannot ascertain the true cause of the delay of the aircraft.

XX. Article 19 of the Warsaw Convention applies to the delay of United Airlines Flight 925 on 03/10/2011 or 03/11/2011. At no time when PLAINTIFF was at London-Heathrow did PLAINTIFF get any sleep. Having been up for at least a day straight, PLAINTIFF gave all he could in trying to determine what were the issues with the plane. When flights are delayed, that costs the airline and the economy money¹² therefore it affects interstate and intrastate commerce.

XX. In terms of knowledge of what any reasonable person could ascertain at that given moment, all PLAINTIFF knew was that his plane had delayed multiple times. Neither PLAINTIFF nor any reasonable person in PLAINTIFF'S position at the time could infer malicious reasoning or purpose. No reasonable person is going to claim a delayed plane was because an act of terrorism was being committed against it by American INTEL, British INTEL, and/or Indian INTEL. It is not a reasonable and prudent course of logical thinking or belief to believe that the delay was caused by American INTEL, British INTEL, and Indian INTEL in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 in which DEFENDANTS tampered with the plane. PLAINTIFF now, within the last month of 08/19/2023, was able to ascertain and know beyond a preponderance of evidence level standard, that the true purpose of the delays was in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 via air piracy, domestic terrorism, and international terrorism.

XX. The timing connection period between landing in DULLES/Washington D.C. and getting on PLAINTIFF'S connecting flight to Chicago O'Hare decreases dramatically where PLAINTIFF--even before getting on the flight to DULLES--knows there is now a substantial chance PLAINTIFF might not going to make his connection in DULLES/Washington D.C and expresses such in communications that day to either PLAINTIFF'S aunt or PLAINTIFF'S mother or someone else to give a present sense impression in either text message or Facebook messages, which DEFENDANTS know and have.

XX. American INTEL, British INTEL, and Indian INTEL completely intended on delaying United Airlines aircraft N794UA? (if it was 10/31/2010) in order to increase the substantial chance and probability that PLAINTIFF would not make his connecting flight, but still have an "alternate" explanation as to why PLAINTIFF did not make his connecting flight.

XX. PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS, knowing of PLAINTIFF's prior circumstances and DEFENDANTS prior RICO Predicate acts undertaken in furtherance of the scheme, deliberately ensured or was that reasonably calculated that United Airlines Flight #925 on 03/11/2011 would be PLAINTIFF'S only way to leave LONDON to get back to CHICAGO in which DEFENDANTS had established a prior plan to delay United Airlines Flight #925 on 03/11/2011, or DEFENDANTS hacked UNITED'S booking system and showed that to be the only flight open was United Airlines Flight #925 or purchased all the remaining seats on other

United Airlines Flights that could have plausibly got PLAINTIFF to Chicago, or some other method to ensure this was the flight for PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF absolutely did not want to spend the night in DC because PLAINTIFF had no business there, had no friends there, had no money, had absolutely no will or desire to be in DC outside of the reason of simply connecting on to Chicago, etc. PLAINTIFF alleges DEFENDANTS intentionally made the flight late that day to get in-personam jurisdiction over PLAINTIFF in WASHINGTON D.C, further their RICO Enterprise, and commit air piracy and international/domestic terrorism for political motivations (as will be explained and proven) and for retaliation purposes and an agenda via air piracy.

XX. Do you want to know where this gets sinister as well? PLAINTIFF affirmatively established he was known amongst the highest levels of FBI, and if he was known at the highest levels of the FBI, he was known at the highest levels of DHS and CIA. If he was known in the highest levels of CIA, he was known in highest levels of MI5 and MI6, GCHQ, etc. Now PLAINTIFF is in the UK and he “called” his “Aunt.” What if, PLAINTIFF is alleging, American INTEL, British INTEL, and Indian INTEL were using computer software to hack into PLAINTIFF’S cell phone and made PLAINTIFF believe he was talking to his aunt using a voice modulator. This is plausible as NSA had PRISM and could hack into Alphabet’s servers; what is one special ed student’s cell phone in comparison to 3 different intelligence agencies including MI5, CIA, and DoD? Having done this, American INTEL, Indian INTEL, and British INTEL posed as PLAINTIFF’S aunt and told PLAINTIFF the only flight that was available was the Dulles flight knowing PLAINTIFF didn’t have the money to purchase a one-way ticket with any other airline, let alone an actual ticket on United Airlines. This was done over phone over wires in which there is not a written record (to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection).

XX. 49 U.S. Code § 46502 defines aircraft piracy as: (a) “seizing or exercising control of an aircraft in the special aircraft jurisdiction of the United States by force, violence, threat of force or violence, or any form of intimidation, and with wrongful intent” and (B) “an attempt to commit aircraft piracy is in the special aircraft jurisdiction of the United States although the aircraft is not in flight at the time of the attempt if the aircraft would have been in the special aircraft jurisdiction of the United States had the aircraft piracy been completed.” PLAINTIFF is arguing that United Airlines Flight #925 being parked at London-Heathrow was within the special aircraft jurisdiction of the United States. You know what law prohibits intimidation against a witness against certain United States officials racketeering? RICO. So American Intel, British Intel, Indian Intel seized and exercised control over an aircraft for the purpose of intimidating PLAINTIFF and had the intent of furthering RICO Enterprise 1 in which they violated 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 18 U.S.C. §241; 18 U.S.C. §226, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d)

XX. Dandenis Muñoz Mosquera was prosecuted for blowing up Avianca Airlines Flight #203. Specifically, Dandeny Munoz-Mosquera the Court convicted Dandeny Munoz-Mosquera of “participating and conspiring to participate in a racketeering enterprise in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c) and (d); engaging in a continuing criminal enterprise in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 848(a); various offenses relating to the bombing of a civilian airliner in violation of 18 U.S.C. §

32(b)(2), 32(b)(3), and 371; and the extraterritorial murder of two citizens of the United States in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 2332(a)(1) and 2332(b)(2).” The important and relevant issue is that Dandenis Muñoz Mosquera never directly tampered with the airplane at issue; he ordered it to be tampered with to kill suspected informants as the ultimate form of witness intimidation. This applies here. DEFENDANTS ordered the plane to be tampered with—in part—because PLAINTIFF was necessarily a witness to government corruption in which they could do “trade is in the offing.” So just under this precedent, Hillary Clinton, Barack Obama, Leon Panetta, Andrew McCabe, XX can be held as part of a conspiracy to tamper with United Airlines Flight #925 on 10/31/2010, 03/10/2011, or 03/11/2011

XX. So, UNITED AIRLINES Flight 925 departs London-Heathrow at XX on 03/11/2011 according to the FOIA request PLAINTIFF attached below. PLAINTIFF obtained the following data through that FOIA request. Out of the more than 100 flights (117 to be exact) of UNITED AIRLINES Flight #925 from 09/01/2010 through 12/31/2010, UNITED AIRLINES FLIGHT 925 on 10/31/2010 is the ONLY United Airlines flight from LONDON to DULLES that departed in the 9 pm hour slot from LONDON-HEATHROW, which was less than 1% of the total flights in a 4 month period. The 2 other flights United Airlines flights from London-Heathrow to DULLES departed LONDON-HEATHROW after 10pm. All of the remaining 114 United Airlines Flight #925 from LONDON-HEATHROW to DULLES between 09/01/2010 through 12/31/2010 departed in the 6pm, 7pm, or 8pm hour slot from LONDON-HEATHROW; the vast majority of which were in the 7pm time slot at 84.6% of flights.¹³ PLAINTIFF is alleging just in case of the 10/31/2010 that some of the factual circumstances involving the timing of the plane and record keeping issues makes it enough of a plausible alternative date. PLAINTIFF is alleging aircraft N794UA on 10/31/2010 or XX on 03/10/2011 at LONDON-HEATHROW was tampered with by DEFENDANTS at LONDON-HEATHROW or DEFENDANTS within 5 EYES, management in London Heathrow Airport, and BRITISH INTELLIGENCE, and other DEFENDANTS made it deliberately late on 03/11/2011 or 10/31/2010 by DEFENDANTS in order to commit domestic and international terrorism and furthering their RICO Enterprise; DEFENDANTS conspired to intentionally make United Airlines Flight #925 late and have it depart at the 9pm hour slot on 03/11/2011 or 10/31/2010; then after landing in DULLES, DEFENDANTS had conspired with DULLES airport management authority and/or air traffic control to slow the plane’s progress to DULLES, to the gate, and had parked the plane as far away as possible from the Dulles-Chicago Flight PLAINTIFF was supposed to connect on in furtherance of their RICO Enterprise, and other unknown means and methods. So PLAINTIFF is alleging based on those facts that DEFENDANTS conspired to commit domestic and international terrorism via air piracy in furtherance of their scheme.

XX.

XX. The flight from LONDON to DULLES goes smoothly and lands in DULLES. PLAINTIFF does not fall asleep in the flight from London to Dulles that night. PLAINTIFF has been up for a ¹³ 99 out of 117 departs in the 7pm time slot (84.6%).

9 out of 117 flights departs in the 6pm timeslot (7.7%).
6 out of 117 flights departs in the 8pm time slot. (5.1%).
1 flight out of 117 departs in the 9pm time slot. (<1%).
2 flights out of 117 departs in the 10pm timeslot. (1.7%).

minimum of 36 hours. In the alternative and in case PLAINTIFF erred, even if PLAINTIFF had fallen asleep at any time during this saga, it would have amounted to less than 2 hours of sleep. PLAINTIFF is tired. PLAINTIFF requested DULLES records concerning and documenting PLAINTIFF'S time in Dulles on that day. PLAINTIFF has not received a response. What PLAINTIFF distinctly recalls is that PLAINTIFF has a very short amount of time to go from one side of DULLES to the other side of DULLES for his connecting flight.

XX. PLAINTIFF "didn't" make it on time to his connecting flight from Dulles to Chicago on United Airlines Flight #363 (which was either an Airbus A319 or a Boeing 757 most likely than not). PLAINTIFF was "two minutes" "short" of making it according to the United Airlines "representative." When PLAINTIFF arrives at the gate, PLAINTIFF still sees the airbridge connected the plane that is still parked at the gate and the United Airlines representatives won't open the door. PLAINTIFF begs them to let him on the plane, says please a few times, and begs them to open the door to the airbridge and plane. They do not. Through the entirety of this encounter and to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, the plane remains attached to the airbridge at the gate and PLAINTIFF leaves when the plane leaves the gate. PLAINTIFF then becomes extremely irate and starts yelling in frustration (not directly at United Airlines "representatives") and starts kicking benches nearby. If there has ever been a clearer intent of kidnapping or false imprisonment in which PLAINTIFF did not want to stay or be in Washington DC for the night and had solely intended on just passing through DULLES that night that PLAINTIFF through his conduct conveyed, that was it. PLAINTIFF'S consent, in light of the extremely narrow connecting time period that DEFENDANTS had concocted, was only limited to deboarding UNITED AIRLINES Flight #925 and making it on time to the gate of the United Airlines flight to CHICAGO (which PLAINTIFF did) and go into the plane and sit in his seat on the plane that was going to CHICAGO on the night of 03/11/2011 and leave DULLES/DC—no more, no less.

XX. Here is the proper scenario and legal basis that further supplements the issue. Suppose a FBI Agent, DHS Officer (this is especially applicable to DHS as airports are their jurisdiction), CIA officer, etc. and PLAINTIFF were on a thoroughfare. FBI AGENT/DHS Officer/CIA Officer is standing in front of PLAINTIFF'S escape route. If PLAINTIFF asks the FBI agent, DHS Officer, or CIA officer: "am I free to leave?" (i.e. can you open two doors for me) seeing the means of escape and freedom behind the FBI Agent/DHS Officer/CIA officer just waiting there and the FBI Agent/DHS Officer/CIA officer says "no, PLAINTIFF is not free to leave." At that exact moment, for all intents and purposes, not only has PLAINTIFF been seized, PLAINTIFF has been kidnapped based on at least one of the following definitions of kidnapping:

- Louisiana Revised Statutes §45 defines kidnapping as "The intentional and forcible seizing and carrying of any person from one place to another without his consent;" or §46: False Imprisonment "is the intentional confinement or detention of another, without his consent and without proper legal authority." If you falsely imprison someone, you kidnap someone. PLAINTIFF was falsely imprisoned in DC. There are no proper legal authorities on committing acts of terrorism.
- Illinois defines Kidnapping under 720 ILCS 5/10-1) (from Ch. 38, par. 10-1) when "a) a person "commits the offense of kidnapping when he or she knowingly:

(1) and secretly confines another against his or her will; (2) by force or threat of imminent force carries another from one place to another with intent secretly to confine that other person against his or her will; OR (3) by deceit or enticement induces another to go from one place to another with intent secretly to confine that other person against his or her will.” Defendants’ actions satisfy this definition.

XX. PLAINTIFF pleads and argues the following: for the terrorism accusations against DEFENDANTS, when PLAINTIFF started to kick and scream (LOUDLY) when he was unconstitutionally seized in preventing PLAINTIFF from being able to continue to Chicago at DULLES, kicking and screaming loudly when one is intentionally prevented from going somewhere is the clearest manifestation that PLAINTIFF could have ever exhibited at the time that he had in fact been legally kidnapped (in which it was done for political purposes). Simply and in the alternative, DEFENDANTS illegally seized and kidnapped PLAINTIFF without probable cause, jurisdiction and valid consent at DULLES Airport after tampering with the plane in London-Heathrow, and PLAINTIFF was not free to go about his business. By obtaining the jurisdiction in American INTEL’S (FBI, CIA, DHS, White House, etc.) hometown of WASHINGTON DC in which American INTEL could effectively question PLAINTIFF by forcing him to DC and utilize procedures to surveil PLAINTIFF since DEFENDANTS acting in full accordance of Soviet style KGB tactics and Lavrentiy Beria principles: they have officially found the man in DC and now it was time to find any crime to coverup and perpetuate RICO Enterprise 1.

XX. Here is another facet of the case. DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF was on UNITED AIRLINES Flight 925 on 03/10/2011 or 10/31/2010 when it landed in WASHINGTON DC/DULLES. Is PLAINTIFF to believe that DEFENDANTS lacked the ability, capability, or capacity to contact actual United Airlines staff and inform them that PLAINTIFF was on the flight and to hold the plane for less than 5 minutes so that PLAINTIFF could make it to Chicago (that PLAINTIFF was supposed to connect on) and not commit an act of air piracy (and domestic and international terrorism) in which DEFENDANTS intentionally tampered with and delayed the plane in LONDON for a minimum of 2+ hours seeing how the plane was still at the gate and connected to the air bridge when PLAINTIFF arrived at the gate and left the gate?

XX. It is quite possible the “United Airlines Representatives” at the gates in London and Dulles were not United Airlines employees but were American INTEL and British INTEL that were coconspirators in Operation Offing and knew the plan of the operation and aided and abetted the plan.

XX. All American INTEL, British INTEL, and Indian INTEL defendants had to do to stop acts of domestic and international terrorism to stop the RICO Enterprise 1 was make one call to the “United Airlines staff” at the gate and have them open two doors (one to the air bridge and one on the plane if it was closed) or contact the pilots of the flight telling the pilots to do so in which they would open two doors for PLAINTIFF. That is all it took to stop an act of domestic and international terrorism by DEFENDANTS in which one of them or one of their employees who had the knowledge could have stopped RICO Enterprise 1 from furthering their plots—one call/communication and opening two doors. That's it--One call, opening two doors. DEFENDANTS did not do this.

XX. Were there communication issues in the cockpit of United Airlines flight to CHICAGO in Dulles on the night of 03/10/2011 or 03/11/2011 that PLAINTIFF was supposed to connect to on that night? Absolutely not. The plane would not have been allowed to leave the gate without ATC approval. American INTEL could have stopped and prevented their act of international and domestic terrorism, but American INTEL did not. Since this happened under DHS' jurisdiction and JANET NAPOLITANO'S leadership, they are liable for this; this will be talked about later.

XX. If the United Airlines representative at Dulles was a DHS officer or other American INTEL officer, which PLAINTIFF is alleging, the following applies: "taking into account all of the circumstances surrounding the encounter, the police conduct would 'have communicated to a reasonable person that he was not at liberty to ignore the police presence and go about his business.'" Florida v. Bostick, 501 U. S. 429. More importantly, American INTEL have an actual video recording of the incident demonstrating PLAINTIFF'S genuine reaction in being forced to stay in WASHINGTON D.C. against his will and wishes by kicking and screaming loudly that constituted an act of kidnapping as it was without proper legal and constitutional justification and done for political purposes as well as financial purposes; and therefore, DEFENDANTS committed air piracy; and therefore, DEFENDANTS committed domestic and international terrorism.

XX. PLAINTIFF yet again requested via FOIA on 08/24/2023. PLAINTIFF has requested via the FAA and DULLES AIRPORT the following information in a previous request: all United Airlines flights departing from London-Heathrow from 01/01/2011 through 05/31/2011 and the scheduled depart time, actual depart time, scheduled arrival time, actual arrival time, registration and type of BOEING aircraft that flew the routes (07/31/2010).

XX. PLAINTIFF doesn't have money to go to a hotel on 03/11/2011 because all of the money from the house burning down was under the control of PLAINTIFF'S parents and was not PLAINTIFF'S money to spend; PLAINTIFF was a grounds keeper at a university as part of his part time job on campus at Sewanee. American INTEL knew long before this incident that PLAINTIFF would have no money. To the best of PLAINTIFF's recollection, he was going to use a credit card (or his mother's credit card) in INDIA. PLAINTIFF calls/texts his mother since he doesn't have money on him and PLAINTIFF must use his mother's credit card to the best of his recollection. PLAINTIFF doesn't have family or friends in D.C at that time to come pick him up and spend the night by them.

XX. As Tracy Lawrence so elegantly sang in his song Find Out Who Your Friends Are:

You'll find out who your friends are
Somebody's gonna drop everything
Run out and crank up their car
Hit the gas, get there fast
Never stop to think "What's in it for me?"
Or "It's way too far"

They just show on up
With their big old heart
You'll find out who your friends are.

Now any one of the American INTEL officers, BARACK OBAMA, VALERIE JARRETT, HILLARY CLINTON, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, JAMES CLAPPER, JANET NAPOLITANO, LEON PANETTA, JEH JOHNSON, BEN RHODES, etc. could have run out and cranked up their car, hit the gas, got their fast, picked up PLAINTIFF as PLAINTIFF was literally in town and nearby after having an act of international and domestic terrorism committed against PLAINTIFF right then and there, asked for forgiveness, not once think what's in it for American INTEL and the White House; and do the right thing, where they'd just show up with their big old heart and PLAINTIFF could have found out who his friends are. American INTEL and the White House could have opened their doors to PLAINTIFF and let PLAINTIFF spend the night at their home knowing full well PLAINTIFF didn't pose any legitimate threat to aforementioned DEFENDANTS (in which the only actual threat PLAINTIFF posed to aforementioned DEFENDANTS was the ones that they manufactured or fabricated). But PLAINTIFF had no friends amongst aforementioned DEFENDANTS in DC in 2010, 2011, or anytime afterwards. PLAINTIFF doesn't forget.

XX. The question becomes, would have Michelle and Barack Obama have opened their doors to visitors when they were in the White House that was unintentionally involved in American politics at the time? WHY DOESN'T PLAINTIFF LET BARACK OBAMA SPEAK FOR HIMSELF in SEPTEMBER 2010: Barack Obama and Michelle Obama would "throw[] open the doors of our White House to young people from all different backgrounds, letting them know that we believe in their promise, letting them know that the White House is the people's house, and letting young people know that they're not that far away from all the power and prestige and decisions that are made, that, in fact, this is something they can aspire to, they can be a part of, because we are a government of and by and for the people."¹⁴

XX. PLAINTIFF is a simple man and it was the simple things that could have put a stop to the RICO Enterprise; and because DEFENDANTS didn't show up with their big old heart when PLAINTIFF needed them to in DC on March 11th, 2011 where the WHITE HOUSE could have opened their doors to PLAINTIFF after just making $14.9 billion in total value with $9.5 billion in U.S. export content"¹⁵ on PLAINTIFF and let him spend the night there that night after what they did to PLAINTIFF or DEFENDANTS could have made one call and open two doors. DEFENDANTS did not do this. American INTEL and Obama White House DEFENDANTS knew what they did and watched it happen and they did nothing in which broke PLAINTIFF had to spend money via his mom's credit card and take a taxi to a hotel and spend money at the hotel that night. It was just pure greed and malice against PLAINTIFF that American INTEL always exhibited against PLAINTIFF. So back to 03/11/2011, PLAINTIFF leaves DULLES and spends the night in WASHINGTON DC having called and used a taxi to leave and returns to the airport and spending money for a hotel room and taxi fare. That's at a minimum some extortion that affected interstate commerce and foreign commerce.

XX. PLAINTIFF goes back to Chicago and back to Sewanee and deals with crazy REBECCA WETHERBEE.

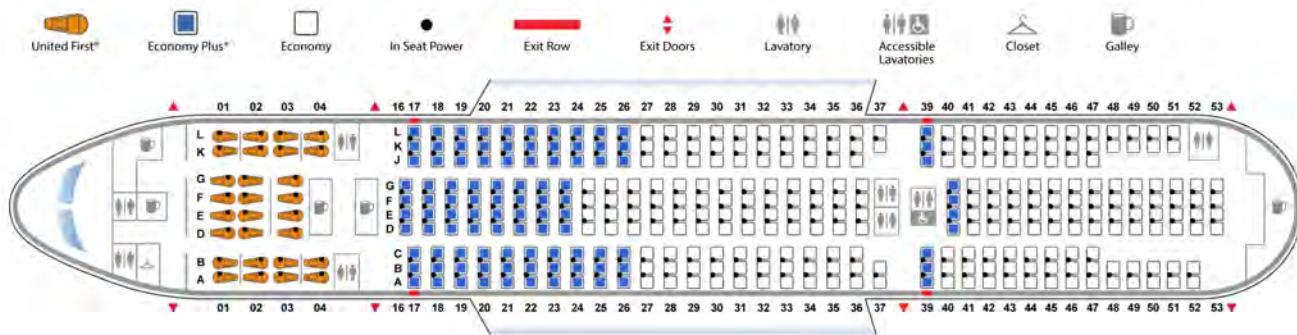

XX. PART 2. "OPERATION OFFING" from American INTEL, British INTEL, Indian INTEL, Qatari DEFENDANT, British DEFENDANT, Indian DEFENDANT'S perspective.

XX. Some of the Extortion:

XX. United States v. Brissette, No. 16-cr-10137-LTS, 7-8 (D. Mass. Feb. 28, 2018) in extortion under 18 U.S.C. 1591, "obtain" as follows: To prove this element, [PLAINTIFF] must prove beyond a [preponderance of the evidence standard] that PLAINTIFF was deprived of his property, and that the defendants acquired that property. Defendants "obtains" property for these purposes when they either: 1) take physical possession of some or all of the property; 2) personally acquire the power to exercise, transfer, or sell the property; or 3) directs the victim to transfer the property to an identified third party and personally benefits from the transfer of the property. It is not enough for the government to prove that the defendants controlled the property by directing its transfer to a third party, nor is merely depriving another of property sufficient to show that the defendants "obtained" that property.

XX. "Under the third theory of "obtaining," you must determine, based on all of the evidence before you, whether the defendants personally benefitted from the transfer of the property. ($10,000,000,000+ or $14,900,000,000+ says they did). Instances in which a defendant personally benefits from the transfer of property could include: when the defendant or an organization of which he is a member receives a thing of value other than the property as a result of the transfer; when the defendant directs the property to a family member or to an organization of which the defendant is a member; and/or when the defendant directs the property to a person or entity to whom the defendant owes a debt, intending that the transfer of property will satisfy that debt. A defendant does not personally benefit from the transfer of property when he merely hopes to receive some future benefit, or when he receives a speculative, unidentifiable, or purely psychological benefit from it....This also is the legal standard against which the Court will evaluate the evidence on any motion for judgment of acquittal filed by the defendants at the close of [PLAINTIFF'S Complaint]." Id.

XX. The following diagrams are of United Airline's BOEING 777-200 aircraft that may have been configured the way it was in 2011. First Configuration 1:

The airplane diagram above is a United Airlines 777-200 seating chart with 28 in business and 336 in economy. Next and below, Configuration 2:

The airplane diagram above is United Airlines 777-200 with 50 Business/First, 24 premium economy, and 202 economy seats.

XX. Most likely than not, PLAINTIFF'S March 11th, 2011 flight had one of these two configurations or something extremely similar on 03/11/2011. Below is a screenshot PLAINTIFF took of United Airlines' fares of a one-way ticket from LONDON HEATHROW to DULLES on August 9th, 2023 on the same type of aircraft—BOEING 777-200 to determine the following.

Flight Details	Basic Economy (most restrictive)	Economy	Economy (fully refundable)	Premium Economy	Business
NONSTOP 12:05 PM LHR → 4:45 PM IAD UA 919 (Boeing 777-200) 502 kg CO ₂	$1,968	$2,042	$2,220	$2,663	$9,092
Details Seats	United Economy (B)	United Economy (B)	United Economy (B)	United Premium Plus (O)	United Polaris business (J)

XX. PLAINTIFF used the Bureau of Labor Statics Consumer Price Index Calculator to determine the estimated cost of what a one-way ticket in the business class section and economy class section on the same type of aircraft (BOEING 777-200) from LONDON to DULLES would have been at that time. United Airlines Fares. As of August 9th, 2023 and the respective prices in March 2011 dollars are above and below:

XX. So using the Bureau of Labor Statistics Consumer Price Index Calculator, an economy ticket would have cost around $1,492.75, premium economy would have cost $1,946.71, and a business/first class ticket would have cost $6,646.46 in 2011.

XX. Using Configuration 1 with 28 in business and 336 in economy, a full plane would 28 full business/first class seats would have cost: $186,100.88 and 336 in economy would have cost $501,564. A total cost using configuration 1 of $687,664.88.

XX. Using Configuration 2 in 2011 dollars, 50 Business/First, 24 premium economy, and 202 economy seats, the total cost of 50 Business/First class tickets would be $332,323.00; 24 premium economy tickets would cost $46,721.04; and 202 economy tickets would have cost $301,535.50; a total using Configuration 2 of $680,579.04.

XX. For the sake of simplicity and argument, the total amount of dollars people spent flying from London-Heathrow to Dulles would be around $680,000 or so in 2011 dollars or around $900,000 or so in 2023 dollars.

XX. Using 2011-dollar value, a minimum of around $680,000 in racketeering damages for being late for every single passenger of United Airlines Flight 925 on 03/10/2011 or 03/11/2011; and including treble damages, a minimum cost of: $2,040,000 in 2011 dollars. That's just for airfare. This does not include the total price of the damage and legal determination of the cost of the damage.

XX. Using 2023 dollars: a minimum of $900,000 in damages for being late for every passenger of United Airlines Flight 925 on 03/11/2011; and including treble damages, a minimum cost of: $2,700,000 in 2023 dollars. That's just for airfare. This does not include the total price of the damage and legal determination of the cost of the damage.

XX. On either 10/31/2010, 03/10/2011, or 03/11/2011, to the best of PLAINTIFF'S ability to ascertain what aircraft was at issue, one of the following aircraft landed in London and was scheduled to depart to Dulles (hereon: United Dulles Airplane) on 10/31/2010, 03/10/2011, or 03/11/2011 (hereon: United London Aircraft List. This list is not fully exclusive as there are other aircraft that may be at issue listed in Exhibit: XX. Furthermore, there are two subsections: Pratt & Whitney Engine and GE Engine). The point being, most likely than not, United Dulles Airplane is one of these aircraft.

XX. J.P Morgan Chase owned United Dulles Airplane and provided it United Airlines on lease to United Airlines.

XX. Since DEFENDANT J.P. Morgan Chase owned United Dulles Airplane, any interest gained on any subsequent payment by United Airlines to JP Morgan Chase after 03/11/2011 means that J.P. Morgan Chase derived income from RICO Enterprise 1 after Operation Offing occurred, and therefore, violated 18 U.S.C. 1962(a), 18 U.S.C. 1962(b), 18 U.S.C. 1962(c), and 18 U.S.C. 1962(d).

XX. Furthermore, this gives credence to the allegation and reasoning that J.P. Morgan Chase terminated all accounts with PLAINTIFF in 2011 because J.P. Morgan Chase would get more money from RICO Enterprise 1 than what one former special education student could pay in interest to them.

XX. Furthermore, BRUCE OHR and J.P. Morgan Chase conspired together in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1962(d) to close all of PLAINTIFF'S accounts with J.P. Morgan Chase in which the alleged reason was REBECCA WETHERBEE; and if it was REBECCA WETHERBEE, it was a fraudulent accusation because RICO Enterprise 1 was furthered by American INTEL in which they directed REBECCA WETHERBEE to commit numerous criminal acts against PLAINTIFF.

XX. PLAINTIFF alleges that REBECCA WETHERBEE continued to have her Chase account after May 2011 in which J.P. Morgan Chase continued to receive indirect profits through having REBECCA WETHERBEE'S accounts and business in which she committed numerous acts of racketeering against PLAINTIFF that was directed by American INTEL in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2.

XX. American INTEL, most likely than not British INTEL, and/or Aussie INTEL, arrived at London-Heathrow airport to conduct the Operation Offing on or about 10/31/2010, 03/10/2011, or 03/11/2011.

XX. Part of Operation Offing required American INTEL, British INTEL, and/or Aussie INTEL to intentionally delay the United Dulles Airplane.

XX. United Dulles Airplane was intentionally tampered with by American INTEL, most likely than not British INTEL, and/or Aussie INTEL on or about 10/31/2010, 03/10/2011, or 03/11/2011 as part of Operation Offing to intentionally delay the United Dulles Airplane.

XX. Tampering with an aircraft is an inherently dangerous and risks the lives of all travelers that board an aircraft that was tampered with on the ground.

XX. Even though an individual may not have directly tampered with the plane, anyone who ordered an airplane to be tampered with can be charged under RICO for doing so.

XX. As an example of the previous paragraph, Dandenis Muñoz Mosquera was prosecuted for blowing up Avianca Airlines Flight #203. Specifically, the Court convicted Dandenis Munoz-Mosquera of "participating and conspiring to participate in a racketeering enterprise in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1962(c) and (d); engaging in a continuing criminal enterprise in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 848(a); various offenses relating to the bombing of a civilian airliner in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 32(b)(2), 32(b)(3), and 371; and the extraterritorial murder of two citizens of the United States in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 2332(a)(1) and 2332(b)(2)."

XX. Therefore, anyone in American INTEL and British INTEL who participated Operation Offing or aided and abetted Operation Offing or gave the approval of Operation Offing can be held criminally liable for their actions. Such DEFENDANTS may include: LEON PANETTA, HILLARY CLINTON, ROBERT MUELLER, ERIC HOLDER, JANET NAPOLITANO, in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1962(d).

XX. NSA has NSANet, which is a classified intranet network that connects Aussies XX and British Intel XX and shares intelligence data between NSA, British INTEL, and Aussie INTEL. Money was/is spent on creating NSANet, maintaining NSANet, and utilizing NSANet that sends, receives, and processes information and data on NSANet.

XX. British INTEL utilized NSANET and transmitted the entirety of the factual circumstances of Miki's Tea Party in which an act of international and domestic terrorism was committed against an American that occurred under their watch that was not reported nor was anyone subsequently punished for their failure in doing so nor did anyone stop it having information from at least 5 months before that it was likely to occur against PLAINTIFF. This is in violation of: XX

XX. At all relevant times, British Intel and NSA always had immediate and direct communication with each other via NSANET in Miki's Tea Party and did not do anything to stop RICO Enterprise 1. Even having direct and completely unimpeded access to National Security Operations Center (NSOC) in which all information about Miki's Tea Party and An Anchor and a Pitchfork was sent, received, and processed in which NSOC's core function is to handle time sensitive issues obtained via sigint—neither British Intel nor NSA did anything despite being made aware of RICO Enterprise 1 from at least September 2010 and letting it happen in March 2011, and therefore, at a minimum, aided and abetted and facilitated RICO Enterprise 1 (as well as RICO Enterprise 2). XX

XX. NSA, CIA, and BRITISH, INDIAN DEFENDANTS have a relationship in which NSA operates out of XX in which NSA, CIA, and BRITISH, INDIAN DEFENDANTS shared, submitted, and received information concerning all the factual circumstances involved in Miki's Tea Party. Some of this data was transmitted through ORION 3, ORION 5, and ORION 7 from the United Kingdom to CIA and NSA headquarters in and around WASHINGTON DC that processed all the information from sources like drafts of arguments made against PLAINTIFF via the DOJ, DOJ'S Solicitor General's Office, and more.

XX. The information from the British to NSA was relayed, processed, and disseminated to the WHITE HOUSE. Everyone in NSA and CIA were intentionally unaware of the impending danger despite having every reason to know that it was going to happen in which they made Miki's Tea Party happen the way they did. CIA and NSA were in direct contact with PLAINTIFF at all times in London in Spring 2011 in which there was an affirmative duty to prevent RICO Enterprise 1 from furthering in which NSA, CIA, and BRITISH AND INDIAN INTEL DEFENDANTS all failed to prevent furthering RICO Enterprise 1 in which they committed mail and wire fraud and other crimes in the process.

XX. The United States, India, United Kingdom, Germany, Japan, Australia, and Qatar, all violated 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(1)(B)(iii) which requires that under data sharing, it must adhere to applicable international human rights obligations and commitments or demonstrates respect for international universal human rights in which DEFENDANTS violated the The Convention On the Rights of Persons With Disabilities-- was all signed by United States, India, United Kingdom, Germany, Japan, Australia, and Qatar--that violated Article 13: Access to justice; Article 14: Liberty and security of person; Article 15: Freedom from torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment; Article 16: Freedom from exploitation, violence and abuse; Article 17: Protecting the integrity of the person; Article 18: Liberty of movement; Article 21 Freedom of expression and opinion, and access to information; Article 22 Respect for privacy; Article 24 Education; Article 25 Health States Parties recognize that persons with disabilities have the right to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of health without discrimination on the basis of disability.

XX. PLAINTIFF is alleging Britain, Qatar, Japan, Germany, Australia, and/or India issued an order to obtain information about PLAINTIFF to provide to the United States in violation of 18

U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(4)(C) in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1964(d) and 18 U.S.C. 241 and 18 U.S.C. 242; 42 U.S.C. 1983; 42 U.S.C. 1985(2); and 42 U.S.C. 1985 (3). PLAINTIFF is alleging that the provision within 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(4)(C) of “nor shall the foreign government be required to share any information produced with the United States Government or a third-party government” is unconstitutional because it can cover up a RICO Enterprise and PLAINTIFF is alleging they are doing just that when they would utilize this provision to deny discovery requests.

XX. The quintessential case on freedom of movement is: United States v. Guest, 383 U.S. 745 (1966). The Court ruled that: “The constitutional right to travel from one State to another, and necessarily to use the highways and other instrumentalities of interstate commerce in doing so (i.e. airplanes and airports), occupies a position fundamental to the concept of our Federal Union. It is a right that has been firmly established and repeatedly recognized. In Crandall v. Nevada, 6 Wall. 35, invalidating a Nevada tax on every person leaving the State by common carrier, the Court took as its guide the statement of Chief Justice Taney in the Passenger Cases, 7 How. 283, 48 U. S. 492: "For all the great purposes for which the Federal government was formed, we are one people, with one common country. We are all citizens of the United States; and, as members of the same community, must have the right to pass and repass through every part of it without interruption, as freely as in our own States." See 6 Wall. at 73 U. S. 48-49. Although the Articles of Confederation provided that "the people of each State shall have free ingress and regress to and from any other State," that right finds no explicit mention in the Constitution. The reason, it has been suggested, is that a right so elementary was conceived from the beginning to be a necessary concomitant of the stronger Union the Constitution created. In any event, freedom to travel throughout the United States has long been recognized as a basic right under the Constitution. [omitted]. In Edwards v. California, 314 U. S. 160, invalidating a California law which impeded the free interstate passage of the indigent, the Court based its reaffirmation of the federal right of interstate travel upon the Commerce Clause. This ground of decision was consistent with precedents firmly establishing that the federal commerce power surely encompasses the movement in interstate commerce of persons as well as commodities. [omitted]. It is also well settled in our decisions that the federal commerce power authorizes Congress to legislate for the protection of individuals from violations of civil rights that impinge on their free movement in interstate commerce. [omitted].”

In furtherance of RICO ENTERPRISE 1, JEH JOHNSON, XX DEFENDANTS violated 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 18 U.S.C. §241; 18 U.S.C. §226, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d) 18 U.S.C. §201 (bribery); 18 U.S.C. 373, 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer); 18 U.S. Code § 875 (fraud); 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion)

It wasn't an extradition because PLAINTIFF had not been charged with a crime at the time. So if American DEFENDANTS argue it was an extradition, then: Brown v. Nutsch, 619 F.2d 758 (8th Cir. 1980) (Holding 42 U.S.C. 1983 provides a remedy for improper extradition in violation of the extradition clause and statute).

XX. CONSPIRACY and FRAUD in Operation Offing.

XX. What PLAINTIFF has to do in this section is the following in which DOJ should not have any reasonable basis to object to what PLAINTIFF is doing: In the Mafia Commission Trials in the 1980s in New York, DOJ prosecuted Italian Mobsters. The phrase of “forget about it” (i.e. fuggedaboutit) was a very context specific word in which its meaning could drastically change based on the context the word was used in. There is not a single FBI or DOJ officer or attorney that will tell you otherwise. For all intents and purposes, RICO Enterprise 1 had their own Mafioso language and PLAINTIFF is doing just what DOJ did before him and is showing the court how the Mafioso language operated in RICO Enterprise 1.

XX. Like the mob, DEFENDANTS are smart and don’t want to get caught. American INTEL, White House, British INTEL, Indian INTEL, Qatari DEFENDANTS, etc. routinely engage in obfuscation of the truth, but still need to convey the message somehow to co-conspirators and DEFENDANTS who aided and abetted the actions and were accessories after the fact.

XX. RICO Enterprise 1’s mafioso language is what PLAINTIFF calls “DC double-speak.” It is vague on purpose and contingent on associational facts in which two meanings can be derived from the message specifically because DEFENDANTS have insider knowledge of the associational and duplicative facts, and therefore DEFENDANTS have plausible deniability in Court. Not anymore. So, DEFENDANTS are not going to outright speak about someone as DEFENDANTS need some plausible deniability for their actions so DEFENDANTS don’t get arrested or caught for the stupidly corrupt and psychotic things DEFENDANTS do in violation of the law and against PLAINTIFF’S Constitutional rights.

XX. As a primer on how American INTEL, British INTEL, Indian INTEL, ROBERT MUELLER, LEON PANETTA, ERIC HOLDER, etc. committed the conspiracy is the following. DEFENDANTS cannot outright say PLAINTIFF’s name for that is the key identifying feature needed to identify PLAINTIFF. What aforementioned DEFENDANTS, particularly CIA, State, and LEON PANETTA and HILLARY CLINTON do have at their disposal is the use of the media (which CIA effectively controls in America via Operation Mockingbird) and DEFENDANTS use similarly situated factual stories in regards to PLAINTIFF. The similar facts of one story applies in a different story to an individual/PLAINTIFF and that’s how they communicate about PLAINTIFF. Sure, there are some facts here and there may not line up perfectly from time to time in those stories (DEFENDANTS don’t need it to); however, the vast majority of the important facts are still the same and are still applicable.

XX. Put in another way, DEFENDANTS’ system of talking about PLAINTIFF in their communications, or someone similarly situated as PLAINTIFF, requires them to use stories that have the same underlying factual pattern, factual issues, or facts behind it to reference someone else completely while maintaining plausible deniability if confronted about it. Then DEFENDANTS have an added layer of protection via social isolation and social derision in which they would falsely and maliciously accuse PLAINTIFF or someone of being psychologically delusional, ill, narcissistic, etc. when PLAINTIFF or someone figures out it is about him and makes it out to be about him (when it is in fact about him) and DEFENDANTS will do things to ensure that DEFENDANTS will label PLAINTIFF as crazy to discredit PLAINTIFF.

XX. DEFENDANTS already destroyed PLAINTIFF socially between 2008-2011 so it is easy to do things against people DEFENDANTS caused the individual to be hated in his community. It is PLAINTIFF'S intent on showing you the inescapable factual conclusions derived from circumstantial evidence on how this works. It is not PLAINTIFF cherry-picking information; it is because PLAINTIFF went through this garbage and remembers the past vividly to show you what it is all about. It is either that or PLAINTIFF that is crazy and is psychologically ill and is in that much of a desperate need of KETAMINE as his PTSD has become too severe and is looking for threats that no longer exist in which DEFENDANTS through their RICO Enterprise made PLAINTIFF that way. Either way, PLAINTIFF needs his Ketamine treatment.

XX. PLAINTIFF is alleging that at an absolute latest, INR/STATE knew PLAINTIFF personally after Financial Terrorism in November 2009 because German DEFENDANTS and German INTEL shared with INR/STATE all the whereabouts of PLAINTIFF concerning his trip in Financial Terrorism. PLAINTIFF was on their radar regardless.

XX. In, United States v. Cook, 793 F.2d 734 (5th Cir. 1986) ("[b]oth the fact of conspiracy and a defendant's participation in it may be proved by circumstantial evidence." 793 F.2d at 736). "As was the case in United States v. Postal, 589 F.2d 862 (5th Cir.) ... "the mere fact that [defendant] made the statement is relevant to the issues of [his] knowledge of the conspiracy and his participation in it."...As Professor McCormick explains: "Proof that one talks about a matter demonstrates on its face that he was conscious or aware of it, and his veracity simply does not enter into the situation." [omitted]. "U.S. v. Jones, 839 F.2d 1041 (5th Cir. 1988). "If the government's conduct in the investigation through a sting operation is so active that its conduct fabricated elements of the offense, it might be considered a violation of due process to prosecute the defendant." U.S. v. Steinhorn, 739 F. Supp. 268, 271 (D. Md. 1990).

XX. New York Times published an article around January 2011¹⁷ documenting the Cablegate leaks that occurred in Fall 2010. The article was talking about the State Department and Boeing and how they fundamentally interact with certain business and world leaders: "The cables describe letters from presidents, state visits as bargaining chips and a number of leaders making big purchases based, at least in part, on how much the companies will dress up private planes. The documents also suggest that demands for bribes, or at least payment to suspicious intermediaries who offer to serve as "agents," still take place."¹⁸ So there are documents when PLAINTIFF has full discovery that would document that demands for bribes has taken place between Boeing, Qatar, the United States, especially India, and the United Kingdom. Whether it is directly or not, PLAINTIFF at least has given enough evidence to prove that a conspiracy existed, and when there is smoke, there is fire. The article continued: "Boeing says it is committed to avoiding any such corrupt practices. State Department and Boeing officials, in interviews last month, acknowledged the important role the United States government plays in helping them sell commercial airplanes, despite a trade agreement signed by the United States and European leaders three decades ago intended to remove international politics from the process.”¹⁹ Whether or not Boeing says it is committed to avoiding such corrupt practices doesn’t mean that it did not in fact occur in 2010 and 2011.

XX. Some of the feature quotes for Miki’s Tea Party in the previously mentioned New York Times Article: “The United States economy, said Robert D. Hormats, undersecretary for economic affairs at the State Department, increasingly relies upon exports to the fast-growing developing world nations like China and India, as well as those in Latin America and the Middle East... Boeing earns about 70 percent of its commercial plane sales from foreign buyers, and is the single biggest exporter of manufactured goods in the United States. Every $1 billion in sales and some of these deals carry a price tag of as high as $10 billion translates into an estimated 11,000 American jobs, according to the State Department... “That is the reality of the 21st century; governments are playing a greater role in supporting their companies, and we need to do the same thing,”²⁰ Mr. Hormats, a former top executive at Goldman Sachs, said in an interview... One example of the horse-trading involved Saudi Arabia, which in November announced a deal with Boeing to buy 12 777-300ER airliners, with options for 10 more, a transaction worth more than $3.3 billion at list prices.”

XX. Based on how the United States Government treated PLAINTIFF in The Roof Is On Fire, there was a complete financial motive by the United States Government in which Boeing and the American DEFENDANTS would base their sales in India and Qatar; a necessary derivative fact of such means that if American DEFENDANTS placed a condition on the sale of aircraft to India and/or Qatar, BOEING and American DEFENDANTS necessarily cooperated with one another to lower the price or provide any meaningful incentives for Indian and Qatari customers to do the one condition. This is demonstrated to be true because governments, whether it is the British, Qatari, Indian, and American Government, played a role and interacted with Boeing in which the American DEFENDANTS supported Boeing. That is how the kickback scheme worked in this case. PLAINTIFF is noting how much 12 Boeing 777-300ER airliners (with options for 10 more) cost: more than $3,300,000,000 at list price.

XX. PLAINTIFF, to the best of his recollection, believes he purchased a set of airplane tickets via Qatar Airways prior to 09/22/2010 or, to DEFENDANTS, it was readily obvious that PLAINTIFF wanted to go to INDIA and/or LONDON during both Fall 2010 and January, February, and March 2011 in messages they obtained under TITLE II or the USA PATRIOT ACT in order for PLAINTIFF to go to India in which PLAINTIFF talked to people like LAUREN DELLER and SURESH MAURYA about going abroad in Facebook.

XX. There was either a phone call or a meeting between former British Prime Minister TONY BLAIR, HUMA ABEDIN, and HILLARY CLINTON on 09/22/2010²¹ (before the key important date of 09/27/2010) in which TONY BLAIR would have been made aware of DEFENDANTS Operation OFFING undertaken against PLAINTIFF.

XX. TONY BLAIR, as the former Prime Minister of United Kingdom in 2010 and 2011, would still have his security contacts, connections, and knowledge of British INTEL after he left office as well as contacts he made that involved India and Qatari interests. So American DEFENDANTS used a “friend” in the British Government that has had prior relationships to ensure DEFENDANTS plan comes to fruition to commit an act against PLAINTIFF in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1.

XX. PLAINTIFF took a screenshot of email ID: 21428 on August 30th, 2023 (hereon: offing email). What kind of matters, but the content is still the same nonetheless, but if the formatting of the email in WikiLeaks was the exact same as the one HILLARY CLINTON sent in Email ID: 21428 that was written on 09/27/2010 at 04:02pm, and is displayed correctly below, the formatting gives further support to the allegations PLAINTIFF made regarding the content of the email.

XX. Offing email also stipulated: “Global Issues Forum with India featured interest in cooperation on democracy/governance, disaster management, and women in science. UNGA breakfast on water issues was successful” and also, the exact formatting of the following:

“India

Legal”

XX. Now there is going to be a great debate this, PLAINTIFF understands. What PLAINTIFF is alleging is that based on the totality of the circumstances, is that DEFENDANTS were talking about Miki’s Tea Party and the legality of it (which is ironic and a devastating blow to them as you will see) and what would transpire between India, United Kingdom, Qatar, and United States. The key issue and part of the offing email is the following part that is formatted as it appeared on screen:

“Indians continue to make progress in quieting recent Kashmir unrest, but need to do more. Indian Embassy

luncheon in honor of Defense Minister Antony this week will include reps from Boeing and Lockheed Martin — a rare development that could signal better U.S.-India defense trade is in the offing.”²²

XX. What PLAINTIFF is alleging in the offing email and is getting at is that HILLARY CLINTON expressed her complete desire and intent that Indian DEFENDANTS and Indian INTEL needed to do more on behalf of America and HILLARY CLINTON.

XX. Implicit in having multiple meanings construed, a “rare development” in sum also conveyed the meaning of a rare opportunity; and with there being a rare opportunity (against PLAINTIFF), DEFENDANTS necessarily understood DEFENDANTS and HILLARY CLINTON had to take advantage of the rare opportunity against PLAINTIFF. One would take actions when there is a need and when there are “rare” developments (i.e. rare developments are rare opportunities) and India and America would do just that. Furthermore, the specific use of the word “development” is a direction and intention that the rare opportunity be directed at the development(al) delays man (i.e. PLAINTIFF) seeing how American DEFENDANTS already referred to PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disabilities in Midyear before and would keep attacking PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability.

XX. It is immaterial that there are no definite times in the offing email because there are reasonable inferences that can be made at the time from their perspective; and especially if you have prior knowledge of Operation Offing and have inside knowledge of the plan. Here is why: the United Airlines flight from Chicago to London typically arrives in the morning in London-Heathrow, probably sometime between 9:30am-11am. If anyone who arrived at London-Heathrow between 9:30am-11am had to go to the Indian Embassy in London, they would arrive at the Indian Embassy just prior or during lunchtime. More importantly, DEFENDANTS knew there was always going to be a line outside the Indian Embassy in London which meant that even if someone got there before lunch, they would by the sheer fact of waiting probably step into the embassy around lunchtime. So after PLAINTIFF landed in the morning in London-Heathrow and after the direction by the Qatar Airways “representative,” PLAINTIFF would have necessarily gone to the Indian Embassy around lunchtime (which PLAINTIFF did in fact go to the Indian Embassy around lunchtime to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection) and waited in line outside the Indian Embassy. Why would PLAINTIFF not try to do something in order to continue on his journey after literally crossing over an entire ocean? Makes no sense, therefore, DEFENDANTS knew the most probable probability that PLAINTIFF was going to do what they had suggested (at their creation in violation of United States v. Gardner, 658 F. Supp. 1573 (W.D. Pa. 1987) in order for PLAINTIFF to continue on his way to INDIA.

XX. the luncheon hour had representatives of BOEING in it.

XX. PLAINTIFF’S plane on the way from London-Heathrow to Washington D.C. DULLES was a BOEING 777 and, in 2010, UNITED AIRLINES only operated and utilized BOEING aircraft to and from LONDON-HEATHROW.

²² <https://wikileaks.org/clinton-emails/emailid/21428> Last Checked 07/31/2023

XX. PLAINTIFF alleges with American INTEL, British INTEL, and Indian INTEL, they had the technical know-how and electronic and physical access via BOEING, GE, Pratt & Whitney, BAA plc, and United Airlines to the United Dulles Airplane.

XX. The United States Government is so intertwined with Boeing, you could cause a Boeing aircraft to be tampered with in order to make sure a certain Boeing 777 plane departs late from London-Heathrow around an exact time in which Boeing shared with American DEFENDANTS ways to delay a Boeing 777 by tampering with the Boeing 777.

XX. In the alternative, American DEFENDANTS already possessed the knowledge on how to do so and BOEING didn't share the information on how to tamper with the plane at that time or allowed American DEFENDANTS to utilize Boeing systems to delay the plane, but Boeing was still a necessary and integral part of the conspiracy.

XX. There was some an unknown scheme to delay the BOEING 777 that American INTEL, British INTEL, and Indian INTEL had concocted.

XX. American INTEL, British INTEL, Indian INTEL, Qatari DEFENDANTS, etc. may allege that with no definite times, there was no conspiracy and therefore no RICO violation. Along the lines, that it is material as to having a definite time as to when the corruption or kickback scheme starts, and PLAINTIFF argues yet again, that is immaterial. It is the fact that a plan was in place on 09/24/2010. PLAINTIFF alleges American INTEL, British INTEL, or Indian INTEL can still have and make a plan from before in which you utilize the plan at a later date when there is reason to know that the subject of the plan is going to be at a certain place around a certain time.

XX. In conjunction with the previous paragraph, as soon as American INTEL, British INTEL, and Indian INTEL knew PLAINTIFF was going to London, the Operation Offing started.

XX. Concerning the timing on when the "better trade" started between the United States and India, it started from at least the actual luncheon as sales were made at that luncheon or as PLAINTIFF is arguing and alleging, the exact moment Operation Offing is confirmed is on 09/24/2010 in which better trade will be done in the future in which Indian DEFENDANTS want to cooperate with State, HILLARY CLINTON, and White House on "governance" issues.

XX. By necessarily giving the approval to "the offing," the better trade starts at the exact time the "offing" plan is made because it is about prospective trade in which there are no limits as to when and how much more trade occurs so long as more trade happens in the future.

XX. Technically, there are no limits as to the termination period after the approval "the offing" plan is made because it is completely conditional in nature and if there is more trade (i.e. better trade) that occurs in the time period the plan is approved and after words, the conditionality of the time period applies and there is not a definite end because better trade will continue on to the future after the "offing." Assuming arguendo (as that is what PLAINTIFF expects DEFENDANTS to do) that the termination period ends when PLAINTIFF completes his tasks in "the offing" and started when the email was sent on 09/24/2010, DEFENDANTS never stopped engaging in better trade afterwards amongst each other which means they necessarily understood that the condition of “the offing” was necessarily just a part of an ongoing better trade in the future in which those countries and America derived benefits from (which makes it an ill-gotten gain).

XX. Furthermore, even if it can be alleged that the conditionality of “better trade in the future” is too indeterminable, that is immaterial as well because PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS necessarily understood that phrase to mean that DEFENDANTS would get better trade in the future so long as they did the specific event involving PLAINTIFF. The fact that better trade did in fact happen between USA and India, USA and Britain, Britain and Qatar, and USA and Qatar afterwards shows they inherently understood that there would be benefits provided to them on doing the specific event as part of the RICO Enterprise.

XX. Typically, when you do trade with someone and have a good relationship with them, you tend to want to do even more trade with that same person in the future--this is just basic human behavioral economic psychology; this is even more likely when the parties engaged in illegal behavior and have a reason to keep working together and have an incentive to keep quiet about what was done.

XX. The most important fact of the offing email is the following for RICO Enterprise 1. There would be financial monetary gain given to the Indian DEFENDANTS in doing whatever condition HILLARY CLINTON stipulated because there would be increased (defense) trade (which means more money to the INDIANS) (this affects foreign, interstate, and intrastate commerce) in which the Indian DEFENDANTS needed to do more.

XX. In case HUMA ABEDIN wrote it, HUMA ABEDIN earned her Bachelor of Arts from Georgetown University. Georgetown University is ranked #62 in best universities in America and would know basic grammar in order to graduate from Georgetown University; and having worked in the CLINTON White House in which she would have to know some aspects of the law, HUMA ABEDIN inherently understood what a condition was at the time this email was sent and wouldn't add unnecessary things to a sentence that completely changes the meaning of a sentence unless it was intentional. The same applies to HILLARY CLINTON.

XX. HILLARY CLINTON graduated from Yale Law School in 1973. Yale is one of the best law schools in the country in which every single graduate of Yale knows a condition when they see a condition. HILLARY CLINTON knows what a condition is, knew what a condition was at the time the email was sent, knew the binding and stipulating nature of what happens when someone places a condition on a legal premise to do something, and HILLARY CLINTON wouldn't add unnecessary things to a sentence that completely changes the meaning of a sentence unless it was intentional by placing a condition in it.

XX. HILLARY CLINTON was a competent and great attorney in which PLAINTIFF is not questioning her judgment so long as it pertains to putting a condition in the offing email. This is supported by HAROLD HONGJU KOH who said on March 25th, 2010: “I have extraordinary clients and you just saw one, Secretary Hillary Clinton, who is a remarkably able lawyer. Of course, another client of mine, the President, is also an outstanding lawyer, as are both Deputy Secretaries, the Department's Counselor, the Deputy Chief of Staff, and a host of Under Secretaries and Assistant Secretaries.”²³

XX. There is no conceivable or plausible way that HILLARY CLINTON or her army of lawyers can deny the knowledge or existence of a condition when it does in fact exist or occurs. This is even more so because HILLARY CLINTON initially formulated (as will be explained later) in her Congressional confirmation to be the Secretary of State in early 2009 or so that increasing trade with India was an Obama White House priority in regards to India (which is fine, PLAINTIFF has no problem with that and is not seeking to impede on US-Indian commerce); however, what changed from 2009 to 2010 was a convergence of factors in which the condition became an issue by 09/27/2010.

XX. In light of the previous paragraphs, here is the thing with the phrase “a rare development that could signal better U.S.-India defense trade is in the offing.” Whether or not PLAINTIFF says “defense trade” or “trade,” it is immaterial as DEFENDANTS themselves disregarded that factual argument because it was not only about defense trade, but it was in part about all trade.

XX. If the issues in the offing email were genuinely about developing trade in that rare opportunity, then the last part of “is in the offing” is absolutely not a necessary condition or requisite part of such because the point of developing trade is made by simply stating that it is “a rare development that could signal better U.S.-India defense trade.” without including “is in the offing.”

XX. PLAINTIFF alleges all of the following: HILLARY CLINTON intentionally put the condition of “is the offing,” HILLARY CLINTON was directed to put “is in the offing” by the White House, HILLARY CLINTON was directed to put “is in the offing” by either ROBERT MUELLER III (head of FBI at the time) or by Leon E. Panetta (head of CIA at the time) or Jeh Johnson (counsel of DOD), or that there was significant pressure by Congress and/or DOJ to do so because PLAINTIFF was the only one they could utilize after their fraud before because PLAINTIFF had particular specialized services to them.

XX. Either way, PLAINTIFF alleges, HILLARY CLINTON put it in there or was directed to put “is in the offing” in the offing email. This is a necessary legal condition made by HILLARY CLINTON made in her official capacity that is intentionally and deliberately created through the purposeful and willful inclusion of the phrase “is in the offing.”

XX. In Saudi Arabia v. Nelson, 507 U.S. 349 (1993), the Supreme Court held that the commercial activity exception requires that the “tortious conduct itself” must qualify as “commercial activity”; the commercial activity that forms the basis for jurisdiction must also serve as the predicate for the substantive cause of action. The tortious conduct is the condition of “in the offing,” as PLAINTIFF will discuss in a bit, it was a commercial activity because it required PLAINTIFF'S services or labor in which DEFENDANTS forced labor out of PLAINTIFF. This condition was in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and made in her official capacity in which she lost the privilege of immunity. Furthermore, circumstantial evidence provided by CRS INDIA (Congressional Research Service) in October 2010 demonstrated the Obama White House and Hillary Clinton all had the imperative of developing all-encompassing trade with India the future See: CRS India below. However, even with that imperative, HILLARY CLINTON still decided to put the condition of "is in the offing" which shows HILLARY CLINTON intentionally, knowingly, and willfully placed a monetary value in "the offing."

XX. "Where there is a clause in a contract, and that clause is the agreement of the parties, the defense of a lack of knowledge of its existence is untenable. Courts are not created to relieve men of their bad bargains made. Where a clause of a contract is clear and unambiguous, "the letter of it should not be disregarded, under the pretext of pursuing the spirit." Lama v. Manale, 218 La. 511 (La. 1951)

XX. In Louisiana, the Civil Code "does not presume an equality between the bargaining parties; rather, it requires disclosures by the [creator of the contract] that are intended to assure the person accepted to the terms of the contract are freely given as to a matter understood by him." Louisiana Civil Code. Article 1819...Under the jurisprudence of Civil Code articles 2474 and 1958, virtually all of the unconscionability cases involving [creator of the contract]...or other [Hillary Clinton's/State's] obligations would be resolved favorably to the [PLAINTIFF] in Louisiana, by virtue of the [State Department/Hillary Clinton's] use of obscure or ambiguous language or by her failure to clearly explain the extent of her own obligations or draw the consumer's attention to language clearly making that explanation."²⁴ In Louisiana, when the Court would utilize Louisiana Civil Code Articles 1945 and 1950, Article 1950 requires the court to endeavor what is the common intention of the parties (as opposed to just adhering to the literal sense of the terms). Under article 1945, the courts are bound to give legal effect to a contract according to "the true intent" of the parties, determined by the words of the contract.

XX. PLAINTIFF is just going to get this following argument out of here as it is a complete non-starter. What HILLARY CLINTON meant by "the offing" is that it refers very most distant part of the ocean on the horizon. So the sentence would read: "a rare development that could signal better U.S.-India defense trade is in the part of the sea visible from shore that is very distant or beyond anchoring ground."²⁵ No. That in the context of airplanes, doesn't make much sense to incorporate a reference to what sailors would see.

XX. There are far too many double meaning contexts in the offing email that cannot be explained away like how "signal" meant "signal intelligence."

XX. PLAINTIFF will prove that it was about signal intelligence and both President Barack Obama and Prime Minister Singh came to security agreements just before then and after "the offing" email that involved those things. PLAINTIFF will prove that it is not just about "defense trade." That in light of everything alleged, for the offing to talk about the furthestest point on the part of the sea visible from shore to be construed as having that meaning is completely implausible.

XX. Unconscionability cases such as involving the enforceability of clauses limiting a creator of a contract's liability for consequential damages are meaningless in Louisiana. Although lenders, lessors, and contractors of work, labor, and services are not "sellers," Louisiana Civil Code article 2474 provides an explanation in which work, labor, and services can be extended to caselaw involving suppliers by analogy in Louisiana jurisprudence. The creator of the contract must provide the necessary explanation for the other party involved in the contract. The one makes the form or contract is more knowledgeable and an explanation is necessary. "By article 2474, a seller "is bound to explain himself clearly respecting the extent of his obligations: any obscure or ambiguous clause is construed against him. Article 1958 requires, in reference to cases in which the intent of the parties is unclear or not clearly expressed (as to which article 1957 lays down the general rule that the agreement is interpreted against him who has contracted the obligation) that if the "doubt or obscurity arise for the want of necessary explanation which one of the parties ought to have given, or from any other negligence or fault of his, the construction most favorable to the other party shall be adopted, whether he be obligor or obligee."²⁶ The manufacturer of a contract is presumed to know the defects of the contract which it creates and therefore is deemed to be in bad faith. J. H. Jenkins Contractor v. City of Denham Springs, 216 So. 2d 549, 554-55. (La. App. 1st Cir. 1979) that "the fact that an informed and experienced person does not usually and customarily bind himself to unjust and unreasonable obligations, is a serious factor that must be considered the very backbone of the doctrine of unconscionable contracts: "one such as no man in his senses and not under a delusion would make on the one hand, and as no honest and fair man would accept on the other." This very idea can be found in Civil Code article 1934(4): "If the creditor . . . , at the time of making [the contract] ...knew of any facts that must prevent or delay its performance, and concealed them from the debtor, he is not entitled to damages."

XX. PLAINTIFF will talk about a Congressional Research Service Report later about India (SEE: CRS INDIA below), but what is relevant to know from that "As part of her confirmation hearing to become Secretary of State, Clinton told Senators she would work to fulfill President Obama's commitment to "establish a true strategic partnership with India, increase our military cooperation, trade, and support democracies around the world"²⁷ It confirms that from January 2009, there was going to be increase in military cooperation and trade (and, hey, if they intersected, cool, that's fine PLAINTIFF doesn't have a problem with this type of interaction). HILLARY CLINTON knew what she had to do in January 2009 in regard to American-Indian trade (i.e. increase it), but yet, if trade was her only one of her true priorities, she would not have included the condition of "in the offing." Someone, somewhere, for some reason justified to HILLARY CLINTON that "in the offing" should be included, should happen, and it became a part of American-Indian trade. It is the fact that "in the offing" was made a condition that involved PLAINTIFF and is the nexus. PLAINTIFF would not have been harmed economically had it just been the case where "in the offing" did not happen. But it impacted PLAINTIFF'S business, economic, and property interests when HILLARY CLINTON included "is in the offing."

²⁷ CRS India.

XX. PLAINTIFF was the go-to guy “in the offing.” That further shows the conditionality of “in the offing” falls outside the scope of her duties of increasing trade between America and India. At no time did India, Indian Intel, Britain, Britain Intel, Qatar, Qatari Intel, White House, nor American DEFENDANTS really have to do “is in the offing” to get more trade. BUT THEY INTENTIONALLY CHOSE TO DO SO and they cannot free and absolves themselves of their decisions to do so.

XX. Part III: “The Offing” passing through multiple layers of approval in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1

XX. Would a DC licensed attorney understand what a legal condition is? PLAINTIFF alleges yes he or she would know what a legal condition is in an email.

XX. PLAINTIFF is going to make a temporary detour in this complaint to explain a major contributing factor to this issue as to how it happened. Say hypothetically that HILLARY CLINTON lacked the capacity to legally understand what happens when one puts a condition in a sentence for legal purposes. Regardless of whether she knew it was a condition (which she did), the question becomes who was her legal advisor that also should have recognized or understood the importance of putting the condition of “in the offing”?

XX. As Hillary Clinton’s legal advisor in 2010 was in current good standing with the Bar association, the question becomes what would have been going on in the mind of HILLARY CLINTON’S legal advisor when he would have seen or advised HILLARY CLINTON to the condition of “the offing.” The same individual wrote two things as: “The Legal Adviser’s Duty to Explain,” 41 Yale J. Int’l Law 189 (2016) and “The Legal Adviser’s Duty to Explain,” The Role of Legal Advisers in International Law (Andraz Zidar & JeanPierre Gauci eds. 2016). Albeit it was 6 years in the future, PLAINTIFF would argue this was somewhat important and relevant to HILLARY CLINTON’S legal advisor: HAROLD HONGJU KOH.

XX. HAROLD HONGJU KOH was licensed in Washington D.C. between 2009-2012 and was a member of good standing in the DC bar.

XX. Who is HAROLD HONGJU KOH, What is important to him, and what was going on daily in his time at State? HAROLD HONGJU KOH is quite a prolific published writer.

XX. HAROLD HONGJU KOH said in March 2010, after Financial Terrorism, during a State Department speech: “that each day we tackle extraordinarily fascinating legal questions. When I was a professor, I would spend a lot of time trying to think up exam questions. For those of you who are professors, this job literally presents you with a new exam question every single day. For example, I had never really thought about the question: “can you attach a panda?””

XX. PLAINTIFF loves pandas and HAROLD HONGJU KOH is talking about attaching a panda or attaching someone as a condition in the previous paragraph.

XX. American INTEL absolutely knew that PLAINTIFF loved pandas and that is quite a coincidence, but not enough to support it was about PLAINTIFF.

XX. HAROLD HONGJU KOH said in March 2010 during a State Department speech: “how in regard to foreign policy, from administration to administration, there will always be more continuity than change; you simply cannot turn the ship of state 360 degrees from administration to administration every four to eight years, nor should you. But, I would argue—and these are the core of my remarks today-- to say that is to understate the most important difference between this administration and the last: and that is with respect to its approach and attitude toward international law.” HAROLD HONGJU KOH acknowledges and talks about how if an administration got stuck in their RICO Enterprise 1 ways during the BUSH era between 2001-2008, that would continue to occur under OBAMA too.

XX. In discussing what was important to him, HAROLD HONGJU KOH said in March 2010 during a State Department speech: “Emerging “Obama-Clinton Doctrine,” which is based on four commitments: to: 1. Principled Engagement; 2. Diplomacy as a Critical Element of Smart Power; 3. Strategic Multilateralism; and 4. the notion that Living Our Values Makes us Stronger and Safer, by Following Rules of Domestic and International Law; and Following Universal Standards, Not Double Standards... Second, a commitment to what Secretary Clinton calls “smart power”—a blend of principle and pragmatism” that makes “intelligent use of all means at our disposal,” including promotion of democracy, development, technology, and human rights and international law to place diplomacy at the vanguard of our foreign policy...And fourth and finally, a commitment to living our values by respecting the rule of law, As I said, both the President and Secretary Clinton are outstanding lawyers, and they understand that by imposing constraints on government action, law legitimates and gives credibility to governmental action. As the President emphasized forcefully in his National Archives speech and elsewhere, the American political system was founded on a vision of common humanity, universal rights and rule of law. Fidelity to [these] values” makes us stronger and safer...And in her December speech on a 21st Century human rights agenda, and again two weeks ago in introducing our annual human rights reports, Secretary Clinton reiterated that “a commitment to human rights starts with universal standards and with holding everyone accountable to those standards, including ourselves.”²⁸ Okay, Court, you clearly heard what HAROLD HONGJU KOH said in regards to HILLARY CLINTON and BARACK OBAMA: they want to hold everyone accountable to those standards—including Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama themselves. So both BARACK OBAMA and HILLARY CLINTON talk about and know about imposing constraints on government action, law legitimates, and giving credibility to government action.

XX. HAROLD HONGJU KOH said in March 2010 (which was after Financial Terrorism in which HILLARY CLINTON knew PLAINTIFF by this time) during a State Department speech and continued: “Now in implementing this ambitious vision—this Obama-Clinton doctrine based on principled international engagement, smart power, strategic multilateralism, and the view that global leadership flows to those who live their values and obey the law and global standards—I am reminded of two stories. The first, told by a former teammate is about the late Mickey Mantle of the American baseball team, the New York Yankees, who, having been told that he would not play the next day, went out and got terrifically drunk (as he was wont to do). The next day, he arrived at the ballpark, somewhat impaired, but in the late innings was unexpectedly called upon to pinch-hit. After staggering out to the field, he swung wildly at the first two pitches and missed by a mile. But on the third pitch, he hit a tremendous home run. And when he returned to the dugout, he squinted out at the wildly cheering crowd and confided to his teammates, “[t]hose people don’t know how hard that really was.” PLAINTIFF could construe that as referring to him, but it is not important. Carrying on.

XX: HAROLD HONGJU KOH carrying on: “In this maze of bureaucratic politics, you are only one lawyer, and there is only so much that any one person can do. Collective government decision-making creates enormous coordination problems. We in the Legal Adviser’s Office are not the only lawyers in government: On any given issue, my office needs to reach consensus decisions with all of the other interested State Department bureaus, but our Department as a whole then needs to coordinate its positions not just with other government law offices, which include: our lawyer clients (POTUS/SecState/DepSecState); White House Lawyers (WHCounsel/NSC Legal Counsel/USTR General Counsel); DOD Lawyers (OGC, Jt Staff, CoComs, Services, JAGs); DOJ Lawyers (OLC, OSG, Litigating Divisions-Civ., Crim, OIL, NSD); IC Lawyers (DNI, CIA); DHS Lawyers, not to mention lawyers in the Senate and House.”²⁹

XX: Because of the previous paragraph, PLAINTIFF is establishing HAROLD HONGJU KOH would interact with POTUS Barack Obama, Hillary Clinton, DoD attorneys, DOJ Lawyers, CIA Lawyers, DNI Lawyers, DHS Lawyers, and Congress on any issue, which necessarily includes “trade is in the offing.”

XX. Therefore, PLAINTIFF is alleging HAROLD HONGJU KOH is necessarily part of the conspiracy as well as attorneys in the CIA, DNI, DHS, DoD, and DOJ. See: United States v. Cook, 793 F.2d 734 (5th Cir. 1986) (“[b]oth the fact of conspiracy and a defendant's participation in it may be proved by circumstantial evidence.” 793 F.2d at 736). “As was the case in United States v. Postal, 589 F.2d 862 (5th Cir.) ... “the mere fact that [defendant] made the statement is relevant to the issues of [his] knowledge of the conspiracy and his participation in it.”...As Professor McCormick explains: “Proof that one talks about a matter demonstrates on its face that he was conscious or aware of it, and his veracity simply does not enter into the situation.” [omitted].” U.S. v. Jones, 839 F.2d 1041 (5th Cir. 1988). See: HAROLD HONGJU KOH, unknown attorneys in CIA, DNI, DHS, DoD, and DOJ having violated at least: 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, and 18 U.S.C. §1962(d) in regards to “trade is in the offing.”

XX. As mentioned in Paragraph XX, HAROLD HONGJU KOH talked about fascinating legal questions. So the questions become: what was of interest to Harold Koh and what was some of his legal reasoning. HAROLD HONGJU KOH should have been an ally to disabled former special education student PLAINTIFF because he wrote: The International Human Rights of Persons with Intellectual Disabilities: Different but Equal (Oxford University Press 2002) (with

Stanley Herr and Lawrence Gostin, eds) and "A Dismal Record on Executing the Retarded," New York Times (June 14, 2001). Okay, so there is some background that gives an inference that he cares about disabled folks, which is great! Furthermore and more importantly, HAROLD HONGJU KOH was an author of: "International Human Rights of Persons with Mental Disabilities," 63 Md. L. Rev. 1 (2004). Okay, so HAROLD KOH wrote 6 years before March 2010 about international human rights of persons with mental disabilities that would include things like Autism. Furthermore, HAROLD HONGJU KOH wrote: "The New Global Slave Trade," Displacement, Asylum, Migration 232 (Oxford Amnesty Lectures) (Kate Tunstall ed. 2006). This would include things like peonage, indentured servitude. So within 6 years of September 2010, what was fresh in HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S mind necessarily included issues involving disabled individuals and global slave trade. Okay? Okay!

XX. PLAINTIFF is arguing that on a personal value ranking system to HAROLD HONGJU KOH, the topics discussed in the previous paragraph are nowhere near as important to HAROLD HONGJU KOH as national jurisdiction issues and terrorism in which he wrote: "Transnational Legal Process and the 'New' New Haven School of International Law," International Legal Theory: Foundations and Frontiers, Jeffrey Dunoff & Mark Pollack eds., forthcoming Cambridge, "Civil Remedies for Uncivil Wrongs: Combatting Terrorism Through Transnational Public Law Litigation," 22 Texas Int'l L.J. 169 (1987), "Commentary" in Michael W. Doyle, Striking First: Preemption and Prevention in International Conflict 99 (2008), "Transnational Legal Process After September 11," 22 Berkeley J. Int'l L. (2004), and "American Diplomacy and the Death Penalty" (with Thomas Pickering) 80 Foreign Service Journal 19 (October 2003). Simply, in HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S mind: terrorism and transnational jurisdiction > (more important than) disabled individuals and global slave trade.

XX. HAROLD HONGJU KOH must have been sick during the day his Civil Procedure class talked about Pennoyer v. Neff, 95 U.S. 714 (1878) that talks about the importance of jurisdiction and appropriate boundaries. Also, seems like HAROLD HONGJU KOH didn't know about these two cases in regard to when the United States Government artificially manufactured jurisdiction—whether it was through deceit, fraud, or deception is immaterial—in which a court can rule the government doing so violates constitutional rights and can dismiss the case on the grounds of artificially created jurisdiction. For example, in a case that SCOTUS affirmed, United States v. Perrin, 580 F.2d 730 (5th Cir. 1978), aff'd, 444 U.S. 37 (1979) (hereon: Perrin), the court in Perrin recognized the validity of the defense in a proper case when it stated that the "defendants' argument that the government improperly obtained jurisdiction is for the court to determine as a matter of law, . . ." Id. This was confirmed by United States v. Marcello, 508 F. Supp. 586, 592 (E.D. La. 1981) as well.

XX. Finally, most relevantly one can infer how HAROLD HONGJU KOH would think and process issues that involved money and diplomacy in which terrorism and transnational jurisdiction > (more important than) disabled individuals and global slave trade to HAROLD HONGJU KOH that all implicate Miki's Tea Party and "the offing" and HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S decisions and motivations: "Dollar Diplomacy/Dollar Defense: The Fabric of Economics and National Security Law," 26 International Lawyer 715 (1992) (with Co-Defendant JC YOO), which contained the following points that PLAINTIFF will elaborate upon:

“national security policy regularly requires the use of economic power as a tool, either as a stick to sanction hostile nations or as a carrot to encourage the economic growth and development of friendly ones... National security may require that U.S. economic controls apply with sufficient force not just to adversaries, but also to allies, so as to ensure implementation of a unified and coordinated national policy... Although the Constitution assigns Congress the task of regulating foreign and domestic commerce, more often than not the executive branch has won the dominant hand in setting policy in these areas... More explicit acceptance of power-sharing as a constitutional norm would not only enhance the democratic nature of foreign policymaking, but would also recognize the indispensable checking function that other branches and international allies play vis-A-vis the exercise of U.S. economic and national security power... Although Youngstown reaffirmed the constitutional vision of balanced institutional participation in economics and national security policy, developments within each branch have promoted a policy trend toward growing presidential dominance. First, the executive has seized the initiative in policy making, primarily because it is the best structured to operate in a unified, swift, and secret manner... Even when Congress does legislate to check presidential discretion, it all too often leaves statutory loopholes that the president exploits to unlock sweeping delegated powers... Post-Vietnam era statutes sought to place a number of controls on presidential discretion, including requirements of fact findings and public declarations, committee oversight, legislative vetoes, and reporting and consultation with Congress... However, these obstacles have proven to be of surprising little weight, allowing Presidents to evade them either by exploiting their definitional limits, procedures, and substantive terms, or by challenging their constitutionality in court... in the post-Vietnam years the federal judiciary has steadily deferred to, if not expressly affirmed, executive claims of national security power. the Burger and Rehnquist Court's statutory interpretation techniques have eliminated the various limitations in congressional delegations, thereby granting the President unrestrained access to broad delegated powers over the economy and national security... Taken together, these cases have sharply limited the role of courts as arbiter of the national policy making process and endorsed, rather than countered, a decision-making system increasingly characterized by presidential activism and congressional acquiescence... the export laws have provided another powerful economic weapon for the pursuit of national security goals, which the President may wield largely at his own discretion.³⁰

³⁰ <https://scholar.smu.edu/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=2903&context=til>

XX. To HAROLD HONGJU KOH based on Dollar Diplomacy/Dollar Defense: The Fabric of Economics and National Security Law," 26 International Lawyer 715 (1992) (with Co-Defendant JC YOO), when you mix national security and economic diplomacy, trade is a carrot to encourage the economic growth and development of friendly nations in which--based on some secret unascertainable reason known only to the executive branch--national security requires U.S. economic controls apply with sufficient force to allies to ensure implementation of a unified and coordinated national policy. Put in another way, HAROLD HONGJU KOH would agree that the United States can force a foreign country to implement a unified and coordinated policy by dangling economic incentives and products to encourage economic growth and development of that foreign country.

XX. The offing email in relation to the previous paragraph means that HAROLD HONGJU KOH would have no problem with providing enough sufficient force against India to make Indian DEFENDANTS do more in regard to whatever HAROLD HONGJU KOH and HILLARY CLINTON wanted them to do.

XX. To HAROLD HONGJU KOH based on Dollar Diplomacy/Dollar Defense: The Fabric of Economics and National Security Law," 26 International Lawyer 715 (1992) (with Co-Defendant JC YOO), Congress can't do jack shit against the Executive Branch when it comes to national security and policy (i.e. international trade and domestic trade) because Congress gave up that power and even when Congress tries to do something, the Executive Branch exploits loopholes anyway that tries to provide some ascertainable limits to executive branch power. The judicial branch is not going to do jack shit nearly all the time (except in this complaint PLAINTIFF hopes) because SCOTUS kept giving more and more deferential power to the Executive Branch. So Congress=can't do shit. Judicial branch=won't do shit. Well, that's not very good for checks and balances.

XX. In HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S mind based on Dollar Diplomacy/Dollar Defense: The Fabric of Economics and National Security Law," 26 International Lawyer 715 (1992) (with Co-Defendant JC YOO), the executive branch can completely evade legal obstacles (to him) like definitional limits, procedures, substantive terms, IGNORE REQUIREMENTS INVOLVING FINDINGS OF FACT in which the executive branch will operate in a unified manner, swift manner (i.e. rushed uninformed decisions in which findings of fact is completely ignored), and most importantly those decisions are done in a secret manner in which the courts won't do shit and Congress can't do shit involving national security and policy.

What did PLAINTIFF just say? PLAINTIFF said:

XX. In HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S mind based on Dollar Diplomacy/Dollar Defense: The Fabric of Economics and National Security Law," 26 International Lawyer 715 (1992) (with Co-Defendant JC YOO) in which he was advising the leadership of the State Department (i.e. HILLARY CLINTON), HILLARY CLINTON and the executive branch can completely evade legal obstacles (to him and her) like definitional limits, procedures, substantive terms, IGNORE REQUIREMENTS INVOLVING FINDINGS OF FACT in which the executive branch will operate in a unified manner, swift manner (i.e. rushed uninformed decisions in which findings of fact is completely ignored), and most importantly those decisions are done in a secret manner in which the courts won't do shit and Congress can't do shit involving national security and policy.

XX. Let PLAINTIFF wrap this up succinctly: if you put in your left hand HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S beliefs that 1) the United States can force a foreign country to implement a unified and coordinated policy by dangling economic incentives and products to encourage economic growth and development of that foreign country and 2) the executive branch can completely evade legal obstacles (to him) like definitional limits, procedures, substantive terms, IGNORE/EVADE REQUIREMENTS INVOLVING FINDINGS OF FACT in which the executive branch will operate in a unified manner, swift manner (i.e. make rushed uninformed decisions involving findings of fact in which they would rely on materially false fabrications and perjured testimony), and most importantly those decisions are done in a secret manner in which the courts won't do shit and Congress can't do shit involving national security and policy; and then put in your right hand HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S priorities that terrorism and transnational jurisdiction > (more important than) disabled individuals and global slave trade and work with the CIA and FBI who agree the same in which Midyear happened that is done in a secret echo chamber; and put your hands together and mesh all of those inside HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S mind along with American INTEL's need to continue to obstruct justice and further RICO Enterprise 1, that is how Miki's Tea Party was born and created.

XX. PLAINTIFF is alleging that HAROLD HONGJU KOH advised HILLARY CLINTON that "trade is in the offing" was constitutional and legal in which numerous people would benefit except for PLAINTIFF in which he necessarily knew about issues involving global slave trade, disabled individuals, and what a legal condition. Some of HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S crimes include: 42 U.S.C. §1985(2), 42 U.S.C. §1985(3), 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, and 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion)

XX. PART IV:

XX. Indian DEFENDANTS, in order to increase more trade and continue trade with America based on the offing email, must do something, that something is being part of Operation Offing (i.e. "is in the offing.")

XX. Simply and as PLAINTIFF is alleging: "is in the offing" is Operation Offing in which American INTEL, State, HILLARY CLINTON, ROBERT MUELLER, JANET NAPOLITANO, LEON PANETTA, JAMES CLAPPER, and ERIC HOLDER'S operation in which aforementioned DEFENDANTS and Qatari DEFENDANTS, Qatar Airways, British INTEL, and Indian DEFENDANTS and Indian INTEL are offing PLAINTIFF off the plane to India on 03/10/2011 or so, making PLAINTIFF go to the Indian embassy during lunchtime, tampering with the United Airlines plane on 03/10/2011 or 03/11/2011 to make it late on purpose, and then illegally seizing and kidnapping PLAINTIFF in DC in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1.

XX. There would be kickbacks and quid pro quos done between all parties upon successful completion of Operation Offing.

XX. The phrase “is in the offing” in the offing email includes the phrase ‘in’ as a double reference point to a location and the abbreviation of India (IN). One can be IN the Indian Embassy; one can be IN the airport, etc. etc.

XX. Next, “Is in the offing” refers to one singular plan. It is not plural: offings where it could be construed as the two flights on 03/10/2011 or 03/11/2011, but that is not the case. But it is singular: offing. “Offing” is Operation Offing.

XX. “Offing” necessarily has a stipulated time performance and applicability—it is whenever PLAINTIFF performs it at the direction of American INTEL, British INTEL, Indian INTEL, Qatar Airways, Qatari DEFENDANTS, etc.

XX. The phrase “is in” makes it even that much more conditional and dependent. The brevity and conciseness of including “is in” makes the phrase highly more specific and direct to the implementation of a singular plan (the offing). How it really could be read as to demonstrate the extreme conciseness, directness, and conditionality of the ‘offing’ plan involving trade is the following: “trade is in the offing.”

XX. So the phrase “development” is also a reference to PLAINTIFF in which PLAINTIFF has “developmental” delays and American INTEL like ANDREW MCCABE and the FBI have consistently and constantly referred to PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability from at least 2008 (See: Midyear in which they retaliated against PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability) and therefore became a habit and routine practice by American INTEL, HILLARY CLINTON, ROBERT MUELLER, ANDREW MCCABE, LEON PANETTA, in doing so and conveyed the rare opportunity of the moment.

XX. “Signal” means signal intelligence gained overseas in Britain and India by Indian and British DEFENDANTS and British and Indian INTEL that were assisted by Qatari DEFENDANTS.

XX. once American INTEL, State, HILLARY CLINTON, ERIC HOLDER, British INTEL, Indian DEFENDANTS, Indian INTEL, and 5 EYES have in-personam-jurisdiction over PLAINTIFF in London-Heathrow, they have necessarily incorporated PLAINTIFF in the condition of “is in the offing.”

XX. DEFENDANTS necessarily placed a monetary value of $14,900,000,000 that was completely contingent on PLAINTIFF when the “offing” of PLAINTIFF happened and was executed by DEFENDANTS. There is no factual or legal way to distinguish or separate PLAINTIFF here that is independent of the $14,900,000,000 DEFENDANTS necessarily obtained because of “the offing.” DEFENDANTS necessarily and unequivocally placed a value on PLAINTIFF of $14,900,000,000 in what they did to PLAINTIFF on 03/11/2011 in furtherance of kickback schemes and quid pro quos that will be proved later on. Period.

XX. By HILLARY CLINTON INTENTIONALLY, WILLFULLY, and KNOWINGLY making it so conditional on PLAINTIFF, her decision to do so was overseen by--as HAROLD HONGJU KOH said in Paragraph XX—"his lawyer clients (POTUS/SecState/DepSecState); White House Lawyers (WHCounsel/NSC Legal Counsel/USTR General Counsel); DoD Lawyers (OGC, Jt Staff, CoComs, Services, JAGs); DOJ Lawyers (OLC, OSG, Litigating Divisions-Civ., Crim, OIL, NSD); IC Lawyers (DNI, CIA); DHS Lawyers, not to mention lawyers in the Senate and House"³¹—in which all of them together reached a universal consensus and agreement in evaluating the value of the conditionality of incorporating PLAINTIFF into Operation Offing—current level of trade and more trade with India, or as the OBAMA White House evaluated the value, $14,900,000,000.

XX. Paragraph XX can't be absurd and unreasonable to the United States Government as well as the British Government, Qatari Government, and British Government when it is a decision that was overseen and reached by all of those lawyers in the Executive Branch and the British Government, Qatari Government, and Indian Government also came to the same conclusion after the United States Government presented Operation Offing and the value of PLAINTIFF to them.

XX. PLAINTIFF will agree with the United States Government and prior case rulings, only in this respect, that the Court must give deference to universally accepted and mutually reached upon valuation of $14,900,000,000 ON THE CONDITION OF PLAINTIFF by four different governments (Qatar, Britain, India, and the United States) and at least nineteen different intelligence agencies and government agencies and all of their employees: DOJ, FBI, STATE, CIA, DHS, DoD, NSA, MI5, MI6, GCHQ, Defence Intelligence (United Kingdom), London Metropolitan Police Service: Counter Terrorism Command (CTC) or SO15, NSC, NIA (India), Indian Central Bureau of Investigation (India), IB (India), R&AW(India), Ministry of Home Affairs (India), and the following individuals: HILLARY CLINTON, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, ERIC HOLDER, LEON PANETTA, ROBERT MUELLER, JANET NAPOLITANO, JOHN O. BRENNAN, HBJ, DAVID CAMERON, Sir IAIN ROBERT LOBBAN, ANDREW DAVID PARKER (Baron Parker of Minsmere), JOHN SAWERS, Sir ALEXANDER WILLIAM YOUNGER, JONATHAN EVANS (Baron Evans of Weardale), Prime Minister SINGH, and ALISTAIR JAMES HENDRIE BURT.

XX. In the alternative, PLAINTIFF was never given an ability to negotiate the terms and the fraud occurred when DEFENDANTS listed in the previous paragraph denied the opportunity for PLAINTIFF to negotiate with them in which they all intentionally prevented PLAINTIFF from knowing the true valuation of his services and PLAINTIFF to aforementioned DEFENDANTS.

XX. In the alternative, in light of the conditionality of "is in the offing" on PLAINTIFF completely, PLAINTIFF implicitly agreed and consented to the conditions of the "offing" that DEFENDANTS placed on PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS would provide the tasks and directions for PLAINTIFF to follow through and execute in Operation Offing.

XX. In the alternative, PLAINTIFF was forced to labor in which DEFENDANTS would provide the tasks and directions for PLAINTIFF to follow through and execute in Operation Offing and PLAINTIFF has not been paid a dime for Operation Offing.

XX. No PLAINTIFF in the “offing,” no $14,900,000,000 or more that was acquired by DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF alleges that this scheme is a quid pro quo between the DEFENDANTS: Americans, Qataris, British, and Indians in which unknown lawyers, employees, and workers of: BAA Plc (Heathrow Holdings), DOJ, FBI, STATE, CIA, DHS, DoD, NSA, MI5, MI6, GCHQ, Defence Intelligence (United Kingdom), London Metropolitan Police Service: Counter Terrorism Command (CTC) or SO15, NSC, NIA (India), Indian Central Bureau of Investigation (India), IB (India), R&AW(India), and/or Ministry of Home Affairs (India) and/or the following individuals: HILLARY CLINTON, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, ERIC HOLDER, LEON PANETTA, ROBERT MUELLER, JANET NAPOLITANO, JOHN O. BRENNAN, HBJ, DAVID CAMERON, Sir IAIN ROBERT LOBBAN, ANDREW DAVID PARKER (Baron Parker of Minsmere), JOHN SAWERS, Sir ALEXANDER WILLIAM YOUNGER, JONATHAN EVANS (Baron Evans of Weardale), Prime Minister SINGH, and ALISTAIR JAMES HENDRIE BURT, in which they all violated: See: Neder v. United States, 527 U.S. 1 (1999)(fraud occurs on a misrepresentation or concealment of material fact) (Sandwich Chef of Texas, Inc. v. Reliance National Indemnity Insurance Co., 319 F.3d 205 (5th Cir. 2003) and Summit Properties Inc. v. Hoechst Celanese Corp., 214 F.3d 556 (5th Cir. 2000)(proximate causation could be established where “a plaintiff has either been the target of a fraud or has relied upon the fraudulent conduct of the defendants; 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act; 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion).

XX. In the alternative, Louisiana Civil Code Article 2451 states that “A hope may be the object of a contract of sale. Thus, a fisherman may sell a haul of his net before he throws it. In that case the buyer is entitled to whatever is caught in the net, according to the parties' expectations, and even if nothing is caught the sale is valid.” It may not have technically constituted extortion in the beginning, but it constituted extortion after “the offing” occurred in which DEFENDANTS intentionally deprived PLAINTIFF of his labor and services. So even if the “offing” can be construed as a conditional hope that would occur in the future, it still can be the object of a contract of the sale in which PLAINTIFF has not been compensated for in his integral part of “the offing.”

XX. It is immaterial if there was no date as the hope of the contract was continued trade and more trade between India and America in which Britain and Qatar would later on obtain benefits for being part of Operation Offing. Under Louisiana Civil Code Art. 2465, a definite price was stipulated by a third person, BARACK OBAMA, when he stated “$14,900,000,000” in his presidential announcement. Furthermore, PLAINTIFF will explain a plausible value of “better trade” in the next paragraph. But better trade necessarily means and includes trade at a previous level in addition to more trade--You can't just have “better trade” without current trade.

XX. the SpiceJET deal to be explained later in paragraph XX necessarily included a hope of future additional trade on it as well when it occurred in October 2010.

XX. HILLARY CLINTON in CHENNAI, INDIA said the actual percentage of better trade to her understanding was 20% because of trade flow occurring in both directions. Trade flow increased in both exports and imports. The 20% figure is reasonable because, according to the United States Trade Representatives, “The U.S. goods trade deficit with India was $14.5 billion in 2011, up $4.3 billion from 2010. U.S. goods exports in 2011 were $21.6 billion, up 12.4 percent from the previous year. Corresponding U.S. imports from India were $36.2 billion, up 22.5 percent. India is currently the 17th largest export market for U.S. goods.”³² So HILLARY CLINTON’S 20% figure comments closely reflected the amount the United States was importing from India and the increase of 22.5% was around $8,145,000,000 in increased trade. The value of the increase trade amount of 12.4% those Indian customers received from American Companies (exporters) was around $2,678,400,000. Since HILLARY CLINTON said trade flows both ways in which it was BETTER TRADE for both countries in both directions, An average trade percentage at 17.45% (Hereon: Hillary Clinton Fee) and a total of $10,823,400,000 respectively.

XX. One of the following must be true in which there is no different valuation possible for operation offing and “better trade” it is either 1) $10,823,400,000 or 2) $14,900,000,000. That is just between India and America. PLAINTIFF is not incorporating in the previous figure the derivative and indirect profits that Britain and Qatar obtained through Operation Offing and “better trade,” however, PLAINTIFF is incorporating the derivative and indirect profits received by Britain and Qatar as a RICO Predicate Act.

XX. Louisiana Civil Code article 2474 recognizes and understands the importance of disparity in knowledge and sophistication between buyer and seller in its requirement that "the seller is bound to explain himself clearly respecting the extent of his own obligations" and that "any obscure or ambiguous clause is construed against him." Louisiana courts have applied the principle of article 2474, by analogy, to contractors, lessors, and other suppliers." Louisiana Civil Code article 1958 likewise recognizes the disparity in the positions of suppliers and consumers by providing that in a supplier-prepared contract, any doubt or obscurity arising for want of a necessary explanation calls for the adoption of the construction most favorable to the consumer. See: Alexander v. Burroughs Corp., 359 So. 2d 607 (La. 1978): (Louisiana Supreme Court stated a manufacturer "is presumed to know of the defects of the thing which it manufactures and therefore is deemed to be in bad faith. Hence, article 2545 is applicable."

XX. The offing email, as a refresher, said on 09/27/2010 at 04:02pm, HILLARY CLINTON and HUMA ABEDIN sent the following email: “Indians continue to make progress in quieting recent Kashmir unrest, but need to do more. Indian Embassy luncheon in honor of Defense Minister

Antony this week will include reps from Boeing and Lockheed Martin — a rare development that could signal better U.S.-India defense trade is in the offing.”³³

XX. 35 minutes pass after the offing email after the initial Operation Offing is proposed in which at 04:37pm on 09/27/2010, the additional approval is granted for Operation Offing between HUMA ABEDIN and HILLARY CLINTON with subject line of “FYI” (For Your Information): “but ds took your luggage out of van to go ahead to airport. Very odd and they just told me they did it. Not sure why, I told them to return the oscar gowns to van and all little bags are still in van too.”³⁴ Part of this message is justifying signal intelligence against PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS had planted baggies in PLAINTIFF’S room in Meth as there is a talking about little bags (as in baggie of drugs. See: Meth) in which DEFENDANTS aided and abetted the RICO Enterprise because the perpetrators of obstruction of justice of whomever placed the drugs in PLAINTIFF’S room (in violation of the HONOR CODE) were not apprehended and the “little baggies” are included to maliciously malign PLAINTIFF as a violent drug dealer and utilization of signal intelligence and 5 eyes against PLAINTIFF.

XX. Furthermore, JANET NAPOLITANO referenced ICE (as another name for meth) on February 2nd, 2011 thereby connecting that meeting of the minds on February 2nd, 2011 to “trade is in the offing” and the go ahead to airport plan made on 09/27/2010. There is talk about PLAINTIFF’S grandma’s “gown” thereby using USA PATRIOT ACT because of FINANCIAL TERRORISM. The most important aspect of this email was that the DEFENDANTS’ ‘offing’ plan and conspiracy was officially sanctioned and approved of in this email and the “go ahead” to ‘offing’ plan was granted thereby initiating a plan of domestic and international terrorism with the phrase “go ahead to airport.” This was in complete violation of: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act; This was in complete violation of: 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3), 42 U.S.C. §1986, 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion).

XX. About three weeks after granting “the offing airport conspiracy plan” alleged in the previous paragraphs, HILLARY CLINTON and HUMA ABEDIN had an email³⁵ on 10/19/2010 that talked about the specific facts of: “an American man being convicted,” “a deep plan of an assault,” INDIA, spies, a cash amount of around $25,000 (allegedly being given by a foreign intelligence service), and, most importantly and relevantly, “having returned to a location or being forced to go to a location.”

XX. In light of the previous paragraph and DC-Doublespeak, the amount PLAINTIFF wired in FINANCIAL TERRORISM was $26,000+, which is damn near close to the $25,000 talked about in the article. The $26,000+ was given to PLAINTIFF from his grandfather, who was not a spy, but was a home builder with only a second grade or so education. PLAINTIFF was not given his money by a foreign intelligence service. See: Financial Terrorism.

XX. In conjunction with the two previous paragraphs, PLAINTIFF alleges that American INTEL conveyed, falsely believed to be true, or intentionally fabricated a falsity that PLAINTIFF had malicious intentions in which PLAINTIFF talked about certain things in Peachy Miami, Victoria Flight, and Sewanee Sabotage but not once did PLAINTIFF take any meaningful step into making talk into a reality in which American INTEL and State were willfully blind to the truth.

XX. The problem with DEFENDANTS' manner of talking (DC double-speak) is that material facts that serve as exculpatory evidence get omitted, which only then reinforces a lie in DEFENDANTS minds because pre-conceived double-speak and agenda/plans refuses to acknowledge the existence of exculpatory truth or valid exceptions; these factors contribute to enabling and furthering obstruction of justice through routine Constitutional Violations. PLAINTIFF factually explained all of this exculpatory truth in the previous sections and all of it was omitted and willfully and intentionally ignored because DEFENDANTS had a specific agenda/plan in mind and needed a peon/slave to make their plans happen. They chose PLAINTIFF. Then this is when 18 USC §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice) violations occur because material omissions and exculpatory evidence are not considered because they cease to exist in double-speak; especially when you have DEFENDANTS that are so power hungry and have a preset agenda in mind that they're willing to destroy an innocent autistic man's life in their pursuit of power, agenda, and money. DEFENDANTS violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion).

XX. In a way, Operation Offing was a sting operation, which brings up the following: "If the government's conduct in the investigation through a sting operation is so active that its conduct fabricated elements of the offense, it might be considered a violation of due process to prosecute the defendant." U.S. v. Steinhorn, 739 F. Supp. 268, 271 (D. Md. 1990).

XX. HILLARY CLINTON sent an email three days later talks about INDIA when DEFENDANTS on 10/22/2010: "India Bill wraps up his visit to Inda today; hgopes to steer Menon to a better place on nuclear liability."³⁶ PLAINTIFF can't make sense of this one at this time, but it is relevant, and PLAINTIFF is including it just in case; but PLAINTIFF is making the allegation it could apply since they're talking about INDIA and steering someone to a right direction (through RICO). DEFENDANTS violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion).

XX. HILLARY CLINTON and HUMA ABEDIN then sent emails on 10/27/2010³⁷ & 10/28/2010³⁸ that respectively talked about “Planes,” “Chicago,” “Britain,” and “Bombs.” The purpose of talking about it this way was to obstruct justice and utilize the USA PATRIOT ACT, signal intelligence, and gain in-personam-jurisdiction for their plot in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 against PLAINTIFF’S Constitutional Interests when PLAINTIFF posed no legitimate threat at the time in which exculpatory evidence was intentionally omitted and not included. In ANARCHY, PLAINTIFF established he did not have a copy of the Anarchist Cookbook from October 2008, which was exactly two years prior to this email being sent, PLAINTIFF, at no time in the entirety of PLAINTIFF’S existence, purchased any bomb making materials, and PLAINTIFF took absolutely no substantial step on committing any act of terrorism at this time. Furthermore, unknown DEFENDANTS reported that explosions were heard when PLAINTIFF’S home burned down in May 2010—what PLAINTIFF can allege on a good faith basis is that PLAINTIFF didn’t burn down his home but PLAINTIFF is willing to allege unknown DEFENDANTS falsely alleged that PLAINTIFF made a bomb to burn down his home and utilized that fabricated evidence. DEFENDANTS had no probable cause to utilize the USA PATRIOT ACT against PLAINTIFF at this time. DEFENDANTS violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion).

XX. “Trade is in the offing” is necessarily obstruction of justice. It is a thing that tends to influence as a court could not hear a claim against PLAINTIFF unless their jurisdiction gets extended beyond national jurisdictional limits. If there is no jurisdiction, there is no ability to bring or have a claim heard in court.

XX. Jeffrey Feltman emailed William Burns and Jake Sullivan on 10/01/2010 in which the email said: “Ops center just called us to ask for HbJ’s mobile phone number for [CENSORED] wants to call him.” Jacob Sullivan forwarded the email to Hillary Clinton. From this moment on the State Department operations center, CIA, Jake Sullivan, and Hillary Clinton all have HbJ’s personal cell phone to further the conspiracy. PLAINTIFF is alleging that from 10/01/2010 through 03/11/2011, Jake Sullivan, unknown officers in the CIA and State Department operations center, and Hillary Clinton personally called HbJ on his personal cell phone over the wires to further the mail and wire fraud perpetuated against PLAINTIFF in “trade is in the offing” and further the 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), 18 U.S.C. §241; 42 U.S.C. 1985(2) and 42 U.S.C. 1985(3) conspiracy against PLAINTIFF.

XX. On 12/11/2010, HUMA ABEDIN, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, HILLARY CLINTON, WILLIAMS BURNS, were all privy to an email³⁹ that talked about the IC (Intelligence Community), Sec of Defense Robert Gates, “This note is to give you a brief update on “homework” that is emerging from the New START resolution of ratification, which will have to be completed before the Treaty can enter into force,” “the IC informed us this week that they have completed a first draft, which we’ve been reviewing. I believe this report will be completed in good time for EIF. 2. Brief, separate Presidential certifications on telemetry and missile defense issues will have to be completed before EIF; they are dependent on the exact form and content of the final resolution of ratification. State L informs me that it will not be a long drafting process to draw up these certifications, once they know what’s in the final resolution” and this little section right here: “3. The Defense Department will owe two reports, one on the Conventional Prompt Global Strike Program and one on the two-stage Ground-Based Interceptor (GBI). These reports will have to be provided prior to EIF, although they are not currently linked up to Presidential certifications. I understand from talking to OSD that they plan to have these reports completed so that SecDef Gates can review them prior to his departure on December 20. Once interagency clearance is in hand for each of these items In terms of interagency momentum however, we believe that we are in good shape to be prepared for entry into force. Please let me know if you have any questions, and thank you once again—a thousand times—for your help and support on New START Treaty ratification.”

XX. In light of the previous paragraph, PLAINTIFF alleges that is another email about the “offing.” When the media reports about “New Start,” they really only talk about from the missile defense way. What gets ignored or swept under the rug is telemetry defense issues. How the CIA/DoD/FBI/DHS can access computers from anywhere around the world and how they can do their “predictive” behavior analysis. The CIA/FBI/DHS et al. had to give a report to the President in which they would certify why actions should be undertaken against PLAINTIFF in “the offing,” which of course, would necessarily rely on perjured testimony, fabricated and misleading narratives, wire fraud, RICO Acts, etc. PLAINTIFF alleges that the “his report” discussed in the email included a report about PLAINTIFF that discovery would produce. As a reminder: 1) False Identification—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 2) Peachy Miami—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 3) Sewanee Sabotage—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 4) Trespass Incident #3—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 5) This Side of the Street—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 6) METH—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL. The Devil Incarnate (Rebecca Wetherbee)—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 7) Victoria Flight—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 8) Anarchy—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL. Every single one of those are drenched in illegal, unconstitutional, and RICO racketeering activity. Now when they talk about “Homework” above, PLAINTIFF is alleging they are referring to The Roof, The Roof is on Fire. American INTEL and/or DoD murdered PLAINTIFF’S beloved cat, Sparky. PLAINTIFF is alleging that “State L” is actually referring to the State Department/Embassy in London or State Legal department—those two are the most plausible explanation as these are the following countries that start with the letter 'L' obtained from the State Department: Laos, Latvia, Lebanon, Lesotho, Lew Chew (Loochoo)* (Japan-ish), Liberia, Libya, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Luxembourg. So part of the certification would be that that would falsely prosecute PLAINTIFF for burning down his home because there were "reports of explosions" and they wanted to frame PLAINTIFF with all of the necessarily compromised listed incidents above as being the originator. Then with the previous emails involving a "bomb," "plane," and "Chicago," it creates enough fabricated materially misleading narratives that they wanted to utilize against PLAINTIFF. Then you have: "one on the two-stage Ground-Based Interceptor (GBI)."—right, so this is the "offing" in which there was ground based interception of PLAINTIFF with GBI (Great Britain Intelligence) in London-Heathrow in which it was one of two stages between London and Dulles.

XX. Under National Organization for Women, Inc. v. Joseph Scheidler. 510 U.S. 249 (1994), "RICO does not require proof that either the racketeering enterprise or the predicate acts of racketeering in § 1962(c) were motivated by an economic purpose. Nowhere in either § 1962(c) or in § 1961's definitions of "enterprise" and "pattern of racketeering activity" is there any indication that such a motive is required. While arguably an enterprise engaged in interstate or foreign commerce would have a profit-seeking motive, § 1962(c)'s language also includes enterprises whose activities "affect" such commerce. Webster's Third New International Dictionary defines "affect" as "to have a detrimental influence on"; and an enterprise surely can have such an influence on commerce without having its own profit-seeking motives. The use of the term "enterprise" in subsections (a) and (b), where it is arguably more tied in with economic motivation, also does not lead to the inference of an economic motive requirement in subsection (c). In subsections (a) and (b), an "enterprise" is an entity acquired through illegal activity or the money generated from illegal activity: the victim of the activity. By contrast, the "enterprise" in subsection (c) connotes generally the vehicle through which the unlawful pattern of racketeering activity is committed. Since it is not being acquired, it need not have a property interest that can be acquired nor an economic motive for engaging in illegal activity; it need only be an association in fact that engages in a pattern of racketeering activity. Nor is an economic motive requirement supported by the congressional statement of findings that prefaces RICO and refers to activities that drain billions of dollars from America's economy... since 1984 amendments broadened the focus of RICO prosecutions from those association-in-fact enterprises that exist "for the purpose of maintaining operations directed toward an economic goal" to those that are "directed toward an economic or other identifiable goal." In addition, the statutory language is unambiguous, and there is no clearly expressed intent to the contrary in the legislative history that would warrant a different construction... Section 1962(c) makes it unlawful "for any person employed by or associated with any enterprise engaged in, or the activities of which affect, interstate or foreign commerce, to conduct or participate, directly or indirectly, in the conduct of such enterprise's affairs through a pattern of racketeering activity or collection of unlawful debt." Section 1961(1) defines "pattern of racketeering activity" to include conduct that is "chargeable" or "indictable" under a host of state and federal laws. RICO broadly defines "enterprise" in § 1961(4) to "includ[e] any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other legal entity, and any union or group of individuals associated in fact although not a legal entity." Nowhere in either § 1962(c) or the RICO definitions in § 1961 is there any indication that an economic motive is required."

XX. American INTEL'S identifiable goals in "the offing" had three core elements: 1) increase in economic trade, 2) telemetry defense/counter-terrorism purposes, and 3) intentional and wanton violation of constitutional rights eroding the People's liberty. Motherfuckers murdered PLAINTIFF'S cat on fabricated evidence and racketeering. 9 different examples in which American INTEL wanted to erase the lines of constitutionally protected activity to go from somewhat questionable to illegal. The privacy inside your home? Gone. The curtilage outside your home? Gone. Your ability to defend yourself? Gone. The ability to question? Gone. To have meaningful conversations? Gone. To have a divergent view? Gone. To always be under their microscope? Yes. Therefore, there exists an association-in-fact and an enterprise under 18 U.S.C. §1962(c) and 18 U.S.C. §1961(4) amongst DEFENDANTS that had a defined purpose in which they would stop at nothing. American INTEL may not have caused An Anchor and a Pitchfork, but it was in their interest to allow it to happen not truly understanding that what was in their interest was to meaningfully talk to PLAINTIFF and not do to PLAINTIFF what they did and would allow to happen to PLAINTIFF.

XX. Under National Organization for Women, Inc. v. Joseph Scheidler. 510 U.S. 249 (1994), "The phrase "The "enterprise" referred to in subsections (a) and (b) is thus something acquired through the use of illegal activities or by money obtained from illegal activities. The enterprise in these subsections is the victim of unlawful activity and may very well be a "profit-seeking" entity that represents a property interest and may be acquired. But the statutory language in subsections (a) and (b) does not mandate that the enterprise be a "profit-seeking" entity; it simply requires that the enterprise be an entity that was acquired through illegal activity or the money generated from illegal activity. By contrast, the "enterprise" in subsection (c) connotes generally the vehicle through which the unlawful pattern of racketeering activity is committed, rather than the victim of that activity. Subsection (c) makes it unlawful for "any person employed by or associated with any enterprise... to conduct or participate . . . in the conduct of such enterprise's affairs through a pattern of racketeering activity...." Consequently, since the enterprise in subsection (c) is not being acquired, it need not have a property interest that can be acquired nor an economic motive for engaging in illegal activity; it need only be an association in fact that engages in a pattern of racketeering activity. Nothing in subsections (a) and (b) directs us to a contrary conclusion. We also think that the quoted statement of congressional findings is a rather thin reed upon which to base a requirement of economic motive neither expressed nor, we think, fairly implied in the operative sections of the Act. As we said in H. J. Inc. v. Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., 492 U. S. 229, 248 (1989): "The occasion for Congress' action was the perceived need to combat organized crime. But Congress for cogent reasons chose to enact a more general statute, one which, although it had organized crime as its focus, was not limited in application to organized crime." The parallel to the present case is apparent. Congress has not, either in the definitional section or in the operative language, required that an "enterprise" in § 1962(c) have an economic motive. We therefore hold that petitioners may maintain this action if respondents conducted the enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity. The questions whether respondents committed the requisite predicate acts, and whether the commission of these acts fell into a pattern, are not before us. We hold only that RICO contains no economic motive requirement."

XX. Therefore, at least from the American DEFENDANTS perspective, these are at a minimum some of the following people that were an association who were in an enterprise that would meet the purposes stipulated under SCOTUS in National Organization for Women, Inc. v. Joseph Scheidler. 510 U.S. 249 (1994): ROBERT MUELLER, LEON PANETTA, HUMA ABEDIN, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, HILLARY CLINTON, WILLIAMS BURNS, JEFFREY FELTMAN, JAKE SULLIVAN, ANDREW MCCABE, JEH JOHNSON, PETER STRZOK, and unknown White House Lawyers (WHCounsel/NSC Legal Counsel/USTR General Counsel), unknown DOD Lawyers (OGC, Jt Staff, CoComs, Services, JAGs), unknown DOJ Lawyers (OLC, OSG, Litigating Divisions-Civ., Crim, OIL, NSD), unknown IC Lawyers (DNI, CIA), and DHS Lawyers in which they all worked together (hooray for reaching across the aisle and across multiple agencies—talk about unity! lol) to violate: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1512, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1513, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1951, Section 504; Title VI; PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

XX. Furthermore, to credibly alleged the actual domestic terrorism by American INTEL and British INTEL that took place between 2008-2015, one of the most damning piece of circumstantial evidence that proves DEFENDANTS connection to PLAINTIFF via email in which issues would only continue on in the future is the following email written on either 01/28/2011 or 1/29/2011 from HUMA ABEDIN to HILLARY CLINTON that said: “Person we discussed apparently holed up in LONDON and avoiding people.”⁴⁰ This is perfect in three ways to describe PLAINTIFF and only PLAINTIFF. First, DEFENDANTS are intelligent and competent enough know the difference between singular and plural; and well, it says an individual person and not persons so they’re only describing one individual.

Secondly, DEFENDANTS are continuing their obstruction in materially misrepresenting TRESPASS INCIDENT #3 in which DEFENDANTS can describe it as PLAINTIFF having “holed up” in his room and was avoiding people in his room when he was in isolation. Furthermore and in addition to the previous point, PLAINTIFF was going to be holed up (as in the homophone of HOLD up) by DEFENDANTS in LONDON by DEFENDANTS on purpose when they intentionally held PLAINTIFF there by committing international and domestic terrorism on PLAINTIFF. You may be thinking that this is a silly distinction and PLAINTIFF says to the Court NAY NAY!. Luckily PLAINTIFF just happily caught this (See: above) during the early part of his investigation and having much like a Vinny moment in My Cousin Vinny showing that homophones and CLINTONS do truly matter in Intel based on the following snapchat by PLAINTIFF from a book either written by JAMES CLAPPER or JEH JOHNSON. Finally, there is the specific location of LONDON. Out of all the places HILLARY CLINTON could have said, she specifically chose LONDON in which “the offing” took place in London. This violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, Title VI, PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

XX. On February 1st, 2011, HILLARY CLINTON, HILDA L. SOLIS, ERIC HOLDER, JANET NAPOLITANO, and ROBERT MUELLER (probably LEON PANETTA was there too) were all in the same room together just about one month or so before “trade is in the offing” occurred. PLAINTIFF alleges HILLARY CLINTON, HILDA L. SOLIS, ERIC HOLDER, JANET NAPOLITANO, ROBERT MUELLER had a meeting of the minds concerning “trade is in the offing” all violated 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1512; 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1513, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1951, Section 504, Title VI, PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

XX. In the previous paragraph and doing DC double-speak, the meeting was about “the President’s Interagency Task Force to Monitor and Combat Trafficking in Persons.” Wow, PLAINTIFF, so those DEFENDANTS knew that Human Trafficking was wrong. But PLAINTIFF wants to draw your attention to the actual name itself. So there is a coordinated effort between DOJ, DHS, FBI, State, and Labor (and probably NSA and CIA was in the crowd). Part of the purpose of was to MONITOR. You would monitor someone via signal intelligence through their cell phones! Okay? Okay. Now take the phrase “combat trafficking” what else could that mean. Say would DEFENDANTS like to MONITOR a falsely accused “combatant” that would be going overseas? WHY YES! It is DC double-speak. So this task force has two purposes—actual human trafficking and monitoring PLAINTIFF and establishing precedent by using PLAINTIFF based on perjured testimony, fabricated narratives, and coercion undertaken against PLAINTIFF. So let PLAINTIFF have HILLARY CLINTON describe the purpose:

XX. On February 1st, 2011, HILLARY CLINTON: “This is, as you probably saw on your schedules, the President’s Interagency Task Force to Monitor and Combat Trafficking In Persons. This is mandated by the Congress because it is an issue of such great and grave importance that Congress wanted as many members of the Cabinet and the heads of agencies to come together to discuss it once a year...Anywhere from 12 to 27 million people are currently held in forced labor, bonded labor, or forced prostitution. That's equivalent to all the people who live in London at the low end and the combined populations of New York City, San Francisco, and Washington, D.C. at the high end." Now why the heck would HILLARY CLINTON chose London of all places when talking about human trafficking in the United States? Do you know where actual human trafficking takes place in America? On the border in Texas, California, New Mexico, and Arizona. HILLARY CLINTON doesn't say Los Angeles or San Diego in California that are impacted by immigration and human trafficking, HILLARY CLINTON says San Francisco (where the tech hub is in America) which is more than 6 hours by car.

XX. On February 1st, 2011, HILLARY CLINTON continues: "The victims range from the men and women enslaved in fields, factories, and brothels to the girls and boys whose childhoods have been shattered and stolen, to the parents whose children have vanished. Whether they are far from home or in their own villages, they need and deserve our help and the help of the world... Today, I hope we can hear how we will take this work to the next level, how we can ensure that trafficking is an issue we continue to address within our agencies and throughout our government, and I hope we'll take on another important task – ending the practice of punishing the victims of human trafficking. For all the millions who are held in servitude, fewer than 50,000 have been officially identified as victims. Too many others are either ignored, or even worse, treated as criminals. So we need to do more to identify the true victims of human trafficking and help restore them to participation in our society... I just want to kick off by describing several of our State Department initiatives. First and foremost, we will publish another edition of our annual Trafficking in Persons Report. Some countries have been downgraded and may be downgraded again automatically from Tier 2 Watch List to Tier 3, because they have not taken steps adequately to address trafficking. Now, this is an uncomfortable position for them to be in and for us. And as I travel around talking to heads of state and governments and ministers, they watch this very closely, and they often raise questions about their position on this list... And finally, we are working with many partners to develop a voluntary international code of conduct for private security service providers. Companies that sign the code commit to not engage in human trafficking and report allegations to competent authorities. To date, nearly 60 private security companies have signed the code, including many that contract with the U.S. Government."⁴¹

XX. On February 1st, 2011, HILLARY CLINTON admits there is "several" State Department Initiatives; one of which is "trade is in the offing." Then PLAINTIFF doesn't fully understand what Tier system they are talking about, it could mean one of a few things: it could mean they are talking about how PLAINTIFF would undertake steps between different terminals in which tiers are the same thing as terminals, which makes sense to PLAINTIFF, but PLAINTIFF can't remember what terminals he was at in London and it was uncomfortable for PLAINTIFF because PLAINTIFF was prevented from leaving. The Prime Ministers and Heads of State (David Cameron, Singh, the Qatari sheiks, etc.) would want to do what HILLARY CLINTON wanted and their positions in how to execute the "offing" against PLAINTIFF. AT&T would report PLAINTIFF for trafficking via signal intelligence. PLAINTIFF alleges HILLARY CLINTON, HILDA L. SOLIS, ERIC HOLDER, JANET NAPOLITANO, 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

XX. On February 1st, 2011, ATTORNEY GENERAL HOLDER got a chance to speak as well: “Well, I apologize to everyone for being late. Bob (inaudible) had given me a task that took a little longer than I anticipated. (Laughter.) But thank you, Secretary Clinton. It’s an honor and a privilege to join my colleagues to mark the many breakthroughs that we’ve made over the past year and the momentum that we have generated for the year ahead in our fight to end human trafficking. Now this past year, and for the third year in a row, the Department of Justice has prosecuted more human trafficking cases than ever before. This modern day slavery is an affront to human dignity. And each and every case that we prosecute should send a powerful signal that human trafficking will not be tolerated in or by the United States... But we have more to do, and we have farther to go. On the 10th anniversary of the Trafficking Victims Protection Act last fall, I committed that the Justice Department would be launching a human trafficking enhanced enforcement initiative to take our counter-trafficking enforcement efforts to the next level by building on the most effective tool in our anti-trafficking arsenal: partnerships. Well, today, I am pleased to announce the launch of this initiative, which will streamline federal criminal investigations and prosecutions of human trafficking. The Departments of Homeland Security and Department of Labor have collaborated closely with the Justice Department in this historic effort, and I want to thank Secretaries Napolitano and Solis for their expertise and for their shared commitment... Now, as part of this fight against human trafficking, specialized anti-trafficking coordination teams, known as ACT teams, will be convened in a number of pilot districts nationwide. Under the leadership of the highest-ranking federal law enforcement officials in the district, these teams will bring together federal agents and prosecutors across agency lines to combat human trafficking threats, dismantle human trafficking networks, and bring traffickers to justice. The launch of these ACT teams will enable us to leverage the assets and the expertise of each federal enforcement agency more effectively than ever before. But we will not rest until this unprecedented collaboration translates into the results that matter most, the liberation of victims and the prosecution of traffickers...”⁴²

XX. PLAINTIFF alleges in the previous paragraph that the ‘BOB’ ERIC HOLDER is referring to was indeed ROBERT MUELLER. The task that ROBERT MUELLER had given him was looking over “trade is the offing” because PLAINTIFF had previously canceled (to the best of his knowledge) his previous plan and it would take a while from the time PLAINTIFF canceled to the time PLAINTIFF actually went to London. PLAINTIFF wants to make a specific allegation here. PLAINTIFF made a joke involving REBECCA WETHERBEE (next section) and that concerned human trafficking on top of the Alvarez story. If you note ERIC HOLDER'S exact phrasing, they had an initiative to take COUNTER trafficking (counter-terrorism) enforcement to the next level (i.e. next stop or stop in an airport: LONDON) in which their most effective tool was partnerships with British Intel, Indian Intel, and Qatar Airways. So ERIC HOLDER wanted to prosecute PLAINTIFF on fabricated evidence and materially misleading evidence in which they knowingly have used perjured testimony before. Then their ACT team would PILOT (i.e. aircrafts and pilots) PLAINTIFF to DC in which the highest ranking officials in America would prosecute PLAINTIFF for having arrived in Dulles. ERIC HOLDER, JANET NAPOLITANO, HILLARY CLINTON, LEON PANETTA, AND ROBERT MUELLER all violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF'S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

XX. On February 1st, 2011, SECRETARY NAPOLITANO: Well, thank you. And thank you, Secretary, for hosting this meeting. We are, indeed, proud to play a strong role in combating human trafficking as demonstrated by ICE's arrest last week at the JFK airport of a human trafficker who was one of its top ten most wanted persons. This past year, ICE, working with DOJ, initiated its highest ever number of cases with a nexus to human trafficking. Our success in combating human trafficking continues to be rooted in strong partnerships. This includes not only the partnership represented around this table today, but also state, local, tribal, international, nongovernmental, and private sector partners who see this problem every day on the ground... This is a fight that all of us around this table are committed to do. So I look forward to continuing on this work with my Cabinet colleagues and on all of our partners in order to combat this terrific problem.⁴³

XX. On February 1st, 2011, ERIC HOLDER/JANET NAPOLITANO: To establish that Jones and Patronelli violated 21 U.S.C. § 843(b), the government must prove the knowing or intentional use of a communication device to commit, cause, or facilitate the commission of a narcotics offense. See United States v. Phillips, 664 F.2d 971, 1032 (5th Cir. 1981), cert. denied, 457 U.S. 1136, 102 S.Ct. 2965, 73 L.Ed.2d 1354 (1982). It shall be unlawful for any person knowingly or intentionally to use any communication facility in committing or in causing or facilitating the commission of any act or acts constituting a felony under any provision of this subchapter or subchapter II of this chapter.

JANET NAPOLITANO is talking about DHS' playing a strong role in regards to domestic "enemy" "combatants." It is a TERRific or TERRoist problem. So remember in METH that PLAINTIFF alleged that he was framed with bags of Meth in his dorm room Junior year, that is exactly what they referring to here. So the planted bags of Meth in METH was being used to prosecute PLAINTIFF. They talked about local partnerships so PLAINTIFF is alleging that Sewanee PD and Franklin County Sheriff's office were in on the scheme against PLAINTIFF in METH in which it was the FBI and DHS that planted drugs in PLAINTIFF'S room in METH. Do you know what that also gives an inference to as well? If they were willing to plant false accusations against PLAINTIFF in METH, wouldn't it be in their interest to further the malicious and false accusations against PLAINTIFF in Big Brother Big Sister in which they intentionally set up PLAINTIFF with the Alvarez's for Nat Geo and MAP purposes? I believe so. International partners would include the United Kingdom and Germany. Kristina Khomova and Vera Pochtarev were probably snitches as well as Thao Bui and Ashley Macon. JANET NAPOLITANO violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF'S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

XX. The Fifth Circuit has ruled, twice, that a defense of governmental misconduct, which is separate and distinct from 'Entrapment,' may bar a criminal prosecution on due process grounds in United States v. Marcello, 508 F. Supp. 586 (E.D. La. 1981) (holding: governmental overreaching presents a cognizable and legitimate defense) and United States v. Graves, 556 F.2d 1319 (5th Cir. 1977), the court ruling that "[t]here is still available in appropriate cases a governmental misconduct defense grounded on the dual principles of due process and the supervisory powers of the court, but such a defense does not fall within the narrow confines of 'entrapment' as that term has been explicated in Russell and Hampton."

XX. It is known that the Emir of Qatar visited Washington DC in February 2011, exactly one month prior to "trade is in the offing." Mail and wires were used to call Emir to come from Qatar to Washington DC in furtherance of the mail and wire fraud committed against PLAINTIFF and to further the following violations and conspiracy against PLAINTIFF in which they affirmed their plans to undertake their actions against PLAINTIFF in violation of 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF'S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

XX. On 02/20/2011, there was some meeting with senior Qatari govt' officials (Minister of the Interior and Minister of Commerce) and the State Department. Part of the "good session" included talking about issues “from near term ‘tactical’ concerns.” PLAINTIFF alleges the near term tactical concern was about PLAINTIFF and “trade is in the offing.” Mails and/or wires were used to call the Qatari Minister of the Interior and the Qatari Minister of Commerce, which is exactly in his domain of “trade is in the offing,” in which the mail and wire fraud committed against PLAINTIFF was furthered as well as violations of 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights against PLAINTIFF, as well as furthering RICO Enterprise 1.

XX. Therefore, any business that concerns BOEING and Qatar is necessarily included in “trade is in the offing.”

XX. HAROLD HONGJU KOH wrote on January 6th, 2011 to Hillary Clinton: “Hooray! That was an unbelievably complex and difficult meeting, but you are an absolutely amazing lawyer. You deftly got us to every position we have been trying to get to for months. And you were utterly forthright in speaking up for Principle and the Rule of Law. As always, I am so proud to know you and to work with you. Harold Hongju Koh The Legal Adviser.”⁴⁴ Now PLAINTIFF is arguing that in this meeting HAROLD HONGJU KOH spoke of, they were talking about legally justifying “trade is in the offing.” The only way HILLARY CLINTON and HAROLD HONGJU KOH could have got themselves to the position they were trying to get to for months in approving “trade is in the offing” against PLAINTIFF is the FACT that fabricated material evidence and fabricated materially misleading evidence was justified and relied upon. PLAINTIFF showed that with the cases he presented and argued, HILLARY CLINTON, ROBERT MUELLER, ERIC HOLDER, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, could not have reached the decision they reached. So HILLARY CLINTON, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, and unknown State and CIA officials violated 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

XX. In January 2011, HILLARY CLINTON said the following remarks to the Embassy while in Qatar--“How can we work more closely and effectively with the United States?” Others, still, working to enhance bilateral security. Still others, working to strengthen trade between our countries. More than 120 American companies already operate in Qatar. Two-way trade with the

United States has nearly tripled since 2003, and it even grew 40 percent, despite the global recession... And I hope you'll think about new ways we can do it even better... So, before the planes fly away, we are going to have a chance -- I'd like to say hello to all of you. If you kind of just -- I will start down there, and just come on up, and I will meet as many of you as I can before I head to the airport.”⁴⁵

XX. HILLARY CLINTON reaffirmed the plans in Qatar at the United States Embassy in which the employees of the United States Embassy in Qatar and Qatari representatives would ensure “trade in the offing” as she made a specific reference to increased trade and that there would be new ways they could do EVEN BETTER. HILLARY CLINTON violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights. These statements directly tie Hillary Clinton, unknown others in working in strengthening trade between the United States and Qatar, and Qatar in “trade is in the offing.” There goes HILLARY CLINTON talking about PLANES flying away (before PLAINTIFF can board) in which there was a rare development in the “trade is in the offing” email and here she is talking about how they are going to have the chance to do something. This is furtherance of 18 U.S.C. 1962(d) and 42 U.S.C. 1985 (3) in “the offing.” Furthermore, two names are included: Joseph LeBaron and Mahmoud Kandathil (ph). Next,

XX. A CNN Article on 02/16/2011 stated the following: There was an email Hillary Clinton received on 02/16/2011 that talked about her and her foreign policy that was written by CNN, the following are excerpts from it: “Clinton worked the phones the whole ride down to Haiti, talking to Defense Secretary Robert Gates, CIA Director Leon Panetta, National Security Adviser Tom Donilon, and British Foreign Secretary William Hague,⁴⁶ among others, about Egypt... It was a fallout she herself had warned of just two weeks earlier. In a dramatic speech in Qatar, Clinton warned Arab leaders their regimes would “sink in the sand” if they did not reform their autocratic governments and create opportunities for their young citizens⁴⁷... It is perhaps her toughest test yet as the nation's top diplomat. For two years, she has traveled the globe, talking about the need for countries to become more democratic, more open to technology, more open to the demands of the young... There is never a meeting where she is not the best prepared, there is never a meeting where she has not thought just about this meeting itself, but about what follows this meeting," said Kurt Campbell, assistant secretary of state for East Asia. "There is just an incredible mastery of the details. It's not just the legal brief -- you have to figure out how the world works, how it functions, how the issues are integrated."... "Hillary Clinton brought much-needed good balance and judgment to counter some of the starry-eyed dreamers surrounding the president, who tend to reinforce his worst instincts about how fast any given situation can change," said Aaron David Miller, a Mideast negotiator for six secretaries of state and author of "The Much Too Promised Land," about the history of failed U.S. efforts in the Mideast peace process... The last few weeks have illustrated the complexities of diplomatic sausage-making inside the U.S. government, but since taking office, Clinton has kept her head down, proving herself to be a team player and tireless defender of the administration. She has been deferential to Obama in both public and private, never suggesting in any way she had an agenda other than his. "It's amazing that when she became secretary, every reporter in Washington was waiting for one inch of daylight (between her and Obama). That one inch of daylight would become one mile of daylight, which would then become a chasm of daylight," said Sandy Berger, former national security adviser in the Clinton administration and a close friend and adviser of Hillary Clinton's. "The fact there is no distance between them, in a town where division and conflict is the name of the game, I think is an enormous tribute to her... While acknowledging Clinton's considerable efforts to restore America's image, some critics have charged she has done little to consolidate these gains into advancing major foreign policy issues... Smart power means focusing on a package of national security challenges that don't fit easily into classic foreign policy boxes -- like women's empowerment, human trafficking, poverty, disease, internet freedom and climate change. These challenges, Clinton has argued, will do more to shape the 21st century than conflicts between states."

XX. HILLARY CLINTON, LEON PANETTA, TOM DONILON, WILLIAM HAGUE, ALISTAIR BURT, were not just talking about Egypt in which they were talking about PLAINTIFF and "Trade is the offing." They used the wires to further RICO ENTERPRISE 1 and to wire fraud against PLAINTIFF in violation of 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF'S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.. If ALISTAIR BURT was not on the call in this instance, then there were numerous times that WILLIAM HAGUE had provided ALISTAIR BURT and vice-a-versa information about "trade is in the offing" through the wires in violation of the aforementioned crimes that furthered RICO Enterprise 1 as well as violating the aforementioned crimes in An Anchor and a Pitchfork.

XX. Anne-Marie Slaughter sent an email on 03/06/2011 in which the content of which is completely censored except for the subject line of "Thank You." Hillary Clinton sent a response back that said: "it was my pleasure—and delight to meet her and all your family. And kudos to your tech trip. Only good reports."

XX. On March 08th, 2011. Tony Blair's office sends Jake Sullivan and Hillary Clinton and Huma Abedin a censored email.

XX. Jeffrey D. Feltman emailed Jacob Sullivan in which Jacob Sullivan was informed “that Hamad Bin Jassim (of Qatar) (HbJ) and Jeffrey D. Feltman had talked about Arabs and No Fly Zones.” Jacob Sullivan forwarded the email to Hillary Clinton at 11:05 a.m on 03/10/2011. This occurred either on the same day or day prior to in which PLAINTIFF alleges that it confirms HbJ was in on “trade is in the offing” because PLAINTIFF would not be allowed to fly in their zones.

XX. On 03/10/2011, Jacob Sullivan emails Hillary Clinton and Huma Abedin about how Jeffrey D. Feltman “initiated notifications on the embassy suspicion so we can say we are “in the process.” The rest of this should work. Note that we are not “suspending our relationship.” TWO GENERAL FRAMES: with a question that is posed “Where do you stand on the No Fly Zone. Below some censored portions is the following list: “UNSCR, Arms embargo, asset freezes, travel bans, humanitarian action, outreach to the opposition, active planning for a range of contingencies, awacs 24-7 surveillance, suspending embassy operations.”

XX. PLAINTIFF is alleging this was in reference to PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS/State had PLAINTIFF under 24/7 surveillance at all time of the incident and did nothing to stop it. They talk about asset freezes like PLAINTIFF being frozen to prevented from flying, travel bans in which PLAINTIFF was “banned” from flying in Qatar and British zones, outreach to the opposition in which Qatar Airways reached out to PLAINTIFF directing PLAINTIFF at all times, they had meticulously planned Miki’s Tea Party (far more than PLAINTIFF ever did in Peachy Miami), and most importantly, there were FRAMES as if PLAINTIFF had been FRAMED or prevented from leaving two locations.

XX. On March 10th, 2011, HILLARY CLINTON testified to Congress. It of course revolved around money and foreign policy. These are her remarks to Congress: “Thank you very much. I want to congratulate the Chairman upon assuming this important post at such a critical moment in world history, not just American history... I want to say a few words about these remarkable changes occurring across the Middle East [i.e. Qatar]. Yes, it’s exciting and it also presents very significant challenges to America’s position, to our security, and to our long-term interests...[In the context of middle east] I will be meeting with their transitional leaders, and I intend to convey strong support of the Obama Administration and the American people that we wish to be a partner in the important work that lies ahead, as they embark on a transition to a genuine democracy.”

XX: The very next sentence HILLARY CLINTON says after talking about a transition in the previous paragraph (The ‘Offing’ is a transition): “We know how difficult that will be. This is the kind of challenge that we have seen in other parts of the world. Some countries, such as most of those in the former Soviet Union and Eastern and Central Europe, navigated those challenges successfully; others have not.”⁴⁸ Yea of course it is a challenge if 4 governments are conspiring against you and you still attempt to travel and live on in your life.

XX Carrying on from HILLARY CLINTON’S March 10th, 2011 comments: “And this is an unfolding example of how we are using the combined assets of diplomacy, development, and defense to protect our interests and advance our values. This integrated approach is not just how we respond to crises. It is the most effective – and cost-effective – way to sustain and advance our security. And it is only possible with a budget that supports all the tools in our national security arsenal. Now, I want to join my voice to those of the Chairwoman, who has made it very clear that the American people have a right to be justifiably concerned about our national debt. I am, too. But I know that we have so many tough decisions that we're facing right now, that the American people also want us to be smart about the decisions we make and the investments that we are making in the future. Just two years ago, I asked that we renew our investment in development and diplomacy, and we are seeing tangible results... The FY 2012 budget is a budget that will allow us to continue pressing forward. We think it is a lean budget for lean times. I launched the first-ever Quadrennial Diplomacy and Development Review to help us maximize the impact of every dollar. We scrubbed this budget and we made painful but responsible cuts. We cut economic assistance to Central and Eastern Europe, to the Caucasus, to Central Asia. We cut development assistance to over 20 countries by more than half.”⁴⁹

XX. DING DING DING in regard to the previous paragraph. It is a TITLE VI retaliation as well. So not only would HILLARY CLINTON force PLAINTIFF into labor because he was of Yugoslavian/Balkan ancestry in which she further continued to retaliate against PLAINTIFF in violation of 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights. PLAINTIFF alleges that HILLARY CLINTON took her actions against the Governments of Serbia and North Macedonia in 2011 as an additional retaliatory measure against PLAINTIFF because HILLARY CLINTON, ROBERT MUELLER, JEH JOHNSON, LEON PANETTA, etc would rob, steal, and fraudulently conceal PLAINTIFF’S work and hated everything about PLAINTIFF in which innocent people would be harmed because of features that PLAINTIFF had no control over from birth whether that was his autism or his Yugoslavian nationality. As a reminder, Bill and Hillary Clinton bombed Serbia in 1999. So, the people of Serbia and North Macedonia experienced an economic harm because of Hillary Clinton’s retaliatory actions against PLAINTIFF that was fueled by her animus against autistic and/or Yugoslavian people. Therefore, PLAINTIFF will include things that would benefit the Serbian and North Macedonian people as part of PLAINTIFF’S restitution because the harm flows from “trade is in the offing.”

XX. HILLARY CLINTON continued on 03/10/2011: “Fourth, we are committed to making our foreign policy a force for domestic economic renewal. We work very hard on this to bring jobs back to the United States, to create more economic growth here at home. To give you one example, the eight open skies agreements we have signed over the last two years will open dozens of new markets to American carriers overseas. The Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, Madam Chairman, will support – which already supports 300,000 jobs, will see billions of dollars in new business. And I know that Chairwoman Granger calls that the economic engine of north Texas.... We have diplomatic relations with 190 countries. Having served in the Senate for eight years, I know what it's like to get a phone call when an American citizen somewhere is in trouble in one of those 190 countries. And I know what it's like to be told as Secretary of State that somebody's in trouble in a country where we don't have adequate diplomatic relations. We have political officers defusing crises, development officers expanding opportunity, and economic officers working to make deals for American business... Generations of Americans have grown up successful and safe because we've stepped up. We think that in the world today we have more than we can say grace over, but we are positioned to try to deal with it. And we cannot do it unless we remember that our national security depends not just on defense, but on diplomacy and development working together unlike anything we've ever done historically today, to really deliver on America's security, our interests, and our values.”⁵⁰

XX. On 03/11/2011, HILLARY CLINTON said at PRESIDENT'S EXPORT COUNCIL (PEC)(CEOS): “I hope that we can do more to encourage more small and medium-sized businesses. When I do travel, I try to do a commercial diplomacy event in many places. I was in Australia where we did an event with Caterpillar, John Deere, Harley Davidson, and GE. When I was in Russia, I visited the Boeing engineering facility in Moscow and witnessed firsthand the extraordinary cooperation, not only between Russians and Americans but between Moscow, Chicago, and Seattle...”⁵¹ First off, look at the name: PRESIDENT EXPORT. PLAINTIFF was exported and important from Chicago to London to Dulles. Hillary Clinton affirms that she was doing commercial diplomacy in my places and “trade is in the offing” can be commercial diplomacy, but ended up being corrupt commercial diplomacy. It affirms the GE indirectly benefitted from “trade is in the offing” as well as implicating Australia in “trade is in the offing.” So, any GE service or product is possible; however, PLAINTIFF will just limit it to locomotives and aviation for later on. Here is an interesting twist as there could be so many interpretations. Most, if not all, of United Airlines' Boeing 777-200s were powered by a General Electric GE90 engines. Now if the British and British INTEL needed plausible deniability that they tampered with the plane's GE90 engines, have the Aussies come in and do it. So PLAINTIFF will allege that if it wasn't American INTEL nor British INTEL, then it was the Aussies. The British and Aussies both, as PLAINTIFF discussions in the restitution section below, donated twice and three times as much to CGI in which they would have a financial interest in ensuring the outcome of “trade is in the offing.”

XX. HILLARY CLINTON continued on at PRESIDENT'S EXPORT COUNCIL (PEC)(CEOS) on March 11th, 2011: “One of my big pleas to the Congress in my testimony over the last two weeks was if you cut our budget, which of course we know everything will be cut, but if we cut our personnel, our biggest personnel load is in consular affairs. And when it comes to visa waivers, there are very strict standards that have to be met by the Department of Homeland Security. China, India, and Brazil do not meet them, and that's where a huge increase in visa applications are coming from.”⁵² PLAINTIFF alleges that Hillary Clinton caused some employees to be fired in consular affairs because they were fundamentally a part of “trade is in the offing.” Then Hillary Clinton says: India do not meet them and that is where a huge increase in visa applications are coming from. That refers to PLAINTIFF'S trip to the Indian Embassy and DHS (as well as CIA, FBI) undertaking the operation against PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF is alleging that two days afterwards, PHILIP J. CROWLEY (the assistant secretary of state for public affairs) resigned. PLAINTIFF is alleging that he got fired because of PLAINTIFF and “trade is in the offing.”

⁵² <https://2009-2017.state.gov/secretary/20092013clinton/rm/2011/03/158181.htm>

PLAINTIFF just said that India “does not meet them” and DHS meets them. Later on, Hillary Clinton at PRESIDENT’S EXPORT COUNCIL (PEC)(CEOS) says: “Senator Kerry and Senator McCain introduced bipartisan legislation in the Senate yesterday. We want to be able to fund those enterprise zones. We’re going to use some OPIC dollars, some ExIm support. We are looking at the full range of our tools, but nothing beats private sector investments. So we hope that even in the midst of the uncertainty people who are there will stay there (dulles, London, etc) and people who aren’t there will take a look at what we think will be a really promising market if we can get some of the burdens off of the consumers and the business sector.”⁵³ PLAINTIFF alleges this is absolutely in reference to PLAINTIFF and “trade is in the offing.” Now here is another thing PLAINTIFF is alleging: Since Smith v. Maryland in 1979, SCOTUS ruled there was no expectation of privacy of data held by third parties (for all intents and purposes); now instead of the cost being imposed on private parties like Alphabet, AT&T, Verizon, etc, what if the Government can come in with one fell swoop and not have the burden of forcing third parties to produce the data (i.e. Patriot Act) in which different foreign intelligence agencies can come in with one fell swoop and obtain the data in third parties to be an independent source in which they could all share data with no repercussions and especially no pesky thing called the 4th Amendment prohibiting unreasonable searches and seizures of documents held within third parties and foreign countries? That was part of the “trade is in the offing.” So that means Tech DEFENDANTS necessarily have a financial interest because it would decrease the cost they spend on production in litigation, litigation itself, etc in regards to data held and stored by Tech DEFENDANTS. The scheme works by this: say American Intel is tainted and American intel needed my documents to prosecute PLAINTIFF; they need the evidence; so how can they get it? well why not have the Brits without a warrant access Alphabet’s servers in the UK and in America in which the Brits give American Intel “untainted” evidence to be used against PLAINTIFF. That’s obstruction of justice. On top of that, they enrich themselves so it’s a win-win for DEFENDANTS with no liability to them as they have effectively ruined PLAINTIFF’S life in which no one would want to side with PLAINTIFF.

XX. On 03/11/2011, Hillary Clinton’s schedule consisted of: receiving a presidential daily brief; having a daily senior staff meeting at State; allegedly filming a tape for “Patrons of Diplomacy;” at 10:30 Hillary Clinton had Meeting w/ PRESIDENT’S EXPORT COUNCIL (PEC)(CEOS) (PLAINTIFF is alleging this is a meeting about PLAINTIFF); PLAINTIFF cannot account for HILLARY CLINTON in what she is doing between 11-12 at State seems to be like bullshit at the State Department on 03/11/2011; eventually, she would wind her way up to New York LaGuardia Airport; then around 7:45pm, she would arrive at the United Nations and then end up back at her private home in New York at 10pm.”

XX. Jumping a little back as this email is so important because of its applicability in different sections: on 02/18/2011: Huma Abedin wrote to HILLARY CLINTON: [Subject: last min note on abbas): DANIEL suggested the following idea: if we could get the Emir of Qatar (not HbJ) to immediately convene a meeting of the AL-Follow-up Committee in Doha for today or tommrow that would allow the arabs to consider and to try to further negotiate the package, and the committee would request the UNSC to delay a vote until Monday, that would give 72 hours for the P's to work with the US on the package."

What PLAINTIFF is alleging is since SCOTUS granted cert to Ashcroft v. al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011) in October 2010 and didn't decide it until May 2011, two months after "trade is in the offing" occurred, whomever this DANIEL they are referring to is, it shows and establishes the connection between ERIC HOLDER, SCOTUS, NEAL KATYAL, "trade is in the offing," in which SCOTUS would absolve Qatar and NEAL KATYAL, HAROLD KOH, and ERIC HOLDER and any other attorneys involved in "trade is in the offing" of the constitutional deprivations that occurred that they authorized to happen. Similarly, PLAINTIFF is alleging that HILLARY CLINTON, HUMA ABEDIN, "DANIEL," wanted to interact with the Emir of Qatar instead as to prevent PLAINTIFF from holding the Emir of Qatar liable in which it would be argued that he should be given head of state immunity under FSIA.

XX. The same day of the "trade is in the offing" occurs on 03/11/2011, Hillary Clinton goes to the UN and PLAINTIFF alleges she talked to Indian representatives, Qatar representatives, or British representatives about "trade is in the offing" in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 in which everyone she talked to has now become an accessory after the fact.

XX. As PLAINTIFF will allege and argue later, HBJ and the Emir both know that Qatar and Qatar Airways must "further negotiate the package" in which it means they are inducing PLAINTIFF to act in a certain way at London-Heathrow airport because package is referring to PLAINTIFF and they must necessarily talk to PLAINTIFF in order to commit legal fraud upon PLAINTIFF.

XX. Furthermore, when Huma Abedin wrote it would allow "P's to work with the US on the package" (note: package (singular) and not plural), it meant getting PETER STRZOK involved with "trade is in the offing."

XX. On 03/11/2011, CHERYL MILLS was privy to an email in which Nicole A. Willett sent the following email: "hang tight folks-waiting on availability from a few here before we lock in time, ideally before 12. After that Mary and others head into an afternoon of meetings. I am assuming we can do this on an open line given access issues for some involved unless anyone shouts." PLAINTIFF shouted and screamed at DULLES and the lock in time of 12 referred to the luncheon in the "trade is in the offing" email. Furthermore, if there are access issues, PLAINTIFF had access issues throughout his experience at London-Heathrow and Dulles in which DEFENDANTS had access to PLAINTIFF'S phone and had directed him to take the Flight to Dulles as previously alleged. PLAINTIFF alleges CHERYL MILLS violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF'S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

XX. Stephen Mull sent Cheryl Mills an email on 03/11/2011 at 5:57pm that said: [censored subject line] Has decided to quit the State Department. So he won't get any teachable moment with us. Cheryl Mills sent an email at 03/11/2011 that said: "FYI—the former [censored previous email] desk hand who caused the fervor." PLAINTIFF is just including it because it seems important and PLAINTIFF can't tell who they are referring it but PLAINTIFF alleges it is him.

XX. The Offing happened on either 03/10/2011 03/11/2011. So from now on, view the dates, how the tone of the emails changed after their terrorist act was accomplished and completed, their emphasis on a job well done, and the purpose of such that was made in subsequent speeches.

XX. HILLARY sent CHERYL MILLS an email with the subject line of: "Jake says Jim took the job?" on 03/13/2011. The content of the mail says: "Yes--he told me Friday he was leaning but not there yet and said he would decide for sure Monday. I will give you what details I gleaned when we talk next. Is the P.I announcement out yet? Also, I told Bill about the Zuma call and he is willing." PLAINTIFF is alleging the Jim they are referring to is: James Comey in which New York would prosecute PLAINTIFF after "trade is in the offing" in which a tribunal would be utilized against PLAINTIFF because of what PLAINTIFF alleges HbJ said in restitution below.

XX. April 13th, 2011 it was reported that Emir Sheikh Hamad bin Khalifa al-Thani is meeting with Vice President Joe Biden on Wednesday and with President Barack Obama at the White House on Thursday.⁵⁴ They conspire together.

XX. Secretary Gates met with Amir of Qatar Amir Hamad bin Khalifa Al-Thani on April 14th, 2011 at the Four Season's Hotel In Washington D.C. They conspire to coverup the offing.

XX. On 03/19/2011 (PLAINTIFF will discuss these two emails more in depth in the Devil Reincarnate), DEFENDANTS HILLARY CLINTON sent HUMA ABEDIN on 03/19/2011 at 08:43 am the following email with the subject line "Re: Need to talk - pls call:" The Content of the email: "Can you get my berry and charge. I don't think the socket in the room worked."⁵⁵ HUMA ABEDIN and HILLARY CLINTON had this email on 04/11/2011: "also, seems like we are all on the same page regarding no qatar? its also too tough logistically without blowing up your schedule. and you would have to make hbj delay the meeting when all other ministers are asking him to make it earlier and earlier. the whole thing would be a mess."⁵⁶ PLAINTIFF alleges HILLARY CLINTON, HBJ, and HUMA ABEDIN violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18

PLAINTIFF is alleging these two emails are in reference in trying to charge PLAINTIFF with some unknown crime after his “offing” in London and DULLES in which DEFENDANTS got richer. So something came up between 03/19/2011 and 04/11/2011 in which a post-analysis of the legal implications of their actions was done and probably that is why they decided not to charge PLAINTIFF with anything. So DEFENDANTS burned down PLAINTIFF’S home in which some anonymous people reported explosions in which PLAINTIFF did not do anything to burn down his home in which DEFENDANTS murdered his cat in May 2010. Then DEFENDANTS tried to get PLAINTIFF for selling drugs (which was false in METH) thereby falsely making a case under narcoterrorism. All their actions were so necessarily prejudicial against PLAINTIFF and a complete continuation and fabrication scheme against PLAINTIFF to rob him of his constitutional interests, make him an indentured servant, and more atrocious actions.

XX. Jake Sullivan wrote to Hillary Clinton on 04/08/2011 with the “Subject: QATAR.” The email is the following format:⁵⁷

“I talked to Bill at some length. We reached the same conclusion tentatively that you do not need to go to Doha. I say tentatively because this one could go either way.

both Bill and I will entirely understand. But pushed to a bottom line, we both come out on the don't-go side.”

XX. Do you want to know how irony in PLAINTIFF’S life played itself out? PLAINTIFF specifically remembers when discussing with WARWICK ALLEN in An Anchor and a Pitchfork one of the reasons why PLAINTIFF deleted HILLARY CLINTON’S emails was that because of something to the effect of: “what am I going to do with her schedule or why do I need her schedules.” American INTEL would most definitely had PLAINTIFF saying that and recorded PLAINTIFF saying that.

XX. PLAINTIFF is alleging that HILLARY CLINTON, JAKE SULLIVAN, JOHN O. BRENNAN, LEON PANETTA, ROBERT MUELLER, JANET NAPOLITANO, ERIC HOLDER, HAROLD HONGJU KOH knew PLAINTIFF requested to go to DOHA and was rejected in which “this one could go either way.” Either way, both of them acknowledge and know they intentionally kidnapped PLAINTIFF and committed an act of international and domestic terrorism against PLAINTIFF.

XX. What did BARACK OBAMA tell the British Parliament in May 2011? The following: “Together, we have met great challenges. But as we enter this new chapter in our shared history, profound challenges stretch before us. In a world where the prosperity of all nations is now inextricably linked, a new era of cooperation is required to ensure the growth and stability of the global economy. As new threats spread across borders and oceans, we must dismantle terrorist networks and stop the spread of nuclear weapons, confront climate change and combat famine and disease. And as a revolution races through the streets of the Middle East and North Africa, the entire world has a stake in the aspirations of a generation that longs to determine its own destiny. These challenges come at a time when the international order has already been reshaped for a new century. Countries like China, India, and Brazil are growing by leaps and bounds. We should welcome this development, for it has lifted hundreds of millions from poverty around the globe, and created new markets and opportunities for our own nations... And even as more nations take on the responsibilities of global leadership, our alliance will remain indispensable to the goal of a century that is more peaceful, more prosperous and more just. At a time when threats and challenges require nations to work in concert with one another, we remain the greatest catalysts for global action. In an era defined by the rapid flow of commerce and information, it is our free market tradition, our openness, fortified by our commitment to basic security for our citizens, that offers the best chance of prosperity that is both strong and shared.... That begins with our economic leadership. Adam Smith's central insight remains true today: There is no greater generator of wealth and innovation than a system of free enterprise that unleashes the full potential of individual men and women. That's what led to the Industrial Revolution that began in the factories of Manchester. That is what led to the dawn of the Information Age that arose from the office parks of Silicon Valley. That's why countries like China, India and Brazil are growing so rapidly -- because in fits and starts, they are moving toward market-based principles that the United States and the United Kingdom have always embraced... In other words, we live in a global economy that is largely of our own making. And today, the competition for the best jobs and industries favors countries that are free-thinking and forward-looking; countries with the most creative and innovative and entrepreneurial citizens... But in today's economy, such threats of market failure can no longer be contained within the borders of any one country... And we share a common interest in development that advances dignity and security. To succeed, we must cast aside the impulse to look at impoverished parts of the globe as a place for charity. Instead, we should empower the same forces that have allowed our own people to thrive: We should help the hungry to feed themselves, the doctors who care for the sick. We should support countries that confront corruption, and allow their people to innovate. And we should advance the truth that nations prosper when they allow women and girls to reach their full potential.”⁵⁹

XX. Confirmed. “trade is in the offing” was counterterrorism precedent in which both countries would obtain more commerce and wealth in which PLAINTIFF was to be used like a slave in which they fabricated material lies against PLAINTIFF and enriched themselves in the process.

XX. HAROLD HONGJU KOH, HILLARY CLINTON, and Larry (last name unknown) wrote on October, 20th, 2011: “I'm so happy things have worked out thus far as they did in Lybia, Harold -- happy for the people there, happy for NATO, happy for the administration, and happy for you personally. It's true that I was among the people who were unpersuaded by your and the WH's legal view of what constitute "hostilities," and I know hindsight can be 20/20, but in retrospect I have to say that your view of the matter may have been the wiser one. We obviously can't know precisely what the future there will hold, but thus far it's a marvelous triumph and one that sacrificed no American lives and relatively little American treasure. Larry Sent from my iPhone.”⁶⁰ So HAROLD HONGJU KOH, HILLARY CLINTON, and the White House were all in agreement of what constituted “hostilities.” But PLAINTIFF alleges that fabricated evidence and materially false evidence was used in which there was no way they could have reached the conclusion they did with PLAINTIFF except for relying on perjured testimony and instances of DEFENDANTS murdering PLAINTIFF’S cat, conspiring with Sewanee PD, fabricating evidence repeatedly.

XX. The Court in Sedima, S.P.R.L. v. Imrex Co., 473 U.S. 479 (1985) discussed and necessarily approved of the following: “Mail and Wire Fraud found to have occurred: Courts have sanctioned prosecutions based on deprivations of such intangible rights as a shareholder's right to “material” information, United States v. Siegel, 717 F.2d 9, 14-16 (CA2 1983); a client's right to the “undivided loyalty” of his attorney, United States v. Bronston, 658 F.2d 920, 927 (CA2 1981), cert. denied, 456 U.S. 915 (1982); an employer's right to the honest and faithful service of his employees, United States v. Bohonus, 628 F.2d 1167, 1172 (CA9), cert. denied, 447 U.S. 928 (1980); and a citizen's right to know the nature of agreements entered into by the leaders of political parties, United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108, 123-125 (CA2 1982), cert. denied, 461 U.S. 913 (1983).”

XX. The Court in United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108 (2d Cir. 1982) found and ruled on the basic principle: “fraudulent schemes designed to cause losses of an intangible nature clearly come within the terms of the statute. See United States v. Bronston, 658 F.2d 920 (2d Cir. 1981)...A number of courts have approved the prosecution of allegedly corrupt politicians who did not deprive the citizens of anything of readily identifiable economic value. See, e.g., United States v. Mandel, supra; United States v. Keane, 522 F.2d 534 (7th Cir. 1975)... “From these cases, a basic principle may be distilled: a public official may be prosecuted under 18 U.S.C. § 1341 when his alleged scheme to defraud has as its sole object the deprivation of intangible and abstract political and civil rights of the general citizenry. The definition of fraud is thus construed broadly to effectuate the statute's fundamental purpose in prohibiting the misuse of the mails to further fraudulent enterprises of all kinds.”” United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108 (2d Cir. 1982).”

XX. The United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108 (2d Cir. 1982) court cited United States v. Keane, 522 F.2d 534 (7th Cir. 1975) in their ruling. The United States v. Keane, 522 F.2d 534 (7th Cir. 1975) provided the following facts in which the court found mail fraud had been committed: “On May 2, 1974, a 21-count indictment was returned against the defendant Keane (a former Alderman in Chicago). The indictment alleged a mail fraud scheme in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1341 in which Keane would purchase through nominees, in some case with advance information, tax delinquent properties at the Cook County scavenger sale in 1966; that these properties would be held in various land trusts without disclosure of the beneficiaries; that they would receive favorable treatment, in having certain encumbrances removed, by the City Council and its various committees and subcommittees, without disclosure of Keane's interest in the properties and with Keane voting on matters that favorably affected his interest; that Keane would vote to authorize the acquisition of parcels in areas in which there were properties in which he had an interest and that he used his position and influence to aid in the sale of the properties to various private and governmental interests.”

PLAINTIFF is going to call these the Keane facts:

- 1) you had a government official,
- 2) who had advanced information,
- 3) that involved sales of properties or assets of poor people,
- 4) that there was material information that was intentionally withheld or omitted that furthered the scheme that would reveal the ownership of the properties and reveal the scheme and/or that there was money from the scheme was deposited into an account or a trust at bank in which material facts were omitted
- 5) that the schemers would receive favorable treatment through the removal of obstacles by government officials
- 6) that someone's interest was intentionally omitted and withheld from government officials to further the scheme in which decisions were made on material omissions

XX. HILLARY CLINTON, LEON PANETTA, TOM DONILON, WILLIAM HAGUE, ALISTAIR BURT, were not just talking about Egypt in which they were talking about PLAINTIFF and “Trade is the offing.” They used the wires to further RICO ENTERPRISE 1 and to wire fraud against PLAINTIFF in violation of 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.. If ALISTAIR BURT was not on the call in this instance, then there were numerous times that WILLIAM HAGUE had provided ALISTAIR BURT and vice-a-versa information about “trade is in the offing” through the wires in violation of the aforementioned crimes that furthered RICO Enterprise 1 as well as violating the aforementioned crimes in An Anchor and a Pitchfork.

XX. Anne-Marie Slaughter sent an email on 03/06/2011 in which the content of which is completely censored except for the subject line of “Thank You.” Hillary Clinton sent a response back that said: “it was my pleasure—and delight to meet her and all your family. And kudos to your tech trip. Only good reports.” March 08th, 2011. Tony Blair’s office sends Jake Sullivan and Hillary Clinton and Huma Abedin a censored email.

XX. Jeffrey D. Feltman emailed Jacob Sullivan in which Jacob Sullivan was informed “that Hamad Bin Jassim (of Qatar) (HbJ) and Jeffrey D. Feltman had talked about Arabs and No Fly Zones.” Jacob Sullivan forwarded the email to Hillary Clinton at 11:05 a.m on 03/10/2011. This occurred either on the same day or day prior to in which PLAINTIFF alleges that it confirms HbJ was in on “trade is in the offing” because PLAINTIFF would not be allowed to fly in their zones.

XX. On 03/10/2011, Jacob Sullivan emails Hillary Clinton and Huma Abedin about how Jeffrey D. Feltman “initiated notifications on the embassy suspicion so we can say we are “in the process.” The rest of this should work. Note that we are not “suspending our relationship.” TWO GENERAL FRAMES: with a question that is posed “Where do you stand on the No Fly Zone. Below some censored portions is the following list: “UNSCR, Arms embargo, asset freezes, travel bans, humanitarian action, outreach to the opposition, active planning for a range of contingencies, awacs 24-7 surveillance, suspending embassy operations.”

XX. PLAINTIFF is alleging this was in reference to PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS/State had PLAINTIFF under 24/7 surveillance at all time of the incident and did nothing to stop it. They talk about asset freezes like PLAINTIFF being frozen to prevented from flying, travel bans in which PLAINTIFF was “banned” from flying in Qatar and British zones, outreach to the opposition in which Qatar Airways reached out to PLAINTIFF directing PLAINTIFF at all times, they had meticulously planned Miki’s Tea Party (far more than PLAINTIFF ever did in Peachy Miami), and most importantly, there were FRAMES as if PLAINTIFF had been FRAMED or prevented from leaving two locations.

XX. PLAINTIFF alleges that SCOTUS knew of “trade is in the offing” in which the following cases were intentionally ruled on in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 to deliberately and willfully deny PLAINTIFF restitution for his forced labor: Integrity Staffing Solutions, Inc. v. Busk , 574 U.S. 27 (2014)

Under their oral agreement of employment, however, petitioners undertook to stay in the fire hall on the Company premises, or within hailing distance, three and a half to four nights a week. This involved no task except to answer alarms, either because of fire or because the sprinkler was set off for some other reason. No fires occurred during the period in issue, the alarms were rare, and the time required for their answer rarely exceeded an hour. For each alarm answered, the employees were paid, in addition to their fixed compensation, an agreed amount, fifty cents at first, and later sixty-four cents. The Company provided a brick fire hall equipped with steam heat and air-conditioned rooms. It provided sleeping quarters, a pool table, a domino table, and a radio. The men used their time in sleep or amusement as they saw fit, except that they were required to stay in or close by the fire hall and be ready to respond to alarms. It is stipulated that "they agreed to remain in the fire hall and stay in it or within hailing distance, subject to call, in event of fire or other casualty, but were not required to perform any specific tasks during these periods of time, except in answering alarms."

For reasons set forth in the Armour case, decided herewith, we hold that no principle of law found either in the statute or in Court decisions precludes waiting time from also being working time. We have not attempted to, and we cannot, lay down a legal formula to resolve cases so varied in their facts as are the many situations in which employment involves waiting time. Whether, in a concrete case, such time falls within or without the Act is a question of fact to be resolved by appropriate findings of the trial court. Walling v. Jacksonville Paper Co., 317 U. S. 564, 317 U. S. 572. This involves scrutiny and construction of the agreements between the particular parties, appraisal of their practical construction of the working agreement by conduct, consideration of the nature of the service, and its relation to the waiting time, and all of the surrounding circumstances. Facts may show that the employee was engaged to wait, or they may show that he waited to be engaged. His compensation may cover both waiting and task, or only performance of the task itself. Living quarters may in some situations be furnished as a facility of the task and in another as a part of its compensation. The law does not impose an arrangement upon the parties. It imposes upon the courts the task of finding what the arrangement was.

Skidmore v. Swift & Co., 323 U.S. 134 (1944)

XX. "TRADE IS IN THE OFFING" IS BOTH A COMMERCIAL ACTIVITY AND/OR A STATE ACT UNDER FSIA.

XX. The fundamental next question becomes what exactly is the legal nature of "trade is in the offering" from a legal perspective. The facts are the following: DEFENDANTS came to an agreement by 09/24/2010 as to the nature and purpose of the "trade is in the offering" plan—initial trade (i.e. commercial acts) in addition to a political purpose to which India, Britain, Qatar, and United States came into an agreement about in which they would derive even more commercial products and acts. Commercial acts are not political decisions. Two things can be true at once—it is both commercial and political. So legally this creates a little quagmire is it commercial or is a state decision. ODEFENDANTS devised a plan for PLAINTIFF to take a series of intentionally created steps in which DEFENDANTS necessarily coerced PLAINTIFF into taking when they knew how much PLAINTIFF had PLAINTIFF'S financial means didn't have the money or means

XX. PLAINTIFF is going to argue that whether "trade is in the offering" is a commercial act or if it is a state decision, it leads to the same result. PLAINTIFF is arguing that it is both commercial act and/or a state decision in which there is no immunity over.

(1)XX: “TRADE IS IN THE OFFING” IS A COMMERCIAL ACTIVITY UNDER FSIA.

XX. First, “trade is in the offering” is a commercial act under FSIA in which government officials created it and decided it is immaterial in this case. Trade is in the offering was about trade that would happen both before and after “the offering” occurred in which DEFENDANTS would get even more trade. The underlying theme is that from start to finish was about trade (commercial activity) with an intermediate step in between that was both commercial and political in nature. The dual nature of the intermediate step does not negate the nature of the commercial activity prior to and after “the offering” occurred. Say you own an ice cream shop and listed on the menu is an ice cream sundae. It is a “secret” condition that a cherry would be put on top of the ice cream sundae when it is being created, made, sold, and presented to a customer in which in the course of making the sundae, a cherry is put on top of the sundae. Putting a cherry on top of a sundae doesn’t make the sundae a fruit salad. It’s still a sundae and it’s still commercial activity. Even more so, the court in Southway v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 198 F.3d 1210 (10th Cir. 1999) (hereon: Southway), the court discussed Cicippio v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 30 F.3d 164 (D.C. Cir. 1994) (hereon: Cicippio) in which the Southway Court said the court in Cicippio suggested that the illegal character of alleged acts may be irrelevant in judging their commercial character under the FSIA. Even if it can be argued that act of trade is in the offering was a state act, there is no doubt as to the illegality of the state act in trade is in the offering; and if the illegality of the decision is irrelevant in determining the commercial activity under FSIA, then “trade is in the offering” is commercial activity under FSIA. Furthermore, the Southway court said: “FSIA defines “commercial activity” as “either a regular course of commercial conduct or a particular commercial transaction or act. The commercial character of an activity shall be determined by reference to the nature of the course of conduct or particular transaction or act, rather than by reference to its purpose.” 28 U.S.C. §1603(d). In Republic of Argentina v. Weltover, 504 U.S. 607 (1992), the Supreme Court further explained the meaning of “commercial” as used in the FSIA: we believe that illegal acts may be done “in connection with” a commercial activity as to invoke the FSIA’s commercial activity exception. [W]hen a foreign government acts, not as regulator of a market, but in the manner of a private player within it, the foreign sovereign’s actions are “commercial” within the meaning of the FSIA. . .” [B]ecause the Act provides that the commercial character of an act is to be determined by reference to its “nature” rather than its “purpose,” 28 U.S.C. § 1603(d), the question is not whether the foreign government is acting with a profit motive or instead with the aim of fulfilling uniquely sovereign objectives. Rather, the issue is whether the particular actions that the foreign state performs (whatever the motive behind them) are the type of actions by which a private party engages in “trade and traffic and commerce.” Southway v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 198 F.3d 1210, 1217 (10th Cir. 1999). Furthermore, this is supported by the following: In addition, the Supreme Court has made it clear that the sovereign’s motive for the commercial activity may not be considered: “it is irrelevant why [a sovereign] participated in [a commercial market] in the manner of a private actor; it matters only that it did so.” Id., 504 U.S. at 617 (emphasis in original). As our Court of Appeals recently noted, “in practice [this standard] means rejecting any argument that rests on the foreign state’s reasons for undertaking the activity alleged to be commercial.” El-Hadad v. United Arab Emirates, 469 F.3d 658, No. 06-7075, 2007 WL 2141943, at *14 (D.C. Cir. Jul. 27, 2007) (emphasis in original). Chalabi v. Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, 503 F. Supp. 2d 267 (D.D.C. 2007). It is immaterial if “trade is in the offering purpose was political,” The United States, Qatar, India, and United Kingdom were all private players in the marketplace in “trade is in the offing” in the commercial marketplace partaking in commercial activity.

XX. Because “trade is in the offing” is a commercial act, materially and more importantly, the plan of “the offing” necessarily required the indispensable PLAINTIFF to affirmatively act in accordance to and follow DEFENDANTS’ proscribed and directed manner and tasks in which DEFENDANTS would obtain $14,900,000,000, BOEING got to sell planes, defense companies sold arms, Qatar Airways would receive cheaper planes, parts, and services from BOEING, British Airways would receive cheaper planes, parts, and services from BOEING, INDIA got the “deliverables” they wanted, BRITAIN/5 Eyes got more 5 Eyes resources from the Americans, and further additional benefits, so long as the completely indispensable PLAINTIFF completed his tasks according to their proscribed and directed manner--this completion of tasks done in the direction of DEFENDANTS for their complete benefit in which no one else could have done their tasks the way PLAINTIFF did because of what he meant to DEFENDANTS necessarily makes it employment by DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF at no time was offered the ability to negotiate his salary in his completion of tasks in which DEFENDANTS necessarily omitted the benefit DEFENDANTS would derive from PLAINTIFF’S employment/work for them. For all intents and purposes, this is called Slavery where one is legally forced to work at the direction of someone and having an act of international and domestic terrorism against PLAINTIFF in the process. Simply, PLAINTIFF labored for DEFENDANTS. So now PLAINTIFF is seeking compensation for his employment and work for DEFENDANTS knowing the true value and the complete conditionality of “trade is in the offing” in which PLAINTIFF was worth more than $14,900,000,000 and numerous aircraft sales to Qatar, India, and Britain and Boeing because that is the exact price DEFENDANTS placed on PLAINTIFF at the time for his employment for PLAINTIFF’S labor. Whether or not PLAINTIFF consented to “the offing” is immaterial. It is the fact that proscribed and directed steps were undertaken and performed beautifully by PLAINTIFF in which PLAINTIFF labored for DEFENDANTS by providing his services to DEFENDANTS⁶¹ at their direction in which DEFENDANTS committed mail and wire fraud by not informing PLAINTIFF of the terms of the employment and they necessarily lied to PLAINTIFF to specific parts of their proscribed methods and directed manner in which they never informed him of the material benefit they would derive from PLAINTIFF.

As PLAINTIFF said: No PLAINTIFF and the “offing,” no $14,900,000,000 or more that was acquired by DEFENDANTS. That is how conditions work. PLAINTIFF is alleging that, ironically, because of how indispensable he was to DEFENDANTS at the time, DEFENDANTS could not have used anyone else in “the offing.” The question remains why was PLAINTIFF a central figure and completely indispensable to DEFENDANTS in “the offing” in which no one else could have pulled off “the offing” for them the way PLAINTIFF did? PLAINTIFF was indispensable because of their history, PLAINTIFF’S history, and their need to further RICO Enterprise 1. Since “the offing” is necessarily derived from RICO Enterprise 1 in which DEFENDANTS violated the HONOR CODE thereby perpetuating mail and wire fraud against PLAINTIFF, it necessarily entails that the $14,900,000,000 and any sales to INDIA involving defense and aviation are necessarily ill-gotten proceeds from DEFENDANTS’ prior acts (therefore, because of how materially indispensable PLAINTIFF was in the “offing,” it is a business and/or property interest). What was material is that DEFENDANTS routinely fabricated malicious narratives concerning Sewanee Sabotage in which DEFENDANTS falsely established the precedent that allegedly PLAINTIFF acted on his specific words in specific plans in specific locations in which it was DEFENDANTS that did the harm and fabricated material evidence to support that proposition against PLAINTIFF’S constitutional, liberty, and property interests. It was DEFENDANTS who induced PLAINTIFF to talk about Terrorism in Peachy Miami. It was DEFENDANTS who furthered RICO Enterprise 1 that planted drugs and a gun in This Side of the Street and Meth and used the facts of Financial Terrorism to falsely establish PLAINTIFF’S belligerence and that PLAINTIFF was allegedly a violent drug dealer in a completely misleading and fabricated narrative. It was DEFENDANTS who coerced PLAINTIFF into signing the document in Trespass Incident #3 falsely alleging that PLAINTIFF posed a threat to the community. It was DEFENDANTS who intentionally sent Victoria (who was probably a cia/fbi/dod/nsa/dhs undercover officer) in to talk to PLAINTIFF about how to stop a plane in mid-air knowing PLAINTIFF routinely flew overseas (which is just allegedly another plot/plan that PLAINTIFF was falsely going to act on). This leads to just one completely and absolutely irrefutable conclusion: DEFENDANTS themselves knew how indispensable PLAINTIFF was to DEFENDANTS because DEFENDANTS--themselves--necessarily made PLAINTIFF to be indispensable to them.

It was the fact that in DEFENDANTS intentional and willing fabrications to make PLAINTIFF indispensable to them that are drenched with RICO Predicate Acts against PLAINTIFF and significant and major constitutional deprivations and legal fraud perpetuated against the Court that SCOTUS knew about. SCOTUS would only enable DEFENDANTS. So with SCOTUS laying the way to prevent PLAINTIFF from holding any government officers or officials accountable through 2 years of granting cases that were completely adverse to PLAINTIFF that necessarily denied PLAINTIFF access to the Courts, who was going to hold them accountable? HAROLD KOH, BARACK OBAMA, and HILLARY CLINTON all knew Congress couldn’t do jackshit and the courts would probably not do jackshit. Since American DEFENDANTS knew that, they relayed such to Indian, Qatari, and British DEFENDANTS. DEFENDANTS knew that PLAINTIFF kind of lived in his own little autistic world and would be the perfect patsy to further their extremely unconstitutional counterterrorism plans, one of which necessarily required them to extend their jurisdiction over Americans anywhere in the world. DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF routinely traveled overseas and it was highly likely and probable PLAINTIFF would do so again. DEFENDANTS knew they had to get the help of the British to establish the overseas precedent because GEORGE SOROS cucked the entire country of England in the 1990s and made Britain America’s own patsy to do whatever in the world. DEFENDANTS especially needed India and Qatar because of Qatar and the Military and Navy and INDIA to establish a base to monitor everything upcoming in India and Pakistan (and conceivably the Middle East). The cherry on top of the sundae was the fact that America would make $14,900,000,000 in the process furthering RICO Enterprise 1, what is a terrorist act committed by DEFENDANTS against an American they fabricated everything about from 2008 to 2010? Furthermore, DEFENDANTS needed to coverup their crimes committed against PLAINTIFF. Furthermore, the argument that PLAINTIFF’s significance to DEFENDANTS was immaterial to “the offing” is wrong, completely unfounded, and not supported by the facts. If there is an argument that one person can't make third parties rich at the detriment to the original person, that is absolutely wrong. Just imagine if Nike or the Chicago Bulls never paid Michael Jordan and completely denied Michael Jordan from negotiating his salary and payment in Nike. There is a whole movie on the importance of the new precedent Michael Jordan established when it came to payment for his services. Just imagine the loss of revenue the NBA would experience if Michael Jordan or Lebron James never played. Just imagine if Sprite never paid Lebron James and completely used Lebron James without giving Mr. James the ability to negotiate nor pay him for his services. Fine, PLAINTIFF would pose the question to the Court if PLAINTIFF was so immaterial to SCOTUS, have SCOTUS overnight declare all the cases that materially involved PLAINTIFF overruled (PLAINTIFF provides a list of such cases in Star Chambers). These are all converging factors that met in PLAINTIFF in Miki's Tea Party.

As PLAINTIFF argued earlier: DEFENDANTS could have at any time negotiated with DEFENDANTS, but DEFENDANTS refused to do so. The necessary question to have asked between 09/24/2010 and 03/10/2011 is: would PLAINTIFF have consented to the terms of “trade is in the offing” since it effects his labor, business, and property interests and if there was an injury to those? If DEFENDANTS approached PLAINTIFF in 2010/2011 and said you will be part of “the offing” in which an act of international and domestic terrorism would be committed against you and in the process of doing so we will pay you [amount requested in Prayer for Relief Section] and everything stipulated about airlines and planes in the [Prayer for Relief Section] and we will end RICO Enterprise 1 against you once and for all, PLAINTIFF would have told them then that a deal has nearly been reached. Even if we assumed that DEFENDANTS did what they always did back then and omit the facts and totality of circumstances in which DEFENDANTS posed the following to PLAINTIFF: “if you do the “offing” and spend the night in DC on your mom’s credit card, we will get $14,900,000,000+ and more in BOEING Aircraft sales, arms sales, and in the process, further our political and unconstitutional goals,” PLAINTIFF would have considered it for a few minutes in which PLAINTIFF would have then asked “does PLAINTIFF have a seat at the table from now on” after being intentionally socially screwed over by DEFENDANTS in SEWANEE for the last three years at that time because it wasn’t only just about the money to PLAINTIFF then, there was like a 20% chance that PLAINTIFF would have said yes when PLAINTIFF had the ability to negotiate and include that condition to compensate for the damage they did to him already. But had PLAINTIFF been informed how DEFENDANTS unconstitutionally labeled him a counterterrorism threat, DOJ having committed legal fraud upon the Court in which the Court would continue to maliciously undermine 4th Amendment Search and Seizure precedent and prevent PLAINTIFF from holding anyone in DOJ accountable at that time, maliciously take advantage of PLAINTIFF’S disability and punish PLAINTIFF at every waking second in his life for PLAINTIFF’S speech, enable to have 3 different and/or foreign intelligence agencies watch PLAINTIFF every second of the day for 24 hours a day and 7 days a week, commit international and domestic terrorism against PLAINTIFF, penalize PLAINTIFF for Financial Terrorism, continue to have law enforcement fuck with PLAINTIFF’S life further and harm PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF will become a slave to DEFENDANTS and become an indentured servant to DEFENDANTS, continue to treat PLAINTIFF cruelly, unequally, maliciously, and unfairly, further RICO Enterprise 1, and in which DEFENDANTS would acquire will get $14,900,000,000+ and more in BOEING Aircraft sales, arms sales because of PLAINTIFF and DEFENDANTS have the ability to extend their completely out of control power anywhere in the world and harm additional people the way they did to PLAINTIFF with no repercussions for their actions and their extremely extensive and detailed plans, PLAINTIFF would have told them via "Itan" "It seems like my bomb has already made you blow it out of your fucking asses."

That is where the fraud is as well and in PLAINTIFF is arguing in the alternative. By necessarily having committed legal fraud before between 2008-2011 that was not remedied by any stretch of the imagination against PLAINTIFF, Miki's Tea Party was done to furtherance of that fraud and RICO Enterprise 1 in which DEFENDANTS would DERIVE an additional $14,900,000,000 because of their actions regarding PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF was the only person the United States Government could have justified doing that to in 2011 after their plans had been created in 2010 because of their material fabrications and obstructions about PLAINTIFF in SEWANEE in which the fraud was perpetuated against PLAINTIFF on the basis of the HONOR CODE violations, law enforcement constitutional deprivations, and legal court proceedings that violated numerous PLAINTIFF'S constitutional rights that PLAINTIFF could have been compensated for at the time. DEFENDANTS were wrong at the time and they had SCOTUS rule the way they did on purpose in regards to PLAINTIFF to prevent PLAINTIFF from deriving any compensation or additional property interests (after they violated PLAINTIFF'S property interest in the HONOR CODE) from the incidents that DEFENDANTS themselves had directed. So back to March 10th, 2011:

PLAINTIFF did all the reasonable due diligence he could that day and before regarding his role "is in the offing." He regularly checked his cell phone at all hours of the day when he was awake (and even sleeping for that matter), he regularly checked his social media profiles daily, he checked his school's mailbox once a week or so, and checked his email accounts at least four to five times daily--DEFENDANTS necessarily knew PLAINTIFF'S cell phone number having unconstitutionally and illegally obtained all the information contained in his phone via the USA PATRIOT ACT and TITLE II, DEFENDANTS necessarily knew his social media accounts (Facebook) via having unconstitutionally and illegally utilized the USA PATRIOT ACT and TITLE II, DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF'S home address & school address and furthermore knew the exact dormitory and room he was living in at SEWANEE (Elliott 31) in 2010 and 2011; DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF'S primary school email account via having unconstitutionally and illegally utilized the USA PATRIOT ACT and TITLE II against PLAINTIFF. These are facts. At no time between 09/24/2010 and 03/11/2011 did DEFENDANTS notify PLAINTIFF of the plans and the cost of "is in the offing" via mail, text message, phone call, Facebook message, email, or even dropping off the paperwork in PLAINTIFF'S dorm room (in which DEFENDANTS had broken into numerous times before and knew PLAINTIFF left it unlocked because of the HONOR CODE and had unconstitutionally and illegally installed surveillance tools in PLAINTIFF'S room at Elliott 31 via Title II and the USA PATRIOT ACT/FISA from either: 01/01/2011-03/11/11 or 09/01/2010 to 12/31/2010 and they could have dropped off the paperwork in PLAINTIFF'S room if they wanted to). Lets be honest here, DEFENDANTS are not above doing things illegally and unconstitutionally here via Title II and the USA PATRIOT ACT so even with their nature at no time between 09/24/2010 and 03/11/2011 did DEFENDANTS hack into PLAINTIFF'S MacBook Pro laptop and leave a document on PLAINTIFF'S desktop with arrows surrounding the document that said "read me" and provide notice or information to PLAINTIFF about the details of "in the offing" to PLAINTIFF on how his services and himself were worth an estimated additional (on top of the fraud they committed before) $14,900,000,000 to DEFENDANTS for him to sign or look over.

DEFENDANTS did not notify PLAINTIFF via email, text message, phone call, or text message in London at anytime on 03/11/2011 of “is in the offing” even when they knew his exact whereabouts at all times during that day. At no time did DEFENDANTS contact SEWANEE (seeing how they conspired with numerous SEWANEE officials before) and have SEWANEE officials inform PLAINTIFF of “is in the offing” nor did DEFENDANTS contact PLAINTIFF’S parents and have them inform PLAINTIFF of “is in the offing” (or they did do so, and PLAINTIFF’S parents did not tell PLAINTIFF about it). Absolutely no notice was given to PLAINTIFF about “is in the offing” and how he was in legal fact worth an additional $14,900,000,000 to DEFENDANTS. Absolutely at no time did DEFENDANTS directly inform PLAINTIFF about “is in the offing.”

This is intentional concealment and omission by DEFENDANTS. See: Neder v. United States, 527 U.S. 1 (1999)(fraud occurs on a misrepresentation or concealment of material fact) (Sandwich Chef of Texas, Inc. v. Reliance National Indemnity Insurance Co., 319 F.3d 205 (5th Cir. 2003) and Summit Properties Inc. v. Hoechst Celanese Corp., 214 F.3d 556 (5th Cir. 2000)(proximate causation could be established where “a plaintiff has either been the target of a fraud or has relied upon the fraudulent conduct of the defendants; 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

PLAINTIFF did all the reasonable due diligence that could have been expected from him at the time when PLAINTIFF landed at London-Heathrow involving PLAINTIFF. When PLAINTIFF initially landed and talked to the Qatar Airways representative, she did not inform PLAINTIFF of the true cause of why he would not be allowed to continue to India, which was “in the offing,” and she had directed PLAINTIFF to the Indian embassy. After denying the ability of PLAINTIFF to board the aircraft, the Qatar Airways “representative” did not inform PLAINTIFF of is “in the offing” at that exact time. The Qatar Airways “representative” knew that she had to inform PLAINTIFF on where to go that day at the behest of DEFENDANTS. Whether it was a Qatar Airways representative or Qatar Airways allowing a DEFENDANT officer to pose as a Qatar Airways representative to direct PLAINTIFF to the Indian Embassy, Qatar Airways had legally and necessarily been part of the plan of “is in the offing” prior to and during PLAINTIFF’S time in London and after. This constituted fraud and was aiding and abetting RICO Enterprise 1 by Qatar Airways. Had Qatar Airways been truthful to PLAINTIFF and notified PLAINTIFF about “is in the offing” in addition to the alleged “visa issues” in which Qatar Airways intentionally omitted “is in the offing” from PLAINTIFF that Qatar Airways necessarily knew about, PLAINTIFF would have still gone to the INDIAN embassy anyway BUT necessarily having not consented to “is in the offing” in which PLAINTIFF would have had the express purpose of finding a solution to being able to allow PLAINTIFF to go to India because PLAINTIFF did not consent to “is in the offing.” PLAINTIFF was in the Indian embassy and had talked to an Indian there trying to get an immediate visa to India. The Indian embassy did not inform PLAINTIFF of “trade is in the offing” having necessarily known of the plans from September 24th, 2009, purchasing certain aircraft in October 2009, DEFENDANTS like BARACK OBAMA going to India in which they talked about “trade is in the offing” in November 2009 in which BARACK OBAMA heard of the SpiceJET deal, and more. Even when PLAINTIFF inquired about the business visa at the Indian Embassy that allegedly would have allowed PLAINTIFF to go to India the next day based on what the Indian Embassy representative told PLAINTIFF, that Indian Embassy representative necessarily having talked about business/trade and being allowed to go to India would have immediately brought up “trade is in the offing” as that was the quickest way for PLAINTIFF to go to India because PLAINTIFF did not consent to “trade is in the offing.” The Indian embassy intentionally and materially omitted telling PLAINTIFF about “trade is in the offing” when they had an exact reason, the proper circumstances, and an exact time to inform PLAINTIFF of “trade is in the offing” that would have allowed PLAINTIFF to consent or not to consent to “trade is in the offing.” DEFENDANTS (INDIANS) could have granted the visa, informed PLAINTIFF of “trade is in the offing,” and negotiate with PLAINTIFF because PLAINTIFF would not have consented to “trade is in the offing” had he been informed of such in which he and his services were worth an additional $14,900,000,000 to DEFENDANTS. The fact that PLAINTIFF after doing all the reasonable due diligence in attempting to get the business visa shows that PLAINTIFF did not consent to “trade is in the offing.” DEFENDANTS omitted telling the truth about “trade is in the offing.” The head of the INDIAN Embassy or one of his representatives could have talked to PLAINTIFF because they knew PLAINTIFF was going to be there and asked for his consent of “is in the offing,” but DEFENDANTS did not do this. When PLAINTIFF got to the Indian Embassy that DEFENDANTS necessarily knew he was going to go to for more than a day prior, they could have had one employee in the Indian Embassy wait for him in the entrance and usher him into a room or talk to him as he was waiting in line outside for more than an hour that day and ushered him into a room to look over the details of “is in the offing” and given his consent, but DEFENDANTS did not. This involved all American DEFENDANTS, BRITISH DEFENDANTS, INDIAN DEFENDANTS, and QATAR DEFENDANTS. There are more than 5 opportunities and chances to have properly conveyed “the offing” to PLAINTIFF and DEFENDANTS intentionally failed at each and every single step and opportunity on purpose.

PLAINTIFF did all the due diligence that could have been expected from at the time he arrived back to London-Heathrow after coming from the Indian embassy involving PLAINTIFF. At the exact time that PLAINTIFF had inquired (whether it was the first time the flight was delayed and especially after the second time the flight was delayed further) into why United Airlines Flight #925 was delayed in departing from London-Heathrow in which DEFENDANTS tampered with the plane to make it late, the United Airlines "representative" could have told PLAINTIFF that info and that would have given cause to investigate it further, but DEFENDANTS did not. Had the United Airlines "representative" in London-Heathrow been truthful and intentionally deceitful and omit from PLAINTIFF the details of "is in the offing" that DEFENDANTS necessarily knew about on two separate and distinct occasions, PLAINTIFF would not have consented to "is in the offing" had he been informed of such in which he and his services were worth $14,900,000,000 to DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF inquired the first time into why the plane was delayed and then inquired into why the plane was delayed a second time at London Heathrow. PLAINTIFF could have done what DEFENDANTS always did to PLAINTIFF and enter into prohibited areas and broken into secured areas to figure out the cause, but PLAINTIFF did not. PLAINTIFF could not have committed illegal acts in the course of due diligence and breached security and gone down to the plane to inspect the plane for himself and determine through talking to ground workers on what the exact issues of the plane was that day in which DEFENDANTS tampered with the plane. BRITISH DEFENDANTS could have talked to PLAINTIFF in the 5+ hours he had been in London Heathrow that day in which they had so much CCTV as to know where PLAINTIFF was located at the exact moment inside London-Heathrow, BRITISH DEFENDANTS did not do so. PLAINTIFF is recognizable and doesn't blend well in the crowd. These are four separate acts of fraud in furthering RICO ENTERPRISE 1 involving AMERICAN DEFENDANTS, UNITED AIRLINES, BRITISH DEFENDANTS, and INDIAN DEFENDANTS. So this is at minimum at least nine total times that PLAINTIFF inquired or DEFENDANTS had the opportunity to inform PLAINTIFF of "is in the offing."

PLAINTIFF did exactly all the reasonable due diligence that was exactly required out of PLAINTIFF at the exact right time to determine his actions accordingly. DEFENDANTS knew the exact time the plane departed from London-Heathrow and landed at DULLES. PLAINTIFF landed in DULLES. PLAINTIFF got off the plane in which DEFENDANTS had tampered with the plane to make it late to Dulles because PLAINTIFF was worth an additional estimated $14,900,000,000 to DEFENDANTS. At no time in the flight did United Airlines communicate with PLAINTIFF about the details of “is in the offing” in which PLAINTIFF would not have consented. In the alternative, at no time did DEFENDANTS inform United Airlines (had they truly not known) about details of “is in the offing” that day in London or during the flight in which they would have necessarily become a party to it in which United Airlines could have informed PLAINTIFF and United Airlines could have not consented to it. Had United Airlines staff informed PLAINTIFF of “is in the offing” during 1-4 hours in the flight, PLAINTIFF would not have consented and would have asked the pilots to increase speed of the aircraft to get PLAINTIFF to land in Dulles 10 minutes early so he could have made his connecting flight (let alone being informed at the gate about whether or not he would consent to “is in the offing.”) DEFENDANTS did not communicate to the United Airlines in the course of the flight (between 1-4 hours in the flight) to make the plane arrive 10 minutes early to allow PLAINTIFF to make his connecting flight since they became a party to it and to inform PLAINTIFF of “is in the offing” at the gate to allow PLAINTIFF to make a decision that United Airlines and DEFENDANTS knew about at that time. DEFENDANTS did not do this. This is more than 10 times that day that things could have gone differently, but DEFENDANTS intentionally did not do these actions.

PLAINTIFF did exactly all the reasonable due diligence that was exactly required out of PLAINTIFF at the exact right time to determine his actions accordingly. At no time did DEFENDANTS take any affirmative step or action of allowing PLAINTIFF to make his flight to Chicago from the moment PLAINTIFF landed in Dulles. When PLAINTIFF deboarded the flight from London-Heathrow, there was no one that informed him at that gate of the plans of “is in the offing” in which he would not have consented because he would not have wanted

DEFENDANTS to make an additional $14,900,000,000 in which he would have been seized by DEFENDANTS that made him a slave to DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF would have ran like his life had depended on it and would have pissed himself in the process to make the connecting flight to Chicago had he been made aware of “is in the offing.” Speaking of running, DEFENDANTS knew that “Miki Kotevski does not run”—DEFENDANTS knew that from Peachy Miami, PLAINTIFF lost weight by rowing (but was a little chonky at this point in 2010 weighing around 240ish), DEFENDANTS having observed PLAINTIFF routinely knew he never jogged, never ran for fun as a hobby, his cardio at the gym would be but a certain guarantee of PLAINTIFF being on the elliptical, bike, or row machine, PLAINTIFF never ran outside of Fowler Gym at SEWANEE the entire time he was in college (even if by miracle out of the infinitely small possibility that PLAINTIFF did run anywhere on campus in conjunction with the infinitely small possibility that DEFENDANTS had recorded in some way, it couldn’t have been more than 10 seconds max). DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF his entire junior year biked from Quintard to central campus. PLAINTIFF did not run then. Period. Even if it could be plausibly argued that DEFENDANTS didn’t have to inform PLAINTIFF about “trade is in the offing” (which is a lie because of the express conditionality of it because it was absolutely conditioned on PLAINTIFF that required his knowledge as not to perpetuate the fraud further), PLAINTIFF did something completely out of character for PLAINTIFF to show that he did not consent to “trade is in the offing.” PLAINTIFF ran. PLAINTIFF uncharacteristically ran in Dulles trying to make the connection, but attempts were had and PLAINTIFF tried. PLAINTIFF did multiple short bursts of running trying to make the connecting flight. To PLAINTIFF, at a minimum, it was completely beyond his reasonable due diligence required of him trying to make the connection in Chicago that was only made possible by DEFENDANTS schemes.

PLAINTIFF ran at those bursts because PLAINTIFF did not consent to “trade is in the offing.” When PLAINTIFF arrived at the gate and observed one or two United Airlines “representatives” still at the gate for the flight to Chicago. PLAINTIFF still sees the United Airlines aircraft attached to the airbridge and is still at the gate. The “United Airlines” “representative” only informed that he was just short of making the flight. The “United Airlines”

“representative” did not inform PLAINTIFF of “trade is in the offing” because DEFENDANTS intentionally omitted the truth from PLAINTIFF as to why he was not allowed to board the aircraft after he requested to get on the aircraft at the gate. All the due diligence required here was that PLAINTIFF ask to be allowed on the flight. PLAINTIFF did. PLAINTIFF then demanded to open the door and gate. DEFENDANTS did not. If PLAINTIFF acted like DEFENDANTS through the years (especially in 2008 and 2009), PLAINTIFF should have kicked down the door at the gate and barge right on in to the aircraft and PLAINTIFF should have seized the aircraft without a warrant or probable cause. So PLAINTIFF is asking for that plane as well. PLAINTIFF kicked and screamed showing that he had not consented to “trade is in the offing” after having performed all reasonable due diligence required out of him at the time from being directed by Qatar Airways “representative” to go to the Indian embassy, having gone to the Indian embassy in which there were at least 15 times and more than 8 hours to have properly notified PLAINTIFF of “trade is in the offing.” DEFENDANTS intentionally did not in order to derive an additional $14,900,000,000 and future income.

See: Neder v. United States, 527 U.S. 1 (1999)(fraud occurs on a misrepresentation or concealment of material fact) (*Sandwich Chef of Texas, Inc. v. The deliberate omission of “trade is in the offing” necessarily related to trade and it was not to honest government services. Therefore, it necessarily constituted mail and wire fraud. PLAINTIFF would not have consented had he been informed of the true causes after performing reasonable due diligence at the exact time it was required. Necessarily, DEFENDANTS obtained $14,900,000,000 via mail and wire fraud and committed an international and domestic act of terrorism against PLAINTIFF in the process.

XX. “Trade is in the offing” was about CONTINUOUS and ONGOING better trade relationships between America and India. “Developing countries that belong to the WTO and participate in more Preferential Trade Agreements experience greater Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) inflows than otherwise, controlling for many factors including domestic policy preferences and taking into account possible endogeneity.”⁶² When talking about Foreign Direct Investment, Princeton Economists said the following: “FDI involves the acquisition or creation of productive capacity (i.e. more capacity in airports) which implies a long-term perspective and involves some assets that cannot be moved without considerable loss. This (variable but always positive) specificity of the investment has long given rise to concerns about the “obsolescing bargain” (Vernon 1971): once a firm undertakes a foreign direct investment, some bargaining power shifts to the host country government, which has an incentive to change the terms of the investment to reap a greater share of the benefits. This problem is exacerbated by the time-inconsistency problem faced by governments. Even governments that want to attract further FDI—and therefore have a long-run economic incentive not to violate the trust of current foreign investors—have in the short run incentives to change the terms of existing foreign investments when the short-run benefits exceed the long-term costs (Tomz 1997, 3f). And resource-strapped developing country governments may have an even greater incentive than governments in advanced industrialized countries to discount the long term.”⁶³ So India and Qatar both have an incentive to change the terms of the investment by participating in “the offing” in “trade is in the offing” to reap a greater share of the benefits of the increased future trade. And well, if HILLARY CLINTON is going to be president, makes sense to be part of Japlan in An Anchor and a Pitchfork because there would be no long term cost to Britain, Japan, India or Qatar when PLAINTIFF is immediately disposed of in 2015 in which they not only got four years of more economic development, but even more trade when HILLARY CLINTON is in the White House and that materially benefits America as well. So the SpiceJET deal—it was a preferential trade agreement because INDIA was developing their infrastructure and wanted more capacity in airports all around India that was at the direction of SINGH. GE locomotive deal-- preferential trade agreement as to get more exports out to shipping ports and transport new products received from trade is in the offing in India’s growing railroad industry (as opposed to America’s decreasing trackage). So even if it wasn’t just for domestic policy preferences, the actual products involved, INDIA preferred, and they got better deals by BOEING and GE and Hillary Clinton. GE even has their own India subdivision now.

XX. Part of the bribery and kickback scheme between Qatari DEFENDANTS and HILLARY CLINTON and BILL CLINTON would be through Qatari DEFENDANTS depositing money in CGI.

XX. Qatari DEFENDANTS, British DEFENDANTS, German DEFENDANTS, Indian DEFENDANTS, Japanese DEFENDANTS, all knew HILLARY CLINTON could essentially be bought through donations given to CGI when she was in a position of power or authority or could eventually be in a position of power.

XX. These actions stipulated in the previous paragraph can be seen and inferred with the following facts: For example, “in 2009, with Mrs. Clinton as Secretary of State, a likely White House run in her future, and a secret email server hiding her communications, the Clinton Foundation took in $249 million.”⁶⁴

XX. Continuing the argument made in XX, “Reuters found out that from 2010 to 2013, the foundation wasn’t disclosing all of its donors and didn’t tell the State Department that Australia and the UK had doubled and tripled their contributions to the Clinton foundation while Mrs. Clinton was Secretary of State. The Associated Press discovered that more than half of Secretary Clinton’s meetings with people outside the government were with donors to the Clinton Foundation...”⁶⁵

XX. Continuing the argument made in XX, watchdog group OpenSecrets reported that after Hillary Clinton lost the 2016 election, speaking fees to the Clintons dropped like a rock, falling from $3.6 million in 2014 to $370,000 in 2018, and IRS disclosures reveal that the once high-flying Clinton Foundation took in $30.7 million in 2018 and just $16.3 million in 2020.⁶⁶ So when Hillary and Bill Clinton were in no positions of power, they went from obtaining nearly $250,000,000 to just receiving $16,300,000 in 2020—which is a decrease of nearly 90%.

XX. In CGI’S 2011 990 Form⁶⁷ that was filed in November 2015 (which is three months after An Anchor and a Pitchfork), CGI listed having an Indian bank account. PLAINTIFF alleges that part of the funds that were derived from “trade is in the offing” in violation of 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 Sections 1581-1590 (relating to peonage), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights deposited into the CGI Indian bank account, that part of the funds that were derived from or used to perpetuate “An Anchor and a Pitchfork” were from CGI’S Indian bank account and were deposited and withdrawn in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1.

XX. British DEFENDANTS and Aussie DEFENDANTS became part of RICO Enterprise 1 in which they willingly donated more than double and triple the amounts they received in which the United Kingdom and Australia were beneficiaries of “trade is in the offing.”

XX. On Jan 12th, 2011, HILLARY CLINTON and PRIME MINISTER AL THANI met at the Ritz Carlton in Doha, Qatar.

XX. On Jan 12th, 2011, HILLARY CLINTON and PRIME MINISTER AL THANI discussed issues involving "bilateral relations and issues of interest" between Qatar and the United States.

XX. On Jan 12th, 2011, HILLARY CLINTON: "Thank you very much, Prime Minister. And let me express – let me express my pleasure at being back in Doha and to have had this opportunity this evening to have met with both His Excellency the prime minister and with His Highness the Amir. As the prime minister just said, we had very substantive, comprehensive discussions. And I thank also Qatar for hosting this year's meeting of the Forum for the Future, which I will be attending tomorrow."⁶⁸

XX. On the night of January 12th, 2011, HILLARY CLINTON talked to and conspired with Sheikh Hamad Bin Jassim Bin Jabr Al-Thani (HBJ) and His Highness Emir of Qatar SHEIKH TAMIM BIN HAMAD AL THANI, about the specific plan of “the offing” that was implemented on September 24th, 2010.

XX. HILLARY CLINTON had absolutely no doubt in her mind about how the United States was going to see the Operation “trade is in the offing” through and through in which she fully supported Qatar and Qatar likewise: “in our meetings with my friends here as well as with the Gulf countries in the GCC forum, we discussed a number of issues related to Gulf security and stability. As I outlined in my speech at the Manama Dialogue last month, America’s commitment to the security of the Gulf region is unwavering. We will continue to support our partners, including Qatar, as they work to address threats and create the conditions for long-term peace, prosperity, and human progress... On these and many other issues, Qatar is a trusted leader and a valued friend. The United States is proud of the partnership between our two nations. It has yielded positive results for the people of both of our countries, and we look forward to continuing to work together on the full range of issues that are important to us both. Thank you again, Prime Minister.”⁶⁹

XX. Sheikh Hamad Bin Jassim Bin Jabr Al-Thani (HBJ) knew of the role Qatar would play in “trade is in the offing” that even though it was allegedly talking about Lebanon, the facts and circumstances are the same in which their plans are laid out about “trade is in the offing:” “If I may add, as you know, the stability of Lebanon becomes priority for us in Qatar, and I think for all our friends in the region and the United States. We know the tribunal and the stability of Lebanon – both of them is important for Lebanon. And I think now – I said yesterday when I had a press conference with the Prime Minister Erdogan that we have to think how to solve this problem in peaceful through responsible dialogue between the Lebanese. The Lebanese by themselves, they can help themselves. And I think our interference or our help is to help them to talk together and to try to reach a solution together. I think we have enough problem in the region that this problem we have to take care about it in a way to solve it, not to complicate it. And we are working by each minute and hour to do so.”⁷⁰

XX. Because of the previous paragraph, PLAINTIFF is going to take out “Lebanon” and Turkish Prime Minister Erdgoan from what Sheikh Hamad Bin Jassim Bin Jabr Al-Thani (HBJ) just said and just include the facts of “the offing” to show you they came to an understanding as to the roles that were played during Operation Offing: “If I may add, as you know, the stability of [HILLARY CLINTON] becomes priority for us in Qatar, and I think for all our friends in [India] and the United States [UK]. We know the tribunal and the stability of [HILLARY CLINTON and BARACK OBAMA] – both of them is important for [HC and BO]. And I think now – I said yesterday when I had a press conference with the Prime Minister [Singh or David Cameron] that we have to think how to solve this problem in peaceful through responsible dialogue between [PLAINTIFF & Qatar]. The [PLAINTIFF] by themselves, they can help themselves. And I think our interference or our help is to help them to talk together and to try to reach a solution together. I think we have enough problem in the region that this problem we have to take care about it in a way to solve it, not to complicate it. And we are working by each minute and hour to do so."⁷¹

XX. PLAINTIFF will distill it further with known facts. DOJ wanted to prosecute PLAINTIFF in 2008, 2009, and 2010. The stability of the HILLARY CLINTON and BARACK OBAMA required PLAINTIFF'S prosecution in an international or domestic tribunal (court). It is irrefutable that the facts of what Qatar Airways did to PLAINTIFF in Miki's Tea Party align perfectly at the end of Al Thani's statements: "our interference by the Qatar Airways representative or our help as a Qatar Airways representative is to "help" PLAINTIFF to talk together with the Qatar Airways representative and for the Qatar Airways representative to try to reach a solution together in which PLAINTIFF agrees to go to the Indian Embassy. I think we have enough problem in the region"⁷² that this problem we have to take care about it in a way to solve it (by falsely prosecuting PLAINTIFF for counterterrorism), not to complicate it. And we are working by each minute and hour to do so."⁷³ American INTEL, CIA, British INTEL, Qatari DEFENDANTS, and QATAR AIRWAYS worked together to tamper the United Airlines Flight by each minute and hour to do so and direct PLAINTIFF'S activities minute by minute, hour by hour at London Heathrow Airport. There is the part of how "they can help themselves."

XX. CIA, Hillary Clinton, MI6, Qatar, Qatari Intel, Prime Minister Singh and David Cameron, Leon Panetta, Barack Obama, had all significantly talked about in their conspiracy after doing a legal analysis and concluded was if and how "PLAINTIFF can help himself in London." The issue of how PLAINTIFF would attempt to leave London Heathrow Airport once he got there. The first question was: once PLAINTIFF figured out he would not be allowed to board the Qatar Airways flight, what would his next steps be. They knew PLAINTIFF didn't have anyone of significant financial means to go to in England so that's out. PLAINTIFF wouldn't go to the American Embassy for an Indian visa issue. So that's out. But the Qatar Airways was there to "help" PLAINTIFF reach their intended consequence of "going to the Indian Embassy."

XX. Because of the facts of QATAR AIRWAYS, Qatari DEFENDANTS, and Sheikh Hamad Bin Jassim Bin Jabr Al-Thani (HBJ), they aided and abetted and were principal accessories after the fact so they violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 Sections 1581-1590 (relating to peonage), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201

⁷² This is a just in case allegation and it is a bit of the stretch of the imagination: "I think we have enough problem in the region"--There was an incident that occurred between TKL and PLAINTIFF at REGION's bank in Sewanee, TN, right around the exact time of this speech as PLAINTIFF will explain in Champagne. Now as PLAINTIFF will allege, it would show retaliation and hostility by law enforcement against PLAINTIFF and Qatar and America knew of the incident and knew it would be a problem in prosecuting PLAINTIFF in a tribunal because of TKL'S unconstitutional actions through the years. Depends on the translation, but region and region's bank can be equivocated here.

“We know that a contract is the law between the parties and that they are bound by their agreements regardless of harmful consequences, provided the agreement is not contra bonos mores or in violation of some prohibitory law. However, where the issue is as in the instant case — what are the terms of the verbal agreement — the fact that informed and experienced persons do not usually and customarily bind themselves to unjust and unreasonable obligations is a serious factor that must be taken into consideration in determining that question.” Oil Field S. S. Material Co. v. Gifford Hill Co., 204 La. 929 (La. 1944)

So unknown American, Qatari, British and Boeing officials in the Qatar Airways deals and Heathrow Airport Holdings deal that was part of “trade is in the offing” violated: 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 18 U.S.C. §226; and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343; 18 U.S.C. §226; 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1512; 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1513; 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510; 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1503; 18 U.S.C. §241; 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery); 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S. Code § 875 (mail fraud argument); 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion); 18 U.S.C. §1961 Sections 1581-1590 (relating to peonage). To summarize some of the content contained in Statement of Claims Section: An Anchor and a Pitchfork:

XX: MODUS OPERANDI:

XX. Aussie INTEL said in 2015 about Australia's Counterterrorism Strategy⁸¹ that: they would "work closely with the community: families, friends and community members are often in the best position to identify individuals who are at risk of radicalisation and help steer them away from violent extremism. Our aim is to prevent extremists from exploiting vulnerable Australians and robbing them of their futures."⁸²

⁸² Id.

XX. Part of Aussie INTEL'S efforts in combatting counterterrorism are "complemented by coordinated international action to make the global environment less conducive to terrorism. Australia works with international partners, including through the United Nations, to challenge terrorism. We also engage with a wide number of partner countries to build capacity and capability, undertake joint operations, and exchange information to assist partner governments in detecting, monitoring and responding to terrorism... Given the absolute focus on saving lives, agencies will prioritise early disruption of a planned attack over waiting to gather further evidence for a successful prosecution. Early disruption is also used to stop activities that support or facilitate terrorism, but which may fall short of specific attack planning. There are a range of methods that can be used to send a message to individuals that their activities have attracted the attention of authorities in an attempt to dissuade them from further action."⁸³

XX. Let us see if Aussie INTEL and their police are "skilled in investigation, negotiation, tactical response, crisis management, and hostage recovery, enabling effective responses to terrorist attacks across all jurisdictions."⁸⁴

XX. Aussie INTEL continued: "in the event of a terrorist attack, we will work calmly and efficiently to bring the perpetrators to justice and to ensure that we can all return to our everyday activities with confidence. A range of government agencies and community organisations are prepared to assist the community in an effective recovery."⁸⁵

XX. Aussie INTEL lied in paragraph XX because they provided no assistance to PLAINTIFF because of the terrorist activity HILLARY CLINTON ordered against PLAINTIFF in which she and CGI still have terrorist bank accounts in Australia.

XX. Furthermore, Aussie INTEL said they work with international partners to stop the illegal flow of funds to terrorists through front organisations, registered financial institutions or not-for-profits. Terrorist groups also use a range of financing methods. These include taxing goods and wages, controlling resources such as oil, gas, crops, and minerals; kidnapping for ransom; theft and selling stolen antiquities."⁸⁶

XX. Aussie INTEL failed at the previous paragraph because of Paragraph XX.

XX. Aussie INTEL said and knew that what caused people to so called terrorist acts is "social isolation, a longing for a sense of purpose or belonging, long-term unemployment, criminality, or perceived political grievances." Furthermore, Aussie INTEL said they would "identify and divert at-risk individuals and deradicalize those already influenced by violent extremism."⁸⁷

XX. If Aussie INTEL was truly in the business of stopping terrorism and future so-called terrorists in which they have PINE GAP with NSA and CIA, allowing An Anchor and a Pitchfork to happen which would immediately cause social isolation, create the biggest longing for a sense of purpose or belonging after having a terrorist activity committed against PLAINTIFF, having long-term unemployment, and allowing criminality by DEFENDANTS, Aussie INTEL absolutely failed in their goals.

Because of Miki's Tea Party, PLAINTIFF was a political and legal liability to DEFENDANTS: HILLARY CLINTON, BILL CLINTON, JEH JOHNSON, JANET N.XX, ROBERT MUELLER III, LEON PANETTA, JAMES COMEY, and DHS on

Starting around January or February 2015, HILLARY CLINTON made her intentions known within the DC Bubble that she was going to run as president, which became official to the public around March 2015 or April 2015.

DEFENDANTS.... Knew that PLAINTIFF was residing at 773 John Henry Ave, Baton Rouge, LA. 70820 from October 2014 through May 2015. DEFENDANTS: DHS, CIA, FBI, and/or NSA had unconstitutionally installed surveillance tools inside the home. DEFENDANTS Apple Inc, AT&T, and Cox Communications aided and abetted DEFENDANTS XX where DEFENDANTS provided information they knew would enable inquirer to commit murder or other RICO predicate act).

PLAINTIFF was a journalist at the time having submitted an article for a LGBT magazine in Nashville describing state issues involving legalized gay marriage. PLAINTIFF had HILLARY CLINTON'S emails and wanted to write a story about HILLARY CLINTON'S corruption. PLAINTIFF had the material; but little did he know of the importance of Miki's Tea Party to DEFENDANTS XX. DEFENDANTS XX

PLAINTIFF and WARWICK ALLEN, both based on their Title VI features of sarcastic humor, would routinely have nearly sarcastic political discussions and discussions about whatever came up in the privacy of our home. During these First Amendment protected sarcastic musings, PLAINTI.... DEFENDANTS had a copy of the Angel's Email in Count XX Angel that they had shared and stored to be used maliciously against PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF, when discussing about past farming practices of the 1800s, talked about child marriage and how revolting that was, and how it was stereotypical that latinos got married at an early age between 10-15 or so years old and how that was vile.

More specifically, PLAINTIFF having no reason to believe he was being recorded at all times, gave the details of what PLAINTIFF calls Miki's Nightmare. PLAINTIFF orally explained how to commit the perfect hate crime against PLAINTIFF on the basis of PLAINTIFF'S disabilities (autism and other disabilities) in which PLAINTIFF would not recognize the danger that was unfolding in front of PLAINTIFF in time due to psycho-social factors associated with autism and ADD, the psychological phenomenon of the anchoring effect, and depriving PLAINTIFF of sleep. Miki's Nightmare was the perfect way to destroy PLAINTIFF permanently because Miki's Nightmare gave the exact fabricated conditions needed to destroy PLAINTIFF permanently; due to the level of specificity of the details of Miki's Nightmare, it could not have existed in reality but for DEFENDANTS intentional implementation of it against PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF specifically explained and elaborated that committing Miki's Nightmare against PLAINTIFF was far worse to PLAINTIFF than murdering PLAINTIFF because murdering PLAINTIFF would have been merciful and would have put an end to PLAINTIFF, but implementing Miki's Nightmare would be for all of his life and eternity. JEH JOHNSON, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JAMES COMEY, ANDREW MCCABE, JAMES CLAPPER, Chief Justice JOHN ROBERTS, BARACK OBAMA, VALERIE JARRETT, and/or XX violated Executive Order 11905, Executive Order 12036, and Executive Order 12333 because they all knew implementing Miki's Nightmare was worse than murder to PLAINTIFF.

DEFENDANTS having utilized USA PATRIOT ACT Section 507 numerous times before obtained a psychological profile on PLAINTIFF and had utilized their own psychological profile against PLAINTIFF.

The NSA has NSANet, which is a classified intranet network that connects Aussies and British Intel and shares intelligence data between NSA, British Intel, and Aussies. Money was/is spent on creating NSANet, maintaining NSANet, and utilizing NSANet that sends, receives, and processes information and data on NSANet, and British Intel utilized NSANET and transmitted the entirety of the factual circumstances of Miki's Tea Party and An Anchor and a Pitchfork in which an act of international and domestic terrorism against an American occurred that was not reported nor was anyone subsequently punished for their failure in doing so nor did anyone stop it having information from at least 5 months before that it was likely to occur against PLAINTIFF. At all relevant times, British Intel and NSA had immediate and direct communication with each other at all times in Miki's Tea Party & An Anchor and a Pitchfork and did not do anything to stop RICO Enterprise 1. Even having direct and completely unimpeded access to National Security Operations Center (NSOC) in which all information about Miki's Tea Party and An Anchor and a Pitchfork was sent, received, and processed in which NSOC's core function is to handle time sensitive issues obtained via sigint—neither British Intel nor NSA did anything despite being made aware of RICO Enterprise 1 from at least September 2010 and letting it happen in March 2011, and therefore, at a minimum, aided and abetted and facilitated RICO Enterprise 1 (as well as RICO Enterprise 2). NSA and Aussies have a prior relationship in which NSA operates out of Geraldton, Pine Gap (which the CIA also operates out of) and Shoal Bay, Australia. Based on information and belief, when PLAINTIFF was less than 7 years old, he had gone numerous times to the Balkans during the Yugoslav war; and it is from these 1990s Balkan visits that Pine Gap picked up information concerning PLAINTIFF as a little boy. So PLAINTIFF entered into the Pine Gap computer systems from the early 1990s.

When PLAINTIFF was in London in 2011, information about PLAINTIFF was submitted, sent, received, and processed through Pine Gap eventually making its way back to Washington DC and American Intel in which unknown CIA, NSA, Aussie DEFENDANTS directed what to do with PLAINTIFF'S information that was part of the mail and wire fraud scheme. This was in violation of XX. Furthermore, PLAINTIFF is alleging Aussies, CIA, and NSA shared information about all factual circumstances that happened in Miki's Tea Party on NSANET.

When PLAINTIFF was in both Baton Rouge, Louisiana and Tokyo, Japan in 2015, information about PLAINTIFF concerning his time in both Baton Rouge, LA and Tokyo, Japan was submitted, sent, received, and processed through Pine Gap eventually making its way back to Washington DC and American Intel in which unknown CIA, NSA, Aussie DEFENDANTS directed what to do with PLAINTIFF'S information that was part of the mail and wire fraud scheme. NSA, CIA, and Aussies transmitted the entirety of all the factual circumstances An Anchor and a Pitchfork to JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, NSA HEAD, XX in which no one took any remedial measures nor prevented anyone from furthering RICO Enterprise 1.

PLAINTIFF is alleging Aussies and NSA shared information about all factual circumstances that happened in An Anchor and a Pitchfork on NSANET in violation of:

XX. Not once did NSA, CIA, or Aussies attempt to stop An Anchor and a Pitchfork from happening in which they hid material information in which NSA, CIA, and Aussies had complete access to PLAINTIFF at all times when he was in Japan in Summer 2015. Even having direct and completely unimpeded access to National Security Operations Center (NSOC) in which all information about An Anchor and a Pitchfork was sent, received, and processed in which NSOC's core function is to handle time sensitive issues obtained via sigint—no Aussies nor NSA did anything despite being made aware of RICO Enterprise 1 and therefore aided and abetted and facilitated RICO Enterprise 1 (as well as RICO Enterprise 2). Therefore, XX DEFENDANTS violated: XX

XX. NSA, CIA, and Japanese DEFENDANTS have a relationship in which NSA operates out of Misawa, Japan in which NSA, CIA, and Japanese DEFENDANTS shared, submitted, and received information concerning all the factual circumstances involved in An Anchor and a Pitchfork. Some of this data was transmitted through ORION 3, ORION 5, and ORION 7 from Japan to CIA and NSA headquarters in and around WASHINGTON DC that processed all the information from sources like City and County of San Francisco, 575 U.S. 600 (2015), BILL CLINTON'S visit with SHINZO ABE in March 2015, correspondence between CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS and the Japanese supreme court from March 2015 to July 2015, and HILLARY CLINTON'S speech on 06/26/2015 in their computers that was relayed also to the WHITE HOUSE. Everyone in NSA and CIA were intentionally unaware of the impending danger despite having every reason to know that it was going to happen in which they made An Anchor and a Pitchfork happen the way they did. CIA and NSA were in direct contact with PLAINTIFF at all times in Japan in Summer 2015 in which there was an affirmative duty to prevent RICO Enterprise 1 from furthering in which NSA, CIA, and Japanese DEFENDANTS all failed in furthering RICO Enterprise 1 in which they committed mail and wire fraud and other crimes in the process.

XX. PLAINTIFF is alleging DEFENDANTS violated 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(4)(A) in which one of the following occurred: 1)The United States directed British Intel, Qatari Intel, Indian Intel, Aussie Intel, Japanese Intel, or German Intel, to intentionally target PLAINTIFF or 2) Indian Intel, British Intel, Qatari Intel, Japanese Intel, German Intel, or Aussie Intel, intentionally targeted PLAINTIFF because of RICO Enterprise 1 and shared the information with the United States Government.

XX. DHS and NSA have a partnership in which DHS and NSA utilize NSA'S Threat Operations Center (NTOC), which is the primary NSA/CSS partner for Department of Homeland Security response to cyber incidents. In an Anchor and a Pitchfork, a blackmail email was sent to PLAINTIFF in which American Intel and British Intel and Aussies necessarily had PLAINTIFF under surveillance in which they all knew of the liability PLAINTIFF posed to the CLINTONS and SCOTUS. At all times, DHS and NSA via the NTOC forecasted the incident to occur from at least 06/27/2015 in an Anchor and a Pitchfork and 09/27/2010 in Miki's Tea Party. Alerts were sent to both DHS and NSA. They could have easily and readily attributed the malicious activity being undertaken against PLAINTIFF in An Anchor and a Pitchfork and Miki's Tea Party. DHS and NSA did nothing and aided and abetted RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2 and furthered the objectives of RICO Enterprise 1. By having received, sent, and processed all of the information concerning PLAINTIFF in Miki's Tea Party and An Anchor and a Pitchfork at the NTOC in which information was obtained in Tennessee, England, Washington DC/Fort Meade, Illinois, Japan, and other locations, this is part of the requirement constituting furthering mail and wire fraud and other RICO predicate acts in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2.

XX. The United States, India, United Kingdom, Germany, Japan, Australia, and Qatar, all violated 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(1)(B)(iii) which requires that under data sharing, it must adhere to applicable international human rights obligations and commitments or demonstrates respect for international universal human rights in which DEFENDANTS violated the The Convention On the Rights of Persons With Disabilities-- was all signed by United States, India, United Kingdom, Germany, Japan, Australia, and Qatar--that violated Article 13: Access to justice; Article 14: Liberty and security of person; Article 15: Freedom from torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment; Article 16: Freedom from exploitation, violence and abuse; Article 17: Protecting the integrity of the person; Article 18:Liberty of movement; Article 21 Freedom of expression and opinion, and access to information; Article 22 Respect for privacy; Article 24 Education; Article 25 Health States Parties recognize that persons with disabilities have the right to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of health without discrimination on the basis of disability.

XX. DEFENDANTS violated 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(4)(A) in which one of the following occurred: 1)The United States directed British Intel, Qatari Intel, Indian Intel, Aussie Intel, Japanese Intel, or German Intel, to intentionally target PLAINTIFF or 2) Indian Intel, British Intel, Qatari Intel, Japanese Intel, German Intel, or Aussie Intel, intentionally targeted PLAINTIFF because of RICO Enterprise 1 and shared the information with the United States Government.

XX. Information pertaining to JAPLAN, PLAINTIFF, ANGIE ORTIZ, SHINZO ABE, HILLARY CLINTON, JEH JOHNSON, ROBERT MUELLER, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JAY CARNEY, BILL CLINTON, CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS, were transmitted through one of the CIA'S cloud data centers in Japan.

XX. Information that concerns JAPLAN, PLAINTIFF, ANGIE ORTIZ, HILLARY CLINTON, JOHN O. BRENNAN, BILL CLINTON, Chief Justice JOHN ROBERTS, JEH JOHNSON, ANDREW MCCABE, SHINZO ABE, and ROBERT MUELLER that relate to RICO Enterprise 1 was received, sent, and processed through one of the Japanese data centers to CIA HQ in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and the scheme throughout the Spring and Summer of 2015. Therefore, a violation of 18 U.S.C. 1343 and 18 U.S.C. 1962(d).

XX. Because of XX, Unknown CIA officers, employees, and officials necessarily became aware of the events in JAPLAN and did nothing.

XX. JAMES FERGUSON "JAY" CARNEY became aware of JAPLAN and PLAINTIFF during the course of his employment as Amazon's Senior Vice President of Global Corporate Affairs from 2015 to 2022.

XX. JAMES FERGUSON "JAY" CARNEY worked for the Obama White House.

XX. JAMES FERGUSON "JAY" CARNEY knew of the CIA'S cloud contract with Amazon and Amazon Web Services and knew details about CIA'S Cloud.

XX. JAMES FERGUSON "JAY" CARNEY, during his employment at Amazon, aided and abetted RICO Enterprise 1 in which he transmitted data about PLAINTIFF and RICO Enterprise 1 over the wires to individuals such as JEH JOHNSON, JOHN O. BRENNAN, ROBERT MUELLER, American INTEL, and/or 5 EYES DEFENDANTS.

XX. Unknown officers and employees in CIA 1) knew how much the United States Government paid to allow JAPLAN to happen, 2) how much the Government of Japan received from any one in, or directly from, the United States Government, the Indian government, the Qatari government, and the British government because of JAPLAN, 3) who else within the United States Government besides HILLARY & BILL CLINTON (technically they were private actors), ANDREW MCCABE, SHINZO ABE (not in the United States government but was a key figure), JEH JOHNSON, JOHN O. BRENNAN, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS, JUSTICE SAMUEL ALITO, the Estate of ANTON SCALIA, and ROBERT MUELLER wanted JAPLAN to happen and were a part of it, 4) how much the Japanese government received when the United States Government wanted to abuse legal process and prosecute PLAINTIFF in Japan, and/or 5) anyone else who were actors and participants in JAPLAN from the following DEFENDANTS: Indian DEFENDANTS, Indian INTEL, Qatari DEFENDANTS, Qatari INTEL, British DEFENDANTS, BRITISH INTEL, German DEFENDANTS, German INTEL, JAPANESE DEFENDANTS, and JAPANESE INTEL.

XX. Therefore, unknown officers and employees in the CIA aided and abetted and/or became accessories after the fact and/or became material participants and actors in all of HILLARY and BILL CLINTON'S crimes against PLAINTIFF, which include, but are not limited to: 18 U.S.C. 1961 section 1343, 18 U.S.C. 2340, 18 U.S.C. 2441, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1513, 18 U.S.C. §1961 sections 1581–1592, 18 U.S.C. §1961(F) any act which is indictable under the Immigration and Nationality Act, section 274 (relating to bringing in and harboring certain aliens), section 277 (relating to aiding or assisting certain aliens to enter the United States), or section 278 (relating to importation of alien for immoral purpose) if the act indictable under such section of such Act was committed for the purpose of financial gain (which CGI did gain financially as well as India, Britain, Japan, and/or Qatar and in which Miki's Tea Party is necessarily based upon), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 2339(a) because that was an international act of terrorism in which unknown officials, employees, and officers in NSA, Indian INTEL and Indian DEFENDANTS, Qatari DEFENDANTS and Qatari INTEL, and British DEFENDANTS and INTEL provided material support to terrorism abroad.

XX. 5 EYES DEFENDANTS became aware of JAPLAN in Spring and Summer of 2015.

XX. 5 EYES DEFENDANTS therefore aided and abetted JAPLAN against PLAINTIFF.

XX. 5 EYES DEFENDANTS know who committed JAPLAN against PLAINTIFF.

XX. NSA unit S2C51 intercepted calls and data from the Japanese Finance Ministry, Japanese Financial Monetary Affairs Department, and Japanese Financial International Department, that concerned Japanese Economic Developments, the home number of HIDESHIMA.

XX. NSA unit S2C51 intercepted calls and data from the JAPANESE Minister of Economy, Trade, and Industry's office.

XX. NSA unit S2C41 intercepted calls and data from the Japanese Government VIP Line.

XX. NSA units S2C41 and S2C51 intercepted calls, data, emails, reports, cables, etc. from February 01st, 2015 to December 31st, 2016 that talked about: 1) Hillary Clinton, 2) Bill Clinton, 3) PLAINTIFF, 4) Angie Ortiz, 5) Shinzo Abe, and/or 6) any combination of the previous individuals.

XX. Unknown NSA officers and employees in NSA units S2C41 and S2C51 necessarily processed, reviewed, heard, transmitted information over the wires about the content of the phone calls, emails, reports, cables, etc. that discussed RICO Enterprise 1.

XX. Furthermore, the content of the phone calls, emails, reports, cables that discussed RICO Enterprise 1 was transmitted over the wires in NSANet.

XX. Because of XX and XX, unknown NSA officers and employees in NSA units S2C41 and S2C51 aided and abetted:

XX. By doing NOTHING about the war-crimes, torture, and RICO Enterprise 1 when they had direct knowledge of such, unknown officers and employees in NSA units S2C41 and S2C51 violated 42 U.S.C. 1985(2), 42 U.S.C. 1985(3), 18 U.S.C. 241, 42 U.S.C. 1986, and 18 U.S.C. 1962(d).

XX. Unknown officers and employees in NSA Units S2C41 and S2C51 1) knew how much the United States Government paid to allow JAPLAN to happen, 2) how much the Government of Japan received from any one in, or directly from, the United States Government, the Indian government, the Qatari government, and the British government because of JAPLAN, 3) who else within the United States Government besides HILLARY & BILL CLINTON (technically they were private actors), ANDREW MCCABE, JEH JOHNSON, JOHN O. BRENNAN, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS, JUSTICE SAMUEL ALITO, the Estate of ANTON SCALIA, and ROBERT MUELLER wanted JAPLAN to happen and were a part of it, 4) how much the Japanese government received when the United States Government wanted to abuse legal process and prosecute PLAINTIFF in Japan, and/or 5) anyone else who were actors and participants in JAPLAN from the following DEFENDANTS: Indian DEFENDANTS, Indian INTEL, Qatari DEFENDANTS, Qatari INTEL, British DEFENDANTS, BRITISH INTEL, German DEFENDANTS, German INTEL, JAPANESE DEFENDANTS, and JAPANESE INTEL.

XX. Therefore, unknown officers and employees in NSA Units S2C41 and S2C51 aided and abetted and/or became accessories after the fact and/or became material participants and actors in all of HILLARY and BILL CLINTON'S crimes against PLAINTIFF, which include, but are not limited to: 18 U.S.C. 1961 section 1343, 18 U.S.C. 2340, 18 U.S.C. 2441, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1513, 18 U.S.C. §1961 sections 1581–1592, 18 U.S.C. §1961(F) any act which is indictable under the Immigration and Nationality Act, section 274 (relating to bringing in and harboring certain aliens), section 277 (relating to aiding or assisting certain aliens to enter the United States), or section 278 (relating to importation of alien for immoral purpose) if the act indictable under such section of such Act was committed for the purpose of financial gain (which CGI did gain financially as well as India, Britain, Japan, and/or Qatar and in which Miki's Tea Party is necessarily based upon), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 2339(a) because that was an international act of terrorism in which unknown officials, employees, and officers in NSA, Indian INTEL and Indian DEFENDANTS, Qatari DEFENDANTS and Qatari INTEL, and British DEFENDANTS and INTEL provided material support to terrorism abroad.

XX. ANDREW MCCABE, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, PETER STRZOK and/or Chief Justice JOHN ROBERTS shared the details of Miki's Nightmare to HILLARY CLINTON on top of sharing private conversations said in the home to HILLARY CLINTON regularly throughout Spring 2015 and Summer 2015 in which HILLARY CLINTON directly referenced PLAINTIFF'S speech on June 26th, 2015. ANDREW MCCABE, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, PETER STRZOK, and/or Chief Justice JOHN ROBERTS violated 18 U.S.C. §1962(d); 18 USC §2; 18 USC §1961 sections 2251, 2251A, 2252, and 2260 (relating to sexual exploitation of children) if ANGIE ORTIZ was a child; 18 USC §1961 sections 1581–1592; 18 USC §1961 section 1503; 18 USC §1961 section 1951; 18 U.S.C. § 956(a)(1); 18 USC §1961 section 1512; 18 USC §1961 section 1510; 18 U.S.C. §2340; 18 U.S.C § 2441; 42 U.S.C. §1983; 42 U.S.C. §1985; 42 U.S.C. §1986; Title VI of the Civil Rights Act; RFRA; 42 U.S.C. §242.

XX. PLAINTIFF was a liability to Chief Justice JOHN ROBERTS because of Star Chambers. On or around March 17th, 2015, BILL CLINTON goes to Japan and meets with Prime Minister SHINZO ABE and unknown Japanese Intel Defendants and government officials, and they conspire against PLAINTIFF in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1962(d) in which they sought to implement Miki's Nightmare and prosecute PLAINTIFF in Japan because BILL CLINTON knew PLAINTIFF was a legal and political liability to HILLARY CLINTON in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 956(a)(1), 18 U.S.C. §2332, 18 U.S.C. §2340A, 18 U.S.C. 2441, XX

XX. Then CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS and the CHIEF JUSTICE of the Japanese Supreme Court XX start having conversations around late March 2015 in which Chief Justice JOHN ROBERTS shared the details Miki's Nightmare and how they could ensure that PLAINTIFF would be prosecuted in Japan in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1962(d); 18 USC §241; 18 USC §1961 sections 2251, 2251A, 2252, and 2260 (relating to sexual exploitation of children) if ANGIE ORTIZ was a child; 18 USC §1961 sections 1581–1592; 18 USC §1961 section 1503; 18 USC §1961 section 1951; 18 U.S.C. § 956(a)(1); 18 USC §1961 section 1512; 18 USC §1961 section 1510; 18 U.S.C. §2340; 18 U.S.C § 2441; 42 U.S.C. §1983; 42 U.S.C. §1985; 42 U.S.C. §1986; Title VI of the Civil Rights Act; RFRA; 42 U.S.C. §242. These actions were done to further RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2. Furthermore, as elaborated upon in Miki's Tea Party, CGI would obtain more funds in which the amount of donations would dramatically decrease if HILLARY CLINTON did not win in 2016, which is exactly what happened and Bill and Hillary Clinton took the actions in part because they knew they would receive less money in CGI.

XX. DEFENDANTS Chief Justice JOHN ROBERTS and Justice ANTONIN SCALIA necessarily approved of DEFENDANTS JOHN BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, JAMES COMEY, ANDREW MCCABE, HILLARY CLINTON'S plan to implement Miki's Nightmare and absolve all future federal officials of liability for intentionally implementing Miki's Nightmare by ruling the City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015) on May 18th, 2015 that served as legal direction for aforementioned DEFENDANTS to absolve themselves and ensure a conviction as PLAINTIFF explained in Star Chambers in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1962(d); 18 USC §241; 18 USC §1961 sections 2251, 2251A, 2252, and 2260 (relating to sexual exploitation of children) if ANGIE ORTIZ was a child; 18 USC §1961 sections 1581–1592; 18 USC §1961 section 1503; 18 USC §1961 section 1951; 18 U.S.C. § 956(a)(1); 18 USC §1961 section 1512; 18 USC §1961 section 1510; 18 U.S.C. §2340; 18 U.S.C § 2441; 42 U.S.C. §1983; 42 U.S.C. §1985; 42 U.S.C. §1986; Title VI of the Civil Rights Act; RFRA; 42 U.S.C. §242. These actions were done to further RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2.

XX. JEH JOHNSON and DEFENDANTS in DHS, who has oversight of CBP and ICE, knew of JAPLAN, and under their complete watch and assistance, XX, in violation of: 18 U.S.C. §§ 1962(d)

XX. JOHN BRENNAN, Indian INTEL,⁴ and DEFENDANTS in CIA knew of JAPLAN, 18 U.S.C. §§ 1962(d)

XX. When DEFENDANTS JEH JOHNSON, JOHN O. BRENNAN, etc. implemented JAPLAN against PLAINTIFF in Tokyo, Japan, they violated: 18 USC §1961 section 1510, 18 USC §1961 section 1512, XX. When DEFENDANTS JEH JOHNSON, JOHN O. BRENNAN XX, etc. trafficked ANGIE ORTIZ as part of implementing Miki's Nightmare, they utilized a fake passport in which PLAINTIFF relied on in violation 18 USC §1961section 1028. When aforementioned DEFENDANTS implemented Miki's Nightmare, they had previously conspired to implement Miki's Nightmare; and by fully implementing Miki's Nightmare and doing nothing for a whole month and not stopping it from occurring after May 18th, 2015, aforementioned DEFENDANTS violated: 18 U.S.C. §1962(d); 18 USC §241; 18 USC §1961 sections 2251, 2251A, 2252, and 2260 (relating to sexual exploitation of children) if ANGIE ORTIZ was a child; 18 USC §1961 sections 1581–1592; 18 USC §1961 section 1503; 18 USC §1961 section 1951; 18 U.S.C. § 956(a)(1); 18 USC §1961 section 1512; 18 USC §1961 section 1510; 18 U.S.C. §2340; 18 U.S.C. § 2441; 42 U.S.C. §1983; 42 U.S.C. §1985; 42 U.S.C. §1986; Title VI of the Civil Rights Act; RFRA; 42 U.S.C. §242; 18 USC §1961 sections 1581–1592; These actions were done to further RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2.

XX. When XX DEFENDANTS either trafficked ANGIE ORTIZ around June 26th, 2015 or prior to June 26th, 2015 to Japan, having prior agreements with Japanese Immigration officials, they managed to circumvent those agreements and were intentionally and willfully ignorant of ANGIE ORTIZ'S immigration status. Furthermore, from the moment that PLAINTIFF met ANGIE ORTIZ on the street in front of his guest house and by necessarily having PLAINTIFF under surveillance at that time, aforementioned DEFENDANTS ran ANGIE ORTIZ's information through their systems in which they knew she was trafficked and still did nothing in violation of: 18 U.S.C. §1962(d); 18 USC §241; 18 USC §1961 sections 2251, 2251A, 2252, and 2260 (relating to sexual exploitation of children) if ANGIE ORTIZ was a child; 18 USC §1961 sections 1581–1592; 18 USC §1961 section 1503; 18 USC §1961 section 1951; 18 U.S.C. § 956(a)(1); 18 USC §1961 section 1512; 18 USC §1961 section 1510; 18 U.S.C. §2340; 18 U.S.C. § 2441; 42 U.S.C. §1983; 42 U.S.C. §1985; 42 U.S.C. §1986; Title VI of the Civil Rights Act; RFRA; 42 U.S.C. §242; 18 USC §1961 sections 1581–1592; These actions were done to further RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2.

On June 26th, 2015 exactly at the same time PLAINTIFF became even more vulnerable to Miki's Nightmare, HILLARY CLINTON gave a speech at the Jackson-Jefferson Fund Raising Gala for her presidential run in 2016 (hereon: Jackson-Jefferson Speech). HILLARY CLINTON'S Jackson-Jefferson Speech served as a 'hit' against PLAINTIFF and contained numerous RICO predicate acts, directions on furthering RICO Enterprise 1, used the exact same and specific jokes PLAINTIFF made and said in the privacy of PLAINTIFF'S home in Baton Rouge in the Spring of 2015 thereby making it Federal and thereby establishing a factual nexus that connects the content of politically connected speech to retaliation against PLAINTIFF and the fact that PLAINTIFF posed a liability in which the only way HILLARY CLINTON learned about PLAINTIFF'S speech was through one of the DEFENDANTS having given her that information in violation of the law, in violation of revealing information in the course of an ongoing investigation, policies, or other illegal ways or methods unknown to PLAINTIFF. See: United States v. Miller, 116 F.3d 641 (2d Cir. 1997) (act involving murder need not be actual murder as long as the act directly concerned murder, and facilitation of murder was a proper RICO predicate because accessorial offenses described in the New York State statutory provisions involved murder within the meaning of RICO where defendant provided information he knew would enable inquirer to commit murder or other RICO predicate act).

XX. The 'hit' against PLAINTIFF to further implement Miki's Nightmare was conveyed in the Jackson-Jefferson Speech when HILLARY CLINTON stated: "and the Hispanic child who still lives in the shadow of deportation" in which HILLARY CLINTON angrily stared at someone in the crowd who received the orders. This phrase was a command to an unknown DEFENDANT and member of the RICO Enterprise to commit one of the most heinous acts known to man.

XX. PLAINTIFF could not find open sources that stipulated ANDREW MCCABE was in the crowd that night at Jackson-Jefferson Speech on 06/26/2015; however, given the fact that it was his wife that was running as a state senator in Virginia and based on the content of Jackson-Jefferson Speech, PLAINTIFF has information and belief to allege ANDREW MCCABE was there. Due to ANDREW MCCABE'S actions that involved PLAINTIFF when PLAINTIFF was in Tokyo, Japan in Summer 2015 in which ANDREW MCCABE necessarily knew everything that was happening from the moment PLAINTIFF arrived in Tokyo, Japan, ANDREW MCCABE would be promoted twice in 3 months at the FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION after 07/31/2015 in order for ANDREW MCCABE'S wife (JILL MCCABE) to gain funds from TERRY MCAULIFFE in JILL MCCABE'S failed run as a state senator in Virginia; the vast majority of the financing for JILL MCCABE'S state senate run was given by DEFENDANTS after July 31st, 2015. ANDREW MCCABE violated:

XX. PLAINTIFF is alleging Britain, Qatar, Japan, Germany, Australia, and/or India issued an order to obtain information about PLAINTIFF to provide to the United States in violation of 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(4)(C) in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1964(d) and 18 U.S.C. 241 and 18 U.S.C. 242; 42 U.S.C. 1983; 42 U.S.C. 1985(2); and 42 U.S.C. 1985 (3). PLAINTIFF is alleging that the provision within 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(4)(C) of "nor shall the foreign government be required to share any information produced with the United States Government or a third-party government" is unconstitutional because it can cover up a RICO Enterprise and PLAINTIFF is alleging they are doing just that when they would utilize this provision to deny discovery requests.

XX. DEFENDANTS violated 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(4)(A) in which one of the following occurred: 1)The United States directed British Intel, Qatari Intel, Indian Intel, Aussie Intel, Japanese Intel, or German Intel, to intentionally target PLAINTIFF in violation of 18 U.S.C. §2339(a) in providing material support to terrorists, 18 U.S.C. § 956(a)(1), 18 U.S.C. 1341, 18 U.S.C. 1343, 18 USC §1961 section 1510; 18 USC §1961 section 1512, 18 USC §1961 section 1513, 18 U.S.C. §2340, 18 U.S.C § 2441, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2), 42 U.S.C. §1985(3), 42 U.S.C. §1986, Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §2339 (by harboring the terrorists that perpetuated the act of terrorism against PLAINTIFF), 18 U.S.C. §249, 18 U.S.C. §250, 42 U.S.C. §2000aa, 18 USC §1961 section 1951;18 USC §1961 sections 1581–1592;

XX. DEFENDANTS violated 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(4)(A) Indian Intel, British Intel, Qatari Intel, Japanese Intel, German Intel, or Aussie Intel, intentionally targeted PLAINTIFF in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and shared the information with the United States Government and violated: 18 U.S.C. §2339(a) in providing material support to terrorists, 18 U.S.C. § 956(a)(1), 18 U.S.C. 1341, 18 U.S.C. 1343, 18 USC §1961 section 1510; 18 USC §1961 section 1512, 18 USC §1961 section 1513, 18 U.S.C. §2340, 18 U.S.C § 2441, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2), 42 U.S.C. §1985(3), 42 U.S.C. §1986, Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §2339 (by harboring the terrorists that perpetuated the act of terrorism against PLAINTIFF), 18 U.S.C. §249, 18 U.S.C. §250, 42 U.S.C. §2000aa, 18 USC §1961 section 1951; 18 USC §1961 sections 1581–1592;

XX. The United States, India, United Kingdom, Germany, Japan, Australia, and Qatar, all violated 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(1)(B)(iii) which requires that under data sharing, it must adhere to applicable international human rights obligations and commitments or demonstrates respect for international universal human rights in which DEFENDANTS violated the The Convention On the Rights of Persons With Disabilities-- was all signed by United States, India, United Kingdom, Germany, Japan, Australia, and Qatar--that violated Article 13: Access to justice; Article 14: Liberty and security of person; Article 15: Freedom from torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment; Article 16: Freedom from exploitation, violence and abuse; Article 17: Protecting the integrity of the person; Article 18: Liberty of movement; Article 21 Freedom of expression and opinion, and access to information; Article 22 Respect for privacy; Article 24 Education; Article 25 Health States Parties recognize that persons with disabilities have the right to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of health without discrimination on the basis of disability.

XX. aforementioned DEFENDANTS intentionally broke PLAINTIFF’S heart with BRIANA DRESCHER increasing the psychological need to find a woman in Japan.

XX. YOSHIHIDE SUGA talked directly to HUNTER BIDEN AND JIM BIDEN about PLAINTIFF.

XX.

XX. YOSHIHIDE SUGA “worked” at the Tokyo Roppongi Patent and Law office.

XX. YOSHIHIDE SUGA knew about PLAINTIFF from June 26th, 2015.

XX. YOSHIHIDE SUGA conspired with American INTEL and Japanese INTEL involving PLAINTIFF.

XX. YOSHIHIDE SUGA and SHINZO ABE conspired against PLAINTIFF and furthered RICO Enterprise 1 in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1962(d) from May 2015 through August 2015.

XX. SANAE TAKAICHI and SHINZO ABE conspired against PLAINTIFF and furthered RICO Enterprise 1 in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1962(d) from May 2015 through August 2015.

XX. The National Security Council of Japan has hotlines to its American and British counterparts and were in existence between March 2015 through December 2016.

XX. XX, XX, and XX all shared information about PLAINTIFF and JAPLAN was transmitted over the wires through the hotlines mentioned in paragraph XX.

XX. Therefore,

XX. HILLARY CLINTON, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, BILL CLINTON, SHINZO ABE, ROBERT MUELLER, ANDREW MCCABE, Prime Minister MODI, American INTEL, Japanese INTEL, British INTEL, German INTEL, Canadian INTEL, and/or Indian INTEL all knew of PLAINTIFF'S issues involving fine and gross motor skills in which PLAINTIFF had to overcompensate by needing to perform cunnilingus as much as possible to satisfy a woman.

XX. HILLARY CLINTON, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, BILL CLINTON, SHINZO ABE, ROBERT MUELLER, ANDREW MCCABE, Prime Minister MODI, American INTEL, Japanese INTEL, British INTEL, German INTEL, Canadian INTEL, Indian INTEL, and other unknown conspirators directed ANGIE ORTIZ throughout the summer of 2015.

XX. HILLARY CLINTON, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, BILL CLINTON, BEN RHODES, ANDREW MCCABE, ROBERT MUELLER, GEORGE BUSH, SHINZO ABE, Prime Minister MODI, American INTEL, Japanese INTEL, British INTEL, German INTEL, Canadian INTEL, Indian INTEL, and other unknown conspirators

XX.

XX. Because of the previous paragraph, HILLARY CLINTON, JOHN O. BRENNAN, JEH JOHNSON, ROBERT MUELLER, ANDREW MCCABE, BILL CLINTON, SHINZO ABE, BEN RHODES, GEORGE BUSH, LEON PANETTA, Prime Minister MODI, American INTEL, Japanese INTEL, British INTEL, German INTEL, Canadian INTEL, Indian INTEL, and other unknown conspirators violated 18 U.S.C. 2340 and 18 U.S.C. 2441.

XX. Because of the previous two paragraphs DEFENDANTS aided and abetted HILLARY CLINTON and became accessories after the fact in which they all violated all of the laws that PLAINTIFF alleged HILLARY CLINTON violated at the beginning of this count.

XX. “Trade is in the offing” was about CONTINUOUS and ONGOING better trade relationships between America and India. “Developing countries that belong to the WTO and participate in more Preferential Trade Agreements experience greater Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) inflows than otherwise, controlling for many factors including domestic policy preferences and taking into account possible endogeneity.”⁸⁸ When talking about Foreign Direct Investment, Princeton Economists said the following: “FDI involves the acquisition or creation of productive capacity (i.e. more capacity in airports) which implies a long-term perspective and involves some assets that cannot be moved without considerable loss. This (variable but always positive) specificity of the investment has long given rise to concerns about the “obsolescing bargain” (Vernon 1971): once a firm undertakes a foreign direct investment, some bargaining power shifts to the host country government, which has an incentive to change the terms of the investment to reap a greater share of the benefits. This problem is exacerbated by the time-inconsistency problem faced by governments. Even governments that want to attract further FDI—and therefore have a long-run economic incentive not to violate the trust of current foreign investors—have in the short run incentives to change the terms of existing foreign investments when the short-run benefits exceed the long-term costs (Tomz 1997, 3f). And resource-strapped developing country governments may have an even greater incentive than governments in advanced industrialized countries to discount the long term.”⁸⁹ So India and Qatar both have an incentive to change the terms of the investment by participating in “the offing” in “trade is in the offing” to reap a greater share of the benefits of the increased future trade. And well, if HILLARY CLINTON is going to be president, makes sense to be part of Japlan in An Anchor and a Pitchfork because there would be no long term cost to Britain, Japan, India or Qatar when PLAINTIFF is immediately disposed of in 2015 in which they not only got four years of more economic development, but even more trade when HILLARY CLINTON is in the White House and that materially benefits America as well. So the SpiceJET deal—it was a preferential trade agreement because INDIA was developing their infrastructure and wanted more capacity in airports all around India that was at the direction of SINGH. GE locomotive deal-- preferential trade agreement as to get more exports out to shipping ports and transport new products received from trade is in the offing in India’s growing railroad industry (as opposed to America’s decreasing trackage). So even if it wasn’t just for domestic policy preferences, the actual products involved, INDIA preferred, and they got better deals by BOEING and GE and Hillary Clinton. GE even has their own India subdivision now.

Title VI of the Civil Rights Act.

The acts BILL CLINTON, HILLARY CLINTON, and other DEFENDANTS did were in violation of &, which served as a command to “deport” ANGIE ORTIZ to PLAINTIFF in which it would bring out the worst parts of human nature (shadow) through drugging PLAINTIFF, limiting PLAINTIFF’S mental capacity through known and unknown mechanisms and schemes, directing actors to commit war crimes against PLAINTIFF which DEFENDANTS had the knowledge of how to do so based on DEFENDANTS sharing information with DEFENDANTS; and this plausibly very well could have produced the result of deporting PLAINTIFF out of the United States because of DEFENDANTS RICO Enterprise. DEFENDANTS DEFILED PLAINTIFF’S SOUL. Some of the crimes DEFENDANTS did:

Then after BILL and HILLARY CLINTON directed the hit against PLAINTIFF in JAPAN in 2015, HILLARY CLINTON then had effective control over DHS as a private individual from at least Spring 2015 because of what DHS did in Miki’s Tea Party where she, as a private individual, directed DHS to target PLAINTIFF in which DHS had an interest to do so from at least October, 31st, 2010 onwards.

This is how DEFENDANTS’ MAIMED PLAINTIFF BECAUSE OF THEIR ACTIONS ABROAD and how they violated The Convention On the Rights of Persons With Disabilities because PLAINTIFF engages in self-harm by compulsively picking at himself because of what DEFENDANTS’ did to PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF has lost all sense of himself and his personality and has not been right and okay despite trying his best to overcome what was done to him in that time.

“In conjunction with previous paragraphs, the war crime of completely dehumanizing PLAINTIFF and religiously defiling PLAINTIFF’S soul when CHERYL MILLS and DEFENDANTS wrote on 07/31/2015: “With fingers crossed, the old rabbit’s foot out of the box in the attic, I will be sacrificing a chicken in the backyard to Moloch...” in a context of a State Department email about Honduras. DEFENDANTS committed numerous RICO predicate acts and trafficked ANGIE ORTIZ--who probably was from Honduras in which PLAINTIFF does not know real age of to this day and may have been a child—for sexual exploitation and blackmail and extortion purposes against PLAINTIFF in Tokyo, Japan in late June 2015 and July 2015 and afterwards. DEFENDANTS referred to me as “a chicken” thus dehumanizing me in which my purpose was for me to serve as their sacrifice to their devil Moloch. PLAINTIFF, as an Orthodox Christian, having this done to him violates every single religious belief that PLAINTIFF has, it was completely demoralizing, and DEFENDANTS had prior knowledge that this was the way to perfectly harm PLAINTIFF against PLAINTIFF’s conscience, beliefs, and dignity.

20. Provide any additional information potentially helpful to the Court in adjudicating your RICO claim

Count XXIV: The More Things Change, The More They Stay the Same Way.

all parties asserting claims pursuant to the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act ("RICO"), 18 U.S.C. § 1961, must file and serve upon the opposing party a RICO Statement in the following form within twenty days of filing the pleading asserting the RICO claim.

The RICO Statement shall include the facts the party is relying upon to assert the RICO claim as a result of the "reasonable inquiry" required by Rule 11, Fed.R.Civ.P.

The Statement shall be in a form that uses the numbers and letters set forth below, and shall state the following information in detail.

1. State whether the alleged unlawful conduct is in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1962(a), (b), (c), and/or (d).
2. List each defendant and state the alleged misconduct and basis of liability of each defendant.

3. List the alleged wrongdoers, other than the defendants, and state the misconduct of each wrongdoer.

4. List the alleged victims and state how each victim was allegedly injured.

5. Describe in detail the pattern of racketeering activity or collection of unlawful debts alleged for each RICO claim.

The description of the pattern of racketeering shall include the following information:

(a) List the alleged predicate acts and the specific statutes that were allegedly violated;

(b) Provide the dates of, the participants in, and a description of the facts surrounding the predicate acts;

(c) If the RICO claim is based on the predicate offenses of wire fraud, mail fraud, or fraud in the sale of securities, the "circumstances constituting fraud or mistake shall be stated with particularity." Fed.R.Civ.P. 9(b).

Identify the time, place and contents of the alleged misrepresentations, and the identity of persons to whom and by whom the alleged misrepresentations were made;

(d) State whether a predicate act is based upon a criminal conviction;

(e) State whether civil litigation has resulted in a judgment with regard to the predicate acts;

(f) Describe how the predicate acts form a "pattern of racketeering activity";

and (g) State whether the alleged predicate acts relate to each other as part of a common plan.

If so, describe in detail.

6. Describe in detail the alleged enterprise for each RICO claim. A description of the enterprise shall include the following information:

(a) State the names of the individuals, partnerships, corporations, associations, or other legal entities that allegedly constitute the enterprise;

(b) Describe the structure, purpose, function and course of conduct of the enterprise;

(c) State whether any defendants are employees, officers or directors of the alleged enterprise;

(d) State whether any defendants are associated with the alleged enterprise;

(e) State whether you are alleging that the defendants are individuals or entities separate from the alleged enterprise, or that the defendants are the enterprise itself, or members of the enterprise; and

(f) If any defendants are alleged to be the enterprise itself, or members of the enterprise, explain whether such defendants are perpetrators, passive instruments, or victims of the alleged racketeering activity.

7. State and describe in detail whether you are alleging that the pattern of racketeering activity and the enterprise are separate or have merged into one entity.

8. Describe the alleged relationship between the activities of the enterprise and the pattern of racketeering activity. Discuss how the racketeering activity differs from the usual and daily activities of the enterprise, if at all.

9. Describe what benefits, if any, the alleged enterprise receives from the alleged pattern of racketeering.

10. Describe the effect of the activities of the enterprise on interstate or foreign commerce.

11. If the complaint alleges a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(a), provide the following information:

(a) State who received the income derived from the pattern of racketeering activity or through the collection of an unlawful debt; and

(b) Describe the use or investment of such income.

12. If the complaint alleges a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(b), describe in detail the acquisition or maintenance of any interest in or control of the alleged enterprise.

13. If the complaint alleges a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c):

(a) State who is employed by or associated with the enterprise, and

(b) State whether the same entity is both the liable "person" and the "enterprise" under § 1962(c).

14. If the complaint alleges a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(d), describe in detail the alleged conspiracy.

15. Describe the alleged injury to business or property.

16. Describe the direct causal relationship between the alleged injury and the violation of the RICO statute.

17. List the damages sustained for which each defendant is allegedly liable.

John Giacalone

Mr. Strzok. -- that satisfies your information. There are a variety of sections, which are headed by Senior Executive Service section chiefs, which address a variety of threats globally from a counterintelligence perspective. Those are both by region as well as by nature of the threat. So there are three Deputy Assistant Directors within the Counterintelligence Division. My branch at the time had, I believe -- let's see, two, three, four -- five or six section chiefs who handled a variety of both geographic/regional threats as well as topical threats.

Q Okay. Before you were promoted to Deputy Assistant Director, you, yourself, were a section chief. A That's correct. Q And what section did you supervise? A The espionage section. Q Okay. Very generally and very succinctly, what does the Counterintelligence Division do? What does a counterintelligence agent do? I mean, in an unclassified -- just for people that might not understand what the difference in those types of investigations are from someone who's maybe working bank robberies. A Absolutely. So there's a blend of both intelligence-type work and investigations that go on as well as criminal work. The way the Bureau looks at counterintelligence is, broadly, any foreign adversary, any foreign nation who is working to clandestinely work against American interests, whether that is the Government of America, the executive branch, the legislative branch, or into areas of private industry through things like economic espionage. So the mission of the FBI domestically is to protect America, not only the government but America broadly, against any number of foreign actors -- the Government of China, the Government of Russia, anybody who has a foreign intelligence service working against us.

Q So he was an EAD at the beginning of this investigation that was code name Midyear. A Yes. Q And your role at the very beginning was at what rank? A I was an Assistant Special Agent in Charge in the Washington field office when I -- Midyear predated -- it started before I became involved.

What was your initial role in Midyear Exam? PETER STRZOK: My initial role, I was an Assistant Special Agent in Charge at FBI's Washington field office. The case had been opened out of headquarters by then-Assistant Director Coleman. I know Section Chief Sandy Kable was also involved in the effort. At some point, I would say months in, maybe less than 2 months, but certainly after some time of running, they reached out to the FBI's Washington field office and said they needed greater staffing based on what they were looking at, based on some of the investigative steps that were under consideration, that they wanted to bring in field elements to work on that investigation. And so that was my first exposure to it and my entry into the investigation.

So why would this matter or this case have been opened up by FBI headquarters as the office of origin, for lack of a better term, and not opened up at the Washington field office? PETER STRZOK: I don't know, because I was not present when it occurred. My understanding is that decision was made by senior executives at the FBI, certainly at and likely above Assistant Director Coleman's level. But I don't know what the reasoning or discussion was as to why that occurred.

Q Are you aware of how many agents in total were brought over from WFO (about mid-year)? PETER STRZOK I am -- I could be aware with a review of materials. Speaking from recollection -- and this is going to be kind of vague -- there was a supervisory special agent, a significant portion of his squad made up of both agents and analysts, augmented by various computer forensic personnel, analytic personnel. So, roughly -- and it varied throughout the course of the investigation, anywhere from 10 to 20 WFO personnel. But that's a vague recollection, and I wouldn't want to say I'm absolutely certain about that number.

Q So Mr. McCabe, running the office in the Washington field office, would he be aware why individuals were leaving WFO to go to headquarters to run a case? A My recollection in this case is that he was not. I would defer to my boss, the -- I think it was SAC Greg Cox, I believe -- about any discussions, but I did not have a discussion with Mr. McCabe about what we were doing at headquarters. Q So you left WFO, went to headquarters. You did not discuss the reasons why you were leaving an office to go to headquarters with Mr. McCabe.

Q We've entertained some questions and tried to figure out what the term means that has been associated with this particular investigation, a "special," a "headquarters special." What is that designation as it is assigned to an investigation that the FBI is doing? A So I think "special" is a term that was used in previous, earlier Bureau times. And that was something where a task force would be created, my recollection is, that there was frequently with a special -- a particular costing and administrative process would be set up so that resources could be tracked and funded as part of supporting that special. Again, my recollection is that was something that was done much earlier in the FBI and that we don't tend to -- the formal structure of a special is not the same as, you know, kind of, the colloquial use of it. So I certainly have heard that used. I would say it is more accurate simply to say that it was an investigation where the personnel were at FBI headquarters, they were largely made up of Washington field and FBI headquarters personnel. Q So, to be clear, it sounds like the term "special," either in an older FBI, and maybe the term has just carried over, it meant how something administratively was done with the case, not the subject matter of the case. A Both. I mean, typically, I think it was an administrative process, but there was also a recognition that, you know, if there was a major terrorist event or if there was a major kidnapping or violent crime or something, where you were creating an investigation that merited a special process, which I can't define to you today. I'm sure if we pulled out an old MAOP or MIOG, documents that haven't existed for 20 years, they might define "special," but it was a not-unprecedented practice to create an entity like that to investigate. Q So you were recruited for the Midyear Exam investigation? Did they solicit applications? How did you come to be on the team? A My understanding is that Assistant Director Coleman asked for me and a team to come over. But that is -- that's secondhand information. I do n 't know that Mr. Coleman ever told me -- I don't know that I know exactly how it came to be that I was selected and directed to go to headquarters.

Q I have heard that you are regarded as the number-one counterintelligence agent in the world. Comment on that? A That's kind for whoever said it. I believe there are a number of very competent, qualified FBI agents who have spent their careers working counterintelligence, love the work, love protecting America, and I would count myself in that group. Q So you would be a logical resource for the FBI to go to for a matter that ended up in the Counterintelligence Division. A Yes.

LESLIE WOLF

Q At any time, either yourself or anybody else that came onto the team, was there any assessment, other than your expertise in particular violations, was there ever an assessment of political bias or political activity beyond what would just be normal for a rank-and-file employee anywhere, to, you know, go and vote or participate in the process like that? A Are you asking were political beliefs taken into account in a staffing perspective? Q Yes. A No, they were not. Q Okay. What was your understanding, in general terms for now, of what the Midyear Exam investigation was about? You're on it now; what's it about? A My understanding, broadly, was at least, one, whether or not classified information came to be placed on Secretary Clinton's servers and email accounts; if so, how that came to be; and, if so, whether or not that information had been compromised or otherwise accessed by a foreign power.

Mr. Strzok-- My initial role was as a supervisor over a series of subordinate supervisors and elements who were conducting the investigation. At the time, I was a section chief and was shortly thereafter promoted to Deputy Assistant Director.

Mr. Ratcliffe. I have no problem with that. Alls I'm asking for is confirmation that the work that was done, whatever that work was done -- he's related decisions were made, actions were taken, evidence was gathered and collected -- that the sum and substance of that, at least in part, transferred over or became part of the consideration of the special counsel. Ms. Besse. To the extent you know the answer, Pete. Mr. Strzok. I -- so would you restate the question? Mr. Ratcliffe. Yeah. I 'm just asking you to confirm whether the information or evidence that was gathered and collected as part of the Russia investigation, where you were making decisions and taking actions, whether any of that became part of the special counsel's probe and consideration. Mr. Strzok. Yes.

Mr. Strzok. There was a debate -- if I may, sir, finish, because it's important to understanding the context of what I said. The debate was how aggressively to pursue investigation, given that aggressive pursuit might put that intelligence source at risk. And there were some who looked and said, well, the polls are overwhelmingly in Secretary Clinton's favor; we can not risk this source by just not really investigating that aggressively. And my perspective was, you know, we need to do our job. We're the FBI. We need to investigate. The country deserves this. If there is a problem within the membership of the Trump campaign, that, if they are elected, that those people might be named to senior national security positions, and that is something, certainly, that the American people deserve and, indeed, candidate Trump might want to know. So my use of the phrase "insurance policy" was simply to say, while the polls or people might think it is less likely that then-candidate Trump would be elected, that should not influence -- that should not get in the way of us doing our job responsibly to protect the national security.

PETER STRZOK ignoring PLAINTIFF'S Constitutional intent and purpose in RICO Enterprise 2: Our look, which was still ongoing and, I believe to be still ongoing, it was not clear to me based on the investigators' skepticism whether we didn't know what we had, whether this was a large coordinated activity, whether this was a group of people pursuing their own agendas or, you know, their own motivations or desires and not knowing at that point whether or not -- what that interaction might have been or what it was.

Section 702 via Memo and Angie Ortiz. Continuing.

Mr. Strzok, as you -- as I am sure you're aware, there has been a litany of attacks from the highest levels of government accusing the FBI and D01 of conducting investigations driven by political bias instead of just facts and the rule of law. The question is this: Are you aware of any FBI or DOD investigations motivated by political bias?

Section IV: LEGAL HOUSE KEEPING.

Section IV Legal House Keeping serves two functions for the Court: 1): it provides a list of most of the issues to be ruled upon and 2): refutes possible defenses for DEFENDANTS as to quickly and effectively rule in PLAINTIFF'S favor on DEFENDANTS' Defenses.

#1: PLAINTIFF is asking the Court to rule on the following issues in addition to other issues that the Court may come across in the complaint:

- An Obstruction of Justice violation occurs under 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503 when a Constitutional Right violation or deprivation is made by an official or officer of the United States Government or is directed to be undertaken by a official or officer in the United States Government that a Court can reasonably rule a Constitutional Violation occurred regardless of whether or not it was a clearly established statutory right or constitutional right.
- There is a Constitutional Right to be left alone under the 9th and 10th and 14th Amendments.

- Sarcastic humor is a trait of Serbians and that violating one's sense of humor or utilizing sarcasm maliciously can be a basis of a Title VI claim against the United States Government and any of its agencies or officers or officials.
- Title VI applies to Slavic and/or Balkan people as they are a distinct group that Congress necessarily included in 1866.
- That one making jokes or engaging in sarcastic humor is a 1st Amendment protected activity. America needs to learn to laugh again. That violating one's sense of humor or utilizing sarcasm maliciously or fraudulently in the Court by an official, officer, or agency of the United States Government is a 1st Amendment violation.
- Words are not physically violent acts under the 1st Amendment. Put in another way, words are not violence under the 1st Amendment.
- There is a federally protected right underneath the 9th and 10th Amendment in the sanctity of marriage and preventing the United States Government from defiling the sanctity of the marriage.
- To rule on the principle that the United States Government can violate or defile's one soul and for it to be a legally cognizable and addressable harm that one has standing to sue over against the United States Government under the United States Constitution as one of the following rights under the Constitution--1st, 4th, 5th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendments, under the following laws: Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, Section 504, RICO, 18 U.S.C. 241, 18 U.S.C. 249, 42 U.S.C. 1983, 42 U.S.C. 1985, 42 U.S.C. 1986, 18 U.S.C. 2340, and 18 U.S.C. 2441.
- Under the 8th Amendment, it shall constitute cruel and unusual punishment for a United States Agency, judge, or officer to knowingly utilize an individual's disability adversely against their own Constitutional Interests through entrapment or other malicious scheme.
- There is neither Qualified Immunity nor Absolute Immunity for ANY state or federal government official, employee, or subcontractor.
- There is neither qualified immunity nor absolute immunity for committing war crimes, torture, and/or terrorism against an American by ANY state or federal government official, employee, or subcontractor.
- DEFENDANTS get no absolute or qualified immunity for engaging in RICO predicate acts.
- In Article II Section 4 of the Constitution, the word bribery in the following sentence--"The President, Vice President and all civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors” necessarily includes and means RICO as well.

- Racketeering is not diplomacy. It may be in corrupt countries, but it is not in America. Look, PLAINTIFF understands the realities of the world in which we live in where non-corrupt countries want to make their own country prosperous and better, which in turn, requires them to do business in places in the world where corruption is a normal occurrence in which that situation becomes really gray. This lawsuit is not about that really gray area in life; and the facts of this case don't need to address that really gray area of existence.
- A United States officer or official engaging in a RICO predicate act falls outside their defined scope of duties and powers.
- The Court in Southway v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 198 F.3d 1210 (10th Cir. 1999) said that when Congress passed RICO, “Congress expressly instructed courts to liberally construe its provisions "to effectuate its remedial purpose." Pub.L. No. 91-452, § 904(a), 84 Stat. 947 (1970). RICO's "remedial purposes' are nowhere more evident than in the provision of a private action for those injured by racketeering activity," Sedima, S.P.R.L. v. Imrex Co., Inc., 473 U.S. 479, 498 (1985).” Whether or not the current Congress from 2008-2023 would want the Court to liberally construe RICO’S provisions to effectuate its remedial purposes, is immaterial. The Congress back in 1970 instructed the Court to construe RICO’s provisions liberally. PLAINTIFF is asking the Court to rule on PLAINTIFF’S following liberal construction of RICO:
 - That because of the wanton, intentional, malicious, & completely unaccountable and unpunished actions of the DOJ and employees of the DOJ, American Intel, and the remaining DEFENDANTS in regard to RICO Enterprise 1, the Court shall grant PLAINTIFF’S liberal construction and request that PLAINTIFF in a Civil RICO lawsuit be allowed to use all of the powers of 18 U.S.C. §1963, the 18 U.S.C. §1963 caselaw PLAINTIFF cited, and 18 U.S.C. §1964 as remedial measures in the interest of justice. Congress in 1970 inherently presumed and understood that in granting DOJ those powers under 18 U.S.C. §1963 to combat corruption means that Congress in 1970 would have never thought possible that the very leadership of the DOJ and SCOTUS would be the ones perpetuating massive amounts of corruption and legal fraud against their own citizens, committing international and domestic terrorism against American citizens, and committing war crimes against their American citizens the way DEFENDANTS outrageously did against PLAINTIFF between 2008-2022 thereby granting DOJ that amazing power in 1970. Precisely because of the legal fraud and corrupt acts, enabling of war-crimes and torture of certain Solicitor Generals and Attorney Generals of the DOJ that were undertaken over the last 15 years that was directed against an American citizen without Due Process of law, DOJ lost that privilege of them having that power just for themselves because they were entrusted not to be corrupt; and because they lost that privilege through their actions, PLAINTIFF and future Americans have an affirmative obligation and duty to America to stop the evils of war crimes, corruption, torture, and legal fraud at the hands of DOJ by using the same powers against them when the DOJ acted the way they did. Justice demands and requires the Court to grant that in order to punish the corruption that knowingly happened under their own leadership—there is no better deterrent to prevent corruption than using their own powers against them when they lost their actions. How can one root out corruption if one doesn't have the tools to root out corruption? By the Court granting this, this will ensure DOJ will be less corrupt in the future because the DOJ would necessarily know their own powers can be used against them, which provides DOJ a major incentive not to be corrupt. Here is the thing. DOJ should have absolutely no problem with the proposition PLAINTIFF just proposed and should welcome it completely. Why? If corruption is not going to be a problem in the future in DOJ, then there are going to be no cases that are going to use this precedent against DOJ in the future. DOJ should not cower in fear of the opportunity to redeem themselves by not being corrupt in the future. If they fight against this proposition, then that ruins the image of the DOJ leading to distrust and degradation of the very institutions Americans hold sacred. Sure, there can be stipulations to exactly how far and much the power under 18 U.S.C. §1963 could be used against DOJ, which PLAINTIFF discusses below.

- In light of the previous point, PLAINTIFF is asking the Court to rule that when a civil RICO lawsuit includes a current or former DOJ attorney or employee as a defendant, a PLAINTIFF is allowed to utilize 18 U.S.C. §1963 against the current or former DOJ employee in which PLAINTIFF can fully subsequently use 18 U.S.C. §1963 against any additional party or company in the lawsuit that was part of the racketeering within appropriate limits. In regards to utilizing 18 U.S.C. §1963 against the former or current employee of the DOJ, it can be utilized against the DOJ to the extent of the amount of resources that the current or former employee of the DOJ used to perpetuate the RICO Enterprise against the PLAINTIFF, wages and benefits of the current or former employee of the DOJ obtained through the course of employment, and any and all agreements or payments to any third party that was used to perpetuate the RICO Enterprise against a PLAINTIFF by the current and former employee, but 18 U.S.C. §1963 does not apply to the entirety of the organization. So this is holding corrupt DOJ attorneys accountable for their actions but not at the complete financial detriment of the DOJ as an organization. Which is considerate and fair and that balances the interests of all parties when the corruption committed by Attorney Generals, Solicitor Generals, and DOJ Attorneys is the biggest detriment to the DOJ as an institution. After the case, it can't apply retroactively as to eviscerate court resources in the future.

- PLAINTIFF heard through the grapevine there is no legal precedent for this. Well, there kind of is. When an emergency is created by the executive branch of such extreme and profound legal importance to save the republic, the following: 1) George Washington. 2) Louisiana law is technically a part of American law; and the Louisiana civil code is based in part on the French civil code, which was based in part of the roman civil code. Therefore, there is a precedent in which one man is given extreme power only to relinquish the power back to the government and go back to his farm (or airport, train yard, or home in Plaintiff's case): Cincinnatus; although Cincinnatus and PLAINTIFF are on extreme polar ends when it comes to the rights of indentured servants and the plebians the way PLAINTIFF loves the plebians and indentured servants, there is a principle that when the machinations of the government are so outrageously antithetical to the People, some remedial steps must be undertaken to preserve the foundations of the country and to continue for the plebians and the People to trust the government. It is a necessary infusion of restoration of principles in America. There is talk amongst some elitists as to completely disband the constitution in which stupid people are going along with those elitists conspiracies and scheme to make America worse off and to rewrite a new constitution to deprive the People of their freedoms and PLAINTIFF says fuck that. PLAINTIFF is just reinvigorating the constitution back to life. Yes, we are at a critical junction in determining how free America should be in the future.
- For 20 years, PLAINTIFF has lived a life in that has been completely defined by the absolute lawlessness of a completely uncontrolled and absolute power by the United States Government and his parents—war crimes, torture, outrageous examples of abuse, exploitation, unequal treatment, intentional malice on characteristics PLAINTIFF had no control over since birth, constitutional violations of every single amendment in which the only things that mattered was absolute power, money, and the completely indeterminable and capricious whims of a select few, some of which are not even American. Out of anyone in America right now that has a conceptual grasp of understanding the miserable life that it entails that the Founding Fathers would never have wanted for any American and PLAINTIFF would never wish it on his worst enemies, PLAINTIFF KNOWS IT because PLAINTIFF LIVED IT. PLAINTIFF understands that there are always going to be private abuses and government abuses in the future in which PLAINTIFF knows he can't completely rid this earth of the evils listed above; however, it is about how to address it when it does happen again in the future and mitigate it from happening again in the future. America is a country about individualism and the ones that experienced the worst crimes should have their voices heard.

- USA PATRIOT ACT violates at least: Ex Parte Jackson, 96 U.S. 727 (1877) (Prohibition of obtaining, seizing, and opening and reading emails/mails “whilst” in the transport or transmission of data that must necessarily “have a warrant, issued upon similar oath or affirmation particularly describing the thing to be seized, as is required when papers are subjected to search in one's own household.”)
- That based on the entirety of this complaint, the USA PATRIOT ACT as well as the FISA Court Act are completely unconstitutional in which all of these provisions of the USA PATRIOT ACT are necessarily included as being unconstitutional: §115, §120, §121, §212, §213, §214, §215, §321, §322 §428, §501, §508, and §702. FISA Court
- In regards to the previous point, PLAINTIFF is making the following factual allegations and presumptions involving American Intel (FBI, CIA, et. al) DEFENDANTS: At least one or more semesters starting around Fall 2007 to Spring 2011 when PLAINTIFF attended SEWANEE, they used a TITLE II or a different Title search under the USA PATRIOT ACT against PLAINTIFF. This was necessarily unconstitutionally done in which legal fraud was committed on the court and by the court. DEFENDANTS utilized the FISA Court unconstitutionally against PLAINTIFF since either Fall 2007 or Spring 2008 in which legal fraud was committed against the FISA court by DEFENDANTS. American Intel DEFENDANTS from Fall 2007 to Spring 2011 utilized national security letters against companies that had information on PLAINTIFF—these were all necessarily unconstitutionally done in which legal fraud was perpetuated based on these unconstitutional national security letters (in which some of them were utilized against Co-DEFENDANTS like Apple, Meta, Cox Communications, etc.). American Intel DEFENDANTS unconstitutionally used USA PATRIOT ACT provisions: §115, §120, §121, §212, §213, §214, §215, §321, §322 §428, §501, §508, §702, and §896 against PLAINTIFF starting from around Fall Semester 2007 or Spring Semester 2008 and has not stopped utilizing it against PLAINTIFF since that initial time they started using the USA PATRIOT ACT unconstitutionally against PLAINTIFF. Furthermore, American Intel DEFENDANTS used any other relevant and applicable Presidential Directive or Executive Order against PLAINTIFF between Fall 2007 to Present in regard to having seized, searched, detained, tortured, taken, PLAINTIFF’S person and property and in addition, violated PLAINTIFF’S constitutional rights by American Intel DEFENDANTS.
- That whenever justice so demands it in which officials in the United States government engaged in such horrific constitutional abuses that violated every single sense of traditional notions of justice and fairness in which the conscience is shocked, a PLAINTIFF can request the Court either exclude certain case law in which prejudice and fraud upon the Court occurred or that the Court can only utilize a certain era of caselaw to ensure fairness and Due Process to the PLAINTIFF to prevent the abuses from occurring in the future.

- That Civil Asset Forfeiture is unconstitutional in which the United States Government fails to provide notice of the proceeding to the owner of the property and that a criminal conviction and finding of guilty is needed to utilize Civil Asset Forfeiture against property.
- That the IRS requirement of reporting of transactions in which $10,000 or more in US Dollars from overseas that is brought to America is unconstitutional; and if Congress has a problem with that, it can create exceptions to that law's applicability. That reporting any online transactions in which $600 or more is spent is also unconstitutional.
- That all of PLAINTIFF'S demands in the PRAYER for Relief Section are completely reasonable.
- That this litigation is not vexatious and not biased or prejudicial against the DEFENDANTS.
- That it is a material 4th and 5th Amendment violation for any American intelligence agency to use a foreign intelligence agency anywhere in the world against an American subject when ANY American intelligence agency has a reason to know they are doing so when any agency has committed a constitutional violation against the American subject in the process of investigating the subject; are constitutionally compromised by their own actions; are retaliating against an American subject; that the taint of American Intelligence agencies is not removed once they utilized an independent foreign source; and other conditions to be determined. That there is a de-facto presumption prohibiting the United States government in using any foreign intelligence against an American subject; that there is a de-facto presumption against the United States government from obtaining any evidence against an American subject by a foreign intelligence agency; for Constitutional purposes, a foreign intelligence agency will never be viewed as an independent source outside of the United States Government and the United States government can never argue that a foreign intelligence agency being utilized against an American is an independent source from the foreign intelligence agency they utilized.
- That it is completely unconstitutional to utilize Title II of the USA Patriot Act against a 20 year old who had an open can of Coors Light.
- That any American subject to a FISA ruling must have been necessarily told and made aware of the proceedings used against him in which the Court must afford an American an opportunity to defend himself, engage in cross-examination, bring witnesses, and more; and that a failure to do these things are completely unconstitutional.

- Law Enforcement utilizing an independent source under United States v. Leon, 468 U.S. 897 (1984) is unconstitutional as applied in this case.
- National Security Letters are Unconstitutional.
- That precisely because of the extraordinary events that occurred in this Complaint under Star Chambers in which there will never be a similar situation in United States history, that the Court issue a mandamus to Congress to necessarily declare the following cases as unconstitutional as they are necessarily and irrevocably constitutionally compromised, tainted, and corrupted; and that any cases and issues that come in the future cannot be ruled in the same exact manner:

Some of the legal issues:

#2: Due, in part, to PLAINTIFF's parents' questionable behavior prior to 2003 & afterwards, PLAINTIFF's standardized testing scores, PLAINTIFF'S disabilities and psychological and physiological features of Autism, Learning Disability, Developmental Delays, ADD, fine & gross motor skills delays, sleep walking/doing things while asleep, and other disabilities and physical attributes, Pre-Crime Analysis, DEFENDANTS' over zealousness on pursuing alleged domestic "terrorists", FBI'S PLANS under DEFENDANT ROBERT MUELLER between 2001-2008, DEFENDANTS complete desire to make America a surveillance state that had no jurisdictional limit, and other causes to be explained, the following by defendants (which is not an exclusive list of all known crimes):

- 20+ COUNTS of RICO violations in which all DEFENDANTS committed or aided and abetted one of the following under 18 U.S.C. §1961, 18 U.S.C. §1962 (a), 18 U.S.C. §1962(b), 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), and/or 18 U.S.C. 1962(f) (such as, but not a complete list, which factually include): 18 U.S.C §1961: section 933 (relating to trafficking in firearms), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1028 (relating to fraud and related activity in connection with identification documents), 18 U.S.C §1961sections 891–894 (relating to extortionate credit transactions), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1512 (relating to tampering with a witness, victim, or an informant), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1542 (relating to false statement in application and use of passport), 18 USC §1961section 1543 (relating to forgery or false use of passport), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1544 (relating to misuse of passport), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1546 (relating to fraud and misuse of visas, permits, and other documents, 18 U.S.C §1961sections 1581–1592 (relating to peonage, slavery, and trafficking in persons).

- Primarily and arguably, this started in PLAINTIFF’S Freshman year at the University of the South in Fall 2007 and Spring 2008 though there are exceptions.
- Numerous Free Speech and Retaliations for having engaged in Free Speech violations starting around 2007 to present.
- RFRA/Freedom of Religion violations that occurred from 2006, 2008-2011, 2015-2017, & 2023
- Utilizing DEFENDANT foreign intelligence and foreign government, private security firms, and/or data brokers to circumvent PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment constitutional rights, stealing PLAINTIFF’S intellectual property to profit of PLAINTIFF, and using illegally obtained information in creating situations to deny rights, limit rights, and obstruct justice in furtherance of DEFENDANTS RICO Enterprise;
- Numerous unreasonable search & seizures against PLAINTIFF’S 4th Amendment rights from at least 2006 to present—and all of the unconstitutional actions involving the following sections within USA PATRIOT ACT: §115, §120, §121, §212, §213, §214, §215, §321, §322 §428, §501, §508, §702, and §896. FISA Court. Foreign intelligence. USA PATRIOT ACT: “makes it far easier for the authorities to gain access to records of citizens’ activities being held by a third party. At a time when computerization is leading to the creation of more and more such records, Section 215 of the Patriot Act allows the FBI to force anyone at all – including doctors, libraries, bookstores, universities, and Internet service providers – to turn over records on their clients or customers.”⁹⁰ “The reach of an already overbroad definition of terrorism would be expanded – individuals engaged in civil disobedience could risk losing their citizenship (§ 501); their organization could be subject to wiretapping (§120, §121) and asset seizure (secs §428). Americans could be extradited, searched and wiretapped at the behest of foreign nations, whether or not treaties allow it (§321, §322).”⁹¹
 - For all intents and purposes, sometimes the way the DC bubble and intelligence bubble/circle talk about National Security/Intelligence matters is actually through talking about the ADAAA and Section 504 in disability issues as a lot of the terms, numerical phrasing, and intelligence authorities are the same. Title II, Section 504, etc, etc.
 - USA PATRIOT ACT violates at least: Ex Parte Jackson, 96 U.S. 727 (1877) (Prohibition of obtaining, seizing, and opening and reading emails/mails “whilst” in the transport or transmission of data that must necessarily “have a warrant, issued upon similar oath or affirmation particularly describing the thing to be seized, as is required when papers are subjected to search in one’s own household.”)

- DEFENDANTS could have at any time utilized §212 of the USA PATRIOT ACT to inform PLAINTIFF that DEFENDANTS were furthering their RICO Enterprise in JAPAN in the Summer of 2015, but they didn't; also violated Article 15 and Article 16 of the "The Convention On the Rights of Persons With Disabilities" in which all DEFENDANT governments were signatories at the time of at least 90% of the factual issues took place.
- PLAINTIFF has standing to show the horrific constitutional abuses that occur under the FISA COURT and USA PATRIOT ACT §115, §120, §121, §212, §213, §214, §215, §321, §322 §428, §501, §508, §702, and §896. PLAINTIFF is alleging that all of these Sections within the USA PATRIOT ACT were utilized against PLAINTIFF in furtherance of the RICO Enterprise between 2008 to Present.
- Numerous 5th Amendment violations, such as compelling PLAINTIFF to confess against his legal interests even when PLAINTIFF had a law school education and wanted to become a criminal defense attorney, coercing PLAINTIFF into signing a blank confession or be kicked out of school, and other violations that occurred from at least 2006 onwards.
- Invasion of privacy and violation of home as castle doctrine to create crimes and exploit PLAINTIFF. Primarily everything that happened at 773 John Henry, Baton Rouge, LA in 2014/2015.
- For American INTEL DEFENDANTS in any time in the complaint, PLAINTIFF is alleging violated: USSID 18.
- Using PLAINTIFF's disabilities against his constitutional and legal interests to obstruct justice for the United States Government's ideological goals and purposes to limit the rights of all Americans thereby making United States Government officials domestic terrorists. DEFENDANTS knew of PLAINTIFF'S autism and disability issues from a minimum at 2007; physical limitations either caused by Cerebral Palsy or Autism in which PLAINTIFF is unable to unhook a bra quickly or would need extensive physical therapy in repeating the same task of unhooking a bra over and over again (and autistic people don't get laid often) to plausibly do so, having to perform cunnilingus to satisfy a woman and using that against PLAINTIFF.
- Numerous judicial decisions in which PLAINTIFF was denied access to the court, evidence, access to counsel, and access to the proceedings; FISA court exceeding their authority in rulings without PLAINTIFF'S ability to appeal or be part of the rulings or process.
- Numerous Due Process violations from at least 2006 onwards.

- Numerous acts making PLAINTIFF an indentured servant from at least 2007 onwards in violation of Kozminski v. United States, 487 U.S. 931 (1987) and 18 U.S.C §1961 sections 1581–1592 (relating to peonage, slavery, and trafficking in persons).
- Numerous acts constituting torture, terrorism, and war crimes from at least 2011 onwards;
- Numerous 4th, 5th, 8th Amendment, Geneva Convention violations, even Terrorism by DEFENDANTS. Around April or May 2017 after an assassination attempt by DEFENDANTS, PLAINTIFF went looking for help to correctly diagnose PLAINTIFF with Autism and for PLAINTIFF to get help with his Autism. DEFENDANTS violating 18 USC §1961 section 1029 (relating to fraud and related activity in connection with access devices) since they had complete access to my laptop and cellphone from at least Spring 2015 directed PLAINTIFF to DEFENDANTS in a sting operation (instead of a real professional that could diagnose and help me with Autism) to falsely label PLAINTIFF has having a certain mental disorder to conform to prior SCOTUS precedent. DEFENDANTS interrogated me and psychologically profiled PLAINTIFF when PLAINTIFF needed psychological help and treatment. Why would ANDREW MCCABE deny me an opportunity to receive the proper help PLAINTIFF needed when PLAINTIFF went to a doctor only to discover it was a false sting operation to falsely psychologically profile me? They corruptly used the MMPI in order for me to falsely factually conform to City & County of S.F. v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015)’s decision and DOJ’s brief submitted in that case for their obstruction efforts. Doing so, they denied me getting the help PLAINTIFF needed as an autistic man having been tortured under their watch against my 8th Amendment interests and other constitutional interests. The stupid thing about the whole entire episode is PLAINTIFF’s mother got involved and went to one of the interrogation sessions and met ANDREW MCCABE; so not only did DEFENDANTS FBI and ANDREW MCCABE mess this up, but my mom lied and all of them hid information from me).
- Unjust taking in violation of 4th, 5th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights by stealing Plaintiff’s Intellectual Property, by either purchasing it from data brokers or obtaining it illegally through unconstitutional and illegal warrants or hacking, using materially false and misleading information to utilize asset seizure under USA PATRIOT ACT §428, and utilizing PLAINTIFF’S Intellectual Property without credit or permission in the WHITE HOUSE, DISNEY, NETFLIX, (Hollywood), etc. in violations of: 18 U.S.C §1961 sections 1581–1592 (relating to peonage, slavery, and trafficking in persons); 18 U.S.C §1961 section 2319 (relating to criminal infringement of a copyright), (either DEFENDANTS intentionally did that or they were aware of it being done by China in violation of 18 U.S.C. §2 and did absolutely nothing to notify PLAINTIFF or help PLAINTIFF in anyway and continue the exploitation of PLAINTIFF for their profits in furtherance of the RICO ENTERPRISE).
- GOOGLE/ALPHABET, COX COMMUNICATIONS, XFINITY, AMAZON WEB SERVICES, AT&T, VERIZON, META, APPLE, etc. being arms of the United States Government and bound to each other by PINKERTON liability and other ways by having provided information to aid & abet the Enterprise in which at least at one time materially false evidence was used on warrants to those companies. PLAINTIFF has sent requests to those companies such as APPLE and AT&T giving them some awareness of some of the issues and they have not provided PLAINTIFF with the requested information nor undertaken any steps in light of PLAINTIFF'S requests and information to them. Furthermore, by providing DEFENDANTS PLAINTIFF'S information that was obtained via the RICO Enterprise, DEFENDANTS violated: 18 U.S.C. § 2339A (providing material information obtained in the course of DEFENDANT'S Enterprise to provide material support to terrorists in furtherance of RICO ENTERPRISE. Violating: 18 USC §1961 sections 891–894 (relating to extortionate credit transactions); 18 USC §2 by providing DEFENDANTS PLAINTIFF'S information in which DEFENDANTS obtained information either in Bad Faith or knowingly doing so with the intent to further their RICO enterprise. See United States v. Miller, 116 F.3d 641 (2d Cir. 1997) (act involving murder need not be actual murder as long as the act directly concerned murder, and facilitation of murder was a proper RICO predicate because accessorial offenses described in the New York State statutory provisions involved murder within the meaning of RICO where defendant provided information he knew would enable inquirer to commit murder or other rico predicate act).

- DEFENDANTS continue to harbor DEFENDANTS Terrorists that violates 18 U.S.C. § 2339 (relating to harboring terrorists) after their terrorist activities committed in March 11th, 2011 in LONDON/WASHINGTON D.C. and their terrorist activities in TOKYO, JAPAN in SUMMER 2015. Specifically, and more shockingly, DEFENDANTS committed Air Piracy 49 U.S.C. §46502 thereby violating: 18 USC 2331 1(B)(iii) and 5(B)(iii) in which they did so in order “to affect the conduct of a government by kidnapping.”
- DEFENDANTS completely knowing about PLAINTIFF'S Autism and knowingly and intentionally utilizing it against PLAINTIFF to harm PLAINTIFF and knowingly, intentionally, and conveniently ignoring PLAINTIFF'S psychological issues as not protect him because he was a liability; DEFENDANTS knew my susceptibility or was of interest to foreign powers (that could be included in this complaint, but it is outside my knowledge) and knew of the likelihood they would compromise me in the future, DEFENDANTS absolutely failed in their job; and other constitutional violations and abuses in violation of: “The Convention On the Rights of Persons With Disabilities”
- Because of the torture, coercion to do things against my will (like having been routinely forced and coerced into signing contracts because either the United States Government or maybe even PLAINTIFF's parents too), been routinely taken advantage of. Never being made aware of what was happening in my life, maltreatment throughout the years. Overall environment of complete unjustified suspicion & mischaracterization of PLAINTIFF'S actions.

#2. PLAINTIFF even gave DEFENDANTS FBI a diagram of the assassination attempt on PLAINTIFF in Feb/March 2017 within the last couple of years in a tweet in which PLAINTIFF even explained to them how to identify who did it, and even this was completely ignored by DEFENDANTS. See: United States v. Pimentel, 346 F.3d 285 (2d Cir. 2003) (attempted murder); "...conspiracies or attempts to commit subdivision A⁹² and D⁹³ crimes as proper RICO predicates because these crimes "involve" the specified types of conduct"⁹⁴ More importantly, the tweets deriving from PLAINTIFF'S twitter accounts of mikikotevski or miki_kotevski all contain information in support of the claims stated here or were part of factual pattern/nexus of the issues today and PLAINTIFF requests they be admitted as evidence into the case. PLAINTIFF filed a specific request seeking all data transmitted about PLAINTIFF when PLAINTIFF was in JAPAN in 2015 from DEFENDANTS via a FOIA request (the importance of which is documented in one of the points below). This request has gone ignored for more than 2 years.

#3. In Article II Section 4 of the Constitution: "The President, Vice President and all civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors." The second most egregious crime the Founding Fathers thought the Executive Branch would partake in was BRIBERY, which would be prosecuted under RICO, which is only below Treason. There is no way that any Executive Branch official or DEFENDANTS did not know BRIBERY/RICO was one of the only crimes they could be held liable for and be punished for in engaging and directing. DEFENDANTS ALL KNEW bribery was a RICO predicate act; and if they knew that, they knew about RICO. Arguably, the Founding Fathers knew that Treason and RICO (yes, PLAINTIFF is using Bribery and RICO interchangeably here because there is really no significantly important legal distinction between Bribery from RICO since Bribery falls under RICO) where the only two that truly mattered to the Founding Fathers and are truly the only two that matter to--and tremendously impacts-- the stability and national security of the country (outside of foreign powers and foes); and engaging in those two acts imperils the country hence the need for removal and punishment. The phrase of: "and conviction of" necessarily entails including any reasonable claims or allegations that pass an Iqbal standard of pleading that the officers of the United States engaged in Bribery/RICO acts. Period. You cannot have "a conviction" of RICO without it necessarily including the process of including an allegation and complaint of RICO against a United States officer.

#4. In conjunction with the previous paragraph (Paragraph #3) the actions in the complaint concern the Court with whether or not officials in both the judicial and executive branch had acted within their scope and limits of their constitutional and statutory duties. PLAINTIFF alleges DEFENDANTS did not. There is no qualified or absolute immunity for any executive branch or judicial branch officials and judges that involve RICO. Period. The Founding Fathers specifically and reasonably enumerated that the two crimes that warranted dismissal were treason and RICO (PLAINTIFF is just limiting argument to RICO in this complaint and not including treason here though it is possible after Miki's Tea Party). Kendall v. United States, 12 Pet. 524 (1838) held that: "The executive power is vested in a President; and as far as his powers are derived from the constitution, he is beyond the reach of any other department, except in the mode prescribed by the constitution through the impeaching power". This means that any conduct committed by judicial or executive branch that constitutes RICO predicate acts (that is a mode prohibited by Article II, Section IV) falls outside the scope their defined statutory and constitutional limits. Put in another way, engaging in RICO falls outside the scope of duties for any executive branch and judicial branch officials. Absolute or qualified immunity only applies to acts that fall within the scope of executive authority. Allegations of those officials engaging in behavior that exceeded the scope and limits of their authority must necessarily be included. Therefore, Qualified or Absolute Immunity does not apply for RICO predicate acts committed by any Executive or Judicial Branch official. Justice BURGER in the concurring opinion said in Nixon v. Fitzgerald, 457 U.S. 731 (1982) agrees with PLAINTIFF'S interpretation: "I fully agree that the constitutional concept of separation of independent coequal powers dictates that a President be immune from civil damages actions based on acts within the scope of Executive authority while in office." Further support for PLAINTIFF'S contention can be found with United States v. Brewster, 408 U. S. 501 (1972), in which the Court held that the Speech and Debate Clause did not prohibit prosecution of a Senator for accepting a bribe (i.e. a RICO Predicate act) designed to influence his legislative acts (while he was in office) within the scope of his Congressional authority in office. Furthermore, another court backed up PLAINTIFF'S propositions when they said in United States v. Kelly, 707 F.2d 1460 (D.C. Cir. 1983) "dishonest public officials, responsive more to money than to their obligations to the nation, may cause grave harm to our society."

Even more and further support can be found when The Court in State of Mississippi v. Johnson, President, The, 71 U.S. (4 Wall.) 475 (1867) ruled on the extremely important principle: "If the chief executive officer of a State is liable to be controlled by the courts of the State in the discharge of ministerial duties, for much stronger reasons is the chief executive officer of the United States liable to be controlled by this court under the provisions of the Federal Constitution. In Greene v. Mumford, the Supreme Court of Rhode Island said, in regard to officers: "If they are departing from the power which the law has vested in them, if they are assuming to themselves a power over property which the law does not give them, this court no longer considers them as acting under their commission, but treats them as individuals." By the same principle, the President, when acting in opposition to the Federal Constitution, may be treated as an individual." By being part of a RICO Enterprise in which the Constitution is explicit that by engaging in RICO requires removal, an executive or judicial branch official acts in opposition to the Constitution and to asserting a power over property that the Constitution does not give them, and therefore, they do not have any immunity for their actions.

#5. No Executive Privilege, No Absolute Immunity, and No Qualified Immunity to RICO conduct or anything done in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 made in this complaint. If DEFENDANTS are going to go there and say that provisions like the USA PATRIOT ACT absolve them of liability that is not true. USA PATRIOT ACT was created to prevent terrorism and not have DEFENDANTS engage in TERRORISM or aid and abet TERRORISM and be absolved of any liability in the process.

#6. Treaties are the Supreme Law of the land (but not above the United States Constitution). In 2006, the following treaty was implemented and executed: “The Convention On the Rights of Persons With Disabilities.” All countries named as DEFENDANTS: (United States, India, United Kingdom, Japan, Australia, etc.) are all signatories. Therefore, all of the following applies to DEFENDANTS:

- Recognizing also that discrimination against any person on the basis of disability is a violation of the inherent dignity and worth of the human person;
- Recognizing the need to promote and protect the human rights of all persons with disabilities, including those who require more intensive support;
- Recognizing the importance of international cooperation for improving the living conditions of persons with disabilities in every country, particularly in developing countries;
- Recognizing the valued existing and potential contributions made by persons with disabilities to the overall well-being and diversity of their communities, and that the promotion of the full enjoyment by persons with disabilities of their human rights and fundamental freedoms and of full participation by persons with disabilities will result in their enhanced sense of belonging and in significant advances in the human, social and economic development of society and the eradication of poverty;
- Considering that persons with disabilities should have the opportunity to be actively involved in decision-making processes about policies and programmes, including those directly concerning them;
- Concerned about the difficult conditions faced by persons with disabilities who are subject to multiple or aggravated forms of discrimination on the basis of race, colour, sex, language, religion, political or other opinion, national, ethnic, indigenous or social origin, property, birth, age or other status;
- Highlighting the fact that the majority of persons with disabilities live in conditions of poverty, and in this regard recognizing the critical need to address the negative impact of poverty on persons with disabilities;
- Recognizing the importance of accessibility to the physical, social, economic and cultural environment, to health and education and to information and communication, in enabling persons with disabilities to fully enjoy all human rights and fundamental freedoms;
- Convinced that a comprehensive and integral international convention to promote and protect the rights and dignity of persons with disabilities will make a significant contribution to redressing the profound social disadvantage of persons with disabilities and promote their participation in the civil, political, economic, social and cultural spheres with equal opportunities, in both developing and developed countries,

#7. Throughout the entirety of this Complaint, Treaties being part of the Supreme Law of the land of the United States (but not above the United States Constitution), In 2006, “The Convention On the Rights of Persons With Disabilities” became law. #8. The COURT would agree that a telecom company using a satellite that transmits data engages in interstate and foreign commerce. With that in mind, DEFENDANTS, having utilized “PROJECT RAINFALL” necessarily engaged in interstate and foreign commerce in the creation, positioning, continual and ongoing maintenance, utilization, and transmission of data via ORION 3, ORION 5, and ORION 7 satellites that transmitted PLAINTIFF’S data, that included emails and communications, between the years of 2007 through 2023 between and amongst DEFENDANTS and/or was received by DEFENDANTS to perpetuate and further their War Crimes, Torture, PLAINTIFF’S Legal and Constitutional Violations, and RICO Enterprise 1 in furtherance of some of the following crimes: 18 USC §1961 1028 (relating to fraud and related activity in connection with identification documents), 18 USC §1961 section 1029 (relating to fraud and related activity in connection with access devices), 18 USC §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 USC §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 USC §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 USC §1961 section 1512 (relating to tampering with a witness, victim, or an informant), 18 USC §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant), 18 USC §1961 section 1542 (relating to false statement in application and use of passport), 18 USC §1961 section 1543 (relating to forgery or false use of passport), 18 USC §1961 section 1544 (relating to misuse of passport), 18 USC §1961 section 1546 (relating to fraud and misuse of visas, permits, and other documents), 18 USC §1961 sections 1581–1592 (relating to peonage, slavery, and trafficking in persons), 18 USC §1961 section 1951 (relating to interference with commerce, robbery, or extortion), 18 USC §1961 section 2319 (relating to criminal infringement of a copyright), 18 USC §1961 sections 891–894 (relating to extortionate credit transactions). The Court said LAMONT, DBA BASIC PAMPHLETS v. POSTMASTER GENERAL, 381 U.S. 301 (1965) that concerned interstate and foreign commerce, the POST OFFICE sending and receiving foreign mail (which is analogous to emails) in the case that concerned the transmission of ideas and speech in which the Government violated the First Amendment rights of the PLAINTIFF (which DEFENDANTS did do here because there is a nexus to CIA, HILLARY CLINTON, and PLAINTIFF’S protected speech) through utilizing ORION 3, ORION 5, and ORION 7 when the Court ruled: “We conclude that the Act as construed and applied is unconstitutional because it requires an official act as a limitation on the unfettered exercise of the addressee's First Amendment rights. As stated by Mr. Justice Holmes in Milwaukee Pub. Co. v. Burleson, 255 U. S. 407, 437 (dissenting): “The United States may give up the Post Office when it sees fit, but while it carries it on the use of the mails is almost as much a part of free speech as the right to use our tongues” Right to use our tongues will be discussed later.

#9. DEFENDANTS who are in “5 Eyes” are an association for RICO purposes since they themselves define 5 Eyes as: “The Council members exchange views on subjects of mutual interest and concern; compare best practices in review and oversight methodology; explore areas where cooperation on reviews and the sharing of results is permitted where appropriate; encourage transparency to the largest extent possible to enhance public trust; and maintain contact with political offices, oversight and review committees, and countries as appropriate.” DEFENDANTS in 5 eyes had a financial monetary interest in furtherance of this RICO

Enterprise typically when the United State Intelligence Community gave monetary funds to different DEFENDANTS. Furthermore, there were multiple conferences, such as in June 2016⁹⁵ that further enabled the Enterprise and Conspiracy against PLAINTIFF to continue, in multiple countries in which 5 EYES DEFENDANTS had spent money on in support of the scheme in which money was spent in hotels, lodging, transportation, etc⁹⁶ thereby affecting interstate and foreign commerce. See: 18 USC §2 by providing DEFENDANTS PLAINTIFF'S information in which DEFENDANTS obtained information either in Bad Faith or knowingly doing so with the intent to further their RICO enterprise. For example, PLAINTIFF submitted a FOIA request to FBI seeking the following on 08/11/2023: "Any and all documents, records, memos, that would show a dollar amount the FBI gave or contributed to any and all BRITISH intelligence agencies in the following fiscal years: 2009; 2010; 2015; 2017; 2018; 2019" in which the FBI did not provide the information requested on that FOIA request because the FBI knows the amount they spent would be shocking and would necessarily be a part of this litigation.

#10. Foreign DEFENDANTS, primarily in the sections of Financial Terrorism, Miki's Tea Party, and An Anchor and a Pitchfork, can be held to account for their actions that took place abroad but was directed by Americans in America: See: Southway v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 198 F.3d 1210, 1216 (10th Cir. 1999). (The Tenth Circuit has ruled that the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act ("FSIA") confers subject-matter jurisdiction over civil RICO claims against foreign states, their agencies, and their instrumentalities when the commercial activity exception, or another exception contained in the FSIA, applies); United States v. Noriega, 746 F. Supp. 1506 (S.D. Fla. 1990) ("Given the Act's broad construction and equally broad goal of eliminating the harmful consequences of organized crime, it is apparent that Congress was concerned with the effects and not the locus of racketeering activities."), aff'd, 117 F.3d 1206 (11th Cir. 1997); Liquidation Comm'n of Banco Intercontinental, S.A. v. Renta, 530 F.3d 1339 (11th Cir. 2008) (holding that RICO applied extraterritorially where conduct in furtherance of the RICO conspiracy occurred in the United States but the effects of the conspiracy were felt elsewhere); Alfadda v. Fenn, 935 F.2d 475 (2d Cir. 1991) (holding that the defendants' commission of some predicate acts within the United States provided a basis for subject matter jurisdiction for the RICO claims, and noting that there is "no indication that Congress intended to limit [RICO] to infiltration of domestic enterprises. The mere fact that the corporate defendants are foreign entities does not immunize them from the reach of RICO").

#11. Under 28 U.S.C. 1605A(1) there is no immunity for DEFENDANTS: "A foreign state shall not be immune from the jurisdiction of courts of the United States or of the States in any case not otherwise covered by this chapter in which money damages are sought against a foreign state for personal injury or death that was caused by an act of torture, extrajudicial killing, aircraft sabotage, hostage taking, or the provision of material support or resources for such an act if such act or provision of material support or resources is engaged in by an official, employee, or agent of such foreign state while acting within the scope of his or her office, employment, or agency." This applies to DEFENDANTS: MI6, BUNDESNACHRICHTENDIENST, 公安調査庁, kōanchōsa-chō, FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE OF UKRAINE (SZRU), AUSTRALIAN

#12. Under FSIA 28 U.S.C. §1605B, “A foreign state shall not be immune from the jurisdiction of the courts of the United States in any case in which money damages are sought against a foreign state for physical injury to person or property or death occurring in the United States and caused by— (1) an act of international terrorism in the United States; and (2): a tortious act or acts of the foreign state, or of any official, employee, or agent of that foreign state while acting within the scope of his or her office, employment, or agency, regardless where the tortious act or acts of the foreign state occurred.” See also: Southway v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 198 F.3d 1210 (10th Cir. 1999); Rux v. Republic of Sudan, 495 F. Supp. 2d 541 (E.D. Va. 2007). “Individuals can also qualify as an “agency or instrumentality” when acting in an official capacity.” Chalabi v. Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, 503 F. Supp. 2d 267 (D.D.C. 2007)

28 U.S.C. 1604 defines foreign state as: a) a foreign state includes a political subdivision of a foreign state or an agency or instrumentality of a foreign state as defined in subsection (b).

(b): an agency or instrumentality of a foreign state means any entity

1) Which is a separate legal person, corporate, or otherwise, and

2) which is an organ of a foreign state or political subdivision thereof....

For the Government of Qatar:

Qatar Investment Authority (hereon: QIA) (QIA; Arabic: جهاز قطر للاستثمار) is a separate legal entity from the government of manages the Government of Qatar's wealth thereby making it an organ of the state.

Because QIA is an organ of the state of Qatar, QIA owns 100% of Qatar Holding LLC. Therefore, Qatar Holding LLC is an organ of the state of Qatar. Because either QIA or Qatar Holding LLC is an organ of the state in which either QIA or Qatar Holding LLC owns and manages Qatar Airways Company Q.C.S.C, Qatar Airways Company Q.C.S.C. therefore is an organ of the state of Qatar. PLAINTIFF is just arguing and alleging just in case he needs to that Qatar National Bank, Qatar Islamic Bank (Q.P.S.C.), and QIB-UK are conceivably organs of the State of Qatar.

Southway v. Cent. Bank of Nigeria , 198 F.3d 1210 (10th Cir. 1999) (holding that "the FSIA confers subject-matter jurisdiction upon the district court over civil RICO claims against foreign states, their agencies, and instrumentalities, provided that the commercial activity exception, or another exception contained in §§ 1605–07 of the FSIA applies") (emphasis added).

For the Government of the United Kingdom.

BOEING would eventually make a sale of BOEING aircraft to British Airways, the government operation against PLAINTIFF under British Jurisdiction in the aviation industry necessarily implicates British Airways Boeing orders that occurred after the trade is in the offing because British government were part of it when the plan was approved against PLAINTIFF under their watch. The merger occurred during tacit approval of the British Government/British Airways in which RICO Enterprise 1 was done. The Boeing orders were finalized in at BOEING in CHICAGO, IL. The Boeing planes at issue were part of trade is in the offing deal in 2011 and 2012.

Southway v. Cent. Bank of Nigeria, 198 F.3d 1210 (10th Cir. 1999) (holding that "the FSIA confers subject-matter jurisdiction upon the district court over civil RICO claims against foreign states, their agencies, and instrumentalities, provided that the commercial activity exception, or another exception contained in §§ 1605–07 of the FSIA applies") (emphasis added).

Defendant Air France, a French corporation which is 98 percent owned by the Republic of France, is a foreign state under § 1603 and, therefore, is entitled to the protection afforded by the FSIA.

Under RICO, the Government of Qatar, Qatar Airways, the government of the United Kingdom, are all considered persons since the definition of persons under RICO “drafted by Congress does not exempt instrumentalities of a foreign sovereign or limit "persons" to those connected with "organized crime." Lode v. Leonardo, 557 F. Supp. 675, (N.D.Ill. 1982). Similarly, the legislative history of RICO fails to support any such exemption or limitation. With RICO, "Congress chose to attack the problem of organized crime in terms of patterns of behavior characteristic of racketeers rather than attempt definition of the amorphous concept 'organized' crime and to make membership therein unlawful." Hunt International Resources Corp. v. Binstein, 559 F. Supp. 601, 602 (N.D.Tex.1982). Thus, RICO must be given the broad effect mandated by its plain language. Morgan v. Bank of Waukegan, 804 F.2d 970, 974 (7th Cir.1986)....defendants are still "persons" amenable to suit...Moreover, none of the post-Goldfarb cases on which defendants rely that expand the Parker v. Brown doctrine to include foreign sovereigns exempts foreign sovereigns from liability under antitrust laws for activity which is not cognizable as an act of state... defendants claim that interests of comity dictate that a foreign sovereign should not be considered a person under RICO. As previously discussed, a foreign sovereign or an agency thereof is not afforded immunity from suit under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act when the suit is based on its commercial activity conducted in the United States...The instant action is not predicated on any act of State but, rather, is based on the commercial acts of a foreign corporation.” American Bonded Warehouse Corp. v. Compagnie Nationale Air France, 653 F. Supp. 861 (N.D. Ill. 1987). In one hand, PLAINTIFF is arguing the trade is in the offing is necessarily a commercial act in which the BOEING orders were finalized in America at BOEING in Chicago; and in the other, if it is not, it is a state directed action that was done in furtherance of an act of international and domestic terrorism that provided material support in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1.

PLAINTIFF makes two arguments. Either the State of Qatar directed their representative in London to “off” PLAINTIFF off their plane and direct him to go to the Embassy of India or the State of Qatar allowed British Intel or American Intel to pose as one of their employees (with the assistance of Heathrow Holding Company) to “off” PLAINTIFF off the plane and direct him to go to the Indian Embassy. This would be a state action in furthering an international and domestic act of terrorism by providing material support to the act of international and domestic terrorism. Boeing was part of it in which Qatar airways got benefits from BOEING and American Intel in doing so therefore subjecting Qatar Airways The boeing planes at issue were part of trade is in the offing deal in 2010 and 2011.

In, Compania Mex. De Aviacion v. U.S. Dist. Court, 859 F.2d 1354 (9th Cir. 1988), Mexicana Airlines alleged they were immune from lawsuits under FSIA. Mexicana Airlines, owned by the Mexican government, was immune unless: “(1) it has waived its immunity; (2) the action is based upon a commercial activity carried on in the United States; upon an act performed in the United States in connection with a commercial activity of the foreign state elsewhere; or upon an act outside the territory of the United States in connection with a commercial activity of the foreign state elsewhere and that act causes a direct effect in the United States; or (3) the action is based upon a treaty conferring jurisdiction and that treaty pre-dates enactment of the FSIA. See 28 U.S.C. § 1604, 1605.” Id.

The Court discussed what were things that concerned the tickets on whether Mexicana Airlines waived their FSIA protection when they said that “A recent amendment to the waiver language makes clear that the intent behind the waiver is to give United States courts jurisdiction over cases “that have substantial contact with the United States.” ... The decedents in the present case were all flying on tickets purchased within Mexico for passage between points of origin and destination within Mexico. The tickets, which are the governing contracts of carriage, demonstrate no contact with the United States. Mexicana's operations that are the subject of this action did not occur “under [the] permit” issued by the U.S. Department of Transportation.” Id.

So PLAINTIFF purchased a ticket in America that means those tickets that PLAINTIFF purchased had contact with the United States because the Qatar Airways ticket processing and purchasing system in America was done on the permit issued by the U.S. Department of Transportation. So Qatar Airways did not waive FSIA based on selling PLAINTIFF’S tickets in America.

Furthermore, the Court said: “Under The same result obtains under the governing international treaty, the Warsaw Convention, 49 U.S.C. App. §1502 Note. The Convention defines international transport according to the contract made by the parties. All the tickets involved in this case were for domestic Mexican flights, not for international air transport. Warsaw Convention, Article 1(2). Moreover, Article 28 of the Convention establishes exclusive jurisdiction before either the court of the domicile of the carrier or its principal place of business, or the place of business where the contract was made, or the place of destination. The place of destination is the final destination according to the contract of carriage.” Compania Mex. De Aviacion v. U.S. Dist. Court, 859 F.2d 1354, 1359 (9th Cir. 1988)

The place of business where the contract was made was in America in the State of Illinois. Therefore, Qatar Airways waived their FSIA immunity based on at least the ticket purchase on top of the fact that Qatar Airways regularly had flights from Chicago to Doha in 2011. This is enough to establish general in-personam-jurisdiction and a waiver of FSIA immunity in the State of Illinois.

“In Trajano v. Marco, we held that the FSIA applies to a foreign official acting in an official capacity, but does not apply to an official acting beyond the scope of the actor's authority. 978 F.2d 493, 497 (9th Cir. 1992) (citing Chuidian v. Philippine Nat'l Bank, 912 F.2d 1095, 1103-06 (9th Cir. 1990) (holding that government officials fall within the definition of an "agency or instrumentality of a foreign state")), cert. denied, 508 U.S. 972 (1993). In Trajano, we defined "beyond the scope of the official's authority" to include anything the sovereign has not empowered the official to do.” Phaneuf v. Republic of Indonesia, 106 F.3d 302 (9th Cir. 1997) upon an act outside the territory of the United States in connection with a commercial activity of the foreign state elsewhere and that act causes a direct effect in the United States.

#13. Under FSIA 28 U.S.C. §1606: “As to any claim for relief with respect to which a foreign state is not entitled to immunity under section 1605 or 1607 of this chapter, the foreign state shall be liable in the same manner and to the same extent as a private individual under like circumstances.” Foreign DEFENDANTS shall be liable in the same manner and to the same extent as a private individual under 18 U.S.C. 1961 et. al. RICO. See also: Southway v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 198 F.3d 1210 (10th Cir. 1999); Rux v. Republic of Sudan, 495 F. Supp. 2d 541 (E.D. Va. 2007). If RICO falls outside the scope of duties for any American employee, it must necessarily be true in any foreign country listed as a DEFENDANT because they all have laws concerning prohibitions on racketeering and terrorism. So any foreign government employees that perpetuated the harm against PLAINTIFF in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 in the sections of Financial Terrorism, Miki's Tea Party, and An Anchor and a Pitchfork had their acts fall outside the scope their employment duties in which “An individual employed by a foreign state enjoys no FSIA immunity for acts that are "beyond the scope" of her official responsibilities. Cabiri v. Assasie-Gyimah, 921 F. Supp. 1189 (S.D.N.Y. 1996)

#14. Racketeering is not diplomacy. It may be in corrupt countries, but not in America. The Act of State Doctrine does not apply in this case. Kirkpatrick & Co. v. Evtl. Tectonics, 493 U.S. 400 (1990) is established precedent that concerned bribery (i.e. RICO) by a foreign government involving an American that ruled judicial inquiry is appropriate [partly based on prior Department of State arguments in which the Department of State has argued] that “judicial inquiry into the purpose behind the act of a foreign sovereign would not produce the unique embarrassment, and the particular interference with the conduct of foreign affairs, that may result from the judicial determination that a foreign sovereign's acts are invalid." Furthermore and especially in regards to Miki's Tea Party and An Anchor and a Pitchfork, some “exceptions to application of the [act of state] doctrine, where one or both of the foregoing policies would seemingly not be served: an exception, for example, for acts of state that consist of commercial transactions, since neither modern international comity nor the current position of our Executive Branch accorded sovereign immunity to such acts, see Alfred Dunhill of London, Inc. v. Republic of Cuba, 425 U. S. 682 (1976).” Id. No sovereign immunity for Miki's Tea Party. As BARACK OBAMA admitted at the time of Miki's Tea Party on November 8th, 2010 with the specific Indian audience in mind: “Today, the United States is once again playing a leadership role in Asia (and INDIA and QATAR).” HILLARY CLINTON and AMERICAN DEFENDANTS/CIA/FBI/DHS directed their actions against PLAINTIFF in AMERICA to be undertaken by America, Britain, Qatar, and India. America is necessarily always a party in which it was America's leadership and direction that directed INDIAN, QATAR, and BRITISH leadership to do something on behalf of the United States that involved commerce. Payments were paid by the Foreign Government in addition to Private Companies to American companies in which their money was deposited into American Bank Accounts. An Act of State doctrine automatically presumes the foreign government did an act independent of American decision-making, but QATAR, INDIA, and BRITAIN were directed to do their actions against an American in which their acts were necessarily created by and started from an American decision. What the Court's decisions come down to in regarding act of state is whether or not the foreign actor or foreign government were acting within the scope of their authority as agents of the foreign government. The scope of authority that is applicable in the Act of State doctrine is necessarily understood by the Court to mean that the actions at issue were done completely independent of any American direction to direct the actions because it no longer becomes just the foreign government's actions. RICO is outside the scope of authority of American decision-making and furthering a RICO Enterprise is outside the scope of authority of a foreign government, especially when "a state chooses to go into the business of buying and selling commodities, its right to do so may be conceded so far as the Federal Constitution is concerned; but the exercise of the right is not the performance of a governmental function. . . . When a state enters the market place seeking customers it divests itself of its quasi sovereignty pro tanto, and takes on the character of a trader. . . ." Ohio v. Helvering, 292 U. S. 360, (1934). It is thus a familiar concept that "there is a constitutional line between the State as government and the State as trader. . . ." New York v. United States, 326 U. S. 572 (1946).

#15. Part of this case revolves around this quote The Court in Brown v. Mississippi, 297 U.S. 278 (1936) said: "Coercing the supposed state's criminals into confessions and using such confessions so coerced from them against them in trials has been the curse of all countries. In Fisher v. State, 145 Miss. 116, 134, 110 So. 361, 365, the court said: "Coercing the supposed state's criminals into confessions and using such confessions so coerced from them against them in trials has been the curse of all countries. It was the chief inequity, the crowning infamy, of the Star Chamber and the Inquisition, and other similar institutions. The constitution recognized the evils that lay behind these practices, and prohibited them in this country. . . . The duty of maintaining constitutional rights of a person on trial for his life rises above mere rules of procedure, and wherever the court is clearly satisfied that such violations exist, it will refuse to sanction such violations and will apply the corrective."

#16. In Frank v. Mangum, 237 U. S. 309, (1915) "it was recognized, of course, that if, in fact, a trial is dominated by a mob so that there is an actual interference with the course of justice, there is a departure from due process of law, and that, "if the State, supplying no corrective process, carries into execution a judgment of death or imprisonment based upon a verdict thus produced by mob domination, the State deprives the accused of his life or liberty without due process of law." DEFENDANTS are the mob. DEFENDANTS are the mob because: they have unfettered discretion to amass more than 50,000 employees of FBI, CIA, NSA, DEPARTMENT of DEFENSE, MI6, et al. from every inch of the skies above to a tiniest part of a leaf outside your very front door and yard to completely surround your yard and home at will with those 50,000+ employees (how does curtilage even apply anymore when DEFENDANTS can see a part of a leaf from space) to every single detail inside your home anytime they want to via cell phones cameras and wifi routers that can be used as sonars that reveal everything⁹⁷ in a second in which DEFENDANTS are everywhere in the world with a prodigious amount of guns in their arsenal and different weapons at their disposal that the public doesn't have access to in which they never have to leave the office or headquarters in doing so. Now with all this power, you telling me DEFENDANTS were so incompetent as to allow what happened in TOKYO, JAPAN in the Summer of 2015 to happen without their knowledge? Friends and countrymen that give a damn about you would never allow something like that to happen to you. No one gave a damn about PLAINTIFF.

#17. To restore trust in the government requires some form of accountability and that requires ruling Qualified Immunity and Absolute Immunity are unconstitutional doctrines based on the facts of this case. PLAINTIFF is requesting that the Court completely overrule Absolute or Qualified Immunity in this case and when it involves a Constitutional violation. PLAINTIFF is seeking to invalidate portions of the USA PATRIOT ACT & CIVIL ASSET FORFEITURE LAWS, and tax placed on someone if they carry more than $10,000 on their person from overseas, all of which: facilitated, enabled, and caused the RICO Enterprise and constitutional violations and deprivations to occur.

#18. If the Court does not do #17 and rules and grants qualified immunity for war crimes, acts of terrorism, and torture that DEFENDANTS participated in against an American citizen domestically and internationally, America will no longer be a beacon of freedom in the world and will be on par with America's enemies. America from this ruling on will have become a dictatorship.

#19. PLAINTIFF was routinely forced to sign contracts by DEFENDANTS (HUNTER BIDEN, JIM BIDEN (July 2015), and THAO BUI (May 2016)) to which PLAINTIFF did not understand/know the contents thereof/were completely unconscionable. This was a routine part of PLAINTIFF'S history as DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF'S parents had regularly made PLAINTIFF sign contracts without being told what it contained. See: 18 USC §1961: sections 891–894 (relating to extortionate credit transactions). 18 USC §1961 section 1951 (relating to interference with commerce, robbery, or extortion). Violation of Louisiana Civil Code: §1948. Consent may be vitiated by error, fraud, or duress; §1949. Error vitiates consent only when it concerns a cause without which the obligation would not have been incurred and that cause was known or should have been known to the other party (PLAINTIFF would not have incurred anything from 2008 and PLAINTIFF only truly figured it all out this year); §1953. Fraud is a misrepresentation or a suppression of the truth made with the intention either to obtain an unjust advantage for one party or to cause a loss or inconvenience to the other. Fraud may also result from silence or inaction. (this applies from 2008 onwards); Art. 1954. Fraud does not vitiate consent when the party against whom the fraud was directed could have ascertained the truth without difficulty, inconvenience, or special skill (PLAINTIFF could not have determined the fraud because it was extremely difficult, extremely inconvenient, and required a special skill that PLAINTIFF only started learning and acquiring from 2017.

#20: PLAINTIFF is requesting the Court to rule on this issue and principle of law: a constitutional violation or deprivation necessarily entails a violation of 18 U.S.C. §1961 §1503

(relating to obstruction of justice) as well. This has to be legally true. An Obstruction of Justice violation occurs under 18 U.S.C. §1961 §1503 when a Constitutional Right violation or deprivation is made by an American DEFENDANTS. Period. It may also be true that a Obstruction of Justice violation occurs under 18 U.S.C. §1961 §1503 when a Constitutional Right violation or deprivation is made by Foreign DEFENDANTS against an American. However, what PLAINTIFF is asking the Court to rule is this principle that Obstruction of Justice violation occurs under 18 U.S.C. §1961 §1503 when a Constitutional Right violation or deprivation is made by an American DEFENDANT. This has to be legally true since the 8th and 14th Amendment prohibits cruel or unusual punishment and torture. Torturing and Committing War Crimes and Terrorism Against PLAINTIFF violates RICO'S statute of including 18 U.S.C. 2340 and 18 U.S.C. 2441 respectively; which is also the same as Tampering with or Retaliating against PLAINTIFF (thereby violating 18 USC §1961 §1512 (relating to tampering with a witness, victim, or an informant) or 18 USC §1961 §1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant) because torturing a witness, victim, informant, etc is the same as tampering with or retaliating against a witness, victim, informant, etc. Furthermore, a violation of 18 U.S.C. §1961 §1503 would occur because of a violation of at least: Napue v. Illinois, 360 U.S. 264 (1959) in which materially false evidence would obstruct justice and using testimony in which "certain individual's testimony, taken as a whole, gives a false impression that became seriously prejudicial to PLAINTIFF in which facts that refute DEFENDANTS claim are either ignored or are materially misleading" under Alcorta v. Texas, 355 U.S. 28 (1957) would obstruct justice. So any Constitutional Right violation or deprivation that occurred by DEFENDANTS against PLAINTIFF's Constitutional RIGHTS necessarily entails a violation of obstructing justice under 18 U.S.C. §1961 §1503. Furthermore, if these Constitutional violations were not made known in warrants, FISA applications and rulings, and to PLAINTIFF, etc. this was also obstruction of justice 18 U.S.C. §1961 §1503.

With that said and proven, PLAINTIFF'S assumption is that 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1512 (relating to tampering with a witness, victim, or an informant), or 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant), or any other relatable and conceivable RICO violations occur when DEFENDANTS violated or did one of the following constitutionally repugnant acts as made known in the course of this complaint:⁹⁸

- Violating Napue v. Illinois, 360 U.S. 264 (1959) in using materially false evidence.
- Violating Mooney v. Holohan, 294 U.S. 103 (1935) in "using perjured testimony known by DEFENDANTS to be perjured and knowingly used by DEFENDANTS in order to procure the conviction " since a State may not, "through the action of its officers, contrive a conviction through the pretense of a trial which, in truth, is "but used as a means of depriving a defendant of liberty through a deliberate deception of court and jury by the presentation of testimony known to be perjured;"

- Violating the principle that “the dignity of the United States Government will not permit the conviction of any person on tainted testimony per Mesarosh v. United States, 352 U.S. 1 (1956);
- Using testimony in which “certain individual’s testimony, taken as a whole, gives a false impression that became seriously prejudicial to PLAINTIFF in which facts that refute DEFENDANTS claim are either ignored or are materially misleading” Alcorta v. Texas, 355 U.S. 28 (1957);
- Violating Brown v. Mississippi, 297 U.S. 278 (1936) by using “confessions shown to have been extorted by [DEFENDANTS] by torture of the PLAINTIFF”;
- Denying to the accused the aid of counsel in violation of: Powell v. Alabama, 287 U. S. 45. (1932).
- The due process clause requiring "that state action, whether through one agency or another, shall be consistent with the fundamental principles of liberty and justice which lie at the base of all our civil and political institutions" in which DEFENDANTS violated Hebert v. Louisiana, 272 U. S. 312, (1926);
- The State/Government “allowing an accused to be hurried to conviction under mob domination -- where the whole proceeding is but a mask -- without supplying corrective process” in violation of: Moore v. Dempsey, 261 U. S. 86, (1923);
- Violating: Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963) in which DEFENDANTS failed to turn over all evidence that might exonerate PLAINTIFF;
- Violating: In re Murchison, 349 U.S. 133 (1955) in which judges have created a situation that results in such a denial of due process, especially when done in secretive chambers.
- Violating: Hampton v. United States, 425 U.S. 484 (1976) (discussing the Outrageous Government Conduct defense and the applicability to such concerning 1st, 4th, 5th, 13th, 14th Amendment Rights);
- Violating: Haynes v. Washington, 373 U.S. 503 (1963) holding: “that petitioner's written confession was obtained in, and was the result of, an atmosphere of substantial coercion and inducement created by statements and actions of state authorities, which made its admission in evidence violative of due process” in which the written confession was induced by police threats and promises.”
- Violating: Wong Sun v. United States, 371 U.S. 471 (1963) (In order to make effective the fundamental constitutional guarantees of sanctity of the home and inviolability of the person, Boyd v. United States, 116 U. S. 616, this Court held nearly half a century ago that evidence seized during an unlawful search could not constitute proof against the victim of the search. Weeks v. United States, 232 U. S. 383. The exclusionary prohibition extends as well to the indirect as the direct products of such invasions. Silverthorne Lumber Co. v. United States, 251);

- Violating: Ex Parte Jackson, 96 U.S. 727 (1877) (Prohibition of obtaining, seizing, and opening and reading emails/mails “whilst” in the transport or transmission of data that must necessarily “have a warrant, issued upon similar oath or affirmation particularly describing the thing to be seized, as is required when papers are subjected to search in one's own household.”);
- Violating: United States v. Lard, 734 F.2d 1290 (8th Cir. 1984) citing Sherman that "The function of law enforcement is the prevention of crime and the apprehension of criminal. Manifestly, that function does not include the manufacturing of crime;"
- Violating: Simmons v. United States, 348 U.S. 397 (1955) in which a failure to provide a report by DOJ/FBI when requested violates Due Process and/or when PLAINTIFF is not given the opportunity to refute the contents of a report that the DEFENDANTS DOJ/FBI used in a hearing violates Due Process.
- Violating: Ferguson v. Charleston, 532 U.S. 67 (2001) (holding: a state sanctioned agency or facility's use of a diagnostic test to obtain evidence of a patient's criminal conduct for law enforcement purposes is an unreasonable search if the patient has not consented to the procedure. A key factor was the fact that The invasion of privacy in the case here was extremely substantial in which there could be a complete misunderstanding about the purpose of the test or the potential use of the test results (especially if they are erroneous). Some factors in determining reasonableness was whether there were protections against the dissemination of the results to third parties and whether the immediate objective of the searches was to generate evidence for law enforcement purposes).
- Violating: Stanford v. Texas, 379 U.S. 476 (1965) (prohibitions on generalized warrants relating to search and seizure of PLAINTIFF relating to PLAINTIFF'S First Amendment activities)
- Violating: Lee Art Theatre, Inc. v. Virginia, 392 U.S. 636 (1968) (having a warrant issued solely upon the conclusory assertion of the police officer without any inquiry by a judge into the factual basis for the officer's conclusions was not a procedure designed to focus searchingly on the question of [illegal activity] as it related to PLAINTIFF'S First Amendment protected activity, and therefore fell short of constitutional requirements demanding necessary sensitivity in regards to PLAINTIFF'S First Amendment protected conduct.)
- Violating: Fahy v. Connecticut, 375 U.S. 85 (1963) (Holding that based on the record in a case, the erroneous admission of this illegally obtained evidence was so fundamentally prejudicial to the petitioner that it could not be called harmless error in which the conviction was overturned.”

- Violating Hamilton et al. v. Regents of the University of California et al., 293 U.S. 245 (1934) (establishing an affirmative American constitutional duty to the Country that men who enlisted with the Selective Service are required to learn about some military tactics).
- Violating: United States v. Gardner, 658 F. Supp. 1573 (W.D. Pa. 1987) in which Due Process was violated when: “by virtue of the fact that he was badgered, implored, inveigled and purposely set up by an agent of the Government in order to allow the government to prosecute and convict him... the government here through its informant created crime rather than uncovered crime and as such engineered and directed the criminal enterprise from start to finish...the government initiated and was actively involved in the criminal enterprise itself. Although the government did not supply the drugs in the case, it supplied the other necessary ingredients, the money to ferment criminal activity...that the crime alleged by the Government in the indictment in the above-captioned case would not have occurred but for the Government's assistance in manufacturing the crime; and further, this Court finds that up to the time of the inception of the alleged crime now before this Court, the Defendant was not involved in any prior ongoing criminal activity of any kind...the Government Agent persisted over a period of time in inducing and persuading the Defendant to commit the crime in question with sole motive and intention of overcoming the obvious reluctance of the Defendant to commit the alleged crime in question.” Id. But for causation is applicable when any 18 U.S.C. 2 violations are alleged.
- Violating: Fikes v. Alabama, 352 U.S. 191 (1957), Held: the circumstances of pressure applied against the power of resistance of this petitioner, who was weak of will or mind, deprived him of due process of law contrary to the Fourteenth Amendment.
- Violating: Wilson v. Seiter, 501 U.S. 294 (1994) (holding for purposes of 8th Amendment and 14th Amendment violations: one claiming that the conditions of his confinement violate the Eighth Amendment must show a culpable state of mind on the part of officials; the "wantonness" of conduct depends not on its effect on the individual, but on the constraints facing the official; there must be “deliberate indifference” to one’s “serious” medical needs”).
- Violating: Rochin v. California, 342 U.S. 165 (1952): “Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment (as well as the 5th Amendment) proscribes State Government conduct and “empowers the Court to nullify any state law if its application ‘shocks the conscience,’ offends ‘a sense of justice’ or runs counter to the ‘decencies of civilized conduct.’”
- Violating: Rochin v. California, 342 U.S. 165 (1952): “we may SOME DAY be presented with a situation in which the conduct of law enforcement agents is so outrageous that due process principles would absolutely bar the government from invoking judicial processes to obtain a conviction,”

TODAY IS THE DAY!

Like PLAINTIFF mentioned in Footnote 18: Simply when PLAINTIFF alleges a RICO violation when PLAINTIFF will state—"See: some of Defendants crimes: (or a variation thereof)"-- PLAINTIFF is necessarily incorporating and alleging a violation of one of the previously listed SCOTUS cases and respective constitutional violation in conjunction with the RICO violation as well.

#21. Like PLAINTIFF made the argument earlier in #20. Torturing PLAINTIFF, Committing War Crimes, and committing domestic and international acts of terrorism against PLAINTIFF (thereby violating 18 U.S.C. 2340 and 18 U.S.C. 2441 respectively) is the same as Tampering with or Retaliating against PLAINTIFF (thereby violating 18 USC §1961 section 1512 (relating to tampering with a witness, victim, or an informant) or 18 USC §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant)).

#22. When discussing Outrageous Government Conduct, the closest and relevant applicable standard the court analysis should be based on--when it comes to the allegations in An Anchor and a Pitchfork--is through OGC cases on prostitution. Therefore, the following standard is applicable because prostitution and trafficking of people for sexual purposes are nearly indistinguishable and can be construed as one and of the same: "Because, in this prostitution investigation, the government engaged in outrageous conduct in violation of the guarantees of due process in the United States and Minnesota constitutions when the investigating officer initiated and permitted the escalation of sexual contact that was unnecessary to any reasonable investigation, appellant's conviction is reversed." State v. Burkland, 775 N.W.2d 372, (Minn. Ct. App. 2009).

#23. Yes, according to the 7th Circuit when it comes to OGC, "'Stillborn' might be a better term, for it never had any life; and it certainly has no support in the decisions of this court, which go out of their way to criticize the doctrine. United States v. Okey, 47 F.3d 238, 240 n. 2 (7th Cir. 1995); United States v. Nava-Salazar, 30 F.3d 788, 800 (7th Cir. 1994); United States v. Cyprian, 23 F.3d 1189, 1197 (7th Cir. 1994); United States v. Van Engel, supra, 15 F.3d at 631-32; United States v. Olson, 978 F.2d 1472, 1481-82 (7th Cir. 1992); United States v. Miller, 891 F.2d 1265, 1271-73 (7th Cir. 1989) (concurring opinion). Today we let the other shoe drop, and hold that the doctrine does not exist in this circuit. U.S. v. Boyd, 55 F.3d 239 (7th Cir. 1995). But this is not the 7th Circuit.

But under the 10th Circuit: “Outrageous government conduct can violate a defendant’s constitutional right to due process and require dismissal of the charges against him. United States v. Leal, 32 F.4th 888 (10th Cir. 2022). United States v. Dyke, 718 F.3d 1282 (10th Cir. 2013) (noting that even though the Tenth Circuit still recognizes the outrageous government conduct defense, it has not found “a single case where the defense applies”)...“The defendant bears the burden of proving the government’s conduct was outrageous. The defendant must show that the conduct was “‘shocking’ and ‘clearly intolerable’ in light of the totality of the circumstances.” United States v. Leal, 32 F.4th 888 (10th Cir. 2022) (quoting United States v. Mosley, 965 F.2d 906, 910 (10th Cir. 1992)). To meet that high threshold, the government must have either been excessively involved in creating the crime or significantly coerced the defendant to commit the crime. Id. at 896...Although the Tenth Circuit has not formulated a specific rule to determine what level of government involvement is outrageous, it has provided “some general guidelines.” Mosley, 965 F.2d at 911. The government must have “essentially generate[d] new crime for the purpose of prosecuting it or induce[d] a defendant to become involved for the first time in certain criminal activity” Leal, 32 F.4th at 896 (quoting Mosley, 965 F.2d at 911). That said, as long as the government does not “engineer and direct the criminal enterprise from start to finish,” it may suggest illegal activity, “induce a defendant to repeat or continue a crime,” or “induce [a defendant] to expand or extend previous criminal activity.” Id. (quoting Mosley, 965 F.2d at 911) (quotations omitted).XX

“Selective prosecution by the United States violates the defendant’s due process right guaranteed by the Fifth Amendment. United States v. Deberry, 430 F.3d 1294, 1299 (10th Cir. 2005) (citing Wayte v. United States, 470 U.S. 598, 608 n. 9 (1985)). The government selectively prosecutes a defendant when its choice to prosecute was “invidious or in bad faith and was based on impermissible considerations such as . . . the desire to prevent the exercise of constitutional rights.” United States v. Davis, 339 F.3d 1223, 1228 n.3 (10th Cir. 2003) (quoting United States v. Salazar, 720 F.2d 1482, 1487 (10th Cir. 1983)). The defendant bears the burden of showing selective prosecution. United States v. Griffith, 928 F.3d 855, 866 (10th Cir. 2019). The standard is “a demanding one” and requires the claimant to “demonstrate that the federal prosecutorial policy had a discriminatory effect and that it was motivated by a discriminatory purpose.” United States v. Glaub, 910 F.3d 1334, 1340 (10th Cir. 2018) (quoting United States v. Armstrong, 517 U.S. 456, 463, 465 (1996)). To show the prosecution had a discriminatory effect, the defendant must demonstrate that similarly situated individuals were not prosecuted. United States v. Alcaraz-Arellano, 441 F.3d 1252, 1265 (10th Cir. 2006). Individuals are similarly situated when no legitimate factors distinguish them enough to justify the difference in prosecution. Deberry, 430 F.3d at 1301. The defendant must do more than identify similarities he shares with other individuals, United States v. DeChristopher, 695 F.3d 1082, 1096–97 (10th Cir. 2012), or simply assert that other similar individuals were not prosecuted, Griffith, 928 F.3d at 867. Instead, a defendant must show that the only distinguishing features between them would be unconstitutional bases for differential treatment. DeChristopher, 695 F.3d at 1097. The defendant must also demonstrate that “discriminatory intent was a ‘motivating factor in the decision’ to enforce the criminal law against the defendant.” Alcaraz-Arellano, 441 F.3d at 1264 (quoting Marshall v. Columbia Lea Reg’l Hosp., 345 F.3d 1157, 1168 (10th Cir. 2003)). The government must have chosen to prosecute “at least in part ‘because of,’ not merely ‘in spite of,’ [that decision’s] adverse effects upon an identifiable group.” Wayte v. United States, 470 U.S. 598,

608 (1985) (quoting Pers. Adm'r Of Mass. v. Feeney, 422 U.S. 256, 279 (1979)). The defendant may show this by either direct or circumstantial evidence. Alcaraz-Arellano, 441 F.3d at 1264.”

#24. PLAINTIFF believes the way this all really started was prior to PLAINTIFF’S birth. SCOTUS through Smith v. Maryland, 442 U.S. 735 (1979) and SCOTUS’ terrible 4th and 5th Amendment rulings throughout the 1980s that intentionally enabled the United States to create a system that allowed the UNITED STATES Government to create a “Pre-Crime” Data Base and “Pre-Crime” Analysis Data Centers (which they are probably known today as DATA FUSION Centers) in which the Government has absolved themselves of all responsibility and liability for when it goes wrong. PLAINTIFF, through characteristics he was born with and could not fix from birth, would eventually get swept into a dragnet and algorithms utilized and would thereby be selected against PLAINTIFF’S will, interests and Constitutional Rights. For the sake of brevity, PLAINTIFF must have done something as a child during BILL CLINTON’S presidency that trigged the algorithm to be used against PLAINTIFF. This will be talked about in the Upbringing Section.

#25. Overrule: Wilkie v. Robbins, 551 U.S. 537 (2007) as SCOTUS were completely wrong in opinion when they said that caselaw “is completely barren of an example of extortion under color of official right undertaken for the sole benefit of the Government.” This lawsuit is the exception to the case. Or in the alternative, Wilkie v. Robbins, 551 U.S. 537 (2007) is completely distinguishable on the facts of this case are completely filled with examples of RICO acts under color of official right undertaken for the benefit of the Government and is therefore not applicable here.

#26. Pandick, Inc. v. Rooney, 632 F. Supp 1430 (N.D. Ill. 1986) states a conspiracy charge involving a corporation and its employees is available in a civil RICO action. DEFENDANTS meet the definition of an unincorporated association, which is generally defined as “a body of persons acting together and using certain methods for prosecuting a special purpose or common enterprise.” Motta v. Samuel Weiser, Inc., 768 F.2d 481, 485 (1st cir.), cert. denied, 106 S. ct. 596 (1985).

#27. PLAINTIFF understands this appears to be “political” and some DEFENDANTS may allege PLAINTIFF is going after Democrats. This is so far from the truth. What PLAINTIFF is doing is using a case against the Democrats in which “Kay v. Bruno, 605 F. Supp 767 (D. N.H. 1985), held “that the New Hampshire Democratic Party was an unincorporated association. The court found that the common understanding of most citizens of New Hampshire was that there was in existence a New Hampshire Democratic Party, commonly referred to and contributed to as such, which met regularly in convention. Under these definitions and holdings, it appears that a group such as an organized crime “family” would be recognized by a court as an unincorporated association.”⁹⁹ to make this argument that DEFENDANTS are an unincorporated association: whether it is DEFENDANTS who are in intelligence putting themselves in DEFENDANTS social media companies,¹⁰⁰ whether it is DEFENDANTS in intelligence that commonly become members of CONGRESS,¹⁰¹ whether it is MICROSOFT, AWS, and other companies that does work for the United States Government that exceeds billions of dollars in which probably every single United States Government has Microsoft Word on it,¹⁰² DEFENDANT INTELLIGENCE AGENCIES regularly meet at conventions as do other branches of the United States Government via 5 Eyes, WASHINGTON DC having an elite insider social scene in which people in WASHINGTON DC are still tied together by money and memberships/participation in one of the following in which they have conventions and speeches and lunch-ins: freemasons/illuminati, Bohemian Grove, CFR, Bilderberg, Trilateral Commission, etc. and, finally, this homogenous unincorporated association is completely out of touch and out of prosecutable reach¹⁰³ with the rest of America and regularly act like it. It is for all intents and purposes, an unincorporated associate on that meaningfully engages in intrastate commerce, interstate commerce, and foreign commerce at every local city, town, state, and country.

#27. How PLAINTIFF learned of unincorporated association in RICO ENTERPRISE 1 is the following story. KEN STARR (now deceased) was at a Federalist Society lunch-in that PLAINTIFF attended in Spring 2017 in CHICAGO, IL. PLAINTIFF met KEN STARR; and before PLAINTIFF even had the chance or opportunity to say anything about himself, including PLAINTIFF'S own name, KEN STARR knew who PLAINTIFF was; KEN STARR knew at least some of PLAINTIFF'S issues and tribulations that happened in 2015 & 2016 all without saying a word—that man knew. PLAINTIFF, for all intents and purposes, was a source of pleasure of DEFENDANTS' sadistic treatment or was a 'retarded' source of entertainment for DEFENDANTS or a thing to be manipulated & abused for DEFENDANTS' agendas. PLAINTIFF from that moment on, knew he had been blacklisted by the elite in DC, blacklisted within the legal profession, and there was, and probably is, nothing PLAINTIFF could do about it because it has already been decided no matter what PLAINTIFF does. But PLAINTIFF is still trying something.

#28. At all times between 2008-Present Moment, DEFENDANTS utilized numerous warrants against PLAINTIFF'S Constitutional Rights and Interests in which DEFENDANTS' warrants contained numerous constitutional deficiencies, were legally fraudulent, were constitutionally deficient within the four corners of the application; had denied PLAINTIFF a Franks Hearing via Franks v Delaware, 438 U.S. 154 (1978) (PLAINTIFF is demanding a Franks hearing to every single warrant made against PLAINTIFF); violated Stanford v. Texas, 379 U.S. 476 (1965) as the warrants, national security letters, purchase of data, request of data, etc. were so generalized as to make them generalized warrants; and having utilized 5 Eyes against PLAINTIFF, DEFENDANTS were in fact utilizing 5 eyes as a means of a general writs of assistance against PLAINTIFF in which the following reasoning in Stanford v. Texas, 379 U.S. 476 (1965) applies to PLAINTIFF'S case because DEFENDANTS warrants were necessarily tied to and related to PLAINTIFF'S First Amendment Protected Conduct and Speech, some of which was dependent on the basis of his disability, that occurred from at least 2008 and this is what the Court ruled on in Stanford v. Texas, 379 U.S. 476 (1965):

“For we think it is clear that this warrant was of a kind which it was the purpose of the Fourth Amendment to forbid a general warrant...It is now settled that the fundamental protections of the Fourth Amendment are guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment against invasion by the States. Wolf v. Colorado, 338 U. S. 25, 27; Mapp v. Ohio, 367 U. S. 643; Ker v. California, 374 U. S. 23. The Fourth Amendment provides that "no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized." (Emphasis supplied.)” Id.

“These words are precise and clear. They reflect the determination of those who wrote the Bill of Rights that the people of this new Nation should forever "be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects" from intrusion and seizure by officers acting under the unbridled authority of a general warrant. Vivid in the memory of the newly independent Americans were those general warrants known as writs of assistance under which officers of the Crown had so bedeviled the colonists. The hated writs of assistance had given customs officials blanket authority to search where they pleased for goods imported in violation of the British tax laws. They were denounced by James Otis as "the worst instrument of arbitrary power, the most destructive of English liberty, and the fundamental principles of law, that ever was found in an English law book," because they placed "the liberty of every man in the hands of every petty officer." The historic occasion of that denunciation, in 1761 at Boston, has been characterized as "perhaps the most prominent event which inaugurated the resistance of the colonies to the oppressions of the mother country. 'Then and there,' said John Adams, 'then and there was the first scene of the first act of opposition to the arbitrary *482 claims of Great Britain. Then and there the child Independence was born.' " Boyd v. United States, 116 U. S. 616, 625. But while the Fourth Amendment was most immediately the product of contemporary revulsion against a regime of writs of assistance, its roots go far deeper. Its adoption in the Constitution of this new Nation reflected the culmination in England a few years earlier of a struggle against oppression which had endured for centuries. The story of that struggle has been fully chronicled in the pages of this Court's reports,^[5] and it would be a needless exercise in pedantry to review again the detailed history of the use of general warrants as instruments of oppression from the time of the Tudors, through the Star Chamber,¹⁰⁴ the Long Parliament, the Restoration, and beyond.” Id.

“What is significant to note is that this history is largely a history of conflict between the Crown and the press. It was in enforcing the laws licensing the publication of literature and, later, in prosecutions for seditious libel that general warrants were systematically used in the sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth centuries. In Tudor England officers of the Crown were given roving commissions to search¹⁰⁵ where they pleased in order to suppress and destroy the literature of dissent, both Catholic and Puritan.^[6] In later years warrants were sometimes more specific in content, but they typically authorized the arrest and search of the premises of all persons connected with the publication of a particular libel, or the arrest and seizure of all the papers of a named person thought to be connected with a libel.” Id.

“It was in the context of the latter kinds of general warrants that the battle for individual liberty and privacy was finally won in the landmark cases of Wilkes v. Wood and Entick v. Carrington. The Wilkes case arose out of the Crown's attempt to stifle a publication called The North Briton, anonymously published by John Wilkes, then a member of Parliament particularly issue No. 45 of that journal. Lord Halifax, as Secretary of State, issued a warrant¹⁰⁶ ordering four of the King's messengers "to make strict and diligent search for the authors, printers, and publishers of a seditious and treasonable paper, entitled, The North Briton, No. 45, . . . and them, or any of them, having found, to apprehend and seize, together with their papers." "Armed with their roving commission, they set forth in quest of unknown offenders; and unable to take evidence, listened to rumors, idle tales, and curious guesses. They held in their hands the liberty of every man whom they were pleased to suspect." Holding that this was "a ridiculous warrant against the whole English nation," the Court of Common Pleas awarded Wilkes damages against the Secretary of State. John Entick was the author of a publication called Monitor or British Freeholder. A warrant was issued specifically naming him and that publication, and authorizing his arrest for seditious libel and the seizure of his "books and papers." The King's messengers executing the warrant ransacked Entick's home for four hours and carted *484 away quantities of his books and papers. In an opinion which this Court has characterized as a wellspring of the rights now protected by the Fourth Amendment,^[13] Lord Camden declared the warrant to be unlawful. "This power," he said, "so assumed by the secretary of state is an execution upon all the party's papers, in the first instance. His house is rifled; his most valuable secrets are taken out of his possession, before the paper for which he is charged is found to be criminal by any competent jurisdiction, and before he is convicted either of writing, publishing, or being concerned in the paper." Entick v. Carrington. Thereafter, the House of Commons passed two resolutions condemning general warrants, the first limiting its condemnation to their use in cases of libel, and the second condemning their use generally." Id.

"This is the history which prompted the Court less than four years ago to remark that "[t]he use by government of the power of search and seizure as an adjunct to a system for the suppression of objectionable publications is not new." Marcus v. Search Warrant, 367 U. S. 717, at 724. "This history was, of course, part of the intellectual matrix within which our own constitutional fabric was shaped. The Bill of Rights was fashioned against the background of knowledge that unrestricted power of search and seizure could also be an instrument for stifling liberty of expression."¹⁰⁷ Id., at 729. As MR. JUSTICE DOUGLAS has put it, "The commands of our First Amendment *485 (as well as the prohibitions of the Fourth and the Fifth) reflect the teachings of Entick v. Carrington, supra. These three amendments are indeed closely related, safeguarding not only privacy and protection against self-incrimination but 'conscience and human dignity and freedom of expression as well.' Frank v. Maryland, 359 U. S. 360, 376 (dissenting opinion). In short, what this history indispensably teaches is that the constitutional requirement that warrants must particularly describe the "things to be seized" is to be accorded the most scrupulous exactitude when the "things" are books, and the basis for their seizure is the ideas which they contain."^[16] See Marcus v. Search Warrant, 367 U. S. 717; A Quantity of Books v. Kansas, 378 U. S. 205. No less a standard could be faithful to First Amendment freedoms. The constitutional impossibility of leaving the protection of those freedoms to the whim of the officers charged with executing the warrant is dramatically underscored by what the officers saw fit to seize under the warrant in this case."¹⁰⁸ Id.

"The requirement that warrants shall particularly describe the things to be seized makes general searches under them impossible and prevents the seizure of one thing under a warrant describing another. As to what is to be taken, nothing is left to the discretion of the officer executing the warrant." ... The indiscriminate sweep of that language is constitutionally intolerable. To hold otherwise would be false to the terms of the Fourth Amendment, false to its meaning, and false to its history.” Id

#29. PLAINTIFF alleges that some SCOTUS cases from March 2008 and onwards are necessarily compromised and would violate Due Process if utilized against PLAINTIFF and there is no telling the extent of which SCOTUS cases are compromised. At least 3 are compromised: City & County of S.F. v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015), Ashcroft v. Al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011), and Holder v. Humanitarian Law Project, 561 U.S. 1 (2010) PLAINTIFF requests Court not to use SCOTUS cases that occurred after 2008 as it would deny Due Process. This argument is made in mostly in Star Chambers and the discussion of Ashcroft v. Al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011) in Miki’s Tea Party.

#30. Rule 17 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure allows PLAINTIFF to argue that it provides that a partnership, or other unincorporated association "may sue or be sued in its common name for the purpose of enforcing for or against it substantive rights existing under the Constitution or laws of the United States" and PLAINTIFF is utilizing that rule.

#31. TO DEFENDANTS: VERIZON, AT&T, ROTHSCHILD, META, MICROSOFT, APPLE, COX COMMUNICATION, WALT DISNEY/DISNEY, NETFLIX-- Temple University v. Salla Bros., Inc., 656 F. Supp. 97, 103 (E.D. Pa. 1986) (under Section 1962(a), “the liable person may be a corporation using the proceeds of a pattern of racketeering activity in its operations. This approach to subsection (a) thus makes the corporation-enterprise liable under RICO when the corporation is actually the direct or indirect beneficiary of the pattern of racketeering activity.” In United States v. McNary, 620 F.2d 621, 628-29 (7th Cir. 1980), the court upheld a conviction under Section 1962(a), holding that “evidence of indirect investment of the proceeds of racketeering activity into an enterprise affecting interstate commerce is sufficient to establish a violation of Section 1962(a).” In McNary, it was sufficient to prove that the defendant's receipt of an amount of racketeering income permitted him to invest an equivalent amount of money in the enterprise.” See: DOJ RICO Criminal Handbook (2016).

#32. DEFENDANTS “racketeering acts need not be similar or directly related to each other; rather, [in this case] the racketeering acts are related in some way to the affairs of the charged enterprise, including that the racketeering acts furthered the goals of or benefitted the enterprise, the enterprise or the defendant’s role in the enterprise enabled the defendant to commit, or facilitated the commission of, the racketeering acts, the racketeering acts were committed at the behest of, or on behalf of, the enterprise, and the racketeering acts had the same or similar purposes, results, participants, victims, and methods of commission.”¹⁰⁹

#33. In this case, the threat of continuity exists as predicate acts or offenses are part of an ongoing entity’s regular way of doing business in some respects, yes because there seems to be an average of one terrorist attack by DEFENDANTS every five years; these events having at least factually started from 2008 (if not before then). Thus, the threat of continuity exists in a certain way since these acts can be attributed to DEFENDANTS as part of an ongoing operation and association that exists for criminal purposes.

#34. PLAINTIFF is suing PLAINTIFF'S parents because there is no way the tragedy that happened without PLAINTIFF'S parents routinely deceiving PLAINTIFF or significantly contributing to the problems by lying and omitting things from PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF has had enough of shit treatment. For their failure to tell PLAINTIFF the truth, hiding things, and fucking PLAINTIFF up emotionally for life because PLAINTIFF'S love interests spent more time talking to his parents than actual PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF'S parents are listed as DEFENDANTS. Furthermore, PLAINTIFF is suing his parents as to end all association with parents so that DEFENDANTS can't say PLAINTIFF is furthering an Enterprise that PLAINTIFF has no idea about with the restitution PLAINTIFF is owed.

#35. For 18 U.S.C. 1962(B) crimes alleged herein: United States v. Godwin, 765 F.3d 1306 (11th Cir. 2014) states “(to establish a nexus, the predicate acts need not affect the everyday operations of the enterprise, as long as they are related by distinguishing characteristics and are not isolated events). The distinguishing characteristics that connect it here is PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF's facts (or deliberate inclusion of misconstrued facts thereof), PLAINTIFF'S Characteristics and the But For causation of numerous acts of retaliation and agenda driven motives against PLAINTIFF, utilization of foreign intelligence against PLAINTIFF by American Intelligence when they knew they had committed RICO conduct before, and these requisites are applicable in the Section: Miki's Tea Party, an Anchor and a Pitchfork, and other sections.

#36. For the ESTATE of ANTONIN SCALIA, JUSTICE SAMUEL ALITO, CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS, the ESTATE of JOHN PAUL STEVENS, and any FISA JUDGES, See: United States v. Grubb, 11 F.3d 426, 438-39 (4th Cir. 1993) (The court stated that “[w]e also have a defendant (a judge) who undeniably is employed by and operates or manages the enterprise within the meaning of Reves v. Ernst & Young.” The applicable standard in a RICO conspiracy to violate 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c), see Section III(D)(3.) In describing its “operation or management” test, the Supreme Court stated: “Once we understand the word “conduct” to require some degree of direction and the word “participate” to require some part in that direction, the meaning of § 1962(c) comes into focus. In order to “participate, directly or indirectly, in the conduct of such enterprise's affairs,” one must have some part in directing those affairs. Reves, 507 U.S. at 179.”¹¹⁰ The Supreme Court necessarily did this in Al Kidd and City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015). A ruling provides some degree of direction in which JUDGES participated in the direction of the Star Chamber applicable to PLAINTIFF by deciding the case the way SCOTUS did by directing DOJ how to prosecute PLAINTIFF based on facts made known to them by the DOJ and the DOJ'S Solicitor General's office and the FISA Court. For example, DOJ's Sheehan's Brief clearly provided direction for a decision for SCOTUS in City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015)¹¹¹ and violated at least In re Murchison, 349 U.S. 133 (1955) and United States v. Shotwell Mfg. Co., 355 U.S. 233 (1957); Deceased SCOTUS judges have no expectation of privacy to their work and their work will reveal crimes committed by them against PLAINTIFF and that is what discovery will prove.

#37. In Salinas v. United States, 522 U.S. 52, 61-66 (1997), the Supreme Court held that to establish a RICO conspiracy offense under Section 1962(d), there is no requirement that the defendant “himself committed or agreed to commit the two predicate acts requisite for a substantive RICO offense under § 1962(c).” Id. The Supreme Court explained: “A conspiracy may exist even if a conspirator does not agree to commit or facilitate each and every part of the substantive offense. The partners in the criminal plan must agree to pursue the same criminal objective and may divide up the work, yet each is responsible for the acts of each other. If conspirators have a plan which calls for some conspirators to perpetrate the crime and others to provide support, the supporters are as guilty as the perpetrators.” Id. at 63-64.”¹¹² This applies primarily in Miki’s Tea Party and An Anchor and a Pitchfork.

DEFENDANTS, take heed in the following: “The Court in Salinas v. United States, 522 U.S. 52, 61-66 (1997), added that: “A conspirator must intend to further an endeavor which, if completed, would satisfy all of the elements of a substantive criminal offense, but it suffices that he adopt the goal of furthering or facilitating the criminal endeavor. He may do so in any number of ways short of agreeing to undertake all of the acts necessary for the crime's completion. One can be a conspirator by agreeing to facilitate only some of the acts leading to the substantive offense. It is elementary that a conspiracy may exist and be punished whether or not the substantive crime ensues, for the conspiracy is a distinct evil, dangerous to the public, and so punishable in itself. It makes no difference that the substantive offense under § 1962(c) requires two or more predicate acts. The interplay between subsections (c) and (d) does not permit us to excuse from the reach of the conspiracy provision an actor who does not himself commit or agree to commit the two or more predicate acts requisite to the underlying offense.”¹¹³ See also: United States v. Miller, 116 F.3d 641, 674-75 (2d Cir. 1997) (act involving murder need not be actual murder as long as the act directly concerned murder, and facilitation of murder was a proper RICO predicate because accessorial offenses described in the New York State statutory provisions involved murder within the meaning of RICO where defendant provided information he knew would enable inquirer to commit murder or other RICO predicate). Sharing information illegally obtained and amongst DEFENDANTS furthers the endeavor against PLAINTIFF

#38. BILL and HILLARY CLINTON’S primary motivations and purposes against PLAINTIFF were some of the following: PLAINTIFF posed a legal liability on multiple fronts to the CLINTONS, PLAINTIFF would be a liability in HILLARY CLINTON’S presidency, and CLINTON GLOBAL INTIATIVE’S contributions would decrease after 2016 if HILLARY CLINTON did not win the presidency in 2016, which in fact did happen when CGI received $62.9 million in 2016 and then only received $16.3 million in 2020.¹¹⁴ The same can be said about DONALD TRUMP’S presidency.

PLAINTIFF can barely do legal tasks despite graduating from law school (thanks to LSU LAW) after what DEFENDANTS did to PLAINTIFF in which PLAINTIFF was capable of earning the best score amongst his peers in a class. PLAINTIFF will never forget the email from one of the administrators from the Texas Bar that said PLAINTIFF received one of the lowest scores he has even seen in his extensive (if PLAINTIFF recalls correctly 20+ years) time as a Texas Bar administrator. PLAINTIFF has patiently waited for years to resolve issues & hoped for DEFENDANTS to have an iota of integrity to own up to what they did only to really find out within the last year (2023) what the most outrageous thing they were hiding & why they refused to meaningfully talk to PLAINTIFF and work with PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF has pleaded, begged, called, emailed, tweeted, submitted, wrote, visited, and other actions to find an amicable resolution to all of this. DEFENDANTS are absolutely capable of resolving the issues if they truly wanted to, but they are deliberately not doing so. PLAINTIFF can barely live with himself after what DEFENDANTS did to PLAINTIFF or allowed to happen to PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF, despite years of trying to fix his disabilities and autism that the DEFENDANTS knew about, cannot fix himself anymore and desperately needs ketamine treatment and will probably need it for the rest of his life in addition to ongoing medical treatment. PLAINTIFF completely lost his-- at times-- happy and charismatic self, his joking abilities and humorous side of himself, his loving nature, and his unconditional trust of others and to look for the best in people. PLAINTIFF now lives in a constant state of paranoia, fear, and dread; wondering when the United States Government is plotting to do something against him in the future like a lawless tyrannical monster unhinged from any notions of morality, ethics, constitutional and legal orders and mandates, and more importantly, any sense of shame.

#42. There were 2 RICO Enterprises PLAINTIFF has come across within the last 15 or so years. RICO Enterprise Part 1: Most of the Complaint (except for RICO Enterprise 2, which is being included because it started to be discovered in What Saved Plaintiff's Life. The thing about RICO Enterprise 2 and RICO Enterprise 1 is that even though they can involve some of the same people, they are so far apart from one another in nature and scope and so factually distinct and different from one another that PLAINTIFF could not have reasonably, let alone plausibly, connected RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2. For this Complaint, RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2 are two distinct and separate RICO Enterprises.

by PLAINTIFF. Like PLAINTIFF said earlier, PLAINTIFF can provide the Court immediate notes and documentation concerning RICO Enterprise 2 but it is not that RICO Enterprise PLAINTIFF is primarily concerned with and about in this litigation though it has contributed greatly to the issue. PLAINTIFF is just incorporating it and DEFENDANTS as part of the totality of circumstances involving PLAINTIFF and DEFENDANT as not to leave any viable claims deriving from RICO Enterprise 2 as inapplicable. PLAINTIFFS really should have really just settled then, but did not. So RICO ENTERPRISE 2 is on the table.

#43. PLAINTIFF was routinely taken advantage of by PLAINTIFF's parents in which his parents violated Article 16 in which PLAINTIFF'S parents constantly withheld information from PLAINTIFF concerning legal issues, habitually manipulated and lied to PLAINTIFF, coerced PLAINTIFF into committing things against his will, and used PLAINTIFF for their own financial purposes. To PLAINTIFF'S intuition and understanding, the situation partly escalated the way it did because of PLAINTIFF'S parents' contributions to the entirety of the situation in a small respect and there is no way PLAINTIFF can avoid that issue. Considering PLAINTIFF'S demands in the Prayer of Relief section and how the figures were calculated and the complete generosity to DEFENDANTS, no amount should be taken away from the demands made in PLAINTIFF'S Prayers For Request section because of what PLAINTIFF was forced to endure and made to do over the years by PLAINTIFF'S parents because that would even shock the conscience and violate every single sense of traditional justice and fairness. So, whatever happened in regards to PLAINTIFF'S finances, the real culprit is PLAINTIFF'S parents. That is why PLAINTIFF is suing his parents (but not including monetary damages against them) to effectively end association with PLAINTIFF'S parents. PLAINTIFF'S father intentionally ignored what was important to PLAINTIFF in 2016 or 2017 even after PLAINTIFF informed him of such. True, there were times that PLAINTIFF committed questionable acts along the way to get PLAINTIFF to graduate from college and law school, but the odds of an autistic man making it on his own in the world today and the consequences of abuse that would occur and did occur (when PLAINTIFF failed out of LSU Law by 0.01 of a GPA in 2014) contributed in making PLAINTIFF take the risks even though PLAINTIFF personally disapproved of his own actions and wished there would have been better ways and solutions along the way to have avoided it. Yea, PLAINTIFF did some things and has some regrets along the way and PLAINTIFF even owned up to one of his mistakes in which he could have been necessarily denied a Juris Doctorate even considering the importance of the story to PLAINTIFF and what PLAINTIFF had to overcome and endure to that point of time; PLAINTIFF, for his part, constantly owned up to actual mistakes and transgressions he has done over the years that he had control over. DEFENDANTS are going to falsely label PLAINTIFF as a charlatan, lone wolf terrorist, predator, insert malicious branding here by DEFENDANTS, to try to absolve themselves of what they did; but facts are facts.

#44. Even if we attempt to grant DEFENDANTS' false and malicious arguments in which they know that PLAINTIFF is filing a RICO lawsuit against them and then they would countersue and accuse me of RICO as well, the absolute max amount that PLAINTIFF could have ever conceivably obtained through his actions would be $2,000,000 whether it was the homes on Arbor Ct, Lynsee, etc. even though PLAINTIFF to his autistic understanding in which PLAINTIFF never had control over the money in which there were numerous things PLAINTIFF would have done like getting breast reduction surgery for his man-boobs and saving money for his graduate school education and training in which PLAINTIFF would not have had to utilize Federal Loans. Compared to the depth of the amount of legal fraud and fraud perpetuated against PLAINTIFF, the following case is dispositive in which the Court if they were to grant DEFENDANTS lies should be in proportion to what PLAINTIFF may or may not have committed: United States v. Carpenter, 317 F.3d 618 (6th Cir. 2003) (court should compare the value of the property not to the street value of the drugs actually confiscated on the property, but to the scope and sophistication of the entire drug operation; court may also look to the maximum fine as one factor in determining the gravity of the offense; forfeiture that is within the range specified by the Sentencing Guidelines—when the fines that could have been imposed on each codefendant are added together—is not grossly disproportional to the offense), aff'd en banc, 360 F.3d 591 (6th Cir. 2004). United States v. One Parcel 45 Claremont St., 395 F.3d 1 (1st Cir. 2004) (forfeiture of family home where defendant's wife and children reside not grossly disproportional to drug offense measured by value of drugs sold and maximum statutory term of imprisonment and fine).

#45. "PLAINTIFF claims self-defense per Louisiana Revised Statutes (Louisiana Civil Code) RS:14 §22 for any acts done in 2013-2017 that may be applicable during PLAINTIFF'S residence in Louisiana or situations arising from the nexus of facts that started in Louisiana and occurred in Illinois such as the GoFundMe legal defense fees.

#46. It was so manifestly unfair and biased against PLAINTIFF in which the important people in DC knew about PLAINTIFF from 2008. SCOTUS and DOJ/FBI did from 2008; PLAINTIFF had reason to know Congress, DOJ/FBI, and SCOTUS knew about him from 2017 related to RICO Enterprise 2. FISA from 2020 in RICO Enterprise 1 & 2. Yet PLAINTIFF from 2008 is all but a giant ghost wondering the streets, halls, and secret chambers in DC in which DEFENDANTS are necessarily referring to PLAINTIFF, but refuse to acknowledge PLAINTIFF'S existence, and are undercutting PLAINTIFF at every single opportunity because they're covering up for their own abuses and legal fraud committed against PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF had hope in Spring 2017 that CONGRESS was really going to do better in the future. PLAINTIFF really did have that hope in Spring 2017. But CONGRESS and DC DEFENDANTS have been working against him every single day for at least the last 6 years. For instance, Congressional Research Services happens to come out with research about the State Security Doctrine and release it on PLAINTIFF'S birthday (04/28) in 2022¹²⁶ that are trying to prevent PLAINTIFF from seeking redress because of what DEFENDANTS did against PLAINTIFF in which SCOTUS on two separate times before spited PLAINTIFF on his birthday in things that were important to him in at least 2010 and 2022 that PLAINTIFF will conclusively prove later on Star Chambers. DEFENDANTS necessarily knew when PLAINTIFF'S birthday was from at least 2010, PLAINTIFF had the same phone number from at least 2008 onwards, but yet, not a single DEFENDANT (besides Thao Bui for a while) ever called or texted PLAINTIFF wishing him a Happy Birthday.

#49. Speaking of State Secrets Doctrine. It is completely inapplicable, and the Court must hear this complaint and case.

5 U.S.C. § 706 provides in pertinent part:

"Scope of review"

"To the extent necessary to decision and when presented, the reviewing court shall decide all relevant questions of law, interpret constitutional and statutory provisions, and determine the meaning or applicability of the terms of an agency action. The reviewing court shall -- "

"(1) compel agency action unlawfully withheld or unreasonably delayed; and"

"(2) hold unlawful and set aside agency action, findings, and conclusions found to be -- "

"(A) arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion, or otherwise not in accordance with law;"

"(B) contrary to constitutional right, power, privilege, or immunity;"

"(C) in excess of statutory jurisdiction, authority, or limitations, or short of statutory right;"

"(D) without observance of procedure required by law."

PLAINTIFF is alleging that the fundamental basis on which this complaint rests and is applicable throughout the complaint, the Agency action was so intentionally withheld and completely unreasonably delayed from 2008 onwards. There were so many arbitrary, capricious, and an abuse of discretions that occurred that were not in accordance of the law. Everything, as PLAINTIFF will demonstrate, was contrary to constitutional right, power, privilege, and immunity. It was in excess of any limitation known to man. So much procedure was ignored in regards to PLAINTIFF in searches and seizures.

“The APA's comprehensive provisions, set forth in 5 U.S.C. §§ 701-706 (1982 ed. and Supp. IV), allow any person "adversely affected or aggrieved" by agency action to obtain judicial review thereof, so long as the decision challenged represents a "final agency action for which there is no other adequate remedy in a court." Typically, a litigant will contest an action (or failure to act) by an agency on the ground that the agency has neglected to follow the statutory directives of Congress. Section 701(a), however, limits application of the entire APA to situations in which judicial review is not precluded by statute, see § 701(a)(1), and the agency action is not committed to agency discretion by law, see § 701(a)(2).” Webster v. Doe, 486 U.S. 592 (1988). “Section 702 of the A.P.A. provides judicial review to any "person suffering legal wrong because of agency action, or adversely affected or aggrieved by agency action within the meaning of a relevant statute." There is no State Security Privilege. The court, in which review is an issue, will not "be had if the statute is drawn so that a court would have no meaningful standard against which to judge the agency's exercise of discretion." Webster v. Doe, 486 U.S. 592 (1988). There are meaningful standards against which to judge the agency's exercise of discretion can be based at an absolute minimum: RICO, Geneva Convention, Convention on the Rights of Disabled XX, and more

There is no allowable discretion afforded to multiple directors in multiple agencies' actions in allowing DEFENDANTS to engage in two acts of international (1 international) and domestic terrorism (2 domestic) (one incident constituted both international and domestic terrorism) against an American for political purposes because PLAINTIFF necessarily posed a liability to HILLARY CLINTON at the exact time the actions were undertaken by DEFENDANTS and DEFENDANTS obtained more than $14,900,000,000 in the process in which legal fraud was maliciously perpetuated over the years that PLAINTIFF was routinely denied the opportunity to access court. Were there procedures that allowed an American to tell DEFENDANTS: “hey dipshits, don’t commit acts of international and domestic terrorism against a special needs American internationally and on domestic soil and get paid more than $14,900,000,000 in the process. It’s a very bad look for you.” PLAINTIFF was not made of the agency action in allowing DEFENDANTS to commit acts of international and domestic terrorism against an American; and if given the opportunity, PLAINTIFF would have said the same exact thing to their faces prior to 03/11/2011 and Feb/March 2016.

50. In the Sections of The Narcoterrorism Era and Pravus Pravda, PLAINTIFF is alleging that the NSA utilized the PRISM and Cottonmouth programs against PLAINTIFF in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1, utilized personnel and resources in Tailored Access operations that gained access to PLAINTIFF’S laptop, used Title I, Title II, Title IX against PLAINTIFF unconstitutionally. By having utilized PRISM against PLAINTIFF, it directly impacted PLAINTIFF in which NSA had complete unfettered access to PLAINTIFF’S Facebook, YouTube, Skype, AOL (AIM), and APPLE accounts in which NSA and certain coconspirators and DEFENDANTS necessarily obtained all of PLAINTIFF’S personal data that included emails, logins, videos, photos, VoIP chats, file transfers, location history, current location, access to PLAINTIFF'S camera and microphone on PLAINTIFF'S laptop. NSA used Boomerang Routing against PLAINTIFF to cause PLAINTIFF to believe certain lies perpetuated against PLAINTIFF in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 by visiting certain websites, reading certain articles, etc. in which an ordinary person surfing on the web could not have ascertained the falsities of particular websites PLAINTIFF visited. NSA'S Tailored Access Operations allowed NSA to gain access to PLAINTIFF'S laptop, gain access to SEWANEE & LSU Law's routers and servers, allowed NSA to install malicious network hardware or altered the hardware on PLAINTIFF'S laptop in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1. PLAINTIFF is alleging by NSA and American INTEL necessarily having done all the above, it was done in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 in which NSA and American INTEL violated 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1029 (relating to fraud and related activity in connection with access devices). DEFENDANTS META, ALPHABET, MICROSOFT, AOL TIMEWARNER, and APPLE necessarily became coconspirators and aided and abetted RICO Enterprise 1.

NSA unconstitutionally utilized Metadata Analysis Center (MAC) and the Advanced Analysis Division (AAD) that analyzed all of PLAINTIFF'S Content, PLAINTIFF'S metadata and cellphone metadata as part of furthering RICO Enterprise 1 from September 2006 to Present. Part of the "offing" email in Miki's Tea Party referred to "sigint," which is signals intelligence by American Intel, British Intel, Indian Intel, and Qatari Intel that was utilized against PLAINTIFF in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1.

DoD and NSA, as well as the rest of American INTEL DEFENDANTS, violated Signals Intelligence Directive 18, or USSID 18 that should have barred the overseas surveillance of PLAINTIFF in Financial Terrorism, Miki's Tea Party, and An Anchor and a Pitchfork.

51. United States v. Turkette, 452 U.S. 576 (1981), the Court held: "The term "enterprise," as used in RICO, encompasses both legitimate and illegitimate enterprises." The Court discussed how RICO had the "section describes two separate categories of associations that come within the purview of an "enterprise" -- the first encompassing organizations such as corporations, partnerships, and other "legal entities," and the second covering "any union or group of individuals associated in fact although not a legal entity." The second category is not a more generalized description of the first, and hence the rule of ejusdem generis cannot be properly applied to hold that the second category should be limited by the specific examples enumerated in the first." The Court said "With respect to § 1962(c), an "enterprise" is not a "pattern of racketeering activity," but is an entity separate and apart from the pattern of activity in which it engages. In order to secure a conviction, the Government must prove both the existence of an "enterprise" and the connected "pattern of racketeering activity."

52. Political question doctrine does not apply: "Though a court will not undertake to construe a treaty in a manner inconsistent with a subsequent federal statute, no similar hesitancy obtains if the asserted clash is with state law." Well PLAINTIFF found the one exception—Louisiana Civil Code. Louisiana Civil Code in Louisiana is a civil law system that can incorporate French law (foreign law). It can relate to foreign relations and there have been decisions that have been decided by US Federal Districts Courts that have incorporated the Louisiana Civil Code. Then based on the very nature of the allegations of this complaint, there is no way that this case can be decided on the political question doctrine in which if the Court decides on that basis, it will allow the United States Government to commit war crimes, acts of terrorism, against their own citizens domestically and abroad so long as it implicates foreign relations. There has to be a line drawn on the executive's branches power and the court is absolutely required to decide that some areas like the United States government committing RICO, war crimes, and terrorism is not acceptable. "Political Questions. Bribe-taking, theft, embezzlement, extortion, fraud, and conspiracy to do these things are all acts susceptible of concrete proofs that need not involve political questions... But questions of foreign law are not beyond the capacity of our courts." Republic of the Philippines v. Marcos, 862 F.2d 1355 (9th Cir. 1988).

The six factors in Baker v. Carr on political justiciability: 1: there is no constitutional commitments by either Congress or the Executive branch that would allow for the perpetuation of war-crimes and torture and RICO syndicalism that involves foreign countries: that falls outside the scope of acceptable limits of executive branch authority; 2: there are judicially discoverable and manageable standards for resolving it; 3: courts have ruled on similar issues in the case and it doesn't preclude this court from deciding the case on its merits; 4: do you know what respect is due to coordinate branches of government? One's that define limits of power. If the Court doesn't decide the case, there are going to be people that are going to undergo the worst treatments that can be conducted by the United States Government domestically and abroad. The proper respect owed is defining applicable limits of power; 5: the fact that unusual and unacceptable decisions were already made means that there is no unusual need for unquestioning adherence to those completely unacceptable and unusual decisions made (an unusual need would arise if the decisions were legal and not in furtherance of a RICO Enterprise); 6: there is not a potentiality of embarrassment from multifarious pronouncements by various departments on one question—it is the fact that various departments came to a unanimous agreement in multiple instances in which no one objected nor did anything that caused the embarrassment to themselves.

Therefore, political question doctrine does not apply.

#54. "As an alternative to vacating Matiz's conviction based on the Government's violation of her Due Process rights, Matiz requests that this court use its supervisory power to reverse her conviction. Guided by considerations of justice, federal courts may exercise on a limited basis their supervisory power to "formulate procedural rules not specifically required by the Constitution or the Congress." United States v. Hasting, 461 U.S. 499 (1983). The Supreme Court has recognized only three legitimate purposes for the exercise of a court's supervisory power: "To implement a remedy for violation of recognized rights, to preserve judicial integrity, . . . and finally, as a remedy designed to deter future illegal conduct." Id. (citations omitted)." U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994)

#55. "See U.S. Attorneys' Manual § 9-11.260 (1985) (the Justice Department "continues its longstanding internal practice to advise witnesses who are known 'targets' of the investigation that their conduct is being investigated for possible violation of federal criminal law")." U.S. v. Martino, 825 F.2d 754, 758 n.3 (3d Cir. 1987). PLAINTIFF called TREY GOWDY because he started to learn about DC DOUBLE SPEAK and not being a member of Congress anymore, PLAINTIFF thought TREY GOWDY could relay to PLAINTIFF information about Russia investigation because PLAINTIFF was completely confused as to why he was being associated with the Russia investigation after acquiring DC Double-Speak. It wasn't because PLAINTIFF understood that he was a part of it nor did PLAINTIFF have any knowledge of what the Russians were doing, PLAINTIFF asked information to understand why it was he was being associated with the Russia investigation as to affirmatively and truthfully deny that PLAINTIFF had any part in it.

#56: For Tech DEFENDANTS: the basis of your liability is the following: United States v. Miller, 116 F.3d 641, 674-75 (2d Cir. 1997) (act involving murder need not be actual murder as long as the act directly concerned murder, and facilitation of murder was a proper RICO predicate because accessory offenses described in the New York State statutory provisions involved murder within the meaning of RICO where defendant provided information he knew would enable inquirer to commit murder or other RICO violations. Furthermore, United States v. Perrin, 580 F.2d 730 (5th Cir. 1978) highlighted the following: "Perrin was a consulting geologist who had to interpret and analyze data stolen from one of the co-defendants. The court said: "We simply need not determine if the gravity maps were an essential part of the scheme. Since it is undisputed by the appellants that the gravity maps would have been used to exploit the stolen data, the requirements for jurisdiction under the Travel Act are met. There is no requirement that the use of interstate facilities be essential to the scheme: it is enough that the interstate travel or the use of interstate facilities makes easier or facilitates the unlawful activity." Whenever any employee of APPLE, AT&T, VERIZON, XFINITY, etc. shared any information about PLAINTIFF when American INTEL DEFENDANTS requested it in furtherance of their Enterprise, Tech DEFENDANTS then became co-conspirators under 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 18 U.S.C. 241, 42 U.S.C. 1985 (2), 42 U.S.C. 1985 (3) aided and abetted RICO Enterprise 1 and are therefore substantively liable for the co-conspirators actions under Pinkerton, etc.

#57: PLAINTIFF has absolutely no intention of making an email sent between Dr. Jerry Shepherd, Dr. Nikolay Dobrinov, and PLAINTIFF become a factual reality in 2024 and especially in 2016. As PLAINTIFF had repeatedly maintained, PLAINTIFF wrote the email in May 2016 in which it would have been impossible for PLAINTIFF to know or have any reason to believe PLAINTIFF mattered that much in Washington D.C at the time. PLAINTIFF did not have any direct contact with any Russian between 2011-May 2016 that PLAINTIFF directly or indirectly knew about at the exact time of composing that email. PLAINTIFF was venting and had no serious intent. PLAINTIFF was so far obsessed with RICO Enterprise 2 and after having been tortured by DEFENDANTS that he was upset with RICO Enterprise 2 because RICO Enterprise 2 had conspired to deprive PLAINTIFF from becoming an attorney on an exact issue of Midyear. That would have been the second time DEFENDANTS attacked PLAINTIFF on the basis of his writing disability (autism) in school. What PLAINTIFF'S serious intent was that day was getting justice for RICO Enterprise 2 in which PLAINTIFF awkwardly phrased the notion of petitioning his government seeking redress for the harms they did. PLAINTIFF firmly believes and knows deep down in his heart that every vote matters and not once did PLAINTIFF argue with anyone about why they should vote for a particular candidate. If PLAINTIFF never even took that step, that means he had no serious intent to do what he said in the email between Dr. Shepherd, Dr. Nikolay Dobrinov, and PLAINTIFF. In the process of learning D.C. Double-Speak, PLAINTIFF--through some completely unknown connection that PLAINTIFF had no direct part in-- tracked the words of PETER STRZOK to his email he sent to Dr. Nikolay Dobrinov and Dr. Jerry Shepherd to Russia somehow. This deeply shocked and upset

PLAINTIFF to be associated with Russia. Furthermore, even after dropping off information to Senator James Lankford about RICO Enterprise 2, PLAINTIFF was aghast at the “leper-like” treatment he received at Senator Lankford’s office in which he said something to the effect of PLAINTIFF doesn’t understand why they’re treating him like a Russian agent or something like that. Through PLAINTIFF’S obsession with RICO Enterprise 2, he lost the Mens Rea necessary to act in accordance with Dr. Shepherd/Nikolay Dobrinov email of May 2016. Then PLAINTIFF was trying to learn DC Double Speak and may have come across some FBI files and may have created a false connection associating PLAINTIFF with Russia in which PLAINTIFF was never in any Russian military nor intelligence foreign agency. PLAINTIFF made a joke in his petition about having Russia fuck America in which the context of the joke was a condemnation of having the government have complete control over bodily and sexual anatomy. This was completely known to DEFENDANTS when PLAINTIFF sent a copy of the petition he was working on to Asim Shrestha at the end of June 2016 in which DEFENDANTS read it and understood PLAINTIFF’S actions had nothing to do with the election but was to seek redress for RICO Enterprise 2. Then whatever PLAINTIFF told Kristina in 2018 was not on behalf of her nor Russia as PLAINTIFF was looking for any human connection after having been tortured and living in deplorable conditions.

Graham v. Connor, 490 U.S. 386 (1989)

All claims that law enforcement officials have used excessive force -- deadly or not -- in the course of an arrest, investigatory stop, or other "seizure" of a free citizen are properly analyzed under the Fourth Amendment's "objective reasonableness" standard, rather than under a substantive due process standard.

“Instead, we agree with those courts that have steered a middle course between these two extremes. In order to be sufficiently continuous to constitute a pattern of racketeering activity, the predicate acts must be ongoing over an identified period of time so that they can fairly be viewed as constituting separate transactions, i.e., "transactions `somewhat separated in time and place.'" Relevant factors include the number and variety of predicate acts and the length of time over which they were committed, the number of victims, the presence of separate schemes and the occurrence of distinct injuries. However, the mere fact that the predicate acts relate to the same overall scheme or involve the same victim does not mean that the acts automatically fail to satisfy the pattern requirement. The doctrinal requirement of a pattern of racketeering activity is a standard, not a rule, and as such its determination depends on the facts and circumstances of the particular case, with no one factor being necessarily determinative.” Morgan v. Bank of Waukegan, 804 F.2d 970 (7th Cir. 1986)

Illinois Department of Revenue v. Phillips, 771 F.2d 312 (7th Cir. 1985), we concluded that the plaintiff sufficiently alleged a pattern of racketeering activity. In Phillips, the defendant mailed nine separate fraudulent state sales tax returns to the state over a nine-month period. These mailings were clearly distinct transactions ongoing over a period of time: each tax return was a separate lie and resulted in a separate underpayment, independent of the other lies and underpayments. Morgan v. Bank of Waukegan, 804 F.2d 970 (7th Cir. 1986)

“We recognize due process bars the government from invoking judicial process to obtain a conviction when the investigatory conduct of law enforcement agents is outrageous.” U.S. v. Jacobson, 916 F.2d 467, 469 (8th Cir. 1990). “If the government's conduct in the investigation through a sting operation is so active that its conduct fabricated elements of the offense, it might be considered a violation of due process to prosecute the defendant.” U.S. v. Murphy, 465 U.S. 420 (1984). When the state of New York threatened to disbar an attorney for refusing to testify in his disciplinary proceeding, the Court reasoned that the resultant "loss of professional standing, professional reputation, and of livelihood" was an impermissible penalty on the right against self-incrimination. *Spevack v. U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994) ruled on the proposition that an act of perjury can be an act of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503 since "The findings (of obstruction of justice) encompass all the elements of perjury — falsity, materiality, and willfulness. The only matter about which the court was not explicit was whether Matiz's testimony was material. A sentencing court, however, is not required to address each element of perjury in a separate and clear finding. See id. In fact, the Court in Dunnigan affirmed a district court's finding that did not use the term willful...Dunnigan only requires that a sentencing court's findings encompass all of the factual predicates for a finding of perjury." "The Supreme Court has stated that a witness testifying under oath commits perjury if "she gives false testimony concerning a material matter with the willful intent to provide false testimony, rather than as a result of confusion, mistake, or faulty memory." United States v. Dunnigan, 113 S.Ct. 1111 (1993)." U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994). U.S. v. Ashland Oil Inc., 705 F. Supp. 270 (W.D. Pa. 1989) discussed what constituted materiality: "A concise summary of this materiality requirement is set forth in Justice Stevens' concurring opinion in Youngblood: Our cases make clear that "[t]he proper standard of materiality must reflect our overriding concern with the justice of the finding of guilt," and the State's failure to turn over (or preserve) potentially exculpatory evidence therefore "must be evaluated in the context of the entire record." United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976) (footnotes omitted); see also California v. Trombetta, 467 U.S. 479 (1984) (duty to preserve evidence "must be limited to evidence that might be expected to play a significant role in the suspect's defense")." "By limiting §1503 to acts having the "natural and probable effect" of interfering with the due administration of justice, the Court effectively reads the word "endeavor," which we said in Russell embraced "any effort or essay" to obstruct justice out of the omnibus clause, leaving a prohibition of only actual obstruction and competent attempts...A §1503 violation occurs when "an act is done corruptly if it's done voluntarily and intentionally to bring about either an unlawful result or a lawful result by some unlawful method, with a hope or expectation of either financial gain or other benefit to oneself or a benefit of another person." United States v. Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995).

"We recognize due process bars the government from invoking judicial process to obtain a conviction when the investigatory conduct of law enforcement agents is outrageous." *U.S. v. “The integrity of the courtroom is so vital to the health of our legal system that no violation of that integrity, no matter what its motivation, can be condoned or ignored. Although arising out of a different context, we find apposite the words of Mr. Justice Brandeis in Olmstead v. United States, 277 U.S. 438 (1928) (dissenting opinion): “Decency, security and liberty alike demand that government officials shall be subjected to the same rules of conduct that are commands to the citizen. In a government of laws, existence of the government will be imperilled if it fails to observe the law scrupulously. Our Government is the potent, the omnipresent teacher. For good or for ill, it teaches the whole people by its example. Crime is contagious. If the Government becomes a law-breaker, it breeds contempt for law; it invites every man to become a law unto himself; it invites anarchy. To declare that in the administration of the criminal law the end justifies the means — to declare that the Government may commit crimes in order to secure the conviction of a private criminal — would bring terrible retribution. Against that pernicious doctrine this Court should resolutely set its face.” Respondent’s contention that no alternative methods were available to insure the successful prosecution of corrupt attorneys is also unpersuasive. As the above-quoted language indicates, even if no other ways existed to ferret out bribery, the respondent would still not be privileged to engage in unethical (and perhaps illegal) conduct. Moreover, in the present case alternatives were available to investigate and prosecute the suspected attorneys.” In re Friedman, 76 Ill. 2d 392 (Ill. 1979)

“At trial, Defendant readily admitted he could be categorized as a user. Prior to the transactions with Detective Lucas, Defendant would generally buy $20 worth of cocaine for himself whenever he could afford it. Although the district court never explicitly made such a factual finding, it would be a rational inference to conclude Defendant was addicted to cocaine. The record further indicates Defendant had accumulated no money or possessions of any value, possessed no scales or any other paraphernalia associated with cocaine distribution, and was unaware of the amount of cocaine he would receive for $20. Moreover, Defendant contends he engaged in the transactions because he was promised he would receive a large enough cut of the cocaine to make it worth his while. Therefore, Defendant would most accurately be categorized as an addict whose sole motivation for arranging the transactions for Detective Lucas was to obtain some cocaine for himself... We sympathize with the district court's uneasiness regarding the facts of this case, but we perceive the troubling aspects of the government's conduct in a different light than the district court. Where the district court was offended by the government's active role in the distribution of narcotics, our concern focuses on the government's repeated transactions with an addict, in which the addict was given cocaine as compensation. It was apparent to the detective that Defendant was merely a user, yet the government instigated transactions a second and third time arguably stacking charges against the Defendant. Certainly, due process concerns would prevent the government from arranging such transactions indefinitely, as the addict would continue to take as much cocaine as the government makes available. We must now consider on appeal whether these facts constitute outrageous government conduct... In ruling on a discovery motion, the court in United States v. Diggs, 801 F. Supp. 441, 448 (D.Kan. 1992), held that "[e]vidence indicating that the government may have overborne defendant's will by taking advantage of his drug addiction is relevant to the defense of outrageous government conduct." Applying the outrageous conduct framework from the aforementioned cases, we must determine whether the facts in this case are egregious enough to violate due process. We hold that they are not. Undoubtedly, it should not be an encouraged police practice to entice addicts into drug transactions using the lure of controlled substances. In this case, there is a factual dispute as to who initially suggested the method of compensation. Defendant admits, however, that he had no interest in obtaining cash as compensation. Thus, from Detective Lucas' point of view, the deal depended upon giving the Defendant a cut for his participation. As in both Ford and Valona, the Defendant here was given a relatively small amount of cocaine. Because payment in kind was a typical way of transacting business on the streets, Detective Lucas let the deal progress as arranged. By way of comparison, Detective Lucas' conduct was no more egregious than the government conduct held not to be outrageous in the Ford, Valona, and Barrera-Moreno cases. Although Detective Lucas may have enticed the Defendant to participate in the transaction, he was not coerced to the point of outrageousness." U.S. v. Harris, 997 F.2d 812 (10th Cir. 1993).

United States v. Ramirez, 765 F.2d 438 (5th Cir. 1985)(First, he must make a prima facie showing that he has been singled out for prosecution although others "similarly situated who have committed the same acts have not been prosecuted."... He then must demonstrate that the government's selective prosecution of him was "actuated by constitutionally impermissible motives ... such as racial discrimination... A showing of discriminatory purpose requires the defendant to demonstrate that the government selected or reaffirmed a particular course of action at least in part "because of" — not merely "in spite of" — its adverse effects on an identifiable group."

"A review of the common law of this state shows that discretionary investigative enforcement measures extend beyond a tolerable level when by design the government uses continued pressure, appeals to friendship or sympathy, threats of arrest, an informant's vulnerability, sexual favors, or procedures which escalate criminal culpability. All of these traditional inducements are absent from the facts of this case. We conclude that the furnishing of contraband by the government is insufficient to induce or instigate the commission of a crime by the average person, similarly situated to these defendants, who is not ready and willing to commit it. We also note that this is not a case where the government's furnishing of narcotics was for the purpose of trying to escalate the criminal culpability of defendants. People v Killian, 117 Mich. Jamieson*, 436 Mich. 61 (Mich. 1990). “The Supreme Court has stated that a witness testifying under oath commits perjury if “she gives false testimony concerning a material matter with the willful intent to provide false testimony, rather than as a result of confusion, mistake, or faulty memory.” United States v. Dunnigan, 113 S.Ct. 1111 (1993).” U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994)

“As an alternative to vacating Matiz's conviction based on the Government's violation of her Due Process rights, Matiz requests that this court use its supervisory power to reverse her conviction. Guided by considerations of justice, federal courts may exercise on a limited basis their supervisory power to “formulate procedural rules not specifically required by the Constitution or the Congress.” United States v. Hasting, 461 U.S. 499 (1983). The Supreme Court has recognized only three legitimate purposes for the exercise of a court's supervisory power: “To implement a remedy for violation of recognized rights, to preserve judicial integrity, . . . and finally, as a remedy designed to deter future illegal conduct.” Id. (citations omitted).” U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994)

“Although there is no infallible means of divining a defendant's predisposition to commit a crime after the fact, there are several factors recognized as relevant in making this determination. Jannotti*, 501 F. Supp. 1182 (E.D.Pa. 1980), rev'd on other grounds, 673 F.2d 578 (3rd Cir.)...This answers defendant's bizarre contention that “the agents literally entrapped him into a state of predisposition.” One is either predisposed to commit a crime before coming into contact with the Government or one is not, so the argument that one could be entrapped into having a state of predisposition is meaningless. We now turn our attention to the factors relevant in determining predisposition. Among these are the character or reputation of the defendant, including any prior criminal record; whether the suggestion of the criminal activity was initially made by the Government; whether the defendant was engaged in the criminal activity for profit; whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to commit the offense, overcome only by repeated Government inducement or persuasion; and the nature of the inducement or persuasion supplied by the Government. While none of the factors alone indicates either the presence or absence of predisposition, the most important factor . . . is whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to engage in criminal activity which was overcome by repeated Government inducement...” United States v. Kaminski, 703 F.2d 1004 (7th Cir. 1983)

“Duress requires the defendant to show (1) that he was under an unlawful, present, imminent, and impending threat that would induce “a well-grounded apprehension of death or serious bodily injury,” (2) that he had not recklessly or negligently placed himself in the situation at issue, (3) that he had no legal and reasonable alternative to violating the law, and (4) that it was reasonable to anticipate that the avoidance of harm directly caused the criminal action. United States v. Posada-Rios, 158 F.3d 832 (5th Cir. 1998). “In other words, there must be evidence that the defendant was in imminent danger "at the moment he [committed the offense]." United States v. Harper, 802 F.2d 115 (5th Cir. 1986).

THIS SIDE OF THE STREET:

United States v. Cook, 793 F.2d 734 (5th Cir. 1986) ("[b]oth the fact of conspiracy and a defendant's participation in it may be proved by circumstantial evidence." 793 F.2d at 736). "As was the case in United States v. Postal, 589 F.2d 862 (5th Cir.) ... "It is clear that the full discretion accorded to the police to determine whether the suspect has provided a "credible and reliable" identification necessarily "entrust[s] lawmaking to the moment-to-moment judgment of the policeman on his beat." Smith, supra, at 415 U. S. 575 (quoting Gregory v. Chicago, 394 U. S. 111 (1969) (Black, J., concurring)). [the law at issue] "furnishes a convenient tool for harsh and discriminatory enforcement by local prosecuting officials, against particular groups deemed to merit their displeasure," Papachristou, 405 U.S. at 405 U. S. 170 (quoting Thornhill v. Alabama, 310 U. S. 88 (1940)), and "confers on police a virtually unrestrained power to arrest and charge persons with a violation." Lewis v. City of New Orleans, 415 U. S. 130 (1974)." Kolender v. Lawson, 461 U.S. 352 (1983).

"The settled principles of that doctrine require no extensive restatement here. The doctrine incorporates notions of fair notice or warning. Moreover, it requires legislatures to set reasonably clear guidelines for law enforcement officials and triers of fact in order to prevent "arbitrary and discriminatory enforcement." Where a statute's literal scope, unaided by a narrowing state court interpretation, is capable of reaching expression sheltered by the First Amendment, the doctrine demands a greater degree of specificity than in other contexts. The statutory language at issue here, "publicly . . . treats contemptuously the flag of the United States . . .," has such scope, e.g., Street v. New York, 394 U. S. 576 (1969) (verbal flag contempt), and at the relevant time was without the benefit of judicial clarification. In its terms, the language at issue is sufficiently unbounded to prohibit, as the District Court noted, "any public deviation from formal flag etiquette. . . ." 343 F. Supp. at 167. Unchanged throughout its 70-year history, the "treats contemptuously" phrase was also devoid of a narrowing state court interpretation at the relevant time in this case. We are without authority to cure that defect. Statutory language of such a standardless sweep allows policemen, prosecutors, and juries to pursue their personal predilections. Legislatures may not so abdicate their responsibilities for setting the standards of the criminal law. E.g., Papachristou v. City of Jacksonville, 405 U. S. 156, 405 U. S. 165-169 (1972). In Gregory v. City of Chicago, 394 U. S. 111, 394 U. S. 120 (1969), Mr. Justice Black, in a concurring opinion, voiced a concern, which we share, against entrusting lawmaking "to the moment-to-moment judgment of the policeman on his beat."... Where inherently vague statutory language permits such selective law enforcement, there is a denial of due process. Appellant's arguments that the "treats contemptuously" phrase is not impermissibly vague, or at least should not be so held in this case, are unpersuasive." Smith v. Goguen, 415 U.S. 566 (1974).

"Generally speaking, a plea is involuntary if "the accused does not understand the nature of the constitutional protections that he is waiving, or because he has such an incomplete understanding of the charge that his plea cannot stand as an intelligent admission of guilt." Henderson v. Morgan , 426 U.S. 637, 645 n.13, 96 S.Ct. 2253, 49 L.Ed.2d 108 (1976) (citation omitted). A plea is also involuntary when it has been procured through threats of physical harm, mental coercion, or "state-induced emotions so intense that the defendant was rendered unable to weigh rationally his options with the help of counsel." Matthew v. Johnson , 201 F.3d 353, 365 (5th Cir. 2000)... The requirement that a plea be voluntary is rooted in three different constitutional rights... By pleading guilty, a criminal defendant waives his right against self-incrimination... his right to go to trial...and his right to confront his accusers, id....Thus, "a plea of guilty is more than an admission of conduct; it is a conviction." *United States v. To determine whether entrapment has been established, a distinction is made between a trap for the "unwary innocent" and a trap for the "unwary criminal." Sherman v United States, 356 U.S. 369 (1958). There is no entrapment if a policeman merely furnishes an opportunity for the commission of a crime by one ready and willing to commit the activity. The mere fact of deceit will not defeat prosecution. United States v Head, 353 F.2d 566 (CA 6, 1965). The purpose of the defense of entrapment is to at least prevent unlawful government activity in instigating criminal activity." The function of law enforcement is the prevention of crime and the apprehension of criminals. . . . [T]hat function does not include the manufacturing of crime." Sherman v United States, supra at 372.” People v. Jamieson, 436 Mich. 61 (Mich. 1990)

U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994) ruled on the proposition that an act of perjury can be an act of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503 since “The findings (of obstruction of justice) encompass all the elements of perjury — falsity, materiality, and willfulness. The only matter about which the court was not explicit was whether Matiz's testimony was material. A sentencing court, however, is not required to address each element of perjury in a separate and clear finding. See id. In fact, the Court in Dunnigan affirmed a district court's finding that did not use the term willful...Dunnigan only requires that a sentencing court's findings encompass all of the factual predicates for a finding of perjury.”

(FBI authorized to investigate "crimes against the United States" and to conduct other investigations "regarding official matters under the control of the Department of Justice and the Department of State");

United States v. Tilton, 610 F.2d 302 (5th Cir. 1980) (Reasoning that the defendant "can be held responsible for the substantive offenses committed by the co-conspirators if acts were committed in furtherance of a conspiracy even though [the defendant] neither participated in the act . . . nor actually knew about it." Because the evidence is sufficient to demonstrate that Tilton was a member of a conspiracy to commit mail fraud, he can also be convicted of the substantive offense based upon acts committed by a co-conspirator in furtherance of the conspiracy as long as the acts fall within the scope of the conspiracy and could reasonably be foreseen as a necessary or natural consequence of the unlawful agreement. Pinkerton v. United States, 328 U.S. 640, 66 S.Ct. 1180, 90 L.Ed. 1489 (1946); United States v. Moreno, 588 F.2d 490 (5 Cir.), cert. denied, 441 U.S. 936, 99 S.Ct. 2061, 60 L.Ed.2d 666 (1979); *United States v. The most likely source was Sea-Land since UTS agreed to pay the bribe in exchange for a profitable contract. Consistent with this thinking, one could reasonably foresee that the money would not come from the reserves of UTS but from Sea-Land in the form of overcharges.”

“However, this circuit has never defined what is required of a criminal defendant's own "claim" of surveillance. We tend to agree with the Second, Ninth and D.C. Circuits that a "mere assertion" of unlawful surveillance is enough to trigger the government's obligation to affirm or deny. However, such an "assertion" must be, at a minimum, a positive statement that unlawful surveillance has taken place. A generalized motion based on the possibility of such surveillance, which is all that is present here, is not a "claim" within the meaning of 18 U.S.C. § 3504(a)(1). United States v. Tucker, 526 F.2d 279 (5th Cir. 1976)

United States v. Rosenthal, 793 F.2d 1214 (11th Cir. 1986) “Holding that district court did not err by limiting evidence of, and not failing instructing jury on, public authority defense based on alleged instructions from CIA officials, who lack power to authorize violations of federal law, because “a defendant may only be exonerated on the basis of his reliance on real and not merely apparent authority and rejecting CIA’S intelligence gathering defense.”

This case is extraordinary. The facts are many and sometimes complex. They include things that normally come only out of Hollywood—coded emails among Donziger and his colleagues describing their private interactions with and machinations directed at judges and a court appointed expert, their payments to a supposedly neutral expert out of a secret account, a lawyer who invited a film crew to innumerable private strategy meetings and even to ex parte meetings with judges, an Ecuadorian judge who claims to have written the multibillion dollar decision but who was so inexperienced and uncomfortable with civil cases that he had someone else (a former judge who had been removed from the bench) draft some civil decisions for him, an 18–year old typist who supposedly did Internet research in American, English, and French law for the same judge, who knew only Spanish, and much more. The evidence is voluminous. The transnational elements of the case make it sensitive and challenging. Nevertheless, the Court has had the benefit of a lengthy trial. It has heard 31 witnesses in person and considered deposition and/or other sworn or, in one instance, stipulated testimony of 37 others. It has considered thousands of exhibits. It has made its findings, which of necessity are lengthy and detailed. Chevron Corp. v. Donziger, 974 F. Supp. 2d 362, 384 (S.D.N.Y. 2014)

- Being placed on a freemason/CFR/BILDERBURG/Bohemian Grove blacklist and other United States Government blacklists in the prevention of obtaining employment;
- Loss of employment & future economic opportunity;
- Loss of sense of self and purpose (disrupt profoundly the senses or the personality/severe physical or mental pain or suffering);
- Numerous health issues starting from 2006 & medical bills (disrupt profoundly the senses or the personality/severe physical or mental pain or suffering);
- Becoming an indentured servant after being a victim of domestic and international terrorism by DEFENDANTS;
- Killing the “specialness” of a former special education student becoming a lawyer despite the odds against PLAINTIFF;
- Loss of privacy around the world;
- Loss of friends;

- diminished intellectual capacity & intelligence (disrupt profoundly the senses or the personality/severe physical or mental pain or suffering);
- Loss of recognition/credit of having PLAINTIFF's Intellectual Property used in Hollywood and in the White House;
- Diminished utilitarian value of self to improving and making society better (disrupt profoundly the senses or the personality/severe physical or mental pain or suffering);
- Inability to further my dreams in helping others, especially autistic individuals (disrupt profoundly the senses or the personality/severe physical or mental pain or suffering);
- Knowing that I was always going to be a pariah to people I respected & within the legal community no matter what I did to overcome & work against false presumptions and labels and other actions undertaken by DEFENDANTS (disrupt profoundly the senses or the personality/severe physical or mental pain or suffering);
- Deep embarrassment;
- Social exclusion;
- Not knowing how to support myself and/or future family with a diminished brain capacity and intelligence in which it was already hard enough as it is for autistic individuals to be able to be independent of their parents or Social Security (let alone starting, maintaining, and having a family);
- Never being able to bring a woman as a girlfriend/wife to 3 grandparents when they were alive (& unfortunately seems like my last grandparent won't meet her either) after what DEFENDANTS did to me emotionally and spiritually;
- Contributing to PLAINTIFF'S autistic self-harm where he did not want any of his family (because they were hiding information from PLAINTIFF & did not support PLAINTIFF nor believe PLAINTIFF when PLAINTIFF needed them the most in Spring 2017) to go to his law school graduation nor did PLAINTIFF attend graduation when given an opportunity after all he had been through (compounding these issues was the fact that Louis Freeh, director of WILLIAM J. CLINTON'S FBI, was giving the speech and I wouldn't attend after what DEFENDANTS CLINTON DID TO ME);
- Knowing world leaders and U.S. Politicians routinely talk about you all the time & refuse to talk to you as a person or individual outside of their stupid fucking doublespeak in which they pursued their own interests at my expense without me ever having a real say in my life (dehumanizing);

- Being completely broken and destitute as an autistic man (disrupt profoundly the senses or the personality/severe physical or mental pain or suffering);
- Never being privy to my own life;
- Violating PLAINTIFF'S religious beliefs numerous times.
- And other damages & harm not herein expressed, but within the knowledge of PLAINTIFF or DEFENDANTS

Section V: PRAYERS OF RELIEF:

PLAINTIFF PRAYS FOR THE FOLLOWING RELIEF:

PLAINTIFF will not be an independent contractor if an agreement can be reached on paper prior to filing a lawsuit for Miki's Tea Party but expects the full value of the restitution with Miki's Tea Party and An Anchor and a Pitchfork. Leshrug

(A): RESTITUTION: Miki's Tea Party and/or an Anchor and a Pitchfork:

(1): It shall be law that in every presidential election cycle, whenever the People vote, part of the ballot will include the Constitutional Freedom Initiative where an American can vote on the current state of constitutional freedoms in America where an American can select the option of filling out & selecting which constitutional freedoms Congress must discuss on the very first days of the elected president's tenure that must pass a 10% threshold in which one whole day must be spent on talking about just one constitutional issue selected by the People in which Congress reviews SCOTUS decisions and caselaw or in light of historical events that occurred. Legislation must be proposed within 6 months of the discussion date of the issue in which the underlying presumption has the basis that freedom should not be restricted nor curtailed. Maybe the issue to increase voter satisfaction with DC is not just about candidates in a political party--it is showing that Congress has necessarily heard the People's voices on issues that impact them the most.

This should significantly reduce the chances of this situation happening again.

You want to bridge the gap in political polarity in this country, show that the vast majority of American's voices are heard in which you show a common understanding of priorities amongst the People.

Here is an example of a list that can be included:

- 1st Amendment:
 - Free Speech
 - Freedom of Religion
 - Freedom of Association
- 2nd Amendment:
 - Gun Rights.
- 4th Amendment:
 - Searches
 - Seizures
- 5th Amendment
 - Takings
 - Due Process
- 6th Amendment:
- 7th Amendment
- 8th Amendment
- 9th Amendment
- 10th Amendment
- 13th Amendment
- 14th Amendment.
- Government Accountability
- Qualified Immunity
- Healthcare
- Economy

- Issues in the workplace.
- Limits on powers.
- Law Enforcement
- Bureaucracy issues.
- Abortion
- LGBT Rights
- Civil Rights
- Disability Rights
- Government Funding
- Appropriation (especially this one).
 - Then create a ranked list based on funding priorities that the People want THEIR MONEY spent on the most that CONGRESS must acknowledge and directly address. If you actually want the People to believe that Congress cares about the People, this is the way to do it. Fuck lobbyists, that is why. They can still retain their power, but you gotta balance out the People's interests first and then hear the lobbyists.
- Taxes
- Climate Change
- State Rights
- National Security
- War
- Property Rights
- Antitrust
- Immigration
- Litigation

- Defense
- Transportation
- Science
- Educational Priorities.
- The role of state and federal governments in their lives.
- Research Priorities.
 - Then create a ranked list based on research priorities that the People want THEIR MONEY spent on the most that CONGRESS must acknowledge and directly address. If you actually want the People to believe that Congress cares about the People, this is the way to do it.
- Proposed New Constitutional Freedoms.
 - A fill in the blank option that any American can fill in which technological advances can categorize it Truly having the People's voices heard on election day shows that America is for the People, by the People.

(3): MKT Airlines and MKT Macedonian Airlines

PLAINTIFF, with his restitution money from the egregious abuses by DEFENDANTS, is creating MKT Airlines and MKT Macedonian Airlines to provide competition in the marketplace to serve American consumers as well in provide competition to airlines like Delta Airlines, American Airlines, Spirit Airlines, and United Airlines that have a monopolized control on cities and routes. True, there will be a partnership to a limited extent with Delta and United, but enough distinctness and separateness to be treated as effective competitors. MKT Airlines would probably not join an airline alliance to remain as effective competitors. The MKT Airlines plan is initial profitability on medium to large cities and international traffic and then to expand inward to rural markets in America. PLAINTIFF is considering asking Boeing if they can make a 737 Max 7 Combi plane for the rural markets in America for MKT Airlines in which it consists of half cargo plane and half passenger plane. That way, MKT Airlines will save on pilot costs as well as maintenance costs.

Thus, the program expired for 12 days until P.L. 114-1 was signed by the President in January 2015. This law extended the program nearly six years, until the end of 2020, while reducing the government's share of the losses compared with the program as it was in 2014. Specifically, P.L. 114-1 gradually (1) increased the program trigger from $100 million to $200 million, (2) reduced the government share of the losses from 85% to 80%, and (3) increased the insurer aggregate retention amount from $27.5 billion to $37.5 billion and indexed it to the sum of insurer deductibles in years thereafter. P.L. 116-94 extended TRIA to the end of 2027, leaving the rest of the law essentially unchanged.

If it is in Grundy County, TN, PLAINTIFF will have to build a railroad spur line from Grundy County (wherever the factory may be to connect with CSX around Tullahoma (i.e. the shortest possible distance from the factory to csx's mainline) (maybe like what 20 miles at $2,000,000 a mile so $40,000,000) and get the products out to Nashville airport and/or through csx's system.

Of course, PLAINTIFF wants some of his new 787s from MKT Airlines and MKT Macedonian Airlines to make regularly scheduled flights to London-Heathrow Airport. This shouldn't be a problem for Qatar Airways as they essentially own London-Heathrow.

- MKT Airlines and MKT Macedonian Airlines will have their own gate at London-Heathrow in one of the main terminals solely for MKT Airlines and MKT Macedonian Airlines' own use (if Air Serbia wants to join in, they can) and in case of an emergency or non-use, he will allow different airlines to use the gate so long as it does not interfere with MKT Airlines operations and MKT Macedonian Airlines operations; and MKT Airlines will have their own gate at DOHA (in which Air Serbia can join if they want to).

(15): Because of disgorgement, PLAINTIFF could ask for the values of the computer and data servers DoD, CIA, NSA, FBI, MI5, MI6, GCHQ, etc. stored data on PLAINTIFF that facilitated RICO Enterprise 1 as it was an essential part of the wire fraud; however, PLAINTIFF is reasonable, CIA, DoD, or NSA will develop and give computer and data server systems as well as Cloud Servers for MKT Airlines and MKT Railroad gratis for PLAINTIFF'S life that is on the same level of computing technology that CIA, NSA, or DoD possess at the time. DNI's total appropriated budget from 2007-2011 was $368,280,000,000 and is PLAINTIFF to believe that some cuts here and there within DNI, CIA, NSA, or DoD are not possible to create, host, maintain, etc. MKT Airlines and MKT Railroad servers? (17): Because of the Title VI retaliation against PLAINTIFF and Balkan people in which HILLARY CLINTON intentionally forced PLAINTIFF to labor without compensation in "trade is in the offing" and in which she testified to Congress that "[she] cut economic assistance to Central and Eastern Europe, to the Caucasus, to Central Asia. We cut development assistance to over 20 countries by more than half,"¹³² at least when it comes to Qatar and Serbia and Qatar and North Macedonia, the paltry amount of trade of just "In 2020, the total value of the realized exchange of goods was 5,945,000 euros, whereof Serbian exports accounted for 5,605,000 euros, and imports for 340,000 euros" is nowhere near good enough. It is great that Qatar and Serbia are doing things like things in the footnote.¹³³ Qatar/QIA, United Kingdom, Germany, Japan, Canada, India, Australia, and the United States will increase trade and diplomatic relations between themselves and Serbia and North Macedonia governments in which Qatar, QIA, United Kingdom, Germany, Japan, Canada, India, Australia, and the United States will invest in Serbia and North Macedonia an initial amount of $5,925,640,000 (the difference in the rate of inflation between the $14.9 Billion of 2011 and the actual value of it being $20+ billion in 2023 dollars) to be invested in infrastructure projects and humanitarian aid in Serbia and North Macedonia in which no cuts will be made to current levels of aid received by Serbia and North Macedonia by any DEFENDANTS in which the average rates of both imports and exports between Serbia and North Macedonia and United States, Qatar, Japan, India, Germany, Canada, and United Kingdom shall increase at a minimum rate of 17.45% yearly in which only in catastrophic conditions that can cause the rates go down. Like Tracy Lawrence said, you'll find out who your friends are, and your friends are in Serbia and North Macedonia as well as PLAINTIFF. Again: PLAINTIFF, Serbia, and North Macedonia want to work with you all.

This is just a consideration and not actual demand. PLAINTIFF knows he can't just outright build an airline without some cooperation with smaller airlines to bring more competition to the marketplace. MKT Airlines would just be another failed airline in America like Air Florida, ATA, AirTran Airways, Braniff, Capital Airlines, Eastern Airlines, Independence Air, Legend Airlines, Miami Air International, North American Airlines, Tower Air, etc. without some cooperation with a smaller airline or other airlines, PLAINTIFF'S chances at succeeding are low and PLAINTIFF wants to be successful.

- 1) An Obstruction of Justice violation occurs under 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503 when a Constitutional Right violation or deprivation is made by an official or officer of the United States Government or is directed to be undertaken by a official or officer in the United States Government that a Court can reasonably rule a Constitutional Violation occurred regardless of whether or not it was a clearly established statutory right or constitutional right.
- 2) There is a Constitutional Right to be left alone under the 9th and 10th and 14th Amendments. Finding the Constitutional Right to be left alone exists under the 9th or 10th Amendment per Olmstead v. United States, 277 U.S. 438 (1928) utilizing the reasoning in Justice Brandeis' nearly 100% correct dissent (except for the part JUSTICE BRANDIES justifies Buck v. Bell) that is applicable in this case. The PLAINTIFF asks the Court to use this section from the dissent and make it valid law (especially the sections in bold emphasis below):
 - a. "Legislation, both statutory and constitutional, is enacted, it is true, from an experience of evils, but its general language should not, therefore, be necessarily confined to the form that evil had theretofore taken. Time works changes, brings into existence new conditions and purposes. Therefore, a principle, to be vital, must be capable of wider application than the mischief which gave it birth. This is peculiarly true of constitutions. They are not ephemeral enactments, designed to meet passing occasions. They are, to use the words of Chief Justice Marshall 'designed to approach immortality as nearly as human institutions can approach it.' The future is their care, and provision for events of good and bad tendencies of which no prophecy can be made. In the application of a constitution, therefore, our contemplation cannot be only of what has been, but of what may be. Under any other rule, a constitution would indeed be as easy of application as it would be deficient in efficacy and power. Its general principles would have little value, and be converted by precedent into impotent and lifeless formulas. Rights declared in words might be lost in reality.

- b. When the Fourth and Fifth Amendments were adopted, "the form that evil had theretofore taken" had been necessarily simple. Force and violence were then the only means known to man by which a Government could directly effect self-incrimination. It could compel the individual to testify -- a compulsion effected, if need be, by torture. It could secure possession of his papers and other articles incident to his private life -- a seizure effected, if need be, by breaking and entry. Protection against such invasion of "the sanctities of a man's home and the privacies of life" was provided in the Fourth and Fifth Amendments by specific language. [omitted] But "time works changes, brings into existence new conditions and purposes." Subtler and more far-reaching means of invading privacy have become available to the Government. Discovery and invention have made it possible for the Government, by means far more effective than stretching upon the rack, to obtain disclosure in court of what is whispered in the closet.
- c. Moreover, "in the application of a constitution, our contemplation cannot be only of what has, been but of what may be." The progress of science in furnishing the Government with means of espionage is not likely to stop with wiretapping. Ways may someday be developed by which the Government, without removing papers from secret drawers, can reproduce them in court, and by which it will be enabled to expose to a jury the most intimate occurrences of the home. Advances in the psychic and related sciences may bring means of exploring unexpressed beliefs, thoughts and emotions. "That places the liberty of every man in the hands of every petty officer" was said by James Otis of much lesser intrusions than these. To Lord Camden, a far slighter intrusion seemed "subversive of all the comforts of society." Can it be that the Constitution affords no protection against such invasions of individual security?
- d. A sufficient answer is found in Boyd v. United States, 116 U. S. 616, 116 U. S. 627-630, a case that will be remembered as long as civil liberty lives in the United States. This Court there reviewed the history that lay behind the Fourth and Fifth Amendments. We said with reference to Lord Camden's judgment in Entick v. Carrington, 19 Howell's State Trials 1030: "The principles laid down in this opinion affect the very essence of constitutional liberty and security. They reach farther than the concrete form of the case there before the court, with its adventitious circumstances; they apply to all invasions on the part of the Government and its employes of the sanctities of a man's home and the privacies of life. It is not the breaking of his doors, and the rummaging of his drawers, that constitutes the essence of the offence; but it is the invasion of his indefeasible right of personal security, personal liberty and private property, where that right has never been forfeited by his conviction of some public offence -- it is the invasion of this sacred right which underlies and constitutes the essence of Lord Camden's judgment. Breaking into a house and opening boxes and drawers are circumstances of aggravation; but any forcible and compulsory extortion of a man's own testimony or of his private papers to be used as evidence of a crime or to forfeit his goods is within the condemnation of that judgment. In this regard, the Fourth and Fifth Amendments run almost into each other."

- e. In Ex parte Jackson, 96 U. S. 727, it was held that a sealed letter entrusted to the mail is protected by the Amendments. The mail is a public service furnished by the Government. The telephone is a public service furnished by its authority. There is, in essence, no difference between the sealed letter and the private telephone message. As Judge Rudkin said below: "True, the one is visible, the other invisible; the one is tangible, the other intangible; the one is sealed, and the other unsealed, but these are distinctions without a difference."
- f. The evil incident to invasion of the privacy of the telephone is far greater than that involved in tampering with the mails. Whenever a telephone line is tapped, the privacy of the persons at both ends of the line is invaded and all conversations between them upon any subject, and, although proper, confidential and privileged, may be overheard. Moreover, the tapping of one man's telephone line involves the tapping of the telephone of every other person whom he may call or who may call him. As a means of espionage, writs of assistance and general warrants are but puny instruments of tyranny and oppression when compared with wiretapping. [omitted].
- g. The narrow language of the Amendment has been consistently construed in the light of its object, "to insure that a person should not be compelled, when acting as a witness in any investigation, to give testimony which might tend to show that he himself had committed a crime. The privilege is limited to criminal matters, but it is as broad as the mischief against which it seeks to guard." [Omitted]
- h. Decisions of this Court applying the principle of the Boyd case have settled these things. Unjustified search and seizure violates the Fourth Amendment, whatever the character of the paper; whether the paper when taken by the federal officers was in the home, in an office, or elsewhere; whether the taking was effected by force, by fraud, or in the orderly process of a court's procedure. From these decisions, it follows necessarily that the Amendment is violated by the officer's reading the paper without a physical seizure, without his even touching it, and that use, in any criminal proceeding, of the contents of the paper so examined -- as where they are testified to by a federal officer who thus saw the document, or where, through knowledge so obtained, a copy has been procured elsewhere-- any such use constitutes a violation of the Fifth Amendment.
- i. The protection guaranteed by the Amendments is much broader in scope. The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They recognized the significance of man's spiritual nature, of his feelings, and of his intellect. They knew that only a part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things. They sought to protect Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the Government, the right to be let alone -- the most comprehensive of rights, and the right most valued by civilized men. To protect that right, every unjustifiable intrusion by the Government upon the privacy of the individual, whatever the means employed, must be deemed a violation of the Fourth Amendment. And the use, as evidence in a criminal proceeding, of facts ascertained by such intrusion must be deemed a violation of the Fifth.

- j. Applying to the Fourth and Fifth Amendments the established rule of construction, the defendants' objections to the evidence obtained by wiretapping must, in my opinion, be sustained. It is, of course, immaterial where the physical connection with the telephone wires leading into the defendants' premises was made. And it is also immaterial that the intrusion was in aid of law enforcement. Experience should teach us to be most on our guard to protect liberty when the Government's purposes are beneficent. Men born to freedom are naturally alert to repel invasion of their liberty by evil-minded rulers. The greatest dangers to liberty lurk in insidious encroachment by men of zeal, well meaning but without understanding.
- k. "Here we are concerned with neither eavesdroppers nor thieves. Nor are we concerned with the acts of private individuals. . . . We are concerned only with the acts of federal agents whose powers are limited and controlled by the Constitution of the United States."The Eighteenth Amendment has not, in terms, empowered Congress to authorize anyone to violate the criminal laws of a State. And Congress has never purported to do so. Compare Maryland v. Soper, 270 U. S. 9. The terms of appointment of federal prohibition agents do not purport to confer upon them authority to violate any criminal law. Their superior officer, the Secretary of the Treasury, has not instructed them to commit crime on behalf of the United States. It may be assumed that the Attorney General of the United States did not give any such instruction.
- l. Decency, security and liberty alike demand that government officials shall be subjected to the same rules of conduct that are commands to the citizen. In a government of laws, existence of the government will be imperiled if it fails to observe the law scrupulously. Our Government is the potent, the omnipresent teacher. For good or for ill, it teaches the whole people by its example. Crime is contagious. If the Government becomes a lawbreaker, it breeds contempt for law; it invites every man to become a law unto himself; it invites anarchy. To declare that, in the administration of the criminal law, the end justifies the means -- to declare that the Government may commit crimes in order to secure the conviction of a private criminal -- would bring terrible retribution. Against that pernicious doctrine this Court should resolutely set its face.

- 3) Sarcastic humor is a trait of Serbians and that violating one's sense of humor or utilizing sarcasm maliciously can be a basis of a Title VI claim against the United States Government and any of its agencies or officers or officials.
- 4) Title VI applies to Slavic and/or Balkan people as they are a distinct group that Congress necessarily included in 1866.
- 5) That one making jokes or engaging in sarcastic humor is a 1st Amendment protected activity. America needs to learn to laugh again. That violating one's sense of humor or utilizing sarcasm maliciously or fraudulently in the Court by an official, officer, or agency of the United States Government is a 1st Amendment violation.
- 6) Words are not physically violent acts under the 1st Amendment. Put in another way, words are not violence under the 1st Amendment.
- 7) The principle is legally valid: the United States Government can violate or defile's one soul and for it to be a legally cognizable and addressable harm that one has standing to sue over against the United States Government under the United States Constitution as one of the following rights under the Constitution--1st, 4th, 5th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendments, under the following laws: Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, Section 504, RICO, 18 U.S.C. 241, 18 U.S.C. 249, 42 U.S.C. 1983, 42 U.S.C. 1985, 42 U.S.C. 1986, 18 U.S.C. 2340, and 18 U.S.C. 2441.
- 8) Under the 8th Amendment, it shall constitute cruel and unusual punishment for a United States Agency, judge, or officer to knowingly utilize an individual's disability adversely against their own Constitutional Interests through entrapment or other malicious scheme or operation.
- 9) There is neither qualified immunity nor absolute immunity for committing war crimes, torture, and/or terrorism against an American by ANY state or federal government official, employee, or subcontractor abroad or domestically.
- 10) DEFENDANTS get no absolute or qualified immunity for engaging in RICO predicate acts.
- 11) In Article II Section 4 of the Constitution, the word bribery in the following sentence--
"The President, Vice President and all civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors" necessarily includes and means RICO as well.
- 12) Racketeering is not diplomacy. It may be in corrupt countries, but it is not in America.
- 13) A United States officer or official engaging in a RICO predicate act falls outside their defined scope of duties and powers.
- 14) Under RICO:

- a. That because of the wanton, intentional, malicious, & completely unaccountable and unpunished actions of the DOJ and employees of the DOJ, American Intel, and the remaining DEFENDANTS in regard to RICO Enterprise 1, the Court shall grant PLAINTIFF'S liberal construction and request that PLAINTIFF in a Civil RICO lawsuit be allowed to use all of the powers of 18 U.S.C. §1963, the 18 U.S.C. §1963 caselaw PLAINTIFF cited, and 18 U.S.C. §1964 as remedial measures in the interest of justice. Congress in 1970 inherently presumed and understood that in granting DOJ those powers under 18 U.S.C. §1963 to combat corruption means that Congress in 1970 would have never thought possible that the very leadership of the DOJ and SCOTUS would be the ones perpetuating massive amounts of corruption and legal fraud against their own citizens, committing international and domestic terrorism against American citizens, and committing war crimes against their American citizens the way DEFENDANTS outrageously did against PLAINTIFF between 2008-2022 thereby granting DOJ that amazing power in 1970. Precisely because of the legal fraud and corrupt acts, enabling of war-crimes and torture of certain Solicitor Generals and Attorney Generals of the DOJ that were undertaken over the last 15 years that was directed against an American citizen without Due Process of law, DOJ lost that privilege of them having that power just for themselves because they were entrusted not to be corrupt; and because they lost that privilege through their actions, PLAINTIFF and future Americans have an affirmative obligation and duty to America to stop the evils of war crimes, corruption, torture, and legal fraud at the hands of DOJ by using the same powers against them when the DOJ acted the way they did. Justice demands and requires the Court to grant that in order to punish the corruption that knowingly happened under their own leadership—there is no better deterrent to prevent corruption than using their own powers against them when they lost their actions. How can one root out corruption if one doesn't have the tools to root out corruption? By the Court granting this, this will ensure DOJ will be less corrupt in the future because the DOJ would necessarily know their own powers can be used against them, which provides DOJ a major incentive not to be corrupt. Here is the thing. DOJ should have absolutely no problem with the proposition PLAINTIFF just proposed and should welcome it completely. Why? If corruption is not going to be a problem in the future in DOJ, then there are going to be no cases that are going to use this precedent against DOJ in the future. DOJ should not cower in fear of the opportunity to redeem themselves by not being corrupt in the future. If they fight against this proposition, then that ruins the image of the DOJ leading to distrust and degradation of the very institutions Americans hold sacred. Sure, there can be stipulations to exactly how far and much the power under 18 U.S.C. §1963 could be used against DOJ, which PLAINTIFF discusses below.
- b. In light of the previous point, PLAINTIFF is asking the Court to rule that when a civil RICO lawsuit includes a current or former DOJ attorney or employee as a defendant, a PLAINTIFF is allowed to utilize 18 U.S.C. §1963 against the current or former DOJ employee in which PLAINTIFF can fully subsequently use 18 U.S.C. §1963 against any additional party or company in the lawsuit that was part of the racketeering within appropriate limits. In regards to utilizing 18 U.S.C. §1963 against the former or current employee of the DOJ, it can be utilized against the DOJ to the extent of the amount of resources that the current or former employee of the DOJ used to perpetuate the RICO Enterprise against the PLAINTIFF, wages and benefits of the current or former employee of the DOJ obtained through the course of employment, and any and all agreements or payments to any third party that was used to perpetuate the RICO Enterprise against a PLAINTIFF by the current and former employee, but 18 U.S.C. §1963 does not apply to the entirety of the organization. So this is holding corrupt DOJ attorneys accountable for their actions but not at the complete financial detriment of the DOJ as an organization. Which is considerate and fair and that balances the interests of all parties when the corruption committed by Attorney Generals, Solicitor Generals, and DOJ Attorneys is the biggest detriment to the DOJ as an institution. After the case, it can't apply retroactively as to eviscerate court resources in the future.

- 15) USA PATRIOT ACT violates at least: Ex Parte Jackson, 96 U.S. 727 (1877) (Prohibition of obtaining, seizing, and opening and reading emails/mails “whilst” in the transport or transmission of data that must necessarily “have a warrant, issued upon similar oath or affirmation particularly describing the thing to be seized, as is required when papers are subjected to search in one's own household.”)
- 16) That based on the entirety of this complaint, the USA PATRIOT ACT as well as the FISA Court Act are completely unconstitutional in which all of these provisions of the USA PATRIOT ACT are necessarily included as being unconstitutional: §115, §120, §121, §212, §213, §214, §215, §321, §322 §428, §501, §508, and §702. - 17) In regards to the previous point, PLAINTIFF is making the following factual allegations and presumptions involving American Intel (FBI, CIA, et. al) DEFENDANTS: At least one or more semesters starting around Fall 2007 to Spring 2011 when PLAINTIFF attended SEWANEE, they used a TITLE II or a different Title search under the USA PATRIOT ACT against PLAINTIFF. This was necessarily unconstitutionally done in which legal fraud was committed on the court and by the court. DEFENDANTS utilized the FISA Court unconstitutionally against PLAINTIFF since either Fall 2007 or Spring 2008 in which legal fraud was committed against the FISA court by DEFENDANTS. American Intel DEFENDANTS from Fall 2007 to Spring 2011 utilized national security letters against companies that had information on PLAINTIFF—these were all necessarily unconstitutionally done in which legal fraud was perpetuated based on these unconstitutional national security letters (in which some of them were utilized against Co-DEFENDANTS like Apple, Meta, Cox Communications, etc.). American Intel DEFENDANTS unconstitutionally used USA PATRIOT ACT provisions: §115, §120, §121, §212, §213, §214, §215, §321, §322 §428, §501, §508, §702, and §896 against PLAINTIFF starting from around Fall Semester 2007 or Spring Semester 2008 and has not stopped utilizing it against PLAINTIFF since that initial time they started using the USA PATRIOT ACT unconstitutionally against PLAINTIFF. Furthermore, American Intel DEFENDANTS used any other relevant and applicable Presidential Directive or Executive Order against PLAINTIFF between Fall

2007 to Present in regard to having seized, searched, detained, tortured, taken, PLAINTIFF'S person and property and in addition, violated PLAINTIFF'S constitutional rights by American Intel DEFENDANTS.

- 18) That whenever justice so demands it in which officials in the United States government engaged in such horrific constitutional abuses that violated every single sense of traditional notions of justice and fairness in which the conscience is shocked, a PLAINTIFF can request the Court either exclude certain case law in which prejudice and fraud upon the Court occurred or that the Court can only utilize a certain era of caselaw to ensure fairness and Due Process to the PLAINTIFF to prevent the abuses from occurring in the future.
- 19) That Civil Asset Forfeiture is unconstitutional in which the United States Government fails to provide notice of the proceeding to the owner of the property and that a criminal conviction and finding of guilty is needed to utilize Civil Asset Forfeiture against property.
- 20) That the IRS requirement of reporting of transactions in which $10,000 or more in US Dollars from overseas that is brought to America is unconstitutional; and if Congress has a problem with that, it can create exceptions to that law's applicability. That reporting any online transactions in which $600 or more is spent is also unconstitutional.
- 21) That this litigation is not vexatious and not biased or prejudicial against the DEFENDANTS.
- 22) That it is a material 4th and 5th Amendment violation for any American intelligence agency to use a foreign intelligence agency anywhere in the world against an American subject when ANY American intelligence agency has a reason to know they are doing so when any agency has committed a constitutional violation against the American subject in the process of investigating the subject; are constitutionally compromised by their own actions; are retaliating against an American subject; that the taint of American Intelligence agencies is not removed once they utilized an independent foreign source; and other conditions to be determined. That there is a de-facto presumption prohibiting the United States government in using any foreign intelligence against an American subject; that there is a de-facto presumption against the United States government from obtaining any evidence against an American subject by a foreign intelligence agency; for Constitutional purposes, a foreign intelligence agency will never be viewed as an independent source outside of the United States Government and the United States government can never argue that a foreign intelligence agency being utilized against an American is an independent source from the foreign intelligence agency they utilized.
- 23) That it is completely unconstitutional to utilize Title II of the USA Patriot Act against a 20 year old who had an open can of Coors Light.
- 24) That any American subject to a FISA ruling must have been necessarily told and made aware of the proceedings used against him in which the Court must afford an American an opportunity to defend himself, engage in cross-examination, bring witnesses, and more; and that a failure to do these things are completely unconstitutional.

25) Law Enforcement utilizing an independent source under United States v. Leon, 468 U.S. 897 (1984) is unconstitutional as applied in this case.

26) National Security Letters are Unconstitutional.

27) That precisely because of the extraordinary events that occurred in this Complaint under Star Chambers in which there will never be a similar situation in United States history, that the Court issue a mandamus to Congress to necessarily declare the following cases as unconstitutional as they are necessarily and irrevocably constitutionally compromised, tainted, and corrupted; and that any cases and issues that come in the future cannot be ruled in the same exact manner:

To enhance growth globally, the Prime Minister and President highlighted both nations' interests in an ambitious and balanced conclusion to the WTO's Doha Development Agenda negotiations, and in having their negotiators accelerate and expand the scope of their substantive negotiations bilaterally and with other WTO members to accomplish this as soon as possible. They agreed to work together in the G-20 to make progress on the broad range of issues on its agenda, including by encouraging actions consistent with achieving strong, balanced, and sustainable growth, strengthening financial system regulation, reforming the international financial institutions, enhancing energy security, resisting protectionism in all its forms, reducing barriers to trade and investment, and implementing the development action plans.

COMPLAINT PART 2:

Section I: UPBRINGING.

As per PLAINTIFF'S 8th Amendment claims, 18 USC §2340, and 18 USC §2441 claims, the cornerstone of that this complaint rests on, and as well as Prejudicial Lobotomy, PLAINTIFF must give the true and proper psychological profile that DEFENDANTS intentionally ignored to conform to RICO Enterprise 1.

A: The Proper Psychological Profile. Twice Exceptional with Autism and Major Depressive Disorder.

PLAINTIFF grew up in a home where his parents lied about PLAINTIFF'S disabilities; that means that PLAINTIFF'S parents always viewed that there was something wrong with PLAINTIFF because PLAINTIFF has Asperger's; and quite honestly, they would never fully love nor accept PLAINTIFF because there was something wrong with PLAINTIFF since PLAINTIFF has Aspergers. PLAINTIFF'S parents are extremely manipulative liars, abusive, concepts of right and wrong didn't exist, where PLAINTIFF didn't have his own individuality because PLAINTIFF was coerced into believing he was an extension of his parents and never his own person, and the amount of lies PLAINTIFF'S parents told were too numerous. PLAINTIFF to escape the tyrannical abuse and controlling nature of his parents would escape into a world of books and trains. There, PLAINTIFF developed his love for history and trains. DEFENDANTS knew that a huge part of why PLAINTIFF wanted to become a Free Speech lawyer and Disability Rights lawyer was precisely because PLAINTIFF wanted to be respected for speaking truth and protecting and helping people who were in positions like PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF'S father is a compulsive liar that literally cannot keep track of the lies that come out of his mouth within a 5 minute time span and PLAINTIFF'S mother on numerous occasions says she has no problem with lying, does not feel bad for lying, and will do so when she thinks is 'right' in which that means PLAINTIFF'S parents regularly lied to PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF'S parents will do actions that concern PLAINTIFF'S life or his supposed best interests but is actually for their own self-interests; will refuse to talk about what they did concerning PLAINTIFF and will not share it with PLAINTIFF; will lie to PLAINTIFF when it comes to admitting that they've done anything wrong without PLAINTIFF knowing what they did in which their issues are some of the very same concerns and issues in this case; and then on top of their abuse, PLAINTIFF is expected to say: that is what loving parents will do or be abused further. If PLAINTIFF doesn't say that or go along with their actions, PLAINTIFF faces severe repercussions for doing so that includes such things like physical punishments and/or psychologically manipulative/abusive tactics. If PLAINTIFF'S father or mother ever interfered in his life, PLAINTIFF doesn't think there is a single part of them that would regret ever doing so; and if there was anything so important in PLAINTIFF'S life, they wouldn't have the decency to tell PLAINTIFF what they did to harm my interests and own up to their mistakes in PLAINTIFF'S life. PLAINTIFF believes that the situation did not escalate the way it did without his parents' intentional contributions and omissions; but in light of what the United States Government and PLAINTIFF'S parents did to PLAINTIFF, nothing should be denied in PLAINTIFF'S prayers for relief section because of what his parents had routinely done to PLAINTIFF over the years. If PLAINTIFF had to put a ratio of issues United States Government caused and what PLAINTIFF'S parents caused, it would be 85% to 15% respectively.

To be my own person, PLAINTIFF has to tell the truth with no one's approval.

PLAINTIFF needs to discuss his personal history of psychological/disability issues. Because of the abuse, PLAINTIFF from time to time has engaged in self-injurious and self-destructive behavior, which is even more likely with people who are on the autism spectrum. PLAINTIFF understands there is going to be a huge debate over PLAINTIFF'S diagnosis. PLAINTIFF knows that he is disabled. Adderall and Ketamine have been a God-send when it comes to helping PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF'S disabilities. PLAINTIFF doesn't regret a single thing PLAINTIFF did with Adderall. Would PLAINTIFF repeat some of the same mistakes that involve Adderall? No. PLAINTIFF never did anything malicious with Adderall and always had a pure and good heart with Adderall.

In PLAINTIFF'S factual and historical psychological analysis, which PLAINTIFF believes summarizes who he is a man, the first time PLAINTIFF found the diagnosis of gifted (twice exceptional) was on April 19th, 2017 at 10:22PM in which PLAINTIFF sent TRACY BLANCHARD an email that said: "Tracy, I'm super serious when I say this. I think i finally--9 days short of my 28th birthday-- figured out what was wrong with me/ the proper diagnosis. I'm a gifted child. I was at Northwestern today and came across this book-- <https://www.amazon.com/Misdiagnosis-Diagnoses-Gifted-Children-Adults/dp/0910707677?SubscriptionId=AKIAILSHYYTFIVPWUY6Q&tag=duckduckgo-d-20&linkCode=xm2&camp=2025&creative=165953&creativeASIN=0910707677>-- and the more I read, the more it made perfect sense to me."

PLAINTIFF'S research found that Dr. MELANIE JOHNSON HAYES provided the following text and criteria for identifying 2e children and adults that she wrote on September 19th, 2016: "As with any comprehensive list of characteristics, these characteristics are not shared by all 2e children. It is difficult to place characteristics in "ability" and "disability" or "strengths" and "weaknesses" categories, because oftentimes, what could be considered a weakness in one setting, might be considered a strength in another. For example, debating with an adult about the morality of personal choices could be admired in a social setting and punished in a school setting. Or the ability to hyper focus on intellectual pursuits could be a strength at school, but a weakness at home when parents need chores done. This is the criteria from Dr. MELANIE JOHNSON HAYES:

There is an inherent issue to PLAINTIFF'S personality and exhibition of autistic and 2E features. The 2E features PLAINTIFF is talking about is "may have...depression; rigid about rules and fairness; concern for social justice, may have trouble with authority; can be oppositional and argumentative; outwits adults (verbally); sensitive to patronizing or hypocritical behavior, may confront adults in authority on their own behavior; may not follow rules for rules sake; may challenge underlying logic/illogic of rules, even if punished for doing so; and hyper-focus, often to the exclusion of all else." Mix in the gas of autism and anger rumination in an autistic youth's life, PLAINTIFF will explain how it impacted his life.

PLAINTIFF through the years learned to control his autistic anger rumination. Anger rumination tends to occur more often in an autistic youth's life. Where and how PLAINTIFF expressed himself in a state of PLAINTIFF'S autistic anger rumination was that he would talk back and argue (i.e. verbally outwit) and was rigid about rules of fairness those features above mixed in some aspects of autism and anger rumination was a recipe for so much of what happened in this complaint. When Cops or DEFENDANTS who had committed legal wrongs and had it pointed out to them and knew they were wrong based on what PLAINTIFF said, this was especially construed as "hostile," "threatening," and "disobedient." This autistic trait of anger rumination in which anger rumination in autistic individuals is necessarily correlated with age and depression. PLAINTIFF was never physically violent as his educational records will prove such that he never got into fights as a youth. It occurred in PLAINTIFF’S youth whenever he was being subject to some unequal type of treatment, when people were lying to him, being subject to malicious behavior, or was on the receiving end of unequal or unfair treatment. You can actually see how it still impacts PLAINTIFF in the length of this complaint.

Anger Rumination tends to occur a lot more often when Autistic individuals are in their youth: “Many individuals with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) have a tendency to focus intently and excessively on one thing, a trait known as perseveration (Liss et al., 2001). In addition, accumulating evidence, including a recent meta-analysis, indicates that individuals with ASD have difficulty with inhibitory control (Geurts et al., 2014). This is noteworthy in light of experimental studies in typically developing (TD) and depressed samples demonstrating that poor inhibitory control contributes to increased rumination (e.g. Joormann and Gotlib, 2010). Thus, given both the propensity for perseveration in ASD and problems with inhibitory control, one might expect to find a greater tendency to ruminate about negative emotional experiences in this population (Mazefsky et al., 2012)... Both adolescents (Gotham et al., 2014) and adults ([] et al., 2013) with ASD report engaging in more frequent thoughts about their own depressive symptoms (i.e. depressive rumination) than TD controls. Similar to non-ASD populations, these studies found a moderate to high positive correlation between depressive rumination and depression symptom severity ([] et al., 2013; Gotham et al., 2014), but neither examined whether this relationship remains after controlling for ASD symptomatology.”¹⁴²

DEFENDANTS could not ascertain what was going on with PLAINTIFF psychologically and it caused a lot of issues even though they had warehouses and electronic databases full of literature documenting autism, 2e features, and anger rumination. Most importantly, PLAINTIFF does not meet the criteria of anti-social personality disorder nor psychopathy nor sociopathy. PLAINTIFF has a soul and heart that he regularly listens to and he deeply cares about people. DEFENDANTS outrageously set up a sting operation in April or May 2017 and made an intentionally false and misleading narrative in falsely labeling PLAINTIFF as a sociopath or psychopath or as having schizoid personality disorder in order to conform to their obstructive RICO predicate acts done in City & County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015) and prior to, instead of acknowledging the truth that PLAINTIFF is autistic, depressed, and twice exceptional. PLAINTIFF will explain later in Miki’s Tea Party, Star Chambers, and An Anchor and a Pitchfork. DEFENDANTS between 2008 through Present were intentionally, deliberately, and willfully ignorant of PLAINTIFF’S true psychological features and characteristics of Autism, ADD, Depression, and 2E.

Even if DEFENDANTS can make some sort of argument that they were unaware or had no reason to know PLAINTIFF was autistic when he attended SEWANEE (which is completely untrue), DEFENDANTS necessarily knew from 2014 that PLAINTIFF was autistic. As my former special ed teacher, Ms. Joyce Donev, wrote to the LSU Law Admissions Committee on June 9th, 2014 in the section of “Second Chance,” she stated: “When Miki entered my classroom he presented as a child that was on the autistic spectrum. He had delays in all the areas associated with a child on the spectrum. Miki demonstrated delays in language, behavior, and social interactions and cognition. Even though Miki came from a dual language household, his delays were not attributed to that but rather to a language disorder delay¹⁴³... Behaviorally Miki demonstrated overt reactions to new and unsettling situations... When presented with other situations that were fearful to him or out of his control, he would cry, throw, run away, or simply refuse. Miki did not demonstrate repetitive behaviors, however he did get stuck on routines and play objects..." Much of that behavior has not changed. Behaviors of mine that may fall in the autism spectrum include: being stuck on an issue, ability to wear one type of outfit and not caring, lack of social skills to a certain extent (pursuing things further than necessary), going to speech therapy, extremely picky eater, and more. DEFENDANTS had Ms. Joyce Donev's letter in their possession via USA PATRIOT ACT Section 508, they did not utilize it in any way as exculpatory evidence to help PLAINTIFF or to actually help PLAINTIFF in a time of need.

When PLAINTIFF was a kid and now, if PLAINTIFF really didn't want to do something, PLAINTIFF really didn't want to do it to such an extreme level. There was a time as a youth PLAINTIFF was at a water-park in Wisconsin Dells, Wisconsin. PLAINTIFF'S mother wanted PLAINTIFF to go on a water-ride and PLAINTIFF was adamant that PLAINTIFF didn't want to go. It was that upsetting to PLAINTIFF that PLAINTIFF's nose started profusely bleeding because PLAINTIFF willed it (not because PLAINTIFF, or anyone else, did anything physical to get PLAINTIFF'S nose to bleed). Through the years, PLAINTIFF had learned how to manage his autism to some extent. PLAINTIFF wants to emphasize how much of a struggle life was for PLAINTIFF. What was so frustrating is that there came a time where PLAINTIFF couldn't write what PLAINTIFF wanted to express and would rely on PLAINTIFF's oral skills. Less than 20% of students that had an Individualized Education Plan (IDEA) graduate from college; less than 1% of students that were served under IDEA graduate from law school. PLAINTIFF is part of that less than 1% and PLAINTIFF worked his butt off to overcome it all despite any contention made otherwise. So many nights PLAINTIFF remembers in high school and in college that PLAINTIFF didn't go out in which PLAINTIFF had to figure out ways to express myself on paper; and PLAINTIFF labored, over and over again, to find a way, and PLAINTIFF did. But there was so much time and effort spent making PLAINTIFF have the ability to express himself on paper.

PLAINTIFF want to point out some very important criteria above when it came to physical issues. PLAINTIFF had trouble controlling body movements, PLAINTIFF was physically awkward and clumsy, PLAINTIFF had major and poor fine motor skills issues, possibly has cerebral palsy, and, most importantly, PLAINTIFF had weak muscle tone, poor gross motor skills, or asynchronous physical development. If PLAINTIFF wanted to uncouple a bra quickly, PLAINTIFF physically could not. There was an issue of having weak muscle tone and it is called hypotonia. As a child, every night, PLAINTIFF had to be wakened by mother in the middle of the night and taken to the bathroom so PLAINTIFF wouldn't piss the bed. There came a point where PLAINTIFF would still be 'asleep' when she would take me where PLAINTIFF would be 'awake' when PLAINTIFF went to the bathroom and PLAINTIFF would have conversations with her in which PLAINTIFF would have no recollection of having gone to the bathroom and having a conversation with her in the morning. As an adult, if PLAINTIFF is placed in a poor sleep environment and if PLAINTIFF is stressed out, these behaviors in the middle of the night while "asleep" tends to increase. There is proof of this in text messages sent to friends and PLAINTIFF'S therapist throughout college, law school, and after graduating from LSU Law. DEFENDANTS necessarily know this. Furthermore, because PLAINTIFF knows he had physical coordination issues, sex is an activity that requires a lot of physical coordination. PLAINTIFF being a pleaser, PLAINTIFF wanted a woman to feel great after sex; and what PLAINTIFF had to learn was how to perform cunnilingus great in order to compensate for a lack of physical coordination required for intercourse—this fact would be used against PLAINTIFF.

PLAINTIFF thinks of major importance is the fact that PLAINTIFF was constantly bullied, harassed, and tormented through the years. At least once every other week or so when PLAINTIFF was in High School, PLAINTIFF would get scooped by A.N in which A.N would scoop PLAINTIFF'S manboobs and do this high pitched voice and say “ssccccooooop” and walk away. PLAINTIFF routinely told A.N to stop, he did not. When PLAINTIFF'S home burned down and the family had money and after telling PLAINTIFF'S parents about A.N and what he did to PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF wanted to get breast reduction surgery because even when PLAINTIFF was skinny, he had noticeably large man boobs. PLAINTIFF begged his parents for the money to get rid of the things that caused him harm and they said no. When you have a psychologically absent father, like PLAINTIFF, that never accepted PLAINTIFF for being autistic, routinely demeaned PLAINTIFF; PLAINTIFF'S father you that you should be treated worse than the family dog in which the family dog is told more often than you that he loves it (more than his own son); physically abuses you and makes you eat your own vomit on a particular instance as a child; and your brother ends up being a snitch against you to your parents and your brother becomes completely unemotionally supportive in which both your father and brother do not respect a single thing you say, you just want to be fundamentally left alone because that is not love. One time, on either December 31st, 1996 or December 31st, 1997, PLAINTIFF was either 7 or 8 at the time (PLAINTIFF remembers the day of December 31st). PLAINTIFF'S father kept verbally abusing PLAINTIFF in the hotel room on their way down to Florida. PLAINTIFF told his father to stop and kept arguing because it was abusive. PLAINTIFF'S father would not cease after abusing his own child when his child told him stop. PLAINTIFF, in wanting the abuse to stop, started punching his father to get him to stop. PLAINTIFF'S father did not appreciate this one bit and knew of the physical disabilities and weakness PLAINTIFF had and he punched PLAINTIFF and grabbed PLAINTIFF and threw PLAINTIFF half way across the hotel room. PLAINTIFF vowed never to speak to his father for the rest of the year after that (just 1 day). There comes a point in PLAINTIFF'S life where even despite his physical limitations, he could not stand the psychological abuse for another second and would have received a physical beating in trying to get the abuse to stop. It is like battered spouse syndrome where after years of abuse, sometimes people lose it because they can't deal with the abuse any longer.

PLAINTIFF'S father and brother never listened to PLAINTIFF and were abusive towards PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF through the years: reasoned, plead, argued, commanded, talked to them to stop from when PLAINTIFF was a child all the way up to like 2017 and 2018-- in which they had been arrested (father numerous times) and they abused drugs and alcohol-- and even those things were not good enough to get them to change their minds and come to see the error in their ways up until like 2018. PLAINTIFF would bring up his autism characteristics routinely with his brother and his brother would completely ignore it, berate PLAINTIFF for telling him the truth about PLAINTIFF'S characteristics, or completely discount PLAINTIFF. When PLAINTIFF told both of them in 2017 that PLAINTIFF was involved in major shit that was happening and going down, PLAINTIFF'S father and brother completely bucking dismissed PLAINTIFF and said PLAINTIFF was being paranoid. When PLAINTIFF needed his family's support the most growing up as an autistic child, it was not there. When PLAINTIFF needed the U.S. Federal Government's support the most, it was not there. Until PLAINTIFF is proven wrong, the only things that were ever truly there for PLAINTIFF to get PLAINTIFF through his struggles was Adderall, Ketamine, his brain, sometimes a friend, and God.

PATRICK YAPPO as a bagger at Jewel-Osco. PLAINTIFF felt so bad and an incredible amount of guilt. BUT PLAINTIFF ask God: "why me God?" God answered that there would be a day in which PLAINTIFF would be called and obligated to help disabled students, disabled kids, and disabled individuals. DEFENDANTS all knew of this story; and PLAINTIFF routinely talked about this story to friends, colleagues, and others. It is that important and significant to PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF'S Heart and Soul. PLAINTIFF doesn't have a full copy of the Special Education Photo, but either this one or another one says Spaulding School E.C. It is provable from at least ANDREW MCCABE and PETER STRZOK'S perspective that the FBI regularly referred to PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability. PLAINTIFF alleges that the following memo is about him because it is called: EC sent or received by Valeri Caproni.¹⁴⁴ It is from 2004 PLAINTIFF would have been either a freshman or sophomore at the time attending Northridge Prep. It talks about enclosure. It is either PLAINTIFF alleges it or loses it so PLAINTIFF alleges that this EC email was referring to what JOE BELLO did to PLAINTIFF in his basement or something PLAINTIFF did as to what the FBI would possibly allege, PLAINTIFF has no idea except for the possibility that it was pre-crime analysis. PLAINTIFF would have only been 14 years old at the time.

Cory Stafford was one of PLAINTIFF'S best childhood friends growing up. We were young, PLAINTIFF wants to say around 4th or 5th grade, when Cory Stafford's dad died in his office at a food processing plant on Sunset Ave in Gurnee, IL. Cory Stafford moved to California. PLAINTIFF kept somewhat in contact with him after he moved to California. However, PLAINTIFF to the best of his recollection visited Cory Stafford in California in either 2002, 2003, 2004, or 2005 or so. CBP and TSA and DHS have records of that. The point being, from what PLAINTIFF can infer, by having flew into California, this gave in-personam jurisdiction over PLAINTIFF in the Central District of California. PLAINTIFF swears to God on his life that he did not do anything criminal in his life at that time and was not going down the wrong road in life. GLENN A. FINE, the Inspector General of the Department of Justice in 2010, testified to Congress on April 14th, 2010 concerning National Security Letters and exigent circumstances. PLAINTIFF alleges that GLENN A. FINE'S testimony to Congress in 2010 documented how the FBI from 2003 had PLAINTIFF'S text messages and AIM messages. There was not a single time or exigent circumstance between 2003 through 2010 that the FBI needed PLAINTIFF'S text messages, AIM messages, META messages, MySpace messages, etc. and that includes Peachy Miami. So when PLAINTIFF says DEFENDANTS FBI, CIA, NSA, etc had text messages, phone calls, etc in proving PLAINTIFF'S factual allegations, they had it at the time. Period. That testimony to Congress is PLAINTIFF'S source.

FBI Under DEFENDANT ROBERT MUELLER III'S leadership. What led up to 2008.

The FBI released a document called: "A New Era of National Security, 2001-2008."¹⁴⁵ The following excerpts from it what is relevant to the case today: When talking about 9/11 in which air piracy happened, DEFENDANTS FBI said: "In the world of crime, you'd call it first-degree murder: deliberate, premeditated, cold-blooded...The terrorist attacks that unfolded on the morning of 9/11—carried out by al Qaeda operatives under orders from Usama bin Laden—were that and much more. They were the largest mass murder in American history, a calculated slaughter of civilians, an overt act of aggression and war that took more lives and did more damage than the sneak attack at Pearl Harbor.”¹⁴⁶ We going to find out what FBI did to stop pre-mediated acts of terrorism from happening on multiple occasions.

¹⁴⁵ <https://www.fbi.gov/history/brief-history/a-new-era-of-national-security>

“For the FBI—and the nation—a new era of national security had begun.”¹⁴⁷

“That reality was certainly clear to Robert Mueller—the newly-minted director of the FBI. He’d walked in the door on September 4, 2001 with a mandate to reform and modernize the Bureau...(talked about shoddy record keeping here)...But exactly one week later, his job description underwent a seismic shift. On the morning of 9/11 and in the days that followed, Mueller focused the energies of the Bureau on the unfolding, around-the-clock investigation—soon to be the largest in its history, with a quarter of all FBI agents and personnel directly involved—and more importantly, into making sure that a second wave of terrorists wasn’t waiting in the wings to strike the country again. The FBI succeeded on both counts.”¹⁴⁸

But the Director also knew that when the dust settled, the FBI would never be the same again. If 9/11 was a failure of imagination—as journalist Tom Friedman put it, referring to America’s inability to conceive of such a horrific plot—Mueller and his top brass recognized that they would have to re-imagine the FBI for the 21st century. The Bureau’s range of capabilities and its tactical response to the crime and crisis of the moment were still first rate...The FBI needed to be more forward-leaning, more predictive, a step ahead of the next germinating threat. And most importantly, it needed to become adept at preventing terrorist attacks, not just investigating them after the fact.”¹⁴⁹ We’re going to find out just how adept the FBI was in stopping actual terrorism and horrific plots from happening in which pre-crime analysis was used from 2008-Present.

¹⁴⁹ Id.

“The key to that new mandate, Director Mueller knew, was intelligence—the holy grail of national security work, the ability to collect and connect the dots, to know your enemies and the threats they pose inside and out, to arm everyone from leaders in the Oval Office to police officers on the street with information that enables them to stop terrorist and criminal plots before they are carried out.”¹⁵⁰

We are going to find out what DEFENDANT FBI’S PRIORITIES WERE, ESPECIALLY what #1, #4, #5, #9 meant to ROBERT MUELLER, ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, other FBI DEFENDANTS in reality.

“The Bureau has been in the intelligence business since its earliest days. It used intelligence and intelligence-led strategies to knock out emerging threats in World War I; to dismantle Nazi and Soviet spy rings in the U.S. during World War II and the Cold War; to penetrate and take down entire organized crime families; and to head off dozens of terrorist plots before 9/11.”¹⁵¹ We’re going to find out just how well DEFENDANT FBI adhered to their prior history.

“But, over the years, the FBI had often focused on making quick arrests rather than turning suspects into opportunities to collect every scrap of information about a threat...on developing comprehensive cases rather than on making prevention the overarching prime directive behind all cases. Because of longstanding neglect of information technology, the Bureau lacked the capacity to “know what it knows”—to turn all the bits of intelligence streaming in from around the world into meaningful assessments and actionable information. And it wasn’t generating nearly enough quality analysis or sharing information as much as it could both inside and outside its own walls.”¹⁵² We’re going to find out just how FBI shared information.

“the FBI immediately started reshaping itself into an intelligence-driven agency and strengthening its counterterrorism operations.”¹⁵³

“The Directorate has since spearheaded new outreach initiatives with private industry and public partners to build awareness and encourage information sharing,¹⁵⁴ including teaching companies and universities what they need to know to help prevent WMD attacks and providing them with vulnerability assessments. The Directorate has also developed proactive, multi-layered preparedness strategies with academic, government agencies, and strategic global allies and integrated intelligence to...counter evolving threats.”¹⁵⁵

Counterterrorism operation was reorganized and expanded, with FBI Headquarters taking on oversight of terrorism cases nationwide....they had the mandates of having any agent “run down any and all leads and to become intelligence-gathering hubs...The FBI had a dedicated team of financial experts to follow terrorist money trails...the Bureau had electronic warehouses of terrorism data...field offices would take raw information from local cases and make big-picture sense of it...sharing information more widely at all levels, connecting dots in ways it could have never done before...”¹⁵⁶

“The Bureau is now free to coordinate intelligence operations and criminal cases and to use the full range of investigative tools against a suspected terrorist. The right hand now knows what the left hand is doing—an imperative for prevention.”¹⁵⁷ PLAINTIFF is going to use this example so much in this complaint.

“Another imperative is partnerships. The FBI has spent a century building many positive law enforcement and intelligence-based relationships across every level of government and even across borders. Since 9/11, thanks to a new collective determination to defeat terrorism and the growing globalization of crime, these relationships are broader and deeper than ever before. They’ve improved at every level: with state, local, and tribal law enforcement; with foreign governments; with intelligence community partners like the CIA; with the U.S. military; and with the private sector and academia. Today, more information and intelligence is shared more freely with more partners. More agents and officers and analysts physically sit together, including in dozens of intelligence fusion centers nationwide and in the new multi-agency National Counterterrorism Center. Joint investigations and joint task forces are the norm, especially in the U.S. and increasingly overseas, and the FBI is working alongside U.S. forces in war zones overseas for the first time in history. Effective partnerships don’t make news, but they have truly been a game changer for the FBI and its colleagues across the globe.”¹⁵⁸

DEFENDANT FBI then talks about major operational successes in the U.S. and overseas... in which they joined in on dangerous raids overseas...Then the FBI talked about how “the Bureau’s work helped prevent dozens of terrorist strikes around the globe” and made a specific referenced to Richard Reid that involved an airplane over the Atlantic ocean.

DEFENDANTS FBI then elaborated they work with colleagues “at every level of government—local, state, tribal, federal, even international.”¹⁵⁹ They talked about working with local law enforcement in which they said local law enforcement is an intergral part of FBI counterterrorism efforts. See: FBI and Sewanee Police Department later. Then FBI talked about DEFENDANTS FBI and CIA “working off the same page—literally--...through regular briefings with other members of the intelligence community. The two agencies have intergrated not only their intelligence, BUT ALSO THEIR OPERATIONS...”¹⁶⁰ DEFENDANTS FBI talked about working the U.S. Military to “interview detainees, collect fingerprints and DNA samples, gather intelligence, analyze information and explosive devices...”¹⁶¹ FBI talked about international liasons in which “they provided vital bits of intelligence investigating bombings in the United Kingdom.”¹⁶²

DEFENDANTS FBI then elaborated how “Public corruption, deemed the FBI’s top criminal priority because it tears at the fabric of American democracy, continued to rear its ugly head, with FBI cases finding evidence of graft and greed among sitting U.S. Congressmen, state governors, and big city mayors.”¹⁶³ DEFENDANTS FBI talked about “helping rescue kidnapped Americans.”¹⁶⁴ Even the FBI described themselves as an ENTERPRISE: “On a larger scale, the Bureau began accelerating its evolution into a single, unified law enforcement and intelligence enterprise by standardizing operations and processes in the field and integrating intelligence activities into all investigative efforts. Each Bureau field office was tasked to systematically identify threats and vulnerabilities in their domain, to proactively direct resources to collect against those threats, to quickly share information with partners locally and nationally, and to evaluate the implications of that information on the larger threat picture. Through this continuous intelligence cycle and feedback loop, the FBI has been better able to adapt itself to emerging and evolving threats.”¹⁶⁵ Thank you for calling FBI an Enterprise.

“What will the next century bring for the FBI? Only time will tell, but the men and women of the Bureau move forward building on a solid foundation—on a century’s worth of innovation and leadership, on a track record of crime-fighting that is perhaps second to none. Along the way, the FBI has shown that it is resilient and adaptable, able to learn from its mistakes...It has built up a full complement of investigative and intelligence capabilities that can be applied to any threat. And it has gained plenty of experience in balancing the use of its law enforcement powers with the need to uphold the cherished rights and freedoms of the American people. The FBI can look back proudly on a long history of protecting the people and defending the nation...and it can look confidently to the future, ready for the challenges ahead.”¹⁶⁶ Laugh out loud funny for what is to come.

PLAINTIFF has figured out through observation that people who have done wrongs in DC get moved around in the revolving door of bureaucracy where they would continue to retain immunity and they get moved around because they will do whatever for the DC bubble at the expense of the PEOPLE. PLAINTIFF started to recognize this phenomenon with JOCELYN SAMUELS. PLAINTIFF is including DOD as being a party to everything that happened when PLAINTIFF was at SEWANEE because of JEH JOHNSON. JEH JOHNSON would become the director of DHS. JANET NAPOLITANO in which An Anchor and a Pitchfork happened. Since JEH JOHNSON was a party an Anchor and a Pitchfork and knowing the way of shielding malevolent actors that would do anything on behalf of any administration at the cost of the People, JEH JOHNSON is one of those and there was no way that JEH JOHNSON or DOD didn't know about Miki's Tea Party. That's why PLAINTIFF is including JEH JOHNSON and DOD.

PLAINTIFF would ask DEFENDANT ROBERT MUELLER III the following questions in a deposition:

#1: When DEFENDANT lived in San Francisco for 15+ years in which he necessarily met those in the tech and legal sector, how many of the previous connections or former employer was DEFENDANT still in contact with in 2015? If DEFENDANT was in contact, who did DEFENDANT talk to in the Department of Justice and FBI in the San Francisco area and what did DEFENDANT talk about that concerns PLAINTIFF

#2: Having lived in San Francisco for 15+ years, did ROBERT MUELLER III ever hear of Bohemian Grove? If so, did he ever attend? If he did not attend, did he ever consider Bohemian Grove could meet the definition of Domestic Terrorists?

#3: Having been the US Attorney for the Northern District of California from 1998-2001, how often did ROBERT MUELLER III interact with tech companies? If so, did ROBERT MUELLER learn about Pre-Crime Analysis software capabilities and possibilities at this time.

#4: Having a mindset of changing the FBI's direction to intelligence gathering, did that include pre-crime analysis by tech companies that could offer software to implement ROBERT MUELLER'S vision.

#5: How many cripples did ROBERT MUELLER help in his life?

#6: If ROBERT MUELLER had confirmation bias in falsely testifying to Congress about WMD's in IRAQ, would that be a pattern of behavior of lying to Congress about potential threats when there was no evidence of such (that would demonstrate itself with me)?

#7: DEFENDANT GEORGE W. BUSH wanted to get more domestic terrorists. ROBERT MUELLER at one time said: "If they [suspects] don't commit a crime, it would be difficult to identify and isolate" them. Vice President Dick Cheney objected by saying, "That's just not good enough. We're hearing this too much from the FBI." Did this impact ROBERT MUELLER'S perception of things in 2007/2008 and did this create an incentive to fabricate crimes against me?

#8: ROBERT MUELLER, your wife Ann worked with Special Needs children. Am I, PLAINTIFF, to believe that not once did the MUELLER household talk about disabled children and autistic kids and individuals? Why were so blind to PLAINTIFF'S autism?

#9: It was stated that law enforcement "must stay a step ahead of criminals and terrorists." Wouldn't one step ahead be framing individuals based on obstruction of justice and the possibility that they would never find out?

Before Sewanee, some high school info and relevant autistic anger issues (and autistic anger rumination) issues. This is addressing some of the elephants in the room.

XX. The Beginnings of RICO Enterprise 1:

PLAINTIFF alleges that in either 1995 or 1996, the United States Government or Department of Defense subjected PLAINTIFF to pre-crime analysis or pre-judgment of sorts in which they intentionally chose PLAINTIFF against a completely undeterminable and unascertainable criteria. PLAINTIFF'S constitutional rights were violated when he was selected and never had the chance to develop as a man without the United States Government continuously surveilling PLAINTIFF. Part of it was probably done through Pine Gap whenever PLAINTIFF was in the Balkans during the 1990s. So PLAINTIFF alleges that Pine Gap transmitted information about PLAINTIFF between 1992-2000; and in so doing, DoD picked up information about PLAINTIFF and prejudged PLAINTIFF to pre-crime analysis. Louis Freeh of the FBI would then learn about PLAINTIFF in 1995, 1996, or 1997. In spite of PLAINTIFF being a disabled Yugoslavian American child, LOUIS FREEH and then ROBERT MUELLER would continue to subject PLAINTIFF to unconstitutional treatment on the basis of PLAINTIFF'S disability and nationality.

You fundamentally have to understand something with autistic teens growing up in which we are routinely bullied, harassed, and are forced to go along with things even when PLAINTIFF objected. No matter how many times PLAINTIFF objected, said doing certain things were wrong, protested and made it well known that PLAINTIFF did not approve, PLAINTIFF was never respected or listened to in that way by the Nedanovskis, his brother, the "Waukegan" group of friends, or more. PLAINTIFF was always an outsider with those groups—he never fully fit in. Sure, they're good people, but PLAINTIFF felt like he never belonged because he was autistic. PLAINTIFF would have rather been alone reading or painting NASCARs on the computer or have been given the resources to finish his train track or just drive at like 80mph on the interstate instead of doing the wrong things. That is who PLAINTIFF was at that time.

What the fundamental issue was in high school when this all started was the following: PLAINTIFF'S social developmental delays and autism. PLAINTIFF is alleging what happened in American Intel, especially with ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, ROBERT MUELLER, and JAMES COMEY, is misattribution errors and issues in autism/aspergers and psychopathy where FBI/ANDREW MCCABE/JAMES COMEY/PETER STRZOK falsely attributed PLAINTIFF'S autistic features as being psychopathic features in which those FBI officers fundamentally did not understand the difference in the root causes between autism/aspergers on one hand and psychopathy/sociopathy on the different hand. If you were truly objective and watched PLAINTIFF, what you would have seen is the following which is an exact match for Asperger's Syndrome:¹⁶⁷

- Inappropriate or minimal social interactions
- Conversations that almost always revolve around themselves or a certain topic, rather than others
- Not understanding emotions well or having less facial expression than others
- Speech that sounds unusual, such as flat, high-pitched, quiet, loud, or robotic
- Not using or understanding nonverbal communication, such as gestures, body language and facial expression
- An intense obsession with one or two specific, narrow subjects
- Becoming upset at any small changes in routines
- Memorizing preferred information and facts easily
- Clumsy, uncoordinated movements, including difficulty with handwriting
- Difficulty managing emotions, sometimes leading to verbal or behavioral outbursts, self-injurious behaviors or tantrums
- Not understanding other peoples' feelings or perspectives
- Hypersensitivity to lights, sounds and textures

So what happened, as PLAINTIFF is alleging, amongst the FBI, ANDREW MCCABE, CIA, PETER STRZOK, JAMES COMEY, ROBERT MUELLER, et al. is autism/aspergers was misconstrued as psychopathy such as "inappropriate or minimal social interactions" were misconstrued as being those of a lone wolf terrorist; not understanding emotions well can be falsely misconstrued as having no empathy, becoming upset at small changes and difficulty in managing emotions can be misconstrued as impulse control issues, and on and on it goes. PLAINTIFF did not have sexual pervasions of any sort never fantasized on harming people, didn't have intrusive thoughts about harm and murder, etc. So, when those aforementioned individuals became stuck on their false beliefs instead of ACCEPTING the truth, it became a form of severe confirmation bias in which they went looking for the signs that were never there. This is what gets lost in the picture of things (and is a major theme in PLAINTIFF'S life) and this is what American INTEL did to further the situation. It is the intentional omission of exculpatory facts and circumstances in which American Intel made fabricated or misleading narratives about PLAINTIFF. If discovery so warrants, American Intel can bring up whatever socially awkward situation that PLAINTIFF did not include in this complaint, and that's fine because they are going to try to discredit PLAINTIFF. All PLAINTIFF asks before they do is the following: was this a misunderstanding based on PLAINTIFF'S autism/aspergers.

Here is another issue. PLAINTIFF talked so much shit about sex as a youth and in college in which PLAINTIFF was attempting to mimic what guys and reddit posts--who had been successful in having sex--talked to PLAINTIFF about and how they talked to PLAINTIFF about it and how he read about it. All of these elaborate stories of gang bangs, inserting things in vagina, was just all bullshit and lies. PLAINTIFF talked shit because PLAINTIFF had to over-compensate for the damage they did to PLAINTIFF in high school. PLAINTIFF autistically inferred that talking about things with sex got people's attention. PLAINTIFF never said he inserted things into woman's vaginas—PLAINTIFF heard those things and was relaying what he had previously probably read on reddit. It was mimicry of bullshit PLAINTIFF had come across and had heard or seen in his life at that point in time. PLAINTIFF never inserted his penis into a woman's vagina in college. Period. This is all of PLAINTIFF'S somewhat sexual things on Sewanee campus or deriving from Sewanee's campus—eating out Maxine Johnson in which law enforcement coerced her into lying about the consensual nature of such, making out with Erica around Chattanooga, touching Rebecca Wetherbee's boobs and then stopping when requested, giving Griffin Fry a back massage, PLAINTIFF fingering and giving a massage to Kristina Khomova and that is it at Sewanee to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection. Then at LSU Law it was Ashley Maiden and all of it was consensual. The way PLAINTIFF treated Yuri is the same the way PLAINTIFF treated Lauren and is the same as the way PLAINTIFF treated Ashley and is the same of the way PLAINTIFF treated Bri. PLAINTIFF swears to god on his soul that is the truth. If it wasn't for DEFENDANTS depravity, then somethings would not have happened in which their acts are the but for cause of such.

Simply, PLAINTIFF has to show PLAINTIFF'S actual innocence, PLAINTIFF will make a gateway showing PLAINTIFF should have never been utilized in counterterrorism precedent, and that the use of PLAINTIFF in counterterrorism precedent was so manifestly prejudicial and biased that it became criminal beyond a reasonable doubt. If one is suspected to be a domestic terrorist, then objectively necessarily requires considering the question of why the same person isn't a domestic terrorist.<--that's the actual and legal standard and not a habeas standard. In PLAINTIFF'S case, that standard was completely ignored.

So a case on point: Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308 (3d Cir. 2012) that highlights a bunch of the same issues in this complaint.

In Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308 (3d Cir. 2012), an innocent man was convicted of murder. Part of the Pennsylvania Due Process laws afforded to people in Pennsylvania was the PCRA. Three times Mr. Munchinski went to the PCRA court. There, the PCRA III court concluded that: “(1) despite the PCRA I Court's conclusion to the contrary, the recorded statement referred to in the omitted paragraph of the Goodwin Report did exist, and was intentionally withheld by prosecutors; (2) even if no recorded statement existed, Warman's intentional editing of the Goodwin Report violated Brady; (3) Kopas intentionally committed prosecutorial misconduct in violation of Brady when he failed to turn over the entire police file, as ordered during the PCRA I proceedings; (4) Solomon and Warman both committed prosecutorial misconduct and numerous Brady violations leading up to and during the First Trial and the Retrial; and (5) Warman intentionally misled the jury during the Retrial when he stated that all Bowen received in exchange for his testimony was immunity, because he was aware that Bowen also received leniency as to a number of probation and parole violations in Westmoreland County.”

One of the main witnesses, Mr. Bowen, was used to falsely convict Mr. Munchinski. Mr. Bowen's statements only implicated a different codefendant; then material facts about where Mr. Bowen was located during the incident and what Mr. Bowen saw were materially fabricated; Mr. Bowen's trial testimony was markedly different than the stories he told the police; Mr. Bowen's testimony was also at odds with certain facts that were elicited at trial; there were issues with Mr. Bowen's testimony involving a vehicle. Later on, Mr. Bowen testified that he fabricated his trial testimony, and admitted that he was not in Pennsylvania on the night of the murders. Mr. Bowen claimed/testified that "police and prosecutors had threatened him. If he did not testify against Munchinski and [codefendant], Bowen said, "they would have someone come along and say that they were present and that I had done the shootings." Id.

Mr. Bowen also explained why his fabricated account of the murders changed over time. Specifically, he testified that he would rehearse his story with Trooper Goodwin. Trooper Goodwin told Mr. Bowen to give what Trooper Goodwin wanted because he had witnesses prior statements and wanted Mr. Bowen to conform and affirm to what the prior witnesses said. Mr. Goodwin coerced Mr. Bowen to sign a prepared document or face severe consequences. Mr. Bowen changed his story to have Mr. Bowen be in a specific location at a specific time. Out of a different case, Trooper Goodwin was convicted of third-degree murder. Mr. Bowen testified that Trooper Goodwin provided Mr. Bowen confidential material in the course of an on-going investigation such as Trooper Goodwin showing Mr. Bowen several photos of the crime scene. Then Trooper Goodwin gave him details about a car at issue and told him to include the car in the details. Mr. Munchinski's obtained a September 1982 report by Trooper Goodwin that was intentionally edited to conceal a reference to a recorded statement by Mr. Bowen. The two prosecutors in the case testified about the Goodwin Report in which one of the prosecutors (Mr. Warman) admitted to intentionally editing the Goodwin Report to remove a paragraph referencing a recorded statement from Mr. Bowen and that he spliced together paragraphs before and after the removed Bowen text in order to conceal the removal. The prosecutor testified he intentionally removed the relevant paragraph because no statement from Mr. Bowen was ever transcribed or recorded and that the reference would be "misleading."

The Munchinski Court highlighted: "Unfortunately, though the Superior Court's opinion is lengthy, its reasoning is opaque. The memorandum is confusing, and at times internally inconsistent. As best we can understand, the Superior Court concluded that certain articles of evidence listed in the PCRA III petition as undisclosed by the prosecution were not raised on a timely basis, and thus could not be raised as independent claims. Nonetheless, because some of Munchinski's claims were timely, the court concluded that it was required to consider all of the evidence raised in the PCRA III petition. In analyzing the merits of Munchinski's Brady claims, the court considered each article of evidence in isolation, never considering the aggregate materiality of all of the withheld evidence." Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308 (3d Cir. 2012).

The Court's role in deciding the issues is that "the distinction that must be made is whether a particular claim is timely and whether that claim is supported by sufficient evidence of record, no matter when that evidence was acquired." Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308 at 324 (3d Cir. 2012)

"Rather, equitable tolling is appropriate when "principles of equity would make the rigid application of a limitation period unfair." Miller v. N.J. State Dep't of Corr., 145 F.3d 616, 618 (3d Cir.1998)" "Generally speaking, a petitioner is entitled to tolling if he shows: (1) "that some extraordinary circumstance stood in his way" and prevented timely filing"; and (2) that "he has been pursuing his rights diligently." Id. at 2562 (quoting Pace v. DiGuglielmo, 544 U.S. 408, 418, 125 S.Ct. 1807, 161 L.Ed.2d 669 (2005)).” Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308, 329 (3d Cir. 2012). “When the facts allegedly constituting an extraordinary circumstance are not in dispute, “a District Court’s decision on the question whether a case is sufficiently ‘extraordinary’ to justify equitable tolling should be reviewed de novo.” Brinson v. Vaughn, 398 F.3d 225, 230 (3d Cir.2005)” Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308, 329 (3d Cir. 2012).

“The extraordinary circumstances prong requires that the petitioner “in some extraordinary way be[] prevented from asserting his or her rights.” Brown v. Shannon, 322 F.3d 768, 773 (3d Cir.2003). “One ... potentially extraordinary situation is where a court has misled a party regarding the steps that the party needs to take to preserve a claim.” Brinson, 398 F.3d at 230. That is precisely what happened here. The facts before us are remarkably similar to those in Urcinoli v. Cathel, 546 F.3d 269, 273 (3d Cir.2008). In both cases, a court erroneously dismissed pending petitions amidst confusion over recent caselaw.” Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308 (3d Cir. 2012)

“We thus conclude, as we did in Urcinoli, that the PCRA II court’s dismissal of Munchinski’s pending petition, with its implicit suggestion that Munchinski refile once his federal appeal was resolved, was sufficiently misleading as to constitute an extraordinary circumstance because “it later operate[d] to prevent [Munchinski] from pursuing his rights.” Id. at 275. Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308, 330 (3d Cir. 2012)

The diligence required of a habeas petitioner seeking equitable tolling “is reasonable diligence, not maximum feasible diligence.” Holland, 130 S.Ct. at 2565 (internal quotation marks and citations omitted). The Commonwealth argues that by failing to appeal the PCRA II court’s erroneous dismissal of his petition, Munchinski did not demonstrate the “reasonable diligence” necessary to permit equitable tolling.” Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308, 330 (3d Cir. 2012).

“Rather, “[t]o determine if a petitioner has been [reasonably] diligent in pursuing his petition, courts consider the petitioner’s overall level of care and caution in light of his or her particular circumstances.” Doe v. Busby, 661 F.3d 1001, 1013 (9th Cir.2011); see also Schluter v. Varner, 384 F.3d 69, 74 (3d Cir.2004) (“Due diligence ... require[s] reasonable diligence in the circumstances.”). In other words, the diligence inquiry is fact-specific and depends on the circumstances faced by the particular petitioner; there are no bright line rules as to what conduct is insufficient to constitute reasonable diligence. If a petitioner “did what he reasonably thought was necessary to preserve his rights ... based on information he received ..., then he can hardly be faulted for not acting more ‘diligently’ than he did.” Holmes v. Spencer, 685 F.3d 51, 65 (1st Cir.2012).” Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308 (3d Cir. 2012)

“Munchinski’s evidence clearly and convincingly shows that the murders could not have happened as the Commonwealth proposed at trial...The Powell Report and the Goodwin/Powell Report both suggest that the Commonwealth’s timeline is inconsistent with the physical evidence from the autopsy. The Bates Report II suggests that Bowen, the only witness who could provide any details supporting the Commonwealth’s theory of the case, was not even in Pennsylvania the night of the murders, and makes clear that the police were aware of this fact.” Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308 (3d Cir. 2012)

“The Commonwealth would essentially be asking the jury to convict based on: (1) an implausible theory of the case inconsistent with other evidence in the record; (2) self-serving testimony from three acquaintances whose testimony kept Dahlmann's ex-husband from becoming a target in the investigation; and (3) testimony from a jailhouse informant. Critically, the jury would be left without a theory of the case to explain the actual murder itself—testimony from Dahlmann, Lexa, Furr, and Thomas was limited to what happened after the murders, and did not provide the jury with a detailed account of what actually transpired in Bear Rocks.” Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308 (3d Cir. 2012)

The Court summarized the issue with the State’s case in which they “would essentially be asking the jury to convict based on: (1) an implausible theory of the case inconsistent with other evidence in the record; (2) self-serving testimony from three acquaintances whose testimony kept Dahlmann's ex-husband from becoming a target in the investigation; and (3) testimony from a jailhouse informant. Critically, the jury would be left without a theory of the case to explain the actual murder itself—testimony from Dahlmann, Lexa, Furr, and Thomas was limited to what happened after the murders, and did not provide the jury with a detailed account of what actually transpired in Bear Rocks.” Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308, 337 (3d Cir. 2012)

‘On the other hand, Munchinski would have offered the jury alternative theories of the case without the problematic inconsistencies in Bowen's account. Considering all of the evidence that would have been presented to the jury, Munchinski has clearly and convincingly demonstrated that but for the Commonwealth's Brady violations, no reasonable juror could rationally believe beyond a reasonable doubt that Munchinski committed the Bear Rocks Murders.” Munchinski v. Wilson, 694 F.3d 308 (3d Cir. 2012)

Because of how bad PLAINTIFF has been abused by the government and PLAINTIFF is only disclosing the following because of the abuse PLAINTIFF experienced, how it was used against PLAINTIFF, and PLAINTIFF has the expectancy that it will stop. PLAINTIFF, by no stretch of the imagination, is perfect and PLAINTIFF committed numerous mistakes in his life. One thing that has defined PLAINTIFF is that he always learned through his mistakes. PLAINTIFF a lot of times has had bad luck. But what has remarkably defined PLAINTIFF’S life is that once the United States Government become involved in his life, PLAINTIFF got screwed and was put on a rack and screw and tortured by the United States Government. Then the timing of the incidents worsened the severity of harm to PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF never had the best circumstances in his life and it was a recipe for disaster.

Since Pre-Crime analysis was used, DEFENDANTS violated: Ferguson v. Charleston, 532 U.S. 67 (2001) (holding: a state sanctioned agency or facility’s use of a diagnostic test to obtain evidence of a patient's criminal conduct for law enforcement purposes is an unreasonable search if the patient has not consented to the procedure. A key factor was the fact that The invasion of privacy in the case here was extremely substantial in which there could be a complete misunderstanding about the purpose of the test or the potential use of the test results (especially if they are erroneous). Some factors in determining reasonableness were whether there were protections against the dissemination of the results to third parties and whether the immediate objective of the searches was to generate evidence for law enforcement purposes). Pre-Crime

Analysis precisely creates an objective and reason to generate evidence to conform to what the computer and algorithm would say and thereby deprive Due Process rights; and when the algorithm is wrong, then that provides a huge reason for law enforcement to fabricate evidence against someone who pre-crime analysis was falsely used on. Pre-Crime Analysis effectively becomes an artificial and robotic judge to condemn a child to a life deprived of freedom and liberty in which law enforcement would always surveil that child that was falsely alleged to be “predisposed” in which law enforcement would selectively take bits and pieces to conform to a false allegation made by a computer and robot in which the evidence selected would be materially misleading and fabricated against an individual. Robots are not the People’s overlords. PLAINTIFF also alleges that Pre-Crime Analysis violates 42 U.S.C. 1985(2) & 18 U.S.C. 241.

American Intel had PLAINTIFF’S parents under surveillance for whatever reason, PLAINTIFF does not know. It has come to PLAINTIFF’S recollection the following: Tony Bello, Mary Bello, and her son Joseph Bello (along with one sister or two sisters) moved into the neighborhood. PLAINTIFF believes and alleges the Bellos were undercover in some capacity. What the relationships between PLAINTIFF’S parents and Tony and Mary Bello were, it was irrelevant to PLAINTIFF. But what is relevant is American Intel did a profile of PLAINTIFF’S family around 2004 or 2005 or so, if not before. When American Intel did a profile about PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF is alleging they obtained PLAINTIFF’S medical records for sure around 2005 or 2006. It is from this analysis that American Intel, beyond any reasonable doubt, knew PLAINTIFF was autistic. Joseph Bello and David Kotevski were in the same grade and were friends. PLAINTIFF would occasionally from time-to-time tag along with Joe Bello and David Kotevski. Here is the thing. Joe Bello had a younger sister who was attending, to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection, Viking Junior High School when PLAINTIFF was in High School at Northridge Preparatory. PLAINTIFF did not want to hang out with her when he was in high school because she was too young for PLAINTIFF to hang out with in high school. From PLAINTIFF’S perspective, Joe Bello and David Kotevski were always the reckless ones and doing stupid crazy shit. PLAINTIFF was not about that life in high school.

“The danger that high federal officials will disregard constitutional rights in their zeal to protect the national security is sufficiently real to counsel against affording such officials an absolute immunity.” Mitchell v. Forsyth, 472 U.S. 511 (1985)

PLAINTIFF did enjoy talking about history with Joe Bello. Sometimes, he would follow along with and participate in talking about the military. What PLAINTIFF really didn’t like from JOE BELLO was this fanaticism about 9/11. This fanaticism was a “RA RA RAH. Bang head and arms on shield and there is a terrorist around every corner” zeal that was common 5 or so years after 9/11 in which JOE BELLO firmly believed in his heart (based on PLAINTIFF’S perspective) that there was a terrorist around every corner. PLAINTIFF had even argued with JOE BELLO something to the effect that there was NOT a terrorist around every corner. BECAUSE OF THAT DISAGREEMENT, JOE BELLO could not tolerate that view in his mind. JOE BELLO did another thing that involved someone in the neighborhood that was outrageous in which consent was not obtained.

One day, one of the Bellos (PLAINTIFF believes it was JOE BELLO) texts or calls or induces PLAINTIFF to go over to the Bello household. DEFENDANTS have this information. This incident took place before the night involving BRI, PLAINTIFF, and KYLE. PLAINTIFF is a minor and is there by himself—no parents, no brother, alone as an autistic individual by himself. JOE BELLO starts rambling about 9/11--and then even text messages will verify some of this for sure—and PLAINTIFF becomes uncomfortable with this situation. JOE BELLO takes PLAINTIFF to the basement of their home (that was unfinished with just a couple of lights in the basement) and JOE BELLO coerces PLAINTIFF into declaring allegiance for Al-Qaeda or Taliban when PLAINTIFF told him numerous times he wouldn't. JOE BELLO led PLAINTIFF to believe that PLAINTIFF was not free to leave. JOE BELLO told PLAINTIFF to repeat multiple times declaring allegiance to Al-Qaeda or the Taliban. To rationalize the abuse, PLAINTIFF conceived of the notion that JOE BELLO and PLAINTIFF were being sarcastic and joking. JOE BELLO necessarily knew that PLAINTIFF in no way shape or form meant what he said because there was no proof of affirming what PLAINTIFF said because PLAINTIFF was not an extremist and did not want to harm the United States in anyway and there was nothing in the entire time PLAINTIFF knew JOE BELLO that showed any indication of possible hostility to the United States. Period. JOE BELLO knew PLAINTIFF was an Orthodox Christian and would not convert to Islam. Being a Muslim is fine; but PLAINTIFF would never convert to Islam and the way PLAINTIFF comes to understand God is through being an Orthodox Christian. PLAINTIFF in high school expressed no serious intent nor cared to know how explosive devices work. There was no tangible or physical piece of evidence that would convey PLAINTIFF was a terrorist unless pre-crime analysis falsely accused PLAINTIFF of such being a child. So, it is the intentional omission of known facts that if FBI and CIA utilized that recording against PLAINTIFF from that moment on, everything became prejudicial towards PLAINTIFF. JOE BELLO knew that PLAINTIFF loved America and would regularly read about history and the constitution. PLAINTIFF was skeptical of policies and George W. Bush. Outside of Pine Gap, California False Exigent Circumstances, and Pre-Crime Analysis, it is from this moment on FBI and American Intel embed themselves in PLAINTIFF'S life. If anything, what this demonstrates is that when PLAINTIFF questioned the basis of claims such as he did with JOE BELLO, there would only be retaliation in which PLAINTIFF would be accused of doing the things that the United States Government was doing against PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF expressed to his mother via text message or someone in the family that he was uncomfortable with the whole entire situation.

Here is the thing. American Intel DEFENDANTS knew that JOE BELLO'S coercion against PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF'S complete reluctance, and the recording itself was inherently unconstitutional and a complete fabrication based on material lies. Knowing these facts, American INTEL most definitely had undercover agent MATT at Bulldog pull the same trick in which PLAINTIFF thought it was not serious as it was something friends would do, and to PLAINTIFF'S best recollection, either had Griffin Fry and/or Rebecca Wetherbee pull the same schtick. So, PLAINTIFF tried to rationalize and understand an inherently unjust action undertaken by JOE BELLO and try to make it into a positive later where he could joke about it with what PLAINTIFF understood at the time to be PLAINTIFF'S friends of Griffin Fry, Rebecca Wetherbee, and Matt at Bulldog (so whatever came out of bulldog is completely constitutionally tainted and unconstitutional).

So “Mary Bello” and “Tony Bello” allegedly divorced and moved away, to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection, when PLAINTIFF was a senior in high school in 2006 or 2007. Where this gets weird is that “Mary Bello” appeared in PLAINTIFF’S life again between April 2020 through June 2020 when he was working with autistic youth. American Intel would not stop ruining PLAINTIFF’S life at any time from 2005 onwards. They robbed PLAINTIFF of his childhood. PLAINTIFF has no qualm about preventing terrorism, but when you coerce an autistic man that had no interest in 9/11 in order to get the most coercive surveillance known to man, that is not preventing terrorism, that is creating terrorists when PLAINTIFF was never predisposed to terrorism. But somewhere in some profile with some precrime analysis bullshit they falsely labeled PLAINTIFF a threat. Instead of doing what they were legally required to do and help people in which they could have guided PLAINTIFF’S life correctly if he posed such a pre-crime analysis threat instead of fabricating and coercing a confession out of PLAINTIFF and making a false domestic terrorist. One of the actual ways to prevent terrorism is for the United States Government not to make false domestic terrorists out of nothing. American INTEL DEFENDANTS could have been the proper guide in PLAINTIFF’S life if they were so interested in preventing terrorism, but they did not want that. American Intel knew the potential PLAINTIFF had in his smarts and knowing history so well and they could have used that beneficially for the country instead of starting all the problems that they did. So the Bellos gave to the FBI or CIA the fabricated and coercive confession in which they used Title II against PLAINTIFF and his family.

So the way it started from American INTEL’S perspective was through Pine Gap, Pre-Crime Analysis, and American INTEL necessarily knowing and utilizing perjured testimony when they had reason to believe the witnesses were lying about a certain situation. American INTEL became entrenched a case of absolute confirmation bias, prejudice, and malice based on a secret algorithm determined when PLAINTIFF was a child that was enabled by the Supreme Court. On top of that, American INTEL DEFENDANTS necessarily knew that PLAINTIFF was the weakest link in his family because PLAINTIFF was autistic, and DEFENDANTS could attack PLAINTIFF’S parents through attacking PLAINTIFF as a vulnerable autistic teenager not living in the most conducive circumstances for PLAINTIFF’S autism. Based on what DEFENDANTS necessarily did in Midyear, PLAINTIFF is alleging that DEFENDANTS fabricated issues and omitted key exculpatory evidence that would have refuted their false and misleading narrative concerning how PLAINTIFF lost his virginity around Fall 2006 in violation of a minimum 1st Amendment/Religious Liberty, 4th Amendment, 5th Amendment, and 14th Amendment rights.

This brings up another interesting and relevant point. So what do you do with certain pieces of information. Joe Bello knew that PLAINTIFF was a Yugoslavian American Orthodox Christian, but yet, Joe Bello made PLAINTIFF falsely declare allegiance to ISIS or Al-Qaeda. PLAINTIFF’S email address and America Online Instant Messenger (AIM) account back in the day were: mikdashrink@msn.com and theyugomob1 respectively. Now what may have been more of a possibility back in the day was that American INTEL DEFENDANTS could have alleged back then that PLAINTIFF had the potential to be like Radovan Karadžić since he was a serb and a psychiatrist and--technically true--critical of some US policies in which American INTEL Defendants would have utilized pre-crime analysis and PLAINTIFF’S intentional reference to wanting one day to be a psychiatrist in his email account of mikdashrink@msn.com and his nationality. PLAINTIFF regularly traveled back and forth between Yugoslavia and America as a child and the actions of PLAINTIFF growing up in a Yugoslavian household would factor into that. Fine; and even then, PLAINTIFF would not grant that false assumption to American INTEL DEFENDANTS. What PLAINTIFF is necessarily and just arguing here is that Yugoslavian scenario was more of a possibility than PLAINTIFF ever joining ISIS or Al-Qaeda. Furthermore, it is deep within Serbian and Macedonian culture and identity to rather fight and die against muslim terrorists that would necessarily have to come through turkey to invade Serbia and Macedonia to cause chaos and destruction in Serbia and Macedonia. So what PLAINTIFF is alleging is that even with facts that presented completely contradictory evidence and conclusions in which if we even grant the erroneous presumption pre-crime analysis is justified, American INTEL DEFENDANTS were so manifestly biased as to prevent them from being objective that what FBI/CIA wanted so badly was an American domestic terrorist declaring allegiance to Al-Qaeda and/or ISIS so that they could expand their surveillance tools domestically in which American INTEL would absolutely and necessarily use fabricated and misleading evidence and narratives to do so. This is exactly the case.

Something came up as of late in September 2023 and PLAINTIFF is saying the following rings a bell somewhere deep deep deep inside PLAINTIFF'S mind. So PLAINTIFF is alleging the following. Whether it was in this debate with Griffin Fry, Rebecca Wetherbee, or another time, there may have been a time where PLAINTIFF was being sarcastic and joking and declared allegiance to ISIS because PLAINTIFF had sarcastically joked about it in the course of the debate (that doesn't include Matt). The problem is Mens Rea yet again and this is Serbian 'Itan'. For an Orthodox Christian Serbian or a non-Albanian Orthodox Christian Macedonian to have declared allegiance to a Muslim terrorist organization in which that Serbian or Macedonian Orthodox Christian would have necessarily renounced his Orthodox Christian faith and did not die trying to stop an advancing a Muslim terrorist organization advancing into the Balkans from the Turkey (based on the history of the Balkans), that was so completely unrealistic and implausible it had to be Serbian "Itan" and nothing else. Now PLAINTIFF will give American Intel a little bit of credibility if it was a Bosnian Muslim, a Muslim Kosovar (ignoring that Kosovo is not an independent country), or a Muslim Macedonian and did that, maybe in that circumstance, "Itan" would be questioned a little bit. See: Rux v. Republic of Sudan, 495 F. Supp. 2d 541 (E.D. Va. 2007) "Al-Qaeda has supported terrorists in Afghanistan, Bosnia, Chechnya, Tajikistan, Somalia, Yemen, and Kosovo, and has trained terrorists from countries including the Philippines, Algeria, and Eritrea." But is American Intel's intentional and willful blindness to the totality of the circumstances. PLAINTIFF is alleging that American Intel falsely alleged PLAINTIFF declared allegiance to a muslim terrorist organization in which there was no way in hell would PLAINTIFF ever truthfully done so in warrants and to FISA in which American Intel did not provide exculpatory evidence of Mens Rea and PLAINTIFF'S history.

This brings up a Title VI claim. So are Balkans/Yugoslavians a protected nationality under Title VI. The answer is absolutely. In Shaare Tefila Congregation v. Cobb, 481 U.S. 615 (1987), the question of the Case was "did the white defendants exhibit racially motivated discrimination in violation of the federal statute?" The PLAINTIFFs were Jewish and it was whether or not TITLE VI applied to Jewish people, who are white. Judaism is based on Moses and the Exodus of Jewish people, who were slaves, under the Pharaoh. The Court unanimously held that "Held: 1) A charge of racial discrimination within the meaning of § 1982 cannot be made out by alleging only that the defendants were motivated by racial animus. It is also necessary to allege that that animus was directed toward the kind of group that Congress intended to protect when it passed the statute. 2) Jews can state a § 1982 claim of racial discrimination, since they were among the peoples considered to be distinct races, and hence within the protection of the statute at the time it was passed. They are not foreclosed from stating a cause of action simply because the defendants are also part of what today is considered the Caucasian race.” So the issue for the Court was that “We agree with the Court of Appeals that a charge of racial discrimination within the meaning of §1982 cannot be made out by alleging only that the defendants were motivated by racial animus; it is necessary as well to allege that defendants' animus was directed towards the kind of group that Congress intended to protect WHEN it passed the statute. To hold otherwise would unacceptably extend the reach of the statute.” So what did Congress know during the Reconstruction Era in 1866 in regards to groups of slaves and descendants of slaves is the question. Congress intended on protecting former Slaves and descendants of slaves in passing §1982 and the Civil Rights Law during the reconstruction era. Slave is derived from the word Slav, which refers to Eastern European people. Congress, around 1866, unequivocally and fundamentally knew that Judaism is based on Moses having led the exodus of slaves to a free land in which they passed by a large body of water like a sea in the process--Facts are facts. During the Reconstruction Era, congress would have known that the Ottoman Empire existed in which slavery was still legal at that time. From 500-1500 A.D., Islamic slave trade dominated European slave trade in which empires like the Ottoman Empire demanded and needed slaves. An Italian slave market in Venice had established a thriving slave trade. “When the sale of Christians to Muslims was banned (pactum Lotharii^[10]), the Venetians began to sell Slavs and other Eastern European non-Christian slaves in greater numbers. Caravans of slaves traveled from Eastern Europe, through Alpine passes in Austria, to reach Venice... Eunuchs were especially valuable, and "castration houses" arose in Venice, as well as other prominent slave markets, to meet this demand.”¹⁶⁸ In the Ottoman Empire, “The main sources of slaves were wars and politically organized enslavement expeditions in the Caucasus, Eastern Europe, Southern Europe, Southeast Europe, and Africa. It has been reported that the selling price of slaves decreased after large military operations. In Constantinople (present-day Istanbul), the administrative and political center of the Ottoman Empire, about a fifth of the 16th- and 17th-century population consisted of slaves...Even after several measures to ban slavery in the late 19th century (i.e. during the time of the Reconstruction in the United States), the practice of slavery continued largely unabated into the early 20th century (i.e. the 1900s, more than 20 years after the Reconstruction Era in which the Civil Rights laws were passed). As late as 1908, female slaves were still sold in the Ottoman Empire. Sexual slavery was a central part of the Ottoman slave system throughout the history of the institution...”¹⁶⁹ Black folk, that consisted of Ethiopians and Central African People (Zanj Slaves), and Slavic/Balkan People were on the same exact legal level in the Ottoman Empire; but unfortunately, the Turks considered the Zanj slaves inferior;¹⁷⁰ but still the same legally nonetheless. Any person from the Balkans will tell you about how the Turks came to their lands and abducted their children. This was done in “the devşirme, which connotes "draft", "blood tax" or "child collection", young Christian boys from the Balkans and Anatolia were taken from their homes and families, forcibly converted to Islam, and enlisted into the most famous branch of the Kapikulu, the Janissaries, a special soldier class of the Ottoman army that became a decisive faction in the Ottoman invasions of Europe.”¹⁷¹ The Marine Corp actually explicitly referred to and never condemned of what the Janissaries did to Balkan families and how they obtained Balkan people in 2000 in an article published by the United States Naval Institute in March 2000, Proceedings Vol. 126/3/1,165.¹⁷² This was a year after America bombed Yugoslavia in 1999. The US was in the U.S. Barbary wars in which the United States were trying to stop piracy in the Aegean Sea. By 1831, more than 40 years before the Reconstruction Era and 1866, the U.S. sent its first officially approved envoy to the Ottoman Empire. The first Ottoman Empire/Turkish Consulate opened in 1858, about eight years before the Reconstruction Era and 1866. Literally, between the 1850s through 1866, Slavery was all the rage in America. Because it was all the rage and had been discussed so often, politicians and ambassadors in DC would necessarily know where countries stood in regard to slavery and where those countries got their slaves from because it was that much of a social issue in those days. There was not a single way from the 1830’s through 1866 in which American Officials and Congress did not know of the issues of slavery in the Ottoman Empire during the time of Reconstruction and 1866 in the United States. Period. Therefore, at the exact time the Civil Rights Laws were passed during the Reconstruction Era in 1866, Slavic/Balkan people were necessarily included as a group of slaves that the Civil Rights laws were applicable to. If PLAINTIFF digs hard enough, he could probably find some reference by Congress about the Janissaries between the 1830s through 1866 or Ottoman slaves in that same time period. Furthermore, the Court said: “It is evident from the legislative history of the section reviewed in Saint Francis College, a review that we need not repeat here, that Jews and Arabs were among the peoples then considered to be distinct races, and hence within the protection of the statute.” Id. Arabs include the Turks/Ottoman Empire. The Turks had Balkan people as slaves. Ergo it applies. The Ottoman empire collapsed around WWI in which slavery was legal up to that point of the 1910s. PLAINTIFF’S grandpa on his mother’s side was born in 1929; PLAINTIFF’S Grandparents on PLAINTIFF’S father side were born in the 1930s, just 20 years after the collapse of the Ottoman empire in which slavery was legal. Therefore, when PLAINTIFF’S grandparents crossed the Atlantic Ocean were the first generation of family who were free and not slaves under the Ottoman Empire, that is completely factually analogous to Moses and the Jews and puts Slavic/Balkan people on the same exact legal footing as the Jewish people in Shaare Tefila Congregation v. Cobb, 481 U.S. 615 (1987). Therefore, Title VI applies to Balkan/Slavic people. Period.

Serbians/BALKAN people are loud and proud people. Serbians are one of the most hospitable and caring people around and food and alcohol pervades Serbian culture. Serbians make their own home made alcohol whether it is wine or Plumb Brandy called: rakija (which homemade plumb brandy is called: Domaca). Serbians are physical in their mannerisms and touch is expected in conversations. Since they are quite physical in their expressions, touch is the norm in demonstrating care by giving a ton of hugs or pecs on the cheek in which it is routine and custom for adults to hug and give a pec to both adults and kids and for it not to be considered malicious or malignant in nature. Southern Slavic people absolutely know the line between hugging and pecs for sexual gratification and ones that demonstrate care. ITALIANS, GREEKS, and BALKANS all do this thing of “OPA!” when expressing positive exuberance (as well as a negative Opa in some contexts but is oddly done in such a way to give comfort like something bad happened, but that’s okay, itll be better, OPA!). PLAINTIFF is absolutely and unequivocally not alleging a TITLE VI violation on that aspect of PLAINTIFF’S Balkan characteristics of physical expression or OPA-esque conduct for that issue is immaterial to the issues in this complaint and falls outside of the scope of the issues presented that the Court should rule on; there will probably be one day in the future after this case is decided upon in a completely unrelated case to PLAINTIFF (after the Court rules that TITLE VI applies to Southern Slavic/Balkan people), that it may be at issue; but for litigation in this case, it absolutely is not and this case is not the proper vehicle (pun intended) to decide that issue. Serbians love sarcasm and humor. One of the most important concepts that is deeply engrained the genetics, blood, and mind of all Serbians is called “Inat.” “Inat” is a behavioral trait and is a verbal trait that makes you do or say something OR not say or not do something just because you can’t or just because you can say it. In a way, it includes a certain aspect of rebelliousness like if you told a Serbian not to go climb a tree—not only will that Serbian be like “who are you to tell me I can’t go climb a tree? Screw You,” in which that Serbian will then go climb that tree and drink some rakija in the process. Of course, there are reasonable Serbian limits in which “Inat” does not apply such as in actually engaging in physical violence (that is not at issue in this case); physical violence happens when you talk about a Serbian’s mother. If you tell a Serbian not to say a word, not only will that Serbian say that word or phrase but will find three different ways of saying it and make it appropriate in the process. Part of Serbian life and culture includes people going out to cafes and sitting in front of local stores and debating with one another and shooting shit in which “Inat” is done and said. “Inat” can be viewed as oppositional and defiant to American authorities but it is not to Serbians. “Inat” can be understood, in part, as running along the same lines of “hold my beer,” but with more umph and rebelliousness included in it. PLAINTIFF is arguing and alleging that DEFENDANTS violated my Serbian sense of humor and/or “Inat” and that serves as a basis of the complaint in Title VI. PLAINTIFF is specifically asking the Court to rule and base PLAINTIFF’S TITLE VI claim on the fact: that sarcastic humor is a trait of Serbians, violating a sense of humor can be a basis of a Title VI claim; deliberately misconstruing “Inat” can be a Title VI violation; omitting the mental requisite as it relates to “Inat” violates Title VI; and a Title VI violation can occur on the basis of a vehicle, which would also prevent further discrimination undertaken against different minorities such as African-Americans and Latinos outside of Balkan/Southern Slavic individuals.

PLAINTIFF is alleging that some features and behaviors of Slavic/Balkan culture were utilized against PLAINTIFF to cause PLAINTIFF to be subject to discrimination that caused a disparate impact by DEFENDANTS in which DEFENDANTS utilized “Itan” and PLAINTIFF’S car maliciously against PLAINTIFF in violation of TITLE VI.

The FBI recognizes that Balkan people are a distinct group, which brings up ANDREW MCCABE. “In 2003, ANDREW MCCABE began work as a supervisory special agent at the Eurasian Organized Crime Task Force. This is when ANDREW MCCABE started to learn about BALKAN people. Later, McCabe held management positions in the FBI Counterterrorism Division, the FBI National Security Branch and the FBI's Washington Field Office. In 2009, he served as the first director of the High-Value Detainee Interrogation Group, a program to research interrogation techniques that was created after the Department of Defense Directive 2310 ban of waterboarding and other interrogation techniques.” It is from this moment that PLAINTIFF believes and alleges ANDREW MCCABE came into PLAINTIFF’S life.

PLAINTIFF needs to talk about his first car and the best car he has ever had in his life—his 2003 Audi A4 (1.8T). (See: Picture Below. The Corvette and PLAINTIFF’S Audi A4 in 2007). PLAINTIFF’S father purchased the used Audi A4 for PLAINTIFF as his first car when PLAINTIFF was in high school, and it was probably one of the best gifts PLAINTIFF’S father ever gave to PLAINTIFF. It is a commonly accepted reality in which people from the Balkans/Slavs routinely purchase used German cars (BMW, AUDI, or Mercedes-Benz) and have that car for the next 10, 15, 20 or so years.

This is so much so and so and is so fundamentally engrained in Slavic and Balkan culture (in which memes reflect cultural attributes of a given people), on 08/23/2023, PLAINTIFF google searched the following: "Balkan car meme." See: Screenshots below. They could have included the YUGO in the first few posts, which a few do, but the second image that came up was the meme below:

Germany 1 month later Croatia

Here is a meme (below) from an unknown TV Show demonstrating “Itan” and Balkan people and cars. The car bottom is a car full of individuals from the Balkan. Note the guy with a black shirt and a gold chain. Guy in the back wearing is wearing black leather jacket. The punchline of “It’s good for the environment” is an example of “Itan.”

What PLAINTIFF can say in his self-defense is the following. There were times in PLAINTIFF’S life that he was pushed beyond the bounds of all human decency. It is precisely when PLAINTIFF is pushed beyond limits of human decency that PLAINTIFF responded back that caused some of the issues. PLAINTIFF, to the absolute best of his recollection never got into a serious physical fight with anyone (outside his brother), let alone any type of physical fight, between the time PLAINTIFF was in Special Education/Kindergarten to 12th Grade. Records from Spaulding, O’Plaine, Viking, and Northridge Prep (where PLAINTIFF went to school between K-12th Grade) would prove this to be a fact. PLAINTIFF didn’t commit physical harm on anyone or harm animals or anything of that nature when PLAINTIFF was growing up between K-12. PLAINTIFF may have expressed the fact that he really didn’t like cows after a cow chased him one time as a child, but never harmed animals. PLAINTIFF never tortured a squirrel or killed a squirrel until the last couple of years in which he tried to avoid a squirrel running across the road but ran it over.

PLAINTIFF can't make his argument in Meth and especially in Miki’s Tea Party without bringing up the issue of a gun in which PLAINTIFF knows that American Intel DEFENDANTS are going to introduce the following story as relevant evidence one way or another because American Intel DEFENDANTS always get their way in that respect through the Courts of years allowing it to happen in PLAINTIFF’S opinion. PLAINTIFF just wants to state that he was a member of a shooting club in Butte, Montana when he lived in Butte, MT. PLAINTIFF can be trusted around fully loaded shotguns and firearms and not pose a legitimate threat to people when he was armed with a shotgun. So, considering the previous facts, the High School Gun incident. As much as it may be inculpatory in some respects, it is as equally exculpatory in some respects. PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF’S brother (David), and the Nedanovski cousins were in David’s bedroom. David was a high school athlete who didn’t suffer any of the same physical issues or ailments as PLAINTIFF did. David necessarily knew that PLAINTIFF was physically weaker than PLAINTIFF having carried far more weight doing construction with PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF’S father in PLAINTIFF’S father’s construction and management company when he would flip houses and commercial facilities. There is not a single doubt in David’s mind that David is far more physically stronger and physically agile than PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF and David got into an extremely heated argument in front of the Nedanovski cousins that day.

Throughout the course of the argument, David berates PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF continuously keeps telling him stop doing so, pleads, begs, commands, does everything in his power to get David to stop. David's anger does not cease when David was commanded by PLAINTIFF to stop berating and abusing PLAINTIFF--it increases. This argument was not like any previous argument David and PLAINTIFF had ever had. PLAINTIFF, suffering from something akin to battered spouse syndrome, reached a point in his life where he had enough and he started physically fighting his far more athletically and physically stronger brother (PLAINTIFF may have been taller, but was weaker) to get David to cease because there were numerous times PLAINTIFF pleaded, begged, and commanded David to stop and he did not. The Nedanovski cousins observing all of this did not stop nor intervene after PLAINTIFF pleaded, begged, and commanded David to stop. David and PLAINTIFF savagely fought and then PLAINTIFF and David stopped physically fighting. This should have ended the incident, but it did not. David did not stop escalating the situation. This physical fight only fueled David's aggression against PLAINTIFF and David kept it up and started to become even more psychologically abusive. PLAINTIFF couldn't turn to his parents because they would have taken David's side and that would have perpetuated even more psychological abuse and a beating against PLAINTIFF. The Nedanovskis did nothing to stop nor did they quell David even after PLAINTIFF and David's physical fight in which David kept up his abusive and berating comments knowing that it had just caused a physical fight. David listened to no one except himself. With the berating and abusive comments continuing to rise in which the far more physically weaker PLAINTIFF (who was physically drained from the fight) couldn't physically stop any more harm to himself, did what he had to do. If no one was going to stop more physical harm from befalling upon PLAINTIFF in which PLAINTIFF'S parents would have for sure beaten PLAINTIFF and the Nedanovski cousins doing nothing to intervene, and no one was of immediate physical assistance, PLAINTIFF had to grab a weapon to defend himself because PLAINTIFF couldn't physically defend himself any longer because there was an actual imminent danger and/or clear and present danger to PLAINTIFF that more physical harm would befall upon PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF could not have physically restrained his brother to prevent further harm from happening. The only thing that PLAINTIFF could have grabbed to defend himself in David's bedroom was a mini souvenir bat that was like a foot long and less than an inch thick in diameter and that would have done nothing to stop David from assaulting PLAINTIFF again. With nothing nearby, PLAINTIFF either 1) could have ran downstairs and grabbed a kitchen knife, 2) run to the garage which was further away from the kitchen and grabbed some tool and then run back upstairs, or 3) PLAINTIFF did what he did and went to his parent's bedroom, grabbed his mom's small handgun, put it in his jeans pocket in which the gun was so small that it was completely concealed in PLAINTIFF'S pocket, and went back and immediately commanded his brother to stop in which PLAINTIFF pointed to his jeans pocket. PLAINTIFF'S actions were solely to stop his brother from physically assailing him when PLAINTIFF had every reason to believe that despite numerous commands to stop, and along with bystander intervention failure, PLAINTIFF was going to be subject to more physical harm (that at minimum would have required hospitalization) and did what he had to do to get David to stop. So even when PLAINTIFF was at his most justifiably angriest state he had ever been in his life at that time (in which numerous times before PLAINTIFF, jails across America are filled with people who were in an extremely similar situation and took out the gun and shot someone or with a battered spouse, shooting their abusive partner and walked free), PLAINTIFF never even took the gun out of his pocket when PLAINTIFF was doing it for self-defense purposes only. There is a definite and appropriate line that could be ascertained on PLAINTIFF'S conduct even when he was in high school in which he would have matured over the years--even when posed with a clear and present danger to PLAINTIFF'S physical safety, PLAINTIFF resorted to dialogue and speech to stop a further escalation of the situation as not to physically harm the other individual and PLAINTIFF when PLAINTIFF'S immediate physical well-being was at issue. PLAINTIFF texted THAO BUI the story so American Intel or DoD have it. But what PLAINTIFF can say is the following. In Summer 2010, PLAINTIFF told his story at Camp Wayne to campers to prevent bullying and harassment in the future in which he told his campers that the way to end bullying was by talking to people and to help the weird and sketchy kids in school. PLAINTIFF expressed sincere remorse that the incident occurred in Summer 2010 (which is extremely important to Miki's Tea Party) and took it as a learning lesson to help others in need not to repeat the same mistakes he had made. American Intel knew the story and the context of it because they obtained PLAINTIFF'S cell phone records. You will see in Section II (SEWANEE) how this story was misconstrued against PLAINTIFF. That was super embarrassing and to keep up the embarrassing theme to PLAINTIFF, the following.

Because of the maliciousness of the United States Government against PLAINTIFF and solely because of that reason, PLAINTIFF will invoke his Fifth Amendment rights when it comes to the night that he lost his virginity to BRI and KYLE. PLAINTIFF is alleging that this was the first of many examples of American INTEL of having knowingly used perjured testimony, fabricating materially misleading narratives and evidence, seeking to destroy PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability, violated RFRA, attacked PLAINTIFF on the basis of his nationality, and so much more. RUSSELL BYRD was part of the conspiracy in which he barely saw anything. PLAINTIFF alleges that ROBERT MUELLER started a pattern of violating PLAINTIFF'S constitutional rights by obstructing justice that was facilitated by unknown FBI and CIA officers against PLAINTIFF in which ROBERT MUELLER knew of the obstruction of justice acts that his staff underneath him did in which BRI and KYLE were forced to change their testimony about the night with PLAINTIFF to conform to a false factual pattern in providing materially misleading and fabricated evidence and did nothing to remedy the issues. Therefore, they violated: 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1510, 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1511, 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1512, 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1513. 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1341 (relating to mail fraud); 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (relating to wire fraud); 42 U.S.C. §1983.

PLAINTIFF alleges that law enforcement acted through the middleman of KYLE. PLAINTIFF alleges that a government agent specifically targeted PLAINTIFF because of Pre-Crime Analysis and having been coerced by Joe Bello. PLAINTIFF alleges that a government agent told and directed KYLE to undertake his actions against PLAINTIFF. The government necessarily wanted to violate PLAINTIFF'S religious beliefs to conform to Joe Bello's manufactured and fabricated narrative. Therefore, there was entrapment because: "Thus after Rogers, the law in this circuit permits an entrapment instruction involving a middleman when there is evidence that (1) a government agent specifically targeted the defendant in order to induce him to commit illegal conduct; (2) the agent acted through the middleman after other government attempts at inducing the defendant had failed; (3) the government agent requested, encouraged, or instructed the middleman to employ a specified inducement, which could be found improper, against the targeted defendant; (4) the agent's actions led the middleman to do what the government sought, even if the government did not use improper means to influence the middleman; and (5) as a result of the middleman's inducement, the targeted defendant in fact engaged in the illegal conduct.” U.S. v. Luisi, 482 F.3d 43 (1st Cir. 2007) PLAINTIFF was entrapped when it came to KYLE. Furthermore, “The courts of appeals that have considered this sort of claim in similar contexts, however, note that it would succeed only if the government “consciously set out to use sex as a weapon in its investigatory arsenal” or at least “acquiesce[d] in such conduct for its own purposes upon learning that such a relationship existed.” United States v. Cuervelo, 949 F.2d 559 (2d Cir. 1991).” United States v. Therrien, 847 F.3d 9, 15 (1st Cir. 2017). The United States Government/American INTEL set sex out to be a weapon when they fabricated materially misleading and false narratives about a consensual encounter the night PLAINTIFF lost his virginity. To be falsely accused of violence the night you became introduced to consensual sex is one of the biggest weapons involving sex that the United States Government can use against you. That constituted an act of torture against PLAINTIFF.

Do you know the sadistic cruelty that it would require by some government actor to do that to an innocent man? People like YOO, ROBERT MUELLER, and the CIA. PLAINTIFF was coerced into recording that statement against his will by JOE BELLO; and because PLAINTIFF was coerced, it was a material omission and PLAINTIFF would not have made the statement. It was a problem because President George Bush shortly thereafter on July 20th, 2007 gave the following Executive Order 13440 in which he declared that any “associated forces are unlawful enemy combatants who are not entitled to the protections that the Third Geneva Convention provides to prisoners of war. I hereby reaffirm that determination.” PLAINTIFF was a child that was coerced and the United States Government denied an American child his constitutional right to be free from torture.

PLAINTIFF needs to demonstrate PLAINTIFF’S autistic Mens Rea as that is exactly what is in issue in this case that underlies all of the issues. There was an internship called Canale that PLAINTIFF obtained while he was at SEWANEE. A sorority (via CALLIE SADLER) had agreed to assist PLAINTIFF in an endeavor. Then something happened, probably and as PLAINTIFF is alleging, DEFENDANTS told or coerced CALLIE SADLER or the sorority didn’t want to help PLAINTIFF after what DEFENDANTS did to PLAINTIFF as he was still a pariah, that the sorority would not be helping when there was a de-facto legal agreement in place. PLAINTIFF got highly upset. This was also an HONOR CODE violation as it necessarily required CALLIE SADLER to lie and act dishonorably. PLAINTIFF tried to calmly explain why it was wrong (why it was legally wrong) and then it was only afterwards after an appeal to reason and facts that PLAINTIFF then threatened (in the case of CALLIE SADLER threatened to legally sue CALLIE SADLER and the sorority) as a legal bluff. PLAINTIFF used the $1,000 figure PLAINTIFF said it was about dirt research but PLAINTIFF using “dirt research” was immaterial as the point of it was emphasizing the figure of $1,000 having already been spent on furthering the project when there was a legal wrong committed against PLAINTIFF (thereby not violating the HONOR CODE) and a violation of the HONOR CODE occurred by CALLIE SADLER in which PLAINTIFF did not sue. PLAINTIFF wanted to sue because PLAINTIFF was helping kids by raising funds for a playground (the importance of which will be understood even further in Big Brothers Big Sisters) because PLAINTIFF loved mentoring kids at that time. You have to push PLAINTIFF beyond all reasonable bounds of human decency and push him maliciously and unjustly in the process for him to lose his cool.

The main point involving CALLIE SADLER and KYLE regarding PLAINTIFF is that whenever there was a serious legal wrong committed against PLAINTIFF in which PLAINTIFF took the time to truthfully and calmly explain why they were wrong in which the person at issue was necessarily and unequivocally lying in the process that was in response to a violation of PLAINTIFF'S honor or unjust treatment against PLAINTIFF (whether it is KYLE lying about the nature of the circumstances of PLAINTIFF losing his virginity that necessarily implicated PLAINTIFF'S honor and CALLIE SADLER and her HONOR CODE violation), that is when it caused PLAINTIFF to lose his cool by becoming very frustrated (it was frustrating to PLAINTIFF because the truth and reason should prevail) which in turn caused PLAINTIFF to autistically and angrily ruminate, and then, and only then, that is when PLAINTIFF would resort to bluffs or using extremely strong and absolute worded statements. It wasn't all the time as there would be numerous times that legal wrongs were committed against PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF did not overreact and angrily ruminate then, it just happened sometimes in which there was a correlation to when PLAINTIFF especially knew it was legally, ethically, or morally wrong and fundamentally unjust and unfair.

It wasn't because PLAINTIFF had committed a legal wrong, it was when a legal wrong was committed by different actors against PLAINTIFF and were lying about it in the process. This will come up again in Rhetoric and The Devil Reincarnate—REBECCA WETHERBEE.

The Court in United States v. Kaminski, 703 F.2d 1004 (7th Cir. 1983) “Although there is no infallible means of divining a defendant's predisposition to commit a crime after the fact, there are several factors recognized as relevant in making this determination. We start with the observation that predisposition is, by definition, “the defendant's state of mind and inclinations before his initial exposure to government agents.” United States v. Jannotti, 501 F. Supp. 1182 (E.D.Pa. 1980), rev'd on other grounds, 673 F.2d 578 (3rd Cir.)...This answers defendant's bizarre contention that “the agents literally entrapped him into a state of predisposition.” One is either predisposed to commit a crime before coming into contact with the Government or one is not, so the argument that one could be entrapped into having a state of predisposition is meaningless. We now turn our attention to the factors relevant in determining predisposition. Among these are the character or reputation of the defendant, including any prior criminal record; whether the suggestion of the criminal activity was initially made by the Government; whether the defendant was engaged in the criminal activity for profit; whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to commit the offense, overcome only by repeated Government inducement or persuasion; and the nature of the inducement or persuasion supplied by the Government. While none of the factors alone indicates either the presence or absence of predisposition, the most important factor . . . is whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to engage in criminal activity which was overcome by repeated Government inducement...” It was only after repeated Government inducement when PLAINTIFF explained the truth in the night involving BRI that a middleman was used to suggest criminal activity and the nature of the false accusation in which PLAINTIFF repeatedly gave his truthful account that then PLAINTIFF became entrapped.

“As an alternative to vacating Matiz's conviction based on the Government's violation of her Due Process rights, Matiz requests that this court use its supervisory power to reverse her conviction. Guided by considerations of justice, federal courts may exercise on a limited basis their supervisory power to “formulate procedural rules not specifically required by the Constitution or the Congress." United States v. Hasting, 461 U.S. 499 (1983). The Supreme Court has recognized only three legitimate purposes for the exercise of a court's supervisory power: "To implement a remedy for violation of recognized rights, to preserve judicial integrity, . . . and finally, as a remedy designed to deter future illegal conduct." Id. (citations omitted)." U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994)

U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994) ruled on the proposition that an act of perjury can be an act of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503 since "The findings (of obstruction of justice) encompass all the elements of perjury — falsity, materiality, and willfulness. The only matter about which the court was not explicit was whether Matiz's testimony was material. A sentencing court, however, is not required to address each element of perjury in a separate and clear finding. See id. In fact, the Court in Dunnigan affirmed a district court's finding that did not use the term willful...Dunnigan only requires that a sentencing court's findings encompass all of the factual predicates for a finding of perjury." "The Supreme Court has stated that a witness testifying under oath commits perjury if "she gives false testimony concerning a material matter with the willful intent to provide false testimony, rather than as a result of confusion, mistake, or faulty memory." United States v. Dunnigan, 113 S.Ct. 1111 (1993)." U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994). U.S. v. Ashland Oil Inc., 705 F. Supp. 270 (W.D. Pa. 1989) discussed what constituted materiality: "A concise summary of this materiality requirement is set forth in Justice Stevens' concurring opinion in Youngblood: Our cases make clear that "[t]he proper standard of materiality must reflect our overriding concern with the justice of the finding of guilt," and the State's failure to turn over (or preserve) potentially exculpatory evidence therefore "must be evaluated in the context of the entire record." United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976) (footnotes omitted); see also California v. Trombetta, 467 U.S. 479 (1984) (duty to preserve evidence "must be limited to evidence that might be expected to play a significant role in the suspect's defense")." "By limiting §1503 to acts having the "natural and probable effect" of interfering with the due administration of justice, the Court effectively reads the word "endeavor," which we said in Russell embraced "any effort or essay" to obstruct justice out of the omnibus clause, leaving a prohibition of only actual obstruction and competent attempts...A §1503 violation occurs when "an act is done corruptly if it's done voluntarily and intentionally to bring about either an unlawful result or a lawful result by some unlawful method, with a hope or expectation of either financial gain or other benefit to oneself or a benefit of another person." United States v. Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995).

PLAINTIFF is setting a bar for himself based on the standards of a habeas petition standard under 28 U.S.C. 2244 just as a practical baseline to prove the point in saying that even under the standards of habeas, PLAINTIFF far exceeded what was required out of him in a preponderance of the evidence level in regards to certain issues in this complaint. PLAINTIFF is specifically not asking the court to utilize a habeas baseline standard regarding PLAINTIFF'S claims. So PLAINTIFF is showing how he could plausibly reach a habeas standard threshold to certain issues in this complaint.

There is not a single person on this planet that could have gone through everything I've gone through in my life and not crack afterwards. They had legitimately no reason to be listening in on my phone during privileged discussions.

Section II. Sewanee. 2007-2011.

PRELUDE:

Section II is all to the best, honest, and complete PLAINTIFF'S recollection as of 09/27/2023 and is not misleading as PLAINTIFF has revealed things that are not in his legal interest for full truthful disclosure and things that are completely prejudicial to PLAINTIFF; and it was a difficult endeavor to fully remember most of the facts since some of the incidents took place more than 15 years ago. PLAINTIFF, when he left to go attend SEWANEE, was naïve and held this hope out that the US administration of justice would be fair. PLAINTIFF knows the abuse and bullying PLAINTIFF suffered through as a kid wasn't fair, and PLAINTIFF just had high hopes that there would have been something in PLAINTIFF'S life as an adult that would be fair and just when he entered SEWANEE. PLAINTIFF was so incredibly wrong.

When PLAINTIFF uses the word: SEWANEE, it could reference Sewanee, TN because the entire town of Sewanee, TN is in the entire campus of The University of the South (aka: Sewanee) or just the University of the South that is also referred to just by Sewanee.

More than anything what PLAINTIFF needed the most at SEWANEE was to have someone recognize that PLAINTIFF needed help for his autism and that someone could protect PLAINTIFF knowing his autistic vulnerabilities. PLAINTIFF got absolutely no help for his autism from the 2nd grade to pretty much the rest of his life; instead of helping, DEFENDANTS (as well as PLAINTIFF'S parents) exploited it for their own malicious purposes and furthered RICO Enterprise 1 in the process. PLAINTIFF does not know exactly when RICO Enterprise 1 started, it had major roots in Upbringing; however, it fully sprouted into fruition in Sewanee in 2007. What PLAINTIFF can tell the Court is that from PLAINTIFF'S current understanding and from his perspective, it really molded and formed into place by April 2008. PLAINTIFF can you how it was fueled from the beginning by DOJ, NSA, CIA, and FBI though--PAUL CLEMENT and the Bush War on Terror. In PLAINTIFF'S simplest terms based on his current understanding and from his perspective on how RICO Enterprise 1 started and the basis of this complaint was that PLAINTIFF'S constitutional, property, legal, and liberty interests were trampled on completely and relentlessly for counterterrorism precedent by DEFENDANTS who necessarily had to do so in order to cover up legal fraud and constitutional violations by DEFENDANTS in which PLAINTIFF'S property interests were stolen and liberty deprived. Each Chapter in Narcoterrorism is a different scheme in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1. Another way of seeing it, ironically, is DEFENDANTS were stuck in their own autistic--and especially corrupt--feedback loop in which DEFENDANTS had to fabricate something to coverup their legal fraud by establishing counterterrorism precedent that SCOTUS enabled, which in turn, required DEFENDANTS to coverup the legal fraud and fabrication that the previous precedent was established on so DEFENDANTS created new fabrications and committed more legal fraud so that they could coverup their previous legal fraud and fabrications with the prior precedent and get new counterterrorism precedent that SCOTUS enabled; which in turn, required DEFENDANTS to coverup the fabrication that the previous precedent was established on so they created new fabrications and committed more legal fraud so that they could coverup their previous legal fraud and fabrications with the prior precedent and get new counterterrorism precedent in the process in which SCOTUS enabled them; which in turn,...” It culminated to billions and billions of dollars by 2010/2011 and then into such completely horrific and unimaginable horrors in 2015.

FRESHMAN YEAR SEWANEE. Tragedy:

FBI: ROBERT MUELLER. CIA: MICHAEL HAYDEN. DOJ Attorney General: Michael Mukasey. DOD General Counsel: JEH JOHNSON. DHS. XX. DOJ Solicitor General: Paul Clement. DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta): SALLY YATES.

First and most importantly, on Feb 23rd, 2008, PLAINTIFF’s godchild, CAIU RODRIGUEZ, was killed in a fire in St. Louis, Missouri. PLAINTIFF was shocked and this was the first real traumatic loss of a loved one; especially as an Orthodox Christian to lose a godchild in which it is of extreme religious significance. The problem with being abused is that after a while, to save face in front of your abuser, you can hold in the pain and just bury it deep down inside--That is what PLAINTIFF did with CAIU’S death. Yes, it took me a few days to process the situation, and yes, PLAINTIFF visited friends around this time at a different University in which PLAINTIFF partied. However, when PLAINTIFF couldn’t bury it deep down inside anymore, PLAINTIFF became even more severely depressed and emotionally volatile from March 2008 onwards PLAINTIFF consulted and tried to talk to PLAINTIFF’S brother about what he was feeling and experiencing and got nowhere at the time. PLAINTIFF felt betrayed by his brother especially amidst all of the different issues presented in this section. PLAINTIFF should have gone to psychological counseling at that time, but with PLAINTIFF’S parent’s obsession that made him distrust psychologists at that time, PLAINTIFF did not to go.

FRESHMAN YEAR SEWANEE. 2007-2008

MIDYEAR Exam (MYE) /MID-YEAR

FBI: ROBERT MUELLER. CIA: MICHAEL HAYDEN. DOJ Attorney General: MICHAEL MUKASEY. DOJ Solicitor General: Paul Clement. DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta): SALLY YATES.

Second and of extreme importance, this occurred in 2008 and PLAINTIFF will do the best he can to put the following chapters in chronological order.

PLAINTIFF had a class with a very liberal political science professor named Professor SCHNEIDER in Spring of 2008 (probably around March 2008). She did not like PLAINTIFF in any way because of PLAINTIFF’S views on politics in which PLAINTIFF leaned on the conservative and libertarian side of things (this has not changed since 2008) though he can agree with liberals on certain issues. PLAINTIFF spoke in class as part of class discussions as it was a benefit he paid for, and Professor SCHNEIDER routinely disagreed with PLAINTIFF because PLAINTIFF made his voice heard and utilized the 1st Amendment doing so. #protectedspeech. Furthermore, because Professor SCHNEIDER so readily disagreed with PLAINTIFF on his political views (i.e. his political speech said in the course of a class debate or participation), she intentionally would call on anyone else besides PLAINTIFF. Messages at the time would prove this to be true and DEFENDANTS knew and had those messages that demonstrated such (whether it was facebook or text message, they used the USA PATRIOT Act to obtain such and therefore PLAINTIFF is alleging a constitutional violation based on that).

PLAINTIFF could not have connected American INTEL to PROFESSOR SCHNEIDER in the following incident at the time, but it struck PLAINTIFF as very peculiar and PLAINTIFF expressed such and there may be proof of my impression within American Intel somewhere. So, after PLAINTIFF had expressed the fact that Professor SCHNEIDER did not like PLAINTIFF on the basis of his political views said in class (and didn't like conservative views) either in messages (Facebook or text) or whether PLAINTIFF said it to informants like GRIFFIN FRY or WESLEY CRANE, American Intel knew about the 1st Amendment issue concerning PLAINTIFF and PROFESSOR PAIGE SCHNEIDER. PLAINTIFF is alleging that American Intel directed PROFESSOR SCHNEIDER to give a full denial to PLAINTIFF'S observations in class--that came completely out of nowhere and was so unprompted as to give an inference of suspiciousness—to “refute” the fact that PROFESSOR SCHNEIDER liked liberal views far more than conservative/libertarian views and would only call on students because they were liberal. PLAINTIFF even at one time gave her a review in ratemyprofessor.com (in which it wouldn't surprise PLAINTIFF if he talked about her liberalness and probably did mention her liberalness in his review) and there is one post that talks about the liberalness of Professor PAIGE SCHNEIDER. PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS directed or had talked to Professor PAIGE SCHNEIDER about PLAINTIFF's view, American Intel knew the legal basis PLAINTIFF had in alleging that if Professor Schneider were to retaliate in some form, PLAINTIFF'S defense would be it was a retaliation on the basis of his political speech, American Intel knew of the core 1st Amendment values at stake and how PLAINTIFF was denied benefits to participate in class because of his political views, and then American Intel had directed Professor PAIGE SCHNEIDER to retaliate against PLAINTIFF on the basis of his autism (in which she allegedly “refuted” PLAINTIFF'S claims) in the following incident:

One day, this occurred after most of Peachy Miami had occurred, after GIVE ME LIBERTY and GIVE ME BEER had occurred, after most of Big Brother Big Sisters had occurred, Professor SCHNEIDER falsely accused PLAINTIFF of plagiarism, which occurred after PLAINTIFF pointed out the 1st Amendment issues (i.e. retaliation again). Why and what were some of the issues? First off, PLAINTIFF has a writing disability and writing issues and autism are nearly always present and prevalent. Talk to any one of PLAINTIFF'S teachers growing up, they would have all told you the same thing—PLAINTIFF is smart, but he has writing issues. PLAINTIFF had written expressive issues--seeing how PLAINTIFF is on the autism spectrum n' all--and sometimes PLAINTIFF is not going to get the forms down correctly, quickly at first. However, PLAINTIFF has relentlessly worked on this issue through the years and has fixed the issue. PLAINTIFF explained his prior writing issues prior to the incident in which she would have had a reason to know it could be disability related issue. PLAINTIFF and Professor Schneider then had a meeting about the plagiarism issue. Professor SCHNEIDER'S basis for concluding that PLAINTIFF had allegedly committed plagiarism was that PLAINTIFF had not “properly cited” sources even though PLAINTIFF gave a complete list of all the sources PLAINTIFF used on the “Mid-Year” exam or a paper (PLAINTIFF cannot recall which one) and PLAINTIFF did not claim credit for those statements or pass it off as his own because he put an entire sentence in quotation marks with a list of the sources in the paper. Put in another way, in PLAINTIFF put the statements in quotes to indicate that those statements were not his own on the Mid-Year exam or paper. Sources were listed on the paper. PLAINTIFF understands if he did not include a source, but PLAINTIFF included all of his sources. If there was another plausible and reasonable explanation of it of what was going on PLAINTIFF’S mind at the time, PLAINTIFF probably organized it the way he did as to clean up the paper where PLAINTIFF’S autism and ADD would get PLAINTIFF distracted and unable to comprehend the paper when papers went along the lines of: [point][long source cite][point][long source cite][point][multiple long sources cites]. If anything, what that shows PLAINTIFF was trying to make it easier for Professor PAIGE SCHNEIDER to read his paper. PLAINTIFF tried to explain to her that PLAINTIFF understood that PLAINTIFF had not plagiarized because PLAINTIFF had in fact given credit to the author’s work that he cited and it was just not in the proper form. So remember, this is the second time PLAINTIFF brought up his writing disability issues. There were other numerous SEWANEE professors who were fully aware of PLAINTIFF’S writing issues such as Dr. Charles Peyser. LSU LAW would become aware of PLAINTIFF’S writing issues by 2013/2014. PLAINTIFF doesn’t remember what else happened with this situation because PLAINTIFF believed and knew to be true that he did not plagiarize and could not have reasonably foreseen or known at the time what American Intel would do to PLAINTIFF on the basis of his political speech and autism.

One of the significant points about Midyear that PLAINTIFF doesn’t fully understand yet, but PLAINTIFF based upon information, reason, and belief knows that somehow in some conceivably direct way, Hillary Clinton’s email server scandal gets attached to Midyear and becomes one of the facets of Midyear. PLAINTIFF has tried racking his brain to make a connection, but it was only because of the facet of Midyear that PLAINTIFF was directly privy to at Sewanee in which PLAINTIFF understood that since it is true in respect of Midyear being an administrative issue that implicated PLAINTIFF’S free speech and disability rights, FBI having called and associated the Hillary Clinton email server scandal with Midyear, that there is a factual nexus and must be necessarily true that Hillary Clinton knew about PLAINTIFF from around 2008 or so.

Besides the disability issues and free speech issues, the main point of Mid-Year is the following. FBI could have called PLAINTIFF’S case anything they wanted or FBI could have utilized a random name generator to make a case-name in regards to PLAINTIFF (they did not do this). What FBI/ANDREW MCCABE/PETER STRZOK intentionally, knowingly, and willingly chose to do was refer to PLAINTIFF as MIDYEAR and this is what the FBI and American Intel, British Intel, Indian Intel, etc. will necessarily continue to refer to PLAINTIFF by from 2008-Present and/or at some point in March 2015 stop referring to PLAINTIFF as Midyear because they intentionally chose not to any more because they had a reason in mind why FBI/ANDREW MCCABE/PETER STRZOK shouldn’t (See: An Anchor and a Pitchfork).

So, the issues in Midyear were that an authority figure didn't like PLAINTIFF'S speech that were inextricably intertwined with issues of PLAINTIFF'S autism and his writing disability in which American Intel/FBI/ANDREW MCCABE/PETER STRZOK intentionally, knowingly, maliciously, and willingly retaliated against PLAINTIFF by attacking PLAINTIFF on the basis of PLAINTIFF'S autism because of PLAINTIFF'S political speech. These are irrefutable facts. DEFENDANTS knew these facts DEFENDANTS start referring to PLAINTIFF solely based on their hatred and contempt for PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability and speech when DEFENDANTS intentionally attacked PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability (attacking PLAINTIFF's writing issues because of his autism to deny him education opportunities and in class participation in education when DEFENDANTS knew of PLAINTIFF'S intelligence and desire to learn and would be devastating to PLAINTIFF if he couldn't learn) and would be of a similar nature of one leaving a blind person in the middle of a road, kicking a cane from underneath a disabled individual with mobility issues, etc. DEFENDANTS in 2008 had no issue of attacking PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability because of his political speech. PLAINTIFF has an extremely manifest issue with this because American Intel/ANDREW MCCABE/PETER STRZOK'S hatred never ceases and it necessarily and irrevocably prejudices PLAINTIFF from that moment on as to deny Due Process to PLAINTIFF because DEFENDANTS explicitly approve and justify attacking a disabled person on the basis of their disability as completely acceptable behavior to be tolerated because that is how they named PLAINTIFF's case. American Intel/FBI/ANDREW MCCABE/PETER STRZOK directed Professor PAIGE SCHNEIDER to do this and as the Court in Adickes v. S.H. Kress & Co., 398 U.S. 144 (1970) said, about the nature of their actions: "[w]hen the State has commanded a particular result, it has saved to itself the power to determine that result and thereby to a 'significant extent' has 'become involved' in it." Since the issue in Mid-Year necessarily involved the Honor Code, they have become involved in the HONOR CODE and the U.S Constitution therefore completely applies to this incident and the HONOR CODE despite it occurring in a private university. Therefore, DEFENDANTS cannot say that they were so independent of SEWANEE, the HONOR CODE, or committing a hate crime against PLAINTIFF as retaliation against PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability as to effectively absolve DEFENDANTS of any Constitutional violations that they had directed against PLAINTIFF when he was attending SEWANEE.

This is how PETER STRZOK described MIDYEAR: "It wasn't that Midyear didn't deserve our investigative efforts; rather it was a sense of disappointment that we didn't have the resources to major counterintelligence cases under investigation at the same time that involved Russia, China, and other countries. Those cases at least involved bona fide threats from a foreign adversary. Midyear Exam was proving to be what would otherwise have been more of an administrative issue."¹⁷³

When PLAINTIFF was in high school and this is to the absolute best of his recollection, the only two plausible connections to PLAINTIFF and Russia and China is the following: to an autistic high schooler, this is all he could fathom or understand at the time. PLAINTIFF volunteered at Cancer Treatment Centers of America (PLAINTIFF'S mom worked there too) and there was a woman named Shirley from Delaware who was undergoing cancer treatment, she was very small, but not a midget, and she had adopted two boys from China. Her 2 sons and ¹⁷³ Strzok, Peter. Compromised. Counterintelligence and the Threat of Donald J. Trump.

Shirley visited PLAINTIFF'S home one day. PLAINTIFF did not interact with them at all besides really the cordial hello. That's it. Nothing else involving the Chinese except for one Chinese student at Sewanee. PLAINTIFF'S father managed an office building in which one of the tenants was truck driving school owned by a Russian or was a Russian-American. PLAINTIFF never meaningfully interacted with the owner of the truck-driving school. PLAINTIFF had no other connections to Russia and China by 2008 that he knew about.

Now think about what PETER STRZOK just said there because PETER STRZOK is a stupid man. ANDREW MCCABE admits himself that Midyear lasted from 2008 through March 2015 (will be talked about later). There would be something PLAINTIFF would say that pissed off PETER STRZOK so badly (i.e. Peachy Miami) that he would justify his decision just based on one statement that made him completely lose all of his objectivity in which resources were directed against PLAINTIFF that should have been directed elsewhere against PLAINTIFF for more than 7 years in which there were actual, legitimate, cases that needed the attention that FBI/ANDREW MCCABE/PETER STRZOK ignored at great peril to this country. Ironically, as PLAINTIFF will say and prove in Peachy Miami, PETER STRZOK'S very own actions made the FBI and America that more vulnerable.

PLAINTIFF is extremely riveted and so happy PETER STRZOK brought up and wrote how Midyear was an administrative issue because of the following. SEWANEE is a private institution that receives federal funds. FBI/ANDREW MCCABE/PETER STRZOK became so intertwined that it necessarily raises a 14th Amendment Due Process issue as stated above as well as every other Constitutional Amendment. SEWANEE has an Honor Code (hereon: HONOR CODE)-- which is a specific administrative issue at SEWANEE--that every student that attends SEWANEE must abide by or be kicked out of school. The basis of MIDYEAR exam was a potential violation of the HONOR CODE. Thereby establishing a nexus to PETER STRZOK, DEFENDANTS, and the HONOR CODE from 2008. DEFENDANTS necessarily and admittedly knew about the HONOR CODE from 2008 and used it in that instance in Sewanee for MID-YEAR in 2008. Since DEFENDANTS have the prerequisite knowledge of the HONOR CODE, DEFENDANTS necessarily must use the HONOR CODE in all other instances at SEWANEE that involve DEFENDANTS and PLAINTIFF. There are no exceptions to this rule. THE HONOR CODE APPLIES AND GOVERNS FROM AUGUST 2007 to MAY 2011. Not only that, but PLAINTIFF is double binding himself by swearing under oath the testimony he is providing is true, and is at the same time, swearing to the truthfulness of the events PLAINTIFF incorporated in this complaint that occurred to the absolute best of his recollection when PLAINTIFF was at SEWANEE in which PLAINTIFF was bound by the HONOR CODE.

28 U.S. Code § 1746 – provides for unsworn declarations under penalty of perjury, which states in pertinent part: “Wherever, under any law of the United States or under any rule, regulation, order, or requirement made pursuant to law, any matter is required or permitted to be supported, evidenced, established, or proved by the sworn declaration, verification, certificate, statement, oath, or affidavit, in writing of the person making the same (other than a deposition, or an oath of office, or an oath required to be taken before a specified official other than a notary public), such matter may, with like force and effect, be supported, evidenced, established, or proved by the unsworn declaration, certificate, verification, or statement, in writing of such person which is subscribed by him, as true under penalty of perjury, and dated, in substantially the following form...” The HONOR CODE meets the stipulations under 28 U.S. Code § 1746.

When a SEWANEE student signs the HONOR CODE, they have the right to ‘honor’ under Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975) and Wisconsin v. Constantineau, 400 U. S. 433 (1971) OR it is a requirement made pursuant to the law of contracts in which Sewanee students sign the HONOR CODE which is a sworn declaration that covers conduct in which Sewanee students say that they must adhere to the following:

- First, that any adequate conception of honor demands that an honorable person shall not lie or cheat or steal.
- Second, that membership in the student body carries with it a peculiar responsibility for the punctilious observance of those standards of conduct which govern an honorable person in every walk of life.

Therefore, under 28 U.S. Code § 1746, the HONOR CODE is an applicable as an unsworn declaration of the truthfulness of everything said and conduct undertaken by penalty of perjury. For this lawsuit, PLAINTIFF is arguing that a violation under the HONOR CODE occurs when it is a significant lie or material omission for it to apply because a significant lie or material omission would not occur under punctilious adherence to the standards of the HONOR CODE; and by lying, the natural probable consequence of such would lead to an obstruction of justice. Now of course every single little white lie here and there happens and that is why the HONOR CODE says punctilious observance instead of absolute observance. Furthermore, an honorable person can be sarcastic as sarcasm is not treated as a material lie for the HONOR CODE. However, when sarcasm is treated as truth, then it becomes a material lie because it excludes the Mens Rea that would obstruct justice. An Honorable individual necessarily considers the Mens Rea of a person at Sewanee; for the failure to include Mens Rea of the speaker would be lying about the individual.

Do you know what PRESIDENT BUSH AND OBAMA, JEH JOHNSON and/or PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER (and their staff) necessarily become under 50 U.S.C. 1802 involving PLAINTIFF at his time in Sewanee and any Sewanee students under the HONOR CODE? They were acting as a complaining witness rather than a lawyer when they executed the certification to the court under penalty of perjury. As 50 U.S.C. 1802 clearly states: (a)(1) Notwithstanding any other law, the President, through the Attorney General, may authorize electronic surveillance without a court order under this subchapter to acquire foreign intelligence information for periods of up to one year if the Attorney General certifies in writing under oath...” They are complaining witnesses to the Court under Kalina. The President and Attorney General (and their staff) would testify that a Sewanee’s student perjured testimony was truth in which they had reason to know it was perjured.

President BUSH and OBAMA, PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER and their respective staff and whoever they may have appointed were performing investigative functions under Title II and under SCOTUS’ ruling in Buckley: “When a prosecutor performs the investigative functions normally performed by a detective or police officer, it is 'neither appropriate nor justifiable that, for the same act, immunity should protect the one and not the other.' Hampton v. Chicago, 484 F.2d 602 (CA7 1973) (internal quotation marks omitted), cert.

denied, 415 U. S. 917 (1974). Thus, if a prosecutor plans and executes a raid on a suspected weapons cache, he 'has no greater claim to complete immunity than activities of police officers allegedly acting under his direction.' 484 F. 2d, at 608-609." Id., at 273-274."

So because a significant lie or material omission under the HONOR CODE that would occur on campus at Sewanee is a form of perjury and a form of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503, PLAINTIFF wants to talk about a major problem of what FBI, CIA, and DOJ got themselves into based on the HONOR CODE. PLAINTIFF calls this the Kalina Problem based on Kalina v. Fletcher, 522 U.S. 118 (1997) (Kalina). As the Court said: "The critical question, however, is whether she was acting as a complaining witness rather than a lawyer when she executed the certification "[u]nder penalty of perjury." Id. PETER STRZOK, ROBERT MUELLER, and ANDREW MCCABE all knew of the HONOR CODE; and therefore, they knew of the consequences of such when they would have a reason to know they knowingly utilized perjured testimony. Then any DOJ attorney that utilized any of PETER STRZOK, ROBERT MUELLER, and/or ANDREW MCCABE'S known perjured testimony than certified that perjured testimony was the truth as a complaining witness. PAUL CLEMENT or ERIC HOLDER (or their respective staff) when they served as a complaining witness under TITLE II to the Court in getting FISA or another court to search PLAINTIFF at Sewanee, they all had reason to know that perjured testimony was utilized. Therefore, PLAINTIFF demands a Franks v Delaware, 438 U.S. 154 (1978) hearing and under 18 U.S.C. § 3504 in regard to every single application made and granted for TITLE II and the FISA Court when PLAINTIFF was at Sewanee because there is enough reason, factual support, and legal analysis to conclude that PAUL CLEMENT, LEON PANETTA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, ERIC HOLDER, ANDREW MCCABE, ROBERT MUELLER, and PETER STRZOK all knowingly used perjured testimony.

As the Court in Kalina said: "However, petitioner was acting as a complaining witness rather than a lawyer when she executed the certification "[u]nder penalty of perjury," and, insofar as she did so, § 1983 may provide a remedy for respondent. Since the Fourth Amendment requirement that arrest warrants be based "upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation" may not be satisfied by the mere filing of an unsworn information signed by the prosecutor... Although the exercise of an advocate's professional judgment informed petitioner's other actions, that judgment could not affect the truth or falsity of the factual statements contained in the certification. Testifying about facts is the function of the witness, not of the lawyer. No matter how brief or succinct it may be, the evidentiary component of an application for an arrest warrant is a distinct and essential predicate for a finding of probable cause. Even when the person who makes the constitutionally required "Oath or affirmation" is a lawyer, the only function that she performs is that of a witness." One of the lies she told the court was that there was someone who had identified the man at issue based on a photo montage when in fact that someone did not identify the man at issue. This is key for later in False Identification.

Under 18 U.S. Code §1623, it is a crime for anyone under oath (or in any declaration, certificate, verification, or statement under penalty of perjury as permitted under section 1746 of title 28 United States Code (as PLAINTIFF proved the HONOR CODE is permitted under that section)) in any proceeding before or ancillary to any court or grand jury of the United States knowingly makes any false material declaration or makes or uses any other information, including any book, paper, document, record, recording, or other material, knowing the same to contain any false material declaration, shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than five years, or both.” So yes, there were criminal legal repercussions for violating the HONOR CODE (but the statute of limitations has run on that). HOWEVER, DOJ and PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER aided and abetted, if not themselves committed, a violation of 18 U.S. Code §1623. A violation of, or aiding and abetting someone who violates, 18 U.S. Code §1623 gives rise to a violation of 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503 because violating 18 U.S. Code §1623 has the natural and probable effect of interfering with the due administration of justice under 18 U.S.C. §1961 section (1503). “By limiting §1503 to acts having the "natural and probable effect" of interfering with the due administration of justice, the Court effectively reads the word "endeavor," which we said in Russell embraced "any effort or essay" to obstruct justice out of the omnibus clause, leaving a prohibition of only actual obstruction and competent attempts...A §1503 violation occurs when "an act is done corruptly if it's done voluntarily and intentionally to bring about either an unlawful result or a lawful result by some unlawful method, with a hope or expectation of either financial gain or other benefit to oneself or a benefit of another person." United States v. Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995). Therefore, every single time a TITLE II warrant was issued or used or a FISA ruling was ruled on is a predicate act of RICO in PLAINTIFF’S complaint because PLAINTIFF alleges that based on the incidents PLAINTIFF described herein, known perjured testimony was used.

Next, the applicability of what the HONOR CODE covers. The applicability of the HONOR CODE is that "It exists in the HUMAN SPIRIT and it lives in the RELATIONS BETWEEN HUMAN BEINGS." This necessarily means that if the HONOR CODE exists within the human spirit, damage to the human spirit is a legally recognizable harm, the HONOR CODE’S applicability is to things that are both metaphysical, physical, spiritual and to the soul (which makes it a religious issue as well), & to relationships between persons on campus, which means that it applies to all relationships, physical, & metaphysical things on the 13,000+ acre campus. For example, if GRIFFIN FRY and WES CRANE or BRITTANY ROSE or TED ROBINSON were actually informants, they would have been under disguise, and PLAINTIFF has reason to believe that DEFENDANTS utilized at least GRIFFIN FRY’S, WES CRANE’S, and BRITTANY ROSE’S perjured testimony and in addition omitted material facts from PLAINTIFF and DEFENDANTS and that would violate the metaphysical and spiritual relationship between HUMAN BEINGS on campus and that would violate the HONOR CODE. PLAINTIFF specifically paid not to have the relationships between human beings on SEWANEE be utilized maliciously or himself be dishonored in relations between people on campus as it would violate PLAINTIFF’S metaphysical sense of well-being, and therefore, the HONOR CODE.

As SCOTUS ruled in Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975): "The Due Process Clause also forbids arbitrary deprivations of liberty. "Where a person's good name, reputation, HONOR, or integrity is at stake because of what the government is doing to him," the minimal requirements of the Clause must be satisfied. Wisconsin v. Constantineau, 400 U. S. 433, 400 U. S. 437 (1971)" Two cases to support PLAINTIFF so a person’s HONOR per SCOTUS is bound by the HONOR CODE at SEWANEE which necessarily and legally means there is a liberty and property interest in HONOR and in the HONOR CODE that is paid in tuition, fees, etc. etc. Importantly, these legal cases of Wisconsin v. Constantineau, 400 U. S. 433 (1971) and Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975) provide the two legal foundations and applicability of damages to the human soul and spirit via the HONOR CODE and the express limits contained therein through the inclusion of “honor,” which is a liberty interest in those cases, and that applies to the HONOR CODE in which PLAINTIFF not only has a liberty interest in the HONOR CODE, but also paid for the tuition in which he knew all the remaining students of SEWANEE would necessarily have to follow the HONOR CODE in their interactions with PLAINTIFF.

Slaughter v. Brigham Young University, 514 F.2d 622 (10th Cir.), cert. denied, 423 U.S. 898 (1975), held that “it is apparent that some elements of the law of contracts are used and should be used in the analysis of the relationship between PLAINTIFF and the University.” The HONOR CODE and a violation of it would necessarily be construed as part of the customary disciplinary practice at SEWANEE¹⁷⁴ in which the Court in Pride v. Howard Univ., 384 A.2d 31 (D.C. 1978), found “the customary disciplinary practices in force at the time of a student's admission to be incorporated into the student-university contract;” and therefore, the HONOR CODE must necessarily be a customary disciplinary practice that was incorporated into the student contract between PLAINTIFF and SEWANEE under prior precedent. By having it be a contract, that means PLAINTIFF paid for the HONOR CODE to apply and govern conduct wherever on SEWANEE. Therefore, PLAINTIFF has a liberty and property interest in the HONOR CODE in which if one violated the Honor Code, then ... A violation of the HONOR CODE would occur under Section 2 which states that a student at SEWANEE has an affirmative duty and responsibility for the “punctilious” adherence to the standards of conduct under Section 1 in which a person shall not lie or cheat or steal. Furthermore, as the HONOR CODE applies to all relationships between SEWANEE Students (and staff), when one SEWANEE student lies about another SEWANEE student, that violates the instigator’s HONOR CODE because by its terms lying about another Sewanee student was not done in a punctilious adherence to the duty to conform themselves in the appropriate manner and it violated the property and liberty interest of the person that was lied about because that SEWANEE student intentionally and deliberately paid not to be lied about by another SEWANEE student. A fraudulent representation (misrepresentation), intentional lie, or omission by a SEWANEE student would constitute an act of lying under the Honor Code in which that student had an affirmative duty in the punctilious adherence of conforming themselves to the HONOR CODE.

Put in another way, Every single one of the students at SEWANEE (a private university) pays tuition so they have a vested property right interest in attending SEWANEE and the previous paragraph applies to them. Their (Sewanee student) property and liberty interest necessarily entails them to specific stipulations per the HONOR CODE. A violation of the HONOR CODE necessarily relinquishes a student’s property or liberty interest (i.e. lying or lack of honor) in attending SEWANEE, which was a violation or breach of the contract. PLAINTIFF is alleging that DEFENDANTS necessarily allowed certain people to lie about PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS allowed those HONOR CODE violators to continue in those aforementioned students’ education in which those students necessarily lost their property and liberty interests in attending the University at the exact moment the HONOR CODE violations occurred. The important thing to note is that the HONOR CODE is the same exact thing as and operates exactly as statements made under oath because there is a legal penalty that is included in lying and violating the HONOR CODE, which operates exactly like swearing testimony under oath because there is a penalty involved in lying under oath. This creates mail and wire fraud, and in furtherance of this fraudulent scheme, DEFENDANTS utilized those HONOR CODE violators' perjured testimony against PLAINTIFF, which violated at least some of the following: 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant). 18 U.S.C. §1951 (Extortion). 18 U.S.C. §1961, 18 U.S.C. §1962 (a), 18 U.S.C. §1962(b), 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), and/or 18 U.S.C. 1962(f); 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1341 (relating to mail fraud) and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (relating to wire fraud).

¹⁷⁴ There is an event every single year in which all Sewanee Students must sign the HONOR CODE. As Sewanee themselves said about the HONOR CODE on their website (last checked 08/28/2023): “For more than a hundred years the Honor System has been one of Sewanee's most cherished institutions.” When something existed for more than 100 years and was a form of a disciplinary and conduct system, it necessarily entails that it was a customary disciplinary practice because customs are traditional and old ways of conducting oneself.

For terms of establishing proximate cause in how violating the HONOR CODE would be a proximate cause of the RICO Enterprise of part of PLAINTIFF'S injury, in Sandwich Chef of Texas, Inc. v. Reliance National Indemnity Insurance Co., 319 F.3d 205 (5th Cir. 2003), the important issue the Court ruled on when it comes to RICO and Mail and Wire Fraud in proving proximate cause by DEFENDANTS that harmed PLAINTIFF was that reliance upon a fraudulent representation or omission by a third person was sufficient if the PLAINTIFF was injured as a result. The Court held "Thus, the PLAINTIFF "could establish proximate cause by demonstrating that the [PLAINTIFFS] were injured by the regulators [DEFENDANTS] reliance on DEFENDANTS' misrepresentations and omissions." So if a third party (i.e. Sewanee Student) lies to a regulator (i.e. government official) about: 1) what PLAINTIFF said or did; 2) omitted key facts to a government official about PLAINTIFF or the interactions between PLAINTIFF and the SEWANEE Student; or 3) fraudulently misrepresented what happened or what was said between a Sewanee student and PLAINTIFF, these would all necessarily be a proximate cause of a violation of PLAINTIFF'S HONOR CODE in which he was denied his property and liberty interests by both the SEWANEE Student and the government official. When the United States official used a Sewanee Student's fraudulent representation or omission (which constituted lying under the HONOR CODE) and presented it as truth, not only was that done on the basis of perjured testimony, it was done in furtherance of a RICO Enterprise because it went to further deprive PLAINTIFF of his liberty and property interests. Furthermore, all DEFENDANTS knew about the HONOR CODE which means that by utilizing a violation of the HONOR CODE, DEFENDANTS knowingly, willingly, and intentionally used perjured testimony whether that was in a warrant, any administrative action, etc. and that was done in furtherance of the RICO Enterprise depriving PLAINTIFF of his liberty and property interests. So by doing this, the government official uses the lies and misrepresentations against a PLAINTIFF for mail and wire fraud purposes in RICO. The proximate cause of the injury is the omission or misrepresentation by a third party that furthered the RICO Enterprise and was a proximate cause of PLAINTIFF'S property and liberty interests. Furthermore, Summit Properties Inc. v. Hoechst Celanese Corp, 214 F.3d 556 (5th Cir. 2000), held that proximate causation could be established where "a plaintiff has either been the target of a fraud or has relied upon the fraudulent conduct of the defendants" which means that for mail and wire fraud purposes in RICO claim, proximate causation can further be established when PLAINTIFF relied upon the fraudulent conduct of the DEFENDANTS or been the target of the fraud by DEFENDANTS

This scheme was done across state lines with multiple defendants across multiple states, which makes it federal in nature. ALL DEFENDANTS necessarily knew about applicability of the HONOR CODE.

SIMPLY, BY VIOLATING PLAINTIFF'S CONTRACT IN WHICH HE PAID FOR THE HONOR CODE TO APPLY ON SEWANEE THEREBY DEPRIVING HIM OF HIS CONSTITUTIONAL AND LIBERTY INTERESTS, DEFENDANTS GAINED MATERIAL BENEFITS IN OBTAINING MORE COUNTERTERRORISM RESOURCES AND MORE COUNTERTERRORISM PRECEDENT. THIS forms part of the basis of 18 U.S.C. 1962(d); 18 U.S.C. 1962(c), 18 U.S.C. 1962 (b), and 18 U.S.C. 1962 (a) via 18 U.S.C. §1951 (Extortion). Furthermore, under,

Sedima, S.P.R.L. v. Imrex Co., 473 U.S. 479 (1985) said: "Mail and Wire Fraud found to have occurred: Courts have sanctioned prosecutions based on deprivations of such intangible rights as a shareholder's right to "material" information, United States v. Siegel, 717 F.2d 9, 14-16 (CA2 1983); a client's right to the "undivided loyalty" of his attorney, United States v. Bronston, 658 F.2d 920, 927 (CA2 1981), cert. denied, 456 U.S. 915 (1982); an employer's right to the honest and faithful service of his employees, United States v. Bohonus, 628 F.2d 1167, 1172 (CA9), cert. denied, 447 U.S. 928 (1980); and a citizen's right to know the nature of agreements entered into by the leaders of political parties, United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108, 123-125 (CA2 1982), cert. denied, 461 U.S. 913 (1983)."

United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108 (2d Cir. 1982) held: "From these cases, a basic principle may be distilled: a public official may be prosecuted under 18 U.S.C. § 1341 when his alleged scheme to defraud has as its sole object the deprivation of intangible and abstract political and civil rights of the general citizenry. The definition of fraud is thus construed broadly to effectuate the statute's fundamental purpose in prohibiting the misuse of the mails to further fraudulent enterprises of all kinds...fraudulent schemes designed to cause losses of an intangible nature clearly come within the terms of the statute." United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108 (2d Cir. 1982). An abstract political and civil right of the general citizenry, which includes PLAINTIFF is the HONOR CODE and the money PLAINTIFF paid for the HONOR CODE to be used and governed amongst all students at Sewanee, faculty, and staff at Sewanee. PLAINTIFF'S use of his money-- that occurred over federal lines in which the FBI is well aware of this—that was bequeathed to him by his grandparents when they gave him money from 5/3 Bank in Illinois and from Serbia (freshman through junior year) and brought those funds into Tennessee makes it interstate commerce. When FBI, CIA, and DOJ knowingly utilized perjured testimony by Sewanee students against PLAINTIFF, they deprived "Because the Amendment now affords protection against the uninvited ear, oral statements, if illegally overheard, and their fruits are also subject to suppression. Silverman v. United States, 365 U. S. 505 (1961); Katz v. United States, 389 U. S. 347 (1967)"

Mitchell v. Forsyth, 472 U.S. 511 (1985) ruled: “We conclude that the Attorney General is not absolutely immune from suit for damages arising out of his allegedly unconstitutional conduct in performing his national security functions.” In this case using the exact phrasing of Mitchell v. Forsyth, 472 U.S. 511 (1985), Because ERIC HOLDER/PAUL CLEMENT/LORETTA LYNCH were not acting in a prosecutorial capacity in this case, the situations in which we have applied a functional approach to absolute immunity questions provide scant support for blanket immunization of their performance of the "national security function.” As the Court observed in Keith, the label of "national security" may cover a multitude of sins: "National security cases often reflect a convergence of First and Fourth Amendment values not present in cases of 'ordinary' crime. Though the investigative duty of the executive may be stronger in such cases, so also is there greater jeopardy to constitutionally protected speech. History abundantly documents the tendency of Government -- however, benevolent and benign its motives -- to view with suspicion those who most fervently dispute its policies. The danger to political dissent is acute where the Government attempts to act under so vague a concept as the power to protect 'domestic security.' Given the difficulty of defining the domestic security interest, the danger of abuse in acting to protect that interest becomes apparent.”

“While we conclude that there are limitations on the application of the mail fraud statute to violations of the intangible right to "good government," we believe that the statute reaches the conduct evidenced by the appellant in this case.” United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108, 120 (2d Cir. 1982) In the private sector, it is now a commonplace that a breach of fiduciary duty in violation of the mail fraud statute may be based on artifices which do not deprive any person of money or other forms of tangible property. See United States v. Barta, supra, 635 F.2d at 1005-06 (deprivation of employer's right to employee's honest and faithful services); United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108, 121 (2d Cir. 1982) “fraudulent schemes designed to cause losses of an intangible nature clearly come within the terms of the statute. See United States v. Bronston, 658 F.2d 920 (2d Cir. 1981)” United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108, 121 (2d Cir. 1982) “A number of courts have approved the prosecution of allegedly corrupt politicians who did not deprive the citizens of anything of readily identifiable economic value. See, e.g., United States v. Mandel, supra; United States v. Keane, 522 F.2d 534 (7th Cir. 1975)” United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108, 121 (2d Cir. 1982)

“A violation of § 1962(c), the section on which Sedima relies, requires (1) conduct (2) of an enterprise (3) through a pattern (4) of racketeering activity. The plaintiff must, of course, allege each of these elements to state a claim...It is this factor of continuity plus relationship which combines to produce a pattern... Any recoverable damages occurring by reason of a violation of § 1962(c) will flow from the commission of the predicate acts...The fact that RICO has been applied in situations not expressly anticipated by Congress does not demonstrate ambiguity. It demonstrates breadth.” Haroco, Inc. v. American National Bank Trust Co. of Chicago, supra, at 398.” Sedima, S.P.R.L. v. Imrex Co., 473 U.S. 479, 499 (1985) “The acts must demonstrate both a continuity and a relationship to constitute a pattern of racketeering activity. However, the proposition that the predicate acts must always occur as part of separate schemes in order to satisfy the continuity aspect of the pattern requirement focuses excessively on continuity, and therefore cannot be accepted as a general rule. Otherwise defendants who commit a large and ongoing scheme, albeit a single scheme, would automatically escape RICO liability for their acts, an untenable result.” Morgan v. Bank of Waukegan, 804 F.2d 970 (7th Cir. 1986).

United States v. Cook, 793 F.2d 734 (5th Cir. 1986) (“[b]oth the fact of conspiracy and a defendant’s participation in it may be proved by circumstantial evidence.” 793 F.2d at 736). “As was the case in United States v. Postal, 589 F.2d 862 (5th Cir.) ... “the mere fact that [defendant] made the statement is relevant to the issues of [his] knowledge of the conspiracy and his participation in it.”...As Professor McCormick explains: “Proof that one talks about a matter demonstrates on its face that he was conscious or aware of it, and his veracity simply does not enter into the situation.” [omitted].” U.S. v. Jones, 839 F.2d 1041 (5th Cir. 1988).

U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994) ruled on the proposition that an act of perjury can be an act of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503 since “The findings (of obstruction of justice) encompass all the elements of perjury — falsity, materiality, and willfulness. The only matter about which the court was not explicit was whether Matiz’s testimony was material. A sentencing court, however, is not required to address each element of perjury in a separate and clear finding. See id. In fact, the Court in Dunnigan affirmed a district court’s finding that did not use the term willful...Dunnigan only requires that a sentencing court’s findings encompass all of the factual predicates for a finding of perjury.” “The Supreme Court has stated that a witness testifying under oath commits perjury if “she gives false testimony concerning a material matter with the willful intent to provide false testimony, rather than as a result of confusion, mistake, or faulty memory.” United States v. Dunnigan, 113 S.Ct. 1111 (1993).” U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994). U.S. v. Ashland Oil Inc., 705 F. Supp. 270 (W.D. Pa. 1989) discussed what constituted materiality: “A concise summary of this materiality requirement is set forth in Justice Stevens’ concurring opinion in Youngblood: Our cases make clear that “[t]he proper standard of materiality must reflect our overriding concern with the justice of the finding of guilt,” and the State’s failure to turn over (or preserve) potentially exculpatory evidence therefore “must be evaluated in the context of the entire record.” United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976) (footnotes omitted); see also California v. Trombetta, 467 U.S. 479 (1984) (duty to preserve evidence “must be limited to evidence that might be expected to play a significant role in the suspect’s defense”).” “By limiting §1503 to acts having the “natural and probable effect” of interfering with the due administration of justice, the Court effectively reads the word “endeavor,” which we said in Russell embraced “any effort or essay” to obstruct justice out of the omnibus clause, leaving a prohibition of only actual obstruction and competent attempts...A §1503 violation occurs when “an act is done corruptly if it’s done voluntarily and intentionally to bring about either an unlawful result or a lawful result by some unlawful method, with a hope or expectation of either financial gain or other benefit to oneself or a benefit of another person.” United States v. Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995).

“A review of the common law of this state shows that discretionary investigative enforcement measures extend beyond a tolerable level when by design the government uses continued pressure, appeals to friendship or sympathy, threats of arrest, an informant’s vulnerability, sexual favors, or procedures which escalate criminal culpability. All of these traditional inducements are absent from the facts of this case. We conclude that the furnishing of contraband by the government is insufficient to induce or instigate the commission of a crime by the average person, similarly situated to these defendants, who is not ready and willing to commit it. We also note that this is not a case where the government's furnishing of narcotics was for the purpose of trying to escalate the criminal culpability of defendants. People v Killian, 117 Mich. App. 220; 323 N.W.2d 660 (1982).” People v. Jamieson, 436 Mich. 61 (Mich. 1990). “The courts of appeals that have considered this sort of claim in similar contexts, however, note that it would succeed only if the government "consciously set out to use sex as a weapon in its investigatory arsenal" or at least "acquiesce[d] in such conduct for its own purposes upon learning that such a relationship existed." United States v. Cuervelo, 949 F.2d 559 (2d Cir. 1991).” United States v. Therrien, 847 F.3d 9, 15 (1st Cir. 2017)

“This Circuit recognized the outrageous conduct defense in United States v. Graves, 556 F.2d 1319 (5th Cir. 1977), supra, in which we wrote: "[A]part from any question of predisposition of a defendant to commit the offense in question, governmental participation may be so outrageous or fundamentally unfair as to deprive the defendant of due process of law or to move the courts in the exercise of their supervisory jurisdiction over the administration of criminal justice to hold that the defendant was "entrapped" as a matter of law." 556 F.2d at 1322 (quoting United States v. Quinn, 543 F.2d 640, 647-48 (8th Cir. 1976)).” United States v. Yater, 756 F.2d 1058 (5th Cir. 1985).

United States v. Ramirez, 765 F.2d 438 (5th Cir. 1985)(First, he must make a prima facie showing that he has been singled out for prosecution although others "similarly situated who have committed the same acts have not been prosecuted."... He then must demonstrate that the government's selective prosecution of him was "actuated by constitutionally impermissible motives ... such as racial discrimination... A showing of discriminatory purpose requires the defendant to demonstrate that the government selected or reaffirmed a particular course of action at least in part "because of" — not merely "in spite of" — its adverse effects on an identifiable group.”

PLAINTIFF alleges that GRIFFIN FRY, WES CRANE, and BRITTANY ROSE from 2007 and 2008 all violated the HONOR CODE and were not subject to any proceedings because they were working for DEFENDANTS, had provided information to DEFENDANTS that was materially false and misleading, were assisting or conspiring with DEFENDANTS, had routinely lied to PLAINTIFF, and other acts that violated the HONOR CODE in which GRIFFIN FRY, WES CRANE, and BRITTANY ROSE violated the terms of their HONOR CODE and Contract with SEWANEE and violated PLAINTIFF’S Contract with SEWANEE and knowing that GRIFFIN FRY, WES CRANE, and BRITTANY ROSE had done this, DEFENDANTS furthered RICO Enterprise 1 when they necessarily knew that GRIFFIN FRY, WES CRANE, and BRITTANY ROSE were subject to HONOR CODE proceedings and would have been expelled if the school had them, which would have been an involuntary dismissal from SEWANEE..and based on DEFENDANTS actions, the 14th Amendment and 5th Amendment applies to PLAINTIFF’S contract and then having a reason to know that the contract was violated by GRIFFIN FRY, WES CRANE, and BRITTANY ROSE in which they lost their property and liberty interests, they should have been expelled and were not in which they enabled fraud to occur based on a contract violation.

For example, as PLAINTIFF will explain later in Peachy Miami, every single time DEFENDANTS used GRIFFIN FRY and her testimony when she knowingly violated the HONOR CODE, that omission would be considered material and perjures the PLAINTIFF, which is lying and shows a lack of honor in violation of the HONOR CODE. So from every single semester from GRIFFIN FRY'S freshman year, she had lost her property interest in graduating and attending SEWANEE. PLAINTIFF is presuming not only did DEFENDANTS facilitate allowing GRIFFIN FRY to get a degree at the cost of $100,000 or so or more, but also paid GRIFFIN FRY for her perjured testimony to obstruct justice as a witness against PLAINTIFF. See some of DEFENDANT'S relevant crimes of: USC §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant). 18 U.S.C. §1951 (Extortion). 18 U.S.C. §1961, 18 U.S.C. §1962 (a), 18 U.S.C. §1962(b), 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), and/or 18 U.S.C. 1962(f); 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1341 (relating to mail fraud) and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (relating to wire fraud).

Furthermore as another example, guns were prohibited on campus. PLAINTIFF knew and understood this important fact. If PLAINTIFF brought a gun on campus, that would have violated the HONOR CODE for acting dishonorably. PLAINTIFF'S mother was a sheriff in which she taught PLAINTIFF that once you point a gun that you know to be a gun at someone that is as good as shooting that individual. If the following is the right recollection and PLAINTIFF can't fully remember how and all the details of this, but the parts he included happened. MICK SHEEDY necessarily violated the HONOR CODE by bringing a gun to campus and tried selling the gun to PLAINTIFF. Knowing one can't violate the HONOR CODE by having a gun on campus and selling and transporting a gun across state lines for purchase when he was completely prohibited from doing so on campus, PLAINTIFF had an objective basis in thinking it MICK SHEEDY's gun and whole scenario was a toy and complete bullshit because it would have violated the HONOR CODE on campus if he had a real gun on campus and was so outlandish in nature to PLAINTIFF'S understanding at the time. So if one is prohibited from bringing a gun on campus and one has an item that bears complete resemblance to it, then the only plausible explanation for having something that looks like a gun is that it is a good toy replica of a gun. Furthermore, if MICK SHEEDY initiates illegal activity in which it would violate the HONOR CODE, then PLAINTIFF has an objective basis in thinking it was sarcastic bullshit and not an actual sale of a real gun & PLAINTIFF played along with it to conform to the idea that it must necessarily follow the HONOR CODE or else PLAINTIFF would lose all of his property and liberty interests and violate the HONOR CODE. PLAINTIFF recalls his parents talking to him about it and having to write a statement about this incident. PLAINTIFF makes this point in the Section Law Enforcement Intervention, but if PLAINTIFF was truly in the Yugoslavian Mafia from at least the 6th Grade, PLAINTIFF would have most definitely owned multiple guns; and seeing how PLAINTIFF was not in the Yugoslavian Mafia as a 6th Grader, he would not need to purchase a gun But PLAINTIFF cannot recall any more details at this time on 08/11/2023. See DEFENDANT'S relevant crimes of at least: 18 U.S.C. §2, USC §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant). 18 U.S.C. §1951 (Extortion). 18 U.S.C. §1961, 18 U.S.C. §1962 (a), 18 U.S.C. §1962(b), 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), and/or 18 U.S.C. 1962(f). In a case in which the court found for the DEFENDANT in OGC, the Court said the following was dispositive: “The record indicates that before [an agent] met [DEFENDANT], the latter had not engaged in any prior criminal conduct and had no record of making or dealing in any firearms — let alone pipe bombs or similar such "destructive-device" firearms.” United States v. Lard, 734 F.2d 1290 (8th Cir. 1984)—same applies here.

So with MICK SHEEDY, 4 years minimum of DEFENDANTS allowing racketeering activity to occur and facilitating it by allowing MICK SHEEDY to Graduate after 4 years in furtherance of the enterprise: A minimum of: $125,000.

Treble Damages. $375,000.

Total Damages: $3,375,000.

Here is another aspect about MID-YEAR that DEFENDANTS sunk themselves into.

Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 explicitly states: “No otherwise qualified individual with a disability in the United States, as defined in section 705 (20) of this title, shall, solely by reason of his or her disability, be excluded from the participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance or under any program or activity conducted by any Executive agency or by the United States Postal Service.” So Any of DEFENDANTS’ activities relating to PLAINTIFF between August 2007 and the end of MAY 2011 means anything they did was necessarily based on prejudice, malice, and an animus for solely referring to PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability by calling MID-YEAR, MID-YEAR which was based on PLAINTIFF’S disability, thereby DEFENDANTS have no plausible objectiveness or impartiality. This malice and prejudice hindered relationships between persons on campus, violated PLAINTIFF’s metaphysical sense of well-being and his soul as PLAINTIFF knows he is more than just his disability and DEFENDANTS couldn’t see him for anything less than that, and it was dishonorable by DEFENDANTS to prejudice PLAINTIFF in that manner. Therefore, it violated the HONOR CODE and therefore deprived PLAINTIFF of his liberty and property interests. Simply, ANDREW MCCABE and FBI/DEFENDANTS subjected PLAINTIFF to discrimination by calling the investigation (an activity conducted by an Executive agency) MIDYEAR that was SOLELY on the basis PLAINTIFF’S writing and communication issues having Autism. That prejudiced PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF’S Constitutional Rights every single step DEFENDANTS undertook thereafter.

Minimum Damage: All 4 years of SEWANEE Tuition (at least $160,000) for PLAINTIFF.

Treble Damage: $480,000

Total Damages: $3,855,000

The Court in Alexander v. Choate, 469 U.S. 287 (1985)(hereon: Choate) said: “Discrimination against the handicapped was perceived by Congress to be most often the product, not of invidious animus, but rather of thoughtlessness and indifference-of benign neglect. Thus, Representative Vanik, introducing the predecessor to §504 in the House, described the treatment of the handicapped as one of the country's “shameful oversights,” which caused the handicapped to live among society “shunted aside, hidden, and ignored.” Similarly, Senator Humphrey, who introduced a companion measure in the Senate, asserted that “we can no longer tolerate the invisibility of the handicapped in America” And Senator Cranston, the Acting Chairman of the Subcommittee that drafted §504, described the Act as a response to “previous societal neglect.” Well Congress knew there would be exceptions as going after a PLAINTIFF on the basis of their writing disability/Autism and naming an investigation on the basis of such thereafter was on the basis of invidious animus. DEFENDANTS actions through the years reflected not only thoughtlessness and indifference of benign neglect of the law, it also reflected one of the worst modern day cases of invidious animus on the basis of disability that the Court has ever seen after Section 504 and the ADA were made into law. If there was ever a set of actions that exemplified the most often product of discrimination SCOTUS discussed in Choate that reflects thoughtlessness and indifference, it would be the Educational Opportunities Section at the Department of Justice between 2009-2012 (which was part of PLAINTIFF discovering RICO ENTERPRISE 2). A reasonable modification would have entailed that DEFENDANTS not name their investigation into PLAINTIFF on the basis of PLAINTIFF’S disability. See: Nathanson v. Med. Coll. of Pennsylvania, 926 F.2d 1368 (3d Cir. 1991) (“In so holding, however, the Alexander Court also made clear two points. First, the Court emphasized that the Rehabilitation Act was directed particularly at unintentional conduct because “[d]iscrimination against the handicapped was perceived by Congress to be most often the product, not of invidious animus, but rather of thoughtlessness and indifference—of benign neglect.” Thus, a plaintiff need not establish that there has been an intent to discriminate in order to prevail under § 504...see also NAACP v. Medical Center, Inc., 657 F.2d 1322, 1331–32 (3d Cir.1981) (noting that § 504 pertains to disparate-impact discrimination, whether or not it is intentional). Second, the Court noted that Southeastern's use of the terms “affirmative action” refers to “those ‘changes,’ ‘adjustments,’ or ‘modifications’ to existing programs that would be ‘substantial’ ... or that would constitute ‘fundamental alteration[s] in the nature of a program’ ... rather than to those changes that would be reasonable accommodations.”)

PLAINTIFF didn’t violate the HONOR CODE when it came to MID-YEAR and say the FBI/DEFENDANTS argue there was a rational basis for naming MIDYEAR on the basis of PLAINTIFF’S disability, The court in Pushkin v. Regents of Univ. of Colorado, 658 F.2d 1372 (10th Cir. 1981), would completely shoot down their argument since: “the rational basis test of equal protection must be applied when considering s 504” because “the rational basis test is not applicable where there is an alleged violation of a statute, s 504, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of handicap. That statute by its very terms does not provide that a recipient of federal financial assistance [or an executive agency] may act in an unreasonable manner to promote legitimate government means, even if discrimination should be the result. Rather, the statute provides that a recipient of federal financial assistance [or an executive agency] may not discriminate on the basis of handicap, regardless of whether there is a rational basis for so discriminating. The inquiry has to be on whether the University [or executive agency] has, in fact, discriminated on the basis of handicap. The mere fact that the University[or an executive agency] acted in a rational manner is no defense to an act of discrimination...The standards for determining the merits of a case under s 504 are contained in the statute.” DEFENDANTS absolutely did not act in a rational manner when it came to PLAINTIFF as this complaint will demonstrate. Period.

Related to this case, but not caused by PLAINTIFF to PLAINTIFF'S current understanding, the Court in Lane v. Peña, 518 U.S. 187 (1996) held Congress has not waived the Government's sovereign immunity against monetary damages awards for § 504(a) violations. So this case was a significant factor in pushing the snowball down the hill creating the avalanche in this complaint. Why would the FBI, CIA, NSA, and DOJ have to ever inform people like ROBERT MUELLER, ANDREW MCCABE, MICHAEL HAYDEN, PETER STRZOK, etc why it is wrong from them to attack disabled individuals on the basis of their disabilities--that most did not have control over since birth--if they're not going to be held accountable in Court and punished in which they would not have to pay nor the federal government would have to pay for the actions of their officers in attacking individuals on the basis of their disability. Sure it may have been illegal, but with no punitive measures for violating the law, they had the free will to do it. Suppose you had a chemical plant that wanted to dump chemical waste in nearby lake and all the government said was that doing so was illegal and that they would not be subject to any punitive financial measures. 100% of the time that lake is going to be polluted. Same thing. So that is a contributing factor in why they retaliated against PLAINTIFF because they were free to do so. See and there is an inference that is true because that's the route and method they took.

The Court in "Withrow v. Larkin, 421 U.S. 35 (1975) said: "Not only is a biased decision maker constitutionally unacceptable but our system of law has always endeavored to prevent even the probability of unfairness." 421 U.S. at 47. But the Court continued: "The contention that the combination of investigative and adjudicative functions necessarily creates an unconstitutional risk of bias in administrative adjudication...must overcome a presumption of honest and integrity in those serving as adjudicators; and it must convince that, under a realistic appraisal of psychological tendencies and human weakness, conferring investigative and adjudicative powers on the same individuals poses such a risk of actual bias or prejudgment that the practice must be forbidden if the guarantee of due process is to be adequately implemented." PLAINTIFF got prejudged by DEFENDANTS (via pre-crime analysis as alluded to earlier) and there was so much actual bias against PLAINTIFF that started from the beginning that it created such an extreme and severe unconstitutional risk of bias that became a reality of bias and hatred and constitutional deprivations because that bias made its way to the FISA court and infected the decisions through RICO Predicate Acts and up the ladders of leadership within the DOJ/FBI/DEFENDANTS in which the leadership of this country acted upon the initial prejudicial bias that caused PLAINTIFF serious and severe harm and rampant constitutional violations.

In, Yamaha Motor Corp v. Riney, 21 F.3d 793 (8th Cir. 1994), the court disqualified an agency decision maker in circumstances in which he had numerous serious sources of bias in which there was significant evidence that his decision-making process was infected by his obvious bias. The Arkansas Motor Vehicle Commission imposed sanctions against Yamaha for allegedly violating a state statute that requires motor vehicle manufacturers to compensate their dealers for warranty work in a particular manner. Commissioner Jones consistently and successfully urged his colleagues to impose severe sanctions against Yamaha and to refuse even to consider Yamaha's claim that the statute did not apply to the conduct at issue. Commissioner Jones is a motorcycle dealer who sells a competing brand and President of the Arkansas Motorcycle Dealer's Association. He also retained and paid his nephew to represent the dealer in the dispute with Yamaha before his own commission.”¹⁷⁵ DEFENDANTS ANDREW MCCABE and PETER STRZOK should have been disqualified from the very beginning and it is clear that their decision making processes was drenched, covered, and smothered in actual bias and prejudice.

Damages were done because of DEFENDANTS malice and prejudice against PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF will incorporate the damage from such in different sections.

This is very important chronologically. Whoopsie occurred before Big Brother Big Sister.

This happened around the very beginning months of PLAINTIFF’S time at SEWANEE. PLAINTIFF came across RACHAEL SANDERS a day or two before the start of PLAINTIFF’S Freshman year at SEWANEE. The first time PLAINTIFF saw her, PLAINTIFF had a Kramer like reaction of shock of how beautiful RACHAEL SANDERS was: brunette, big boobs, and one of the most stunning blue eyes PLAINTIFF ever across at that time. RACHAEL SANDERS was from Wexford, PA; which is right outside Pittsburg, PA. Through getting to know her a little bit, RACHAEL SANDERS had an interest in Russian language and culture (which was awesome to PLAINTIFF as Yugoslavians and Russians are a lot alike), she had a fascination with muscle cars, which PLAINTIFF loved; she enjoyed sarcastic and crude humor, which PLAINTIFF loved; and she was more conservative, which PLAINTIFF liked as PLAINTIFF was always a Libertarian. What seemed irrelevant at the time, but actually had major importance is that sometime after Whoopsie occurred, RACHAEL SANDERS and MAXINE JOHNSON were no longer roommates. PLAINTIFF believes that RACHAEL SANDERS and MAXINE JOHNSON had an argument about PLAINTIFF and whoopsie because MAXINE JOHNSON had lied in the TITLE IX complaint and RACHAEL SANDERS had confirmed PLAINTIFF’S story to be true. MAXINE JOHNSON changed her story multiple times because DEFENDANTS coerced her into making perjured testimony. So after this, RACHAEL SANDERS then becomes roommates with DEFENDANT THAO BUI their Freshman year; and it is around this time of THAO BUI and RACHAEL SANDERS being roommates that the following story happens: in the romantic pursuit of RACHAEL SANDERS, PLAINTIFF decides one day to make it interesting and puts a cryptic message on the whiteboard outside her dorm room door. From this message, PLAINTIFF makes a very sarcastic joke that he is a KGB agent in either a text message or Facebook message to RACHAEL SANDERS. PLAINTIFF at no time in his life ever stepped foot into RUSSIA, did not know meaningfully know any Russians at this point of PLAINTIFF'S life; there were no direct ties connecting PLAINTIFF to RUSSIA in PLAINTIFF'S Freshman year. Period. PLAINTIFF is a sarcastic 18-year-old autistic man with a very sophisticated and deep sense of humor that includes crude humor that is just bullshitting in his romantic pursuits. If there was anything to connect PETER STRZOK to PLAINTIFF to RUSSIA, it would have been that message and how PETER STRZOK was in FBI'S Counterintelligence unit in 2007/2008 and how PETER STRZOK "had been a lead agent in the FBI's "Operation Ghost Stories" against Andrey Bezrukov and Yelena Vavilova, a Russian spy couple who were part of the Illegals Program, a network of Russian sleeper agents who were arrested in 2010."¹⁷⁶ The one bad thing about the US Army (PETER STRZOK served from 1991-1996) is that there are barely anyone who has Autism in the Army; anyone who has a mental or cognitive disability is most likely unqualified and therefore PETER STRZOK would have barely come across people who were dealing with cognitive disabilities and autism.

In PLAINTIFF'S opinion, the following consensual encounter was deliberately misconstrued. PLAINTIFF swears to God on his soul, this is the truth. In PLAINTIFF's freshman year of Sewanee, PLAINTIFF was at a frat party and dancing on the dance floor. This was memorable because as an autistic male, we don't get a lot of female attention (and that's perfectly okay if we don't because we aren't entitled to it anyway) and PLAINTIFF was being grinded on by two women (MAXINE BELL/JOHNSON and JOANIE INGLES) at the same time in which both of them were grinding their butts into my legs, and this was awesome to PLAINTIFF as an 18-year-old autistic male. Drinks are had, and PLAINTIFF decides to go back with MAXINE to her room around 2:30am-ish. MAXINE JOHNSON may have asked PLAINTIFF to pick her up on the way back to the dorm; however, she was on the heavier side and PLAINTIFF did not have the physical strength to pick her up. Little did PLAINTIFF know MAXINE is engaged to a different man at this time and they're still married to this day based on information and belief (PLAINTIFF guesses she never told him about this night whoopsie, I know). So MAXINE and PLAINTIFF arrive in MAXINE'S dorm room and then MAXINE and PLAINTIFF kiss, take off our clothes, PLAINTIFF performs cunnilingus, she climaxes, and then PLAINTIFF calls it a night in which MAXINE got all the love and attention. PLAINTIFF aims to please. PLAINTIFF leaves MAXINE's room and then something happened as PLAINTIFF was leaving. In order to exit out of MAXINE's room in Hunter Dormitory at Sewanee, you had to go through her roommate's bedroom to get to the front door. MAXINE's roommate, RACHAEL SANDERS—who I had been pursuing romantically at the time because she was much much more PLAINTIFF'S type, whoopsie again—was standing in her bedroom and we made eye contact. PLAINTIFF blushed and said good night and PLAINTIFF left. On a subsequent day (either the day after or two days after) and to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, MAXINE gets a hold of PLAINTIFF and requests that PLAINTIFF goes with her to find her leg brace; PLAINTIFF agrees. MAXINE and PLAINTIFF called the SEWANEE's bus service on campus (Bacchus) to see if it was left on any of the buses in which they said no; PLAINTIFF says okay, lets go on campus, look for it; so MAXINE and PLAINTIFF retraced some of our steps from the previous night or few nights in the fraternity that we were dancing in and back to her dorm, and then we start looking for her leg brace around campus. MAXINE and PLAINTIFF couldn't find her leg brace. Then, as the search was winding down or sometime afterwards (it has been 15 years afterall), MAXINE makes the comment either in person or on

Facebook that PLAINTIFF should pay for MAXINE'S leg brace because "PLAINTIFF helped her lose it." PLAINTIFF said something along the lines of "what the hell are you talking about I didn't help you lose it and I'm sorry I can't afford it even though I know it is expensive for you. I wish I could give you the money." PLAINTIFF at no time in his whole entire time spent with MAXINE the night before told her to leave the leg brace behind or hid the leg brace or did anything remotely sinister involving the leg brace. The leg brace only came to PLAINTIFF'S attention after performing cunnilingus on MAXINE in which Maxine cheated on her fiancé. MAXINE and PLAINTIFF then walked back to her dorm and then PLAINTIFF walked back to his dorm; and we didn't have contact after that. PLAINTIFF thinks, if PLAINTIFF recalls correctly, MAXINE filed a TITLE IX complaint against PLAINTIFF in which MAXINE changed her story multiple times at the direction of the University, American INTEL DEFENDANTS, MICHAEL HAYDEN, and/or ROBERT MUELLER; and PLAINTIFF told the truth then as PLAINTIFF is now. What, PLAINTIFF'S is alleging, the See: Screenshot Below of the message between PLAINTIFF and MAXINE JOHNSON/BELL was deliberately misconstrued by DEFENDANTS to further their Enterprise. PLAINTIFF recalls that PLAINTIFF saw MAXINE and RACHAEL SANDERS enter the dining hall at McClurg on campus the next day. PLAINTIFF felt guilty seeing them together so PLAINTIFF apologized and said sorry because PLAINTIFF was hoping that MAXINE would have told RACHAEL that PLAINTIFF felt guilty because PLAINTIFF was romantically inclined towards RACHAEL SANDERS to save any chance of dating RACHAEL in the future to redeem PLAINTIFF. MAXINE said it shouldn't have happened, and PLAINTIFF agreed; however, we fundamentally agreed based on entirely different reasons. PLAINTIFF agreed because he very much would have liked RACHAEL SANDERS to have been his girlfriend at the time and MAXINE agreed because she was not faithful and had cheated on her fiancé and not because the encounter was non-consensual (it was all completely consensual). MAXINE expressed a lot of self-hatred and shame for her infidelity. PLAINTIFF, based on information and belief, has reason to believe DEFENDANTS either made MAXINE write multiple fake stories to their preconformed facts or utilized known perjured testimony that came from MAXINE on this incident in which they had reason to know she was not being truthful. See DEFENDANTS relevant crimes of: 18 U.S.C. §1951 (Extortion). 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant). 18 U.S.C.§ 2.

PLAINTIFF alleges that ROBERT MUELLER, PETER STRZOK, and ANDREW MCCABE in continuing a pattern of obstructing justice unknown FBI and CIA officers against PLAINTIFF knew of the obstruction of justice acts that his staff underneath him did in which MAXINE JOHNSON was forced to change her testimony about the night with PLAINTIFF to conform to a false factual pattern in providing materially misleading and fabricated evidence and did nothing to remedy the issues in which MAXINE JOHNSON perjured herself on her Title IX complaint against PLAINTIFF thereby violating 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1510, 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1511, 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1512, 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1513. 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1341 (relating to mail fraud); 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (relating to wire fraud); 42 U.S.C. 1983.

“The courts of appeals that have considered this sort of claim in similar contexts, however, note that it would succeed only if the government "consciously set out to use sex as a weapon in its investigatory arsenal" or at least "acquiesce[d] in such conduct for its own purposes upon learning that such a relationship existed." United States v. Cuervelo, 949 F.2d 559 (2d Cir. 1991).” United States v. Therrien, 847 F.3d 9, 15 (1st Cir. 2017)

“As an alternative to vacating Matiz's conviction based on the Government's violation of her Due Process rights, Matiz requests that this court use its supervisory power to reverse her conviction. Guided by considerations of justice, federal courts may exercise on a limited basis their supervisory power to "formulate procedural rules not specifically required by the Constitution or the Congress." United States v. Hasting, 461 U.S. 499 (1983). The Supreme Court has recognized only three legitimate purposes for the exercise of a court's supervisory power: "To implement a remedy for violation of recognized rights, to preserve judicial integrity, . . . and finally, as a remedy designed to deter future illegal conduct." Id. (citations omitted).” U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994)

“Although there is no infallible means of divining a defendant's predisposition to commit a crime after the fact, there are several factors recognized as relevant in making this determination. We start with the observation that predisposition is, by definition, "the defendant's state of mind and inclinations before his initial exposure to government agents." United States v. Jannotti, 501 F. Supp. 1182 (E.D.Pa. 1980), rev'd on other grounds, 673 F.2d 578 (3rd Cir.)...This answers defendant's bizarre contention that "the agents literally entrapped him into a state of predisposition." One is either predisposed to commit a crime before coming into contact with the Government or one is not, so the argument that one could be entrapped into having a state of predisposition is meaningless. We now turn our attention to the factors relevant in determining predisposition. Among these are the character or reputation of the defendant, including any prior criminal record; whether the suggestion of the criminal activity was initially made by the Government; whether the defendant was engaged in the criminal activity for profit; whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to commit the offense, overcome only by repeated Government inducement or persuasion; and the nature of the inducement or persuasion supplied by the Government. While none of the factors alone indicates either the presence or absence of predisposition, the most important factor . . . is whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to engage in criminal activity which was overcome by repeated Government inducement...” United States v. Kaminski, 703 F.2d 1004 (7th Cir. 1983)

U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994) ruled on the proposition that an act of perjury can be an act of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1503 since "The findings (of obstruction of justice) encompass all the elements of perjury — falsity, materiality, and willfulness. The only matter about which the court was not explicit was whether Matiz's testimony was material. A sentencing court, however, is not required to address each element of perjury in a separate and clear finding. See id. In fact, the Court in Dunnigan affirmed a district court's finding that did not use the term willful...Dunnigan only requires that a sentencing court's findings encompass all of the factual predicates for a finding of perjury." "The Supreme Court has stated that a witness testifying under oath commits perjury if "she gives false testimony concerning a material matter with the willful intent to provide false testimony, rather than as a result of confusion, mistake, or faulty memory." United States v. Dunnigan, 113 S.Ct. 1111 (1993)." U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994). U.S. v. Ashland Oil Inc., 705 F. Supp. 270 (W.D. Pa. 1989) discussed what constituted materiality: "A concise summary of this materiality requirement is set forth in Justice Stevens' concurring opinion in Youngblood: Our cases make clear that "[t]he proper standard of materiality must reflect our overriding concern with the justice of the finding of guilt," and the State's failure to turn over (or preserve) potentially exculpatory evidence therefore "must be evaluated in the context of the entire record." United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976) (footnotes omitted); see also California v. Trombetta, 467 U.S. 479 (1984) (duty to preserve evidence "must be limited to evidence that might be expected to play a significant role in the suspect's defense")." "By limiting §1503 to acts having the "natural and probable effect" of interfering with the due administration of justice, the Court effectively reads the word "endeavor," which we said in Russell embraced "any effort or essay" to obstruct justice out of the omnibus clause, leaving a prohibition of only actual obstruction and competent attempts...A §1503 violation occurs when "an act is done corruptly if it's done voluntarily and intentionally to bring about either an unlawful result or a lawful result by some unlawful method, with a hope or expectation of either financial gain or other benefit to oneself or a benefit of another person." United States v. Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995).

From DEFENDANTS DOJ themselves: "The right to free expression and law enforcement's desire to control dissent and challenges to authority pose vexing problems for police officials. By combining police sanction concepts, citizen demeanor literature, and case law on civil liability, the author shows how police officers increase liability risks by arresting or otherwise retaliating against vocal critics, uncooperative suspects, and citizens with an attitude problem. After identifying the retaliation standard articulated by the U.S. Supreme Court in Mt. Healthy City School District Board of Education v. Doyle (1977), the author examines lower cases pursuant to Mt. Healthy's three-pronged test: (1) whether plaintiff conduct is protected by the first amendment; (2) whether plaintiff's protected first amendment activity is a substantial or motivating factor in police officer conduct; and (3) whether a police officer would respond the same in the absence of the protected first amendment activity. He concludes that police officers need more training in anger management and interpersonal communication to avoid liability for violating the first amendment right of citizens to verbally confront and challenge the police."¹⁷⁷

Early on in FALL 2007 before Big Brothers Big Sisters happened to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, PLAINTIFF and his friends went to a frat party on campus in which the frat was giving away beer in a keg. PLAINTIFF'S underage friends had acquired beer. Sewanee Police Department officers approached PLAINTIFF and his friends in which they asked friends how old they were. PLAINTIFF protecting his friends from future legal repercussions for an innocuous harm of drinking beer at 18 years old, PLAINTIFF informed friends they didn't have to answer per their 5th Amendment rights. This is when the official beef between Sewanee Police Department and PLAINTIFF starts. Sewanee Police Department Officers remembered this incident, were upset with PLAINTIFF that he told fellow students their rights, TKL retaliated against PLAINTIFF because he knew some of his rights in Big Brothers Big Sisters, and then DEFENDANTS created a retaliatory situation in This Side of the Street because of such. See: Some of DEFENDANTS crimes of: 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant). 18 U.S.C.§ 2. FRESHMAN YEAR SEWANEE. Peasants Revolt Against the King.

FBI: ROBERT MUELLER. CIA: MICHAEL HAYDEN. DOJ Attorney General: MICHAEL MUKASEY. DOJ Solicitor General: Paul Clement. DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta): SALLY YATES.

PLAINTIFF didn't believe as a freshman in college that having alcohol on campus in his room where 85% of the student body is in Greek life was that big of a deal. PLAINTIFF doesn't believe it is wrong for an 18 year old to possess and drink beer—if you can die for the country in the military at 18, you can have a beer at 18. At the time, PLAINTIFF especially didn't think having alcohol in his room would allow people to break into his room and violate his privacy rights—PLAINTIFF'S roommate, TED ROBINSON, felt much the same way, even more so. After an incident with MICK SHEEDY (next door neighbor to PLAINTIFF'S ROOMMATE and PLAINTIFF who had a reason to direct to direct PLAINTIFF and TED that way in which TED and PLAINTIFF told MICK at one point or another that privacy of our room was essential) and having told MICK about my father's opioid issues at the time in which PLAINTIFF would discover PLAINTIFF'S father lying on his stomach completely passed out whenever PLAINTIFF was on home from break (PLAINTIFF'S Father had back problems), MICK

¹⁷⁷ <https://www.ojp.gov/ncjrs/virtual-library/abstracts/police-civil-liability-and-first-amendment-retaliation-against>

SHEEDY told PLAINTIFF that, JOSH KING/Resident Advisor, had gone into TED and PLAINTIFF'S room and searched through the room for alcohol when TED and PLAINTIFF weren't around. This violated PLAINTIFF'S well-being and this especially violated TED'S well-being. TED and PLAINTIFF tracked down JOSH KING who went through our room and TED and PLAINTIFF physically assaulted JOSH KING because JOSH KING did it when TED AND PLAINTIFF were not around. PLAINTIFF in the assault was more the stander-by and had kicked JOSH KING once or twice to go along with TED to show that PLAINTIFF had TED'S back as a roommate and to be friends with TED, the rest of the beating of JOSH KING was done by TED. TED and PLAINTIFF are still somewhat social til this day. No Damages from this incident, but to Josh King, possibly.

FRESHMAN YEAR SEWANEE. Confidential Papers.

FBI: ROBERT MUELLER. CIA: MICHAEL HAYDEN. DOJ Attorney General: MICHAEL MUKASEY. DOJ Solicitor General: Paul Clement. DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta): SALLY YATES.

One time for a psychology class, my fellow classmate LIZA (if PLAINTIFF recalls correctly, if not her freshman year roommate, then) and PLAINTIFF (along with other students) had conducted research that contained confidential information about the personal psychology of students on campus. PLAINTIFF had the confidential information research and PLAINTIFF was supposed to drop off the confidential information by LIZA's room where LIZA or her roommate was supposed to be there waiting for PLAINTIFF to acquire confidential paperwork. LIZA and PLAINTIFF had agreed to meet at a certain time; and being punctual as PLAINTIFF had other things to do that day, PLAINTIFF goes to LIZA'S room at that time. PLAINTIFF knocks on the door; and no one is there. SEWANEE, at that time, had barely cellphone service in which it was all but guaranteed that anyone would not have had cell phone service. Being bound by the HONOR CODE,¹⁷⁸ PLAINTIFF asks himself what is he going to do? PLAINTIFF had things to do, and PLAINTIFF was not going to leave confidential information outside LIZA's door in a publicly accessible place. The door was unlocked. PLAINTIFF decides to walk in her room and drop off the paperwork on her desk; PLAINTIFF puts it on a desk in the room, and PLAINTIFF immediately leaves the room and does nothing else in the room. PRECISELY BECAUSE PLAINTIFF WAS BEING HONEST AND BEING BOUND BY THE HONOR CODE, PLAINTIFF then informed LIZA in a Facebook message what PLAINTIFF had factually done the soonest opportunity PLAINTIFF could have done so. PLAINTIFF specifically mentioned the HONOR CODE issue to LIZA concerning this incident (to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection). LIZA was upset with PLAINTIFF that PLAINTIFF had gone into her room and done so. PLAINTIFF told her she shouldn't have lied to PLAINTIFF; PLAINTIFF also thought as an autistic individual that it was more wrong for PLAINTIFF to leave psychological research about people on campus that was protected info available and open the public when PLAINTIFF conformed himself to the HONOR CODE because it would have been dishonorable for the public at large to know the psychological issues of students at SEWANEE. Irony, upon irony, will come up later during the LSU Law Era.

¹⁷⁸ I will discuss the HONOR CODE more a little bit.

FRESHMAN YEAR SEWANEE: Big Brothers Big Sisters.

FBI: ROBERT MUELLER. CIA: MICHAEL HAYDEN. DOJ Attorney General: MICHAEL MUKASEY. DOJ Solicitor General: Paul Clement. DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta): SALLY YATES.

PLAINTIFF thinks that's the name of the organization on campus at Sewanee. PLAINTIFF was a member of. Students would do activities with the local elementary and middle school in SEWANEE, TENNESSEE. Each male college student that volunteered was also paired with a female college student that volunteered; PLAINTIFF'S partner was JESSE AYERS. Furthermore, JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF were paired with the ALVAREZ kids (a brother (JOSH) and JOSH'S sister whose name PLAINTIFF cannot recall). PLAINTIFF is alleging before the ALVAREZ kids were paired with PLAINTIFF and JESSE AYERS in September 2007, PLAINTIFF is alleging that DEFENDANTS intentionally hacked into SEWANEE'S computer system and made sure that JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF were paired with the ALVAREZ kids for malicious purposes against PLAINTIFF as PLAINTIFF will explain later or DEFENDANTS told, paid, or coerced the Administrator/person in charge of pairing Sewanee students with the local kids that PLAINTIFF was to be paired with the ALVAREZ kids. Mr. ALVAREZ works for NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC (or commonly known as: NAT GEO) PLAINTIFF can't remember all the details on this one, but this is the best PLAINTIFF can recollect something from 15+ years ago. There was an activity that took place during school in which PLAINTIFF believes the ALVAREZ parents were supposed to pick up their kids afterwards. Based on a prior discussion that JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF had with the ALVAREZs in which JESSE and PLAINTIFF met the ALVAREZ parents in person at their home--which was highly encouraged by the organization-- the ALVAREZ'S gave JESSE and PLAINTIFF oral permission to drive their kids from school to their home since PLAINTIFF had a car. It was PLAINTIFF'S belief at the time, and still very much so, that it was the parent's say that rules on what could be done in their childrens' best interest that mattered more than what the school thought. So, PLAINTIFF went along with what the ALVAREZ'S had EXPLICITLY approved of and thought it was honorable to follow the permission of the parents as per the HONOR CODE. Furthermore, PLAINTIFF was never going to drive those kids by himself without there being someone else in the car with PLAINTIFF—PLAINTIFF may be autistic, but PLAINTIFF understands to some degree of what is socially acceptable and not and PLAINTIFF wasn't going to do anything like that. More importantly, PLAINTIFF has tried his best to recollect this fact, but PLAINTIFF doesn't think there was ever a single dispute where PLAINTIFF disobeyed what a parent told PLAINTIFF what they wanted for their kids when they talked to PLAINTIFF directly.

During one of the events, JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF attended an after hours school sanctioned event with the ALVAREZ kids. JESSE AYERS AND PLAINTIFF, to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, either PLAINTIFF and JESSE AYERS did not have the responsibility to watch "TYLER" during the event or something happened in which JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF were supposed to watch TYLER. Parents and the Principal had informed PLAINTIFF and JESSE AYERS that TYLER had only ADHD/ADD and to keep a close eye on him as he liked to escape. This was fine as it entailed that just preventing a kid from escaping once or twice (PLAINTIFF thought). Also, TYLER said the word firetruck a lot; which PLAINTIFF understood and related to as an autistic man. On this particular day, TYLER was an absolutely out-of-control child. PLAINTIFF understated just how extremely out of control TYLER was that day and what happened this doomed PLAINTIFF. Since TYLER was so wickedly out of control, PLAINTIFF watched TYLER while JESSE watched the ALVAREZ kids. Teachers, students, SEWANEE students, and parents at the school had all commented that TYLER was out of control, that TYLER being out of control was in line with past examples, and some of them had talked to PLAINTIFF and JESSE AYERS about TYLER'S dangerousness to fellow students. The PRINCIPAL even knew of episodes of how out of control TYLER could be to other students. Essentially, everyone at the school outside of Sewanee students knew of the issue. This is the first time PLAINTIFF interacted with TYLER. Local parents blamed TYLER'S mother, who was a single mother, and treated her like a pariah in which her parenting skills were supposedly worse than those parents parenting skills (this is a common occurrence across school districts all across the country); and PLAINTIFF did not like that blame at all in regards to TYLER'S mom and had commented to JESSE AYERS about that.

The first moments PLAINTIFF and JESSE AYERS start watching TYLER that day, TYLER tries to escape. This prompted the PRINCIPAL and other teachers to do an immediate IEP behavioral intervention, which is completely reasonable and appropriate, and PLAINTIFF eagerly approves of such actions. However, this day, it added fuel to TYLER'S fire. After this moment on for more than the next 15+ minutes, teachers, the principals, and parents are busy and preoccupied and nowhere to be found. After the IEP behavioral intervention, TYLER does one of the following: TYLER tries escaping again (if you are in the gym, there is an exit by the bottom left-hand corner of the school that connects to the rest of the school and TYLER tried to escape through these doors and/or attempts to slap a classmate. PLAINTIFF pulls TYLER back in the school and prevents the slap if it occurred. The speed in which TYLER would slap one of his classmates were like cobra strikes and PLAINTIFF is not exaggerating of the nature of them—TYLER could be walking normally, appear not to be physically agitated, walk next to a classmate or classmates, and then out of complete nowhere, instantaneously slap whoever was next to TYLER. TYLER is extremely displeased that this new man in TYLER'S life is preventing him from escaping and TYLER makes it known. TYLER takes a few steps in the gym and then slaps another girl and then tries to slap her friend next to her. PLAINTIFF intervenes and stops the last slap from occurring. There are 3 times, if PLAINTIFF recalls correctly, minimum of two for sure, that TYLER slaps or attempts to slap his classmates; and TYLER then makes his way to the top left-hand corner of the gym where there is an exit and TYLER tries to flee again. At this point, JESSE AYERS is watching the ALVAREZ kids and PLAINTIFF is watching TYLER as we had agreed this was the most prudent course of action. So, PLAINTIFF intervenes and prevents TYLER from escaping out of the gym. TYLER is extremely upset at this intervention by PLAINTIFF and now TYLER is in what autistic people know and understand to be in an anger rumination stage; TYLER was most likely autistic as well as having ADHD like PLAINTIFF. Tyler then pushed PLAINTIFF, slapped and hit PLAINTIFF, kicked PLAINTIFF, and spit on PLAINTIFF, and then proceeded to try to slap another girl next to PLAINTIFF. At every single one of these stages, PLAINTIFF tells Tyler it is not okay to slap his classmates or escape. TYLER does not listen to what PLAINTIFF is telling TYLER. PLAINTIFF intervenes yet again after the slap attempt and holds TYLER by the wrists this time as to prevent further physical assault from happening. PLAINTIFF after observing all the harm that TYLER was wrecking upon mostly innocent little girls and some little boys that day, then PLAINTIFF starts to be in his own anger rumination cycle because PLAINTIFF did not like bullies and TYLER is not listening after PLAINTIFF begged, pleaded, and tried talking with TYLER not to do any more harm and gave warnings not to do any more harm. It is beyond clear at this moment that the previous behavior intervention for TYLER didn't work. PLAINTIFF discussed with JESSE AYERS what to do in the situation. JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF then looked for the principal or teachers or parents and they are not there or are occupied. PLAINTIFF then makes a joke about tying TYLER to a chair to a fellow SEWANEE student from BELIZE named DERRY ROBERSON because what DERRY ROBERSON sees is part of the interaction and not the entirety. PLAINTIFF believes that DERRY ROBERSON then started to spread the malicious rumors that PLAINTIFF was abusive towards children in violation of the HONOR CODE amongst the female student body at SEWANEE. PLAINTIFF will explain what happened and how it harmed PLAINTIFF seriously and became extremely prejudiced against PLAINTIFF.

So, PLAINTIFF after the series of events and preventing harm, wants to alleviate stress by making a joke and for PLAINTIFF to jokingly reflect a frustration about a lack of solutions to the problem because the IEP didn't work, holding TYLER'S wrists didn't work, there were no more available peaceful options (except for one that PLAINTIFF and JESSE AYERS tried to do), etc. PLAINTIFF asks JESSE AYERS if we had TYLER's mother's phone number because it was clear TYLER posed that much of a risk to fellow students, it was an immediate emergency, and faculty, teachers, the principal, and parents of the school were not of assistance and were not available to assist. These are extraordinary factual circumstances that day and far exceed what the Court talked about in Ingraham v. Wright, 430 U.S. 651 (1977) because neither teachers, nor parents, nor the principal were available to sanction PLAINTIFF'S conduct. From the time of the IEP intervention, more than 15 minutes passed in which TYLER did not stop. If PLAINTIFF would have let TYLER go and roam free after attempting to escape at least twice and slapping or attempting to slap more than 3 students, PLAINTIFF would have caused the school to be liable to the state created danger claim in which in Tennessee at the time entailed: "(1) an affirmative act by the state which either created or increased the risk that the plaintiff would be exposed to an act of violence by a third party; (2) a special danger to the plaintiff wherein the state's actions placed the plaintiff specifically at risk, as distinguished from a risk that affects the public at large; and (3) the state knew or should have known that its actions specifically endangered the plaintiff." Cartwright v. City of Marine City, 336 F.3d 487 (6th Cir. 2003)." Lopez v. Metropolitan Government, 646 F. Supp. 2d 891, 909 (M.D. Tenn. 2009). "With regard to the affirmative act, where there is "opportunity for reflection and unhurried judgment," plaintiff must show deliberate indifference, meaning that the state actor was "aware of facts from which the inference could be drawn that a substantial risk of serious harm exists, and he must also draw the inference." Arledge v. Franklin County, 509 F.3d 258 (6th Cir. 2007) (citations omitted). In the state-created danger context, the critical issue is whether government officials "did anything 'affirmative' to 'embolden' the person causing harm to another." Brooks v. Knapp, 212 Fed. Appx. 402, 406 (6th Cir. 2008) (citing, Jones v. Reynolds, 438 F.3d 685, 703 (6th Cir. 2006)). Thus, failure to act, as opposed to affirmative conduct, does not cause a "state-created danger" to arise. Id. However, because it may be difficult for a court to distinguish between action and inaction, the Sixth Circuit has refined the test by focusing on "whether [the victim] was safer before the state action than he was after it." Cartwright, 336 F.3d at 493. If a plaintiff cannot identify conduct by the state actor which either created or increased the risk of harm to which plaintiff was exposed, then the conduct is said to "fall[] on the inaction side of the line." Koulta v. Merciez, 477 F.3d 442, 446 (6th Cir. 2007) (collecting cases). Likewise, if a victim is not identifiable at the time of the state action or inaction, a claim under the state-created danger exception will not apply. Id. at 447.” Lopez v. Metropolitan Government, 646 F. Supp. 2d 891 (M.D. Tenn. 2009).

There were NO TEACHERS OR PRINCIPAL ANYWHERE IN SIGHT AND IN THE GYM to take Tyler too in the course of 15 minutes back in 2007 so caselaw should reflect that time era. If PLAINTIFF would have said, okay TYLER, go do your thing and let TYLER go, TYLER would have run out and continued to slap his classmates. Guaranteed beyond any reasonable doubt. PLAINTIFF was not going to call the cops and then have the cops commit far more harm to TYLER because PLAINTIFF guarantees you that TYLER would have been still angrily ruminating in which he would have struck a cop. Guaranteed. PLAINTIFF did TYLER a favor by not calling the cops. Sadly, an applicable defense is one in which “Plaintiffs must show Defendants had knowledge of the alleged abuse and were deliberately indifferent to it. Evidence that Defendants had knowledge of J.J.'s behavioral history would be relevant to showing that Defendants had ignored the elevated risk posed by J.J.'s conduct.” C.R. v. Novi Cmty. Sch. Dist., Case No. 14-14531, 5 (E.D. Mich. Jan. 12, 2016). There were far more examples of worse behavior by different teachers and even special education teachers and assistants that did far worse than PLAINTIFF ever did with TYLER. Furthermore, when 10th Circuit decided Garcia by Garcia v. Miera, 817 F.2d 650 (10th Cir. 1987) in which “Miera (the principal) responded by calling defendant J.D. Sanchez, a teacher at the school, for assistance. Sanchez held Garcia upside down by her ankles while Miera struck Garcia with a wooden paddle. Id. at 105. The paddle “was split right down the middle, so it was two pieces, and when it hit, it clapped [and] grabbed.” Id. at 165. Miera hit Garcia five times on the front of the leg between the knee and the waist. Id. at 277-78. After the beating, Garcia's teacher, Ruth Dominez, “noticed blood coming through [Garcia's] clothes,” id. at 106, and, on taking Garcia to the restroom, was shocked to see a “welt” on Garcia's leg. Id. at 268. The beating made a two-inch cut on her leg, id. at 176, that left a permanent scar.” Garcia by Garcia v. Miera, 817 F.2d 650 (10th Cir. 1987). TYLER had no cuts nor did PLAINTIFF hang TYLER upside down by his feet. Simply, if anything, it was unwise excess of zeal by PLAINTIFF to prevent future harm to TYLER’S students in the gym that day. Holloman V. Unified School District 259, Case No. 05-1180 JTM (D.Kan. June 15th, 2006) (holding: that a single slap from a teacher that left no scars and required no medical attention does not amount to a substantive due process claim, noting that slap appeared to be an unwise level of force that was inappropriate and regrettable.” Williams v. Berney, 519 F. 3d 1216 (10th Cir. 2008)(holding that a business-license inspector who without provocation pushed, shoved, and repeatedly struck the owner of a doggie day care for not photocopying something fast enough did not shock the conscience. Thomas v. Board of Educ. of West Greene School, 467 F. Supp 2d 483 (W.D. Pa. 2006)(Finding that claims of minor bruising and tenderness very clearly do not rise to the level of serious injury) Peterson v. Baker, 504 F.3d 1331 (11th Cir. 2007) (squeezing student’s neck after the student pushed the teacher did not shock the conscience).

On one hand, you had parents at the school talked sh about TYLER and TYLER’S mom but refused to be part of the solution and try to help because standing on the side and talking sh is far easier than doing anything at all, and PARENTS always need a blacksheep of “bad” parents at the school. PLAINTIFF, to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection that day, knew that JESSE AYERS had to ask multiple parents for TYLER’S mom’s number, and it was only after she managed to find a parent on the third or fourth try in which JESSE AYERS was successful. Not a lot of parents wanted to be associated with TYLER and TYLER'S mom and therefore didn't have her number. PLAINTIFF, to the best of his recollection, and JESSE AYERS obtained TYLER'S mom's number. If PLAINTIFF and JESSE AYERS had the number, then either JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF attempted to call TYLER'S mother and phone records with DEFENDANT AT&T or VERIZON would prove such. Even if we erroneously grant the assumption DEFENDANTS could have used §215 of the USA PATRIOT ACT during PLAINTIFF'S Freshman year at SEWANEE, DEFENDANTS would have acquired PLAINTIFF'S call logs or JESSE AYERS' call logs via PLAINTIFF'S cellphone number that has not changed in the last 15+ years and prove these facts to be true. The problem at the time in Sewanee is that there was barely any cell phone reception and service on campus. Ask any SEWANEE staff who have been around from 2007/2008 and they can all confirm that to be true. JESSE and PLAINTIFF attempted to call, but then TYLER's mother did not answer the phone. After these futile attempts, TYLER then attempts to slap another child and PLAINTIFF doesn't remember what occurred between then and when JESSE and PLAINTIFF took ALVAREZ children home that day. Telling TYLER in that Karen-esque tone of "stop doing that" was never going to be effective in addressing TYLER'S behavior that day or at any time in the encounter. IEP's were not going to be effective that day. PLAINTIFF couldn't take TYLER off somewhere to the side and put him in timeout in a gym because PLAINTIFF had to watch TYLER and the ALVAREZ kids along with JESSE AYERS and then that would have denied the ALVAREZ kids the benefits. PLAINTIFF also talked to LUKE ARMISTEAD in which LUKE ARMISTEAD saw a lot more of the whole TYLER incident and he agreed with PLAINTIFF as to the nature of the harm that TYLER was inflicting.

Even if PLAINTIFF at one time said or texted that he may have punched or kicked Tyler because PLAINTIFF was upset or PLAINTIFF said Tyler deserved it, PLAINTIFF did so jokingly or did so in response to Tyler throwing multiple punches, kicks and spitting on PLAINTIFF in which two autistic individuals were stuck in an anger rumination cycle and PLAINTIFF was trying to stop further harm and chaos from occurring. Even assuming if PLAINTIFF did, and to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, PLAINTIFF did not, as the court in Hudson v. McMillian, 503 U.S. 1 (1992) said that quoted: "that is not to say that every malevolent touch by a prison guard gives rise to a federal cause of action. See: Johnson v. Glick, 481 F. 2d, at 1033 ("Not every push or shove, even if it may later seem unnecessary in the peace of a judge's chambers, violates a prisoner's constitutional rights"). The Eighth Amendment's prohibition of "cruel and unusual" punishments necessarily excludes from constitutional recognition de minimis uses of physical force, provided that the use of force is not of a sort "repugnant to the conscience of mankind." PLAINTIFF'S actions regarding TYLER were Constitutional per: Ingraham v. Wright, 430 U.S. 651 (1977), primarily because no parents provided major assistance (besides providing a phone number), teachers were unavailable to help, the Principal was preoccupied, numerous SEWANEE students witnesses the destructive acts of TYLER and did nothing to help PLAINTIFF and JESSE AYERS, and TYLER kept presenting an imminent harm to numerous children even after numerous interventions and IEP behavioral interventions. PLAINTIFF also tweeted an explanation about this incident exploring the autistic related issues and anger rumination to DEFENDANTS.

Then another problem happened in which a future TITLE VI necessarily derives from and is started here. The event ended at the school. Just as a FYI, SEWANEE at this time did not have good cell phone service so actually getting a hold of someone and maintaining a call on a cell phone was rare. So back at the school, parents, students, and faculty all left the gym in which JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF and the ALVAREZ kids were one of the only remaining individuals in the gym after 20 or so minutes after the event ended. PLAINTIFF and JESSE AYERS just can't tell the kids, "well, this was fun, see you later" and leave them with no one in the gym. You know this is so sad to say, but if PLAINTIFF would have abandoned the ALVAREZ kids that day at the gym, PLAINTIFF would have been far better off in life. So, JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF either called the ALVAREZs once or repeatedly to see where the ALVAREZ parents were and when they were going to pick up their kids. DEFENDANT AT&T or VERIZON would have records proving this to be true as well as via §215. The ALVAREZ parents did not show up and JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF had absolutely no reasonable way to know when they were going to get there. JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF had permission from the ALVAREZ parents to drive their kids home and so JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF left the gym and walked to PLAINTIFF's AUDI A4. The PRINCIPAL then runs up to us and asks where we are going. PLAINTIFF informs PRINCIPAL that JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF are taking the ALVAREZ kids home. PLAINTIFF is acting in accordance to the HONOR CODE. PRINCIPAL says No. PLAINTIFF says YES and that we can because we have ALVAREZ's parents' permission. So, the PRINCIPAL has a clipboard and a piece of paper on it. PRINCIPAL scribbles PLAINTIFF'S license plate number (it was either Illinois plate: 7176190 or Miks A 4); but PLAINTIFF starts to leave and sees that the Principal omits to write PLAINTIFF told PRINCIPAL that JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF had ALVAREZ's permission to do so. JESSE AYERS, PLAINTIFF, and ALVAREZ kids continue walking to PLAINTIFF'S car and get into the car. PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS/SEWANEE PD and Principal allege at one time or another that PLAINTIFF'S car in-and-of-itself is completely suspicious and this is what violates Title VI because it will be referenced by law enforcement at another time. JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF drive ALVAREZ children straight home from the school with no detours. PLAINTIFF and JESSE AYERS stops in front of the ALVAREZ parents home and the ALVAREZ kids get out of the car. JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF then ensures ALVAREZ children safely enter their home (ALVAREZ parents were not home). PLAINTIFF then calls ALVAREZ parents for a minimum of a third time informing ALVAREZ parents that their children are home safe in which either PLAINTIFF or JESSE AYERS LEAVES A VOICEMAIL with the ALVAREZs let them know their kids are at home safe. IF PLAINTIFF recalls correctly, either after dropping ALVAREZ children at home or on the way in taking the kids home (which was less than a five minute drive), JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF is followed by SEWANEE PD, who turn around when they see PLAINTIFF'S car. PLAINTIFF makes an "Itan" joke about police following JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF when PLAINTIFF at the time believed he committed no legal wrong and had conformed himself to the HONOR CODE. That was the one and only time PLAINTIFF drove the ALVAREZ kids home.

Now what happened with this event is that the totality of the facts was omitted or deliberately phrased to be intentionally misleading where PLAINTIFF would eventually be falsely accused of kidnapping children and trafficking children. PLAINTIFF is alleging that American Intel, British Intel, German Intel, Japanese Intel, Indian Intel, did just that in this scenario. See: some of the relevant DEFENDANT crimes: 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1503

(relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant). 18 U.S.C. § 2, 18 U.S.C. §1961, 18 U.S.C. §1962 (a), 18 U.S.C. §1962(b), 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), and/or 18 U.S.C. 1962(f)

One time (either at that event or most likely, a different Big Brothers Big Sisters Event that occurred prior to or after the TYLER incident), JOSH ALVAREZ was having a panic attack in the gym. This was in full sight of everyone in the gym in which there were more than 50 people at the gym and numerous people standing next to PLAINTIFF, JESSE AYERS, and the ALVAREZ kids. This necessarily brings up how PLAINTIFF would run to the gym to provide solace to himself when he was in special education and instinctually knew (as it had been hard wired in PLAINTIFF at this point from numerous experiences of finding solace himself in the gym as an autistic youth) when it became “too much”, PLAINTIFF had an obligation to provide solace to JOSH ALVAREZ who was having an emotional crisis in a gym. Knowing how to manage anxiety as an autistic man when situations become “too much,” the principals of something like a weighted blankets in restriction can be, paradoxically, oddly comforting and distracting a person’s mind from the trigger of the source causing the anxiety/panic attack by counting numbers has been psychologically proven to reduce anxiety in individuals from at least 1993¹⁷⁹ and 2021¹⁸⁰ (as well as reduce anger). So, JOSH ALVAREZ is having a panic attack in the gym, and instead of seeing JOSH ALVAREZ, a child, hurt or suffer because PLAINTIFF can’t stand to see the sight of a kid suffering, PLAINTIFF holds JOSH ALVAREZ tight, but not too tight, and has JOSH ALVAREZ listen to PLAINTIFF’S heart to distract him from the source of anxiety and stop having a panic attack by making him count the beats of PLAINTIFF’S heart. After about 30 seconds or so, JOSH ALVAREZ stops having a panic attack. Great success PLAINTIFF thought! So, PLAINTIFF gives JOSH a pec on the top of his head to show comedic exuberance of a job well done overcoming a panic attack in addition to PLAINTIFF having physically manifested an expression of comedic exuberance on his face, flailed his arms, as well as saying other words of affirmation, exuberance, and support to both JESSE AYERS and JOSH ALVAREZ. Like PLAINTIFF would have told you then and now, if it was just PLAINTIFF and JOSH alone in the school (PLAINTIFF should have been immediately arrested right then and there if that was the case)—but those were not the material facts and context that this incident occurred. BUT given PLAINTIFF’S history involving “too much” and how PLAINTIFF did it in public in a gym full of people where all what PLAINTIFF at the end of the day did was hug a child who was having an emotional crisis at that time, there must have necessarily been numerous witnesses to JOSH ALVAREZ having a panic attack at the time and had seen PLAINTIFF’S exuberant and comedic expression and his arms that were flailing around happily. Those key material facts were intentional and deliberate omissions by DEFENDANTS (PLAINTIFF is alleging). PLAINTIFF thinks that’s it and that can’t be maliciously misconstrued; but DEFENDANTS did in fact maliciously misconstrue it all. DEFENDANTS falsely labeled PLAINTIFF as a pedophile because PLAINTIFF stopped a kid from having a panic attack based on psychological research and had hugged a child who was experiencing an emotional crisis. This will come up two years later: See: DEFENDANTS HILLARY CLINTON and HUMA ABEDIN’S email on 10/24/2010: “Tonite: - the natgeo people will present you with

Then in one of the other events with the organization or the same day in Big Brother Big Sister, TAYLOR (not TYLER from above) (TAYLOR’s name may actually be Tyler as well but PLAINTIFF is using TAYLOR to distinguish between the two tylers) was a student of the elementary school who demanded that PLAINTIFF give him a piggy back ride. So, PLAINTIFF places TAYLOR on his shoulders and gives him a piggyback ride for like more than 5 minutes (he was up there for a while). PLAINTIFF and TAYLOR start to walk around the room. Since TAYLOR was up there for a while and didn’t want to come down because he was having fun up there (since PLAINTIFF was one of the tallest men in the room where TAYLOR could oversee everyone), PLAINTIFF had been talking to other SEWANEE students and JESSE AYERS the entire time that PLAINTIFF was giving TAYLOR a piggyback ride. Witnesses to the event would have necessarily seen PLAINTIFF giving Taylor a piggyback ride and walking around the room. PLAINTIFF stops giving TAYLOR a piggyback ride as he is talking to another student. TAYLOR starts to rock side to side to get PLAINTIFF to keeping moving so PLAINTIFF could keep going around the room. In the course of rocking side to side, TAYLOR then starts to slide down PLAINTIFF’S shoulder where he is no longer safe. Now PLAINTIFF was in special ed, and you know PLAINTIFF knows being dropped on my head a few times hurts! So making sure TAYLOR didn’t fall and hurt himself as TAYLOR was 6 feet off the ground while PLAINTIFF was having a conversation as not to end the conversation, PLAINTIFF, instinctively, raises his arm UP and straight out in front of him as to prevent TAYLOR from sliding any further; and then PLAINTIFF curled the front part of PLAINTIFF’S arm holding on to the middle of TAYLOR’s stomach (core) as TAYLOR rode PLAINTIFF’s arm like a saddle with TAYLOR’S legs hanging out of each side of PLAINTIFF’s arms. That was the safest way to actually stop TAYLOR from hurting himself because if PLAINTIFF would have used his opposite arm, it would have accelerated the slide further because his arm that TAYLOR was on would have dropped even lower to compensate for PLAINTIFF moving his other arm to grab TAYLOR. PLAINTIFF, during the conversation he was having, was obviously distracted (happens with ADD) in the conversation he was having with someone in which it could not have been more than 5 minutes and held TAYLOR there. TAYLOR was laughing and giggling and having a good time in which TAYLOR had shouted yeehaw while TAYLOR was up there because he kept doing that when PLAINTIFF walked around the gymnasium. PLAINTIFF subsequently put TAYLOR down on the ground. Then as soon as PLAINTIFF did that, PLAINTIFF looked up to two SEWANEE female freshman (to the best of his recollection) to see ELEANOR CLAIBORNE and CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN¹⁸² standing along the wall, (or different

¹⁸¹ <https://wikileaks.org/clinton-emails/emailid/30647>

¹⁸² Side note: In light of what happened in Miki’s Tea Party, the following is very well possible: CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN (who was always cold towards PLAINTIFF) is an Indian who regularly communicates with family, some of whom live back in India. Having the tools given to them by American Intel in Miki’s Tea Party, Indian Intel could search the entirety of CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN’S phone records specifically looking for Sewanee Freshman females like CHARLOTTE MYERS, JENNY ROBB KING, DERRY ROBERSON, or SARA HILDEBRAND) in PLAINTIFF'S vicinity in which one of them (ELEANOR CLAIBORNE & CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN or another female Sewanee Student like MAUREEN RUSSELL, SARA HILDEBRAND, DAISEY BLOM, JENNY ROBB KING) whispered to the other that PLAINTIFF was a pedophile (for having TAYLOR sit on PLAINTIFF'S arm that way) or falsely made the accusation. PLAINTIFF is making his best guess on who most likely made the false accusation. What PLAINTIFF knows for certain is the results of a female Sewanee freshman student having made that false accusation. PLAINTIFF is not a pedophile. PLAINTIFF absolutely does not derive any sexual gratification or any pleasure from hugging and other physical acts from kids. This is exactly when all of the shit at Sewanee started. This is a complete HONOR CODE violation. MAUREEN RUSSELL, ELEANOR CLAIBORNE, CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN, SARA HILDEBRAND, DAISEY BLOM, JENNY ROBB KING, or another Sewanee female student had no legitimate basis in making that false accusation—it was neither a mistake nor were they confused. It was not in punctilious adherence to the HONOR CODE; and their perjury was material, false, and willful because they did nothing to correct it nor apologize to PLAINTIFF. When ELEANOR CLAIBORNE, MAUREEN RUSSELL, CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN, DAISEY BLOM, JENNY ROBB KING, or another female Sewanee student violated the HONOR CODE by making that type of false and malicious accusation against PLAINTIFF based on the nature of it, the natural and probable effect and consequence of their false accusation--in a student body and town that is bound by the HONOR CODE in which there is an automatic presumption of the truthfulness—is an incendiary bomb to PLAINTIFF forever burning PLAINTIFF. Side note: PLAINTIFF alleges that SARA DUFFUS talked to DOJ/FBI in San Francisco around the beginning of June 2015 in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1962(d).

Let PLAINTIFF explain a psychological phenomenon that happened involving PLAINTIFF, Big Brothers and Big Sisters, and MAUREEN RUSSELL, ELEANOR CLAIBORNE, CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN, SARA HILDEBRAND, DAISEY BLOM, JENNY ROBB KING, or another female Sewanee student that PLAINTIFF believes and argues to be true, in a small town in the south, and why PLAINTIFF got necessarily screwed based on his gender; and this is a TITLE IX claim. First and most importantly, the fact that every student was bound by the HONOR CODE in which he/she would give perjured testimony if he/she lied and would no longer be able to attend the University means that it is a legal guarantee to the truthfulness of their statement. To refute a legal guarantee of the truthfulness is tantamount to prosecuting someone for perjury. Now with a defacto guarantee of truthfulness, it makes everyone in Sewanee automatically believe the truthfulness of their statements. Now, if you add the factor that with the inherent trust given by the community that was bound by the HONOR CODE for a century, the community will automatically presume that the person making that type of malicious (and false) accusation did so through punctilious and rigorous observation and having an objective reason and basis for making that type of accusation beyond a reasonable doubt. That is why it would be so hard for anyone in the community at Sewanee to have doubt after hearing that false accusation. Second, there is a manifest bias against men if they play with kids; men are automatically viewed as suspicious for playing with kids. Third, so PLAINTIFF is any references to PLAINTIFF that could be used against PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF alleges that either American Intel did that and/or Indian Intel did just that around the same time of when Miki's Tea Party was happening.

bucking TAYLOR around when PLAINTIFF is giving TAYLOR a piggyback ride for more than 5+ minutes in which PLAINTIFF goes walking around the auditorium. PLAINTIFF is necessarily out of MAUREEN RUSSELL, ELEANOR CLAIBORNE, CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN, or another female Sewanee student's vision when PLAINTIFF is walking around the room giving TAYLOR a piggyback ride—they are not watching PLAINTIFF the entire time. So then PLAINTIFF walks to the vicinity of ELEANOR CLAIBORNE and CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN with TAYLOR still on PLAINTIFF'S shoulders. So it must be one of the following in which-- either way--results in an HONOR CODE violation: 1) MAUREEN RUSSELL, ELEANOR CLAIBORNE, SARA (HILDEBRAND) DUFFUS, JENNY ROBB KING, and/or CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN were so distracted with their own conversation that they did not see TAYLOR start to rock back and forth and start to fall off/slide down PLAINTIFF'S shoulder and PLAINTIFF preventing him from falling in which they only saw PLAINTIFF holding TAYLOR by his core in which PLAINTIFF was talking to someone else or 2) MAUREEN RUSSELL, SARA (HILDEBRAND) DUFFUS, ELEANOR CLAIBORNE, JENNY ROBB KING, and/or CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN saw TAYLOR rock back and forth on PLAINTIFF'S shoulders and start to fall off/slip down PLAINTIFF'S shoulders--in which most women seeing a child start to fall would absolutely never turn away when that was happening—and then saw PLAINTIFF stop TAYLOR from harm and then saw PLAINTIFF got distracted while talking to someone. If it is 1), making that type of false accusation based on those facts is not punctilious adherence and has no objective basis or 2) making that type of false accusation is a complete lie because they knew the truth and intentionally disregarded it.

Whether it is for TYLER or TAYLOR, then the following: so in Big Brothers and Big Sisters, for 15+ minutes, PLAINTIFF is trying to prevent harm from befalling upon TYLER'S classmates and prevent harm to TYLER by preventing TYLER from escaping with no principal or teacher around to help in a gymnasium full of Sewanee students and loud ruckus. Necessarily in both the TAYLOR and TYLER incident, PLAINTIFF is mobile and is walking all around the gym, PLAINTIFF ONLY appears in the field of vision of Sewanee students for bits and pieces of a time. What those Sewanee students never saw was the totality of circumstances nor did those Sewanee students ever care to know the totality of the circumstances because it was against their social interest in Sewanee after the false accusations are made. The TAYLOR and TYLER incidents took place where friendships at Sewanee are starting to being formed on campus. What happens in that dynamic is that in-group confirmation bias starts to form and build up because bonds are created when a group determines who the black sheep of the Class of 2011 is going to be at Sewanee. Say DERRY ROBERSON tells Student A that "PLAINTIFF held TYLER by the wrists" and that was PLAINTIFF abusing TYLER—DERRY did not say nor see how much of a threat TYLER had posed to children at the time and that fact gets ignored. Student A tells Student B the same thing. Student C when talking to Student B on a different day talks about how Student C observed "TYLER was running away from PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF physically prevented TYLER from going anywhere" and then Student B tells Student C what Student A said, Student E tells Student D what Student A said and then Student C talks to Student D and falsely confirms such, DERRY ROBERSON talks to Student C to falsely confirm her suspicions, and this is how a form of in-group confirmation bias starts to develop against a single individual. Through this pattern of confirmation-bias amongst all the students at SEWANEE that are bound by the HONOR CODE, it forms bonds between in-group members and verifies the false impression about PLAINTIFF that is determined to be the black sheep of Sewanee like the way Tyler's mother was treated. JESSE AYERS, for her social inclusion, may one day become privy to a conversation one day in which Student C and Student D (who are both female) falsely accuse PLAINTIFF of being a child-abuser (because it makes for good gossip) and that provides a reason for JESSE AYERS not to say anything demonstrating the truth of the entire situation because JESSE AYERS can't go against what the SEWANEE women's false impressions are about PLAINTIFF that were falsely confirmed through confirmation bias in which she risks becoming isolated from Sewanee women unless she becomes ostracized as well. Sewanee bros go along with whatever the SEWANEE females say because they're trying to form friendships and hookup with the same women. PLAINTIFF got burnt and that ought to have been all there is too it. But the way it was formed created a manifest prejudice against PLAINTIFF. Now if there are select pieces here and there that falsely conform to the allegation that PLAINTIFF is abusive towards children, it can work in any other circumstance as well. Say MAUREEN RUSSELL, SARA (HILDEBRAND) DUFFUS, CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN, or ELEANOR CLAIBORNE continue to make the false accusation about PLAINTIFF being a pedophile to Student C and then Student C tells how Student C observed how "TYLER was running away from PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF physically prevented TYLER from going anywhere," using the same way the false child-abuser accusations are made about PLAINTIFF, this just falsely confirmed their false allegations in Student C's and CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN's mind. It spreads the same way as the false child-abusers accusations go. This phenomenon is also at play and operates the same way within the FBI, CIA, NSA, American Intel, British Intel, etc. So, PLAINTIFF not only gets burned in Sewanee, but he also gets burned by James Comey, Andrew McCabe, Jeh Johnson, et. al. Exculpatory evidence is completely omitted because it doesn't confirm to their false beliefs.

Suppose even if PLAINTIFF reported MAUREEN RUSSELL, ELEANOR CLAIBORNE, SARA (HILDEBRAND) DUFFUS, JENNY ROBB KING, or CHETNA CHANDRASEKARAN (or other student) for their comments to the HONOR CODE disciplinary committee about the malicious and false accusation that PLAINTIFF was a pedophile because of TAYLOR incident. Suppose PLAINTIFF proved his case beyond a reasonable doubt to the HONOR CODE committee. How was PLAINTIFF supposed to overcome what everyone in the community at SEWANEE falsely believed to be "legally true" based on a false accusation that was in actual legal fact to be legally false? The natural and probable consequence of that type of false accusation in the community is that PLAINTIFF would be burned the entire time he was in Sewanee and was a leper (so to speak) in the community. MICHAEL HAYDEN, ANDREW MCCABE, ROBERT MUELLER, PETER STRZOK, CIA, NSA, and FBI etc. then necessarily relied on the good faith the community had established through a century of trust to suit their own malicious purposes in which they believed the false accusation because it suited their malicious purposes.

It may have been MAUREEN RUSSELL, JENNY ROBB KING, and SARA (HILDEBRAND) DUFFUS that made the false accusation against PLAINTIFF and here is why. GEORGE BUSH on December 9th, 2008. Executive Order 13481—Providing an Order of Succession Within the Department of Justice. So after using coerced confession by JOE BELLO, DOJ found themselves in a bind. What to do? Big Brother Big Sister presented an opportunity to absolve themselves of having used a coerced confession. So the Executive Order is about

Attorney General succession in which DOJ leadership would not be able to continue their leadership positions; a person in DOJ leadership would not be able to continue if they willingly and knowingly used perjured testimony or coerced confessions and completely violated the rights of an American child and tortured him. So George Bush knew that all top brass at DOJ were constitutionally compromised so he needed to relay a plan on how to attack PLAINTIFF. He did so through the E.O. 13481. By listing the following United States Attorney, he was directing people to certain Sewanee students who would fall within the geographic bounds of the following three United States Attorneys: (a) United States Attorney for the District of Maryland; (b) United States Attorney for the Southern District of Alabama; and (c) United States Attorney for the Northern District of Georgia. First one is Maureen Russell because she was from Baltimore. Third one is Griffin Fry because she was from Atlanta which is in the Northern District of Georgia. If PLAINTIFF had to make a guess who was from the Southern District of Alabama, which is Mobile, Alabama, Sara Robertson? PLAINTIFF'S roommate sophomore year was Sean McKenzie who was from the Northern District of Alabama.

As the U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994) ruled on the proposition that an act of perjury can be an act of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503 since "The findings (of obstruction of justice) encompass all the elements of perjury — falsity, materiality, and willfulness...In fact, the Court in Dunnigan affirmed a district court's finding that did not use the term willful...Dunnigan only requires that a sentencing court's findings encompass all of the factual predicates for a finding of perjury." "The Supreme Court has stated that a witness testifying under oath commits perjury if "she gives false testimony concerning a material matter with the willful intent to provide false testimony, rather than as a result of confusion, mistake, or faulty memory." U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994). U.S. v. Ashland Oil Inc., 705 F. Supp. 270 (W.D. Pa. 1989) discussed what constituted materiality: "A concise summary of this materiality requirement is set forth in Justice Stevens' concurring opinion in Youngblood: Our cases make clear that "[t]he proper standard of materiality must reflect our overriding concern with the justice of the finding of guilt," and the State's failure to turn over (or preserve) potentially exculpatory evidence therefore "must be evaluated in the context of the entire record." "By limiting §1503 to acts having the "natural and probable effect" of interfering with the due administration of justice, the Court effectively reads the word "endeavor," which we said in Russell embraced "any effort or essay" to obstruct justice out of the omnibus clause, leaving a prohibition of only actual obstruction and competent attempts...A §1503 violation occurs when "an act is done corruptly if it's done voluntarily and intentionally to bring about either an unlawful result or a lawful result by some unlawful method, with a hope or expectation of either financial gain or other benefit to oneself or a benefit of another person." United States v. Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995).

Anything that derived from the TAYLOR and TYLER incidents is necessarily based on an act of obstruction of justice and in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1. Every time any DEFENDANT like ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, ROBERT MUELLER, MICHAEL HAYDEN, etc transmitted or sent the incidents, it necessarily became an act of wire fraud under 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (relating to wire fraud) because it was an HONOR CODE violation. So together the acts are both 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1503 and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (if not 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 and 1511 as well because there is a reliance on perjured testimony).

Even more sinister in nature, PLAINTIFF is alleging from the very moments before he stepped foot on campus at SEWANEE and before he was directed to sign up for Big Brother Big Sister because it would be an opportunity for PLAINTIFF to meet a lot of SEWANEE women, PLAINTIFF alleges that American Intel DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF signed up for Big Brother Big Sister in August 2007 and had hacked SEWANEE'S IT system in which they intentionally paired JESSE AYERS and PLAINTIFF with the ALVAREZS for malicious purposes. WHY? If you think of the first few things that are associated with National Geographic (Nat Geo), one of those things will necessarily be a MAP in which in every issue of Nat Geo there are always MAPS that exist. MAP could also mean: minor attracted person (i.e. a pedophile) So, PLAINTIFF is alleging that American Intel DEFENDANTS intentionally wanted to sabotage and frame PLAINTIFF from the very beginning by having MAP so closely associated to PLAINTIFF and have it associated with PLAINTIFF in future reports to frame PLAINTIFF as a pedophile when he was not a monster nor a predator from before.

PLAINTIFF will bet his life on it that DEFENDANTS having utilized Title II and USA PATRIOT ACT and FISA against PLAINTIFF had possessed or currently possess text messages by PLAINTIFF from that time that confirm the truth because PLAINTIFF'S story has been the exact same because it is the complete truth. After this, the ALVAREZ parents become cold and very distant to PLAINTIFF. The ALVAREZs who live in Sewanee have to go along with what the town believes because they would become outcasts too if they don't. PLAINTIFF is forever burnt.

"If the government's conduct in the investigation through a sting operation is so active that its conduct fabricated elements of the offense, it might be considered a violation of due process to prosecute the defendant." U.S. v. Steinhorn, 739 F. Supp. 268, 271 (D. Md. 1990). "A review of the common law of this state shows that discretionary investigative enforcement measures extend beyond a tolerable level when by design the government uses continued pressure, appeals to friendship or sympathy, threats of arrest, an informant's vulnerability, sexual favors, or procedures which escalate criminal culpability. All of these traditional inducements are absent from the facts of this case. We conclude that the furnishing of contraband by the government is insufficient to induce or instigate the commission of a crime by the average person, similarly situated to these defendants, who is not ready and willing to commit it. We also note that this is not a case where the government's furnishing of narcotics was for the purpose of trying to escalate the criminal culpability of defendants. People v Killian, 117 Mich. App. 220 N.W.2d 660 (1982)." People v. Jamieson, 436 Mich. 61 (Mich. 1990).

Because of what happened to PLAINTIFF on the act of racketeering and when the US Government used the TAYLOR and TYLER incident, whenever any investigative effort happens to PLAINTIFF again in Sewanee in which they use PLAINTIFF or his friends to target PLAINTIFF, it was by design because they knew PLAINTIFF was a leper in Sewanee and would be even more vulnerable to social coercion on top of being vulnerable as an autistic man who doesn't have great social skills.

"Although there is no infallible means of divining a defendant's predisposition to commit a crime after the fact, there are several factors recognized as relevant in making this determination. We start with the observation that predisposition is, by definition, "the defendant's state of mind and inclinations before his initial exposure to government agents." United States v. Jannotti, 501 F. Supp. 1182 (E.D.Pa. 1980), rev'd on other grounds, 673 F.2d 578 (3rd Cir.)...This answers defendant's bizarre contention that "the agents literally entrapped him into a state of predisposition." One is either predisposed to commit a crime before coming into contact with the Government or one is not, so the argument that one could be entrapped into having a state of predisposition is meaningless. We now turn our attention to the factors relevant in determining predisposition. Among these are the character or reputation of the defendant, including any prior criminal record; whether the suggestion of the criminal activity was initially made by the Government; whether the defendant was engaged in the criminal activity for profit; whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to commit the offense, overcome only by repeated Government inducement or persuasion; and the nature of the inducement or persuasion supplied by the Government. While none of the factors alone indicates either the presence or absence of predisposition, the most important factor . . . is whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to engage in criminal activity which was overcome by repeated Government inducement..." United States v. Kaminski, 703 F.2d 1004 (7th Cir. 1983).

PLAINTIFF was not predisposed. The messed up thing about this is that the US Government can argue based on PLAINTIFF'S reputation in the community at Sewanee he would be "predisposed" in which that was only possible because of an act of obstruction of justice and the trust placed on the person making the false accusation in Sewanee against PLAINTIFF. Because of the malicious and false accusations against PLAINTIFF undertaken by SEWANEE students like ELEANOR CLAIBORNE and DEFENDANTS and with the whole entire town that despised PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF had to find a way to disprove the malicious accusations. PLAINTIFF had to prove through action the truth because actions should have spoken louder than words. There was a club called Middle School Mentoring that was for at risk youth and PLAINTIFF was an active member of this group for two years in which he mentored a lot of at risk youth and not once did PLAINTIFF commit any faux pax during his entire time at Middle School Mentors (to the best of his recollection). ROBBY SHAUL was the leader of Middle School Mentoring. Look if you were in PLAINTIFF'S spot you could call it whatever you like, but PLAINTIFF had to develop some social connections to mitigate the hatred PLAINTIFF was experiencing at the time. PLAINTIFF may have called it "bribing" as a tongue-in-cheek manner of being sarcastic, but he had to establish a deep relationship with ROBBY SCHAUL in order to disprove the false malicious rumors that had been spread about PLAINTIFF. So PLAINTIFF took ROBBY SCHAUL, (either: LAUREN CROASDALE or CAITLIN ADFLER) (PLAINTIFF can't remember which one), and CECILY MILLEN and we went to a Tennessee Titans v. Cleveland Browns football game in which Chris Johnson of the Titans scored a lot in the game. SCOTUS alleges that this is a kickback scheme. It is not. How does an 18+ autistic man who is despised by his community prove himself to be innocent? You reestablish trust and prove that PLAINTIFF is not a bad guy and PLAINTIFF gives his gratitude to ROBBY SCHAUL for letting PLAINTIFF be in Middle School Mentoring in which the whole town hated PLAINTIFF and to establish a friendship on campus. The thing that gets lost on SCOTUS and DEFENDANTS is not once do they ask: how is an 18+ year old autistic man to overcome a town's hatred against him? What are the social things he must do to change a whole entire town's perception and mindset? DEFENDANTS alleged it was bribery, but that is false because PLAINTIFF was attempting to remedy on his own some of the damage that DEFENDANTS committed against PLAINTIFF without legally suing everyone. So if there is evidence that refutes a prior mindset, that should go to refuting the false and malicious accusations; which means PLAINTIFF can undermine the hate he experienced on campus. Middle School Mentoring came to an end in May 2009 because the federal grant that was given was not renewed because of DEFENDANTS malice for PLAINTIFF—DEFENDANTS knew that PLAINTIFF had committed no wrong (to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection) in Middle School Mentoring through two years and that provided years’ worth of exculpatory evidence that completely undermined DEFENDANTS case against PLAINTIFF.

PLAINTIFF will talk about this more later (in Star Chambers), there is a case that SCOTUS ruled on in 2010 that seems completely irrelevant to the issues at hand, but it was two years after 2008 in which SCOTUS in 2010 knew PLAINTIFF’S story at this time. The case was granted on October 13th, 2009 and was decided on June 24th, 2010--Skilling v. United States, 561 U.S. 358 (2010). What PLAINTIFF wants to point out temporarily is that from June 24th, 2010, SCOTUS necessarily knew how much the town of SEWANEE despised PLAINTIFF after these scenarios. For example, if you look in the 2010-2011 SEWANEE YEARBOOK,¹⁸³ which was even more stunning for PLAINTIFF because of Footnote 89, despite having graduated from SEWANEE his senior year, PLAINTIFF is not even listed as a student in the Senior Section/Class of 2011 section nor is there a picture of PLAINTIFF or his name listed anywhere in the yearbook. PLAINTIFF took a picture of the yearbook where PLAINTIFF should be in the spot of Selena Landers and right next to Zoey Kortz. See: Below. Oh you can see the twerp Josh King in the top right photo from the section Peasants Revolt Against the King. PLAINTIFF believes there is not a single picture or mention of PLAINTIFF in the 2010/2011 yearbook. George Orwell from 1984 knows exactly what it is like: “Every record has been destroyed or falsified, every book rewritten, every picture has been repainted, every statue and street building has been renamed, every date has been altered. And the process is continuing day by day and minute by minute. History has stopped. Nothing exists except an endless present in which the Party is always right.”

SEWANEE received funds from the United States Government from 2007-2011; and SEWANEE PD received funds from SEWANEE and/or from the United States Government between 2007-2011. Therefore, Title VI and DOJ/FBI Regulations involving TITLE VI applies to their conduct in regard to PLAINTIFF and his national origin. DEFENDANTS/DOJ/FBI Title VI regulations § 42.104 Discrimination prohibited¹⁸⁴ prohibits the following: “(ii) Providing any disposition, service, financial aid, or benefit to an individual which is different, or is provided in a different manner, from that provided to others under the program;” and (iii) Subject an individual to segregation or separate treatment in any matter related to his receipt of any disposition, service, financial aid, or benefit under the program.” Recipients, in addition to actors in the DOJ and FBI, may not, directly or through other arrangements, utilize methods of administration which have the effect of subjecting individuals to discrimination because of their national origin, or have the effect of defeating or substantially impairing accomplishment of the objectives of the program as respects individuals of a particular national origin under TITLE VI. The Court ruled that discriminatory intent is not an essential element of a Title VI violation in Guardians Assn. v. Civil Svc. Comm'n, 463 U.S. 582 (1983). The Court also held “Moreover, soon after the passage of Title VI, the Department of Justice, which had helped draft the legislation, assisted seven agencies in the preparation of regulations incorporating the disparate impact standard of discrimination. These regulations were early interpretations of the statute by the agencies charged with its enforcement, and we should not reject them absent clear inconsistency with the face or structure of the statute, or with the unmistakable mandate of the legislative history.” In administering their program that DOJ and FBI are necessarily bound by in which TITLE VI discrimination occurred against PLAINTIFF on his national origin by DEFENDANTS in 2008, the recipient must take affirmative action to overcome the effects of prior discrimination. DOJ and FBI did not do this at any point from when Big Brother Big Sisters occurred to the Present.

Because of the incidents and GIVE ME LIBERTY AND GIVE ME BEER and profiling PLAINTIFF in violation of TITLE VI on the car, the University’s security officer, who was not a member of the Sewanee PD but was a member of the Franklin County, Tennessee Sheriff’s office, DEFENDANT TIMOTHY KEITH-LUCAS (HEREON: TKL),¹⁸⁵ approached PLAINTIFF to talk about the incidents. TKL had a piece of paperwork that was a blank statement. PLAINTIFF didn’t want to write a statement. TKL then coerced PLAINTIFF to sign a blank statement against PLAINTIFF’S will, liberty interests, constitutional interests, and property interests (in tuition) in which TKL threatened to permanently kick PLAINTIFF out of SEWANEE if PLAINTIFF did not sign the blank statement. When TKL did this in which he would have necessarily utilized perjured testimony because it was his words that he was filling out and not PLAINTIFF’S, this necessarily violated PLAINTIFF’S HONOR CODE, which means this act was one of the first of many acts that constituted mail and wire fraud. PLAINTIFF will explain more in Mid-Year about Mail and Wire Fraud involving the HONOR CODE. TKL violated PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, and 14th Amendment rights. See Some of DEFENDANTS crimes of: 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement). 18 U.S.C. §1951 (Extortion). 18 U.S.C. §1961, 18 U.S.C. §1962 (a), 18 U.S.C. §1962(b), 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), and/or 18 U.S.C. 1962(f); 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1341 (relating to mail fraud) and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (relating to wire fraud). DEFENDANTS violated Haynes v. Washington, 373 U.S. 503 (1963) holding: “that petitioner’s written confession was obtained in, and was the result of, an atmosphere of substantial coercion and inducement created by statements and actions of state authorities, which made its admission in evidence violative of due process” in which the written confession was induced by police threats and promises.” Defendants violated Arizona v. Fulminate, 499 U.S. 279 (1991) in which it was not a harmless error when there was an inducement by a government informant in which he admitted to a crime against his constitutional interests. There was a coercion in his confession in violation of the 5th and 14th amendments. Court found there was a legitimate fear of and credible threat of physical violence and after the constitutional violation occurred, there was evidence that was obtained afterwards that was prejudicial to the individual that concerned “associations” known to the individual. So there was an imminent fear of harm that would be undertaken against the subject in which there was prejudicial evidence introduced on an association known to the individual that was prejudicial to the individual. Those were the totality of the circumstances in the case.

*DEFENDANTS here violated: BANTAM BOOKS, INC., et al. v. SULLIVAN et al., 372 U.S. 58 (1963) is on point about TKL because : “Silverstein was "free" to ignore the Commission's notices, in the sense that his refusal to "cooperate" would have violated no law. But it was found as a fact and the finding, being amply supported by the record, binds us that Silverstein's compliance with the Commission's directives was not voluntary. People do not lightly disregard public officers' thinly veiled threats to institute criminal proceedings against them if they do not come around, and Silverstein's reaction, according to uncontroverted testimony, was no exception to this general rule. The Commission's notices, phrased virtually as orders, reasonably understood to be such by the distributor, invariably followed up by police visitations, in fact stopped the circulation of the listed publications ex proprio vigore. It would be naive to credit the State's assertion that these blacklists are in the nature of mere legal advice, when they plainly serve as instruments of regulation...”*

DEFENDANTS and SEWANEE PD regularly followed up with visitations to PLAINTIFF after this incident occurred; a lot of which concerned PLAINTIFF'S constitutionally protected speech.

SEXTORTION: WHERE IT STARTED. FRESHMAN YEAR. SEWANEE.

Sometime mid Freshman year, HANNAH showed her ginger nudes off (showing her huge ass in the shower) to the freshman in Humphrey's dorm. TED ROBINSON managed to come across and obtain both Julia Bates' nudes as well as a picture of Lizzie McCleskey's vagina.

PLAINTIFF was not the type that received nudes often so the probability of PLAINTIFF being given a nude was near zero, especially what happened after Big Brother Big Sister. TED talked about sextortion. From my autistic 18-year-old understanding, TED shared and received nudes in which other students at Sewanee had ALSO received the same nudes in line with what HANNAH had done earlier that year. PLAINTIFF thought at the time that once nudes are out, they are out regardless of whether PLAINTIFF decided to share them in which PLAINTIFF did not share the nudes with anyone on campus to the best of his recollection at that time.

PLAINTIFF told Lizzie McCleskey this fact on the way nudes spread once they're leaked, they are out there for everyone to see. Apparently to PLAINTIFF'S understanding, Lizzie told her mom the false allegations against PLAINTIFF because of Big Brother Big Sister and then misinterpreted what PLAINTIFF said because PLAINTIFF told her bluntly that once nudes are leaked, they are out there for everyone to see in which she interpreted that as PLAINTIFF having the intent of leaking the nudes on campus when PLAINTIFF did NOT have the intent to leak the nudes on campus and did not do so to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection. There was an issue about who leaked Lizzie McCleskey's nudes because how would Ted Robinson obtain a picture of her vagina because it wasn't PLAINTIFF that got the nude first. What this shows is how a manifest false accusation against PLAINTIFF was believed and then PLAINTIFF was presumed and found guilty even before the truth came out.

What ended up happening the most in PLAINTIFF'S life is the following: PLAINTIFF was innocent, then PLAINTIFF got corrupted somehow by different people in which he got branded through the hot searing burns of horrendously corrupt and evil acts that were being perpetuated against PLAINTIFF. It is through the maliciousness of different people that PLAINTIFF malformed in which PLAINTIFF tried his best at all times to fix himself. Somewhere, in that transition from childhood to adulthood, it really did not go smoothly in which the adult things were always at issue. Whether that was self-defense, alcohol, nudes, fighting, etc. The egg always came first and then PLAINTIFF came later as a Chicken (one of PLAINTIFF'S nicknames) For example, JOE BELLO coerced PLAINTIFF into declaring allegiance to ISIS and got falsely labeled a terror threat; PLAINTIFF tried to be friendly and learn what guy code was in the south, PLAINTIFF followed the direction of TED ROBINSON at three different critical junctions: Sewanee sabotage, nudes, and josh king. Got falsely labeled as violent for all those acts. There is the underlying theme here and causation that was willfully and intentionally ignored.

Lauren Hallerud lied to PLAINTIFF about being a law enforcement officer then. It was not on good faith and that was an issue always raised from the beginning.

End Section

Connecting financial terrorism to miki's tea party. They were using it as evidence for future prosecutions in which someone had legal authority over someone (mom lying about scope of power of attorney).

There is no other appropriate place for PLAINTIFF to bring this up in the complaint besides here and PLAINTIFF does not like he has to do so and separated it from the previous section. Yes, PLAINTIFF acknowledges, it looks bad for PLAINTIFF. But here is the thing. If American Intel wanted to prove beyond a reasonable doubt today that PLAINTIFF is in fact not a pedophile, they could do it right now. They have the technological tools available to them to prove PLAINTIFF is correct. American Intel through having unconstitutionally utilized TITLE II and the USA PATRIOT ACT for at least a decade and more have the thousands of links of porn videos PLAINTIFF has ever viewed, the close to hundreds of thousands of hours of PLAINTIFF having watched porn (which was a waste of PLAINTIFF'S life honestly), and specifically the adult only porn he downloaded through the years (which conveys which adult only porn were PLAINTIFF'S favorite and most sexually arousing to PLAINTIFF). This is twenty years of empirical and verifiable data. ANDREW MCCABE and FBI had access to PLAINTIFF'S laptop in Spring 2015 and American Intel had access to PLAINTIFF'S hard drives and cloud storage that contained all of PLAINTIFF'S adult only porn he downloaded and stored on his laptop through the years. If DEFENDANTS just utilized a merging feature where they took all the features of the women in PLAINTIFF'S favorite porn for the past 20 or so years PLAINTIFF watched porn and made a composite of the ideal woman out of all the porn PLAINTIFF has ever watched in his life, PLAINTIFF will bet his life on it that the woman does not even remotely look like anyone under twenty years old—the ideal woman would probably be in her mid-twenties brunette white woman with at least C Cups with a little tan and not completely pale white. American Intel can ascertain how old the vast majority of the women porn stars at the time of the particular clips were viewed because there is the age reporting requirement that would allow them to ascertain how old she was when she filmed the clips.

Furthermore, American Intel DEFENDANTS in 2008 did in fact utilize Title II against PLAINTIFF and they utilized Section 215 and 507, which means American Intel DEFENDANTS had PLAINTIFF'S complete browsing history. American Intel could have seen all the links to porn PLAINTIFF had been watching on Sewanee's servers in 2007 and 2008, which would have provided some exculpatory evidence. Furthermore, PLAINTIFF would have actually welcomed having NSA utilize SEXINT to prove PLAINTIFF correct here. HOWEVER, big HOWEVER, PLAINTIFF is alleging in the alternative that NSA should not have utilized SEXINT against PLAINTIFF in An Anchor and a Pitchfork.

FRESHMAN YEAR SEWANEE. ANARCHY.

FBI: ROBERT MUELLER. CIA: MICHAEL HAYDEN. DOJ Attorney General: MICHAEL MUKASEY. DOJ Solicitor General: Paul Clement. DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta): SALLY YATES.

To save on ink, paper, and space, PLAINTIFF is alleging that DEFENDANTS violated the following through the entirety of: An Anchor and a Pitchfork:

See: some of DEFENDANTS' crimes of:

In this section, the following applies: The “War on Terror” after 9/11 has no definitive end date (which is unconstitutional because Congress hasn’t declared war, but nonetheless assuming arguendo that it is), and for all intents and purposes and assuming DEFENDANTS are correct in their reasoning (which they’re not), the United States was at “war” between 2007-2011 since the United States occupied both Afghanistan and Iraq at the time; most of the fighting in Iraq and Afghanistan consisted of guerilla warfare. The view that America was at war was readily believed by JEH JOHNSON, and more importantly for later, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, who was a Legal Adviser to the State Department in the Obama administration between 2009-2012 and he was the senior legal adviser to Secretary of State Hillary Clinton. He said in 2010 that “there was an existence of this “ongoing armed conflict” grants legal authority to the United States to protect its citizens through the use of force, including lethal force, as a matter of self-defense.”¹⁸⁶ So glad HAROLD HONGJU KOH and PLAINTIFF would agree, there are current hostilities abroad, but this works absolutely in PLAINTIFF’S favor. So, PLAINTIFF could have been called at any time to go fight overseas. PLAINTIFF scored in the top 5% of the country in the A.P United States History exam in either 2006 or 2007 when PLAINTIFF scored a 795 out of 800. In order to score that high on the A.P United States History Exam, it necessarily entails one having some knowledge and interest in strategies in war, which PLAINTIFF had. PLAINTIFF had registered to be in the Selective Service prior to SEWANEE and was registered in the Selective Service for the entirety of his duration in SEWANEE. DEFENDANTS cannot argue that The University of the South does not have a military influence over it with the following facts: 1) During World War II, the University of the South was a university that took part in the V-12 Navy College Training Program;¹⁸⁷ 2) Furthermore, the University of the South had an such interlocking relationship with one of the boarding schools there, which was known as Sewanee Military Academy for 64 years of its existence that served as a feeder to SEWANEE.¹⁸⁸ See: Below.¹⁸⁹

Next, PLAINTIFF downloaded a pdf version of the Anarchist Cookbook. PLAINTIFF read it. However, PLAINTIFF cannot remember anything from it because PLAINTIFF never took any meaningful step to take what was on paper in the book to make it a reality. PLAINTIFF, primarily, had it for mere intellectual curiosity. See: PLAINTIFF’S 2e twice exceptional personality features above. BUT as PLAINTIFF routinely maintained through the years, this being 6 years after 9/11, PLAINTIFF wanted to know what types of explosive devices looked like for protection purposes because PLAINTIFF may come across the scenario or situation in his life as an EMT. That if PLAINTIFF ever spotted anything like it in public, PLAINTIFF could alert the authorities and keep my family and PLAINTIFF safe. Additionally, PLAINTIFF was training to be an EMT during his freshman year so responding to—God forbid—an incident that a bomb was used wasn’t so far-fetched. Why would PLAINTIFF want harm people and use the Anarchist Cookbook if PLAINTIFF was training to be an EMT? Furthermore, PLAINTIFF was pre-med so PLAINTIFF at this time was training and learning on how to help people in the future. Questions that could have been used to evaluate PLAINTIFF and the book at the time include that would have shown some exculpatory value: did PLAINTIFF spend time training as an EMT (PLAINTIFF even passed the State of Tennessee EMT-IV test, but not the national one)?, did PLAINTIFF go out to the community in Grundy County, TN far more often than fellow emt classmates in the program? YES, Yes Plaintiff did. That shows PLAINTIFF’S willingness to help because PLAINTIFF WENT ABOVE AND BEYOND. Even if PLAINTIFF was sitting in his room alone and on his computer, NSA, CIA, FBI, et. al can see his internet browsing history via Section 507 and see how much time PLAINTIFF devoted to school and whatever exact interests PLAINTIFF had at that time. Again, these actions should speak louder than words or mere curiosity ever could. The Anarchist Cookbook is available for purchase on Amazon as of 02/20/2023. By the way, the author of the Anarchist Cookbook said the only way he was able to write the book was when he used War Department/DoD materials that were available to him. Can't separate the military history out of the Anarchist Cookbook, can you American Intel and DoD?

In Hamilton et al. v. Regents of the University of California et al., 293 U.S. 245 (1934), which is still valid law, the issue was of religious objectors taking a compulsory military course that occurred before WWII, but WWI. The important thing to note is that even when this case was decided, the United States was not even in war (declared by Congress). This case was decided 16 years after the end of WWI. But nonetheless, carrying on. The Court did not rule in favor of the religious objectors. The following are the most relevant parts of the opinion that are applicable in the situation: “The regents require[d] enrollment and participation of able-bodied male students who are citizens of the United States.” Id. So an able-bodied American man in college that is registered in Selective Service—applies to PLAINTIFF. “These courses include instruction in rifle marksmanship, scouting and patrolling, drill and command, musketry, combat principles, and use of automatic rifles. Arms, equipment and uniforms for use of students in such courses are furnished by the War Department of the United States Government...” So scouting and patrolling necessarily entails looking for danger and dangerous objects, which necessarily includes arms, equipment, and bombs; and combat principles include guerilla warfare; scouting and patrolling in guerilla warfare—Applies to PLAINTIFF as PLAINTIFF back in 2007/2008 repeatedly said he downloaded it so he knows what bombs look like in the course of becoming an EMT and, derivatively, where an enemy conducting guerilla warfare may place a bomb; therefore, PLAINTIFF got a copy of the Anarchist Cookbook. The Court continues how funding was received by the University from the U.S. Federal Government—applies to PLAINTIFF as SEWANEE received U.S. Government funds in 2007/2008. The funds the University of California received in the case were tied to the education that included other scientific and classical studies “and including military tactics, to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts, in such manner as the legislatures of the States may respectively prescribe, in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions in life...” PLAINTIFF has strong suspicions to believe that somewhere in SEWANEE’S history it necessarily included a grant or funds that involved military training and that it very well could have been true that there was some military funding Sewanee received in 2007 and 2008. The Court noted how they “take judicial notice of the long-established voluntary cooperation between federal and state authorities in respect of the military instruction given in the [land] grant colleges. The War Department has not been empowered to determine or in any manner to prescribe the military instruction in these institutions.” VERY IMPORTANT here: If the War Department (i.e. DoD) does not have the power to determine or prescribe the military instruction in universities, who has been empowered to determine the military instruction in these institutions? SCOTUS left that power of determination to the States, which may run into a little problem here and there, but it doesn’t matter. This works out great anyway for PLAINTIFF. What does a normal college professor always give students? Homework. Reading Assignments. Reading assignments that a man would take to his home or dormitory and reads and learns on that man’s own time. Does the ROTC on college campuses not give out homework in college???? Do they (ROTC) not give out homework assignments for their students (i.e. cadets) to read at home outside of class???? Do you start to see what PLAINTIFF is getting at? How would a State, let alone in 1934, prohibit a man who is registered in the selective service from learning about things related to war and combat strategies? Now at the time in 1934, the books that were primarily prohibited were obscenity and absolutely were not military strategies and war. Go ahead DoD, FBI, CIA, et. al., prove in 1934 that any state in the United States prohibited a man from learning about military strategies and war. Go right on ahead. Its not even possible because SCOUTS didn’t even think the state’s had the power to do so. So, the Court here absolutely does not exclude a man at a university learning military instruction on his own voluntariness and will and volition. It would probably be more of an imperative to do so when the country is at war. The Court continues: “The furnishing of officers, men and equipment conditioned upon the giving of courses and the imposing of discipline deemed appropriate, recommended or approved by the Department does not support the suggestion that the training is not exclusively prescribed and given under the authority of the State.” Id. So if the War Department can’t exclusively dictate how one should learn about military strategies in universities and the state doesn’t have exclusive authority to do so, what are realistically the only two options left if it is neither DoD/Fed Government nor the State Government? The only two: the university and a man on his own who is free to learn at school about military strategies. The Court here does not even exclude the ability of a student to train himself in these matters. A man in college is free to learn on his own anything that concerns: scouting and patrolling, drill and command, musketry, combat principles, use of automatic rifles, arms, and equipment. Period. The Court damn well knows, and they fundamentally understand, the difference in one learning about those things and ones utilizing those things.

The Court continues: “The States are interested in the safety of the United States, the strength of its military forces and its readiness to defend them in war and against every attack of public enemies. [Omitted] Undoubtedly every State has authority to train its able-bodied male citizens of suitable age appropriately to develop fitness, should any such duty be laid upon them, to serve in the United States army or in state militia (always liable to be called forth by federal authority to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrection or repel invasion, [omitted] or as members of local constabulary forces, or as officers needed effectively to police the State. And, when made possible by the national government, the State in order more effectively to teach and train its citizens for these and like purposes, may avail itself of the services of officers and equipment belonging to the military establishment of the United States. So long as its action is within retained powers and not inconsistent with any exertion of the authority of the national government, and transgresses no right safeguarded to the citizens by the Federal Constitution, the State is the sole judge of the means to be employed and the amount of training to be exacted for the effective accomplishment of these ends. Second Amendment.” Id.

So, what is that DoD and American Intel? PLAINTIFF can't hear you because the State has a safety interest in ensuring their citizens or students living in the state attending a university in their state can learn about military strategies and tactics in which they themselves can give the materials or the materials are available to those students to learn. Seeing how registering in the Selective Service means that one would be called forth to protect the United States, the United States Government would be at a complete and severe disadvantage if their all of their able-bodied men did not have some knowledge and aptitude in military affairs, which means that those able-bodied men--at one time or another--trained themselves. This is in the complete interest of the United States Government and the State Government since every “citizen owes the reciprocal duty, according to his capacity, to support and defend government against all enemies.” Id. Succinctly, “Plainly there is no ground for the contention that the regents' order, requiring able-bodied male students under the age of twenty-four as a condition of their enrollment to take the prescribed instruction in military science and tactics, transgresses any constitutional right asserted by these appellants.” Id. Whats that DoD, FBI, CIA et. al? Can't hear you over SCOTUS ruling that says there is an affirmative legal and constitutional duty REQUIRING a man to learn--based on his own capacity--about military tactics, military science, and military strategies to defend against all enemies. There was a time where the United States Government didn't view every single American citizen living within its borders as an enemy; PLAINTIFF actually remembers that era which existed prior to 9/11. Then 9/11 happened by terrorists who were from Saudi Arabia--not Americans—and then the United States Government started treating their own citizens who had no part in 9/11 as enemies for their own failures in intelligence. That's not PLAINTIFF'S fault. That is their fault. Maybe, just maybe, it would do the United States Government some good by not treating every single one of their own citizens as enemies of the country they live in who have an actual duty to America via the selective service and have a duty to learn about military tactics, military science, and military strategies so that he could be equipped to defend against all enemies. My God, the hypocrisy of the United States government.

PLAINTIFF just wants to repeat the following: if the Court was completely okay with compulsory military training that did not violate any constitutional right, the Court must necessarily be okay with an individual student who was registered for the Selective Service learning about military tactics to protect his country; and if he does not, it violates that American's man reciprocal duty owed to his countrymen and United States Government to support and defend the United States Government against all enemies, foreign and domestic. So, guess what DEFENDANTS? PLAINTIFF had a constitutional duty to his country and the method he chose was by reading the Anarchist Cookbook his freshman year at SEWANEE. Therefore, DEFENDANTS who utilized the Anarchist Cookbook against PLAINTIFF alleging he was a threat to the Country violated that duty PLAINTIFF owed to the United States Government, which then DEFENDANTS further violated PLAINTIFF'S 1st and 14th Amendment Rights. See: Some of DEFENDANTS crimes of: 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant). 18 U.S.C. §1961, 18 U.S.C. §1962 (a), 18 U.S.C. §1962(b), 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), and/or 18 U.S.C. 1962(f)

Actually, it'll do the Department of Defense a lot of good again to increase dwindling enrollment numbers by starting to teach everyday students about the Military, Military Tactics, Military Science, Military Strategy, and the use of equipment and war in schools again.

This is portion is called: Sewanee Sabotage. To supplement the previous argument and historical references, this will be relevant and will be talked about in a bit in Law Enforcement Intervention, after Big Brothers Big Sisters in which PLAINTIFF was on the out. PLAINTIFF started to recognize that PLAINTIFF was being ignored and shunned on campus. It is in this atmosphere, the accusations started flying around in which students in SEWANEE started socially sabotaging each other. This occurred in Humphrey Dorm and on campus after Big Brother Big Sister. Not knowing how to be back on the “in” in the social scene, PLAINTIFF started arguing about why he shouldn't have been on the “out” and how people had sabotaged PLAINTIFF socially. So, PLAINTIFF took a portion from a book, took a picture of a relevant section to show what sabotage consisted of and how it was defined, to demonstrate PLAINTIFF'S point that he had been socially sabotaged in an intellectual argument had with fellow students hoping to appeal to reason. The argument was that PLAINTIFF had been socially sabotaged at that point because of Big Brothers Big Sisters. PLAINTIFF provided an example of how to commit social sabotage against him or anyone on campus in which you would plant things in their car or their dorm room because all cars and dorms were left open because of the HONOR CODE. PLAINTIFF never said or advocated for anyone to do that nor did PLAINTIFF say he would act on it nor was there any verbal statements said by PLAINTIFF that expressed any desire to imminently do that against the HONOR CODE. PLAINTIFF never acted on it. PLAINTIFF never acted on it because he fundamentally knew a) it was an HONOR CODE violation and that would get PLAINTIFF kicked out of SEWANEE and b) having been socially sabotaged himself and knowing and experiencing the actual psychological effects of such, he wouldn't do it onto others because being sabotaged hurt and PLAINTIFF would not hurt anybody. This would come back and bite PLAINTIFF in the ass as students were not done sabotaging PLAINTIFF. Furthermore, sabotage is a part of Guerilla Warfare and PLAINTIFF was killing two birds with one stone here and learning about that in the process.

See: ROBERT MUELLER, ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, MICHAEL HAYDEN, ERIC HOLDER, and PAUL CLEMENT and unknown officials in American INTEL'S relevant crimes to the situation: USC §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant). 18 U.S.C. §1961, 18 U.S.C. §1962 (a), 18 U.S.C. §1962(b), 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), and/or 18 U.S.C. 1962(f); 18 U.S. Code § 2234 - Authority exceeded in executing warrant; 18 U.S. Code § 2235 - Search warrant procured maliciously; 18 U.S. Code § 2236 - Searches without warrant.

But assuming arguendo and granting DEFENDANTS' Constitutional shortsightedness here, the following issues then arise. The two most important and relevant aspects from the Anarchist Cookbook saga is the following because of the exculpatory value: PLAINTIFF either completely cleaned his hard drive on his laptop in MAY 2008 or FALL (SEPTEMBER OR OCTOBER) 2008 when PLAINTIFF was roommates with SEAN MCKENZIE. When PLAINTIFF did so, this means that PLAINTIFF'S copy of the Anarchist Cookbook was deleted along with the rest of the files on PLAINTIFF'S laptop. DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF'S laptop had been cleaned or wiped sometime either in 2008 or 2009 which means DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF no longer had a copy of the Anarchist's Cookbook from at least OCTOBER 2008. Unless DEFENDANTS completely made this fact up, but at least to the most favorable grant of time to DEFENDANTS here, after OCTOBER 2008, PLAINTIFF did not have the knowledge to make an explosive device. There is not a single piece of evidence that shows PLAINTIFF purchased any bomb making materials or substances needed to make that type of device precisely because PLAINTIFF never made any purchases, never took any meaningful or substantial steps, nor ever had the intent on ever making an explosive device at any time in PLAINTIFF'S life. Furthermore, a search of PLAINTIFF's laptop at any time in 2008 or 2009 or the beginning part of 2010 would have shown just how often PLAINTIFF opened the Anarchist Cookbook on his laptop via Adobe PDF because Adobe PDF keeps a historical record of how many times a document was opened. If DEFENDANTS would have done so, DEFENDANTS would have seen the fact that PLAINTIFF, to the best of his recollection, did not open the Anarchist Cookbook more than three times. (even though he probably should have opened it up more and thoroughly learned everything from it). These are all material facts that were intentionally omitted. DEFENDANTS knew this because they utilized TITLE II against PLAINTIFF in 2008 and 2009 and more years.

Furthermore, as PLAINTIFF will repeat in Peachy Miami below, the following critical point: PLAINTIFF, in 2007/2008, did at least some of the same exact amount of facts when it came to actual "terrorism" as any prepared screen-writer for Hollywood, journalist for a newspaper, or author would do by writing for T.V shows or Movies that were made before 2008 such as 24, Team America, True Lies, Spy Game, anyone writing about the Richard Jewell and FBI saga, Patriot Games, World Trade Center, Speed, Die Hard, Body of Lies, Face/Off, Die Hard, Naked Gun 1, 2, 3 1/3, Collateral Damage, Déjà Vu, NCIS, James Bond/007 movies, Sleeper Cell, and writers and people talking about the details of the plot in the books and movies with fellow co-writers, friends, staff, psychologists, or researchers of the shows, movies, and/or books. DEFENDANTS like the CIA, FBI, NSA, etc. routinely utilize those people all the time for their own propaganda purposes. Furthermore, more money and resources were spent on depicting hypothetical terrorism than PLAINTIFF ever did, which means they took more of substantial step than PLAINTIFF ever did. Yet DEFENDANTS did not do to those individuals what they did to PLAINTIFF in regards to PLAINTIFF'S speech. PLAINTIFF is alleging selective and malicious prosecution in which DEFENDANTS'S violated PLAINTIFF'S duty to the country.

The worst person PLAINTIFF could have met at the time was WESLEY CRANE, who lived in Humphrey's dorm with PLAINTIFF. His impression of WES CRANE after knowing him for a couple of months in the 'friendship,' and now, was that WES CRANE is a sniveling little weasel that loved creating drama and manipulating people that could be charming when he wanted to be. WES CRANE started bullying PLAINTIFF and sharing information that PLAINTIFF had shared with him about GRIFFIN FRY, a different woman PLAINTIFF was interested in at that time. PLAINTIFF tried to separate himself from WES CRANE multiple times and PLAINTIFF couldn't because his friends were my 'friends' during the beginning and middle of freshman year at SEWANEE and since PLAINTIFF is autistic, PLAINTIFF doesn't quickly and rapidly make new friends.

This is: TRESPASSING INCIDENT #1. One time, PLAINTIFF, mostly an introvert autistic man, wanted to be left alone around the middle of Freshman year at SEWANEE. WES CRANE came into PLAINTIFF'S room and being the little sniveling little weasel that WES CRANE was at the time, WES CRANE tried to get PLAINTIFF to come out. PLAINTIFF said no, asked WES CRANE to leave his room, and WES CRANE then became a trespasser. This is an HONOR CODE violation. Instead of respecting anything PLAINTIFF wanted or said, WES

CRANE just kept staying in PLAINTIFF'S room. PLAINTIFF yet again told WES CRANE to get out of his room. WES CRANE did not do so. After multiple commands for WES CRANE to get out, WES CRANE kept ignoring PLAINTIFF; so, PLAINTIFF grabbed WES by the shirt and told him to get out. WES CRANE then swung at PLAINTIFF and missed. Now PLAINTIFF has a right to defend himself inside his room. PLAINTIFF immediately headbutted WES CRANE and then dragged WES CRANE'S ass out of PLAINTIFF'S room, closed the door, and locked it. PLAINTIFF didn't want to get SEWANEE PD involved because PLAINTIFF thought they had better things to do. This incident necessarily violated the HONOR CODE because it denied the use and enjoyment of my room in which there was no legitimate reason to be in the room, violated PLAINTIFF'S rights, and violated PLAINTIFF'S sense of well-being. Thereby, WES CRANE lost all property and liberty interests in attending SEWANEE from this moment on. Constitutional Violations: 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment. 18 U.S.C. §1961, 18 U.S.C. §1962 (a), 18 U.S.C. §1962(b), 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), and/or 18 U.S.C. 1962(f).

This is: TRESPASSING INCIDENT #2. WES CRANE did not learn anything in Trespass Incident #1 in which PLAINTIFF would make numerous reasonable requests and then would resort to a physical measure only after PLAINTIFF was physically instigated by WES CRANE. Another day, WES CRANE was in PLAINTIFF'S room and WES CRANE had overstayed his welcome. PLAINTIFF told WES to leave as WES CRANE had overstayed his welcome and WES CRANE was pestering PLAINTIFF. Not wanting to have another physical altercation like in TRESPASS INCIDENT #1, PLAINTIFF decided the best course of action at this time was to leave his dormitory because WES CRANE was bothering PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF is trying so hard to avoid a physical confrontation from happening again so PLAINTIFF states that he is leaving. PLAINTIFF then starts to go outside and leaves his room, and, sniveling little weasels do what they do, WES CRANE ran around PLAINTIFF in the hallway and got in front of PLAINTIFF in order to block the egress to go outside. PLAINTIFF told WES CRANE to move (from the entrance/exitway) as he was blocking the egress. PLAINTIFF wanted to leave. WES CRANE didn't move after being told nicely once. PLAINTIFF then commanded WES CRANE to move and get out of the way two more times. WES CRANE did not move from the entry way. Technically this is kidnapping by WES CRANE as PLAINTIFF was not free to leave. If this took place anywhere in the city or in America, PLAINTIFF guarantees you the vast majority of people's response to the situation would have been the same as mine. But PLAINTIFF digresses. So PLAINTIFF pushes WES CRANE enough so PLAINTIFF could step outside and out of the entrance/exit. It really wasn't hard of a push; however, WES CRANE awkwardly falls backwards and lands on his arm/wrist, thereby breaking WES CRANE'S wrist/arm. Even when SCOTUS has ruled on a few times in Free Speech cases that people can't prevent block the egress whether that was in Cox v. Louisiana, 379 U.S. 536 (1965) or Shuttlesworth v. City of Birmingham, 382 U.S. 87 (1965) in which the Petitioner and a group of his friends were "standing near a street intersection on a Birmingham, Alabama, sidewalk which a policeman thrice requested them to clear for pedestrian passage. After the third request, all but petitioner, who had been questioning the policeman about his order, had begun to walk away, and the policeman arrested petitioner... In other decisions subsequent to petitioner's conviction, § 1142 was construed by the Alabama Court of Appeals as applicable only to standing, loitering or walking on a street or sidewalk so as to obstruct free passage, and refusing to obey an officer's request to move on.”¹⁹⁰ So there is completely different treatment against PLAINTIFF because of this incident. This will be referenced in Star Chambers.

Before the next incident and vital to know, it is clear that in 2008, DEFENDANTS were actively watching and monitoring PLAINTIFF via Title II of the USA PATRIOT ACT/FISA. SOME DEFENDANTS were out to get PLAINTIFF at this time for some of the mistakes DEFENDANTS committed and were utilizing former friends like GRIFFIN FRY and WES CRANE against PLAINTIFF as informants in creating numerous situations, crimes, and obstructions of justice to get PLAINTIFF. Furthermore, this is extremely important in regards to some DEFENDANTS’ actions with City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015). Violating: United States v. Lard, 734 F.2d 1290 (8th Cir. 1984); United States v. Gardner, 658 F. Supp. 1573 (W.D. Pa. 1987); United States v. Leal, 32 F.4th 888 (10th Cir. 2022).

More pertinently, WES CRANE and GRIFFIN FRY and DEFENDANTS, came up with a scheme to make PLAINTIFF look bad and get PLAINTIFF falsely prosecuted for their crimes. GRIFFIN FRY one day comes up to PLAINTIFF in Spring 2008 and says she is need of some money and has these one or two checks. PLAINTIFF says ok and PLAINTIFF doesn’t know what he is supposed to do to help GRIFFIN FRY get money and it is not his responsibility because GRIFFIN FRY and PLAINTIFF were not in a dating relationship or anything like that. Then conveniently, WES CRANE tells PLAINTIFF how to ‘kite’ checks. At this time, PLAINTIFF was not a fraudster and had no idea how to scam banks via kiting. PLAINTIFF tells GRIFFIN the information WES CRANE told him. PLAINTIFF also relayed to GRIFFIN FRY how PLAINTIFF thought it wasn’t right and that GRIFFIN FRY shouldn’t do it; but PLAINTIFF was interested in her romantically and that evaded my better judgment when PLAINTIFF told her how to kite through using WES CRANE’s words. Then something happens to GRIFFIN FRY and the checks (that PLAINTIFF wishes he could recall) and then PLAINTIFF gets blamed for it as though it is completely PLAINTIFF’S fault that it all went wrong and then PLAINTIFF is falsely labeled as a fraudster. It is likely GRIFFIN FRY and WES CRANE at this time were working on behalf of DEFENDANTS and conspired and concocted this scheme. This violated the HONOR CODE as it was dishonorable by DEFENDANTS. Violating: United States v. Lard, 734 F.2d 1290 (8th Cir. 1984); United States v. Gardner, 658 F. Supp. 1573 (W.D. Pa. 1987); United States v. Leal, 32 F.4th 888 (10th Cir. 2022).

To establish a repeat pattern of offender behavior to obstruct justice (to prove my joke said at Big Brothers Big Sister was serious intent and not a joke), DEFENDANTS did the following with GRIFFIN FRY and WES CRANE. Shockingly, WES CRANE ties up and binds GRIFFIN FRY to a chair for their reasons that PLAINTIFF cannot recall now—PLAINTIFF watches this happen, but in no way does PLAINTIFF participate in these activities because binding up people by rope for fun deeply disturbs PLAINTIFF and is shocked at the whole incident. PLAINTIFF hates seeing people bound up in rope or restraining devices. The incident comes to an end and is later talked about in the Law Enforcement Intervention section below. Violating: United States v. Lard, 734 F.2d 1290 (8th Cir. 1984); United States v. Gardner, 658 F. Supp. 1573 (W.D. Pa. 1987); United States v. Leal, 32 F.4th 888 (10th Cir. 2022). In U.S. v. Jones, 839 F.2d 1041(5th Cir. 1988), “The question, then, is whether Hagler can point to sufficient evidence at trial to show that the jury could have had a reasonable doubt concerning entrapment...Hagler's burden has two parts: he must point to evidence indicating (1) governmental inducement that might cause him to act criminally where he otherwise would not, and (2) his lack of intent, before contact by governmental agents, to commit the crime charged." The Government kept trying to induce PLAINTIFF to commit acts that he would have never committed.

Then TRESPASS INCIDENT #3. This incident served as a fundamental basis for City & County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 575 U.S. 600 (2015). This incident occurred after the False Identification event that will be talked about in Law Enforcement Interventions. How DEFENDANTS committed RICO predicate acts from this incident is shocking. How it was misconstrued by DEFENDANTS afterwards legally shocks the conscience. After TRESPASS INCIDENT #1, TRESPASS INCIDENT #2, after the death of CAIU RODRIGUEZ (so this is about March or April 2008), and all of the other things that happened freshman year (some of which will be explained upon further), PLAINTIFF was in his bed by himself, super depressed, wanting to be left alone in his dorm room (room 106) at Humphrey's Dorm.

In United States v. Lentz, 624 F.2d 1280 (5th Cir. 1980): "Regardless of the undercover devices employed, it could hardly shock anyone's conscience to see an elected law enforcement official prosecuted for willfully and knowingly breaking a law designed to protect citizens from just such conduct. While Lentz came into the plan late, he seems to have embraced it wholeheartedly, provided some of the means by which to carry it out, and taken part with full knowledge of the plan's illegality. The fact that Lentz was merely helping the police in their alleged efforts to catch criminals should not make prosecution of him unfair if he voluntarily and knowingly employed illegal methods. To hold otherwise, would be tantamount to giving police carte blanche to ignore laws passed to protect all citizens against improper invasions of their rights by police conduct. Since the discussions about the proposed break-in were almost hopelessly intertwined with conversations about the wiretapping, we believe that the break-in evidence was necessary to the government in its attempt to tell the whole story of the crime. The government draws support from United States v. Beechum, 582 F.2d 898 (5th Cir. 1978) (en banc), which approved of proof of extrinsic offenses under a common scheme or res gestae analysis "if the uncharged offense is 'so linked together in point of time and circumstances with the crime charged that one cannot be fully shown without proving the other.'" Id. at 911-12, n. 15 (quoting Slough Knightly, Other Vices, Other Crimes, 41 Iowa L.Rev. 325, 331 (1956)). We believe that, since Lentz was brought into the law enforcement group by Hullum both to perform the wiretap and to commit the break-in, evidence of the break-in would be relevant and admissible under Beechum."

Prior to WES CRANE knocking on the door, WES CRANE and SEWANEE PD/American Intel had conspired together to have WES CRANE come into PLAINTIFF'S room to instigate trouble and provoke more trouble. The outcome was reasonable as PLAINTIFF paid for the right to have his room undisturbed under the HONOR CODE and there were previous physical altercations in TRESPASS INCIDENT #1 and TRESPASS INCIDENT #2; this was done to provide a justification to deprive PLAINTIFF of his constitutional and liberty interests.

PLAINTIFF alleges that American Intel had called SEWANEE PD prior to the incident because of the evidence that American Intel had fabricated with both the “Mick Sheedy” incident and in the False Identification event that occurred prior to this event was necessarily tainted and based on perjured testimony, was materially misleading, and blatantly unconstitutional. American Intel needed material proof that PLAINTIFF allegedly posed some type of threat, and they would introduce that as evidence to prosecute PLAINTIFF and coverup their previous actions by getting a conviction on a fraudulent basis. The best and most perfect evidence American Intel could obtain to prosecute PLAINTIFF on that basis would be if that evidence came from a different police department and a police officer that would be allegedly untainted in which the word of law enforcement officers are instantaneously trusted. Furthermore, American Intel and Sewanee PD needed to cover up what TKL did in Big Brothers Big Sisters in threatening to deprive PLAINTIFF of his constitutional and liberty interests. There are two demonstrable times that DEFENDANTS/SEWANEE PD unconstitutionally coerced PLAINTIFF into either being falsely identified as having perpetuated a crime (False Identification) or being coerced into confessing a crime in which PLAINTIFF is forced to sign a blank confession (Big Brothers Big Sisters). Furthermore, this is after MIDYEAR to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection and all of the issues that it brings. So, American Intel needed new evidence against PLAINTIFF and intentionally took advantage of a man grieving the passing of his godchild who was severely depressed in the process taking advantage yet again of the harm they had wrecked upon PLAINTIFF and exploiting his disability. Sewanee PD, who after talking to DOJ/FBI/CIA/American INTEL, had called or contacted WES CRANE, who at this time, was a paid informant for SEWANEE PD and American Intel. Together, they concocted a scheme to fraudulently convey their intended and false and misleading narrative in having WES CRANE “be the friendly” who was concerned about PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF’S well being who then contacted SEWANEE PD who then contacted DOJ/American Intel about the false “threat” that PLAINTIFF posed because DEFENDANTS DOJ/FBI/CIA had lied to a court and had obstructed justice concerning PLAINTIFF before this incident concerning Peachy Miami (next section) and the False Identification event (upcoming section) in which DEFENDANTS needed to cover up their fraud by fabricating new additional evidence against PLAINTIFF. DEFENDANTS’ mistake involved TITLE II of the USA PATRIOT ACT in which DEFENDANTS obtained court approval to surveil PLAINTIFF on fraudulent grounds (in which probably a DOJ lawyer lied to the court) and constitutional violations in Peachy Miami and the False Identification event in which PLAINTIFF would have had standing to sue and have it declared unconstitutional at this exact time. Probably because this involved PLAINTIFF’S sarcastic text message to RACHAEL SANDERS in whoopsie and omitted key facts about it.

United States v. Cook, 793 F.2d 734 (5th Cir. 1986) (“[b]oth the fact of conspiracy and a defendant's participation in it may be proved by circumstantial evidence.” 793 F.2d at 736). “As was the case in United States v. Postal, 589 F.2d 862 (5th Cir.) ... “the mere fact that [defendant] made the statement is relevant to the issues of [his] knowledge of the conspiracy and his participation in it.”...As Professor McCormick explains: “Proof that one talks about a matter demonstrates on its face that he was conscious or aware of it, and his veracity simply does not enter into the situation.” [omitted].” U.S. v. Jones, 839 F.2d 1041 (5th Cir. 1988). “If the government's conduct in the investigation through a sting operation is so active that its conduct fabricated elements of the offense, it might be considered a violation of due process to prosecute the defendant.” U.S. v. Steinhorn, 739 F. Supp. 268, 271 (D. Md. 1990).

This was around late March or early April 2008. WES CRANE knocks at the door and says it is him at the door. PLAINTIFF wanted to be left alone and WES CRANE was the last motherfucking person PLAINTIFF wanted to see at that time. PLAINTIFF is alleging DEFENDANTS knew that PLAINTIFF'S god child had died, they knew issues involving WES CRANE and PLAINTIFF, knew that PLAINTIFF was grieving and depressed after all the crap they pulled over the years concerning PLAINTIFF as he had become a pariah (in a large part because of their actions) and PLAINTIFF is alleging that in 2008, it was that ascertainable that PLAINTIFF was autistic that American Intel knew about by having plugged in PLAINTIFF'S behavioral characteristics in their pre-crime analysis and intentionally manipulated PLAINTIFF yet again to get the outcome that American Intel/FBI/ANDREW MCCABE/PETER STRZOK wanted to try to obstruct justice and fabricate crimes to coverup their own misdeeds. PLAINTIFF would have rather had the Devil show up (well close enough) than have WES CRANE show up at his door that late day in March or April 2008.

So, WES CRANE knocks on the door and says it is him. "More generally, private parties have been held liable for conspiring with public authorities to effectuate an arrest, see, e.g., Adickes v. S.H. Kress Co., 398 U.S. 144 (1970)." PLAINTIFF specifically does not answer nor acknowledge that he is there because PLAINTIFF intentionally does not welcome WES CRANE into the room (i.e. home) as to avoid trouble and let PLAINTIFF have some peace. Normally, when one goes to another's home, knocks on the front door, and hears no reply, it necessarily means one of two things: 1) the individual(s) are not there or 2) that person is not welcome to come in at that moment—it means that they can't come into the home.¹⁹¹ DEFENDANTS know that WES CRANE had not gained the proper permission to enter into PLAINTIFF'S room from that exact moment on; and by having been so intertwined with all the events at SEWANEE, this is of the exact legal consequence of an FBI agent/CIA officer/law enforcement officer entering into a home without probable cause in which there were absolutely no exigent circumstances, PLAINTIFF wasn't a drug user so no actual smells of drugs would emit under PLAINTIFF'S door (except the neighbor on the right of PLAINTIFF was known to partake in drugs), PLAINTIFF did not scuffle around to destroy evidence or anything of the sort, no exigent circumstance. Period. Furthermore, this is supplemented by the facts that WES CRANE necessarily knew PLAINTIFF and WES CRANE were not on good terms at the time and PLAINTIFF especially despised WES CRANE barging into his room and had issues with WES CRANE being in PLAINTIFF'S room. There is not a single reason for WES CRANE to be in the room or enter the room like PLAINTIFF had to in Confidential Papers in which that would have allowed any random passerby to view detailed psychological research information about their own classmates. PLAINTIFF left the door unlocked since he was in the room and had normally left the door unlocked because of the HONOR CODE and would have welcomed nearly everyone else except for WES CRANE and Law Enforcement. WES CRANE barges in the room.

As previously stated, WES CRANE was the last person PLAINTIFF wanted to see to cheer up PLAINTIFF after WES CRANE'S numerous betrayals through the year and predicate RICO acts. PLAINTIFF is completely unarmed sitting on his bed with no weapons in sight. PLAINTIFF kindly asks WES CRANE to immediately leave. WES CRANE refuses and gives some spiel about trying to help PLAINTIFF in which PLAINTIFF necessarily knew this gesture was completely fraudulent and completely insincere regardless of PLAINTIFF not knowing the actual purpose behind it. WES CRANE never apologized for Trespass Incident #1 and Trespass Incident #2. WES CRANE never did anything to PLAINTIFF'S knowledge to help him socially after his betrayals. PLAINTIFF is now in a state of anger rumination. PLAINTIFF becomes even more irritated over the complete fraudulent nature and intention of WES CRANE because of the overall level of manipulateness and insincerity of WES CRANE exhibited through the months at Sewanee in which a major contributing factor to PLAINTIFF'S downfall was necessarily caused by WES CRANE betraying PLAINTIFF'S confidence and trust; and for that weasel to come in PLAINTIFF'S home and continue to take advantage of PLAINTIFF'S kindness and heart for malicious and fraudulent purposes and ulterior motives, that was completely unacceptable to PLAINTIFF (let alone any reasonable person). That violated the HONOR CODE. This is a complete provocation by Sewanee PD and American Intel. Even in light of these facts, PLAINTIFF wanting to avoid all physical confrontation and not have a repeat of TRESPASS INCIDENT #1 & TRESPASS INCIDENT #2, grabs WES CRANE by the shirt with both hands and escorts and guides WES CRANE out of the room after being told to leave multiple times by PLAINTIFF in which WES CRANE refuses. PLAINTIFF, during the entire encounter--and to the best of his recollection-- never told WES CRANE anything that would indicate that PLAINTIFF would harm himself, harm WES CRANE, or harm fellow SEWANEE students.

Here is the thing, even if we grant the fallacious argument that PLAINTIFF was armed with a knife (as will be alleged later) on his actual person, WES CRANE would have necessarily seen either: 1) PLAINTIFF discard a knife on his bed in getting up off the bed in order for both of PLAINTIFF'S hands to be free to grab WES CRANE and escort WES CRANE out of the room or 2) PLAINTIFF was armed with a large knife and then grabbed WES CRANE by the shirt with both hands with the knife in hand and somehow managed to guide WES CRANE with both hands with a large knife in one of his hand (which would have been awkward for PLAINTIFF) that WES CRANE would have necessarily seen the knife. But WES CRANE never saw a knife because PLAINTIFF did not have a knife in his possession at any time of the day. PLAINTIFF is kind of happy that WES CRANE is gone at this moment since PLAINTIFF avoided the physical severity of TRESPASS INCIDENTS #1 & #2 and thinks this is finally over. It only just begun.

So, PLAINTIFF closes the door and gets seconds of peace. Then a knock at the door is heard. American Intel/Sewanee PD officer enters the room and does a well-being check. Here is the thing, suppose PLAINTIFF truly threatened WES CRANE when WES CRANE was in the room--and that it wasn't a sting operation against PLAINTIFF— and WES CRANE falsely told the officer that PLAINTIFF threatened WES CRANE, Sewanee PD when presenting themselves at PLAINTIFF'S door would not have said it was a well-being check. An allegation of an assault and a well-being check are two entirely completely different things. Sure, there are times where they can necessarily intersect, but the probable cause would have been an assault and not a well-being check. Just because PLAINTIFF may have granted Sewanee PD officer entrance to do a well being check does not make the rest of the encounter untainted and constitutionally permissible. See: Fahy v. Connecticut, 375 U.S. 85 (1963) Allegations are later made that PLAINTIFF was wearing the same clothes all the time and didn't shower; but if you check PLAINTIFF'S class attendance at the time, PLAINTIFF was going to class at the time in which he would have taken a shower to be presentable in class. What the issue was is that PLAINTIFF likes to only wear a certain type of clothes (because he is autistic) and people became accustomed to his style because it was repetitive. PLAINTIFF allows the Sewanee PD officer in for the well-being check only and has only his consent on that issue. As PLAINTIFF is alleging, since it was part of a fraudulent scheme, the one act of granting an officer to enter his room for a wellbeing check does not eliminate the taint of the fraud that was being perpetuated against PLAINTIFF. HOWEVER, it is what happened afterwards that PLAINTIFF has issues with. PLAINTIFF alleges American Intel gave the Sewanee PD the form to induce PLAINTIFF to fill out the form in a particular way to conform to the nature of the fraudulent scheme. The Sewanee PD officer asks the standard questions and PLAINTIFF informs him of the truth that PLAINTIFF has absolutely no intention on harming anyone and has absolutely no intention on harming himself. The DEFENDANT/OFFICER asks if PLAINTIFF has any weapons on his possession or in the room and PLAINTIFF tells him NO all the while the DEFENDANT/OFFICER is looking at and pointing to roommate TED ROBINSON'S custom and large envelope opener that looked like a dagger on roommate TED ROBINSON'S desk that is about 5 or 6 inches big. PLAINTIFF is alleging, just in case, that TED ROBINSON was part of this fraudulent scheme in which American Intel/Sewanee PD gave TED ROBINSON the custom and large envelope opener dagger as to induce one to believe that there was always a weapon in the room that was prominently displayed on TED ROBINSON'S desk. PLAINTIFF denies it is his and then the Sewanee PD officer becomes belligerent and accuses PLAINTIFF of possessing that "weapon." Not only does PLAINTIFF tell the Sewanee PD officer again that the envelope opener is not PLAINTIFF'S, PLAINTIFF also then even informs the Sewanee PD officer that he will not use it on anyone or himself anyway. PLAINTIFF then kindly asks the OFFICER to leave as DEFENDANT/OFFICER no longer has probable cause to be in the room after conducting a well-being check in which he received PLAINTIFF'S truthful word that no harm will befall upon anyone or himself in conducting himself and conforming himself under the HONOR CODE as that governed the relationship between Sewanee PD and PLAINTIFF. So, the Sewanee PD officer leaves the room and PLAINTIFF "retreated" into his room and no longer wanted additional governmental intrusion after PLAINTIFF established probable cause to prove that PLAINTIFF did not pose a threat to himself or others. This was constitutional as "the right of a man to retreat into his own home and there be free from unreasonable governmental intrusion stands at the very core of the Fourth Amendment," Silverman v. United States, 365 U. S. 505 (1961). At this exact moment, that should have been the end of the encounter. But it wasn't. If the Sewanee PD officer had worn a body camera, this would have been proven to be true beyond a reasonable doubt.

Sewanee PD officer leaves, but because he doesn't have any new fabricated evidence needed to be utilized against PLAINTIFF after their initial encounter or as part of American Intel and Sewanee PD's fraudulent scheme, then comes back with paperwork within a matter of minutes to be used against PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF recalls that Sewanee PD officer asks if he was on any psychiatric medication and the Sewanee PD officer asks how disabled PLAINTIFF was at the time. The form, the coercion, the conspiracy against PLAINTIFF in furtherance of their RICO Enterprise 1 were the biggest issues. The form is just a single piece of paper. The top half of the form asked about a doctor's name and medication issues, but it is the bottom half of the form that is at issue. There are four boxes for PLAINTIFF to indicate on the form, and to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, these were the following options: threat to self; threat to others; not disabled; gravely disabled. To the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, there was not a portion on the form where PLAINTIFF could have given his truthful recollection/statement or indicate the actual level of severity of his disability at that moment. At one time in the coercion, PLAINTIFF had asked the officer if he could use the back of the paper to give a statement and the officer said NO. PLAINTIFF believes there may have been a time where PLAINTIFF started writing on the back of the form to give his statement and was prevented from doing so. Then DEFENDANT coerces PLAINTIFF into signing paperwork through some coercive argument that PLAINTIFF, to the best of his recollection, went along the lines of what TKL did to PLAINTIFF earlier that year in which PLAINTIFF had to sign it to continue to attend or to be even allowed to stay in SEWANEE. To the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, text messages at this time will reflect the truth of the following: DEFENDANT officer gives PLAINTIFF a pen to fill out the application and he takes the same pen with him when he leaves. At this time, PLAINTIFF was conforming himself to what the HONOR CODE required of him and under duress and coercion with answering and having to explain how disabled (i.e. depressed) PLAINTIFF was at the time and indicating that he had not posed a threat to others and self. As alluded to earlier, there was no option of "severely depressed" or an option of filling out a statement describing the severity of his disability at the time and PLAINTIFF would have chosen that answer if it was presented or provided his written statement (but that was not allowed or the cops had prevented PLAINTIFF from providing it); however, the closest concept of "severely depressed" on the form was "gravely disabled" and that is what PLAINTIFF indicated.

When filling out the form, PLAINTIFF did not indicate or check nor would have on his free accord indicate that he was a threat to others or himself because that would have been an HONOR CODE violation and a lie. DEFENDANTS have PLAINTIFF'S text messages that explain what happened in 2008. What PLAINTIFF has come to be made aware of is that the "threat to others" box was indicated. Only two explanations for this are possible: 1) the Sewanee PD officer in question after taking back the same pen he had given to PLAINTIFF, had taken the same pen and marked the box to indicate that PLAINTIFF was a threat to others after PLAINTIFF had signed the paperwork or 2) had forced PLAINTIFF under extreme duress necessarily putting his future at stake in SEWANEE in which PLAINTIFF had to indicate he was so in order for PLAINTIFF to stay on campus and continue his education in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and the fraudulent scheme against PLAINTIFF; the only way PLAINTIFF would have consciously allowed himself to indicate he was "a threat to others" under threat of expulsion was by the understanding that there was a remotely small possibility that PLAINTIFF could pose a threat to others and not that PLAINTIFF was actually an imminent and legal threat to others. Furthermore, this provides an additional proof of coercion because PLAINTIFF could not have understood that by indicating he was a threat to others that would in fact provide Sewanee the justification to expel PLAINTIFF precisely because he indicated he "posed a threat to others." When Sewanee PD and American Intel did this fraudulent scheme against PLAINTIFF, they necessarily used perjured testimony, committed mail and wire fraud, obstructed justice, and a whole host of different crimes and RICO crimes. This is all to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection on 08/23/2023 and PLAINTIFF'S text messages from 2008 would indicate the truth as PLAINTIFF understands it. Again, the issues are the form, lack of ability to properly fill out the form and indicate PLAINTIFF'S true level of disability and provide a statement that was not done in an atmosphere of coercion or forced by DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF is alleging that DEFENDANTS' coercion against PLAINTIFF was done because it would have provided a legally justifiable proof or evidence that DEFENDANTS needed against PLAINTIFF in furtherance of their RICO Enterprise 1 because they had lied, used perjured testimony, and omitted material facts against PLAINTIFF at this time. This all violated Silverman v. United States, 365 U. S. 505 (1961). TRESPASS INCIDENT #3 was born out of 18 U.S.C. §2, 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1512 (relating to tampering with a witness, victim, or an informant), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant). Constitutional Violations: 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment. 18 U.S.C. §1962 (a), 18 U.S.C. §1962(b), 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), and/or 18 U.S.C. 1962(f); 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1341 (relating to mail fraud) and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (relating to wire fraud); 18 U.S.C §241. Violating: United States v. Lard, 734 F.2d 1290 (8th Cir. 1984); United States v. Gardner, 658 F. Supp. 1573 (W.D. Pa. 1987); United States v. Leal, 32 F.4th 888 (10th Cir. 2022). What TRESPASS INCIDENT 3 evolved into in 2015 was horrific. DEFENDANTS violated Haynes v. Washington, 373 U.S. 503 (1963) holding: "that petitioner's written confession was obtained in, and was the result of, an atmosphere of substantial coercion and inducement created by statements and actions of state authorities, which made its admission in evidence violative of due process" in which the written confession was induced by police threats and promises." This is the third time DEFENDANTS violated Arizona v. Fulminate, 499 U.S 279 (1991) in which it was not a harmless error when there was an inducement by a government officer in which PLAINTIFF was force to admit in a confession to a certain aspect (that was materially untrue) to a crime against his constitutional interests. This violated Fikes v. Alabama, 352 U.S. 191 (1957). There was a coercion in PLAINTIFF'S confession in violation of the 5th and 14th Amendments. Those were the totality of the circumstances.

18 U.S.C §241 makes it a crime to "go in disguise... on the premises of another, with intent to prevent or hinder his free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege so secured—." Preventing and hindering the free exercise and enjoyment of my dorm room would violate the HONOR CODE as it was dishonorable. Trespassing prevents and hinders the enjoyment and use of property. DEFENDANTS and WES CRANE prevented and hindered the enjoyment and use of my property and violated my metaphysical sense of well being. So there existed a conspiracy before and committing a wanton violation of the law, which gives credence that there should have been a necessary delay in entry before entering PLAINTIFF's dorm room. For later and Foreshadowing: Therefore, committing these acts against PLAINTIFF created a significant reason to doubt an immediate entrance into PLAINTIFF'S room for the second time and the Constitutional violations that stem from WES CRANE'S and UNKNOWN OFFICER'S conspiracy prior to them entering PLAINTIFF'S dorm room in Trespass Incident #3. The Court when discussing an 18 U.S.C §241 violation stated that in order "to bring this case under the operation of the statute, therefore, it must appear that the right, the enjoyment of which the conspirators intended to hinder or prevent, was one granted or secured by the constitution or laws of the United States.” United States v. Cruikshank et al. 92 U.S. 542 (1876)—trespassing is illegal in Tennessee and Louisiana, Louisiana has a statutory right of self-defense, and as per the MID-YEAR section argument made earlier: “As SCOTUS ruled in Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975): “The Due Process Clause also forbids arbitrary deprivations of liberty. “Where a person's good name, reputation, HONOR, or integrity is at stake because of what the government is doing to him,” the minimal requirements of the Clause must be satisfied. Wisconsin v. Constantineau, 400 U. S. 433, 400 U. S. 437 (1971)” A person’s HONOR per SCOTUS is bound by the HONOR CODE at SEWANEE, which means there is a liberty and property interest in HONOR and in the HONOR CODE.” There existed a conspiracy to violate PLAINTIFF’S rights and metaphysical sense of well-being, DEFENDANTS violated PLAINTIFF’S rights in the process in which the OFFICER lied in a report about the incident (which violated the HONOR CODE), and DEFENDANTS committed unconstitutional acts in HUMPHREY’S Dorm Room #106, which is on SEWANEE’S campus; this in sum violated PLAINTIFF’S metaphysical sense of well-being, violated good relationships amongst people on campus, constituted egregious unconstitutional and illegal actions, and therefore violated the HONOR CODE; and therefore, these actions in sum constituted a RICO violation as PLAINTIFF was denied his property and liberty interests because of the HONOR CODE violation committed by DEFENDANTS. Furthermore when it comes to Sheehan’s Brief and City and County of San Francisco v. Sheehan, 600 U.S. 575 (2015), DOJ and DEFENDANTS had a conflict of interest resulting in personal gain from TRESPASS Incident #3 and other incidents in this episode. 18 U.S.C. 1346 defines the “scheme to defraud” element in the fraud statutes to include a scheme “to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services.” Some courts have said that honest services fraud in the public sector typically occurs in either of two situations: (1) bribery, where a public official was paid for a particular decision or action; or (2) failure to disclose a conflict of interest resulting in personal gain. Thereby, DEFENDANTS started to commit Mail and Wire Fraud from 2008 as this was done for their financial gain and was not honest services.

U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994) ruled on the proposition that an act of perjury can be an act of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1503 since “The findings (of obstruction of justice) encompass all the elements of perjury — falsity, materiality, and willfulness. The only matter about which the court was not explicit was whether Matiz's testimony was material. A sentencing court, however, is not required to address each element of perjury in a separate and clear finding. See id. In fact, the Court in Dunnigan affirmed a district court's finding that did not use the term willful...Dunnigan only requires that a sentencing court's findings encompass all of the factual predicates for a finding of perjury.” “The Supreme Court has stated that a witness testifying under oath commits perjury if “she gives false testimony concerning a material matter with the willful intent to provide false testimony, rather than as a result of confusion, mistake, or faulty memory.” United States v. Dunnigan, 113 S.Ct. 1111 (1993).” U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994). U.S. v. Ashland Oil Inc., 705 F. Supp. 270 (W.D. Pa. 1989) discussed what constituted materiality: “A concise summary of this materiality requirement is set forth in Justice Stevens' concurring opinion in Youngblood: Our cases make clear that “[t]he proper standard of materiality must reflect our overriding concern with the justice of the finding of guilt,” and the State's failure to turn over (or preserve) potentially exculpatory evidence therefore “must be evaluated in the context of the entire record.” United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976) (footnotes omitted); see also California v. Trombetta, 467 U.S. 479 (1984) (duty to preserve evidence “must be limited to evidence that might be expected to play a significant role in the suspect's defense")." "By limiting §1503 to acts having the "natural and probable effect" of interfering with the due administration of justice, the Court effectively reads the word "endeavor," which we said in Russell embraced "any effort or essay" to obstruct justice out of the omnibus clause, leaving a prohibition of only actual obstruction and competent attempts...A §1503 violation occurs when "an act is done corruptly if it's done voluntarily and intentionally to bring about either an unlawful result or a lawful result by some unlawful method, with a hope or expectation of either financial gain or other benefit to oneself or a benefit of another person." United States v. Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995).

"A review of the common law of this state shows that discretionary investigative enforcement measures extend beyond a tolerable level when by design the government uses continued pressure, appeals to friendship or sympathy, threats of arrest, an informant's vulnerability, sexual favors, or procedures which escalate criminal culpability. All of these traditional inducements are absent from the facts of this case. We conclude that the furnishing of contraband by the government is insufficient to induce or instigate the commission of a crime by the average person, similarly situated to these defendants, who is not ready and willing to commit it. We also note that this is not a case where the government's furnishing of narcotics was for the purpose of trying to escalate the criminal culpability of defendants. People v Killian, 117 Mich. App. 220; 323 N.W.2d 660 (1982)." People v. Jamieson, 436 Mich. 61 (Mich. 1990).

"Thus after Rogers, the law in this circuit permits an entrapment instruction involving a middleman when there is evidence that (1) a government agent specifically targeted the defendant in order to induce him to commit illegal conduct; (2) the agent acted through the middleman after other government attempts at inducing the defendant had failed; (3) the government agent requested, encouraged, or instructed the middleman to employ a specified inducement, which could be found improper, against the targeted defendant; (4) the agent's actions led the middleman to do what the government sought, even if the government did not use improper means to influence the middleman; and (5) as a result of the middleman's inducement, the targeted defendant in fact engaged in the illegal conduct." U.S. v. Luisi, 482 F.3d 43 (1st Cir. 2007).

"Thus, what is presented is that after months of investigation revealed no criminal activity, Agent Sullivan, based upon a philosophical remark by Ralph Finno as to his thoughts on what are classically considered "victimless crimes", decided to set up a loanshark operation. " the tapes reveal, most cogently to the matter at bar, that Eddie Wasco, another government agent, had to "sit down and give lessons" to the Finnos on how to lend FDLE money to FDLE agents to receive FDLE interest in return so that they could then be arrested and charged. The agent admitted the loansharking scheme was his idea... The state presented no evidence of ongoing criminal activity by the defendants, nor did it establish or suggest that Mr. Ralph Finno was engaged in criminal activity. Indeed, the opposite appears from the record. The video tape of Wasco telling the Finnos how to engage in the loanshark business belies the criminality the state would like to suggest. Even if the conduct of the government did not violate due process, we think that this case must still be resolved by affirming the trial court in light of Munoz on subjective entrapment grounds. In order to prove the subjective test of entrapment, Munoz establishes three questions to be asked: (1) did an agent of the government induce the accused to commit the offense charged; (2) was the accused predisposed to commit the offense charged; and (3) should the case of entrapment be submitted to the jury. In the instant case, there is no question that the government induced the appellees to commit the offense. The state does not dispute this. As to the second point, the trial court mentioned appellee Ralph Finno's "philosophical remark . . . as to his thoughts on what are classically considered 'victimless crimes.'" That the defendant may philosophically or theoretically think that some act should not be criminal cannot amount to predisposition to commit the crime. To claim that is to say that a newspaper editor, for instance, is predisposed to commit drug crimes because the editor has argued for legalization of drugs. Such advocacy does not amount to criminal predisposition. Thus, appellee's lack of concern for victimless crimes does not amount to predisposition." State v. Finno, 643 So. 2d 1166 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1994).

Wilkes v. Wood, 98 Eng. Rep. 489 (1763) (held that the Secretary of State committed an act of trespass by entering an individual's home and destroying his property with a general administrative warrant). Entick v. Carrington, 95 Eng. Rep. 807 (1765) (concluding that messengers of the King had no authority to enter into the private home of an individual and seize his papers and effects without a judicial warrant and probable cause). This applies.

FBI: ROBERT MUELLER. CIA: MICHAEL HAYDEN. DOJ Attorney General: MICHAEL MUKASEY. DOJ Solicitor General: Paul Clement. DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta): SALLY YATES.

Let PLAINTIFF give GRIFFIN FRY'S M.O and how DOJ/American Intel used GRIFFIN FRY against PLAINTIFF. One day in late Spring Semester 2008, GRIFFIN FRY made up some shit about PLAINTIFF having allegedly stabbed her (HONOR CODE violation)(PLAINTIFF will explain later) or that PLAINTIFF was at complete fault about in which GRIFFIN FRY would completely blame PLAINTIFF knowing it was Griffin Fry's fault. PLAINTIFF and GRIFFIN FRY got into an argument one day and GRIFFIN FRY texts PLAINTIFF falsely accusing PLAINTIFF of having something to the effect of having "so much blood on my hands” and that is how GRIFFIN FRY operated. Griffin Fry initiated the problem by falsely accusing PLAINTIFF of something and PLAINTIFF had to become defensive, and this repeatedly happened throughout Freshman year at SEWANEE. How this escalated through American Intel and Sewanee PD is the following: Griffin Fry knowingly and intentionally perjured an allegation that PLAINTIFF had cut/stabbed her. Then what American Intel would do is merge and combine the two completely different and completely separate incidents (both of which were necessarily perjured) and then make it out to be one incident or false narrative and accuse PLAINTIFF of that crime. This is obstruction of justice, retaliation, mail and wire fraud, etc. GRIFFIN FRY is from ATLANTA in which GRIFFIN FRY, PLAINTIFF is alleging, cooperated with the White House (Cheryl Mills and other staff members of both the George Bush White House and DOJ and Barack Obama White House and DOJ) and/or DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta) and FBI’S Atlanta field office. PLAINTIFF is alleging that Both the DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta) and FBI’S Atlanta Field Office (as well as FBI Headquarters) had paid GRIFFIN FRY for her perjured testimony and utilized it against PLAINTIFF that perpetuated Mail and Wire Fraud. GEORGE W. BUSH and his staff had interacted with DOJ Northern District of Georgia and FBI’S Atlanta Field Office in this time and had been part of the conspiracy against PLAINTIFF. Furthermore, MARK F. GIULIANO was part of the enterprise from at least PEACHY MIAMI under 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 42 U.S.C. 1985(2) and 18 U.S.C. 241.

Mark F. Giuliano, from 2005 to 2010, “Giuliano served in the FBI Atlanta Field Office, Atlanta, Georgia, and during his tenure there, he served in Afghanistan as the FBI Commander on the scene. From 2010 to 2011, he served as the assistant director of the FBI Counterterrorism Division within the National Security Branch. From 2011 to 2012, he has served as the executive assistant director of the FBI National Security Branch. From August 2012 to November 2013, he served as the Special Agent in Charge (SAC) of the FBI Atlanta Field Office. Deputy Director from December 1st, 2013 to Feb 1st, 2016.”¹⁹² Mark F. GIULIANO is part of the ladder and chain of command of how this went up so high involving PLAINTIFF in which he was part of the scheme under 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 42 U.S.C. 1985(2) and 18 U.S.C. 241.

PLAINTIFF was initially romantically interested in GRIFFIN FRY. GRIFFIN and PLAINTIFF were good friends at first; PLAINTIFF and GRIFFIN were in the same classes, had the same career desires where we wanted to be doctors (PLAINTIFF wanted to be a psychiatrist) and both GRIFFIN FRY and PLAINTIFF majored in psychology later on, and GRIFFIN FRY and PLAINTIFF talked a lot. GRIFFIN and PLAINTIFF talked about everything light and everything dark; we joked about dark things as well. See: PLAINTIFF’S 2e twice exceptional personality features above. Furthermore, since we joked about things in which sarcastic dark humor was a necessary part of the humor between GRIFFIN FRY and PLAINTIFF, Title VI is implicated. Griffin Fry and PLAINTIFF talked a lot about criminal justice issues.

The important thing to note about the relationship between GRIFFIN FRY and PLAINTIFF is that PLAINTIFF was autistic and naïve; PLAINTIFF understood at the time that when you talk about psychology with someone (especially psychology majors), you are bound to talk about the dark sides of human psychology, that includes crimes. Furthermore, wanting to be a future psychiatrist at the time, necessarily having to work with patients that have mental disorders or who are criminals or who have abnormal psychology. PLAINTIFF was intellectually curious about things and PLAINTIFF wanted to understand GRIFFIN FRY'S psychology completely (that included her dark side). See: PLAINTIFF'S 2e twice exceptional personality features above. PLAINTIFF worked out with GRIFFIN FRY a lot; PLAINTIFF encouraged her to join the rowing team and PLAINTIFF and GRIFFIN would regularly go on the row machines at Fowler Gym, work out, and PLAINTIFF would help push her to be the best rower and do her best academically in full support of TITLE IX. PLAINTIFF one time drove far to a regatta to support her in which none of her other friends had come out to support her. As stated earlier, PLAINTIFF would regularly help her in her academics as well.

GRIFFIN FRY and PLAINTIFF, probably at the fabricating evidence direction of GRIFFIN FRY and DEFENDANTS, talked about terrorism one day. If PLAINTIFF had to make a best guess of where and when this took place, it would have been in PLAINTIFF'S Dorm or a Dorm Room in Humphrey's from like the Middle of PLAINTIFF'S Freshman year (October, November 2007 or January or February 2008), but what PLAINTIFF is absolutely certain of and knows is that it took place somewhere on SEWANEE and that the content of the conversations had were had PLAINTIFF'S Freshman year between GRIFFIN FRY and PLAINTIFF. Talking about terrorism can be entertaining and that is why it is included in a lot of movies. Knowing the details of a plot shows the details of the person—any decent storyteller will tell you that to be true. How talking about terrorism came up and where it came up, PLAINTIFF does not recall, but being psychology majors and having interest in criminal justice/crime, it was a topic that did in fact come up one day and it was talked about. See: PLAINTIFF'S 2e twice exceptional personality features above.

One day after bringing up the topic of terrorism, GRIFFIN FRY (to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection) explained how she would commit a terrorist act (which DEFENDANTS completely ignored and omitted key factual material, PLAINTIFF is alleging because Griffin Fry was a paid informant in which American Intel needed fabricated evidence against PLAINTIFF) and she gave some details on how she would do it. PLAINTIFF also elaborated upon how and where he would do it in the conversation with GRIFFIN FRY in which PLAINTIFF explained IF hypothetical PLAINTIFF were to do it (as a hypothetical), it would be in MIAMI and blow up the retaining walls keeping water of the city and other details (even a recent BATMAN movie depicted the same thing in Gotham City in which a seriously autistic Riddler had planned such an act and coincidentally also talked about corruption in a prominent family in the political elite and crimes and hypocrisy of the elite, PLAINTIFF wonders where they got that idea from? Retaining walls keeping water out of the city is critical infrastructure. PLAINTIFF, trying to demonstrate his intelligence and strategy seeing how he was in the top 5% of the country and arguments made in Anarchy in how to be successful, necessarily included in his debate with GRIFFIN FRY, a fellow student, about terrorism an inherent and existent weakness in the FBI in which certain and different FBI field offices all have different priorities and, would thereby, spend more resources and attention related to their differing and main priorities and would not pay as much attention to the other priorities. In 2007, anyone committing a terrorist act in Florida was far lower than in any major American city like New York, Washington D.C., Los Angeles, etc., In conjunction with that previous point, PLAINTIFF got in the mind of a stereotypical middle eastern terrorist and said where a middle eastern terrorist would likely not commit a terrorist act and PLAINTIFF chose a location where a stereotypical middle eastern terrorist would likely not commit a terrorist act--MIAMI. Miami is too nice and if a terrorist even did come to Miami, would be awestruck on how beautiful Miami is with their night life, beaches, and especially the ladies, and would have stopped anyway. These facts and observations pissed off and enraged FBI'S PETER STRZOK, ANDREW MCCABE, and AMERICAN INTEL to such an extent that it made them completely unable to be objective down the road in any future investigations or activity. PLAINTIFF did not violate 18 U.S.C. 231 in those discussions.

First off, the Supreme Court ruled that the Fourth Amendment does not permit the use of warrantless wiretaps in cases involving domestic threats to the national security. United States v. United States District Court, 407 U. S. 297 (1972). So even if there was a threat, which there wasn't, DEFENDANTS violated United States v. United States District Court, 407 U. S. 297 (1972). "This point is perhaps best illustrated by the determination that the senior law enforcement official in the Nation-the Attorney General of the United States-is protected only by qualified, rather than absolute, immunity when engaged in the performance of national defense functions rather than prosecutorial functions." Mitchell v. Forsyth, 472 U. S. 511 (1985). So when PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER utilized TITLE II erroneously, their immunity is only at a qualified level; and of course the Attorney General of the United States has to know of prior SCOTUS precedent.

This is the most important point about Miami. In Bartnicki v. Vopper, 532 U.S. 514 (2001) (decided May 2001), a case that has some relevance, but PLAINTIFF is going to point something out with this case. PLAINTIFF argues that it is immaterial if this case was decided prior to 9/11. SCOTUS was factually confronted with the following statement in the case that dealt with wire interception: "At one point, Kane said: "If they're not gonna move for three percent, we're gonna have to go to their, their homes To blow off their front porches, we'll have to do some work on some of those guys. (PAUSES). Really, uh, really and truthfully because this is, you know, this is bad news. (UNDECIPHERABLE)." Kane had a specific financial motivation to place a bomb in a specific location at specific individual's home with a possible threat to the physical well-being of the specific individuals at issue—that is not absolutely not a mischaracterization. Right? Right. Now PLAINTIFF presumes no actual bombs were placed and Kane didn't take any steps to make or place the bomb and no physical harm befell upon the individuals at issue. Kane sued Vopper and PLAINTIFF is presuming that Kane was not in jail for saying that at the time. Mitchell v. Forsyth, 472 U. S. 511 (1985) that dealt with wire interception and an actual group of Americans threatening places and to make bombs and SCOTUS decided it 16 years earlier and Watts involving true threats was decided before that. So, the Court really can't say they were that oblivious to the issues that involved groups planning terrorism and wire interception and the amount necessary to evaluate the issues involving those issues. Now when SCOTUS in 2001 were confronted with those specific facts, they didn't even question it. SCOTUS had the complete discretion to say that based on the specific facts dealing with wire interception that the question presented was improvidently granted because they could have dealt with the scenario of proper interception when it came to an American allegedly making "true threats" that were far more legitimate and detailed than PLAINTIFF ever gave in Peachy Miami. BUT SCOTUS DID NOT DO THIS. Then it makes no sense why Americans and their free speech rights are attacked because of what Saudi Arabians did on 9/11. The United States Government did not do to Kane what they did to PLAINTIFF. So then what is the issue? It absolutely cannot be the level specificity PLAINTIFF said in Miami because SCOTUS had the opportunity and chance to address that issue in at least Bartnicki v. Vopper, 532 U.S. 514 (2001) which SCOTUS didn't even think the level of specificity involving a far more detailed true threat, Americans, bombs, and wire interception as Title II was available back then. So, if it is not SCOTUS, not actual law, not actual steps undertaken, then the issue necessarily must be the judgment of PETER STRZOK, ROBERT MUELLER, MICHAEL HAYDEN, and ANDREW MCCABE.

PETER STRZOK became an absolute 'man-baby' about Miami. Instead of rationally and reasonably understanding that it was a problem; and that the FBI should be thankful that someone who did NOT have an actual or serious intent to commit that act and pointed out a problem; and that the FBI could actually do their job and make sure it wasn't a problem in the future thereby keeping our country safe. What was far more consequential to the country is what DEFENDANTS did afterwards because of PETER STRZOK'S judgment.

The whole point of Freedom of Speech and listening to divergent views is that every once in a while, divergent views point a problem and create a solution to a problem to better mankind. Like Nikola Tesla and Ignaz Semmelweis before him, PLAINTIFF got absolutely destroyed by DEFENDANTS when PLAINTIFF pointed out a problem (and actually had a solution to it) DEFENDANTS were not capable of seeing or understanding and creating a solution for it. PETER STRZOK the 'man-baby' continued to harbor a deep resentment for PLAINTIFF for his speech because he justified all of their torture, racketeering, and war-crimes on it and connected HILLARY CLINTON to PLAINTIFF'S MIAMI speech. See Text Message below from 07/27/2016:

2016-07-27 00:52:32, Wed	INBOX	More than a reference. Two points: terrorism Miami St Bernadino everywhere we're vigilant; second, HRC. Right decision. You may disagree but don't you dare think or say it was biased.

"Everywhere we're vigilant" was in regards to PLAINTIFF'S argument about FBI resources and priorities made earlier. Sending a text message about PLAINTIFF that had information from when he was in Tennessee about RICO Enterprise 1 makes it cross state line and is wired or communicated interstate. Miami is obvious as that connects to the city PLAINTIFF said. This is a factual nexus establishing retaliation based on constitutionally protected speech. Executive Order 13584 issued by BARACK OBAMA on 09/11/2011, said the following: (vi) identifying shortfalls in U.S. capabilities in any areas relevant to the Center's mission and recommending necessary enhancements or changes. So necessarily, PLAINTIFF did exactly what the Government and employees were required to do; BUT YET, DEFENDANTS ROBERT MUELLER, MICHAEL HAYDEN, LEON PANETTA, JOHN O. BRENNAN, PETER STRZOK, ANDREW MCCABE, KEPT COMING AFTER PLAINTIFF even five years after E.O. 13584 was issued and justified their unconstitutional treatment on things they were required to do under President Obama. That is UNEQUAL TREATMENT UNDER THE LAW.

As stated before, relevantly, PLAINTIFF scored in the top 5% of all students across the country in the A.P US History exam when he was in high school. Knowing history means knowing strategies as history is won by winners because you can't know history without knowing strategies. GRIFFIN FRY or someone else in PLAINTIFF'S life, to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, furthered the conversation and asked what PLAINTIFF how one would justify getting a terrorist. PLAINTIFF said something along the lines of since the United States was at war at the time, to use military law and rules of engagement as a base. If it wasn't with Griffin Fry, it was with someone else.

What PLAINTIFF demands the Court to recognize in the ruling is the following at this absolute and key juncture—the difference in how PLAINTIFF never acted upon plans in which DEFENDANTS not only acted upon 2 key plans PLAINTIFF had talked about 4 separate times (1 plan--3 times and 1 plan--1 time), but DEFENDANTS created far more sophisticated and deeper plans that PLAINTIFF could have never imagined or conceived of at that time that was in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 in which DEFENDANTS murdered PLAINTIFF'S cat and committed acts of domestic and international terrorism against an American. DEFENDANTS are complete savage hypocrites here.

“The danger that high federal officials will disregard constitutional rights in their zeal to protect the national security is sufficiently real to counsel against affording such officials an absolute immunity.” Mitchell v. Forsyth, 472 U.S. 511 (1985). “Because the Amendment now affords protection against the uninvited ear, oral statements, if illegally overheard, and their fruits are also subject to suppression. Silverman v. United States, 365 U. S. 505 (1961); Katz v. United States, 389 U. S. 347 (1967)”

In Gooding, Warden v. Wilson, 405 U.S. 518 (1972), appellee was convicted of using opprobrious words and abusive language in violation of Georgia Code Ann. § 26-6303 that provides: "Any person who shall, without provocation, use to or of another, and in his presence . . . opprobrious words or abusive language, tending to cause a breach of the peace . . . shall be guilty of a misdemeanor." The statute “punishes only spoken words.” So since PLAINTIFF did not in fact take any substantial steps in furthering MIAMI, it is not a conspiracy nor is it conduct. Therefore, the closest thing to PLAINTIFF'S actual words involving MIAMI was that PLAINTIFF'S words were opprobrious that could cause a breach of the peace because part of the speech involved demonstrating one of FBI's weaknesses (and to them, that could plausibly be construed as contemptuous, scornful, etc. to the FBI). Even the Court used Webster's Third New International Dictionary (1961) to define "opprobrious" as "conveying or intended to convey disgrace" Id. That is how PETER STRZOK perceived it because he was insulted by it because it brought disgrace to the FBI; well the only thing that brings disgrace to the FBI in reality is DEFENDANTS RICO Enterprise. Simply, PLAINTIFF would be punished for PLAINTIFF'S words and speech on the basis of a Title VI violation. Period. The Court found the Statute and the PUNISHMENT unconstitutional. PETER STRZOK was obviously offended. Well the Court in, Cohen v. California, 403 U.S. 15 (1971), found the statute that “maliciously and willfully disturb[ing] the peace or quiet of any neighborhood or person by offensive conduct” as unconstitutional. Cohen, The defendant, “did not engage in, nor threaten to engage in, nor did anyone as the result of his conduct in fact commit or threaten to commit any act of violence.” Id. The Court highlighted that Cohen's conviction “quite clearly rests upon the asserted offensiveness of the words Cohen used to convey his message to the public. The only "conduct" which the State sought to punish is the fact of communication. Thus, we deal here with a conviction resting solely upon "speech," cf. Stromberg v. California, 283 U. S. 359 (1931), not upon any separately identifiable conduct which allegedly was intended by Cohen to be perceived by others as expressive of particular views but which, on its face, does not necessarily convey any message and hence arguably could be regulated without effectively repressing Cohen's ability to express himself." Id. PETER STRZOK not only hated PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability, but PETER STRZOK/JAMES COMEY, et al. DEFENDANTS were so offended by PLAINTIFF about MIAMI that they willingly and intentionally allowed international and domestic terrorism, war crimes, and torture to take place against PLAINTIFF simply because PLAINTIFF pointed out a weakness and on the basis of PLAINTIFF'S disability because they were offended. There was no other way or manner to talk about a weakness that the FBI had than by simply talking about the weakness the FBI had and that is all what PLAINTIFF did. The Court reversed Cohen's punishment/conviction. PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER don't get qualified immunity.

In Healy et al. v James et al., 408 U.S. 169 (1972), there were numerous Free Speech issues for the Court to rule on and it primarily involved a group getting recognition from Campus Administrators. One of the questions administrators asked of the group was: "How would you respond to issues of violence as other S. D. S. chapters have?" So how would the FBI/PETER STRZOK/JAMES COMEY/ANDREW MCCABE, SEWANEE, GRIFFIN FRY, and PLAINTIFF respond to THE DISCUSSION OF ISSUES OF VIOLENCE/TERRORISM that America experienced is on point, relevant, and applicable. The Court talked about how "The college classroom with its surrounding environs is peculiarly the 'marketplace of ideas,' " and how the Court "break no new constitutional ground in reaffirming this Nation's dedication to safeguarding academic freedom..." The Court found a substantial hinderance in: "the organization's ability to participate in the intellectual give and take of campus debate, and to pursue its stated purposes, is limited by denial of access to the customary media for communicating with the administration, members, and other students. Such impediments cannot be viewed as insubstantial..." Id. There was an issue in the district court in which "that court's view all that was denied petitioners was the 'administrative seal of official college respectability.'" A majority of the Court of Appeals agreed that petitioners had been denied only the "college's stamp of approval." Id. The Court ruled in favor of the students in which "These fundamental errors discounting the existence of a cognizable First Amendment interest and misplacing the burden of proof require that the judgments below be reversed." Specifically, when it came to a group's view on violence, the Court ruled that "The government has the burden of establishing a knowing affiliation with an organization possessing unlawful aims and goals, and a specific intent to further those illegal aims." Furthermore, when the Court talked about The President of the School denying respectability, "President James¹⁹³ in an alumni periodical, and made a part of the record below, he announced his unwillingness to "sanction an organization that openly advocates the destruction of the very ideals and freedoms upon which the academic life is founded." He further emphasized that the petitioners' "philosophies" were "counter to the official policy of the college." The mere disagreement of the President with the group's philosophy affords no reason to deny it recognition. As repugnant as these views may have been, especially to one with President James' responsibility, the mere expression of them would not justify the denial of First Amendment rights. Whether petitioners did in fact advocate a philosophy of "destruction" thus becomes immaterial. The College, acting here as the instrumentality of the State, may not restrict speech or association simply because it finds the views expressed by any group to be abhorrent. As Mr. Justice Black put it most simply and clearly: "I do not believe that it can be too often repeated that the freedoms of speech, press, petition and assembly guaranteed by the First Amendment must be accorded to the ideas we hate or sooner or later they will be denied to the ideas we cherish." Communist Party v. SACB, 367 U. S. 1, 137 (dissenting opinion) (1961)." Like PLAINTIFF has constantly argued. This took place at Sewanee in college in a debate with Griffin Fry. DEFENDANTS, JAMES COMEY, ANDREW MCCABE, and PETER STRZOK cannot factually point to anything in these conversations that conveyed an actual serious intent by PLAINTIFF on furthering and acting upon the talk that presented itself as a clear and present danger nor was PLAINTIFF'S speech an call to commit imminent lawlessness and violence. PERIOD. PLAINTIFF took absolutely no substantial steps in furthering the falsely alleged MIAMI plot. DEFENDANTS never took into consideration PLAINTIFF'S Mens Rea and omitted that from FISA rulings and Warrants. All the warrants that utilized MIAMI were done on violations of PLAINTIFF'S First Amendment Protected Speech and were therefore prejudicial. From every moment after PLAINTIFF talked about MIAMI, 18 U.S.C 1512(d) applies in which it prohibits harassing federal witnesses and PLAINTIFF was necessarily a witness to DEFENDANTS RICO Enterprise at this time. DEFENDANTS found PLAINTIFF'S speech offensive or opprobrious and PLAINTIFF would be constantly punished for pointing out a weakness that the FBI had. Period. Every single FISA ruling concerning PLAINTIFF was prejudiced on the grounds of DEFENDANTS' hatred for PLAINTIFF and his disability and DEFENDANTS routinely retaliating against PLAINTIFF on the basis of his speech. Is that going to be DEFENDANTS' position now that when there is a debate about terrorism in FBI'S Quantico or the Barn in CIA in their classrooms that is not protected under the Constitution? That debates about terrorism are not protected speech in universities all across the country? That is a constitutionally reckless and abhorrent position by DEFENDANTS. The ideas of fixing one's weaknesses to prevent further harm should have been cherished by DEFENDANTS. BUT DEFENDANTS did the exact opposite with PLAINTIFF in Summer 2015 in An Anchor and a Pitchfork and utilized it and acted upon it like actual terrorists. PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER don't get qualified immunity.

Debating is entertaining to a Twice Exception individual as that is intellectually stimulating as well as common practice with Serbians. See: Upbringing. This section is also applicable to the argument made about Hollywood screenwriters earlier. In a way, depiction and talk of terrorism can be viewed as entertaining. Suppose texting and sending a text message is the same as distributing or transmitting a publication and are equal. If PLAINTIFF texted or sent on Facebook GRIFFIN the MIAMI details, then the following applies. The Court in Winters v. New York, 333 U.S. 507 (1948) said "The line between the informing and the entertaining is too elusive for the protection of that basic right. Everyone is familiar with instances of propaganda through fiction. What is one man's amusement, teaches another's doctrine. Though we can see nothing of any possible value to society in these magazines, they are as much entitled to the protection of free speech as the best of literature." The issue in the case was that "The subsection of the New York Penal Law, as now interpreted by the Court of Appeals, prohibits distribution of a magazine principally made up of criminal news or stories of deeds of bloodshed or lust, so massed as to become vehicles for inciting violent and depraved crimes against the person..." The Miami incident was a hypothetical story of deeds of bloodshed, and as DEFENDANTS would probably argue and have argued, "became a vehicle for inciting violent and depraved crimes against the person." The Court found that "the specification of publications, prohibited from distribution, too uncertain and indefinite to justify the conviction of this petitioner. Even though all detective tales and treatises on criminology are not forbidden, and though publications made up of criminal deeds not characterized by bloodshed or lust are omitted from the interpretation of the Court of Appeals, we think fair use of collections of pictures and stories would be interdicted because of the utter impossibility of the actor or the trier to know where this new standard of guilt would draw the line between the allowable and the forbidden publications.” The Court specifically called out the constitutional abhorrence of how a violation of the law in the case that concerned Free Speech occurred in which “No intent or purpose is required.” So the Court necessarily talked about that there needs to be a specific intent, purpose, and mens rea in mind; and failure to include this requisite was a constitutional violation; and arguably, a exculpatory evidence violation. Furthermore, and in conclusion, the Court said: “Where a statute is so vague as to make criminal an innocent act, a conviction under it cannot be sustained. Herndon v. Lowry, 301 U.S. 242, 259.” PETER STRZOK used the MIAMI example in FISA and FISA ruled against PLAINTIFF’S Constitutional Interests. PLAINTIFF is alleging that all exculpatory evidence of PLAINTIFF’S Mens Rea was deliberately and intentionally ignored and thereby caused a violation of PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 5th, and 14th Amendment Rights when it came to the MIAMI discussion/entertaining/debate with GRIFFIN FRY.

The critical point being and this applies to the Section Anarchy/Anarchist Cookbook above, PLAINTIFF, in 2007/2008, did the same exact amount of facts when it came to “terrorism” as any prepared screen-writer for Hollywood, journalist for a newspaper, or author would do by writing for T.V shows or Movies that were made before 2008 such as 24, Team America, True Lies, Spy Game, writing about the Richard Jewell saga, Patriot Games, World Trade Center, Speed, Die Hard, Body of Lies, Face/Off, Die Hard, Naked Gun 1, 2, 3 1/3, Collateral Damage, Déjà Vu, The World is Not Enough, NCIS, James Bond/007 movies, Sleeper Cell, and talking about the details of the plot with fellow co-writers or staff or psychologists or researchers of the shows, movies, or books and can Constitutionally do so under Winters v. New York, 333 U.S. 507 (1948). Yet DEFENDANTS did not do to those individuals what they did to PLAINTIFF. PETER STRZOK used these messages against PLAINTIFF and cited it to the FISA court and other courts sometime between 2008-2023 and completely omitted material facts and misled the court in the process. The most important thing to note is that PLAINTIFF had no actual intent on ever committing such a heinous act as it was PLAINTIFF’S intellectual curiosity to know GRIFFIN’s dark psyche, how GRIFFIN FRY thinks and processes things, how GRIFFIN FRY would do it, and all PLAINTIFF was doing was sharing his thoughts to keep a conversation going because INDIVIDUALS ARE MADE AND KNOWN IN THE DETAILS. It was one of those things of if you had to do it, how would you do it hypothetical conversations that was not actually serious. DEFENDANTS omitted the relevant MENS REA. and did some of the following crimes after GRIFFIN and PLAINTIFF had this conversation. PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER don’t get qualified immunity.

PLAINTIFF conclusively proves that no substantial step was undertaken. PLAINTIFF did not purchase any components to make or build a bomb. PLAINTIFF never cleared his desk and attempted to build one, there was nothing PLAINTIFF ever did or said that conveyed a real substantial step was undertaken besides learning about it in Anarchist Cookbook. “A substantial step must be something more than mere preparation, yet may be less than the last act necessary before the actual commission of the substantive crime. . . In order for behavior to be punishable as an attempt, it need not be incompatible with innocence, yet it must be necessary to the consummation of the crime and be of such a nature that a reasonable observer, viewing it in context could conclude beyond a reasonable doubt that it was undertaken in accordance with a design to violate the statute.” United States v. Manley, 632 F.2d 978 (2d Cir. 1980). Where there may be a substantial step is in the following when someone wanted to create a drug lab to make meth: “Appellant's ordering and possession of the specific combination of chemicals required to manufacture methamphetamine can hardly be said to be an innocent coincidence; rather the ordering and possession of the particular combination of chemicals “brand the enterprise as criminal and [is] incompatible with innocent purposes.” Appellant does not suggest that he ordered these chemicals for a purpose other than to manufacture methamphetamine; on the contrary, appellant admits his illicit design for the chemicals. Additionally, the appellant possessed a book entitled “Speed” which described the manufacturing process for the illicit drug. A government chemist testified that although it would be difficult for someone without prior training in chemistry to manufacture methamphetamine with the aid of the book, it would not be impossible.” United States v. Mazzella, 768 F.2d 235 (8th Cir. 1985). Under these conditions, not a single substantial step was undertaken and therefore, there wasn’t even a reasonable suspicion nor probable cause.

In Groh v. Ramirez, 540 U.S. 551 (2004), the Court held: “Warrants, and any searches derived therefrom, are invalid when it failed to “particularly describe the persons or things to be seized in which key material facts were omitted that failed to adequately describe the things or persons to be seized. The warrant was deficient in particularity because it provided no description of the type of evidence sought.” Petitioner was not entitled to qualified immunity despite the constitutional violation because “it would be clear to a reasonable officer that his conduct was unlawful in the situation he confronted.” Here is the thing with PETER STRZOK, DEFENDANTS, and MIAMI. PLAINTIFF is alleging numerous warrants labeled PLAINTIFF as some sort of counterterrorist threat. When any DEFENDANTS had to fill out the “things to be seized” section in a warrant against PLAINTIFF, it necessarily would have made DEFENDANTS think and consider on what actual and real things—that concerned PLAINTIFF’S alleged Counterterrorist activities—DEFENDANTS were going to seize via the warrant because there must have multiple tangible items that would give a magistrate or judge a credible reason to believe that PLAINTIFF posed some sort of counterterrorist threat. PLAINTIFF did not have access to any components to make a real bomb and did not purchase anything to make a bomb. So, what ‘things’ did DEFENDANTS include in “things to be seized” section because there was not anything? Therefore, PLAINTIFF is necessarily alleging that in any and all warrants DEFENDANTS utilized against PLAINTIFF there must have existed material omissions of confirming that PLAINTIFF did not possess the materials or that the warrants contain material fabrications on things to be seized. So, if DEFENDANTS can't physically point to any tangible item, then it was necessarily done based on PLAINTIFF’S speech; and PLAINTIFF proved why his speech about MIAMI was constitutional above. Furthermore, without the MIAMI incident, 5 Eyes would not have been able to be utilized against PLAINTIFF—every single action that concerns 5 Eyes necessarily started from a RICO Enterprise and pattern of racketeering and from the very onset, 5 EYES had no independent legitimate legal basis and therefore furthered the Enterprise when 5 Eyes was used against PLAINTIFF. PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER don’t get qualified immunity.

The NDAA of 2010 talks about in regard to terrorism in which it could be triable when person “knows or intends that they are [the plans] to be used in preparation for...” What PLAINTIFF knew in the course of an academic debate and said a hypothetical that it was just that—a hypothetical said in the course of an academic debate in which you can have academic debates anywhere on campus. PLAINTIFF at absolutely NO conceivable time INTENDED it to be used in preparation for anything. The fact it was a hypothetical is demonstrated when PLAINTIFF told GRIFFIN FRY during the debate how is it that a stereotypical middle eastern terrorist would act—not PLAINTIFF. A shocking display of incompetence can be necessarily seen and understood because investigators never asked themselves this one question that should have come across their mind at the time: did PLAINTIFF at any time view himself to be a middle eastern terrorist? What were the specific things PLAINTIFF did daily that would have remotely conveyed he viewed himself as a middle eastern terrorist. There is no evidence. Period. DEFENDANTS and PETER STRZOK cannot factually point to any affirmative statement that PLAINTIFF said or made in these conversations that conveyed an actual serious intent by PLAINTIFF on furthering and acting upon the talk that presented itself as a clear and present danger nor was PLAINTIFF'S speech an actual call to commit imminent lawlessness and violence against anyone. PERIOD. PLAINTIFF took no substantial steps in furthering any details of MIAMI anyway. DEFENDANTS falsely alleged MIAMI plot or Sewanee Sabotage (or Miki's Nightmare in An Anchor and a Pitchfork). PERIOD. DEFENDANTS did all of those plans except for, god bless them that they didn't commit it, the Miami plot. But they'll be condemned in hell for An Anchor and a Pitchfork. PLAINTIFF never once bought any materials necessary to further the MIAMI plot or Sewanee Sabotage or Miki's Nightmare. PERIOD. PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER don't get qualified immunity.

U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994) ruled on the proposition that an act of perjury can be an act of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503 since "The findings (of obstruction of justice) encompass all the elements of perjury — falsity, materiality, and willfulness. The only matter about which the court was not explicit was whether Matiz's testimony was material. A sentencing court, however, is not required to address each element of perjury in a separate and clear finding. See id. In fact, the Court in Dunnigan affirmed a district court's finding that did not use the term willful...Dunnigan only requires that a sentencing court's findings encompass all of the factual predicates for a finding of perjury." "The Supreme Court has stated that a witness testifying under oath commits perjury if "she gives false testimony concerning a material matter with the willful intent to provide false testimony, rather than as a result of confusion, mistake, or faulty memory." United States v. Dunnigan, 113 S.Ct. 1111 (1993)." U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994). U.S. v. Ashland Oil Inc., 705 F. Supp. 270 (W.D. Pa. 1989) discussed what constituted materiality: "A concise summary of this materiality requirement is set forth in Justice Stevens' concurring opinion in Youngblood: Our cases make clear that "[t]he proper standard of materiality must reflect our overriding concern with the justice of the finding of guilt," and the State's failure to turn over (or preserve) potentially exculpatory evidence therefore "must be evaluated in the context of the entire record." United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976) (footnotes omitted); see also California v. Trombetta, 467 U.S. 479 (1984) (duty to preserve evidence "must be limited to evidence that might be expected to play a significant role in the suspect's defense")." "By limiting §1503 to acts having the "natural and probable effect" of interfering with the due administration of justice, the Court effectively reads the word "endeavor," which we said in Russell embraced "any effort or essay" to obstruct justice out of the omnibus clause, leaving a prohibition of only actual obstruction and competent attempts...A §1503 violation occurs when "an act is done corruptly if it's done voluntarily and intentionally to bring about either an unlawful result or a lawful result by some unlawful method, with a hope or expectation of either financial gain or other benefit to oneself or a benefit of another person." United States v. Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995).

United States v. Cook, 793 F.2d 734 (5th Cir. 1986) ("[b]oth the fact of conspiracy and a defendant's participation in it may be proved by circumstantial evidence." 793 F.2d at 736). "As was the case in United States v. Postal, 589 F.2d 862 (5th Cir.) ... "the mere fact that [defendant] made the statement is relevant to the issues of [his] knowledge of the conspiracy and his participation in it."...As Professor McCormick explains: "Proof that one talks about a matter demonstrates on its face that he was conscious or aware of it, and his veracity simply does not enter into the situation." [omitted]. "U.S. v. Jones, 839 F.2d 1041 (5th Cir. 1988). "If the government's conduct in the investigation through a sting operation is so active that its conduct fabricated elements of the offense, it might be considered a violation of due process to prosecute the defendant." U.S. v. Steinhorn, 739 F. Supp. 268, 271 (D. Md. 1990).

"Thus after Rogers, the law in this circuit permits an entrapment instruction involving a middleman when there is evidence that (1) a government agent specifically targeted the defendant in order to induce him to commit illegal conduct; (2) the agent acted through the middleman after other government attempts at inducing the defendant had failed; (3) the government agent requested, encouraged, or instructed the middleman to employ a specified inducement, which could be found improper, against the targeted defendant; (4) the agent's actions led the middleman to do what the government sought, even if the government did not use improper means to influence the middleman; and (5) as a result of the middleman's inducement, the targeted defendant in fact engaged in the illegal conduct." U.S. v. Luisi, 482 F.3d 43 (1st Cir. 2007).

"This Circuit recognized the outrageous conduct defense in United States v. Graves, 556 F.2d 1319 (5th Cir. 1977), supra, in which we wrote: "[A]part from any question of predisposition of a defendant to commit the offense in question, governmental participation may be so outrageous or fundamentally unfair as to deprive the defendant of due process of law or to move the courts in the exercise of their supervisory jurisdiction over the administration of criminal justice to hold that the defendant was "entrapped" as a matter of law." 556 F.2d at 1322 (quoting United States v. Quinn, 543 F.2d 640, 647-48 (8th Cir. 1976))." United States v. Yater, 756 F.2d 1058 (5th Cir. 1985).

"The integrity of the courtroom is so vital to the health of our legal system that no violation of that integrity, no matter what its motivation, can be condoned or ignored. Although arising out of a different context, we find apposite the words of Mr. Justice Brandeis in Olmstead v. United States, 277 U.S. 438 (1928) (dissenting opinion): "Decency, security and liberty alike demand that government officials shall be subjected to the same rules of conduct that are commands to the citizen. In a government of laws, existence of the government will be imperilled if it fails to observe the law scrupulously. Our Government is the potent, the omnipresent teacher. For good or for ill, it teaches the whole people by its example. Crime is contagious. If the Government becomes a law-breaker, it breeds contempt for law; it invites every man to become a law unto himself; it invites anarchy. To declare that in the administration of the criminal law the end justifies the means — to declare that the Government may commit crimes in order to secure the conviction of a private criminal — would bring terrible retribution. Against that pernicious doctrine this Court should resolutely set its face." Respondent's contention that no alternative methods were available to insure the successful prosecution of corrupt attorneys is also unpersuasive. As the above-quoted language indicates, even if no other ways existed to ferret out bribery, the respondent would still not be privileged to engage in unethical (and perhaps illegal) conduct. Moreover, in the present case alternatives were available to investigate and prosecute the suspected attorneys.” In re Friedman, 76 Ill. 2d 392 (Ill. 1979)

“A review of the common law of this state shows that discretionary investigative enforcement measures extend beyond a tolerable level when by design the government uses continued pressure, appeals to friendship or sympathy, threats of arrest, an informant's vulnerability, sexual favors, or procedures which escalate criminal culpability. All of these traditional inducements are absent from the facts of this case. We conclude that the furnishing of contraband by the government is insufficient to induce or instigate the commission of a crime by the average person, similarly situated to these defendants, who is not ready and willing to commit it. We also note that this is not a case where the government's furnishing of narcotics was for the purpose of trying to escalate the criminal culpability of defendants. People v Killian, 117 Mich. App. 220; 323 N.W.2d 660 (1982).” People v. Jamieson, 436 Mich. 61, 89-90 (Mich. 1990)

Hasting*, 461 U.S. 499 (1983). The Supreme Court has recognized only three legitimate purposes for the exercise of a court's supervisory power: "To implement a remedy for violation of recognized rights, to preserve judicial integrity, . . . and finally, as a remedy designed to deter future illegal conduct." Id. (citations omitted).” *U.S. v. “Although there is no infallible means of divining a defendant's predisposition to commit a crime after the fact, there are several factors recognized as relevant in making this determination. We start with the observation that predisposition is, by definition, "the defendant's state of mind and inclinations before his initial exposure to government agents." United States v. Jannotti, 501 F. Supp. 1182 (E.D.Pa. 1980), rev'd on other grounds, 673 F.2d 578 (3rd Cir.)...This answers defendant's bizarre contention that "the agents literally entrapped him into a state of predisposition." One is either predisposed to commit a crime before coming into contact with the Government or one is not, so the argument that one could be entrapped into having a state of predisposition is meaningless. We now turn our attention to the factors relevant in determining predisposition. Among these are the character or reputation of the defendant, including any prior criminal record; whether the suggestion of the criminal activity was initially made by the Government; whether the defendant was engaged in the criminal activity for profit; whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to commit the offense, overcome only by repeated Government inducement or persuasion; and the nature of the inducement or persuasion supplied by the Government. While none of the factors alone indicates either the presence or absence of predisposition, the most important factor . . . is whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to engage in criminal activity which was overcome by repeated Government inducement...” United States v. Kaminski, 703 F.2d 1004 (7th Cir. 1983)

As the Court in Beck v. Prupis, 529 U.S. 494 (2000) cited cases that talked about conspiracies in 2000: “Chapman v. Pollock, 148 F. Supp. 769, 772 (WD Mo. 1957) (holding that a plaintiff who charged the defendants with "conspiring to perpetrate an unlawful purpose" could not recover because the defendants committed no unlawful act); Olmsted, Inc. v. Maryland Casualty Co., 218 Iowa 997, 998, 253 N. W. 804 (1934) (“[A] conspiracy cannot be the subject of a civil action unless something is done pursuant to it which, without the conspiracy, would give a right of action”); Adler v. Fenton, 24 How. 407, 410 (1861) (“[T]he act must be tortious, and there must be consequent damage”).” PLAINTIFF committed no unlawful act with MIAMI and his speech was constitutionally protected. Period. PLAINTIFF’S speech did not fall in the true threats category or under the auspices of Brandenburg v. Ohio, 395 U.S. 444 (1969). PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER don’t get qualified immunity.

Part of the ‘True Threats’ doctrine entails whether or not “a speaker consciously disregarded a substantial risk that their speech would place another in fear of serious physical harm.” PLAINTIFF did not believe he was being investigated by the FBI at the time and did not have an actual serious intent; it was said in the course of a debate in which a hypothetical was given and the reason why. Also PLAINTIFF just said it for the sake of saying it and having a conversation. There was not a single thing PLAINTIFF conveyed to GRIFFIN FRY that PLAINTIFF that would have put her into fear of serious physical harm or that PLAINTIFF hated the wonderful, vibrant, and beautiful city of MIAMI in which PLAINTIFF had always wanted to go to MIAMI for fun and the culture only. In PLAINTIFF'S mind, MIAMI was said in the course of a conversation that was part of an intellectual debate in which a hypothetical was presented and a justification given for that hypothetical that PLAINTIFF had no factual basis or intent on implementing in reality thereby making it completely unreasonable and unobjective that it would have placed anyone in serious fear of physical harm. Furthermore, GRIFFIN FRY knew that PLAINTIFF had rowed to lose weight in the Summer of 2007 and loved the water and found comfort in water. GRIFFIN FRY knew that PLAINTIFF was a huge a NASCAR fan in which PLAINTIFF told the memory of PLAINTIFF having gone to Daytona Beach, Florida in which PLAINTIFF loved DAYTONA BEACH and FLORIDA because of the NASCAR track and the beaches and water. MIAMI by the way has a NASCAR track. Doesn't make sense to destroy the things PLAINTIFF loves. DEFENDANTS use this speech to justify utilizing TITLE II in violation of PLAINTIFF'S Constitutional Rights.

PLAINTIFF is going to be completely real here because these are some of the inherent underlying and unspoken issues concerning the Court today in this complaint. Admittedly, PLAINTIFF'S speech about MIAMI—completely on its own and independent of anything else in the world—may raise an eyebrow of suspicion in the atmosphere of complete distrust and paranoia the United States Government/American Intel completely cultivated after 9/11 to implement the Surveillance State—but context matters. PLAINTIFF will give DEFENDANTS that much. BUT what PLAINTIFF will not give nor cede to DEFENDANTS is the following: The United States Government through the years after 9/11 has talked about international and domestic terrorism non-stop. Actually, before 9/11 in the 1960s and 1970s, hijackings were far more prevalent and oddly, a typical news occurrence back then than they are today (which is good). Probably, as American Intel completely has the AI tools to do this analysis, hijacking and terrorism was probably talked about far more often or on equal level on the news in the 1960s and 1970s as what happened on the news after 9/11. What didn't happen in the 1960s and 1970s was that American Intel did not cultivate a fear of distrust and paranoia amongst their own citizens. When American Intel/United States Government constantly bombard people with the message of terrorism, a natural consequence of such is that the People are going to talk about the message of terrorism with their friends and family at one point or another. If PLAINTIFF says don't talk about the cat in the room, everyone is going to look for the cat. Talking about terrorism doesn't have to be often, but it will occur at one point or another. PLAINTIFF is sure your honor has talked about terrorism before, correct? PLAINTIFF is just saying talked about terrorism. Should the government punish your honor for doing so? But when the DEFENDANTS/Government induces one to talk about terrorism and terrorism is talked about no matter the depth of details that are actually provided for in the talk, expect people to give as much details as they so please about terrorism in their free country because that is their right to do so and it is still not a legally cognizable action and only becomes cognizable when actual and substantial steps are undertaken and there is a meaningful conveyance of serious intent.

There are lines the United States Government maliciously, completely, and intentionally, crossed though in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1. When American Intel/United States Government pay friends of someone to induce them to talk about terrorism and that someone gets punished for doing so in which the evidence would show that the friend was the one that started talking about terrorism first, that is a manufactured crime. When you create an atmosphere of punishing innocent talk and turning friends and neighbors against each other and backstabbing people in the process, that is an atmosphere of tyranny. When material omissions are omitted that are deliberately misleading to a court, that is unconstitutional and mail and wire fraud is perpetuated in PLAINTIFF'S case. When American Intel/UNITED STATES Government induces an American with an inalienable right to speak freely to talk about terrorism at whatever depths he so pleases without any real intent on committing the acts and no substantial steps undertaken in doing so in which American Intel punishes PLAINTIFF for doing so, it is completely outrageous because DEFENDANTS do it all the time at a far deeper and far more sophisticated level and are complete savage hypocrites in this respect. Right now, deep inside the halls of the FBI, Department of Defense, and CIA, et. al. in field offices and stations and bases all around the world, employees are actively creating sabotage plans against real and perceived foes (some of which they created themselves). In case of the FBI, they may call it a Sting Operation like they did against PLAINTIFF; but PLAINTIFF calls it Constitutional Sabotage. The depths of the sabotage plans DEFENDANTS necessarily talk about is far deeper than what PLAINTIFF did in MIAMI because DEFENDANTS explore every possibility and consider what would realistically happen in order to be successful in their own sabotage plans. Right now, deep within the halls of CIA, FBI, and Department of Defense, American Intel are learning about terrorism in great depths and are necessarily talking about terrorism and sabotage plans in great depths inside their own classrooms. Right now, discussions on terrorism are being had in their classrooms. Not once do American Intel considers that one of their own employees could snap and commit the act. Not once do American Intel utilizes TITLE II against their own for talking about terrorism or sabotage. When the UNITED STATES Government punishes their own citizens for talking about the very same things they do at a far less sophisticated and deeper level than what American Intel ordinarily do on a daily basis, that is tyranny. When the Solicitor General, Attorney General, and Supreme Court in secret sessions plan to sabotage against an American because of the crimes DEFENDANTS committed and furthered in imposing a Surveillance State in America, that is tyranny. When citizens are punished and can't talk about what the United States government does in an ordinary day, that is tyranny. This brings up so many constitutional issues as well as Title VI issues.

Furthermore and more importantly, MIAMI was "Itan" in conversation because PLAINTIFF was just saying it for the sake of saying it. As stated before, GRIFFIN FRY in fact also talked about doing an act of terrorism as well. This necessarily brings up Title VI because it necessarily arises out of disparate treatment and completely unequal treatment for the same type and content of speech in which GRIFFIN FRY did not have a single SCOTUS case ruled against her nor was subject to invasive TITLE II searches because of her speech; furthermore, she was paid to say that then or paid at a later date for doing so by American Intel and PLAINTIFF was not which only perpetuated Mail and Wire fraud against PLAINTIFF. DEFENDANTS CIA/FBI and DOJ/ATTORNEY GENERAL HOLDER/CLEMENT utilized MIAMI against PLAINTIFF but did not do so for GRIFFIN FRY when she did the same exact thing in the course of a debate. The distinguishing factor here is necessarily a Title VI violation. DOJ'S and FBI'S regulations under TITLE VI 42.104 Discrimination prohibited¹⁹⁴ prohibits the following: "(ii) Providing any disposition, service, financial aid, or benefit to an individual which is different, or is provided in a different manner, from that provided to others under the program;" and DOJ and FBI completely (iii) Subjected PLAINTIFF to segregation and separate treatment in any matter related to the benefit under the program." Recipients, along with anyone in the DOJ and FBI, may not, directly or through other arrangements, utilize methods of administration which have the effect of subjecting individuals to discrimination because of their national origin, or have the effect of defeating or substantially impairing accomplishment of the objectives of the program as respects individuals of a particular national origin under TITLE VI.” That is what the FBI and DOJ did so this violated TITLE VI against PLAINTIFF because the “Itan” was done and said in the course of a debate that is a benefit the Court recognized exists under the law when one attends a University. PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER don’t get qualified immunity.

There is something else that PLAINTIFF is alleging. PLAINTIFF is including it, based on the probability of it being 85% Sure, 15% unsure true that this likely occurred. There is some doubt, but PLAINTIFF is 85% sure that PLAINTIFF talked about the SRI LANKA Tigers with GRIFFIN FRY or messaged her about it or PLAINTIFF had read an article about the Sri Lankan Tigers and talked it somewhere on campus about the Sri Lankan Tigers or had read some of the briefs of the case of Holder v. Humanitarian Law Project, 561 U.S. 1 (2010) and discussed the issues of the case with different people on campus or PLAINTIFF had messaged someone else from campus about the Sri Lanka Tigers and Kurds. Either way, PLAINTIFF will say there is a 100% chance that PLAINTIFF talked about the Sri Lankan Tigers when he was at Sewanee. PLAINTIFF’S speech is necessarily implicated. PLAINTIFF is also 70% sure PLAINTIFF talked about the Kurds on campus at SEWANEE. Regardless, there is a 95% chance that ERIC HOLDER or PAUL CLEMENT knew PLAINTIFF talked about the Sri Lanka Tigers and/or talked about the Kurds at one time or another when PLAINTIFF was on campus. PLAINTIFF believes he had talked about one of the following categories with GRIFFIN FRY: “training,” “expert advice or assistance,” “service,” and “personnel” that were at issue in the case. ELENA KAGAN argued the case to SCOTUS so this connects PLAINTIFF to KAGAN to HOLDER to TITLE II to speech about “Terrorist” activity. PLAINTIFF is 95% sure this is one of the many factual nexus that connects ERIC HOLDER to PLAINTIFF to the USA PATRIOT ACT/FISA and TITLE II surveillance.

Here is a derivative fact that would be used against PLAINTIFF maliciously. It was so inconsequential to PLAINTIFF at the time that PLAINTIFF can't recall exactly when it happened, but PLAINTIFF is alleging that it must have happened prior to May 31st, 2011 based on how he figured out how SCOTUS operates in one of the following cities: Washington DC, downtown Chicago, or New York City when PLAINTIFF hailed a cab. Most probably, Chicago. This is how ridiculous it all became. In one of the Naked Gun Movies, there is the taxi scene¹⁹⁵ in which Frank Drebin is in desperate need to radio the police squad. He finds three taxis and the premise of the joke (which is still universally accepted to this day) is that all the taxicab drivers are foreigners who don’t speak English well (except for the completely foreign looking driver in the last cab in which the joke is made because he spoke English perfectly and with a sophisticated English accent).

One day when PLAINTIFF was a student at SEWANEE, but was home in Chicago or visiting somewhere, this happened at night (probably in Chicago), PLAINTIFF is standing on the street and he hails a cab. Out of all of the fucking taxis driving in Chicago that night and out of all the infinite possibilities that exist in this world in which two people would coincidentally meet in which PLAINTIFF did not call a taxi cab company (to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection) (Section 215 would prove this to be true)(even if PLAINTIFF did, PLAINTIFF did not ask for a Sri Lankan driver that much is true for sure) that night in which PLAINTIFF hailed down a random taxi, PLAINTIFF by pure luck hailed down the taxi in which the driver was fresh off the boat from Sri Lanka. The statistical probability of that happening Your Honor must be at least a 1/1000 (in which there would be one taxi driver from Sri Lanka out of at the least one thousand taxis or more driving around Chicago that night). Now, if PLAINTIFF hailed down the following cab that night (See: Below), PLAINTIFF may give a little credence and credibility to DEFENDANTS that there was a chance that PLAINTIFF maybe shouldn't have got into the cab, but there was no cab was like this at all. And even then, there are going to be people, like PLAINTIFF, who are going to see that spectacle above and say: "hmm, I want to see where this goes" and will hail down that cab and will get into the cab for the sake of mere morbid curiosity. The Supreme Court will use the fact and probability that out of the thousand or so taxi drivers that night in Chicago.

PLAINTIFF just by chance hailed down the one being driven by a Sri Lankan and simply passing time in the cab and trying to find a subject to talk about, PLAINTIFF decided he will talk to a Sri Lankan about issues that are relevant to the populous of Sri Lanka. SCOTUS will use that against PLAINTIFF to construe terrorism against PLAINTIFF in Miki's Tea Party and in al-Kidd. Your Honor, PLAINTIFF is not sure that you know this, but probably 97% of the people in the United States can't locate where Sri Lanka is on a map and 97% of the American populous probably don't know a single thing about Sri Lanka. What PLAINTIFF did ask his Sri Lankan taxi driver while driving PLAINTIFF is what did the people of Sri Lanka think about the Sri Lankan Tigers because PLAINTIFF was intellectually curious and wanted to know the issue from all perspectives (which is what the Government does on a daily basis). The Driver may or may not have liked or supported the Sri Lankan Tigers, but what the initial and primary first question was about was trying to understand how the general populous of a country viewed the Sri Lankan Tigers because PLAINTIFF was intellectually curious about an issue and was not seeking to go become part of the Sri Lankan Tigers and commit terrorism. PLAINTIFF never said he was going to support the Sri Lankan Tigers or anything like that. The government if they have that recording will confirm that to be true that the first and primary question was what the people of Sri Lanka thought about the Sri Lankan Tigers. Again, what this comes down to is the completely tyrannical lengths the United States Government will go to in order to catch PLAINTIFF for their fabricated crimes and purposes and using speech against PLAINTIFF.

BUT DEFENDANTS cognitive biases, manifest hatred of disabled individuals, need for precedent, and RICO Enterprise furthered illegal and unconstitutional actions against PLAINTIFF and thought and did otherwise not realizing the true extent of damage they were inflicting upon themselves in the process. In 2008, PLAINTIFF is alleging that the Supreme Court covered up the actions of PAUL CLEMENT, and later on, ERIC HOLDER, in regard to PLAINTIFF and TITLE II in which legal fraud and unconstitutional fraud was committed on the Court in 2008 that PLAINTIFF is alleging and will be explained in Star Chambers. CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS and all of the Solicitor Generals at that time all knew about it and covered it up once. But when you cover up something once, it necessarily requires you to cover the cover up; and from there, you cover the cover up of the cover up; and from then there, you cover up the cover up of the cover up of the cover up and on and on it goes. PAUL CLEMENT and ERIC HOLDER don't get qualified immunity.

PLAINTIFF completely understands that there was no way that any of the Supreme Court Justices didn't engage in some type of politicking in order to ascend up the ladder and make their way on to the Supreme Court being at the absolute zenith of prestige and respect in the legal profession. PLAINTIFF gets it. What PLAINTIFF does not cede nor gets is having the DOJ and DEFENDANTS committing legal fraud on the Court and CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN ROBERTS necessarily knowing about it allowing it to happen against an American in which those people that perpetuated legal fraud were unpunished. The Court knew the dangerousness of that precedent before in 1957 and immediately kicked it out of the halls when the Supreme Court actually had integrity as will be talked about in Star Chambers.

Back to it. DEFENDANTS will try to argue that PETER STRZOK was referring to the PULSE Night Club shooting here in 2016 as this message occurred two months after that massacre occurred. Nay! Nay! There is a fundamental difference between ORLANDO, FLORIDA where the PULSE Night club shooting took place that was an actual act of terrorism and MIAMI, FLORIDA, where PLAINTIFF talked about it in the context of a conversation he had with GRIFFIN FRY. "everywhere we're vigilant" is a reference to different field offices having different priorities. Then PETER STRZOK justifies all of HILLARY CLINTON'S actions that she committed from 2010-2015 that will shock the conscience in light of PLAINTIFF'S speech on MIAMI. PLAINTIFF will talk about this later in: Miki's Tea Party and An Anchor and a Pitchfork. Not once do DEFENDANTS/PETER STRZOK actually include PLAINTIFF'S true MENS REA in any report, any exculpatory evidence that PLAINTIFF loved FLORIDA, the beach, and water, NASCAR, and PLAINTIFF'S completely true inaction in acquiring any bomb making material in the entirety of PLAINTIFF'S life so that they could further the Enterprise and further the false allegation. Title II is used against PLAINTIFF in which they relied on perjured testimony and material omissions.

Leal*, 32 F.4th 888 (10th Cir. 2022); Violating Napue v. Illinois, 360 U.S. 264 (1959) in using materially false evidence; violating Mooney v. Holohan, 294 U.S. 103 (1935) in "using perjured testimony known by DEFENDANTS to be perjured and knowingly used by DEFENDANTS in order to procure the conviction" since a State may not, "through the action of its officers, contrive a conviction through the pretense of a trial which, in truth, is "but used as a means of depriving a defendant of liberty through a deliberate deception of court and jury by the presentation of testimony known to be perjured;" violating the principle that "the dignity of the United States Government will not permit the conviction of any person on tainted testimony per Mesarosh v. United States, 352 U.S. 1 (1956) in which they knew GRIFFIN FRY'S testimony was tainted because she herself had discussed how she'd commit a terrorist act and had reason to believe she lied on numerous occasions; DEFENDANTS used testimony in which "certain individual's testimony, taken as a whole, gives a false impression that became seriously prejudicial to PLAINTIFF in which facts that refuted DEFENDANTS claim are either ignored or are materially misleading" Alcorta v. Texas, 355 U.S. 28 (1957); violating: Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963) in which DEFENDANTS failed to turn over all evidence that might exonerate PLAINTIFF concerning MIAMI; violating: Ex Parte Jackson, 96 U.S. 727 (1877) (Prohibition of obtaining, seizing, and opening and reading emails/mails "whilst" in the transport or transmission of data that must necessarily "have a warrant, issued upon similar oath or affirmation particularly describing the thing to be seized, as is required when papers are subjected to search in one's own household.") in which they acquired all the information and utilized the unconstitutional USA PATRIOT ACT against PLAINTIFF; violating: United States v. Lard, 734 F.2d 1290 (8th Cir. 1984) citing Sherman that "The function of law enforcement is the prevention of crime and the apprehension of criminal. Manifestly, that function does not include the manufacturing of crime" in which DEFENDANTS manufactured a conspiracy born out of a hypothetical that PLAINTIFF had no serious intent on committing; violating: Simmons v. United States, 348 U.S. 397 (1955) in which a failure to provide a report by DOJ/FBI when requested violates Due Process and/or when PLAINTIFF is not given the opportunity to refute the contents of a report that the DEFENDANTS DOJ/FBI used in multiple hearings concerning PLAINTIFF and DEFENDANTS about MIAMI; MOST IMPORTANTLY, violating: Stanford v. Texas, 379 U.S. 476 (1965) (prohibitions on generalized warrants relating to search and seizure of PLAINTIFF relating to PLAINTIFF'S First Amendment activities) in which generalized warrants and utilization of the USA PATRIOT ACT was completely dependent on PLAINTIFF'S speech that was in retaliation to PLAINTIFF'S speech; violating: Lee Art Theatre, Inc. v. Virginia, 392 U.S. 636 (1968) (having a warrant issued solely upon the conclusory assertion of the police officer without any inquiry by a judge into the factual basis for the officer's conclusions was not a procedure designed to focus searchingly on the question of [illegal activity] as it related to PLAINTIFF'S First Amendment protected activity, and therefore fell short of constitutional requirements demanding necessary sensitivity in regards to PLAINTIFF'S First Amendment protected conduct); and finally violating "Withrow v. Larkin, 421 U.S. 35 (1975) in which DEFENDANTS had "the combination of investigative and adjudicative functions necessarily creates an unconstitutional risk of bias in administrative adjudication" in which DEFENDANTS were completely failed to give "a realistic appraisal of psychological tendencies and human weakness" that posed such a risk of actual bias or prejudgment against PLAINTIFF and this in fact did happen since PLAINTIFF got prejudged by DEFENDANTS (via pre-crime analysis as alluded to earlier and their hatred of PLAINTIFF on PLAINTIFF'S disability) in which there was so much actual bias against PLAINTIFF that it created an unconstitutional risk of bias that became a reality of bias that made its way up to the FISA and the Supreme Court through the years and infected their decisions with their RICO Enterprise because of PLAINTIFF'S speech concerning MIAMI and a weakness of the FBI. 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act; 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1341 (relating to mail fraud) and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (relating to wire fraud). 42 U.S.C.

1983/1985/1986. PAUL CLEMENT, ROBERT MUELLER, ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, and ERIC HOLDER don't get qualified immunity.

Another aspect of Miami. PLAINTIFF alleges because of the Miami Speech, DEFENDANTS in 2008 had hacked into PLAINTIFF'S computer and emails (email account: kotevmm0@sewanee.edu) with or without a proper warrant or necessarily if they used a warrant it was done fraudulently. Here is the thing as well in Midyear, PLAINTIFF talks about Hillary Clinton and an email server. Sewanee was running on a system that was nicknamed "snail mail" in which, if PLAINTIFF had to guess, wasn't as up to as high of a security standard as say GMAIL. Now if NSA could use prism and get access to gmail servers regularly, what do you think would happen with NSA and PRISM go against a small liberal arts college in rural Tennessee in which the town at the time barely had cell phone service? A walk in the park for NSA and PRISM in which PLAINTIFF alleges NSA used PRISM to get PLAINTIFF'S emails and hacked into the server.

How does PLAINTIFF necessarily know ERIC HOLDER was after PLAINTIFF for talking about Miami and Big Brother Big Sister from at least 02/21/2014 (which was six years after PLAINTIFF just talked about Miami)? ERIC HOLDER'S 02/21/2014 memo about prosecuting journalists. See: exhibits. PLAINTIFF will talk about his journalism later, but there is a part of the memo that shows you what they were after PLAINTIFF: "There are limited exceptions to use of the News Media Review Committee. A subpoena may be issued to a member of the news media... if a Deputy Assistant Attorney General for the Criminal Division determines that the exigent use of such law enforcement tool or technique is necessary to prevent or mitigate an act of terrorism; other acts that are reasonably likely to cause significant and articulable harm to national security; death; kidnapping; substantial bodily harm; conduct that constitutes a criminal offense that is a specified offense against a minor, as defined by 42 U.S.C. 16911(7) (that's driving the Alvarez kids home after having permission from their parents in big brother big sister); or incapacitation (BRI) or destruction of critical infrastructure, as defined by 42 U.S.C. 5195c(e) (that's Miami)..." while it is expected ERIC HOLDER will make use of the committee for cases that fall within the scope defined in the previous paragraph, the Attorney General may choose to by pass the Committee review process upon a finding that the time required to conduct review will cause significant harm to the investigation." What they are getting it is: Big Brother Big Sister, Miami, and the night PLAINTIFF lost his virginity on.

So who was the Deputy Assistant Attorney General for the Criminal Division between 2007-2008? John Roth who current works for DHS (In 2007, he served as Deputy Assistant Attorney General for the Criminal Division and became chief of staff to the Deputy Attorney General in 2008). Also at play here are: Alice Fisher united states assistant attorney general for the criminal division until May 23rd, 2008, Mythili Raman, and Brian Benczkowski. PLAINTIFF alleges that John Roth, Brian Benczkowski, Mythili Raman, and/or Alice Fisher all knowingly used fabricated and misleading narratives against PLAINTIFF in warrants and the Court in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1.

ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, GEORGE W. BUSH, ROBERT MUELLER, violated Alderman v. United States, 394 U.S. 165 (1968) in Peachy Miami which held: "A petitioner would be entitled to the suppression of evidence violative of the Fourth Amendment where the Government unlawfully overheard conversations of the petitioner himself, or where the conversations occurred on his premises, whether or not he was present or participated therein” and “If the surveillance is found to have been unlawful, and if a petitioner is found to have standing, the Government must disclose to him the records of those overheard conversations which the Government was not entitled to use in building its case against him.”

FINALLY concerning the MIAMI incident: 18 U.S.C §241 makes it a crime to "go in disguise... on the premises of another, with intent to prevent or hinder his free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege so secured—." PLAINTIFF, based on some circumstances, believes and is alleging that at one point or another in 2007 or 2008, GRIFFIN FRY had started working with DEFENDANTS and had started to conspire against PLAINTIFF; and that by conspiring against PLAINTIFF, she was going in disguise against PLAINTIFF’S interests. Preventing and hindering the free exercise and enjoyment of SEWANEE’S Campus that necessarily includes participating in civil debates would violate the HONOR CODE as it would be dishonorable to prevent PLAINTIFF from enjoying and exercising his 1st Amendment Rights in the acquisition of intellectual stimulation, knowledge, and/or entertainment on campus. Committing RICO Predicate Acts that violated 18 U.S.C. §1503 or violating PLAINTIFF’S Constitutional and Legal Rights prevents and hinders the enjoyment and use of PLAINTIFF’S property he paid for in the tuition of the year of 2007-2008 and all the acts done in furtherance of the RICO Enterprise based on MIAMI. DEFENDANTS and GRIFFIN FRY prevented and hindered the enjoyment and use of PLAINTIFF’S property, and therefore, violated PLAINTIFF’S metaphysical sense of well-being. So there existed a conspiracy before and committing numerous wanton violations of the law concerning MIAMI in which a reasonable assessment of PLAINTIFF’S Speech would have determined it was just speech thereby not justifying the use of it against PLAINTIFF in furthering the RICO Enterprise. The Court when discussing an 18 U.S.C §241 violation stated that in order “to bring this case under the operation of the statute, therefore, it must appear that the right, the enjoyment of which the conspirators intended to hinder or prevent, was one granted or secured by the constitution or laws of the United States.” United States v. Cruikshank et al. 92 U.S. 542 (1876)—Freedom of Speech, Freedom of Expression, Unreasonable Search and Seizures, and not being subject to a RICO Enterprise by DEFENDANTS were hindered and prevented by DEFENDANTS that was secured or granted by the United States Constitution or Laws “As SCOTUS ruled in Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975): "The Due Process Clause also forbids arbitrary deprivations of liberty. "Where a person's good name, reputation, HONOR, or integrity is at stake because of what the government is doing to him," the minimal requirements of the Clause must be satisfied. Wisconsin v. Constantineau, 400 U. S. 433, 400 U. S. 437 (1971)" A person’s HONOR per SCOTUS is bound by the HONOR CODE at SEWANEE, which means there is a liberty and property interest in HONOR and in the HONOR CODE.” There existed a conspiracy to violate PLAINTIFF’S rights and metaphysical sense of well-being, DEFENDANTS violated PLAINTIFF’S rights in the process in which PETER STRZOK and DEFENDANTS lied in numerous reports about the incident in which they committed the previously listed constitutional violations. This in sum violated PLAINTIFF’S metaphysical sense of well-being, violated good relationships amongst people on campus, constituted egregious unconstitutional and illegal actions, and therefore violated the HONOR CODE; and therefore, these actions in sum constituted the beginning of a series of different RICO violations as PLAINTIFF was denied his property and liberty interests because of the HONOR CODE violation committed by DEFENDANTS. This was a beginning of a series of 18

U.S.C. 1346 violations in which the “scheme to defraud” element in the fraud statutes to include a scheme “to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services” by DEFENDANTS in which DEFENDANTS either committed bribery, where a public official was paid for a particular decision or action concerning MIAMI; or (2) failing to disclose a conflict of interest resulting in personal gain from decisions related to MIAMI. Thereby, DEFENDANTS started to commit 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud). Furthermore, DEFENDANTS knew GRIFFIN FRY had lied multiple times and omitted material evidence that was utilized against PLAINTIFF. Lying is an honor code violation that would get you expelled from Sewanee thereby losing your attendance privileges at SEWANEE. By allowing GRIFFIN FRY to graduate after she lost her property interests in attending Sewanee from 2007 or 2008 and DEFENDANTS conspired to allow her to graduate from SEWANEE knowing she had lost her interests and that her graduation was contingent on furthering the RICO Enterprise. Furthermore, without the MIAMI incident, 5 Eyes would not have been able to be utilized against PLAINTIFF—every single action that concerns 5 Eyes necessarily started from a RICO Enterprise and pattern of racketeering and from the very onset, 5 EYES had no independent legitimate legal basis and therefore furthered the Enterprise when 5 Eyes was used against PLAINTIFF.

GRIFFIN FRY continued to fabricate crimes against PLAINTIFF because this occurred after the MICK SHEEDY incident to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection. What DEFENDANTS absolutely desired at the deepest parts of their soul was to fabricate enough evidence to falsely paint a picture of PLAINTIFF acting on his words. This is material. One time, PLAINTIFF explained the lengths PLAINTIFF would go to in a conditional situation of protecting PLAINTIFF’S family from harm and protecting PLAINTIFF himself from harm while having pizza at CRUST’S with GRIFFIN FRY. In this setting and conversation, the topic of Gun Control also came up in this conversation because there was a discussion of when and how one should be allowed to use a gun (i.e. gun control); and therefore, whatever PLAINTIFF said in regards to protecting himself or family from imminent harm through the use of a gun, it necessarily and legally made the conversation political in nature. PLAINTIFF talked about using a firearm to protect PLAINTIFF’S family from harm in which PLAINTIFF said that PLAINTIFF would ONLY use firearms in the situations of self-defense and protection of PLAINTIFF’S family. The fact that PLAINTIFF said it was perfectly acceptable to use a firearm for self-defense purposes was used against PLAINTIFF by DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF said that if it came down to it in which PLAINTIFF would need to protect himself or family from harm, PLAINTIFF would drive across state lines with a firearm to protect himself and/or his family from imminent harm and ONLY IN THAT SCENARIO. PLAINTIFF never said at any time he was going to do so for any different reason outside of protection of self and family in imminent harm. PLAINTIFF said it was only applicable in the scenario that it necessitated PLAINTIFF to do it, which was protection of self or family. Most importantly and even then, it was an impossible condition for PLAINTIFF to fulfill and a legal impossibility for PLAINTIFF to fulfill. PLAINTIFF was the only one in PLAINTIFF’S family members to have been in Tennessee. The rest of PLAINTIFF’S family were in the Chicagoland area, California, Wisconsin, Arizona, or Europe. So PLAINTIFF would not have driven back down from WADSWORTH, IL to SEWANEE, TN because he would have had no family to protect in SEWANEE, TN. Then the question remains about an imminent harm to PLAINTIFF in SEWANEE, TN. This means that in the scenario that PLAINTIFF, who was an imminent harm, would have had to escape the imminent harm and driven a minimum of 19 hours (From SEWANEE, TN to WADSWORTH, IL and back down to SEWANEE, TN) thereby the imminent harm would have ceased to exist when PLAINTIFF escaped the harm by driving away and it having taken 19+ hours to come back thereby making it an impossible condition for PLAINTIFF to meet since there was no imminent harm. So PLAINTIFF'S condition on exercising his protected 2nd Amendment rights was not even possible.

DEFENDANTS not thinking about the factual circumstances of PLAINTIFF'S Speech and the Constitutionally protected nature thereof, had a specific conspiracy in mind in which DEFENDANTS furthered their RICO Enterprise, GRIFFIN had PLAINTIFF draw out a map of where PLAINTIFF would get a gun to falsely allege that PLAINTIFF had different, far more sinister, plans to commit harm to innocent people and that PLAINTIFF had active plans to do so when PLAINTIFF WOULD NEVER HAVE SUCH PLANS OR IMPLEMENT SUCH PLANS. This was necessarily a political debate engaging in the marketplace of ideas with GRIFFIN FRY, a fellow student on SEWANEE'S Campus. What DEFENDANTS did with that evidence are material omissions and fabrications and completely misleading.

This incident and the way it was used by DEFENDANTS most definitely violated Alcorta v. Texas, 355 U.S. 28 (1957) in which "certain individual's testimony, taken as a whole, gives a false impression that became seriously prejudicial to PLAINTIFF in which facts that refuted DEFENDANTS claim were ignored by DEFENDANTS and the fabricated crime was materially misleading." As PLAINTIFF argued, there is a liberty and property interest in HONOR and in the HONOR CODE." A conspiracy to violate PLAINTIFF'S rights occurred, DEFENDANTS violated PLAINTIFF'S rights in the process, and DEFENDANTS committed unconstitutional acts in Crust Pizza, which is on SEWANEE'S campus; this in sum violated PLAINTIFF'S metaphysical sense of well-being, violated good relationships amongst people on campus, and therefore violated the HONOR CODE; and therefore, these actions in sum constituted a RICO violation as PLAINTIFF was denied his property and liberty interests because of the HONOR CODE violation committed by DEFENDANTS.

In Watts v. United States, 394 U.S. 705 (1969) that concerned an avenue and an intersection of true threats and politically connected speech, the Petitioner said the following that got him into some initial legal trouble: "They always holler at us to get an education. And now I have already received my draft classification as 1-A and I have got to report for my physical this Monday coming. I am not going. If they ever make me carry a rifle the first man I want to get in my sights is L. B. J." "They are not going to make me kill my black brothers." The Court ruled in Petitioner's favor and said Petitioner's speech was politically protected speech by the First Amendment. The Court ruled and said: "The language of the political arena, like the language used in labor disputes, see Linn v. United Plant Guard Workers of America, 383 U. S. 53, 58 (1966), is often vituperative, abusive, and inexact. We agree with petitioner that his only offense here was "a kind of very crude offensive method of stating a political opposition to the President." Taken in context, and regarding the expressly conditional nature of the statement and the reaction of the listeners, we do not see how it could be interpreted otherwise." Unless GRIFFIN FRY posed a threat to PLAINTIFF, she knew by the very words PLAINTIFF were using that it was inapplicable to her. There is no reasonable interpretation otherwise that PLAINTIFF'S Speech in Crust's Pizza was political speech because it concerned an impossible condition to meet and was political in nature in which no one could have had a different reaction; and therefore, was protected by the First Amendment and did not constitute a true or legitimate threat based on what the Court ruled in Watts v. United States, 394 U.S. 705 (1969). Period.

In a continuation of a pattern of fabricating evidence against PLAINTIFF's Constitutional interests, one time, GRIFFIN and PLAINTIFF were in Humphrey Dorm's kitchen and GRIFFIN had cut herself with a knife while cutting something. Wanting to distract her from the embarrassment of having her cut herself in which PLAINTIFF knew she would be particularly hard on herself because GRIFFIN FRY had confided to PLAINTIFF her personal psychology that she took things too personally and was always hard on herself; knowing such, PLAINTIFF made an awkward joke, and then that got transformed into a false accusation of me having allegedly cutting her, which PLAINTIFF did not ever physically assault GRIFFIN FRY; a report was filed about the incident. There existed a conspiracy to violate PLAINTIFF'S rights, DEFENDANTS violated PLAINTIFF'S rights in the process in which GRIFFIN FRY lied on paper about the incident (which violated the HONOR CODE), and DEFENDANTS committed unconstitutional acts in HUMPHREY'S Dorm, which is on SEWANEE'S campus; this in sum violated PLAINTIFF'S metaphysical sense of well-being, violated good relationships amongst people on campus, and therefore violated the HONOR CODE; and therefore, these actions in sum constituted a RICO violation as PLAINTIFF was denied his property and liberty interests because of the HONOR CODE violation committed by DEFENDANTS.

So next thing, PLAINTIFF was trying to be the best friend PLAINTIFF could have imagined himself to be in the fall of 2007 and early part of 2008. PLAINTIFF forgets when GRIFFIN FRY rejected PLAINTIFF romantically, PLAINTIFF handled it okay factually looking back on it now, but GRIFFIN FRY had done other things that made PLAINTIFF upset with her. One time, GRIFFIN and PLAINTIFF had arranged to go together, along with others, on a spring break trip somewhere; and spring break came around, and they all went together on the spring break trip in which PLAINTIFF was disinvited. Then, one day in April 2008 (if PLAINTIFF is not mistaken) being in the nadir of social exclusion, trauma, depression, bullying, false reports, fabricating evidence, obstruction of justice efforts by GRIFFIN FRY and DEFENDANTS, PLAINTIFF got pushed to a point and then lashed out at GRIFFIN FRY on a Facebook message. But more importantly in that message, PLAINTIFF never threatened her or placed her in reasonable apprehension of future bodily harm. PLAINTIFF may have, through the years, expressed sorrow and regret for verbally lashing out against GRIFFIN FRY on this one time and there is proof of this. A non-contact order is put in place, and PLAINTIFF completely complies with the order, and then PLAINTIFF completely ignores GRIFFIN FRY from freshman year on out. To the best of his recollection, PLAINTIFF did not violate Title IX when it came to GRIFFIN FRY. But the damage was done at this point in the year in April 2008 or so; PLAINTIFF gets falsely labeled a creep and stalker, and his social life at Sewanee is ruined. PLAINTIFF never stalked GRIFFIN FRY nor any woman in my life; but false accusations are made of that nature. PLAINTIFF considers transferring, but because PLAINTIFF's grades were low, that was not a possibility. The next three years at SEWANEE consists of PLAINTIFF trying to salvage his life and social life at SEWANEE.

There may be something here and PLAINTIFF can't remember fully, but PLAINTIFF thinks he got in trouble by law enforcement for posting something else on Facebook at the time and falsely labeled a threat for posting a comedian singer's COMEDIC song lyrics as a Facebook status. The song and artist: Fuck Everything by Jon Lajoie. The lyrics:

You know what? Fuck the word "fuck," I don't need to use it
I'll replace it with the word "chainsaw" for this chorus/
I don't give a chainsaw/
About anything, chainsaw everyone and chainsaw everything, what
I don't give a chainsaw/
I literally don't give a chainsaw 'bout anything/

First, a DEPUTY CONSTABLE (i.e. a law enforcement officer or an employee of a police force) said the following in regards to President Reagan after his assassination attempt: “But then after I said that, and then Lawrence said, yeah, he's cutting back medicaid and food stamps. And I [McPhreson] said, yeah, welfare and CETA. I said, shoot, if they go for him again, I hope they get him.” Rankin et al. v. McPhreson, 483 U.S. 378 (1987). Law enforcement could conceivably argue that “shoot” conveyed a real intent as a “command” prior to a hypothetical. That is exactly what DEFENDANTS would have done with PLAINTIFF because DEFENDANTS hated PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability. Furthermore, McPhreson’s statements were far more specific than a comedian’s song lyrics that PLAINTIFF posted. McPhreson’s statements conveyed a real harm to a specific individual. How was PLAINTIFF supposed to chainsaw everyone and chainsaw everything? Its so general that it loses its specificity and reasonableness harm would befall upon someone. PLAINTIFF didn’t have access to a chainsaw at Sewanee and PLAINTIFF did not buy a chainsaw. How does one interpret “I don’t give a chainsaw” maliciously? If cops were actually serious about their jobs when PLAINTIFF posted a comedian’s song lyrics, they could have posted the song lyrics in google and watched the music video leading to the fundamental conclusion that it was a comedian’s song lyrics. Obviously, it was not a threat directed to anyone and no reasonable person would conclude that imminent harm was going to befall upon anyone. The Court ruled that McPhreson should not have been terminated for her speech, which is a damning conclusion for DEFENDANTS. If SCOTUS ruled that an employee in a law enforcement agency should not have been fired for a far more specific threat than what PLAINTIFF posted in which law enforcement officers understood that it wasn’t a threat to the subject, then why did DEFENDANTS (PETER STRZOK, SEWANEE PD, ANDREW MCCABE, etc.) punish PLAINTIFF for something far less serious. It is about equal treatment under the law and PLAINTIFF was not treated equally and faced far more severe repercussions for posting a comedian’s song lyrics.

PLAINTIFF alleges that at some point, DEFENDANTS hacked into PLAINTIFF’S laptop either via TITLE II, USA PATRIOT ACT, or SEWANEE cooperating with the FBI and CIA and allowing them to access SEWANEE’S network to access PLAINTIFF’S laptop. PLAINTIFF was kind of contrast like in nature in which he wanted to know the opposite side’s arguments to all issues. See 2E above. So this was after the Taylor/Tyler incident in Big Brothers Big Sister. As previously mentioned, PLAINTIFF at this time wanted to become a psychiatrist and he talked to GRIFFIN FRY about psychology issues a lot. One of PLAINTIFF’S fascinations at the time was Abnormal Psychology. PLAINTIFF wanted to talk about it to understand it. So PLAINTIFF is alleging that DEFENDANTS hacked PLAINTIFF'S laptop in which they created a website or provided links to papers that DEFENDANTS themselves had placed knowing the beyond likelihood that PLAINTIFF would read it because he wanted to know opposing view points. PLAINTIFF doesn't recall exactly how it came up, but if PLAINTIFF had to make a guess to the best of his recollection, read an article either for classwork/homework or it came up on his internet feed somehow in which PLAINTIFF regularly read all sorts of random things; it may have been an article related to criminal justice as PLAINTIFF regularly read articles about criminal justice issues. PLAINTIFF doesn't remember exactly what the article was about, but the content of the article contained content about Pedophiles or MAPS as the article called them (Minor Attracted Person). PLAINTIFF can't recall what he said about the article; but what PLAINTIFF knows it was that was maliciously used against PLAINTIFF. BUT WHAT PLAINTIFF can tell you is that PLAINTIFF never supported Pedophiles or think it was in any way justifiable. PLAINTIFF may have expressed sympathy in which they were hardwired to be that way, but PLAINTIFF never said their actions were acceptable. There is a huge difference between understanding and acceptability. One can understand how criminals operate and be fascinated with criminals by understanding them, but those same individuals don't become that type of criminal nor would those same individuals accept the criminals' actions. That is all what PLAINTIFF is getting at. SCOTUS talks about this in Skilling v. United States in which they spend a lot of time talking about McNally; Rand McNally are MAPS (producers) so MCNALLY and MAPS can refer to specific point. So SCOTUS talks about PLAINTIFF and DEFENDANTS case against PLAINTIFF prior to reading an article that was intentionally placed by DEFENDANTS for PLAINTIFF to read so that they could get PLAINTIFF to talk about the issues because PLAINTIFF wanted to read about abnormal psychology and have an opposing viewpoint and try to understand it further through talking about it. PLAINTIFF will take it one step further.

As the FBI said between 2001-2008, they had massive "electronic warehouses of terrorism data." So if they had that much terrorism data, then they had the following data in which DEFENDANTS DOJ/FBI knew all of the following facts via Simone Roberts Et. Al., Indicators of School Crime and Safety: 2010. (U.S. Dep't of Educ. & U.S. Dep't of Justice, Nov. 2010)." The Bureau of Justice Statistics created both the aforementioned study in November 2010 and the study in December 2010--the data is pretty comparable between the two studies. The average violent victimization rates for non-disabled people based on the general population for 12-24 year olds is 36.8 per 1,000 in 2008. The average violent victimization rates for disabled people based on a general population for 12-24 year olds is 97.3 per 1,000 in 2008--this is about 2.5 times more likely for a disabled person than a non-disabled person. Disabled people are twice as likely to be victims of rape than non-disabled people based on a general population. Most importantly, disabled men with cognitive disabilities are more than twice as likely to be victims of violence based on violent victimization rates when compared to non-disabled women: 36.6 per 1,000 (age-adjusted) compared to 17.7 per 1,000 respectively. (this data was used and discovered when it came to RICO Enterprise 2). The point being, with all of that data, DEFENDANTS completely failed to act in a manner (and help) on who they themselves knew was the most likely group of people to be a victim of violent crime--disabled men with cognitive disabilities. That's precisely the type of discrimination the Court in Alexander v. Choate, 469 U.S. 287

(1985) said was perceived by Congress to be most often the product of thoughtlessness and indifference-of benign neglect.

PLAINTIFF, based on information and belief, believes DEFENDANTS regularly utilized GRIFFIN FRY'S known perjured testimony and racketeering testimony throughout the years of 2008-Present.

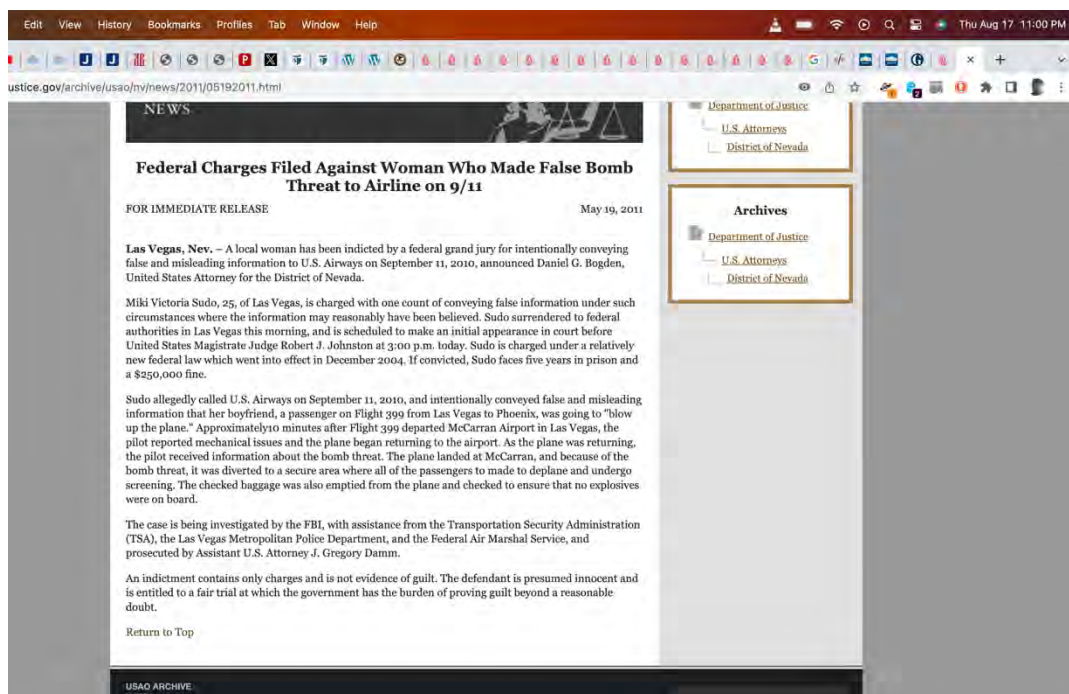

18 U.S. Code § 2234 - Authority exceeded in executing warrant; 18 U.S. Code § 2235 - Search warrant procured maliciously; 18 U.S. Code § 2236 - Searches without warrant.

Minimum amount of allowing GRIFFIN FRY to Graduate after 4 years of Racketeering Activity: $125,000 for 4 years of Tuition. Plus Treble Damages. $375,000.

Damage deriving from all things related to GRIFFIN FRY. Incalculable at the present moment as so much started from GRIFFIN FRY and was derived from GRIFFIN FRY'S and PLAINTIFF'S interactions; the extent of which PLAINTIFF cannot fathom within DEFENDANTS intelligence world.

With Treble Damages. $30,000,000 Total Minimum Damages so far: $70,465,000.

“The danger that high federal officials will disregard constitutional rights in their zeal to protect the national security is sufficiently real to counsel against affording such officials an absolute immunity.” Mitchell v. Forsyth, 472 U.S. 511 (1985). “Because the Amendment now affords protection against the uninvited ear, oral statements, if illegally overheard, and their fruits are also subject to suppression. Silverman v. United States, 365 U. S. 505 (1961); Katz v. United States, 389 U. S. 347 (1967)”

Okay, the way PLAINTIFF’S life has gone so far, the “Miki Victoria Sudo” in the DOJ/FBI news release above in which she called in a false bomb threat to US Airways on 09/11/2010 is the same Victoria at issue here in Sewanee and is a key piece of evidence for Miki’s Tea Party as to exonerate PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS intentionally tampered with “Miki Victoria Sudo” in some way in which DEFENDANTS coerced her into doing that action because of the story below in order to cover up for their Title II violations to the Court. DEFENDANTS violated 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 18 U.S.C. 241,

During the 1980s, one of the most popular bands in Yugoslavia was Riblja Čorba. The lead singer of Riblja Čorba, Mr. Đorđević, was awarded the Order of Karađorđe's Star (one of the highest civilian honors) by the President of Serbia, Aleksandar Vučić, for his contribution to Serbian culture.

Most millennials of a Yugoslavian ancestry (Slovenia, Bosnia, Croatia, Serbia, Macedonia, etc.) would have heard this song by Riblja Čorba and their parents would have most definitely heard the song of “Avionu slomiću ti krila” as well. The whole point PLAINTIFF is making about the song is that it is an “Itan” example of Yugoslavian culture where singing and saying things that constitute terrorism means that the people of Yugoslavia (and under Title VI) inherently understand one singing or saying terrorism acts do not actually have the mental requisite intent in committing terrorism acts.

Song: Avionu slomiću ti krila

Artist: Riblja Čorba

Track 6 on the album: Priča o ljubavi obično ugnjavi

Here are the lyrics in Serbian:

[Tekst pesme "Avionu, slomiću ti krila"]

[Strofa 1]

Bivao sam sa jednom i drugom/

Muvao se sa onom i ovom/

Družio se sa srećom i tugom/

A ti ode s prvim avionom/

Teoretski ljubav lepo zvuči/

Now, here are the song lyrics in English (via Google Translate):

I've been with both (gals)/
Flirt with that one and this one/
He socialized with happiness and sadness/
And you leave on the first plane/
In theory, love sounds nice/
It's a little different in practice/
Much is still being learned/
'Let's go down, the taxi has arrived/

Airplane, I'll break your wings/
If you didn't fly, she would be there/
Oh, if I catch your pilot/
I will deprive him of his life/
Airplane, I'll break your wings/
If you didn't fly, she would be there/
Oh, if I catch your pilot/
I will deprive him of his life/

I keep silent and look through the glass/
Boeing 747/
You are the only one, you are precious/
Pure ten*, that's your ocean/ *plaintiff believes he says DC-10, which JAT Airlines had.

Airplane, I'll break your wings/
If you didn't fly, she would be there/
Oh, if I catch your pilot/
I will deprive him of his life/
Airplane, I'll break your wings/
If you didn't fly, she would be there/
Oh, if I catch your pilot/
I will deprive him of his life/

PLAINTIFF alleges that he watched on Youtube the song Avionu slomiću ti krila by Riblja Čorba and/or he talked about the song with someone in his dorm room. This necessarily brings up a Title VI claim. Furthermore, as PLAINTIFF will allege, because he talked about the song in his freshman year of Sewanee or beyond a reasonable doubt in high school, PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS maliciously used the song against PLAINTIFF in which they sent in Victoria. In the following news article, this Victoria may have been the Victoria at issue: <https://www.justice.gov/archive/usao/nv/news/2011/05192011.html> (See: Screenshot Above).

In conjunction with Peachy Miami, PLAINTIFF does not recall how exactly PLAINTIFF was introduced/got in contact with an Asian woman named Victoria (PLAINTIFF can't remember how it spelled or her last name and if it is sudo as per the article). For all intents and purposes, VICTORIA quite literally just happened to suddenly appear in PLAINTIFF'S dorm at Humphrey's one day—completely out of the blue-- and PLAINTIFF welcomed her in. She is in PLAINTIFF'S room and starts having a conversation with PLAINTIFF about airplanes. PLAINTIFF loves airplanes and started talking about airplanes with her. PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS had told and directed VICTORIA to talk about wanting to stop an aircraft to frame PLAINTIFF and she did so under disguise so that DEFENDANTS could fabricate evidence to be used against PLAINTIFF. See: PLAINTIFF'S 2e twice exceptional personality features above. At this time, mind you PLAINTIFF is an 18-year-old autistic male that loved flying, so PLAINTIFF knew a lot about planes then because PLAINTIFF loved airplanes, cars, trains, and trucks. Victoria poses the question of how would PLAINTIFF stop a plane in flight if PLAINTIFF could and PLAINTIFF tells her numerous ways to do so; and one of those ways you could stop a plane is that you could call in a bomb threat even though it is completely illegal. PLAINTIFF specifically told VICTORIA that she shouldn't do it because it was illegal. ← This piece of evidence was intentionally omitted. So not only does PLAINTIFF tell her not to do it, but PLAINTIFF also lists other ways of how a plane could stop midflight. It never came across PLAINTIFF'S mind that VICTORIA would have followed through on it if she did. So that is a component of the racketeering scheme in which PLAINTIFF does not have the Mens Rea to actively encourage nor direct anyone to committing the act—PLAINTIFF was not part of the criminal syndicate underworld being an 18-year-old autistic man in which PLAINTIFF had no actual gang associations or mob associations. PLAINTIFF has a pure heart and would never commit criminal acts and would not expect anyone to do the same. This gets deliberately misconstrued as FBI falsely alleges that PLAINTIFF is some mafioso terrorist figure in which they continue to commit these acts to harm PLAINTIFF maliciously.

The problem is that essentially what an autistic individual like PLAINTIFF understands is only the factual question being asked and not the next social considerations that derive from the facts on how the information that is relayed to the receiver/asker of question will be received or contemplated or processed or if that the person would use the information in a malicious manner. It took PLAINTIFF years of awkward experiences to come to understand the next social consideration and PLAINTIFF still has trouble with that at times, especially when it comes to politics. Autistic individuals like PLAINTIFF don't believe the worst in people whereas law enforcement and intelligence come from the standpoint of believing the worst in an individual because that is who they regularly interact with. Autistic individuals like PLAINTIFF can be, and are, too naïve and innocent for our own good. Autistic people like myself fundamentally don't believe the information we have will be used against us for sharing what we know and all PLAINTIFF was doing was sharing something his autistic knowledge and had no intent or desire that she utilize it in the manner she did. Autistic people like myself don't believe the information will be used maliciously. So PLAINTIFF relays to Victoria/Viktoria information that was being asked that can be easily acquired through a myriad of different sources or was commonly known and understood anyway. See: PLAINTIFF'S 2e twice exceptional personality features above. PLAINTIFF doesn't consider how much sharing is too much to get law enforcement involved. PLAINTIFF did not have reason to believe at any time she was serious and would have actually utilized the information and implemented the information, but she did to PLAINTIFF'S horror if that was actually the same VICTORIA. After this conversation, VICTORIA leaves and PLAINTIFF never sees her again.

PLAINTIFF believes it was an agent sent by American INTEL (FBI, CIA, NSA, or DHS) for the sole purpose of fabricating materially misleading information and evidence against PLAINTIFF. This brings up the following:

If DEFENDANTS utilized any of the Victoria conversation, they violated: 18 U.S. Code § 2234; 18 U.S. Code § 2235; 18 U.S. Code § 2236. 18 U.S.C. 241, 42 U.S.C. 1985(2), 18 U.S.C. 1962 (d), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"). In U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994) ruled on the proposition that an act of perjury can be an act of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503 since "The findings (of obstruction of justice) encompass all the elements of perjury — falsity, materiality, and willfulness. The only matter about which the court was not explicit was whether Matiz's testimony was material. A sentencing court, however, is not required to address each element of perjury in a separate and clear finding. See id. In fact, the Court in Dunnigan affirmed a district court's finding that did not use the term willful...Dunnigan only requires that a sentencing court's findings encompass all of the factual predicates for a finding of perjury." "The Supreme Court has stated that a witness testifying under oath commits perjury if "she gives false testimony concerning a material matter with the willful intent to provide false testimony, rather than as a result of confusion, mistake, or faulty memory." United States v. Dunnigan, 113 S.Ct. 1111 (1993)." U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994). U.S. v. Ashland Oil Inc., 705 F. Supp. 270 (W.D. Pa. 1989) discussed what constituted materiality: "A concise summary of this materiality requirement is set forth in Justice Stevens' concurring opinion in Youngblood: Our cases make clear that "[t]he proper standard of materiality must reflect our overriding concern with the justice of the finding of guilt," and the State's failure to turn over (or preserve) potentially exculpatory evidence therefore "must be evaluated in the context of the entire record." United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976) (footnotes omitted); see also California v. Trombetta, 467 U.S. 479 (1984) (duty to preserve evidence "must be limited to evidence that might be expected to play a significant role in the suspect's defense")." "By limiting §1503 to acts having the "natural and probable effect" of interfering with the due administration of justice, the Court effectively reads the word "endeavor," which we said in Russell embraced "any effort or essay" to obstruct justice out of the omnibus clause, leaving a prohibition of only actual obstruction and competent attempts...A §1503 violation occurs when "an act is done corruptly if it's done voluntarily and intentionally to bring about either an unlawful result or a lawful result by some unlawful method, with a hope or expectation of either financial gain or other benefit to oneself or a benefit of another person." United States v. Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995).

PLAINTIFF is alleging that DEFENDANTS (ROBERT MUELLER, FBI, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, NSA, and DHS) intentionally omitted the fact that PLAINTIFF said not to tamper with an aircraft and said it was illegal. The fact that Victoria came and left so quickly out of PLAINTIFF'S life means that it was a complete set-up to fabricate materially misleading evidence and false evidence.

Case law provides the following. In, United States v. Cook, 793 F.2d 734 (5th Cir. 1986) ("[b]oth the fact of conspiracy and a defendant's participation in it may be proved by circumstantial evidence." 793 F.2d at 736). "As was the case in United States v. Postal, 589 F.2d 862 (5th Cir.) ... "the mere fact that [defendant] made the statement is relevant to the issues of [his] knowledge of the conspiracy and his participation in it."...As Professor McCormick explains: "Proof that one talks about a matter demonstrates on its face that he was conscious or aware of it, and his veracity simply does not enter into the situation." [omitted]. "U.S. v. Jones, 839 F.2d 1041 (5th Cir. 1988). "If the government's conduct in the investigation through a sting operation is so active that its conduct fabricated elements of the offense, it might be considered a violation of due process to prosecute the defendant." U.S. v. Steinhorn, 739 F. Supp. 268, 271 (D. Md. 1990). DEFENDANTS (ROBERT MUELLER, FBI, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, NSA, and DHS) and therefore violated PLAINTIFF'S Fifth and Fourteenth Amendment Rights with the Victoria situation and violated 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud).

"The question, then, is whether Hagler can point to sufficient evidence at trial to show that the jury could have had a reasonable doubt concerning entrapment...Hagler's burden has two parts: he must point to evidence indicating (1) governmental inducement that might cause him to act criminally where he otherwise would not, and (2) his lack of intent, before contact by governmental agents, to commit the crime charged." U.S. v. Jones, 839 F.2d 1041 (5th Cir. 1988). PLAINTIFF had no serious intent on directing someone to commit an act of terrorism because he said not to do it. If it wasn't for Victoria inducing PLAINTIFF to talk about it, PLAINTIFF wouldn't have done it because PLAINTIFF loved flying. "This Circuit recognized the outrageous conduct defense in United States v. Graves, 556 F.2d 1319 (5th Cir. 1977), supra, in which we wrote: "[A]part from any question of predisposition of a defendant to commit the offense in question, governmental participation may be so outrageous or fundamentally unfair as to deprive the defendant of due process of law or to move the courts in the exercise of their supervisory jurisdiction over the administration of criminal justice to hold that the defendant was "entrapped" as a matter of law.'" 556 F.2d at 1322 (quoting United States v. Quinn, 543 F.2d 640, 647-48 (8th Cir. 1976))." United States v. Yater, 756 F.2d 1058 (5th Cir. 1985). The whole entire event was a complete form of entrapment and therefore violations of 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services").

"Although there is no infallible means of divining a defendant's predisposition to commit a crime after the fact, there are several factors recognized as relevant in making this determination. We start with the observation that predisposition is, by definition, "the defendant's state of mind and inclinations before his initial exposure to government agents." United States v. Jannotti, 501 F. Supp. 1182 (E.D.Pa. 1980), rev'd on other grounds, 673 F.2d 578 (3rd Cir.)...This answers defendant's bizarre contention that "the agents literally entrapped him into a state of predisposition." One is either predisposed to commit a crime before coming into contact with the Government or one is not, so the argument that one could be entrapped into having a state of predisposition is meaningless. We now turn our attention to the factors relevant in determining predisposition. Among these are the character or reputation of the defendant, including any prior criminal record; whether the suggestion of the criminal activity was initially made by the Government; whether the defendant was engaged in the criminal activity for profit; whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to commit the offense, overcome only by repeated Government inducement or persuasion; and the nature of the inducement or persuasion supplied by the Government. While none of the factors alone indicates either the presence or absence of predisposition, the most important factor . . . is whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to engage in criminal activity which was overcome by repeated Government inducement..." United States v. Kaminski, 703 F.2d 1004 (7th Cir. 1983). There was no predisposition by PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF had a complete reluctance and was not part of a conspiracy to be undertaken. BUT FOR DEFENDANTS (ROBERT MUELLER, FBI, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, NSA, and DHS) sending in Victoria in PLAINTIFF'S dorm, completely unannounced and not knowing how she got there, it was complete repeated Government inducement and was part of a similar set of circumstances in Peachy Miami.

Under Title VI, United States v. Ramirez, 765 F.2d 438 (5th Cir. 1985)(First, he must make a prima facie showing that he has been singled out for prosecution although others "similarly situated who have committed the same acts have not been prosecuted."... He then must demonstrate that the government's selective prosecution of him was "actuated by constitutionally impermissible motives ... such as racial discrimination... A showing of discriminatory purpose requires the defendant to demonstrate that the government selected or reaffirmed a particular course of action at least in part "because of" — not merely "in spite of" — its adverse effects on an identifiable group." BUT FOR DEFENDANTS (ROBERT MUELLER, FBI, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, NSA, and DHS) hating "Itan" culture and Yugoslavians and especially autistic individuals, PLAINTIFF would not have been subject to such outrageous conduct at the behest of the United States Government and therefore a violation of 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services").

In another Government Entrapment claim, "Thus, what is presented is that after months of investigation revealed no criminal activity, Agent Sullivan, based upon a philosophical remark by Ralph Finno as to his thoughts on what are classically considered "victimless crimes", decided to set up a loanshark operation. " the tapes reveal, most cogently to the matter at bar, that Eddie Wasco, another government agent, had to "sit down and give lessons" to the Finnos on how to lend FDLE money to FDLE agents to receive FDLE interest in return so that they could then be arrested and charged. The agent admitted the loansharking scheme was his idea... The state presented no evidence of ongoing criminal activity by the defendants, nor did it establish or suggest that Mr. Ralph Finno was engaged in criminal activity. Indeed, the opposite appears from the record. The video tape of Wasco telling the Finnos how to engage in the loanshark business belies the criminality the state would like to suggest. Even if the conduct of the government did not violate due process, we think that this case must still be resolved by affirming the trial court in light of Munoz on subjective entrapment grounds. In order to prove the subjective test of entrapment, Munoz establishes three questions to be asked: (1) did an agent of the government induce the accused to commit the offense charged; (2) was the accused predisposed to commit the offense charged; and (3) should the case of entrapment be submitted to the jury. In the instant case, there is no question that the government induced the appellees to commit the offense. The state does not dispute this. As to the second point, the trial court mentioned appellee Ralph Finno's "philosophical remark . . . as to his thoughts on what are classically considered 'victimless crimes.'" That the defendant may philosophically or theoretically think that some act should not be criminal cannot amount to predisposition to commit the crime. To claim that is to say that a newspaper editor, for instance, is predisposed to commit drug crimes because the editor has argued for legalization of drugs. Such advocacy does not amount to criminal predisposition. Thus, appellee's lack of concern for victimless crimes does not amount to predisposition." State v. Finno, 643 So. 2d 1166 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1994). This is exactly what the case is about. PLAINTIFF'S philosophical or political thoughts did not amount to criminal predisposition in which FOR DEFENDANTS (ROBERT MUELLER, FBI, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, NSA, and DHS) equivocated PLAINTIFF'S philosophical and political thoughts as actual predisposition. Therefore, PLAINTIFF'S 5th and 14th Amendment Due Process rights were violated in which a Title VI violation also occurred. PLAINTIFF will explain more of this in the next Chapter.

FRESHMAN YEAR. SEWANEE. LAW ENFORCEMENT INTERVENTIONS:

FBI: ROBERT MUELLER. CIA: MICHAEL HAYDEN. DOJ Attorney General: MICHAEL MUKASEY. DOJ Solicitor General: Paul Clement. DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta): SALLY YATES.

As alluded to earlier in Anarchy about Sewanee Sabotage, DEFENDANTS knowingly used the picture from the book to materially mislead the Court that PLAINTIFF was acting on sabotage in Sewanee in which it was seriously prejudicial to PLAINTIFF. See: PLAINTIFF'S 2e twice exceptional personality features above. Mind you, it is only in the context and reference to how friends and acquaintances were socially backstabbing one another at the time (especially PLAINTIFF), in which PLAINTIFF was ostracized after being falsely labeled a pedophile for getting distracted and holding the kid on the stomach to keep him safe, and the picture from the book was not applicable in any other scenario at the time. As alluded to in Sewanee Sabotage, PLAINTIFF can't remember who the conversation was with; however, what PLAINTIFF remembers is the content on the conversation. PLAINTIFF acknowledged the fact that cars were regularly left unlocked in Sewanee because of the HONOR CODE. Because PLAINTIFF was always defensive in his life having been bullied and abused, PLAINTIFF always looked at ways at preventing future abuse and being bullied and was providing an example of what sabotage would have consisted of on campus and not to do that. Therefore, PLAINTIFF only talked— *PLAINTIFF never in legal fact committed the following—*about how easy it would be to get access to the interior of a car since the cars were unlocked at Sewanee and one would place things in someone's car to frame that car's owner.

Before PLAINTIFF elaborates what happens next, the following needs to be conveyed. PLAINTIFF created a MySpace page and profile in High School. PLAINTIFF'S screenname was "TheYugoMob1," which was the same exact name from PLAINTIFF'S AOL screenname (AIM Messenger) of the same screenname as "TheYugoMob1" that was created sometime before PLAINTIFF was in the 7th grade because PLAINTIFF remembers his AIM was the TheYugoMob1 in the 7th grade, which was in 2001. The Mafia was a large part of the Eastern European/Balkan culture after the USSR fell in the 1990s. The Marine Corp actually explicitly referred to and never condemned of what the Janissaries did to Balkan families and how they obtained Balkan people in 2000 in an article published by the United States Naval Institute in March 2000, Proceedings Vol. 126/3/1,165.¹⁹⁶ This was a year after America bombed Yugoslavia in 1999, which is around the same exact time that PLAINTIFF created and made his screenname. For all intents and purposes under Title VI, having the screenname of “BlackMob1” and “TheYugoMob1” are on and of the same. PLAINTIFF doesn’t feel like it is fully necessary for PLAINTIFF to explain that immature boys make stupid screennames or humorous screennames to them. No 1st Generation Yugoslavian-American sixth grader is in the Yugoslavian Mafia. This is clearly “Itan.” It was a young kid making a stupid joke on the internet in the early 2000s in which around 2000, barely anyone in the former Yugoslavia had a computer. Okay? Okay. Let’s grant the completely absurd notion that PLAINTIFF was in the Yugoslavian Mafia from the 6th grade and had created their social network profile (in which it was a completely illogical conclusion to PLAINTIFF at the time because the Yugos did not own computers hence the joking nature of it) in which PLAINTIFF administered and had control over it from High School, PLAINTIFF would have owned numerous guns between the time PLAINTIFF if he had been inducted in the Yugoslavian mob in the 6th Grade (2000), would have no actual need to purchase any guns in 2008, and the following incident that occurred in 2008 that involved police. Again, all of this is based on “Itan.” Lets continue.

This happened around the Middle of Freshman year so either October or November 2007 or February or March 2008 that involved PLAINTIFF’S car. See: Upbringing about Title VI and PLAINTIFF’S car. So United States v. Brignoni-Ponce, 422 U.S. 873 (1975), the Court talked about how cops can pull over someone for suspicion of being an illegal immigrant, which is basically asking someone about a nationality status under Title VI. The Court said a CBP officer may question the driver and passengers about their citizenship and immigration status, and he may ask them to explain suspicious circumstances, but any further detention or search must be based on consent or probable cause. Id.

PLAINTIFF is alleging that GRIFFIN FRY was either paid by DEFENDANTS as an informant in Peachy Miami or had been directed by DEFENDANTS to get PLAINTIFF to talk about Peachy Miami. DEFENDANTS had paid and dropped off Victoria in PLAINTIFF’S room to intentionally fabricate evidence against PLAINTIFF. DEFENDANTS at this time were aware of the content and conversation of Peachy Miami, were aware of the content of Victoria’s Flight, and were aware of the content of Sewanee Sabotage (See: Anarchy). Two of these scenarios were necessarily created by DEFENDANTS to induce autistic PLAINTIFF to talk about those things to fabricate evidence against PLAINTIFF like having utilized coerced recordings against PLAINTIFF’S will in Upbringing. DEFENDANTS, especially the FBI, were on the hunt for “domestic terrorists.” PLAINTIFF was on the “out” socially. There would be no social repercussions for what they did to PLAINTIFF and it was in their interest to cover it up.

PLAINTIFF is alleging that DEFENDANTS in the CIA/FBI/etc. called SEWANEE POLICE DEPARTMENT one day or visited them in person and talked about how to fabricate evidence against PLAINTIFF. CIA/FBI/et. al needed to create materially misleading evidence and narratives to be used against PLAINTIFF. DEFENDANTS knew that PLAINTIFF was not predisposed to the crimes as PLAINTIFF did not have a criminal record, had never had even the suggestion that he had committed carjackings or had broken into cars before, nor did he ever break into cars as a youth; nor was he known by any police department in high school has having breaking into cars or being associated with anyone that regularly did that. There was not an iota of evidence that PLAINTIFF was predisposed to do this. DEFENDANTS had either paid for the testimony involving those topics or had unconstitutionally obtained such during an unconstitutional investigation that was based on perjured testimony and fraud upon the Court. Knowing the reward to DEFENDANTS in establishing precedent to be used against PLAINTIFF in which they would get more resources, more control, and more power once they had the ability to punish people for their speech, they concocted a scheme with SEWANEE POLICE DEPARTMENT and SEWANEE POLICE DEPARTMENT OFFICERS and had directed two students to falsely identify PLAINTIFF as having acted upon his speech (in this instance, falsely identify PLAINTIFF of having acted upon Sewanee Sabotage as it was a specific plan in a specific place and they needed the evidentiary overlap to fraudulently prove their case). In so doing and having necessarily directed those individuals to falsely identify PLAINTIFF, DEFENDANTS necessarily relied on perjured testimony that violated the HONOR CODE and these were substantive RICO Predicate acts. ALL DEFENDANTS were aware that their actions were wrong at the time. To DEFENDANTS, these unconstitutional actions were just but a temporary “inconvenience” to DEFENDANTS in the long run in which DEFENDANTS necessarily knew they had a completely willing and enabling Supreme Court to cover up their actions, reduce the scope of protection afforded to the People of their constitutional rights, and prevent DEFENDANTS from ever being held accountable for their transgressions. That is what PLAINTIFF is alleging.

So PLAINTIFF, sometime after Big Brother Big Sister happened, after specifically having these conversations about why sabotaging relationships and friendships is harmful (and engaging in sabotage behavior violated the HONOR CODE) with some students living in Humphrey’s dorm, the following incident occurred after DEFENDANTS conspiracy. PLAINTIFF had been in his room for more than an hour. If DEFENDANTS would have actually utilized USA PATRIOT ACT §507 or §215 (seeing how, as plaintiff is alleging, they committed fraud on the court in utilizing §219 against PLAINTIFF in which they used materially misleading evidence, fabricated facts, and perjured testimony against PLAINTIFF or had requested the data through a national security letter on Facebook and searched PLAINTIFF prior to this incident because of Peachy Miami) what they could have proven beyond a reasonable doubt was that PLAINTIFF had been in his room on his laptop scrolling on the internet for at least an hour or more (to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection) by obtaining the browsing history of PLAINTIFF online on SEWANEE’S Internet prior to DEFENDANTS/SEWANEE PD knocking on his door asking PLAINTIFF to come outside because they were in need of some “assistance.” These are intentional and material omissions because they needed to fabricate a materially false narrative against PLAINTIFF (this is after Peachy Miami, but prior to Trespass Incident #3 to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection).

PLAINTIFF believes to the best of his recollection, the following: TED ROBINSON took PLAINTIFF outside to a random car in Humphrey's parking lot after PLAINTIFF having talked to TED ROBINSON about Sewanee Sabotage and TED ROBINSON broke into a car by opening the door to an unlocked car; PLAINTIFF alleges TED ROBINSON and DEFENDANTS (FBI, ROBERT MUELLER, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, DHS, NSA) had conspired with TED ROBINSON in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 18 U.S.C. 241, 42 U.S.C. 1983, 42 U.S.C. 1985(3), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services").in which aforementioned DEFENDANTS needed a witness to fabricating a materially misleading narrative. TED ROBINSON violated the HONOR CODE. PLAINTIFF also alleges that DEFENDANTS planted evidence in PLAINTIFF'S unlocked car, which was a violation of the HONOR CODE.

As part of the previous scheme, DEFENDANTS (FBI, ROBERT MUELLER, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, DHS, NSA) had conspired with Sewanee PD to fabricate materially misleading narratives against PLAINTIFF in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 18 U.S.C. 241, 42 U.S.C. 1985(2), 42 U.S.C. 1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services").So, PLAINTIFF willingly and gladly goes out to provide Sewanee PD some assistance. PLAINTIFF was outside and standing next to some police officers in the parking lot of Humphrey's after being directed to go outside and help/provide assistance to law enforcement by DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF had not committed any crimes that day and had not been outside his dorm room for more than an hour before the cops came. Let's grant the false lie to be true for the sake of argument of what DEFENDANTS had accused PLAINTIFF of. PLAINTIFF goes outside to a car that is not his own and plants things inside the car and then goes back inside in which PLAINTIFF is allegedly seen from a second-floor window and a first-floor window. If this happened, both those witnesses would have called the cops then and SEWANEE PD would have necessarily arrived in less than 5 minutes. SEWANEE is a very small town despite being on a huge campus. It would have taken less than 5 minutes for an officer to show up somewhere on central campus and to be in the parking lot of Humphrey's dorm as Humphrey's dorm was on the inner and central periphery of the campus. Like PLAINTIFF said, for a cop to go from the Police station to go to Humphrey's dorm would have taken less than 5 minutes max. Even if (as there were four officers involved) all four of them get the call, one of them would have appeared within five minutes and apprehended PLAINTIFF. For four police officers to arrive to Humphrey's and take the statement of two individuals of what happened would have taken less than 20 minutes and they would have then apprehended PLAINTIFF. Period. But that is not what happened. PLAINTIFF had done nothing wrong at this point of time because he was in his dorm room for more than an hour that day on the computer and thought nothing nefarious was happening. DEFENDANTS have the record of this because of PLAINTIFF'S internet browsing history. PLAINTIFF had never broken into anyone's car at any point of time in PLAINTIFF'S life and had never planted things inside their cars although PLAINTIFF, admittedly, had talked about it prior to this incident.

PLAINTIFF is standing in the parking lot and is talking to DEFENDANTS SEWANEE POLICE DEPARTMENT, and they start grilling PLAINTIFF about his supposed gang associations while pointing at PLAINTIFF'S car nearby. The cops spend more than 5 minutes grilling PLAINTIFF outside. PLAINTIFF is completely flanked on both sides by police officers in which PLAINTIFF can't retreat back but can only run away forward which is illegal. Three officers are standing next to or behind PLAINTIFF in the vicinity of PLAINTIFF in the parking lot in which they position themselves in such a way as to place themselves between the door/curtilage of the dorm and the parking lot. PLAINTIFF would have had to ask an officer to move or completely walk around them to go back into the dorm. If anyone views three police officer being behind a subject and encircling the subject from behind in which none of them stand in front of PLAINTIFF, that is the most guilty presumption that can be visually created because the three officers are in the perfect position to instantaneously place handcuffs on the Subject/PLAINTIFF. This is extremely suggestive. For all intents and purposes, PLAINTIFF could not have left because they were grilling PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF had not "helped them" on their fishing expedition and was confused as to when he would be of immediate assistance to law enforcement. PLAINTIFF had necessarily been seized by law enforcement and no miranda warnings were given and this identification procedure was unconstitutionally coercive and suggestive. DEFENDANTS were standing in the way of PLAINTIFF getting back into the dorm. This grilling is not friendly, it is hostile. PLAINTIFF was not in the mob. PLAINTIFF was not in a gang. The only factually ascertainable way based on the entirety of PLAINTIFF'S existence at that time in which DEFENDANTS could have had acquired that presumption of PLAINTIFF allegedly being in a mob or gang was that law enforcement had stumbled across PLAINTIFF'S MySpace name of: TheYugoMob1. That's it. No other way conceivable. So this is a Title VI violation and a violation of United States v. Brignoni-Ponce, 422 U.S. 873 (1975) as it was necessarily done on the basis of PLAINTIFF'S nationality because of the screenname, "Itan" in the creation of such, and PLAINTIFF'S car. It was intentional because no other reasonable inferences can be made because it was on the basis of PLAINTIFF'S car, 'Itan' and joke name. Necessarily, when DEFENDANTS would be asked how PLAINTIFF came to be known as associated with a "gang," they would necessarily have to justify their actions on PLAINTIFF'S AIM and MySpace account name so it was intentional on that basis as well as the car. Period. So, DEFENDANTS are grilling PLAINTIFF on the basis of his nationality to find any reasonable suspicion or probable cause in which they had no reason or proof to believe that PLAINTIFF committed a crime that day. PLAINTIFF believes DEFENDANTS are trying to cover up their constitutional violations and HONOR CODE Violations in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and arrest PLAINTIFF for anything. Obviously this meets the requirements under United States v. Ramirez, 765 F.2d 438 (5th Cir. 1985). So after a minimum of 5 or 10 minutes, of these conversations, then PLAINTIFF looks behind himself inside the dorm and someone from inside the dorm, who is standing next to another cop, points at PLAINTIFF from a window. PLAINTIFF is standing there wondering like what the fuck was that. This is an extremely suggestive and unconstitutional police identification line up and identification and a false identification at that. PLAINTIFF has been unconstitutionally seized and not made aware of it. It is now to PLAINTIFF's understanding it was a trap, and PLAINTIFF was sabotaged for the conversations he had earlier because the police needed to falsely identify PLAINTIFF because DEFENDANTS took PLAINTIFF'S words after PLAINTIFF said them and implemented a plan of constitutional sabotage against PLAINTIFF to frame PLAINTIFF as having acted on his words in a specific location with a specific plan in mind.¹⁹⁷ Pause. PLAINTIFF is going to repeat that again:

From 2008: DEFENDANTS took PLAINTIFF'S specific words that were illegally obtained through committing fraud on the Court after PLAINTIFF said them and implemented a plan of constitutional sabotage against PLAINTIFF to frame PLAINTIFF and create the materially false narrative they needed for PLAINTIFF as having acted upon his words in a specific location with a specific plan in mind.¹⁹⁸

That was their one and only true intent and motive in mind involving PLAINTIFF because they needed to cover up for the fraud they had committed on the Court and needed the completely hypocritical precedent in place in which PLAINTIFF refused to actually commit the crime. It absolutely not an issue of: if you do the crime, you do the time; to DEFENDANTS in regards to PLAINTIFF, it was even if you absolutely don't want to do the crime, we lie about you to judges and magistrates and say you did the crime by fabricating evidence against you so you could do the time. If it wasn't their one and true motive here and if FBI were truly all about the fair administration of law and rooting out corruption in the local police departments across the country as they are legally required to do under the law, DEFENDANTS would have caught and arrested Sewanee P.D. for violating PLAINTIFF'S rights, but no one went punished for their actions here.

People v. Jamieson, 436 Mich. 61 (Mich. 1990) discussed when entrapment occurred and government misconduct in an investigation: "A review of the common law of this state shows that discretionary investigative enforcement measures extend beyond a tolerable level when by design the government uses continued pressure, appeals to friendship or sympathy, threats of arrest, an informant's vulnerability, sexual favors, or procedures which escalate criminal culpability. All of these traditional inducements are absent from the facts of this case. We conclude that the furnishing of contraband by the government is insufficient to induce or instigate the commission of a crime by the average person, similarly situated to these defendants, who is not ready and willing to commit it. We also note that this is not a case where the government's furnishing of narcotics was for the purpose of trying to escalate the criminal culpability of defendants. People v Killian, 117 Mich. App. 220; 323 N.W.2d 660 (1982)." DEFENDANTS (FBI, ROBERT MUELLER, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, DHS, NSA, and unknown Sewanee PD officers) utilized TED ROBINSON in which they used PLAINTIFF'S friendship against him; There were false and coercive procedures in identifying PLAINTIFF by DEFENDANTS (FBI, ROBERT MUELLER, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, DHS, NSA, and unknown Sewanee PD officers) such as aforementioned DEFENDANTS having violated Coleman v. Alabama, 399 U.S. 1 (1970) in which the police line-up/identification procedure was so unfairly suggestive that it violated due process under the 14th Amendment because they had the intent on fabricating evidence to be utilized against PLAINTIFF. DEFENDANTS violated Arizona v. Fulminate, 499 U.S. 279 (1991) because they were attempting to coerce yet another confession in light of "PLAINTIFF'S supposed associations" in violation of TITLE VI in which it was not a harmless error when there was an inducement by a government officials to be falsely identified as having committed a crime against his constitutional interests. There was a coercion in his confession in violation of the 5th and 14th amendments. Court found there was a legitimate fear that PLAINTIFF was going to be deprived of liberty and property interests, and there was evidence that was obtained afterwards that was prejudicial to the individual that concerned “associations” known to the individual like trying to connect PLAINTIFF to being in the Yugo mob when he was never in the Yugo mob. So, there was an imminent fear of harm that would be undertaken against PLAINTIFF in which there was prejudicial evidence introduced on an association known to the individual that was prejudicial to the individual. Those were the totality of the circumstances in the case. Therefore, DEFENDANTS (FBI, ROBERT MUELLER, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, DHS, NSA, and unknown Sewanee PD officers) violated 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 42 U.S.C. 1985(2), 42 U.S.C. 1983, 18 U.S.C. 241, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”).

DEFENDANTS (FBI, ROBERT MUELLER, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, DHS, NSA, and unknown Sewanee PD officers) criminal scheme was done in absolute constitutional and legal abhorrence to the rule of law. In United States v. Twigg, 588 F.2d 373 (3d Cir. 1978) the Court said: “Government agents approached Neville, who was not then engaged in any illicit [drug] activities and, said the court, “deceptively implanted the criminal design in Neville's mind (albeit they were PLAINTIFF’S). They set him up, encouraged him, provided the essential supplies and technical expertise, and when he and [the government informant] encountered difficulties in consummating the crime, they assisted in finding solutions. This egregious conduct on the part of government agents generated new crimes by the defendant merely for the sake of pressing criminal charges against him, when, as far as the record reveals, he was lawfully and peacefully minding his own affairs. Fundamental fairness does not permit us to countenance such actions by law enforcement officials and prosecution for a crime so fomented by them will be barred.” That is exactly what happened in this instance.

The Court in NIEMOTKO v. MARYLAND, 340 U.S. 268 (1951) talked about how a conviction could not stand since it related to the free speech of the appellants when: “At the time of the arrest of each of these appellants, there was no evidence of disorder, threats of violence or riot. There was no indication that the appellants conducted themselves in a manner which could be considered as detrimental to the public peace or order. On the contrary, there was positive testimony by the police that each of the appellants had conducted himself in a manner beyond reproach.” Having cooperated with police on two separate times (one of which PLAINTIFF’S rights were completely violated) would be some exculpatory evidence that PLAINTIFF had conducted himself in a manner beyond reproach that was a factor in deciding that a conviction was not warranted. True there may have been some other issues, but the point being, cooperation with police is exculpatory evidence and PLAINTIFF is alleging there was a complete omission of this evidence.

Furthermore, “However, in People v Turner, supra, this Court renounced the subjective test followed by the United States Supreme Court and a majority of states, reasoning that the objective test is preferable because: “[B]y definition, the entrapment defense cannot arise unless the defendant actually committed the proscribed act, that defendant is manifestly covered by the terms of the criminal statute involved. “Furthermore, to say that such a defendant is 'otherwise innocent' or not 'predisposed' to commit the crime is misleading, at best. The very fact that he has committed an act that Congress has determined to be illegal demonstrates conclusively that he is not innocent of the offense. . . . "The purpose of the entrapment defense, then, cannot be to protect persons who are 'otherwise innocent.' Rather, it must be to prohibit unlawful governmental activity in instigating crime." [Id. at 20, quoting Russell, supra at 442.] The Turner Court held that the defendant was entrapped as a matter of law. It stated that the agent engaged in overreaching conduct by pursuing the defendant after the first investigation did not turn up any evidence. Turner was not a drug dealer, and the agent played upon Turner's sympathy as a friend. The law enforcement officer went beyond merely creating an opportunity for the commission of a crime. California case, People v Barraza, 23 Cal.3d 675; 153 Cal.Rptr. 459; 591 P.2d 947 (1979), also provides a rationale for adopting the objective approach instead of the subjective test. The Barraza court stated: "[A] test that looks to the character and predisposition of the defendant rather than the conduct of the police loses sight of the underlying reason for the defense of entrapment. No matter what the defendant's past record and present inclinations to criminality, or the depths to which he has sunk in the estimation of society, certain police conduct to ensnare him into further crime is not to be tolerated by an advanced society. . . . Human nature is weak enough . . . and sufficiently beset by temptations without government adding to them and generating crime." [Id. at 687, quoting Sherman, supra at 382-384.] Further the Barraza court gives examples of impermissible police conduct which would constitute entrapment under the objective test. The court listed as examples the following: (1) an appeal by police because of friendship or sympathy rather than for personal gain; (2) inducement that would make the commission of crime unusually attractive to a normal "law-abiding person," id. at 689; (3) a guarantee that the act was not illegal; (4) an offer of exorbitant consideration or similar enticement. [W]hile the inquiry must focus primarily on the conduct of the law enforcement agent, that conduct is not to be viewed in a vacuum. . . We reiterate, however, that under this test such matters as the character of the suspect, his predisposition to commit the offense, and his subjective intent are irrelevant. [Id. at 690-691.]” People v. Jamieson, 436 Mich. 61 (Mich. 1990) “As we repeatedly have held, "a due process violation will be found only in the rarest and most outrageous [of] circumstances." United States v. Nissen, 928 F.2d 690 (5th Cir. 1991).

In U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994) ruled on the proposition that an act of perjury can be an act of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503 since “The findings (of obstruction of justice) encompass all the elements of perjury — falsity, materiality, and willfulness. The only matter about which the court was not explicit was whether Matiz's testimony was material. A sentencing court, however, is not required to address each element of perjury in a separate and clear finding. See id. In fact, the Court in Dunnigan affirmed a district court's finding that did not use the term willful...Dunnigan only requires that a sentencing court's findings encompass all of the factual predicates for a finding of perjury.” “The Supreme Court has stated that a witness testifying under oath commits perjury if "she gives false testimony concerning a material matter with the willful intent to provide false testimony, rather than as a result of confusion, mistake, or faulty memory." United States v. Dunnigan, 113 S.Ct. 1111 (1993).” U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994). U.S. v. Ashland Oil Inc., 705 F. Supp. 270 (W.D. Pa. 1989) discussed what constituted materiality: “A concise summary of this materiality requirement is set forth in Justice Stevens' concurring opinion in Youngblood: Our cases make clear that "[t]he proper standard of materiality must reflect our overriding concern with the justice of the finding of guilt," and the State's failure to turn over (or preserve) potentially exculpatory evidence therefore "must be evaluated in the context of the entire record." United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976) (footnotes omitted); see also California v. Trombetta, 467 U.S. 479 (1984) (duty to preserve evidence "must be limited to evidence that might be expected to play a significant role in the suspect's defense")." "By limiting §1503 to acts having the "natural and probable effect" of interfering with the due administration of justice, the Court effectively reads the word "endeavor," which we said in Russell embraced "any effort or essay" to obstruct justice out of the omnibus clause, leaving a prohibition of only actual obstruction and competent attempts...A §1503 violation occurs when "an act is done corruptly if it's done voluntarily and intentionally to bring about either an unlawful result or a lawful result by some unlawful method, with a hope or expectation of either financial gain or other benefit to oneself or a benefit of another person." United States v. Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995).

DEFENDANTS (FBI, ROBERT MUELLER, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, DHS, NSA, and unknown Sewanee PD officers) knowingly violated the HONOR CODE in having a witness falsely identify PLAINTIFF in which aforementioned DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF did not commit such an act. So not only was perjured testimony used by aforementioned DEFENDANTS, they themselves perjured themselves when they knew the incidents at issue were not caused by PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF had extreme difficulty in consummating the crime because PLAINTIFF had no actual intent on committing the crime at any point of PLAINTIFF'S life. Because PLAINTIFF had not meaningfully undertaken any substantial steps in furtherance of MIAMI, government agents generated new crimes for the sake of merely pressing criminal charges against PLAINTIFF after legal fraud had been committed on the Court by DEFENDANTS in which they needed to create an intentionally and materially false narrative and had fabricated evidence in the process and relied on perjured testimony to show that PLAINTIFF had acted upon his words in a specific location with a specific plan in mind. The purpose of doing this was providing irrefutable proof and a justification by DEFENDANTS in Court and in warrants in which DEFENDANTS would introduce the evidence of how local police had identified and apprehended an individual that had talked about a specific plot occurring at a specific location mentioned by the individual prior to it occurring thereby painting the false picture that PLAINTIFF would act on his words and previous plans in which the FBI and DEFENDANTS would have had all of the proof necessary to falsely allege that PLAINTIFF had serious intent on committing Peachy Miami. Aforementioned DEFENDANTS knowingly utilized perjured testimony and false identification in which evidence was planted by DEFENDANTS to cover up the legal fraud they had committed on the Court. So that is two counts of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. §1503 because it was material and a probable consequence of their actions was obstructing justice and violations of 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), 42 U.S.C. §1985(2), 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, Title VI, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services").

In Fahy v. Connecticut, 375 U.S. 85 (1963), the Court held that the admission of unconstitutionally obtained evidence was prejudicial and that the error was not harmless and deprived the individual of his constitutional rights. Fahy v. Connecticut, 375 U.S. 85 (1963) explained the facts of the case as: "On February 1, 1960, swastikas were painted with black paint on the steps and walls of a Norwalk synagogue. At about 4:40 a.m., Officer Lindwall of the Norwalk police saw an automobile being operated without lights about a block from the synagogue. Upon stopping the car, Lindwall found that Fahy was driving and Arnold was a passenger. Lindwall questioned Fahy and Arnold about their reason for being out at that hour, and they told him they had been to a diner for coffee and were going home. Lindwall also checked the car and found a can of black paint and a paint brush under the front seat. Having no reason to do otherwise, Lindwall released Fahy and Arnold...Officer Lindwall followed the car to Fahy's home. Later the same morning, Lindwall learned of the painting of the swastikas. Thereupon, he went to Fahy's home and -- without having applied for or obtained an arrest or search warrant -- entered the garage under the house and removed from Fahy's car the can of paint and the brush. About two hours later, Lindwall returned to the Fahy home, this time in the company of two other Norwalk policemen. Pursuant to a valid arrest warrant, the officers arrested Fahy and Arnold." So there is a moment in time that the officers don't have probable cause to believe that a crime has been committed nor is there is an imminent danger to anyone. The cops were supposed to go on their way after pulling the subjects over at issue and all Officer Lindwall objectively has is just a hunch about something in which he doesn't have an objective basis in knowing how the black paint was used in the case or the possibility that the black paint was going to be used in the future. Then he breaks into the home by the requisite knowledge of a different officer and/or was being directed by another officer to do so to unconstitutionally obtain material evidence the police needed in a warrant. In Trespass Incident #3, the officers/DEFENDANTS necessarily know perjured testimony was used before, knew of the unconstitutional nature of their actions, which made it even more prejudicial to PLAINTIFF.

The evidence obtained in the case was incriminating in which it was used to corroborate the testimony of an officer about an important part of the alleged crime. Without that evidence, there is no case to be had. Like PLAINTIFF in Trespass Incident #3 and False Identification, there is no identification without a materially known use of perjured testimony and there is no evidence of being a threat to anyone without being coerced by the officer in Trespass Incident #3 in which he had no constitutional basis to be in the room; without either one of these incidents, there is no case nor is there any plausible or justifiable reason to utilize Title II or FISA against PLAINTIFF. Then without these two specific pieces of materially fabricated evidence, DEFENDANTS (FBI, ROBERT MUELLER, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, DHS, NSA, and unknown Sewanee PD officers) can't use the opinion testimony of the officers or anyone within the DEFENDANTS (FBI, ROBERT MUELLER, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, DHS, NSA, and unknown Sewanee PD officers) organization to confirm their materially false and fabricated narrative they justified to the Court in their Title II authorization or NSL letters.

Even in Fahy v. Connecticut, 375 U.S. 85 (1963), yes indeed, there was an aspect of the case that concerned the subject's humor and why he did something in the course of an interrogation by the police which would go to determining whether or not his actions fell within the scope prohibited behavior by the statute, the following is from the Court questioning the cop who had interrogated him: "Q. Did you have any further conversation with Fahy before you reached the police station that you remember? " "A. I asked him what the reason was for painting the swastikas, and he said it was only a prank, and I asked him why, and he said for kicks." Now even the difference between PLAINTIFF and Mr. Fahy is that PLAINTIFF never acted upon his humor or "Itan" in which it was all purely verbal and PLAINTIFF'S Mens Rea is necessarily at issue. If it wasn't for the cumulative prejudicial acts that occurred throughout PLAINTIFF'S freshman year, the court would not have had the fabricated evidence utilized against PLAINTIFF to circumstantially falsely prove and falsely allege PLAINTIFF'S Mens Rea at issue without ever having to ask for PLAINTIFF'S Mens Rea. The Court talked about the interrogation in which they said: "Nor can we ignore the cumulative prejudicial effect of this evidence upon the conduct of the defense at trial. It was only after admission of the paint and brush and only after their subsequent use to corroborate other state's evidence and only after introduction of the confession that the defendants took the stand, admitted their acts, and tried to establish that the nature of those acts was not within the scope of the felony statute under which the defendants had been charged. We do not mean to suggest that petitioner has presented any valid claim based on the privilege against self-incrimination. We merely note this course of events as another indication of the prejudicial effect of the erroneously admitted evidence." Id. So whatever the DEFENDANTS did in regard to PLAINTIFF his ENTIRE Freshman year is fundamentally unconstitutional based on Fahy v. Connecticut, 375 U.S. 85 (1963).

PLAINTIFF is including his argument about the issue of DEFENDANTS' (FBI, ROBERT MUELLER, CIA, MICHAEL HAYDEN, DHS, NSA, and unknown Sewanee PD officers) intentional and deliberate omission of exculpatory evidence regarding PLAINTIFF'S Mens Rea concerning Peachy Miami and Sewanee Sabotage made in the section TAR [here].

PLAINTIFF alleges a violation (42 U.S.C. § 1983) for this action in falsely identifying PLAINTIFF (which was also a Title VI violation) and a violation of Monroe v. Pape, 365 U.S. 167 (1961). In, Monroe v. Pape, 365 U.S. 167 (1961), the issue of the Court was whether the Civil Rights Act (42 U.S.C. § 1983) could hold state police officers liable for their actions. The Court ruled in the affirmative. The held "Misuse of power possessed by virtue of state law and made possible only because the wrongdoer is clothed with the authority of state law is action taken "under color of" state law within the meaning of § 1979. United States v. Classic, 313 U. S. 299; Screws v. United States, 325 U. S. 91. Pp. 365 U. S. 183-187." In deciding the case and the applicability of such to the present situation, SCOTUS utilized the following passage from a politician from Illinois to convey the crucial point of: "If the State Legislature pass a law discriminating against any portion of its citizens, or if it fails to enact provisions equally applicable to every class for the protection of their person and property, it will be admitted that the State does not afford the equal protection. But if the statutes show no discrimination, yet, in its judicial tribunals, one class is unable to secure that enforcement of their rights and punishment for their infraction which is accorded to another, or, if secret combinations of men are allowed by the Executive to band together to deprive one class of citizens of their legal rights without a proper effort to discover, detect, and punish the violations of law and order, the State has not afforded to all its citizens the equal protection of the laws."

In late Spring 2008 (probably April 2008) because of how crazy the entire first floor was in Humphrey's dorm and the entire Humphrey's dorm had been acting that year, there is a first-floor meeting—a law enforcement intervention of sorts—with all the freshmen in Humphrey's dorm with law enforcement officers present and PLAINTIFF presumes Sewanee PD taking notes. Questions and conversations are had and PLAINTIFF told the truth then and PLAINTIFF apologized when he had been wrong because PLAINTIFF took responsibility for his actions when appropriate. DEFENDANTS then try to paint PLAINTIFF as having enjoyed tying up

GRIFFIN FRY in which PLAINTIFF vehemently denied and had told the cops that it was GRIFFIN FRY and WES CRANE'S idea and direction to do that against GRIFFIN FRY. Then Sewanee PD placed PLAINTIFF in a "damned if I do, damned if I don't" scenario based on the HONOR CODE when asked by law enforcement a question that would implicate some students and possibly get them in trouble. The problem was if PLAINTIFF lied to law enforcement and covered for fellow students, then PLAINTIFF would have gotten myself deeper in trouble with law enforcement and would have violated the HONOR CODE. If PLAINTIFF answered in the affirmative, PLAINTIFF would have got some fellow students in more trouble and been ostracized even further. PLAINTIFF made the right decision and answered in the affirmative. After telling the truth and working cooperatively with law enforcement, BRITTANY ROSE then sends PLAINTIFF a message on Facebook and calls PLAINTIFF "a terrorist" that very night because PLAINTIFF'S answer implicated BRITTANY ROSE—PLAINTIFF is socially ostracized even further for telling the truth. PLAINTIFF believes that DEFENDANTS had encouraged or paid BRITTANY ROSE to do this in violation of the honor code to provide materially misleading evidence to the court. Additionally, because of PLAINTIFF'S autism and sometimes eccentric behavior and prior to this incident, BRITTANY ROSE sends PLAINTIFF a message on Facebook accusing PLAINTIFF of being on drugs. PLAINTIFF truthfully denies such allegations; however, this will come up later in which, PLAINTIFF is alleging, that Law Enforcement used BRITTANY ROSE'S perjured testimony against PLAINTIFF accusing him of being a drug user and SCOTUS used perjured testimony because the words were sent on Campus in which the HONOR CODE applied. So in PLAINTIFF'S freshman year, PLAINTIFF is called a terrorist because PLAINTIFF worked with law enforcement. Irony upon Irony. PLAINTIFF, upon information and belief, DEFENDANTS would eventually use that Facebook message by BRITTANY ROSE to falsely label me as a terrorist or extremist without giving the court the full context of the message. So that is two counts of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. §1503 because it was material and a probable consequence of their actions was obstructing justice and violations of 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), 42 U.S.C. §1985(2), 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, Section 504, ADA, Title VI, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services").

FBI: ROBERT MUELLER and JAMES COMEY. CIA: LEON E. PANETTA. JOHN BRENNAN. DHS. JANET NAPOLITANO. DOD GENERAL COUNSEL: JEH JOHNSON. DHS JEH JOHNSON. DOJ Solicitor General: ELENA KAGAN. DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta): SALLY YATES

LEON PANETTA was the head of the CIA from about February 2009 through April 17th, 2011. LEON PANETTA earned his Juris Doctorate from Santa Clara and was also a professor at Santa Clara. LEON PANETTA was most definitely a Clinton friend in which he was BILL CLINTON'S WHITE HOUSE CHIEF OF STAFF. 1994-1997. Professor at Santa Clara University. LEON PANETTA was confirmed by the Senate in February 2009 through April 17th, 2011. On April 28, 2011, Obama announced the nomination of Panetta as defense secretary to replace the retiring Robert Gates. According to author Nigel Hamilton, "Panetta replaced McLarty for the rest of Clinton's first term—and the rest is history. To be a great leader, a modern president must have a great chief of staff—and in Leon Panetta, Clinton got the enforcer he deserved." Panetta was appointed White House Chief of Staff on July 17, 1994, and he held that position until January 20, 1997. He was a key negotiator of the 1996 budget, which was another important step toward bringing the budget into balance. On April 28, 2011 (on PLAINTIFF'S birthday), President Obama announced the nomination of LEON PANETTA as United States Secretary of Defense as a replacement for retiring Secretary Robert Gates. On June 21, 2011, the Senate confirmed Panetta in an unusual 100–0 vote. Congress unanimously against PLAINTIFF. He was inaugurated on July 1, 2011. Leon Panetta was a speaker on Day 3 of the 2016 Democratic National Convention in which Hillary Clinton was nominated to run as the Democratic candidate in the presidential election that year. He lives on his family's 12-acre (4.9 ha) walnut farm in Carmel Valley, California.

The important point of this section, and the only point of this section on top of introducing LEON PANETTA is the following. PLAINTIFF sometime around his sophomore or junior year at Sewanee wrote an email (hereon: JAPLAN email) that served as a factual nexus and piece of evidence to be materially misleading in An Anchor and a Pitchfork. The JAPLAN email was written: completely outside the confines of Sewanee, necessarily was not connected to any event that occurred in Sewanee, was protected by privilege (that wasn't in regards to any legal proceeding), and the JAPLAN email referred to a very specific stage in development. Now here is the thing. Beyond any reasonable doubt because of what the DOJ did PLAINTIFF'S freshman year and before in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and what they would eventually do in Miki's Tea Party and An Anchor and a Pitchfork, DEFENDANTS had to have a way to destroy PLAINTIFF. DEFENDANTS knew of the extreme value of how intentionally and materially misleading it could be if a very select portion out of the totality of the email (PLAINTIFF would say 5 words, one of which could also be a name) was utilized as evidentiary proof to maliciously and wantonly prosecute PLAINTIFF and charge him for a crime he did not commit to absolve themselves of the prior acts DEFENDANTS committed against PLAINTIFF. The name: Angel. Without the JAPLAN email, An Anchor and a Pitchfork could not have happened.

Where part of the RICO Enterprise happened that perpetuated mail and wire fraud was that this JAPLAN email was stored somewhere on the servers and computers of American Intel, Indian Intel, British Intel, Qatari Intel, or another Intel service. Say if it was India/Indian Intel, Japan/Japan Intel, Britain/British Intel that did JAPLAN; but for an unknown American Intel officer or American Intel agency having sent the JAPLAN email over wires to India/Indian Intel/British Intel/Japanese Intel/any intel agency that did JAPLAN, there is no way that JAPLAN could have happened. Additionally, but for India/Indian Intel, Japan/Japan Intel, Britain/British Intel or America/American Intel/John O. Brennan/Hillary Clinton/Jeh Johnson, having utilized the JAPLAN email against PLAINTIFF, An Anchor and a Pitchfork would not have happened.

The totality of An Anchor and a Pitchfork is incorporated [here]. Specifically, the 100+ federal crimes PLAINTIFF argued in An Anchor and a Pitchfork are incorporated [here].

PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS in violating, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), 18 U.S.C §241, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2), 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C §2234 - Authority exceeded in executing warrant, 18 U.S. Code §2235 - Search warrant procured maliciously, and/or 18 U.S.C § 2236 - Searches without warrant obtained the JAPLAN email.

PLAINTIFF will incorporate the minimum amount of damage deriving from the JAPLAN email in Miki's Tea Party or An Anchor and a Pitchfork because it was the necessary and requisite materially misleading evidence DEFENDANTS all could have ever hoped for in their torture and vendetta against PLAINTIFF and was used maliciously against PLAINTIFF in SUMMER 2015 that was shared across the wires.

Bolivia Leader Rebukes U.S. In Front Of Robert Gates (Los Angeles Times) By David S. Cloud
Bolivian President Evo Morales on Monday accused the United States of undermining democratic government in Latin America in a speech about purported plots and conspiracies originating in Washington, as U.S. Defense Secretary Robert M. Gates listened only a few feet away

From DEFENDANTS DOJ themselves: “The right to free expression and law enforcement's desire to control dissent and challenges to authority pose vexing problems for police officials. By combining police sanction concepts, citizen demeanor literature, and case law on civil liability, the author shows how police officers increase liability risks by arresting or otherwise retaliating against vocal critics, uncooperative suspects, and citizens with an attitude problem. After identifying the retaliation standard articulated by the U.S. Supreme Court in Mt. Healthy City School District Board of Education v. Doyle (1977), the author examines lower cases pursuant to Mt. Healthy's three-pronged test: (1) whether plaintiff conduct is protected by the first amendment; (2) whether plaintiff's protected first amendment activity is a substantial or motivating factor in police officer conduct; and (3) whether a police officer would respond the same in the absence of the protected first amendment activity. He concludes that police officers need more training in anger management and interpersonal communication to avoid liability for violating the first amendment right of citizens to verbally confront and challenge the police.”¹⁹⁹ ANDREW MCCABE would regularly discuss this incident and utilize this against PLAINTIFF; for example, in Fall 2015, ANDREW MCCABE said in regards to a feud between DOJ and FBI: “If someone on our side of the street felt slowed down by someone on their side of the street, someone would ask, what have we become, the federal bureau of matters?”²⁰⁰ Yes, plaintiff knows from experience and personal knowledge that the FBI and DOJ headquarters in WASHINGTON DC are across from one another; however, it is the inclusion of the word “matters,” the time of Fall 2015, and in addition to “side of the street” that all occur in the same sentence that makes it a direct reference to PLAINTIFF as they were talking about certain episodes in PLAINTIFF’S Life (that PLAINTIFF will elaborate upon).

THIS IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT. THE FIRST TIME “MATTER” COMES UP IS IN THIS CHAPTER AND THEN LATER COMES UP AGAIN IN THE DEVIL INCARNATE. Thereby, any and all incidents that involve a “matter” come up from this incident. Chronologically speaking, this true because GIVE ME LIBERTY AND GIVE ME BEER OCCURRED BEFORE BIG BROTHER and BIG SISTER. It is as PLAINTIFF has conclusively proven about the nature of this case is that is pure malicious and restrained retaliation. So This Side of the Street occurred BEFORE the Devil Incarnate.

On April 7th, 2009, DHS (Janet Napolitano) and FBI (Robert Mueller) co-created: Rightwing Extremism: Current Economic and Political Climate Fueling Resurgence in Radicalization and Recruitment. It was prepared by the Extremism and Radicalization Branch, Homeland Environment Threat Analysis Division with the FBI. “The DHS/Office of Intelligence and Analysis (I&A) has no specific information that domestic rightwing terrorists are currently planning acts of violence, but rightwing extremists may be gaining new recruits by playing on their fears about several emergent issues. The economic downturn and the election of the first African American president present unique drivers for rightwing radicalization and recruitment. Threats from white supremacist and violent antigovernment groups during 2009 have been largely rhetorical and have not indicated plans to carry out violent acts. Nevertheless, the consequences of a prolonged economic downturn—including real estate foreclosures, unemployment, and an inability to obtain credit—could create a fertile recruiting environment for rightwing extremists and even result in confrontations between such groups and government authorities similar to those in the past.... but they have not yet turned to attack planning.”²⁰¹ In inducing a paranoid climate, On December 6, 2010, Walmart announced it was partnering with the DHS. The partnership included a video message from Napolitano on TV screens in Walmart stores playing a "public service announcement" to ask customers to report suspicious activity to a Walmart manager. Napolitano compared the undertaking to "the Cold War fight against communists."

Did PLAINTIFF have even more trouble with law enforcement during Sewanee? Yes. One day in the beginning part of the Fall 2009 semester, PLAINTIFF was trying to be social and go to fraternity parties when PLAINTIFF was not a regular party drinker because PLAINTIFF wanted friends where the vast majority of the students in SEWANEE are in Greek life. You do what the vast majority of students do to have friends to fit in. PLAINTIFF was walking down the side of the road going against traffic from one fraternity to another. It was common practice by DEFENDANT SEWANEE POLICE DEPARTMENT between August 2007 and the day before this incident in Fall 2009 to allow students to walk from one party to another with drinks in hand and not get in trouble for it as long as they were not causing any problems. Records in citations concerning open beverages between 2007-2009 and an increase in open container violations from 2009-2011 will prove the increase that happened because DEFENDANTS were covering up what they did to PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF had consumed only two or three beers at this point of the night so PLAINTIFF is not intoxicated by any stretch of the imagination. There were no sidewalks for PLAINTIFF to walk on and PLAINTIFF would have walked on a sidewalk if they were available. SEWANEE is a small, isolated town, there were no cars on the road at the time. Prior to this incident, DEFENDANTS SEWANEE PD, FBI, and other unnamed DEFENDANTS conspired to retaliate against PLAINTIFF and continue the RICO Enterprise and created this incident to fabricate evidence against PLAINTIFF and other RICO Acts. On that Fall 2009 night, PLAINTIFF is just minding his own business as a 20-year-old, and PLAINTIFF, who having been encouraged to leave one party at a fraternity to go to another frat party, makes his way to another party to find friends and is walking on the side of the road with an open can of Coors Light in his hand. The sounds of whoop whoop comes from the other side of the road. The first question that is bellowed from the police car is: “hey how OLD are you.” It is clear that this is retaliatory action from the incident of Freshman Year. Sewanee. GIVE ME LIBERTY and GIVE ME BEER because it is about an underage person having a beer at 20 years old.

It was obvious that OFFICER ROLLINS/DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF and knew how old PLAINTIFF was at the time. PLAINTIFF shouldn't have been a smart-ass, but PLAINTIFF does what PLAINTIFF does from time to time, and PLAINTIFF says why does that matter to you in response to the earlier incident. DEFENDANT/OFFICER ROLLINS comes out of his car, and commands PLAINTIFF to come to the car. PLAINTIFF complies. PLAINTIFF is standing right next to the rear passenger door on the left side of the police car and then DEFENDANT OFFICER ROLLINS slams PLAINTIFF against the police car with all of his might and tells PLAINTIFF to get in the backseat. PLAINTIFF, like a good patriotic

American, held on to his beer after being slammed into the cop car. So PLAINTIFF is still holding an open can of Coors Light when OFFICER ROLLINS seizes PLAINTIFF and places PLAINTIFF in the back of the cop car; and from this moment on, PLAINTIFF is arrested and seized. At no point does OFFICER ROLLINS read or give PLAINTIFF his Miranda warning/rights that night.

One of the most important facts that night that gives a complete inference this was an operation to fabricate materially misleading and falsified narratives at the behest of DEFENDANTS is that, to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection though PLAINTIFF could be wrong (giving this a 60/40% of being true), at no time does OFFICER ROLLINS meaningfully pat down PLAINTIFF because Officer Rollins slams PLAINTIFF against the car and tells PLAINTIFF to get into the backseat. PLAINTIFF distinctly always remembered having the can of Coors Light in his hand that night. This is all extremely ironic because--let PLAINTIFF assume arguendo DEFENDANTS malicious and false accusations against PLAINTIFF that he was a threatening or violent individual--for a law enforcement officer to NOT put an allegedly violent individual in handcuffs at the time of arrest and put his hands behind his back and to NOT willingly pat down an allegedly violent individual and check him for weapons like DEFENDANTS falsely accused PLAINTIFF of possessing and having in Trespass Incident #3 is either that gross incompetence or DEFENDANTS always knew that PLAINTIFF was unarmed and non-violent. PLAINTIFF alleges DEFENDANTS always knew PLAINTIFF was non-violent, but DEFENDANTS needed the materially misleading and fabricated evidence and false narrative against PLAINTIFF by having created this operation against PLAINTIFF. So PLAINTIFF alleges, aforementioned DEFENDANTS violated 18 U.S.C. 241, 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 42 U.S.C. 1983, 42 U.S.C. 1985(3), 18 U.S.C. 1962 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”) as it had been directed from Washington D.C to Sewanee, Tennessee in which the commands to do this operation was done via wires.

As PLAINTIFF and OFFICER ROLLINS are driving back, OFFICER ROLLINS says some retaliatory comments about recycling and consuming the beer that are made to PLAINTIFF in the back of the Ford Crown Victoria. PLAINTIFF/OFFICER ROLLINS then drives to PLAINTIFF's dorm called Quintard and parks in the front of Quintard. From the closest intersection that PLAINTIFF got assaulted by Officer ROLLINS to PLAINTIFF's Dorm Room #404 in Quintard is exactly 0.5 miles away. See: map above. PLAINTIFF doesn't have a lot of friends in Sewanee at the time and it is not reasonably foreseeable that a lonely autistic man would have someone in his dorm room. DEFENDANTS had no probable cause or any exigent circumstances to search PLAINTIFF'S dorm room. Again, this gives an inference it was an operation to fabricate a false narrative in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"). An open container of beer in which PLAINTIFF came out of a frat party and the frat house would be the probable cause of, probable location, and probable source of where PLAINTIFF got the beer since PLAINTIFF probably opened it while at the frat party and had not finished the beer there and probably did not walk initially to the frat party with the same open can of beer and departed the party with the same open can of beer (though that's possible, it is not probable). The probable cause or reasonable suspicion of where PLAINTIFF got the beer was at the frat party (or PLAINTIFF had carried a closed can of beer in his pockets) and not his dorm room that was 0.5 miles away. But DEFENDANTS did know PLAINTIFF regularly left his dorm room unlocked because of the HONOR CODE. PLAINTIFF did not mention that PLAINTIFF had any more beers in his room (to the best of his recollection); and even if PLAINTIFF did, PLAINTIFF had not been mirandized by OFFICER ROLLINS when PLAINTIFF was arrested and seized thereby any statements used to justify the search would be inadmissible and any fruits gathered from the illegal search made inadmissible under Wong Sun. PLAINTIFF was not a known drug user at this time and no known exigent circumstances existed at the time. PLAINTIFF also believes that a 20-year-old possessing beer in Tennessee is a misdemeanor and not a felony. Mincey v. Arizona, 437 U. S. 385 (1978) ruled that exigent circumstances do not justify search where police guard at door could prevent loss of evidence. Either way, the actions were unconstitutional and in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1; and PLAINTIFF had not been read or given his Miranda Rights.

PLAINTIFF is sitting in the back of the car and then unknown SEWANEE PD officer or OFFICER ROLLINS starts to maliciously and falsely badger PLAINTIFF that PLAINTIFF was allegedly being belligerent and drunk. PLAINTIFF--with some basic understanding and notion that something is seriously constitutionally astray-- believes DEFENDANTS have a purpose of creating fabricated evidence against PLAINTIFF and that it is only going to go downhill from here. PLAINTIFF states to the DEFENDANTS: "no I'm not. Please let me do a breathalyzer test to show you that I'm not intoxicated" because PLAINTIFF is not being belligerent so that he could immediately refute the allegations with provable and scientific data and facts. PLAINTIFF then demands to be tested by breathalyzer at least 3 more separate times to prove his innocence with actual scientific and exculpatory evidence that PLAINTIFF is not intoxicated. Officer ROLLINS and unknown Sewanee PD officer rejects his request to provide immediate exculpatory evidence in violation of Brady. DEFENDANTS refuse to do so as they have concocted a plan to intentionally and deliberately label PLAINTIFF as being drunk and belligerent to obstruct justice in future proceedings in furtherance of their Enterprise--this is an HONOR CODE violation as well as it constitutes lying about PLAINTIFF and is dishonorable actions by DEFENDANTS, SEWANEE POLICE DEPARTMENT and OFFICER ROLLINS. As PLAINTIFF argued, there is a liberty and property interest in HONOR and in the HONOR CODE.” A conspiracy to violate PLAINTIFF’S rights occurred, DEFENDANTS violated PLAINTIFF’S rights in the process, and DEFENDANTS committed unconstitutional acts in PLAINTIFF’S dorm room and in front of Quintard dorm and other areas on campus; this in sum violated PLAINTIFF’S metaphysical sense of well-being, violated good relationships amongst people on campus, and therefore violated the HONOR CODE; and therefore, these actions in sum constituted a RICO violation as PLAINTIFF was denied his property and liberty interests because of the HONOR CODE violation. So PLAINTIFF is arguing because he wants immediate exculpatory evidence to be introduced to refute allegations. DEFENDANTS/OFFICER ROLLINS calls DEFENDANT University Dean MARY BETH BANKSON WILLIAMS to come to Quintard dorm as PLAINTIFF is still in the back of the cop car. MARY BETH BANKSON WILLIAMS comes to the cop car, looks at PLAINTIFF, and then she starts badgering and lying about PLAINTIFF being belligerent and drunk when PLAINTIFF is not. PLAINTIFF immediately demands a breathalyzer test and for her to ask DEFENDANTS to give PLAINTIFF one to prove PLAINTIFF’S innocence. DEFENDANTS deny PLAINTIFF’S requests. PLAINTIFF is extremely upset that they trying to coerce PLAINTIFF into admitting something that he is not by fabricating allegations and obstructing justice yet again.

Around the same time, UNKNOWN DEFENDANTS/OFFICERS/ DEFENDANTS (ROBERT MUELLER, JEH JOHNSON, MICHAEL HAYDEN, ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, FBI, CIA, NSA, DHS etc) go into PLAINTIFF’S dorm room. This is unconstitutional. PLAINTIFF gets arrested on suspicion on having an open can of beer about half a mile away from his dorm room leaving a fraternity party for an open can of beer. PLAINTIFF is unarmed and this incident has no connection to PLAINTIFF’S Dorm Room. Then at least one more OFFICER/DEFENDANT goes to PLAINTIFF’S room in which PLAINTIFF can’t see what at least two or three DEFENDANT OFFICERS are doing in PLAINTIFF’S room at the time. At least 30-45 minutes pass in which PLAINTIFF is in the car that three DEFENDANT OFFICERS have complete access to PLAINTIFF’S laptop and dorm room. PLAINTIFF alleges that the CIA, FBI, ROBERT MUELLER, JEH JOHNSON, MICHAEL HAYDEN, NSA, DHS, etc. had access to PLAINTIFF’S laptop and having their ability to bypass PLAINTIFF’S password and they have full and complete access to PLAINTIFF’S laptop. PLAINTIFF alleges aforementioned DEFENDANTS install software to track and monitor PLAINTIFF and do to a search of PLAINTIFF’S laptop in which they find NOTHING illegal. Even if there was anything, which to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection there was not anything illegal at the time, any search from this Chapter on of PLAINTIFF’S laptop is necessarily constitutionally tainted and compromised in violation of Wong Sun. There was not a single terrorist thing on PLAINTIFF’S laptop in Fall 2009. Period. Not an iota of anything terrorist like in nature. PLAINTIFF alleges they installed listening devices in PLAINTIFF’S room at the time. PLAINTIFF also alleges that they may have brought fabricated evidence and planted it in PLAINTIFF’S room and took pictures of such and utilized it in warrants to the Court in which they necessarily obstructed justice in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503 and knowingly utilized fabricated narratives, false evidence, and perjured testimony in violation of PLAINTIFF’S 4th, 5th, and 14th Amendment Rights. See the thing is PLAINTIFF alleges that they did not conduct a search in the 30-45 minutes PLAINTIFF was down stairs because of the next paragraph.

DEFENDANTS would not have had access to PLAINTIFF'S dorm room if it wasn't for the HONOR CODE because PLAINTIFF left his dorm room open. Then one more DEFENDANT OFFICERS takes PLAINTIFF out of the car and takes PLAINTIFF to his dorm room in which multiple DEFENDANT officers goes into PLAINTIFF'S dorm room and does a complete search of the room with PLAINTIFF in there. This is completely unconstitutional and a RICO violation in violation of 18 U.S.C. 241, 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 42 U.S.C. 1983, 42 U.S.C. 1985(3), 18 U.S.C. 1962 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"). When PLAINTIFF talks about a complete search, PLAINTIFF means DEFENDANT officers are opening drawers and rummaging through every conceivable inch of PLAINTIFF's dorm room (unconstitutional), no miranda warnings are given, nothing but pure malice with the intent on fabricating evidence. Most importantly to prove exculpatory evidence was ignored, while PLAINTIFF is in the room during this unconstitutional search by DEFENDANTS, no drugs nor any weapons nor guns nor anything extremist or terrorist in nature are found. Period. This piece of exculpatory evidence is omitted because PLAINTIFF was not a violent terrorist drug dealer and did not own a gun. PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS took pictures of false evidence in the 30-45 minute time span in which DEFENDANTS misled the court and said PLAINTIFF was in the room when that fabricated evidence was discovered by DEFENDANTS. DEFENDANT Officers then leave for the night with PLAINTIFF completely aghast as to just what went down in violation of in violation of 18 U.S.C. 241, 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 42 U.S.C. 1983, 42 U.S.C. 1985(3), 18 U.S.C. 1962 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services").

Having been directed the previous night or being told the next day or on one of the following days, PLAINTIFF is told to go to University Dean MARY BETH BANKSON WILLIAMS office to discuss the incident the following Monday or so after it occurred on Saturday. During that visit, MARY BETH BANKSON WILLIAMS continues furthering the RICO Enterprise in which she continues to badger PLAINTIFF on being belligerently drunk when in fact PLAINTIFF was not. PLAINTIFF demands that she factually include in her report that PLAINTIFF demanded a breathalyzer test on at least 3 or 4 separate occasions that night; MARY BETH BANKSON WILLIAMS completely denies this request outright in which it is an intentional and material omission of exculpatory evidence. PLAINTIFF tells her PLAINTIFF was upset that DEFENDANTS kept falsely accusing PLAINTIFF of being belligerently drunk when he was not. MARY BETH BANKSON WILLIAMS kept up the same badgering false accusations and then PLAINTIFF remembers his cheeks were getting so flamboyantly hot and red that PLAINTIFF felt the hotness radiate from his cheeks down to the rest of PLAINTIFF's face and neck. DEFENDANT MARY BETH BANKSON WILLIAMS obviously sees this red-hot indication of PLAINTIFF being pissed off in the course of the racketeering activity being committed by her in furtherance of the RICO Enterprise against PLAINTIFF in which she says: "are you mad at me?" If PLAINTIFF would have truthfully said YES because MARY BETH BANKSON WILLIAMS was being abusively and legally belligerent, lying to PLAINTIFF, and committing RICO predicate acts against PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF would have then given her a false factual justification she needed to have supported her claims of PLAINTIFF was being belligerent because PLAINTIFF was pissed off at her in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1; PLAINTIFF was coerced to lie to end the furthering acts of the RICO Enterprise in this episode, in the interests of liberty and justice because, ironically, she was being belligerent and legally abusive, and PLAINTIFF said: “no I’m fine.” PLAINTIFF is then given community service and PLAINTIFF completes the community service hours to the best of his recollection. The record has been expunged, but PLAINTIFF is bringing it back to life. PLAINTIFF is then placed on probation for the entirety of his JUNIOR year and that should have been the end of this story and RICO Enterprise. But DOJ in *Sheehan’s brief*²⁰² in 2015 that was submitted to SCOTUS acknowledged the existence of these predicate RICO acts against PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS continued to aid and abet the enterprise when DEFENDANTS had actual factual and legal knowledge of these racketeering acts being committed against PLAINTIFF. This is a deprivation of liberty and property in which Dean MARY BETH BANKSON WILLIAMS violated 18 U.S.C. 241, 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 42 U.S.C. 1983, 42 U.S.C. 1985(3), 18 U.S.C. 1962 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”).

United States v. Lentz, 624 F.2d 1280 (5th Cir. 1980): “Regardless of the undercover devices employed, it could hardly shock anyone's conscience to see an elected law enforcement official prosecuted for willfully and knowingly breaking a law designed to protect citizens from just such conduct. While Lentz came into the plan late, he seems to have embraced it wholeheartedly, provided some of the means by which to carry it out, and taken part with full knowledge of the plan's illegality. The fact that Lentz was merely helping the police in their alleged efforts to catch criminals should not make prosecution of him unfair if he voluntarily and knowingly employed illegal methods. To hold otherwise, would be tantamount to giving police carte blanche to ignore laws passed to protect all citizens against improper invasions of their rights by police conduct. Since the discussions about the proposed break-in were almost hopelessly intertwined with conversations about the wiretapping, we believe that the break-in evidence was necessary to the government in its attempt to tell the whole story of the crime. The government draws support from United States v. Beechum, 582 F.2d 898 (5th Cir. 1978) (en banc), which approved of proof of extrinsic offenses under a common scheme or res gestae analysis "if the uncharged offense is 'so linked together in point of time and circumstances with the crime charged that one cannot be fully shown without proving the other.'" Id. at 911-12, n. 15 (quoting Slough Knightly, Other Vices, Other Crimes, 41 Iowa L.Rev. 325, 331 (1956)). We believe that, since Lentz was brought into the law enforcement group by Hullum both to perform the wiretap and to commit the break-in, evidence of the break-in would be relevant and admissible under Beechum.” PLAINTIFF alleges Officer Rollins was manifestly part of the retaliatory RICO scheme and RICO Enterprise 1 in which CIA/FBI/NSA/ ROBERT MUELLER, ANDREW MCCABE, PETER STRZOK, LEON PANETTA, etc. had planned this event so that they could install recording devices and listening devices into PLAINTIFF’S dorm room as well as software on PLAINTIFF’S laptop. Based on wire fraud in violating PLAINTIFF'S rights and the inner sanctity of his dorm room, therefore, this is a HONOR CODE violation; and therefore, violating 42 U.S.C. 1985(2), 42 U.S.C. 1983, 18 U.S.C. 241, 18 U.S.C. 1962(d); 18 U.S.C. 1962 (a); 18 U.S.C. 1962 (b); and 18 U.S.C. 1962 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”).

There was an 18 U.S.C §241 conspiracy violation that was done over the wires from Washington D.C. to Sewanee, TN in which the Court stated that in order “to bring this case under the operation of the statute, therefore, it must appear that the right, the enjoyment of which the conspirators intended to hinder or prevent, was one granted or secured by the constitution or laws of the United States.” United States v. Cruikshank et al. 92 U.S. 542 (1876). There existed a conspiracy amongst DEFENDANTS to violate PLAINTIFF'S rights and metaphysical sense of well-being; DEFENDANTS violated PLAINTIFF'S rights in the process in which the OFFICERS slammed PLAINTIFF against the COP CAR, failed to give PLAINTIFF his Miranda rights, illegally and unconstitutionally searched and ransacked PLAINTIFF'S dorm-room, lied in multiple reports about the incident, and lied about PLAINTIFF'S drunken belligerence to fabricate evidence against PLAINTIFF, all of which violated the HONOR CODE, and DEFENDANTS committed unconstitutional acts in PLAINTIFF'S Quintard Dorm Room, which is on SEWANEE'S campus; this in sum violated PLAINTIFF'S metaphysical sense of well-being, violated good relationships amongst people on campus, constituted egregious unconstitutional and illegal actions, and therefore violated the HONOR CODE; and therefore, these actions in sum constituted multiple RICO violations as PLAINTIFF was denied his property and liberty interests because of the HONOR CODE violations committed by DEFENDANTS. See: Some of DEFENDANTS relevant crimes include: 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement). 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1512 (relating to tampering with a witness, victim, or an informant), 18 U.S.C §1961 section 1513 (relating to retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant). Constitutional Violations: 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment. 18 U.S.C. §1961, 18 U.S.C. §1962 (a), 18 U.S.C. §1962(b), 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), and/or 18 U.S.C. 1962(f); See: United States v. Miller, 116 F.3d 641, 674-75 (2d Cir. 1997) (act involving murder need not be actual murder as long as the act directly concerned murder, and facilitation of murder was a proper RICO predicate because accessorial offenses described in the New York State statutory provisions involved murder within the meaning of RICO where defendant provided information he knew would enable inquirer to commit murder or other RICO violations); Violation of: Monroe v. Pape, 365 U.S. 167 (1961); 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), and 42 U.S.C. 1983/1985(2)/1986.

Officers actions violated Maryland v. Buie, 494 U.S. 325 (1990), which Held: “The Fourth Amendment permits a properly limited protective sweep in conjunction with an in-home arrest when the searching officer possesses a reasonable belief based on specific and articulable facts that the area to be swept harbors an individual posing a danger to those on the arrest scene.”

PLAINTIFF was not arrested in his home, but outside a frat house ½ mile away. DEFENDANTS knew that Room #404 in Quintard was a single, that PLAINTIFF did not have a girlfriend, and that PLAINTIFF was a lonely man on campus. No one posed a danger as PLAINTIFF was locked up in a cop car and could not escape to commit harm or destroy evidence. No exigent circumstances existed. Chimel concerned a threat. Therefore, it was completely unconstitutional. See: Some of DEFENDANTS crimes: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act; 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), and 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"). 42 U.S.C. 1983/1985/1986.

In United States v. Twigg, 588 F.2d 373 (3d Cir. 1978) the Court said: "Government agents approached Neville, who was not then engaged in any illicit [drug] activities and, said the court, "deceptively implanted the criminal design in Neville's mind. They set him up, encouraged him, provided the essential supplies and technical expertise, and when he and [the government informant] encountered difficulties in consummating the crime, they assisted in finding solutions. This egregious conduct on the part of government agents generated new crimes by the defendant merely for the sake of pressing criminal charges against him. when, as far as the record reveals, he was lawfully and peacefully minding his own affairs. Fundamental fairness does not permit us to countenance such actions by law enforcement officials and prosecution for a crime so fomented by them will be barred." So after fabricating the False Identification event earlier, Trespass Incident #3, coercing PLAINTIFF to sign a blank confession, DEFENDANTS did it again in This Side of the Street. This is called habitual and repeat offender status in constitutional deprivations and in violation of: 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d)

PLAINTIFF doesn't know what happened in the 30-45 minutes the cops were in PLAINTIFF'S room; but PLAINTIFF is alleging that they installed listening devices and planted drugs in PLAINTIFF'S room. As the Court discussed in Alderman v. United States, 394 U.S. 165 (1968): "Indeed, if the police, instead of installing a device, secreted themselves on the premises, they could neither testify about nor use against the owner anything they saw or carried away, but would be free to use against him everything they overheard except his own conversations. And should police overhear third parties describing narcotics which they have discovered in the owner's desk drawer, the police could not then open the drawer and seize the narcotics, but they could secure a warrant on the basis of what they had heard and forthwith seize the narcotics pursuant to that warrant. These views we do not accept. We adhere to the established view in this Court that the right to be secure in one's house against unauthorized intrusion is not limited to protection against a policeman viewing or seizing tangible property -- "papers" and "effects." Otherwise, the express security for the home provided by the Fourth Amendment would approach redundancy. The rights of the owner of the premises are as clearly invaded when the police enter and install a listening device in his house as they are when the entry is made to undertake a warrantless search for tangible property, and the prosecution as surely employs the fruits of an illegal search of the home when it offers overheard third-party conversations as it does when it introduces tangible evidence belonging not to the homeowner, but to others. "This Court has never held that a federal officer may, without warrant and without consent, physically entrench into a man's office or home, there secretly observe or listen, and relate at the man's subsequent criminal trial what was seen or heard."

Sewanee PD, FBI, CIA, NSA, PETER STRZOK, ANDREW MCCABE, ROBERT MUELLER III, MICHAEL HAYDEN, LEON PANETTA, JEH JOHNSON, etc. all knew of the Alderman v. United States, 394 U.S. 165 (1968) in regard to national security and drugs, but they were looking for a way to get around Alderman v. United States, 394 U.S. 165 (1968) in which aforementioned DEFENDANTS violated of: 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d) So, with a new similar and factual pattern in PLAINTIFF, they could get SCOTUS to distinguish the applicability of Alderman v. United States, 394 U.S. 165 (1968) to obstruct justice. Therefore, DEFENDANTS violated Alderman v. United States, 394 U.S. 165 (1968). PLAINTIFF is making the same argument applicable in An Anchor and a Pitchfork.

- 18 U.S.C §1961: section 933 (relating to trafficking in firearms)

As a college journalist and a researcher for my psychology professor, Dr. Bethany Lohr, PLAINTIFF wrote an article for my school's newspaper describing the local meth situation in Franklin County, TN and justice surrounding incarcerated individuals that got involved in drugs. PLAINTIFF must say that he never bought, made, sold, distributed, transported, possessed in large quantities, etc. meth in my life. But something odd happened and PLAINTIFF is going to admit to a crime against his legal interests for full truthful disclosure.

At SEWANEE as previously mentioned, there is an HONOR CODE that binds the students to certain acts of conduct. With the HONOR CODE in place and when PLAINTIFF was there between 2007-2011, the dorm rooms were regularly left unlocked, cars were left unlocked, keys remained in the vehicle, and classrooms were left unlocked because there was trust place in the community being bound by the HONOR CODE. As previously stated, In PLAINTIFF's Junior year at Sewanee (Fall 2009/Spring 2010), PLAINTIFF regularly left his dorm room unlocked and regularly left his 1995 burgundy Chevy pickup truck unlocked with the keys still inside it because he was bound by the HONOR CODE. PLAINTIFF did so, despite some suspiciousness that did arise his FRESHMAN year in which DEFENDANTS ignored the racketeering activity, PLAINTIFF had done nothing to warrant malicious behavior then because PLAINTIFF understood at the time he had legitimately not been doing anything illegal in his life nor did he have anything to do with any cartels and the criminal underworld. PLAINTIFF may have talked about things like that my freshman year, but PLAINTIFF never committed things like that--the difference between talk and action. But when the United States Government comes around, they have a natural habit of ruining good things for their own malicious purposes.

Unfortunately, all PLAINTIFF can remember is that the following incidents happened after This Side of the Street incident in which there was no snow on the ground. The timing of these events is extremely important. This took place after This Side of the Street in the beginning part of Fall Semester 2009 and possibly before Financial Terrorism that occurred around or about November 15th, 2009, DEFENDANTS (FBI, CIA, NSA, PETER STRZOK, ANDREW MCCABE, ROBERT MUELLER III, MICHAEL HAYDEN, LEON PANETTA, JEH JOHNSON, etc) were intent on furthering RICO Enterprise 1 and falsely labeling PLAINTIFF as a violent drug dealer to prosecute PLAINTIFF in which they were in the process of framing PLAINTIFF. Because aforementioned DEFENDANTS had knowingly utilized perjured testimony and fabricated and materially misleading evidence and narratives from before, they had to create a new situation and would continue obstructing justice under 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503. Aforementioned DEFENDANTS needed to falsely label PLAINTIFF as violent to cover up their past unconstitutional deeds and DEFENDANTS conspiring together and violating 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), 18 U.S.C. 241, 42 U.S.C. 1985(2), 42 U.S.C. 1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, and 18 U.S.C. §1962(d) they concocted a new scheme.

Unbeknownst to PLAINTIFF, unknown DEFENDANTS had entered into PLAINTIFF'S room without permission on a fateful day in his Junior year at Sewanee--after not having found any weapons nor drugs nor anything criminal in nature besides a 20 year old having some cans of beer-- after having left the door unlocked. Unknown DEFENDANTS, if they would have looked up to PLAINTIFF'S ceiling, would have seen PLAINTIFF'S ceiling was black and white star wallpaper. Unknown DEFENDANTS walked about 3 paces in the room, and on the right-hand side of the room, there was the dresser/armour. Unknown DEFENDANTS had opened the very bottom drawer and planted a little baggie of what appeared to be crystal meth (also known as ice). PLAINTIFF didn't know what it was because PLAINTIFF never used the drug in his life and was not a drug dealer. PLAINTIFF did not know how long that little baggie of presumed meth remained in his drawer for, but PLAINTIFF found it one day, and PLAINTIFF freaked the fuck out when PLAINTIFF discovered it since PLAINTIFF was on probation after DEFENDANTS rico laden and corrupt acts constituting: This Side of the Street and having that type of drug on campus would have caused PLAINTIFF to be expelled. Weed and Cocaine, maybe a little more allowable on Sewanee, but not Meth, Crack, Heroin, things like that. So, across the dresser was PLAINTIFF's closet. PLAINTIFF got extremely suspicious after finding one baggie in which PLAINTIFF believed there very well could have been more. So, PLAINTIFF starts rummaging through his closet and desk to find more to determine the extent of DEFENDANTS RICO predicate acts. PLAINTIFF found at least another little baggie of meth planted in his closet. It is possible that PLAINTIFF discovered more than 2 baggies at a maximum of 4 baggies in which one of the baggies would have been in his desk, but PLAINTIFF factually recalls there being at least two baggies. DEFENDANTS submitted to SCOTUS in *Sheehan's Brief*²⁰³ that DEFENDANTS knew of this incident and intended on defending against it not only violating the law, but numerous rules and regulations involving attorney conduct that will be explained in Star Chambers.

With at least two baggies discovered, PLAINTIFF was absolutely terrified and mortified since: he was under probation, this Side of the Street, having been coerced into signing a false confession PLAINTIFF'S freshman year by law enforcement officer TKL, and TRESPASS INCIDENT #3. PLAINTIFF had three options at that time: 1) do nothing and leave the drugs there and hope nothing happens; 2) call the police and then risk the chance of them saying PLAINTIFF "belligerently"²⁰⁴ told them "Hey officers, here is some meth PLAINTIFF found in his room, can you take it away? It isn't mine though!" and then gets arrested for telling the truth yet again to DEFENDANTS that on three separate occasions violated PLAINTIFF'S Constitutional Rights even after PLAINTIFF had cooperated with them before on three separate occasions; or, doing what PLAINTIFF ultimately chose to do, 3) PLAINTIFF was coerced into ending the acts that furthered DEFENDANT'S RICO Enterprise in this episode by destroying the baggies thereby not violating the HONOR CODE in which PLAINTIFF went straight across the hallway into the floor's dorm room bathroom and flushed at least the two baggies down the toilet and the remaining two if they were there in which PLAINTIFF did not have a single baggie on him or in his room after that. One of the thoughts and justifications PLAINTIFF had doing this at that time was seeing how incarcerated people can't get jobs after being arrested, and wanting to live according to who PLAINTIFF was as a non-violent individual that wanted no part of the criminal underworld or be a drug dealer, PLAINTIFF didn't want the life of selling drugs to financially support himself in the future for being framed as a drug dealer. Yes, PLAINTIFF destroyed evidence because PLAINTIFF had been framed and wanted the RICO Enterprise to end and did not want to get DEFENDANTS any more involved in his life (where PLAINTIFF just wanted to be left the fuck alone) and would have violated probation for telling the truth of what happened and been kicked out of school. PLAINTIFF informed SEWANEE student DYLAN RHEA/RHEE the truth of what happened to PLAINTIFF after flushing the baggies down the toilet.

On a different day, with the baggies of drugs now gone and with GRIFFIN FRY's history involving Crust Pizza in mind, DEFENDANTS then or around the same time planted a gun in PLAINTIFF's truck in order for PLAINTIFF to transport a gun across state lines the next time PLAINTIFF drove his truck home from TENNESSEE to ILLINOIS during break thereby trafficking firearms. DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF was not going to check the interior of his truck for illegally planted items prior to departing as it would be an absurd notion that every driver in America has an obligation to check for RICO Predicate acts being done to PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF swears to God on his soul, he never put any gun in the vehicles he was using or driving at any time in his life. PLAINTIFF was not a drug dealer; so he didn't need a gun for self-defense purposes because PLAINTIFF was not living a life of crime and was not a violent offender. PLAINTIFF was forced to traffic the firearm from TENNESSEE to ILLINOIS in furtherance of the DEFENDANTS' RICO Enterprise. If PLAINTIFF recalls correctly, PLAINTIFF was absolutely mortified when he discovered the gun in his truck and had texted one of his best friends LEISHA ESTEP (MEADE) informing her of such, how PLAINTIFF was freaked out about it, which would give a present sense impression of the situation. DEFENDANTS have the exculpatory texts and should have been made aware that a RICO predicate act had occurred in which DEFENDANTS intentionally ignored it despite having requisite knowledge of it.

Even if PLAINTIFF incriminated himself with the story above, it would be unconstitutional and the admissibility of the gun and the discussion as evidence would be unconstitutional: In Bumper v. North Carolina, 391 U.S. 543 (1968). Petitioner was charged with rape in which a gun that was allegedly used in the commission of the crime was used was admitted into evidence. the petitioner contended that the .22-caliber rifle introduced in evidence against him was obtained by the State in a search and seizure violative of the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments. Petitioner lived with his grandmother in a rural area. One of four officers came to the house and "He just told [Petitioner's Grandmother] he had a search warrant, but he didn't read it to me. He did tell me he had a search warrant." The officers did not have a warrant (or a valid warrant) and therefore the seizure of the gun was unconstitutional. DEFENDANTS would not have been able to introduce evidence of This Side of the Street as that had permanently tainted and ended up being so prejudicial against PLAINTIFF because it was obstruction of justice, retaliation of witness, and other RICO Predicate acts against PLAINTIFF. Furthermore, what is demonstrably provable from this incident is that if any warrants introduced any evidence relating to a gun after this incident, it was necessarily fraudulent and had no admissible basis. Therefore, PLAINTIFF is alleging that in at least one of DEFENDANTS' warrants utilized against PLAINTIFF between Fall 2009 through at least Summer of 2020, DEFENDANTS necessarily misled the court and committed fraud upon the court when they introduced that gun as evidence or used it in the affidavit to the Court.

There was an 18 U.S.C §241 conspiracy violation in which the Court stated that in order "to bring this case under the operation of the statute, therefore, it must appear that the right, the enjoyment of which the conspirators intended to hinder or prevent, was one granted or secured by the constitution or laws of the United States." United States v. Cruikshank et al. 92 U.S. 542 (1876). There existed a conspiracy amongst DEFENDANTS to violate PLAINTIFF'S rights and metaphysical sense of well-being; DEFENDANTS violated PLANITIFF'S rights in the process in DEFENDANTS illegally planted a gun in PLAINTIFF'S truck that had been parked in one of Quintard's parking lots, all of which violated the HONOR CODE, and DEFENDANTS committed unconstitutional acts in PLAINTIFF'S truck in a Quintard parking lot, which is on SEWANEE'S campus; this in sum violated PLAINTIFF'S metaphysical sense of well-being, violated good relationships amongst people on campus, constituted egregious unconstitutional and illegal actions, and therefore violated the HONOR CODE; and therefore, these actions in sum constituted multiple RICO violations as PLAINTIFF was denied his property and liberty interests because of the HONOR CODE violations committed by DEFENDANTS. See: Some of DEFENDANTS crimes in violation of: 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d)

U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994) ruled on the proposition that an act of perjury can be an act of obstruction of justice under 18 U.S.C. 1961 Section 1503 since “The findings (of obstruction of justice) encompass all the elements of perjury — falsity, materiality, and willfulness. The only matter about which the court was not explicit was whether Matiz's testimony was material. A sentencing court, however, is not required to address each element of perjury in a separate and clear finding. See id. In fact, the Court in Dunnigan affirmed a district court's finding that did not use the term willful...Dunnigan only requires that a sentencing court's findings encompass all of the factual predicates for a finding of perjury.” “The Supreme Court has stated that a witness testifying under oath commits perjury if "she gives false testimony concerning a material matter with the willful intent to provide false testimony, rather than as a result of confusion, mistake, or faulty memory." United States v. Dunnigan, 113 S.Ct. 1111 (1993).” U.S. v. Matiz, 14 F.3d 79 (1st Cir. 1994). U.S. v. Ashland Oil Inc., 705 F. Supp. 270 (W.D. Pa. 1989) discussed what constituted materiality: “A concise summary of this materiality requirement is set forth in Justice Stevens' concurring opinion in Youngblood: Our cases make clear that "[t]he proper standard of materiality must reflect our overriding concern with the justice of the finding of guilt," and the State's failure to turn over (or preserve) potentially exculpatory evidence therefore "must be evaluated in the context of the entire record." United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976) (footnotes omitted); see also California v. Trombetta, 467 U.S. 479 (1984) (duty to preserve evidence "must be limited to evidence that might be expected to play a significant role in the suspect's defense").” “By limiting §1503 to acts having the "natural and probable effect" of interfering with the due administration of justice, the Court effectively reads the word "endeavor," which we said in Russell embraced "any effort or essay" to obstruct justice out of the omnibus clause, leaving a prohibition of only actual obstruction and competent attempts...A §1503 violation occurs when "an act is done corruptly if it's done voluntarily and intentionally to bring about either an unlawful result or a lawful result by some unlawful method, with a hope or expectation of either financial gain or other benefit to oneself or a benefit of another person." United States v. Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995).

“To establish that Jones and Patronelli violated 21 U.S.C. § 843(b), the government must prove the knowing or intentional use of a communication device to commit, cause, or facilitate the commission of a narcotics offense. See United States v. Phillips, 664 F.2d 971, 1032 (5th Cir. 1981), cert. denied, 457 U.S. 1136, 102 S.Ct. 2965, 73 L.Ed.2d 1354 (1982). It shall be unlawful for any person knowingly or intentionally to use any communication facility in committing or in causing or facilitating the commission of any act or acts constituting a felony under any provision of this subchapter or subchapter II of this chapter.

“At trial, Defendant readily admitted he could be categorized as a user. Prior to the transactions with Detective Lucas, Defendant would generally buy $20 worth of cocaine for himself whenever he could afford it. Although the district court never explicitly made such a factual finding, it would be a rational inference to conclude Defendant was addicted to cocaine. The record further indicates Defendant had accumulated no money or possessions of any value, possessed no scales or any other paraphernalia associated with cocaine distribution, and was unaware of the amount of cocaine he would receive for $20. Moreover, Defendant contends he engaged in the transactions because he was promised he would receive a large enough cut of the cocaine to make it worth his while. Therefore, Defendant would most accurately be categorized as an addict whose sole motivation for arranging the transactions for Detective Lucas was to obtain some cocaine for himself... We sympathize with the district court's uneasiness regarding the facts of this case, but we perceive the troubling aspects of the government's conduct in a different light than the district court. Where the district court was offended by the government's active role in the distribution of narcotics, our concern focuses on the government's repeated transactions with an addict, in which the addict was given cocaine as compensation. It was apparent to the detective that Defendant was merely a user, yet the government instigated transactions a second and third time arguably stacking charges against the Defendant. Certainly, due process concerns would prevent the government from arranging such transactions indefinitely, as the addict would continue to take as much cocaine as the government makes available. We must now consider on appeal whether these facts constitute outrageous government conduct... In ruling on a discovery motion, the court in United States v. Diggs, 801 F. Supp. 441, 448 (D.Kan. 1992), held that “[e]vidence indicating that the government may have overborne defendant's will by taking advantage of his drug addiction is relevant to the defense of outrageous government conduct.” Applying the outrageous conduct framework from the aforementioned cases, we must determine whether the facts in this case are egregious enough to violate due process. We hold that they are not. Undoubtedly, it should not be an encouraged police practice to entice addicts into drug transactions using the lure of controlled substances. In this case, there is a factual dispute as to who initially suggested the method of compensation. Defendant admits, however, that he had no interest in obtaining cash as compensation. Thus, from Detective Lucas' point of view, the deal depended upon giving the Defendant a cut for his participation. As in both Ford and Valona, the Defendant here was given a relatively small amount of cocaine. Because payment in kind was a typical way of transacting business on the streets, Detective Lucas let the deal progress as arranged. By way of comparison, Detective Lucas' conduct was no more egregious than the government conduct held not to be outrageous in the Ford, Valona, and Barrera-Moreno cases. Although Detective Lucas may have enticed the Defendant to participate in the transaction, he was not coerced to the point of outrageousness.” U.S. v. Harris, 997 F.2d 812 (10th Cir. 1993).

“However, in People v Turner, supra, this Court renounced the subjective test followed by the United States Supreme Court and a majority of states, reasoning that the objective test is preferable because: “[B]y definition, the entrapment defense cannot arise unless the defendant actually committed the proscribed act, that defendant is manifestly covered by the terms of the criminal statute involved. "Furthermore, to say that such a defendant is 'otherwise innocent' or not 'predisposed' to commit the crime is misleading, at best. The very fact that he has committed an act that Congress has determined to be illegal demonstrates conclusively that he is not innocent of the offense. . . . "The purpose of the entrapment defense, then, cannot be to protect persons who are 'otherwise innocent.' Rather, it must be to prohibit unlawful governmental activity in instigating crime." [Id. at 20, quoting Russell, supra at 442.] The Turner Court held that the defendant was entrapped as a matter of law. It stated that the agent engaged in overreaching conduct by pursuing the defendant after the first investigation did not turn up any evidence. Turner was not a drug dealer, and the agent played upon Turner's sympathy as a friend. The law enforcement officer went beyond merely creating an opportunity for the commission of a crime. California case, People v Barraza, 23 Cal.3d 675; 153 Cal.Rptr. 459; 591 P.2d 947 (1979), also provides a rationale for adopting the objective approach instead of the subjective test. The Barraza court stated: "[A] test that looks to the character and predisposition of the defendant rather than the conduct of the police loses sight of the underlying reason for the defense of entrapment. No matter what the defendant's past record and present inclinations to criminality, or the depths to which he has sunk in the estimation of society, certain police conduct to ensnare him into further crime is not to be tolerated by an advanced society. . . . Human nature is weak enough . . . and sufficiently beset by temptations without government adding to them and generating crime." [Id. at 687, quoting Sherman, supra at 382-384.] Further the Barraza court gives examples of impermissible police conduct which would constitute entrapment under the objective test. The court listed as examples the following: (1) an appeal by police because of friendship or sympathy rather than for personal gain; (2) inducement that would make the commission of crime unusually attractive to a normal "law-abiding person," id. at 689; (3) a guarantee that the act was not illegal; (4) an offer of exorbitant consideration or similar enticement. [W]hile the inquiry must focus primarily on the conduct of the law enforcement agent, that conduct is not to be viewed in a vacuum. . . . We reiterate, however, that under this test such matters as the character of the suspect, his predisposition to commit the offense, and his subjective intent are irrelevant. [Id. at 690-691.]” People v. Jamieson, 436 Mich. 61, 72-73 (Mich. 1990)

“Although there is no infallible means of divining a defendant's predisposition to commit a crime after the fact, there are several factors recognized as relevant in making this determination. We start with the observation that predisposition is, by definition, "the defendant's state of mind and inclinations before his initial exposure to government agents." United States v. Jannotti, 501 F. Supp. 1182 (E.D.Pa. 1980), rev'd on other grounds, 673 F.2d 578 (3rd Cir.)...This answers defendant's bizarre contention that "the agents literally entrapped him into a state of predisposition." One is either predisposed to commit a crime before coming into contact with the Government or one is not, so the argument that one could be entrapped into having a state of predisposition is meaningless. We now turn our attention to the factors relevant in determining predisposition. Among these are the character or reputation of the defendant, including any prior criminal record; whether the suggestion of the criminal activity was initially made by the Government; whether the defendant was engaged in the criminal activity for profit; whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to commit the offense, overcome only by repeated Government inducement or persuasion; and the nature of the inducement or persuasion supplied by the Government. While none of the factors alone indicates either the presence or absence of predisposition, the most important factor . . . is whether the defendant evidenced reluctance to engage in criminal activity which was overcome by repeated Government inducement...” United States v. Kaminski, 703 F.2d 1004 (7th Cir. 1983)

“Likewise, the fact that the agents overstated the possible sentence Norman faced if convicted did not render his consent invalid under the wiretap statute. Our court has stated that consent may be invalid under § 2511(2)(c) if the informant's cooperation is secured by threats of "prosecutorial action which had no realistic foundation." Kolodziej, 706 F.2d at 595 (quoting United States v. Horton, 601 F.2d 319, 323 (7th Cir.), cert. denied, 444 U.S. 937, 100 S.Ct. 287, 62 L.Ed.2d 197 (1979)). Whatever the degree of exaggeration necessary to render otherwise voluntary participation invalid, however, the agents' statements here do not rise to such a level.” U.S. v. Jones, 839 F.2d 1041 (5th Cir. 1988)

“This Circuit recognized the outrageous conduct defense in United States v. Graves, 556 F.2d 1319 (5th Cir. 1977), supra, in which we wrote: "[A]part from any question of predisposition of a defendant to commit the offense in question, governmental participation may be so outrageous or fundamentally unfair as to deprive the defendant of due process of law or to move the courts in the exercise of their supervisory jurisdiction over the administration of criminal justice to hold that the defendant was "entrapped" as a matter of law." 556 F.2d at 1322 (quoting United States v. Quinn, 543 F.2d 640, 647-48 (8th Cir. 1976)).” United States v. Yater, 756 F.2d 1058 (5th Cir. 1985).

PLAINTIFF wrote the following poem called: TAR. This was done on Fall Semester 2010. PLAINTIFF sent it to the woman he had in mind and she responded back with the following message In December 9th 2010: “Do you just happen to know when the right time is to send me a pick me up???lololllol. thank you” and December 10th, 2010:“again, that is why you are the best :-*” PLAINTIFF named it TAR for a woman he had been romantically pursuing at the time--VERA Poch*TAR*Rev. ← Do you see how PLAINTIFF derived TAR from PochTARev?!. Part of the poem, as you’ll read below included discussing a lake (black diamond lake in the poem) with a completely flat surface that it formed a mirror in which the protagonist in the poem is looking for their lover underneath the surface (and for any signs of her) and then there is a part that the main character ends up floating to the sky being smacked by tree branches and after which the protagonist and his lover embrace and kiss in the surface/water.

PLAINTIFF’S way of presenting the content in the way he submitted for a grade in class was shorter where it would go along the lines of:

“I will never know love.
Walking through the corridor...”

But it is the content at issue that matters. Here is the poem written and published around December 9th, 2010:

Tar:
Miki Kotevski

I: I will never know love. Walking through the corridor, With an unprecedented amount of trees, I walk down the path To see a black light of hope. The sun rains down rays of hope, The battering of the rays already add on, To my less than enlightened mind, That is burning with thoughts of you. Why am I walking down this path? I’ll never know. I question, I dwell, I obsess, In the warmth that you provide. I think of everything about you, How our eyes simmer when they gaze into each other, How our eyes tell of so much, and of so little. I think about your smile, When we laugh. That fluorescent smile blinds my path, Blinds me of any thoughts Other than you. I cannot see where I am going, I understand where I am heading. Further down the path I go, Being led blindly through this bright corridor By our heart’s flame.

II: I continue blindly down this corridor I feel something lift my toes, I feel the pads of my feet start to leave the path, What is forcing me up? I drift towards the sky, The limbs hit me Tries to smack sense into me. I float higher and higher The pain fuels my ascent Higher and higher. Floating in the air, The wind turns me, Tosses me to the emotional flight That has been our experiences Our happiness Our lows Our highs, I now see where I must head The shore of the black diamond lake, Shores are the infinite beyond That continues our journey To a place beyond knowing To a place of understanding.

III: I reach the shore, To find a pool of black tar, Many have come to lie in this black diamond Which has preserved their life. I am now in doubt, My toes become heavy My pads are cemented. But they move forward, Moments of dread and despair set in, I struggle, I fight, I am losing to the current That is pulling me closer to a shallowly tomb I can no longer fight it, I see my toes go in I see my arms go in I see myself go in. The current has a hold of me It pulls me to an inevitable doom towards the middle of the lake The tide seems to be going quicker and quicker Finally I reach the middle of my tomb Lying barely below the surface, The airy sensations are keeping me close to the surface, I want to sink in, I want to submerge myself, But I have to float to wait for you. I see everything.

IV: I see you at the shore, You sense that I am near, But nowhere to be seen I lie beneath the surface. You take a step on the shore. Good! Take one more step and see How the tar will not pull you. Take the step See how you stand on the surface, How you can walk on the surface. Make your way towards me, That's it Closer and Closer. I pray that you can find me, I beseech that you take those extra steps, That leads you closer to me. Closer and Closer You make you way towards me, Slowly and ever so elegantly, You stop You're right on top of me. Kneel down on top of me, Pray that our love Makes you happy and Gives you everything to which I can barely give you. You sense the warmth that lies beneath the surface, Lie down with me. You don't know where I am; You understand where I am.

V: I see you I'm submerged. Trapped in this black diamond. I am so close to you, Come closer The surface is smooth as a mirror. In this two-way dark mirror, I see you but you cannot see me, But you feel me Feel us. Damn this tar, Not even this perfect black mirror Is able to catch Your presence, Your inner beauty, Your perfection, It distorts you. Nothing in this world No words No pictures No diamonds are able to Truly show you. Quick help me, I am lost for words, Lost of breath, I am drowning. The tar is filling my lungs I struggle, I swallow the painful tar, I feel the air on the surface, One last gulp before I fade. I painstakingly take the last gulp My lips are polished black, You see my lips, You come closer to my lips, I haven't breathed for the longest time I haven't lived for the longest time Slowly you see me, You come even closer, I see the simmer, the passion In your eyes Our lips touch, Our lips caress Our lips understand, We understand our love."

The actual influence of this part of the poem was derived from PLAINTIFF's time having rowed in a canoe at Sterling Lake/Van Patten Woods in Wadsworth/Zion, Illinois at the end of his senior year of high school (Summer 2007). See: pictures below that demonstrate examples of this influence.

Because of that poem, this became an international issue. PLAINTIFF was falsely accused of having sold black tar heroin or heroin by DEFENDANTS based on that poem. PLAINTIFF never has knowingly touched, purchased, produced, consumed, used, injected, transported, or sold any form of heroin in his life. Period. Apparently and maliciously to PLAINTIFF'S understanding, DEFENDANTS completely misinterpreted the poem (it happens with poetry, who would have known?) and intentionally misled the Court in which PLAINTIFF completely and unintentionally somehow also described the sensation of being high on heroin instead of DEFENDANTS interpreting the intention and facts of a romantic poem and romantic bliss. Exculpatory evidence be damned apparently. As a side note, PLAINTIFF understood VERA POCHTAREV at that time to be a Russian-American woman who was born on April 13th, 1988 and met on April 19th, 2009; she was attending University of Wisconsin and majoring in psychology to become a doctor (we had planned on doing the same thing before PLAINTIFF switched to law). PLAINTIFF felt at the time like she was one of my best friends and was neither a prostitute nor a spy to his knowledge. So, DEFENDANTS utilized TAR by completely mischaracterizing the poem in support of their false allegation PLAINTIFF was a heroin junkie or seller of it.

But as explained later, there is a bittersweet situation involving TAR is how PLAINTIFF told VERA POCHTAREV'S parents in 2019 (PLAINTIFF believes) about how, DEFENDANT DISNEY used Tar to make Lava (explained below). If VERA POCHTAREV, would have watched, she would have had the same reaction. PLAINTIFF asked VERA's parents if they could relay the video to VERA and if VERA could get back in contact with PLAINTIFF after not having talked to her since August 2011 on PLAINTIFF'S knowledge. VERA didn't. Honestly, the whole entire VERA POCHTAREV issue and situation bewilders PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF is completely unsure of what the truth is involving VERA POCHTAREV. All PLAINTIFF knows is that VERA POCHTAREV, IRENE POCHTAREV, PLAINTIFF'S PARENTS, and DEFENDANTS all went behind PLAINTIFF'S back and fucked with PLAINTIFF'S heart and relationships.

Do you want to know how much more messed up the Tar poem scenario became? In the beginning part of Spring 2017, a Navy, possible Naval Intelligence, officer named MICHAEL

Disney Music - Lava (Official Lyric Video from "Lava")

LONESOME shows PLAINTIFF a Youtube video. MICHAEL LONESOME was a friend and did nothing wrong to PLAINTIFF'S knowledge, but had to include him to get to the truth of the matter. The video: "Disney Music—Lava (official lyric video from "Lava")" that was published on September 16th, 2015."²⁰⁵ TAR was published 4 years prior to LAVA. PLAINTIFF had said nothing to Mr. LONESOME about PLAINTIFF liking Disney videos or anything of the sort (even though PLAINTIFF absolutely loves DISNEY). This was all completely unprompted by PLAINTIFF; but was all completely prompted by MICHAEL LONESOME. Either Mr. LONESOME had the intention on completely fucking with PLAINTIFF and causing PLAINTIFF to stop researching DEFENDANTS RICO Enterprise #2 PLAINTIFF found out about around the time and what PLAINTIFF was researching in 2017 or Mr. LONESOME knew about some things that were going on that involved PLAINTIFF'S intellectual property because PLAINTIFF is adamant in his belief that Mr. LONESOME would not have shown LAVA to PLAINTIFF out of the blue (pun intended). Mr. LONESOME knew it would absolutely cause

PLAINTIFF to erupt, like a volcano, emotionally and derail all progress that was being made concerning RICO Enterprise #2. PLAINTIFF doesn't know why, but prior to watching LAVA for the first time, PLAINTIFF gets jittery. As PLAINTIFF is watching LAVA, so many things come to the forefront of his mind. But for our discussion and more relevantly, as PLAINTIFF is watching this video, in my heart and soul, PLAINTIFF knew it was TAR being brought to life 4 years after TAR was created and published in 2010. The fundamental and substantive basis of Lava was TAR. PLAINTIFF even did some of his own research and saw where DISNEY supposedly say they got their influence. PLAINTIFF visited the site above in August 2023 and took pictures demonstrating how LAVA took the physical characteristics of this mountain and utilized it for LAVA. DISNEY copied the mountain in UTAH near Zion National Park, they copied the substance of TAR for themselves without credit given to PLAINTIFF.

One of the horrific aspects of this is because at some point DEFENDANTS labeled PLAINTIFF--through RICO Enterprise--a violent drug dealer, DEFENDANTS stole TAR and utilized TAR in a warrant against PLAINTIFF'S Constitutional Interests and/or utilized the USA PATRIOT ACT in utilizing §428 and stealing TAR to further their RICO enterprise, seized/stole PLAINTIFF'S IP, made a profit off it to DEFENDANT DISNEY, and DEFENDANT DISNEY made it without giving PLAINTIFF any credit. PLAINTIFF doesn't want the money from the video; and if PLAINTIFF's allegations are proven legally to be true, PLAINTIFF is so happy that a video was based on his work that has nearly 300 million views on YouTube that made lovers feel love for their partners and were happy and felt in love, and for that, PLAINTIFF is forever thankful. Just give PLAINTIFF credit for that.

PLAINTIFF'S problem is this. The seizure/theft utilizing §428 of the USA PATRIOT ACT or Civil Asset Forfeiture happened on at least one provable instance with TAR in Hollywood, it must have occurred numerous times; the extent of which PLAINTIFF cannot fathom or understand, but inherently understands there are numerous more examples of this occurring in Hollywood/Entertainment Industry and in the WHITE HOUSE. PLAINTIFF can recognize it in and see it in TV SHOWS (if the court requests to know), but because certain TV Shows are comedic and PLAINTIFF loves humor, did not list those shows as DEFENDANTS. Similarly, PLAINTIFF found some Presidential Proclamations and knew the substance of the President Proclamations by President OBAMA to be PLAINTIFF's own material. PLAINTIFF "called out" DEFENDANTS on this on his original twitter account/handle mikikotevski sometime between 2017-2019 which PLAINTIFF could not obtain a copy of the tweets. Not once did the DEFENDANTS inform PLAINTIFF of the theft or seizure or use of PLAINTIFF'S Intellectual Property in furtherance of their RICO Enterprise when DEFENDANTS had a reason to know that such thefts or seizures or use had occurred in the course of their RICO Enterprise. Not once did any DEFENDANTS tell PLAINTIFF the extent of how much PLAINTIFF had been exploited for profit and used through the years making PLAINTIFF an indentured servant/peon in the process while they profited tremendously off of PLAINTIFF through their RICO Enterprise and implemented agendas that violated the Constitutional Rights of all Americans implementing their Surveillance State. Not even once. PLAINTIFF inherently now understands that he was used in which DEFENDANTS used PLAINTIFF'S Intellectual Property/IDEAS/STORIES for the value of entertainment, because in entertainment, you need entertaining stories, my life was that despite PLAINTIFF's absolute desire for it not to be, and PLAINTIFF's mind having created and conveyed so many instances of entertainment and providing deep insight on issues. See: PLAINTIFF'S personality and 2e characteristics. DEFENDANTS NETLIX, BARACK and MICHELLE OBAMA,²⁰⁶ and SUSAN RICE (a board member of NETFLIX in which utilization of PLAINTIFF'S Intellectual Property and confidential information obtained through the USA PATRIOT ACT that was publicly used for profit and racketeering)²⁰⁷(PLAINTIFF sent an email/request for DEFENDANT SUSAN RICE to explain herself during her tenure at NETFLIX in either 2017, 2018, or 2019 which went ignored) all have a demonstrated financial relationship with one another and stole or obtained through RICO predicate acts PLAINTIFF'S Intellectual Property and made money off of it. PLAINTIFF is a peon and an indentured servant in every conceivable sense of the word and definition to the US Federal Government. wrongfully and criminally utilizing asset seizure under USA PATRIOT ACT §428 through RICO Predicate acts to further the Enterprise in which confidential information was made public for profit as well as PLAINTIFF'S Intellectual Property having been stolen, seized, and used at this time, utilizing PLAINTIFF'S Intellectual Property without credit or permission in the White House, Disney, Netflix, (Hollywood), etc., making PLAINTIFF a peon and slave for all intents and purposes in violation of 18 U.S.C §1961 section 2319 (relating to criminal infringement of a copyright) through the ENTERPRISES' racketeering activity. It is either those things or DEFENDANTS intentionally did that and/or they were aware of it being done by China and did absolutely nothing to notify me, help me, in anyway and continue the exploitation of PLAINTIFF for their profits even when DEFENDANTS had the knowledge of it occurring thereby 18 U.S.C. §2, CHINA.

Look honestly, PLAINTIFF, in a way, is blessed and honored that DEFENDANTS used PLAINTIFF to alleviate the pains of living through providing entertainment that was substantively inspired by PLAINTIFF to distract People from the harm and evil that befalls upon them daily. PLAINTIFF likes the fact his ideas were used and was glad to have bolstered the image of the branches of government to make them look good since we are an amazing country in America. This section is not about the money; it is about giving PLAINTIFF some appreciation. To have gone through all that PLAINTIFF did, starting from Special Education and all the RICO predicate acts committed against him; and more importantly, having to work daily at such a higher and harder level in order to actually express himself as an autistic man and to be robbed of the dignity of having some appreciation for PLAINTIFF by taking his ideas and words and passing it off as their own without anything to show for it is cruel, inhumane, and the indication of the true corrupt psychopathy that infects and sickens this country when PLAINTIFF was treated worse than a slave.

Maybe that wasn't that bad with Tar, you may be thinking, as PLAINTIFF found the silver lining of it when it inspired love in those who watched it. True; however, you also may be thinking, it can't get worse? WRONG. This is how PETER STRZOK described it two different times from 2015 and from 2016; the first from 2016: "Counterintelligence work frequently feels like studying a placid pond, searching for the slightest ripple on the surface. This was like a 300-pound cannonball screaming into the still water."²⁰⁸ Ain't that something? A love poem is utilized in counterintelligence. Did PLAINTIFF weigh around 300 lbs—most of the time in law school, PLAINTIFF did and did not; however, there was a time from Summer 2015-Spring 2016 that PLAINTIFF lost a considerable amount of weight. Why is PETER STRZOK referring to screaming? Probably, to PLAINTIFF'S understanding, in Fall 2016, there was a time where PLAINTIFF screamed Vera in his highly emotional volatile state because of what was being done to PLAINTIFF or had been done to PLAINTIFF. So what you're telling the Court is that this one poem was not only used to make PLAINTIFF out to be a violent drug dealer, but was 2015-10-17 00:15:43, Sat	OUTBOX	Was thinking about it more, I think you could totally start the poem tomorrow by saying "Reading poetry, out loud, before a room full of people isn't exactly what FBI agents excel at, so we ask your forgiveness for any stumbles along the way" or something like that.

also used to falsely label PLAINTIFF a counterintelligence threat, and DEFENDANT DISNEY stole it and used it without giving PLAINTIFF credit? Yep. Get outta here, for real? FOR REAL.

You know what, PETER STRZOK'S and DEFENDANTS message above pisses off PLAINTIFF. It seems to be an admittance they misused the poem in furtherance of their RICO Enterprise because there were stumbles along the way involving the nature and use of it. PLAINTIFF wants to make a point. DEFENDANTS clearly saw potential in PLAINTIFF concerning his writing and creativity skills and insight into issues and entertainment value. If it was truly DEFENDANTS goals on stopping terrorism, you know what they could have done: they could have created an opportunity to reward PLAINTIFF in putting to use his good skills that PLAINTIFF clearly exhibited that DEFENDANTS knew about and DEFENDANTS did nothing. Classical conditioning is a very good way on rewarding positive social behavior in which they could have done this at any step of the way but DEFENDANTS completely failed at this too and took complete advantage of PLAINTIFF because of his talents making PLAINTIFF a slave and peon to them. 18 U.S.C §1963(a)(3) forfeiture of proceeds or property derived from proceeds obtained in violation of RICO. DEFENDANTS are required to forfeit the amount of illicit proceeds as determined by the Court even if the funds used to satisfy the forfeiture are not tainted or if the defendant no longer possesses the tainted funds.

A derivative of PLAINTIFF’S writing, from having written TAR, was the fact that PLAINTIFF was a journalist for the SEWANEE PURPLE.

What gets missing in the picture is letting the Court know who PLAINTIFF was at that time in 2010. So let DEFENDANT THAO BUI describe who PLAINTIFF was. These are two messages THAO BUI sent PLAINTIFF from June 9th, 2010 and August 24th, 2010: “hmm i forgot to tell you. Come to TN, I’ll clean my shed (has two floors) and you can live in it and be close to me <3 lol.” and “sooooo where is you? I just put up the flash cards you drew me in my new room and smiling because you’re a dork for drawing them :p”

Between 2009 through 2011, PLAINTIFF was a journalist for the Sewanee Purple (the college’s newspaper). PLAINTIFF had some success in the Purple and enjoyed being a journalist at that time. PLAINTIFF was being directed the right ways in life at the time in expressing himself and learning how to express himself. Some are the things that were important to PLAINTIFF in regards to the Purple below: NIKOLAY DOBRINOV. 02/17/2010: “I just read your article in the purple and I loved it. But then you have to have a part two in enxt issue to tell people how to find the good things about themselves. But point well taken, article very well written with good examples. Reminds me a little for the way Gladwell writes. The examples are so strong and precise that you get your point across clearly.” October 5th, 2010: Miki Kotevski likes “On attractiveness: appearance is not everything” on the Sewanee Purple. On November 22nd, 2010, PLAINTIFF said on Facebook he “is ecstatic that my article on political correctness is the most popular article on the Purple’s website. Hell yea!” On 12/06/2010, Miki Kotevski likes “Humble Hilarious Honesty” on The Sewanee Purple. “Humble Hilarious Honesty”, “on political correctness” (being one of the most popular articles at the time) and “on: attractiveness: appearance is not everything.” PLAINTIFF is including the article on Political Correctness (a draft of it in which the content is 100% the same, but that include the formatting of when it was included in the newspaper) so the Court can get a vibe on who DEFENDANT was at that time and it is relevant to a different section in this complaint. But there are some ironic parts in the draft that was from September 20th, 2010, just in course of their scheme of Miki’s Tea Party

On Political Correctness. Miki Kotevski: Senior Staff Writer.

“Political Correctness (PC) allows people to consciously view some form of human suffering as more acceptable, and when PC tries to include everyone, it excludes everyone. Nazis used PC to hide true intentions and to make people believe that bad things are more acceptable. Political correctness obscures truth by desensitizing us to true emotions. When the truth is obscured, that allows people to find normally unacceptable things as acceptable; this is, how educated German people allowed the Holocaust to take place. When Jews were forced out of the ghetto, they were “evacuated” from the ghetto. When Jews were herded into cattle cars and sent to death camps, they were abzutransportieren (transported out). Goebbels, along with Hitler, discussed slaughtering Jews as simply herausdrängen (squeezing) them from Germany or they were liquidiert (liquidating) Jews. While Jews were in camp, they received Sonderbehandlung (special treatment)—receiving special treatment meant they were going to get executed. Mass murder of Jews was never called mass murder or mass slaughter; rather it was referred to as Endlösung (final solution). When Jews were given badges of the yellow star, they were never labeled or stigmatized as being Jews; rather, they were ausgeschlossen (excluded) from the German people. The public life did not have to be purged of Jews; rather, the public life had to be quickly gereinigt (cleaned) of Jews. The Nazis dehumanized their atrocious actions that should have incited emotional outrage and quelled feelings through the usage of inoffensive language--America is guilty of doing the same thing.

The economy is not horrible; rather, the aggregate demand has decreased, thus causing a significant shortage of capital. Truck stops are not truck stops; they are travel plazas. Prostitutes and gigolos are not prostitutes or gigolos (whore, slut, hustler, etc), they are commercial sex workers. A handicap person is not handicap; they are physically impaired or handicapped. A mentally retarded person is not retarded; they are mentally challenged. Things are not free; they are complimentary. That poor, poverty stricken neighbor is not broke as Hell; but their residual income is far below the average threshold. An illegal immigrant is not illegal; he is an undocumented worker. National ID cards are the “papers” that Nazi’s demanded from conquered citizens. Three million children lack sufficient food security—3 million kids, or a quarter of those killed in the Holocaust, in this country are starving. So what do we do about those children? Do we actually acknowledge that they are starving? No, we don’t because we replaced starving with security. So to increase the children’s “security”, we build higher fences around those 3 million kids in the form of political correctness; we solved their problem—we hide their malnourished bodies from our consciousness by increasing our own security by not having a guilty conscience. It is more acceptable to us when children’s food security is threatened over children are starving. We hide the problems in the form of political correctness and bicker about what to call it rather than actually implementing a solution. PC is a stupid concept in itself because when it tries to describe something, it contradicts itself. Is a person retarded or mentally challenged? A lot of things are mentally challenging—for instance, how the Twilight series is actually romantic. Since I cannot answer that question on an emotional, logical, or literary level because that question is mentally challenging, I am thus mentally challenged in this instance. Those who believe that Twilight—a series about an indecisive necrophiliac, zoophiliac, teen who cannot pick between a wolf and a dead vampire who falls in love with a vampire and has a baby with a corpse—is somehow a romantic series that is worthy of being called a classic are mentally.... How about if we designate someone as being differently abled? Everyone is differently abled—I am not able to be a man whore and Mike The Situation is not able to have a life. How about the Premature Ejaculator? Saying that does not take long enough. Commercial Sex Worker or Whore? Obviously the name matters so much when I get locked up for soliciting prostitutes and having that stark realization that cream is not helping my cold sores go away anytime soon. Black or African-American? Did we neglect to see who the person is on the inside and what he represents instead continually looking on the outside and trying to figure out if he would be offended if I called him black? God help us if we ever care about and see who a person is on the inside. How about if a Boer emigrated from South Africa to America? Uh-Oh! A white guy from Africa! Not an African-American is he? So why do we call only the oriental (Japan, Vietnam, China etc) people of Asia as Asian-American. What about the billion people from India? I guess those are not the only Indians that were excluded. Weed or medicinal marijuana? Does it really matter what you call it when the only thing on your mind is how you are going to devour four cheesy bean burritos, two gordita supremes, and a Mountain Dew at Taco Bell? Fat or Obese? if it takes a person more time to find a lost cheeto than for him to find a stoner at Taco Bell, he is a fat ass. He got that way because fat people eat fatty food—they don't eat obese food. Police officer or Policeman? If someone threatens our community's well-being, is it really that important who protects us (man or woman) as long as someone protects us in the end? Obviously, when I call 911 in my assured and calm state, I am going to say that I only want Car Ramrod to come save me. PC denies us the chance to live in a true reality where the truth matters—we deserve to live truthfully, feel offended, and to feel true emotions. Can we start offending already?"

PLAINTIFF was not a drug user; he was making fun of drug users. He talked about INDIANS positively and wondered about the unequal treatment in how Indians were referred to in 2010. There was nothing malicious, nothing xenophobic, etc. PLAINTIFF talked about the necessity of calling the cops and not about the abuses PLAINTIFF was subject to by the Cops. PLAINTIFF always tried to find the positive outlooks in life.

Most importantly and more relevantly as this specifically addresses PLAINTIFF'S Mens Rea in Peachy Miami and False Identification/SEWANEE Sabotage in which PLAINTIFF had no way of ascertaining about the FBI and Title II hounding his life at the time, PLAINTIFF unequivocally condemned actual and real harm when it occurred and was teaching the audience or his listeners about how harms were committed AS TO AVOID THEM and not to implement them. PLAINTIFF'S specific question at the end of "can we start offending already" was an imminent call to action to avoid harm by doing the exact opposite of the harm. If they are being honest, DEFENDANTS will tell you that PLAINTIFF did not change much in terms of mentality, outlook, and how PLAINTIFF processed life in regard to his speech when he was at SEWANEE and as a journalist. PLAINTIFF was very much the autistic same self. If anything could define PLAINTIFF, it was the fact that when PLAINTIFF started taking philosophy courses and after his house had burned down in May 2010, it solidified who he was as a person to emphasize the good in PLAINTIFF and to avoid harm. DEFENDANTS intentionally omitted anything exculpatory on how PLAINTIFF viewed life when he was talking about philosophy because that would have 100% proven their false narrative to be fabricated having already committed legal fraud upon the Court and intentionally avoided correcting their actions regarding the legal fraud they committed and perpetuated upon the Court.

Side Note.

Just for the sake of inclusion. PLAINTIFF is asking the court to watch Lava on Youtube and read TAR to see the uncanny resemblances between the two that could have only happened after DISNEY ripped off TAR. For example, the chubby looking volcano is completely dejected only to find his lover that is living in the sea below. See Screenshot below. So PLAINTIFF can go through Lava on Youtube and TAR and show you how Disney ripped off PLAINTIFF. BUT the point of all of this is to show you how PLAINTIFF was being economically abused and manipulated for ulterior motives in which there was no appreciation for PLAINTIFF.

PLAINTIFF is not asking for money for HOLLYWOOD using PLAINTIFF the way they did, he just wants some appreciation from Hollywood and DEFENDANTS like Netflix, Disney, like a thank you would be nice, here is some credit for your ideas, here is a pool party with hot chicks that are interested in talking to you, you know shit like that. Would you happen to have any more ideas that we can use that we can give you credit for? You know, shit like that is all PLAINTIFF is asking for. But PLAINTIFF is asking for credit and acknowledgment how DEFENDANTS like BARACK OBAMA stole PLAINTIFF'S words and did not appreciate PLAINTIFF or give thanks. PLAINTIFF just wants a little thanks, a little appreciation, a little acknowledgment he wrote the stuff and it was necessarily seized and stolen when DEFENDANTS committed legal fraud upon the Court.

Your Honor must be thinking this is all extremely outrageous! But PLAINTIFF barely discussed money so what about MONEY? How does MONEY figure into all of this happening at SEWANEE, SANTA CLARA, and LSU LAW. Great question your honor! This gets even more outrageous, the likes of which the Court has never seen:

JUNIOR YEAR. SEWANEE. “FINANCIAL TERRORISM.”

FBI: ROBERT MUELLER. CIA: LEON PANETTA. DOD General Counsel: JEH JOHNSON. DHS. JANET NAPOLITANO.. DOJ Attorney General: ERIC HOLDER. DOJ Northern District of Georgia (Atlanta): SALLY YATES.

To the best of PLAINTIFF’S current understanding, through numerous points along PLAINTIFF’S way from Fall 2007 through Fall 2009, PLAINTIFF gets the attention of DEFENDANTS’ High-Ranking Leadership and Leaders in DEFENDANTS FBI, CIA, etc. In PLAINTIFF’S honest opinion and belief, what DEFENDANTS see in PLAINTIFF is a non-likeable, socially vulnerable, autistic smart-ass that appears to be on the fringe with some of his libertarian ideas that has good entertainment value and enough talents for DEFENDANTS to leech off of in which DEFENDANTS wanted to label and give the label of domestic terrorism to expand their power and reach in which PLAINTIFF had no means of defending himself, no one to protect PLAINTIFF, and no social acceptance by society thereby easily vilifying PLAINTIFF thereby making him the perfect fodder or material (i.e. pawn or slave) DEFENDANTS could use at any time to enrich themselves, making themselves more powerful, and create an agenda or narrative that they saw fit. PLAINTIFF was a peon and a slave for all intents and purposes.

Next, PLAINTIFF’S grandparents on his mother’s side paid for PLAINTIFF’S tuition in his Freshman and Sophomore year at SEWANEE via accounts made at 5/3rd Bank in which grandparents were construction home builders. The month of November 2009 was one of the most traumatic months in PLAINTIFF’S life. PLAINTIFF’S parents were in a deep financial crisis and had declared bankruptcy at this point in when PLAINTIFF was in SEWANEE. PLAINTIFF didn’t have the credit score necessary to get private student loans. US Government financial aid would not have been given due to PLAINTIFF’S parents’ income situation at the time.²⁰⁹ PLAINTIFF received a notice from school around the beginning of November 2009 that PLAINTIFF was two weeks away from being kicked out of SEWANEE due to non-payment of tuition. PLAINTIFF’S father’s grandparents could not afford to help PLAINTIFF. The only people in PLAINTIFF’S life who could have plausibly helped PLAINTIFF continue his education at that time were PLAINTIFF’s mother’s parents (hereon: grandparents).

So PLAINTIFF maxed out one of his Chase credit cards in which the other one was maxed out too in order to go to Serbia. PLAINTIFF took two days off from his class schedule, drove from SEWANEE to ATLANTA (same state GRIFFIN FRY is from), boarded a Lufthansa flight to Germany on an Airbus A330 around November 15th, 2009, and then continued on to Serbia, and visited my grandparents. In Serbia, PLAINTIFF described to his grandparents the dire financial situation he found himself in. PLAINTIFF'S grandparents didn't believe the financial situation PLAINTIFF was in because they thought PLAINTIFF's parents were doing so well financially at that time and that PLAINTIFF'S parents had the money to pay for PLAINTIFF's tuition. PLAINTIFF'S grandparents then berated PLAINTIFF and said PLAINTIFF could have earned the $36,000 needed for tuition (not possible because PLAINTIFF was forced to work by his parents, and they kept the money and PLAINTIFF was disabled) and other expenses needed at the time. PLAINTIFF showed his grandparents the bill SEWANEE sent PLAINTIFF. After talking to PLAINTIFF'S grandparents further, PLAINTIFF'S grandparents agreed to cover his tuition and give a little extra on the side for that year. If PLAINTIFF recalls correctly, PLAINTIFF and his grandfather went to Alfabank (yes the same one Trump and his Russia issues) in Serbia and PLAINTIFF's grandfather and PLAINTIFF wired Sewanee the limit of approximately $26,000+ or so from Alfabank.

But the night before PLAINTIFF'S flight home, as PLAINTIFF was laying in bed, PLAINTIFF'S grandma came to his room. PLAINTIFF'S grandma came in her silky yellow/beige night gown and made it a point to be known how much she was sacrificing for PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF'S grandma told PLAINTIFF to stand up and get out of bed, so PLAINTIFF did. PLAINTIFF's grandma then lifted her night gown, exposing her completely naked body underneath. PLAINTIFF stood there, shocked, as PLAINTIFF saw her hideously scarred body and what appeared to be a 'S' shaped scar that went from her right shoulder, through the middle of her breasts, and ended down her lower stomach area in which she received those scars after multiple recent surgeries. PLAINTIFF's grandmother died the following Spring in 2010. That is precisely the last memory PLAINTIFF has of his grandmother while she was still alive--PLAINTIFF begging for money to continue his education and that sight forever shockingly burned into his mind for life. Absolutely traumatized, PLAINTIFF had to go back to SEWANEE in which PLAINTIFF holds on for dear life not to completely break down and have an autistic episode in the plane or anywhere on the way back. PLAINTIFF'S flight goes from Belgrade to Frankfurt (thereby giving DEFENDANT BUNDESNACHRICHTENDIENST in-personam-jurisdiction and thereby making BUNDESNACHRICHTENDIENST a party from the time of this incident who participated/aided in abetted the RICO Enterprise) once PLAINTIFF steps foot into Frankfurt Airport and then on to ATLANTA in which DEFENDANT'S FBI's ATLANTA FIELD OFFICE then gets jurisdiction for anything that arises once PLAINTIFF steps foot into ATLANTA. BUNDESNACHRICHTENDIENST shared information about PLAINTIFF amongst DEFENDANTS from this point forward thereby making them a party. See: United States v. Miller, 116 F.3d 641, 674-75 (2d Cir. 1997) (act involving murder need not be actual murder as long as the act directly concerned murder, and facilitation of murder was a proper RICO predicate because accessorial offenses described in the New York State statutory provisions involved murder within the meaning of RICO where defendant provided information he knew would enable inquirer to commit murder or other RICO violations).

BUT PLAINTIFF has yet another extremely and very big problem he is dealing with at the time and is revealing multiple crimes PLAINTIFF committed against his legal interests because how unjust it was and what PLAINTIFF had to go through in addition to the previous paragraphs. PLAINTIFF must transport more than $10,000 in cash on his person from Serbia to the United States. Correct. Why is this so much of a problem? Well, here is the clash. Congresses' poorly thought-out law in the guise of "financial terrorism" and protecting the country where DEFENDANTS really want is just money and control regardless of intent, facts, legality, and purposes of having that much cash on you. IRS/DEFENDANTS demand 40% of $10,000 or more of that cash if one travels from overseas and then enters the United States with it and they require you to report it. This is an unconstitutional taking. This law was made under the guise of FINANCIAL TERRORISM and would subject PLAINTIFF unjustly to the USA PATRIOT ACT. IRS would not consider the cash a gift.²¹⁰ So if PLAINTIFF followed the law, PLAINTIFF would have had to forfeit over $4,000+ and be left with $6,000+ or so? Correct. This was not enough to cover PLAINTIFF'S tuition, let alone other additional expenses in which PLAINTIFF was in need of at the time of clothing, food, and had maxed out CHASE credit cards in which PLAINTIFF wanted to continue to make payments on those credit cards and did make payments on them, etc. PLAINTIFF couldn't get private loans because PLAINTIFF had poor credit rating after PLAINTIFF's parent's business went under in 2007/2008 and were in bankruptcy. Grandparents couldn't give PLAINTIFF any more than what they gave. PLAINTIFF was not going to sell drugs, then, or at any time afterwards, or do anything illegal to cover tuition or to use any proceeds from selling drugs at any time in his life to cover tuition. PLAINTIFF did what he had to do then and PLAINTIFF continued his education. PLAINTIFF did what he had to do to survive and there was no hostility against the United States in me continuing PLAINTIFF'S education. This episode was used against PLAINTIFF in furthering the RICO Enterprise.

So to continue on the factual story, PLAINTIFF knowing the abuses of CIVIL ASSET FORFEITURE and asset forfeiture under USA PATRIOT ACT §428 in which DEFENDANTS would rob the People of their legal money is petrified he won't have enough for his tuition if PLAINTIFF is seized at the airport or afterwards. As mentioned, PLAINTIFF, on the flights, has more than $10,000+ cash on him in his person and this makes PLAINTIFF extremely susceptible to continue being abused by DEFENDANTS and will deny PLAINTIFF the opportunity to continue his education. So PLAINTIFF keeps most of the cash on him in his wallet and rolls over $2,000+ or so (but less than $5,000) and places it in the area between his testicles and anus to end DEFENDANTS' Rico Enterprise because knowledge is power and without doing that then, PLAINTIFF would have dropped out and not been allowed to learn law and fulfill the PATRICK YAPPO story. PLAINTIFF does not have an autistic episode and held on for long enough even with this additional pressure and the trauma of the previous paragraph. After PLAINTIFF paid off the rest of the tuition for that year at SEWANEE, PLAINTIFF took whatever remaining amount was left over and drove to Chattanooga to deposit the rest of it in a Bank of America branch (like a 45-minute drive from school). But PLAINTIFF'S troubles did not end there, in a way, it just started.

If all of that is not bad enough, it gets worse!

The situation gets even more worse! PLAINTIFF believes, based on some factual knowledge, PLAINTIFF's aunt (PLAINTIFF's mom's sister) and her daughter (PLAINTIFF's 1st cousin) had plausibly committed elder fraud against my grandparents and their estate when my grandparents were still alive from the time PLAINTIFF had gone through SEWANEE in 2009 to their deaths in 2010 and 2018 respectively. DEFENDANTS/FBI would have necessarily had to have gone through PLAINTIFF'S grandparents' finances to get an accurate picture of PLAINTIFF'S finances at SEWANEE because PLAINTIFF'S grandparents funded 3 years of his education at Sewanee. The FBI would have easily discovered-- in the course of their investigation--that the "signatures" of my grandparents at 5/3 Bank (that was used in PLAINTIFF'S freshman and sophomore years) were plausibly credible forgeries in which PLAINTIFF'S aunt and cousin to his understanding coerced his grandparents into signing or PLAINTIFF'S aunt and cousin signed. Furthermore, PLAINTIFF told undercover DHS or DEA Agent MATT about this situation. DEFENDANTS did nothing. DEFENDANTS all knew of this information involving elder financial abuse and they did nothing. You think PLAINTIFF is making this up? No. It is confirmed by PETER STRZOK, who was the head of Counterterrorism, in which PETER STRZOK himself stated:: "The FBI can and does gather credible allegations from overseas including counterintelligence information. The information can come from an intelligence agency (i.e. DEFENDANTS), from a newspaper, or from an alert businessman, a suspicious scientist, your neighbor, or your grandmother."²¹¹ Okay PETER STRZOK, what else: "If our team was trying to get our subject's financial records, we didn't want that person's bank telling him about it."²¹² Ah, so PETER STRZOK and the FBI knew victims were being scammed as they had access to the financial records, and the FBI still did nothing.

So what about the HONOR CODE here. Well, your honor, for HONOR CODE purposes, the cash fell out of a Lufthansa Airbus A330. Lol. But seriously, there was honor in ending DEFENDANTS' RICO Enterprise through PLAINTIFF'S education thereby making it conform to the requisites and stipulations of the HONOR CODE. PLAINTIFF also had an honorable obligation to help students like PATRICK YAPPO and continue his education; and therefore did not violate the Honor Code. Having been lied to numerous times by the US Government and numerous RICO predicate acts committed at this point, using funds to continue my education was far more honorable than giving them money to deny my obligation to help disabled students in the future. Therefore, no HONOR CODE violation.

DEFENDANTS wanted to maliciously and falsely paint PLAINTIFF as a terrorist or violent drug dealer, so they did through RICO Predicate Acts and their Enterprise. They utilized these facts/financials on one of the most traumatic events in PLAINTIFF'S life to do so. Now to bring back previous sections to the forefront of your mind, the importance of This Side of the Street and Meth are vital in DEFENDANTS continuing the Enterprise against PLAINTIFF'S constitutional and legal interests. What would the following material misstatement of the following facts paint in a reasonable jurist's mind: DEFENDANTS found evidence of meth in PLAINTIFF'S dorm room, found a gun in his vehicle, and PLAINTIFF went overseas and magically discovered over $30,000 in a foreign overseas trip? It falsely paints the image of PLAINTIFF being a terrorist violent drug dealer in which fabricated evidence would be used to convict PLAINTIFF in court in which DEFENDANTS would only be able to depict PLAINTIFF that way through a miscarriage of justice and their RICO Enterprise.

²¹² Strzok, Peter. Compromised. Counterintelligence and the Threat of Donald J. Trump.

Part of the cash was supposed to be paid in taxes. DEFENDANTS knew this and then sought to prosecute me for that. Since DEFENDANTS were absolutely watching me and had commented on my issues without fixing the material omissions and fabrications, it necessarily would have been a State Department matter that arose through international ways. So in a March 08th, 2011 email entitled HILLARY CLINTON INVITATION LETTER, the following: “I agree on the irs thing, they dont like when people like hrc interfere...”²¹³ and as PLAINTIFF previously mentioned: HILLARY CLINTON’s email discussing the AP article of: “Mexican Lake Victim Hartley Possibly Mistaken For Drug Runner”²¹⁴ in which DEFENDANTS and HILLARY CLINTON knew of the issues of DEFENDANTS having mischaracterized the intent and purpose of TAR and/or my requisite knowledge at the time. So PLAINTIFF has these policy makers deciding on whether or not to prosecute PLAINTIFF for simply wanting to continue his education.

FBI: ROBERT MUELLER. CIA. LEON PANETTA, MICHAEL HAYDEN. DHS. JANET NAPOLITANO. DOJ Attorney General: MICHAEL MUKASEY.

Just for disclosure. Sophomore year at SEWANEE. PLAINTIFF has 4 or so expired pain killers in his room. PLAINTIFF is disgusted by it because the pills are expired and autistic people have strong aversion and hyper focus to disgusting things.²¹⁵ SARAH CROSBY initiates discussion about it and offers money for the expired pills. PLAINTIFF agrees thinking she is going to dispose of them because they were disgusting to PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF did not care about the amount he got as long as he got something for the disposal. At no time prior to this incident did PLAINTIFF ever sell drugs. Period. PLAINTIFF personally never bought, grew, sold, distributed, transported, etc. weed in PLAINTIFF’S life and explicitly condemned when he knew about it.

In Sherman v. United States, 356 U.S. 369 (1958) the court found that entrapment occurred when: “It is patently clear that petitioner was induced by Kalchinian. The informer himself testified that, believing petitioner to be undergoing a cure for narcotics addiction, he nonetheless sought to persuade petitioner to obtain for him a source of narcotics. In Kalchinian's own words we are told of the accidental, yet recurring, meetings, the ensuing conversations concerning mutual experiences in regard to narcotics addiction, and then of Kalchinian's resort to sympathy. One request was not enough, for Kalchinian tells us that additional ones were necessary to overcome, first, petitioner's refusal, then his evasiveness, and then his hesitancy in order to achieve capitulation. Kalchinian not only procured a source of narcotics but apparently also induced petitioner to return to the habit. Finally, assured of a catch, Kalchinian informed the authorities so that they could close the net. The Government cannot disown Kalchinian and insist it is not responsible for his actions. Although he was not being paid, Kalchinian was an active government informer who had but recently been the instigator of at least two other prosecutions. Undoubtedly the impetus for such achievements was the fact that in 1951 Kalchinian was himself under criminal charges for illegally selling narcotics and had not yet been sentenced. It makes no difference that the sales for which petitioner was convicted occurred after a series of sales. They were not independent acts subsequent to the inducement but part of a course of conduct which was the product of the inducement. In his testimony the federal agent in charge of the case admitted that he never bothered to question Kalchinian about the way he had made contact with petitioner. The Government cannot make such use of an informer and then claim disassociation through ignorance.”

If the United States Government brings up anything involving PLAINTIFF’S Adderall, then Sherman v. United States, 356 U.S. 369 (1958) applies. If there were times that PLAINTIFF gave Adderall to help his friends study, it absolutely wasn’t for the profit of selling drugs, it was to help his friends succeed in school in which--PLAINTIFF is alleging--that even many DOJ’S attorneys when they were in college and law school utilized Adderall during finals. PLAINTIFF was not in the drug dealing business. Actually, what this incident and METH will show is that PLAINTIFF didn’t want to be even around certain drugs. If DEFENDANTS are being honest, they necessarily have to affirm the truth of what PLAINTIFF just said. So any utilization was in violation of Sherman v. United States, 356 U.S. 369 (1958). Furthermore, “It is manifest that these arguments rest entirely upon the letter of the statute. They take no account of the fact that its application in the circumstances under consideration is foreign to its purpose; that such an application is so shocking to the sense of justice that it has been urged that it is the duty of the court to stop the prosecution in the interest of the Government itself, to protect it from the illegal conduct of its officers and to preserve the purity of its courts...But can an application of the statute having such an effect — creating a situation so contrary to the purpose of the law and so inconsistent with its proper enforcement as to invoke such a challenge — fairly be deemed to be within its intendment? Sorrells v. United States, 287 U.S. 435 (1932)

18 U.S. Code § 2234 - Authority exceeded in executing warrant; 18 U.S. Code § 2235 - Search warrant procured maliciously; 18 U.S. Code § 2236 - Searches without warrant.

On May 10th, 2010, President BARACK OBAMA nominates ELENA KAGAN to the Supreme Court. May 17th, 2010 was the last day ELENA KAGAN served as DOJ'S Solicitor General. Confirmations hearings were had concerning ELENA KAGAN'S nomination to the Supreme Court on June 28th, 2010 and on August 5th, 2010 she was confirmed to SCOTUS. During ELENA KAGAN'S 15 months as Solicitor General, ELENA KAGAN only argued six cases. 4 cases that SCOTUS ruled with her on were (two of which most definitely concerned PLAINTIFF: Buono and Holder): Salazar v. Buono, 559 U.S. 700 (2010), Holder v. Humanitarian Law Project, 561 U.S. 1 (2010), United States v. Comstock 560 U.S. 126 (2010), and Free Enterprise Fund v. Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, 561 U.S. 477 (2010).

So back to it.

On or about May 14th, 2010, PLAINTIFF goes to California with PLAINTIFF'S parents to attend PLAINTIFF'S brother's graduation from Pomona College. WHO might be giving the convocation speech at Pomona College in May 2010? Why, it is DHS' very own JANET NAPOLITANO of course. While attending the graduation, a neighbor and a family friend at the time, Dr. CHRIS STEPHENSON calls PLAINTIFF in the middle of dinner at an Italian restaurant and informs PLAINTIFF that PLAINTIFF'S home is currently burning down to the ground. PLAINTIFF in no way causes, aids or abets, contributes, starts, etc. the home burning down to the ground on May 14th, 2010. Remember, PLAINTIFF did not have the knowledge or material to make a fire incendiary device as he had deleted his copy of Anarchist's Cookbook long before the house burned down. PLAINTIFF had told his parents repeatedly--during the numerous times PLAINTIFF went home on break from SEWANEE between 2008-2010 and had arguments about the financial situation with his parents during those visits--that it would be perfectly okay to let the bank take the house (as the house was in foreclosure) and for the family to move on. DEFENDANTS necessarily knew this through their unconstitutional searches and had intentionally ignored the exculpatory evidence PLAINTIFF routinely told his parents at the time. PLAINTIFF'S cat Sparky is killed in the fire. PLAINTIFF thought, and still thinks to this very day, that PLAINTIFF'S cat Sparky is worth more than the value of the insurance settlement derived from the house burning down. The important thing to note is the following. It is a Seven-Alarm Fire, although it at times was reported as a Six-Alarm Fire, which is one of the highest and rarest responses fire departments can give to a fire. Local News notes this extreme rarity as well.²¹⁶ It becomes a federal issue as firefighters from Wisconsin cross over state lines and into Illinois to battle the blaze. But most importantly and relevantly, ABC7 News of SAN FRANCISCO reports that explosions were reported in the fire.²¹⁷ ABC7 NEWS of San Francisco

did get a certain aspect of their reporting wrong though because PLAINTIFF was injured because of DEFENDANTS' actions afterwards PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS killed PLAINTIFF'S beloved Sparky. The connection to San Francisco is that it is ROBERT MUELLER'S home base and the tech industry's home base in which there was probably a fight against PLAINTIFF by DEFENDANTS in which DEFENDANTS were trying to coverup their crimes and they knew that computers and the internet were going to be the next frontiers for DEFENDANTS at the time and that is what PLAINTIFF alleges. Knowing full well that exculpatory evidence about PLAINTIFF is intentionally omitted, DEFENDANTS/FBI/WHITE HOUSE somehow manage to get a warrant in 2015 (through legal fraud again) in which DEFENDANT ANDREW MCCABE references the house fire and search and seizure of PLAINTIFF'S laptop when he says: "The laptop²¹⁸ was a find, but finding the laptop was not self-evidently a six-alarm situation."²¹⁹ PLAINTIFF believes and alleges DEFENDANTS thought PLAINTIFF was the culprit and used this false fabrication against PLAINTIFF in Court proceedings or warrants or administrative actions in light of Peachy Miami and Sewanee Sabotage. This is pretty much all PLAINTIFF ever said on his Facebook account regarding the fire/ 05/16/2010: "you can always find positive things even in the worst things." May 28th, 2010: "official cause of the house burning down: undetermined." Finally, 05/30/2010: Added a new photo. R.I.P. Senor Sparko. Took two weeks for me to grieve. There is an extended period of time PLAINTIFF needed to full grieve a huge loss in his life (See: Tragedy)

PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS committed arson and murdered PLAINTIFF'S cat Sparky as witness retaliation and witness tampering. More importantly, PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS planned their sabotage against PLAINTIFF in far more exorbitant detail than PLAINTIFF could have ever plausibly thought of at the time of Peachy Miami because DEFENDANTS exorbitant plans was in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 because they were completely looking to convict and frame PLAINTIFF yet again because they necessarily knew and understood Sewanee Sabotage was tainted that contained numerous RICO predicate acts and knew that Peachy Miami was necessarily tainted that contained numerous RICO predicate acts and needed clean slate. Even though they knew Sewanee Sabotage and Peachy Miami were constitutionally tainted and were RICO acts, they still planned to utilize those against PLAINTIFF. Seeing how much FBI, CIA, et al hated PLAINTIFF at the time from at least 2008 through 2010 (Present), PLAINTIFF is alleging that DEFENDANTS intentionally burned PLAINTIFF'S home (that was owned by PLAINTIFF'S parents) to the ground and intentionally and savagely killed PLAINTIFF'S cat, Sparky, because it would conform to what they did in Sewanee Sabotage and Peachy Miami thereby creating yet another false allegation and false narrative against PLAINTIFF because it was reported that there were sounds of gun shots and explosions coming from the home when the home was burning down to the ground.. DEFENDANTS knew that the cost of burning the home down and killing PLAINTIFF'S beloved Sparky was far less than the actual value they would obtain in falsely convicting PLAINTIFF to coverup their false and misleading narratives. DEFENDANTS needed this because PLAINTIFF unfortunately was maliciously selected to be part of establishing precedent against so called domestic terrorists at home and abroad: this was extreme value and importance to DEFENDANTS. So what is a million dollar payout to PLAINTIFF'S parents and killing PLAINTIFF'S beloved cat, Sparky in which they could obtain that precedent? One of the most important things is that fire investigators could not determine what was the cause of the fire and it was left as undetermined. By necessarily having the fire investigators leave the cause of "undetermined," it would allow DEFENDANTS to falsely prove what was the cause of the fire by circumstantial evidence, which would include their material fabrications in Sewanee Sabotage and Peachy Miami. Just the act of leaving the cause undetermined was witness retaliation against PLAINTIFF, obstruction of justice because it would naturally allow DEFENDANTS to use perjured testimony and materially misleading evidence against PLAINTIFF, and it was witness tampering because they murdered Sparky. DEFENDANTS violated: 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1511 (relating to the obstruction of State or local law enforcement), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d)

PLAINTIFF is incorporating the discussion on Ashcroft v. al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011) [here] as it relates to PLAINTIFF and the home burning down. The evidentiary value of that was seen in Ashcroft v. al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011) in which SCOTUS (as PLAINTIFF will explain in Miki's Tea Party) necessarily knew that leaving the cause undetermined was beneficial to DEFENDANTS and DEFENDANTS intentionally utilized it against PLAINTIFF. So let PLAINTIFF further allege the following. PLAINTIFF knows DEFENDANTS are going to falsely allege some type of insurance fraud scheme against PLAINTIFF; well DEFENDANTS were the ones that burned the home down to the ground. So, by DEFENDANTS having done so, PLAINTIFF could not have perpetuated any type of insurance fraud scheme. PLAINTIFF'S cat was worth more to him than the home. DEFENDANTS knew that a counterterrorism conviction to coverup their fraud upon the court in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 was worth more than the value of the home. So the cost of a payout was meaningless to both PLAINTIFF and DEFENDANTS in terms of different values. In the extreme alternative, in the case that DEFENDANTS and PLAINTIFF'S parents worked out a deal in which DEFENDANTS blamed PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF was never informed and there were substantial and significant reasons in which PLAINTIFF was deceived. Motherfuckers murdered Sparky.

. R.I.P. Sparky (See: bottom left). See: PLAINTIFF'S house burning & PLAINTIFF'S burgundy 1995 Chevy Pickup Truck (below) from *Meth*²²⁰ (Home fire pictures copyright below in footnote). Since Sparky was technically PLAINTIFF'S property, PLAINTIFF places a value of Sparky of $100,000,000. PLAINTIFF was deprived of property under RICO in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1.

For PLAINTIFF'S cat Sparky, in the Prayers for Relief section, PLAINTIFF has made some requests for the Court besides recognizing that he was one of the best cats ever.

PLAINTIFF has to get this completely out of the way by factually distinguishing the applicability of certain facts in this chapter: actual defense trade between America and India was not corrupt and was completely untainted in regard to the issues in this Chapter which is even supported by certain facts that PLAINTIFF will explain (i.e. Indian betrayal of not purchasing certain military aircraft). SO ACTUAL DEFENSE TRADE BETWEEN AMERICA, INDIA, QATAR, and UNITED KINGDOM FALLS OUTSIDE THE SCOPE OF LITIGATION IN THIS COMPLAINT and is therefore inapplicable except for the instances in which PLAINTIFF proves at least at a clear and convincing evidence standard that certain things may be labeled as “defense trade,” but there is evidence that shows it wasn’t about legitimate defense trade. Furthermore, whether it was DoD or CIA is immaterial, there were events that took place on November 8th, 2018 that PLAINTIFF is still very much pissed off about that either CIA or DoD did as a pure form of intimidation and retaliation in which no other plausible explanation can be attributed for their actions. As a punitive measure, PLAINTIFF is requesting two boeing apache helicopters fully loaded and/or anti-aircraft defense systems because of what either CIA or DoD did to PLAINTIFF on November 8th, 2018 in XX; and to ensure that if DoD or CIA are going to disobey the court permanent injunction that PLAINTIFF requests, there will be punitive repercussions for their actions when PLAINTIFF will defend himself and his property from that type of occurrence again. But DoD would train PLAINTIFF on how to be proficient on an Apache Helicopter or how to use anti-air craft system on their own planes if they so choose to intimidate, tamper with, and retaliate against PLAINTIFF when there was no legitimate cause to do so in the first place.

“The danger that high federal officials will disregard constitutional rights in their zeal to protect the national security is sufficiently real to counsel against affording such officials an absolute immunity.” Mitchell v. Forsyth, 472 U.S. 511 (1985). “Because the Amendment now affords protection against the uninvited ear, oral statements, if illegally overheard, and their fruits are also subject to suppression. Silverman v. United States, 365 U. S. 505 (1961); Katz v. United States, 389 U. S. 347 (1967)” 18 U.S. Code § 2234 - Authority exceeded in executing warrant; 18 U.S. Code § 2235 - Search warrant procured maliciously; 18 U.S. Code § 2236 - Searches without warrant.

What PLAINTIFF is alleging is that certain civilian trade between America, India, Qatar, and United Kingdom is necessarily tainted and corrupted. Period. So PLAINTIFF is not holding DoD responsible or as a party to that corruption as that was more State and the White House. Let me be clear on something. It was the decision made to incorporate PLAINTIFF. What goes on in the sketchy parts of the world, PLAINTIFF understands and has absolutely no desire to have this case be a precedent in that respect, but it was DEFENDANTS’ actual decision to do what they did against PLAINTIFF.

PLAINTIFF will fight to his every last appealable decision that based on what DEFENDANTS did to PLAINTIFF and how they killed his dream of becoming a lawyer in this Chapter as well as in An Anchor and a Pitchfork, PLAINTIFF wants his childhood dreams to come true when he is legally correct in saying they will come true.

In all relevant times in Miki’s Tea Party, PLAINTIFF alleges that NSA and British Intel cooperated, conspired, plotted, and undertook numerous unconstitutional actions concerning PLAINTIFF in which they aided and abetted and facilitated an act of international and domestic terrorism and failed to properly inform PLAINTIFF of the “offing.” They did this through having utilized NSA’s operation at RAF Menwith Hill in North Yorkshire, United Kingdom and at GCHQ Bude in Morwenstow, United Kingdom. NSA and British Intel have had a long and long running relationship via: Echelon. Together, NSA and British Intel did one of the enumerated actions in the definition of NSA and British Intel during all times of Miki’s Tea Party.

PLAINTIFF alleges DHS and NSA have a partnership in which DHS and NSA utilize NSA’S Threat Operations Center (NTOC), which is the primary NSA/CSS partner for Department of Homeland Security response to cyber incidents. In an Anchor and a Pitchfork, a blackmail email was sent to PLAINTIFF in which American Intel and British Intel and Aussies necessarily had PLAINTIFF under surveillance in which they all knew of the liability PLAINTIFF posed to the CLINTONS and SCOTUS. At all times, DHS and NSA via the NTOC forecasted the incident to occur from at least 06/27/2015 in an Anchor and a Pitchfork and 09/27/2010 in Miki’s Tea Party. Alerts were sent to both DHS and NSA. They could have easily and readily attributed the malicious activity being undertaken against PLAINTIFF in An Anchor and a Pitchfork and Miki’s Tea Party. DHS and NSA did nothing and aided and abetted RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2 and furthered the objectives of RICO Enterprise 1. By having received, sent, and processed all of the information concerning PLAINTIFF in Miki’s Tea

Party and An Anchor and a Pitchfork at the NTOC in which information was obtained in Tennessee, England, Washington DC/Fort Meade, Illinois, Japan, and other locations, this is part of the requirement constituting furthering mail and wire fraud and other RICO predicate acts in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and RICO Enterprise 2.

PLAINTIFF alleges that NSA and GCHQ work together at Menwith Hill in England and have done so through the entirety of this complaint. NSA paid GCHQ over £100 Million (over $125,000,000) between 2009 and 2012. Part of the funds went to a codenamed operation Karma Police in which NSA utilized, sent, received, and process the data from that operation; and NSA allowed GCHQ to use PRISM from at around the inception of Miki's Tea Party in 09/24/2010 that allowed GCHQ to have easy access to the systems of Google, Facebook, Microsoft, Apple, Yahoo, and Skype.

PLAINTIFF alleges that from 2007-2008 or most definitely from at least 2010-2011 through 2016 (if not longer), PLAINTIFF served as some sort of Indian "Hundi" between the Americans and Indians in which they would pass PLAINTIFF off back and forth in violation of PLAINTIFF'S 13th Amendment rights and in violation of RICO.

Executive Order 12333 states: "The Director of the Central Intelligence Agency shall coordinate the clandestine collection of foreign intelligence collected through human sources such as 'moles' or other human-enabled means and counterintelligence activities outside the United States" and National Security Council Intelligence Directive No. 5 (NSCID 5) provides that: "The Director of Central Intelligence shall conduct all organized Federal espionage operations outside the United States and its possessions for the collection of foreign intelligence information required to meet the needs of all Departments and Agencies concerned, in connection with the national security, except for certain agreed activities by other Departments and Agencies." Therefore, Leon Panetta is directly liable for the actions undertaken here and alleges such.

The United States, India, United Kingdom, Germany, Japan, Australia, and Qatar, all violated 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(1)(B)(iii) which requires that under data sharing, it must adhere to applicable international human rights obligations and commitments or demonstrates respect for international universal human rights in which DEFENDANTS violated the The Convention On the Rights of Persons With Disabilities-- was all signed by United States, India, United Kingdom, Germany, Japan, Australia, and Qatar--that violated Article 13: Access to justice; Article 14: Liberty and security of person; Article 15: Freedom from torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment; Article 16: Freedom from exploitation, violence and abuse; Article 17: Protecting the integrity of the person; Article 18: Liberty of movement; Article 21 Freedom of expression and opinion, and access to information; Article 22 Respect for privacy; Article 24 Education; Article 25 Health States Parties recognize that persons with disabilities have the right to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of health without discrimination on the basis of disability.

PLAINTIFF is alleging DEFENDANTS violated 18 U.S. Code § 2523 (b)(4)(A) in which one of the following occurred: 1) The United States directed British Intel, Qatari Intel, Indian Intel, Aussie Intel, Japanese Intel, or German Intel, to intentionally target PLAINTIFF or 2) Indian Intel, British Intel, Qatari Intel, Japanese Intel, German Intel, or Aussie Intel, intentionally targeted PLAINTIFF because of RICO Enterprise 1 and shared the information with the United States Government

18 U.S. Code § 2331 defines international and domestic terrorism as having occurred when one does an act that is dangerous to human life in violation of the criminal laws of the United States or any state (or would be a criminal violation if committed within the jurisdiction of the United States or any state) 1): acts dangerous to human life that are a violation of the criminal laws of the United States or of any State, or that would be a criminal violation if committed within the jurisdiction of the United States or of any State and 2) appear to be intended to influence the policy of a government by intimidation and/or coercion OR appears to be intended to affect the government by kidnapping.

18 U.S. Code § 2332(b)(1)(A) stipulates acts of terrorism that transcend boundaries occurs when one: kills, kidnaps, maims, commits an assault resulting in serious bodily injury, or assaults with a dangerous weapon any person within the United States; or 18 U.S. Code § 2332(b)(1)(B) stipulates acts of terrorism that transcend boundaries occur when one: “creates a substantial risk of serious bodily injury to any other person by damaging any conveyance (i.e. plane) or other real or personal property within the United States or by attempting or conspiring to destroy or damage any conveyance (plane), or other real or personal property within the United States.” So this means that when 1) one that damages a plane in London that in itself creates a substantial risk of serious bodily injury or 2) one attempts to or conspire in damaging a plane from within the United States that occurs in London, either one of those two acts constitutes an act of terrorism that transcend boundaries. Sabotaging a plane is in itself an act that creates a serious risk to people. period.

18 U.S.C. 2339(a) prohibits providing material resources to terrorists.

In Summer 2010, PLAINTIFF met an INDIAN man named SURESH in Pennsylvania at CAMP WAYNE in Preston Park, PA. SURESH and PLAINTIFF became friends at Camp Wayne and SURESH had invited PLAINTIFF to come to the state of Gujarat in INDIA. The only two Indians whom PLAINTIFF ever interacted with for more than 10 minutes was Chetna (See: Big Brothers and Big Sisters) and Suresh. PLAINTIFF decides to take SURESH up on his offer. PLAINTIFF throughout the Fall Semester of 2010 and throughout the Spring Semester of 2011 maintains contact with Suresh in which PLAINTIFF has an unrelenting desire to go to India. PLAINTIFF, to the best of his recollection, may have flown into London in August 2010 because of his grandmother’s 6 month passing and had to go to Serbia. To the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection, there was a time that PLAINTIFF had tried to go to INDIA in Fall 2010 and had to cancel; and conceivably that is where it starts. Section 215 would reveal if PLAINTIFF purchased tickets and had to cancel them in Fall 2010 or what he told Suresh on META in Fall 2010. PLAINTIFF in this time period gets into arguments with his mother about going to India, hence the reason for cancelation. PLAINTIFF relentlessly tries to go to India during his breaks Senior Year at Sewanee (Fall 2010/Senior 2011). So as PLAINTIFF makes plans to go to INDIA, DEFENDANTS in turn, make plans and conspire to use against PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF talks to British woman LAUREN DELLER (who he met at Camp Wayne) about coming to London in December 2010. The point being, DEFENDANTS made a plan involving PLAINTIFF in Fall 2010 in which there is ample evidence on the record PLAINTIFF was doing everything he could to come to or go from LONDON/INDIA since FALL 2010. SCOTUS knowing DEFENDANTS’ numerous plans against PLAINTIFF in FALL 2010, took an extremely long time in deciding Ashcroft v. al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011) when they granted cert to the case on: October 18th, 2010 (after DEFENDANTS plans were formalized in which ERIC HOLDER knew about them), DEFENDANTS knew that from 02/27/2011 PLAINTIFF had intended on going to INDIA because he sent Suresh the following on 02/27/2011 at 02:29am: “My dear apologies Suresh for not talking to you as of late; this semester, to say the least, has been tumultuous as in matters regarding the self, matters of my existence, etc, and I have acquired some funds that would allow me to come visit you, that is, if you have the time to. I would arrive on the 9th and return back home on the 16th/17th. I have done some research and would love to see somethings....”, Miki’s Tea Party went down on March 11th, 2011, Ashcroft v. al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011) is argued by DOJ Solicitor General NEAL KATYAL in March 2011 who has an office in the Supreme Court the entire time between October 2010-May 2011, and Ashcroft v. al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011) was decided in May 31st, 2011 because they would absolve ERIC HOLDER and different Solicitor Generals and Attorney Generals concerning their past conduct regarding PLAINTIFF. But what is Miki’s Tea Party exactly?

As PLAINTIFF said plans are constantly made in which he plans to go to INDIA and buys airfare at sometime his Senior Year at Sewanee (probably Chase Bank will confirm the purchase date via Qatar Airlines). As a youth and maybe up until the last 4 or 5 years and this can be proven with testimony from PLAINTIFF’S family, whenever PLAINTIFF traveled as a youth, PLAINTIFF did not fall asleep on airplanes and stayed awake the whole entire flight. DEFENDANTS having had listened in on PLAINTIFF’S life from at least 2008, would have necessarily come across any conversations PLAINTIFF had with his family or friends that stipulated he was surprised that he had fallen asleep on the airplane (from at least 2018).

Side note: PLAINTIFF is not alleging a violation of United States v. Verdugo-Urquidez, 494 U.S. 259 (1990) as that involved non-citizens and constitutional rights; but what PLAINTIFF is alleging is a violation of: United States v. Curtiss-Wright Export Corp., 299 U. S. 304 (1936), that “[n]either the Constitution nor the laws passed in pursuance of it have any force in foreign territory unless in respect of our own citizens,” PLAINTIFF is alleging there was a search of PLAINTIFF in Germany, United Kingdom, India, Australia, and Japan. More importantly with the phrase of “in respect of our own citizens” means that as it relates to or involves an American citizen. So any searches that relate to or involve PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS all have agreements with one another; so any shared communications amongst DEFENDANTS that related to or involved PLAINTIFF in any way (regardless of who sent them—american or non-american alike) means by prior precedent are entitled to at least 4th Amendment Protections because the content of the message is in respect to PLAINTIFF; and as Stanford v. Texas and Ex Parte Jackson so elegantly demonstrated, generalized warrants against PLAINTIFF’S 4th Amendment interests are unconstitutional when the content of the message is seized on the basis of PLAINTIFF’S protected speech in the course of transmission of message without a warrant. Therefore, any shared communications about PLAINTIFF’S obtained by foreign DEFENDANTS are unconstitutional. DEFENDANTS taint from 2008 most definitely existed at this time and DEFENDANTS’ taint became immortalized from the entirety of the circumstances in Miki’s Tea Party in which DEFENDANTS could not have absolved themselves of any unconstitutional taint and been in good faith or constituted an independent source because DEFENDANTS were all tainted.

Before starting this, PLAINTIFF has an issue on the dates of when all of this happened and applied. PLAINTIFF below took pictures of his passport that he had on him in 2017 or afterwards. This passport was used in Financial Terrorism and Miki’s Tea Party

These are some of the most important pages of where immigration stamps were placed into the passport:

The Red Boxes Confirm the Flight Dates on or about 11/11/2009 and 11/15/2009 in Financial Terrorism and Arrival back into Atlanta on November 15th, 2009. The greenbox confirms PLAINTIFF went to Serbia around August 12th, 2010 for the Serbian Orthodox Church requirement of going 6 months to a graveyard after a family passed (I.e. PLAINTIFF'S grandma in 2010 in which she died in February 2010) in which DHS interacted with PLAINTIFF on 08/19/2010. The turquoise box and another box are at issue. PLAINTIFF reported his passport had been fraudulently obtained by a scammer to the Department of State, FBI, and MI5 around the beginning part of 2012; but, PLAINTIFF was allowed to fly and used a compromised passport that DHS and Department of State necessarily knew about in which PLAINTIFF even then gave the same passport to DHS on August 7th, 2012, which strikes PLAINTIFF as quite peculiar and only affirms it was British Intel that compromised PLAINTIFF'S passport in 2012. This gives an inference that DHS and Department of State did not view the passport as compromised because DEFENDANTS allowed PLAINTIFF to use it and because how could have the passport been compromised if the compromise was committed by a friendly foreign intelligence service like Scotland Yard/MI5/MI6, etc? So here is another page:

The pink box is at issue in Miki's Tea Party. It says 03/10/2011. But 10/31/2010 is also extremely similar. So the event either took place on 03/10/2011 or 10/31/2010. PLAINTIFF is alleging it could have happened on 10/31/2010 just in case because that could have been a fabricated date. So when PLAINTIFF alleges the date of 03/10/2011, he is also alleging 10/31/2010 in the alternative just in case as not to lose the claim. What PLAINTIFF distinctly remembers about the days of the flight in Miki's Tea Party was that there was a '3' and '1' next to each other in which there were lots of 1's and 0's. 10/31/2010 and 03/11/2011 all fit that criteria. So to PLAINTIFF'S best recollection, it was either 10/31/2010, 03/10/2011, or 03/11/2011

As a precursor in which PLAINTIFF alleges the financial basis of Miki's Tea Party is the following:
“On the margins of the President's trip, trade transactions were announced or showcased, exceeding $14.9 billion in total value with $9.5 billion in U.S.

export content.”²²¹ The total $14,900,000,000 is at issue with Miki’s Tea Party.

So in the Spring 2011, on or about 03/10/2011, PLAINTIFF takes stand-by on United Airlines from Chicago to London. PLAINTIFF does so because PLAINTIFF’S aunt works for United Airlines and their policy--at the time--allowed for stand-by travel for family and relatives. PLAINTIFF lands in London-Heathrow with United Airlines in which DEFENDANT BRITISH AIRWAYS aids in guiding PLAINTIFF’S plane to land, directs the plane to the gate, and in which they would be watching and monitoring the movement of the plane of United Airlines Flight #925 and know about the incident that would take place at their hub. So BRITISH AIRWAYS violated 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 18 U.S.C. §241; 18 U.S.C. §226, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d).

PLAINTIFF is in LONDON-HEATHROW AIRPORT on or about 03/10/2011. PLAINTIFF deboards his plane from Chicago and has to go through a security checkpoint in which a British immigration officer verifies that it is a legitimate passport, but he doesn’t inform PLAINTIFF about the peculiar circumstances of that day so then British Immigration officer stamps PLAINTIFF’S passport and allows PLAINTIFF to go to the Qatar Airways ticket counter. You know what, PLAINTIFF recalls that around a 75% probability this is true, there may have been a text message PLAINTIFF sent concerning an issue of dyslexia and the date that was stamped by the London Immigration officer. So even if it says 03/11/2011, it may not have been even the right day anyway.

At no time on his flight from CHICAGO to LONDON-HEATHROW did PLAINTIFF fall asleep on the plane. While at LONDON-HEATHROW, PLAINTIFF was then supposed to go from London and connect in Doha via Qatar Airlines, and then continue to INDIA with Qatar Airlines. Having landed in LONDON-HEATHROW and having stepped foot into LONDON, this gives 5 EYES, MI6, SCOTLAND YARD, and the rest of British Intelligence DEFENDANTS in-personam jurisdiction over PLAINTIFF and thereby makes them a party from this moment on; and this gives American DEFENDANTS a way to circumvent PLAINTIFF’S Constitutional Rights and a way to further their RICO Enterprise. Because now DEFENDANTS in America can get “allegedly” untainted evidence from BRITISH DEFENDANTS knowing that American DEFENDANTS’ evidence is necessarily tainted and unconstitutionally compromised searched on March 5th if he needed medical shots or immunizations to go to India. America always having one of the strongest passports in the world (especially in 2010/2011) and having traveled to numerous European countries before, all PLAINTIFF thought was required to go to INDIA at the time was a passport and PLAINTIFF based on his experiences in Europe did not think PLAINTIFF needed a visa application that PLAINTIFF was supposed to fill out prior to arriving in INDIA. PLAINTIFF searched on google “India visa” on March 17th, 2011 just to verify the truth of the INDIAN embassy because he was pissed about what was to come. PLAINTIFF would verify a material misrepresentation but ascertain the truth. INDIA is apparently super bureaucratic because INDIA allegedly required a visa application at that time.

Based on PLAINTIFF’S google search history he acquired (PLAINTIFF’S use of google and YouTube in Fall 2010 and Spring 2011 are included in the exhibits),²²² PLAINTIFF

²²¹ <https://obamawhitehouse.archives.gov/the-press-office/2010/11/08/us-india-partnership-fact-sheets>. Last Checked 08/17/2023

So while in London-Heathrow, PLAINTIFF goes to the Qatar Airways ticket counter. PLAINTIFF remembers where it was because it struck PLAINTIFF as peculiar. It has come recently to PLAINTIFF’S attention that Qatar Airways had around 3-5 flights daily from London to Doha. The ticket counter in which PLAINTIFF went to was at some ticket counter all the way in the back and left side of the hall in which Qatar Airways had just like two or four stations, which struck PLAINTIFF as odd at the time because they flew big planes and for the little amount of stations for one plane, struck PLAINTIFF as odd. PLAINTIFF remembers it was in the back left corner because PLAINTIFF had at times looked to his left to see the wall and the windows outside that were upward. The question becomes: what PLAINTIFF would infer at the time. PLAINTIFF traveled primarily to Serbia and from O’Hare. International airlines could have as little as two to four stations, but also could have had a lot more as in the case of Lufthansa and ANA in Terminal 1 at O’Hare. It varied and it could depend. There was reason to believe this was in line with PLAINTIFF’S previous experience, but just a little bit odd. What PLAINTIFF most definitely did not know at the time was how big an impact Qatar had in London at the time. Sure there may have been a video where middle-easterners flew their cars from the middle east to London during the summer, but what that means is that the cars came on a cargo flight in which PLAINTIFF assumed rich people flew in on private jets with their cars nearby in flight and not on Qatar Airways. But for PLAINTIFF to have had a credible reason to be actually suspicious of the circumstances in which it would cause an ordinary person in PLAINTIFF’S shoes to believe fraud was being perpetuated against him by Qatar Airways and British Intel, Indian Intel, American Intel, no way back then in 2011. So, the gate location, was peculiar as something that would cause one to just shrug their shoulders and move on with their life, but not something that demanded an investigation into the highest levels of government concerning fraud against PLAINTIFF.

The Qatar Airways representative pulls up PLAINTIFF’S reservation on their computer. The Qatar Airways never issues PLAINTIFF a ticket and this is extremely important. Qatar Airways in their conditions of carriage says that stopovers may be permitted at agreed stopping places subject to government requirements and their regulations and article 5 says the following in regards to routing: if there is more than one routing at the same fare, you may specify the routing prior to the issue of the ticket. If no routing is specified, we will determine the routing. The Qatar Airways “representative” then informs PLAINTIFF that he is being denied access to the flight to India in London because, and only because, of “visa issues.”

PLAINTIFF, not having been issued a ticket even after paying full price for roundtrip tickets from London to India with a stopover in Doha, specifically asked the fact and question to the Qatar Airways representative if PLAINTIFF could continue on to at least Doha and fix the visa issues in Doha because PLAINTIFF had traveled so far already; and because PLAINTIFF didn't want to turn back home when he was in London, he specifically asked if he could just only go to Doha to see Doha and fix the visa issues there in Doha because PLAINTIFF had never been in Doha; and if PLAINTIFF couldn't get a trip to India, he could get a trip to Doha and that was PLAINTIFF'S M.O and thinking at the time; and to PLAINTIFF at the time, PLAINTIFF would rather have seen anything and not be disappointed and turn back around in London. There was absolutely no problem with this request because Qatar Airways' conditions of carriage did not prohibit 'skiplagging' (even if you can call that skiplagging) and PLAINTIFF had negotiated with Qatar Airways representative as to the limitations of the ticket that he paid for in which he would utilize part of the ticket he paid for prior to Qatar Airways in issuing the ticket. The Qatar Airways representative denies PLAINTIFF the chance to go to just Doha. Furthermore, there is a decent probability that PLAINTIFF asked if he needed a visa to go to Doha prior to landing in Doha as an American in which immigration would check PLAINTIFF'S passport and allow PLAINTIFF into Qatar. Qatar Airways representative, to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, said that is how it works. So PLAINTIFF negotiated with Qatar Airways in which PLAINTIFF'S requests were completely legal and in accordance with Qatar Airways policy and PLAINTIFF was still turned away. This request to go to Doha was denied by the Qatar Airways representative as the Qatar Airways representative gave some bullshit answer. Here are some underlying and unspoken problems with PLAINTIFF here: 1) PLAINTIFF is creative where he can create things in which an explanation could be plausible in which PLAINTIFF would create or think as to why it could be true; 2) because PLAINTIFF dealt with bullshit justifications involving his school administrators whether that was in Rhetoric, Midyear, Trespass Incident #3, TKL, and more, in which Sewanee representatives always gave PLAINTIFF bullshit answers. Sadly, this works to PLAINTIFF'S detriment to diminish his capacity where at that time, even if there was a reason to believe this was suspicious enough to justify further investigation, but for American Intel's interventions in creating bullshit in Sewanee in which PLAINTIFF received so many bullshit answers in the past from "customer service representatives" by Sewanee, PLAINTIFF very well would have thought it was just an ordinary day to PLAINTIFF in which stupid bullshit ruined the day. This is especially more so when autistic individuals look for repetitive behaviors and having it had repeated so much in PLAINTIFF'S life, PLAINTIFF thought it was normal.

Not once does the Qatar Airways representative inform PLAINTIFF that any government, whether it was the British, American, or Qatari Government prohibited PLAINTIFF from flying from London to Doha as PLAINTIFF understood his passport had no restrictions at the time. Therefore, Qatar Airways (as well as American Intel, British Intel, and Qatari Intel) violated violated 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 18 U.S.C. §241; 18 U.S.C. §226, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d) when they had conspired and went in disguise at London Heathrow Airport for the purpose of depriving PLAINTIFF equal protection of the laws, equal privileges and immunities under the laws and willfully and maliciously conspired, planned, and agreed to block the passage of PLAINTIFF in going to Doha in which they stopped and detained PLAINTIFF to commit an international and domestic act of terrorism against PLAINTIFF. 1985(3) provides a cause of action for damages against the conspirators in Qatar Airways, Qatar Airways, QIA, Qatar, Leon Panetta, Robert Mueller, Hillary Clinton, etc. XX. Furthermore, this is the first act of kidnapping or false imprisonment in the incident in which Qatar Airways violated: Louisiana Revised Statutes §46 which defines False Imprisonment as “the intentional confinement or detention of another, without his consent and without proper legal authority.” PLAINTIFF requested not to be confined or detained in London by going to Doha in which PLAINTIFF paid for that ability to do so and had negotiated in good faith with Qatar Airways. If you falsely imprison someone, you kidnap someone. Furthermore, Illinois defines Kidnapping under 720 ILCS 5/10-1 as when one “knowingly and secretly confines another against his or her will.” PLAINTIFF was confined to London-Heathrow and had informed his complete intent on exercising his option to go to Qatar and Qatar Airways denied PLAINTIFF’S opportunity in which Qatar Airways did not inform PLAINTIFF the reason why he was not allowed to go to Doha.

Furthermore, the Qatar Airways representative was one part of the mail and wire fraud undertaken against PLAINTIFF since under Louisiana Civil Code Article 1953, fraud “is a misrepresentation or a suppression of the truth made with the intention either to obtain an unjust advantage for one party or to cause a loss or inconvenience to the other. Fraud may also result from silence or inaction.” Louisiana Civil Code Article 1955 states that “Error induced by fraud need not concern the cause of the obligation to vitiate consent, but it must concern a circumstance that has substantially influenced that consent.” Louisiana Civil Code Article 1956 states that “Fraud committed by a third person vitiates the consent of a contracting party if the other party knew or should have known of the fraud.” PLAINTIFF does not have to prove the fraud directly and all PLAINTIFF has to do under Louisiana Civil Code Article 1957 states that “Fraud need only be proved by a preponderance of the evidence and may be established by circumstantial evidence.” Louisiana courts tend to scrutinize cases involving a merchant and a layman for facts upon which to raise an inference of fraud, the essence of which is said to be unjust advantage. Cotton States Chem. Co. v. Larrison Enters., Inc., 342 So. 2d 1212 (La. App. 2d Cir. 1977); Altex Ready-Mixed Concrete Corp. v. Employees Commercial Union Ins. Co., 308 So. 2d 889 (La. App. 1st Cir. 1975).

Now here is an inference. If an American would be allowed to go from London to Doha with just his passport without obtaining a visa prior to departure, it shows that Qatar Airways intentionally prevented PLAINTIFF from going to Doha in which PLAINTIFF paid for that ticket. DEFENDANTS kidnapped PLAINTIFF when he was free to leave and continue on to Doha in which they intentionally in disguise prevented the free movement of PLAINTIFF. The only reason for denying that request was if there was a completely different scheme afoot and PLAINTIFF could not have known at the time of the scheme against PLAINTIFF. So, the Qatar Airways “representative” then tells PLAINTIFF “if he goes to the INDIAN EMBASSY in LONDON, that PLAINTIFF could possibly board the next day’s flights.” As a side note: PLAINTIFF lost some of his hearing in his ears via numerous surgeries on his ears; PLAINTIFF can sometimes have a hard time modulating his voice. PLAINTIFF may have inadvertently been perceived as having raised PLAINTIFF’S voice in which in the discussion. PLAINTIFF never yelled or was belligerent to the Qatar Airways representative, maybe accidentally just raised his voice a little bit (to the point of being loud, but not yelling) once, but that’s it. State Department even in 2023 said about “Travelers with Disabilities: The law in Qatar prohibits discrimination against persons with physical, sensory, intellectual, or mental disabilities, the law is not enforced. Social acceptance of persons with disabilities in public is not as prevalent as in the in the United States. Expect accessibility to be limited in public transportation, lodging, communication/information, and general infrastructure.” So, given the advice by the Qatar Airlines “Representative,” PLAINTIFF went to the INDIAN embassy to try to get an immediate visa for the next day. This endeavor fails and PLAINTIFF then returns back to LONDON HEATHROW AIRPORT. PLAINTIFF spends money taking transportation to the INDIAN embassy thereby this affects interstate and foreign commerce.

PLAINTIFF needs to make a brief argument about his financial situation at the time. PLAINTIFF did not have a full time or part time job outside of campus. He had a work-study in which he was a grounds keeper for Sewanee. PLAINTIFF, in his senior year at Sewanee, received reduced tuition in which his mother paid the portion of his tuition from some of the insurance settlement money when DEFENDANTS murdered his cat. DEFENDANTS knew that around this time in March 2011, PLAINTIFF in his own Bank Of America account could not have had more than $2,000. To the absolute best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection, it would shock him if he had more than $2,000 in his Bank of America bank account. PLAINTIFF’S Bank of America or Chase credit card were not paid down significantly. PLAINTIFF, to the best of his recollection, would not have been able to purchase a single one-way ticket to Chicago on either British Airways or American Airlines as those would be the only two airlines that would have gone directly to Chicago at that time at Heathrow in addition to United Airlines. DEFENDANTS necessarily knew the only option for PLAINTIFF based on his financial resources was that he was going to have to take United Airlines back to Chicago. For all intents and purposes, PLAINTIFF was a broke college student on March 10th, 2011 or March 11th, 2011. In Louisiana unconscionability cases, courts have necessarily included the factor of whether or not DEFENDANTS knew of PLAINTIFF’S financial issues and DEFENDANTS in this case beyond any reasonable doubt knew of PLAINTIFF’S financial issues on how he was a broke college student. See: First Progressive Bank v. Costanza, 427 So. 2d 594 (La. App. 5th Cir. 1983) (applying Civil Code article 1897 to seller's knowledge of buyer's financial problems) Carter v. Foreman, 219 So. 2d 21 (La. App. 4th Cir. 1969): when talking about unconscionability, the case talked about how “there was financial figure was not disclosed to PLAINTIFF by the home improvement contractor. The contract was not properly performed by the contractor” but more importantly, the contractor was aware of Carter's educational deficiencies and knew that Carter's income was only $200 per month, primarily derived from Social Security. This produced an inference of fraud and a vitiation of consent.”

In the course of the saga, PLAINTIFF informs his aunt of the issues via a Facebook message or texts and asks what UNITED flights are available via stand-by from LONDON to get PLAINTIFF back home to CHICAGO (CHICAGO-O’HARE). PLAINTIFF’S aunt informs him that the only option available is the flight from LONDON-HEATHROW to DULLES and then on to CHICAGO. PLAINTIFF, left with no other way to get back home to CHICAGO-O’HARE with the cost going to be astronomical with a one-way ticket to a broke college student with any other airlines, agrees with his aunt and then PLAINTIFF’S aunt places PLAINTIFF on stand-by on UNITED AIRLINES FLIGHT 925; BOEING 777-200 with the Aircraft Registration of: XX. UNITED AIRLINES FLIGHT 925 on 03/11/2011 or 10/31/2010 is initially delayed once; then the same flight is DELAYED even further for a second time. PLAINTIFF asks and inquires multiple times what was the exact reason PLAINTIFF’S plane was being delayed and the United Airlines “representative” (or DEFENDANTS) said vague things and no definite answers were provided to PLAINTIFF as to why UNITED AIRLINES FLIGHT 925 on 03/11/2011 or 10/31/2010 was being delayed so many times. Article 19 of the Warsaw Convention applies to the delay of United Airlines Flight 925 on 03/10/2011. At no time when PLAINTIFF was at LONDON-HEATHROW did PLAINTIFF get any sleep. Having been up for at least a day straight, PLAINTIFF gave all he could in trying to determine what were the issues with the plane. When flights are delayed, that costs the airline and the economy money²²³ therefore it affects interstate and intrastate commerce. In terms of knowledge of what any reasonable person could ascertain at that given moment, all PLAINTIFF knew was that his plane had delayed multiple times. Neither PLAINTIFF nor any reasonable person in PLAINTIFF’S position at the time could infer malicious reasoning or purpose. It is not a reasonable and prudent course of logical thinking or belief to believe that the delay was caused by DEFENDANTS in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 in which DEFENDANTS tampered with the plane. PLAINTIFF now, within the last month of 08/19/2023, was able to ascertain and know beyond a preponderance of evidence level standard, that the true purpose of the delays was in furtherance of DEFENDANTS RICO Enterprise via air piracy, domestic terrorism, and international terrorism.

The timing connection period between landing in DULLES/Washington D.C. and getting on PLAINTIFF’S connecting flight to Chicago O’Hare decreases dramatically where PLAINTIFF--even before getting on the flight to DULLES--knows there is now a substantial chance PLAINTIFF might not going to make his connection in DULLES/Washington D.C and expresses such in communications that day to either PLAINTIFF’S aunt or PLAINTIFF’S mother or someone else to give a present sense impression in either text message or Facebook messages, which DEFENDANTS know and have. DEFENDANTS completely intended on delaying United Airlines aircraft N794UA (if it was 10/31/2010) in order to increase the substantial chance and probability that PLAINTIFF would not make his connecting flight, but still have an “alternate” explanation as to why PLAINTIFF did not make his connecting flight. PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS, knowing of PLAINTIFF’S prior circumstances and DEFENDANTS prior RICO Predicate acts undertaken in furtherance of the scheme, deliberately ensured or was that reasonably calculated that UNITED AIRLINES Flight 925 on 03/11/2011 would be PLAINTIFF’S only way to leave LONDON to get back to CHICAGO in which DEFENDANTS had established a prior plan to delay UNITED AIRLINES Flight 925 on 03/11/2011, or DEFENDANTS hacked UNITED’S booking system and showed that to be the only flight open was United Airlines Flight 925 or purchased all the remaining seats on other United Airlines Flights that could have plausibly got PLAINTIFF to Chicago, or some other method to ensure this was the flight for PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF absolutely did not want to spend the night in DC because PLAINTIFF had no business there, had no friends there, had no money, had absolutely no will or desire to be in DC outside of the reason of simply connecting on to Chicago, etc. PLAINTIFF alleges DEFENDANTS intentionally made the flight late that day to get in-personam jurisdiction over PLAINTIFF in WASHINGTON D.C, further their RICO Enterprise, and commit air piracy and international/domestic terrorism for political motivations (as will be explained and proven) and for retaliation purposes and an agenda via air piracy.

Do you want to know where this gets sinister as well? PLAINTIFF affirmatively established he was known amongst the highest levels of FBI, and if he was known at the highest levels of the FBI, he was known at the highest levels of DHS and CIA. If he was known in the highest levels of CIA, he was known in highest levels of MI5 and MI6, GCHQ, etc. Now PLAINTIFF is in the UK and he “called” his “Aunt.” What if, PLAINTIFF is alleging, American Intel and British Intel were using computer software to hack into PLAINTIFF’S cell phone and made PLAINTIFF believe he was talking to his aunt using a voice modulator. This is plausible as NSA had PRISM and could hack into Alphabet’s servers; what is one special ed student’s cell phone in comparison to 5 different intelligence agencies? Having done this, American Intel and British Intel posed as PLAINTIFF’S aunt and told PLAINTIFF the only flight that was available was the DC flight knowing PLAINTIFF didn’t have the money to purchase a one-way ticket with any airline, let alone on United Airlines. This was done over phone in which there is not a written record (to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection).

49 U.S. Code § 46502 defines aircraft piracy as: (a) “seizing or exercising control of an aircraft in the special aircraft jurisdiction of the United States by force, violence, threat of force or violence, or any form of intimidation, and with wrongful intent” and (B) “an attempt to commit aircraft piracy is in the special aircraft jurisdiction of the United States although the aircraft is not in flight at the time of the attempt if the aircraft would have been in the special aircraft jurisdiction of the United States had the aircraft piracy been completed.” PLAINTIFF is arguing that United Airlines Flight #925 being parked at London-Heathrow was within the special aircraft jurisdiction of the United States. You know what law prohibits intimidation against a witness against certain United States officials racketeering? RICO. So American Intel, British Intel, Indian Intel seized and exercised control over an aircraft for the purpose of intimidating PLAINTIFF and had the intent of furthering RICO Enterprise 1 in which they violated 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 18 U.S.C. §241; 18 U.S.C. §226, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d)

So, UNITED AIRLINES Flight 925 departs London-Heathrow at XX on 03/11/2011 according to the FOIA request PLAINTIFF attached below. PLAINTIFF obtained the following data through that FOIA request. Out of the more than 100 flights (117 to be exact) of UNITED AIRLINES Flight #925 from 09/01/2010 through 12/31/2010, UNITED AIRLINES FLIGHT 925 on 10/31/2010 is the ONLY United Airlines flight from LONDON to DULLES that departed in the 9 pm hour slot from LONDON-HEATHROW, which was less than 1% of the total flights in a 4 month period. The 2 other flights United Airlines flights from London-Heathrow to DULLES departed LONDON-HEATHROW after 10pm. All of the remaining 114 United Airlines Flight #925 from LONDON-HEATHROW to DULLES between 09/01/2010 through 12/31/2010 departed in the 6pm, 7pm, or 8pm hour slot from LONDON-HEATHROW; the vast majority of which were in the 7pm time slot at 84.6% of flights.²²⁴ PLAINTIFF is alleging just in

9 out of 117 flights departs in the 6pm timeslot (7.7%).
6 out of 117 flights departs in the 8pm time slot. (5.1%).
1 flight out of 117 departs in the 9pm time slot. (<1%).

case of the 10/31/2010 that some of the factual circumstances involving the timing of the plane and record keeping issues makes it enough of a plausible alternative date. PLAINTIFF is alleging aircraft N794UA on 10/31/2010 or XX on 03/10/2011 at LONDON-HEATHROW was tampered with by DEFENDANTS at LONDON-HEATHROW or DEFENDANTS within 5 EYES, management in London Heathrow Airport, and BRITISH INTELLIGENCE, and other DEFENDANTS made it deliberately late on 03/11/2011 or 10/31/2010 by DEFENDANTS in order to commit domestic and international terrorism and furthering their RICO Enterprise; DEFENDANTS conspired to intentionally make United Airlines Flight #925 late and have it depart at the 9pm hour slot on 03/11/2011 or 10/31/2010; then after landing in DULLES, DEFENDANTS had conspired with DULLES airport management authority and/or air traffic control to slow the plane's progress to DULLES, to the gate, and had parked the plane as far away as possible from the Dulles-Chicago Flight PLAINTIFF was supposed to connect on in furtherance of their RICO Enterprise, and other unknown means and methods. So PLAINTIFF is alleging based on those facts that DEFENDANTS conspired to commit domestic and international terrorism via air piracy in furtherance of their scheme.

Dandenis Muñoz Mosquera was prosecuted for blowing up Avianca Airlines Flight #203. Specifically, Dandeny Munoz-Mosquera the Court convicted Dandeny Munoz-Mosquera of “participating and conspiring to participate in a racketeering enterprise in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c) and (d); engaging in a continuing criminal enterprise in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 848(a); various offenses relating to the bombing of a civilian airliner in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 32(b)(2), 32(b)(3), and 371; and the extraterritorial murder of two citizens of the United States in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 2332(a)(1) and 2332(b)(2).” The important and relevant issue is that Dandenis Muñoz Mosquera never directly tampered with the airplane at issue; he ordered it to be tampered with to kill suspected informants as the ultimate form of witness intimidation. This applies here. DEFENDANTS ordered the plane to be tampered with—in part—because PLAINTIFF was necessarily a witness to government corruption in which they could do “trade is in the offing.” So just under this precedent, Hillary Clinton, Barack Obama, Leon Panetta, Andrew McCabe, XX can be held as part of a conspiracy to tamper with United Airlines Flight #925 on 10/31/2010, 03/10/2011, or 03/11/2011

The flight from LONDON to DULLES goes smoothly and lands in DULLES. PLAINTIFF does not fall asleep in the flight from London to Dulles that night. PLAINTIFF has been up for a minimum of 36 hours. In the alternative and in case PLAINTIFF erred, even if PLAINTIFF had fallen asleep at anytime during this saga, it would have amounted to less than 2 hours of sleep. PLAINTIFF is tired. PLAINTIFF requested DULLES records concerning and documenting PLAINTIFF'S time in Dulles on that day. PLAINTIFF has a very short amount of time to go from one side of DULLES to the other side of DULLES for his connecting flight. PLAINTIFF “didn't” make it on time to his connecting flight to Chicago. PLAINTIFF was “two minutes” “short” of making it according to the United Airlines “representative.” When PLAINTIFF arrives at the gate, PLAINTIFF still sees the airbridge connected the plane that is still parked at the gate and the United Airlines representatives won't open the door. PLAINTIFF begs them to let him on the plane, says please a few times, and begs them to open the door to the airbridge and plane. They do not. Through the entirety of this encounter and to the best of PLAINTIFF'S recollection, the plane remains attached to the airbridge at the gate and

2 flights out of 117 departs in the 10pm timeslot. (1.7%).

PLAINTIFF leaves when the plane leaves the gate. PLAINTIFF then becomes extremely irate and starts yelling in frustration (not directly at United Airlines “representatives”) and starts kicking benches nearby. If there has ever been a clearer intent of kidnapping or false imprisonment in which PLAINTIFF did not want to stay or be in Washington DC for the night and had solely intended on just passing through DULLES that night that PLAINTIFF through his conduct conveyed, that was it. PLAINTIFF’S consent, in light of the extremely narrow connecting time period that DEFENDANTS had concocted, was only limited to deboarding UNITED AIRLINES Flight 925 and making it on time to the gate of the United Airlines flight to CHICAGO (which PLAINTIFF did) and go into the plane and sit in his seat on the plane that was going to CHICAGO on the night of 03/11/2011 and leave DULLES/DC—no more, no less.

Here is another facet of the case. DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF was on UNITED AIRLINES Flight 925 on 03/10/2011 or 10/31/2010 when it landed in WASHINGTON DC/DULLES. Is PLAINTIFF to believe that DEFENDANTS lacked the ability, capability, or capacity to contact actual United Airlines staff and inform them that PLAINTIFF was on the flight and to hold the plane for less than 5 minutes so that PLAINTIFF could make it to Chicago (that PLAINTIFF was supposed to connect on) and not commit an act of air piracy (and domestic and international terrorism) in which DEFENDANTS intentionally tampered with and delayed the plane in LONDON for a minimum of 2+ hours seeing how the plane was still at the gate and connected to the air bridge when PLAINTIFF arrived at the gate and left the gate? It is quite possible the “United Airlines Representatives” at the gates were not United Airlines employees but were DEFENDANTS in American Intelligence that knew the plan and aided and abetted the plan. All DEFENDANTS had to do to stop acts of domestic and international terrorism to stop the RICO Enterprise was make one call to the “United Airlines staff” at the gate and have them open two doors (one to the air bridge and one on the plane if it was closed) or contact the pilots of the flight telling the pilots to do so in which they would open two doors for PLAINTIFF. That is all it took to stop an act of domestic and international terrorism by DEFENDANTS in which one of them or one of their employees who had the knowledge could have stopped the Enterprise from furthering their plots—one call/communication and opening two doors. That’s it--One call, opening two doors. DEFENDANTS did not do this. Were there communication issues in the cockpit of United Airlines flight to CHICAGO that PLAINTIFF was supposed to connect to on that night on 03/10/2011? Absolutely not. The plane would not have been allowed to leave the gate without ATC approval. DEFENDANTS could have stopped and prevented their act of international and domestic terrorism, but DEFENDANTS did not. Since this happened under DHS’ jurisdiction, they are liable for this; this will be talked about later.

Here is the proper scenario and legal basis that further supplements the issue. Suppose a FBI Agent, DHS Officer (this is especially applicable to DHS as airports are their jurisdiction), CIA officer, etc. and PLAINTIFF were on a thoroughfare. FBI AGENT/DHS Officer/CIA Officer is standing in front of PLAINTIFF’S escape route. If PLAINTIFF asks the FBI agent, DHS Officer, or CIA officer: “am I free to leave?” (i.e. can you open two doors for me) seeing the means of escape and freedom behind the FBI Agent/DHS Officer/CIA officer just waiting there and the FBI Agent/DHS Officer/CIA officer says “no, PLAINTIFF is not free to leave.” At that exact moment, for all intents and purposes, not only has PLAINTIFF been seized, PLAINTIFF has been kidnapped based on at least one of the following definitions of kidnapping:

- Louisiana Revised Statutes §45 defines kidnapping as “The intentional and forcible seizing and carrying of any person from one place to another without his consent;” or §46: False Imprisonment “is the intentional confinement or detention of another, without his consent and without proper legal authority.” If you falsely imprison someone, you kidnap someone. PLAINTIFF was falsely imprisoned in DC. There are no proper legal authorities on committing acts of terrorism.
- Illinois defines Kidnapping under 720 ILCS 5/10-1) (from Ch. 38, par. 10-1) when “a) a person “commits the offense of kidnapping when he or she knowingly: (1) and secretly confines another against his or her will; (2) by force or threat of imminent force carries another from one place to another with intent secretly to confine that other person against his or her will; OR (3) by deceit or enticement induces another to go from one place to another with intent secretly to confine that other person against his or her will.” Defendants’ actions satisfy this definition.

PLAINTIFF pleads and argues the following: for the terrorism accusations against DEFENDANTS, when PLAINTIFF started to kick and scream (LOUDLY) when he was unconstitutionally seized in preventing PLAINTIFF from being able to continue to Chicago at DULLES, kicking and screaming loudly when one is intentionally prevented from going somewhere is the clearest manifestation that PLAINTIFF could have ever exhibited at the time that he had in fact been legally kidnapped (in which it was done for political purposes). Simply and in the alternative, DEFENDANTS illegally seized and kidnapped PLAINTIFF without probable cause, jurisdiction and valid consent at DULLES Airport after tampering with the plane in London-Heathrow, and PLAINTIFF was not free to go about his business. By obtaining the jurisdiction in DEFENDANTS’ (FBI, CIA, DHS, White House, etc.) hometown of WASHINGTON DC in which they could effectively question PLAINTIFF by forcing him to DC and utilize procedures to surveil PLAINTIFF since DEFENDANTS acting in full accordance of Soviet style KGB tactics and Lavrentiy Beria principles: they have officially found the man in DC and now it was time to find any crime to coverup and perpetuate RICO Enterprise 1.

If the United Airlines representative was a DHS officer, which PLAINTIFF is alleging, the following applies: "taking into account all of the circumstances surrounding the encounter, the police conduct would 'have communicated to a reasonable person that he was not at liberty to ignore the police presence and go about his business.'" Florida v. Bostick, 501 U. S. 429. More importantly, DEFENDANTS have an actual video recording of the incident demonstrating PLAINTIFF’S genuine reaction in being forced to stay in WASHINGTON DC against his will and wishes by kicking and screaming loudly that constituted an act of kidnapping as it was without proper legal and constitutional justification and done for political purposes as well as financial purposes; and therefore, DEFENDANTS committed air piracy; and therefore, DEFENDANTS committed domestic and international terrorism. PLAINTIFF yet again requested via FOIA on 08/24/2023. PLAINTIFF has requested via the FAA and DULLES AIRPORT the following information in a previous request: all United Airlines flights departing from London-Heathrow from 01/01/2011 through 05/31/2011 and the scheduled depart time, actual depart time, scheduled arrival time, actual arrival time, registration and type of BOEING aircraft that flew the routes (07/31/2010).

Back to the story, PLAINTIFF doesn't have money to go to a hotel on 03/11/2011 because all of the money from the house burning down was under the control of PLAINTIFF'S parents and was not PLAINTIFF'S money to spend; PLAINTIFF was not unemployed at the time (canale internship had paid PLAINTIFF long before this incident and would therefore have no money from that payment). To the best of PLAINTIFF's recollection, he was going to use a credit card in INDIA (whether that was his mother's or PLAINTIFF'S, PLAINTIFF cannot recall) PLAINTIFF calls/texts his mother since he doesn't have money on him and PLAINTIFF must use his mother's credit card to the best of his recollection. PLAINTIFF doesn't have family or friends in D.C at that time to come pick him up and spend the night by them.

As Tracy Lawrence so elegantly sang in his song Find Out Who Your Friends Are:

You'll find out who your friends are
Somebody's gonna drop everything
Run out and crank up their car
Hit the gas, get there fast
Never stop to think "What's in it for me?"
Or "It's way too far"
They just show on up
With their big old heart
You'll find out who your friends are.

Now any one of the DEFENDANTS could have run out and cranked up their car, hit the gas, got their fast, picked up PLAINTIFF as PLAINTIFF was literally in town and nearby after having an act of international and domestic terrorism committed against PLAINTIFF right then and there, asked for forgiveness, not once think what's in it for DEFENDANTS, and do the right thing, where they'd just show up with their big old heart and PLAINTIFF could have found out who his friends are, and let PLAINTIFF spend the night at their home knowing full God Damn well PLAINTIFF didn't pose any legitimate threat to them (that DEFENDANTS themselves didn't manufacture or fabricate). But PLAINTIFF had no friends amongst DEFENDANTS in DC in 2010 or anytime afterwards. PLAINTIFF doesn't forget.

The question becomes, would have Michelle and Barack Obama have opened up their doors to visitors when they were in Washington D.C.? WHY DOESN'T PLAINTIFF LET BARACK OBAMA SPEAK FOR HIMSELF in SEPTEMBER 2010:

Barack Obama and Michelle Obama would "throw[] open the doors of our White House to young people from all different backgrounds, letting them know that we believe in their promise, letting them know that the White House is the people's house, and letting young people know that they're not that far away from all the power and prestige and decisions that are made, that, in fact, this is something they can aspire to, they can be a part of, because we are a government of and by and for the people."²²⁵

PLAINTIFF is a simple man and it was the simple things that could have put a stop to the RICO Enterprise; and because DEFENDANTS didn't show up with their big old heart when PLAINTIFF needed them to in DC on March 11th, 2011 where the WHITE HOUSE could have opened their doors to PLAINTIFF after just making $14.9 billion in total value with $9.5 billion in U.S. export content"²²⁶ on PLAINTIFF and let him spend the night there that night after what they did to PLAINTIFF or DEFENDANTS could have made one call and open two doors. DEFENDANTS did not do this. They knew what they did and watched it happen and they did nothing in which broke PLAINTIFF had to spend money via his mom's credit card. It is just greed and malice for PLAINTIFF. So back to 03/11/2011, PLAINTIFF leaves DULLES and spends the night in WASHINGTON DC having called and used a taxi to leave and return to the airport and spending money for a hotel room and taxi fare. That's at a minimum some

The quintessential case on freedom of movement is: United States v. Guest, 383 U.S. 745 (1966). The Court ruled that: "The constitutional right to travel from one State to another, and necessarily to use the highways and other instrumentalities of interstate commerce in doing so (i.e. airplanes and airports), occupies a position fundamental to the concept of our Federal Union. It is a right that has been firmly established and repeatedly recognized. In Crandall v. Nevada, 6 Wall. 35, invalidating a Nevada tax on every person leaving the State by common carrier, the Court took as its guide the statement of Chief Justice Taney in the Passenger Cases, 7 How. 283, 48 U. S. 492: "For all the great purposes for which the Federal government was formed, we are one people, with one common country. We are all citizens of the United States; and, as members of the same community, must have the right to pass and repass through every part of it without interruption, as freely as in our own States." See 6 Wall. at 73 U. S. 48-49. Although the Articles of Confederation provided that "the people of each State shall have free ingress and regress to and from any other State," that right finds no explicit mention in the Constitution. The reason, it has been suggested, is that a right so elementary was conceived from the beginning to be a necessary concomitant of the stronger Union the Constitution created. In any event, freedom to travel throughout the United States has long been recognized as a basic right under the Constitution. [omitted]. In Edwards v. California, 314 U. S. 160, invalidating a California law which impeded the free interstate passage of the indigent, the Court based its reaffirmation of the federal right of interstate travel upon the Commerce Clause. This ground of decision was consistent with precedents firmly establishing that the federal commerce power surely encompasses the movement in interstate commerce of persons as well as commodities. [omitted]. It is also well settled in our decisions that the federal commerce power authorizes Congress to legislate for the protection of individuals from violations of civil rights that impinge on their free movement in interstate commerce. [omitted]."

In furtherance of RICO ENTERPRISE 1, JEH JOHNSON, XX DEFENDANTS violated 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 18 U.S.C. §241; 18 U.S.C. §226, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud),

18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d) 18 U.S.C. §201 (bribery); 18 U.S.C. 373, 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer); 18 U.S. Code § 875 (fraud); 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion)

It wasn't a extradition because PLAINTIFF had not been charged with a crime at the time. So if American DEFENDANTS argue it was an extradition, then: Brown v. Nutsch, 619 F.2d 758 (8th Cir. 1980) (Holding 42 U.S.C. 1983 provides a remedy for improper extradition in violation of the extradition clause and statute).

PLAINTIFF, you're going to allege a conspiracy beyond a clear and convincing standard, aren't you? CORRECT

What PLAINTIFF is doing in this section is the following and DOJ should not have any reasonable basis to object to what PLAINTIFF is doing. In the Mafia Commission Trials in the 1980s in New York, DOJ prosecuted Italian Mobsters. The phrase of “forget about it” (i.e. fuggedaboutit) was a very context specific word in which its meaning could drastically change based on the context the word was used in. There is not a single FBI or DOJ officer or attorney that will tell you otherwise. For all intents and purposes, RICO Enterprise 1 had their own Mafioso language and PLAINTIFF is doing just what DOJ did before him and is showing the court how the Mafioso language operated in RICO Enterprise 1.

Like the mob, the first thing you have to know about a Top-Level US Federal Government Conspiracy is the following. DEFENDANTS are smart and don't want to get caught. They routinely engage in obfuscation of the truth, but still need to convey the message somehow to co-conspirators and DEFENDANTS who aided and abetted the actions and were accessories after the fact. RICO Enterprise 1's Mafioso language is what PLAINTIFF calls as DC double-speak. It is vague on purpose and contingent on associational facts in which two meanings can be derived from the message specifically because DEFENDANTS have insider knowledge of the associational and duplicative facts, and therefore DEFENDANTS have plausible deniability in Court. Not anymore. So, DEFENDANTS are not going to outright speak about someone as DEFENDANTS need some plausible deniability for their actions so DEFENDANTS don't get arrested or caught for the stupidly corrupt and psychotic things DEFENDANTS do in violation of the law and against PLAINTIFF'S Constitutional rights.

As a primer on how they committed the conspiracy is the following. DEFENDANTS cannot outright say PLAINTIFF's name for that is the key identifying feature needed to identify PLAINTIFF. What they do have at their disposal is the use of the media (which CIA effectively controls in America via Operation Mockingbird) and DEFENDANTS use similarly situated factual stories in regards to PLAINTIFF. The similar facts of one story applies in a different story to an individual/PLAINTIFF and that's how they communicate about PLAINTIFF. Sure, there are somethings and some facts here and there may not line up perfectly from time to time in those stories (DEFENDANTS don't need it to); however, the vast majority of the important facts are still the same and are still applicable. Put in another way, DEFENDANTS' system of talking about PLAINTIFF in their communications, or someone similarly situated as PLAINTIFF, requires them to use stories that have the same underlying factual pattern, factual issues, or facts behind it to reference someone else completely while maintaining plausible deniability if confronted about it. Then DEFENDANTS have an added layer of protection via social isolation and social derision in which they would falsely and maliciously accuse PLAINTIFF or someone of being psychologically delusional, ill, narcissistic, etc. when PLAINTIFF or someone figures out it is about him and makes it out to be about him (when it is in fact about him) and DEFENDANTS will do things to ensure that DEFENDANTS will label PLAINTIFF as crazy to discredit PLAINTIFF. DEFENDANTS already destroyed PLAINTIFF socially between 2008-2011 so it is easy to do things against people DEFENDANTS caused the individual to be hated in his community. It is PLAINTIFF'S intent on showing you the inescapable factual conclusions derived from circumstantial evidence on how this works. It is not PLAINTIFF cherry-picking information; it is because PLAINTIFF went through this garbage and remembers the past vividly to show you what it is all about. It is either that or PLAINTIFF that is crazy and is psychologically ill and is in that much of a desperate need of KETAMINE as his PTSD has become too severe and is looking for threats that no longer exist in which DEFENDANTS through their RICO Enterprise made PLAINTIFF that way. Either way, PLAINTIFF needs his Ketamine treatment.

PLAINTIFF is alleging that at an absolute latest, INR/STATE knew PLAINTIFF personally after Financial Terrorism in November 2009 because Germany and German INTEL shared with INR/STATE all the whereabouts of PLAINTIFF concerning his trip in Financial Terrorism. PLAINTIFF was on their radar regardless.

United States v. Cook, 793 F.2d 734 (5th Cir. 1986) ("[b]oth the fact of conspiracy and a defendant's participation in it may be proved by circumstantial evidence." 793 F.2d at 736). "As was the case in United States v. Postal, 589 F.2d 862 (5th Cir.) ... "the mere fact that [defendant] made the statement is relevant to the issues of [his] knowledge of the conspiracy and his participation in it."...As Professor McCormick explains: "Proof that one talks about a matter demonstrates on its face that he was conscious or aware of it, and his veracity simply does not enter into the situation." [omitted]. "U.S. v. Jones, 839 F.2d 1041 (5th Cir. 1988). "If the government's conduct in the investigation through a sting operation is so active that its conduct fabricated elements of the offense, it might be considered a violation of due process to prosecute the defendant." U.S. v. Steinhorn, 739 F. Supp. 268, 271 (D. Md. 1990).

New York Times published an article around January 2011²²⁷ documenting the Cablegate leaks that occurred in Fall 2010. The article was talking about the State Department and Boeing and how they fundamentally interact with certain business and world leaders: "The cables describe letters from presidents, state visits as bargaining chips and a number of leaders making big purchases based, at least in part, on how much the companies will dress up private planes. The documents also suggest that demands for bribes, or at least payment to suspicious intermediaries who offer to serve as "agents," still take place."²²⁸ So there are documents when PLAINTIFF has full discovery that would document that demands for bribes has taken place between Boeing, Qatar, the United States, especially India, and the United Kingdom. Whether it is directly or not, PLAINTIFF at least has given enough evidence to prove that a conspiracy existed, and when there is smoke, there is fire.

The article continued: “Boeing says it is committed to avoiding any such corrupt practices. State Department and Boeing officials, in interviews last month, acknowledged the important role the United States government plays in helping them sell commercial airplanes, despite a trade agreement signed by the United States and European leaders three decades ago intended to remove international politics from the process.”²²⁹ Whether or not Boeing says it is committed to avoiding such corrupt practices doesn’t mean that it did not in fact occur in 2010 and 2011.

Some of the feature quotes for Miki’s Tea Party are: “The United States economy, said Robert D. Hormats, undersecretary for economic affairs at the State Department, increasingly relies upon exports to the fast-growing developing world nations like China and India, as well as those in Latin America and the Middle East... Boeing earns about 70 percent of its commercial plane sales from foreign buyers, and is the single biggest exporter of manufactured goods in the United States. Every $1 billion in sales and some of these deals carry a price tag of as high as $10 billion translates into an estimated 11,000 American jobs, according to the State Department... “That is the reality of the 21st century; governments are playing a greater role in supporting their companies, and we need to do the same thing,”²³⁰ Mr. Hormats, a former top executive at Goldman Sachs, said in an interview... One example of the horse-trading involved Saudi Arabia, which in November announced a deal with Boeing to buy 12 777-300ER airliners, with options for 10 more, a transaction worth more than $3.3 billion at list prices.” Based on how the United States Government treated PLAINTIFF in The Roof Is On Fire, there was a complete financial motive by the United States Government in which Boeing and the American DEFENDANTS would base their sales in India and Qatar; a necessary derivative fact of such means that if American DEFENDANTS placed a condition on the sale of aircraft to India and/or Qatar, BOEING and American DEFENDANTS necessarily cooperated with one another to lower the price or provide any meaningful incentives for Indian and Qatari customers to do the one condition. This is demonstrated to be true because governments, whether it is the British, Qatari, Indian, and American Government, played a role and interacted with Boeing in which the American DEFENDANTS supported Boeing. That is how the kickback scheme worked in this case. PLAINTIFF is noting how much 12 Boeing 777-300ER airliners (with options for 10 more) cost: more than $3,300,000,000 at list price.

PLAINTIFF, to the best of his recollection, believes he purchased a set of airplane tickets via Qatar Airways prior to 09/22/2010 or, to DEFENDANTS, it was readily obvious that PLAINTIFF wanted to go to INDIA and/or LONDON during both Fall 2010 and January, February, and March 2011 in messages they obtained under TITLE II or the USA PATRIOT ACT in order for PLAINTIFF to go to India in which PLAINTIFF talked to people like LAUREN DELLER and SURESH MAURYA about going abroad in Facebook. There was either a phone call or a meeting between former British Prime Minister TONY BLAIR, HUMA ABEDIN, and HILLARY CLINTON on 09/22/2010²³¹ (before the key important date of 09/27/2010) in which TONY BLAIR would have been made aware of DEFENDANTS plot undertaken against PLAINTIFF. TONY BLAIR, as the former Prime Minister of United Kingdom, would still have his security contacts, connections, and knowledge of DEFENDANTS British Intel organizations after he left office as well as contacts he made that involved India and Qatari interests. So American DEFENDANTS used a “friend” in the BRITISH GOVERNMENT that has had prior relationships to ensure DEFENDANTS plan comes to fruition to commit an act against PLAINTIFF in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1.

PLAINTIFF took a screenshot of email ID: 21428 on August 30th, 2023. What kind of matters, but the content is still the same nonetheless, but if the formatting of the email in WikiLeaks was the exact same as the one HILLARY CLINTON sent in Email ID: 21428 that was written on 09/27/2010 at 04:02pm, and is displayed correctly below, the formatting gives further support to the allegations PLAINTIFF made regarding the content of the email.

Email Id: 21428 also stipulated: “Global Issues Forum with India featured interest in cooperation on democracy/governance, disaster management, and women in science. UNGA breakfast on water issues was successful” and also, the exact formatting of the following:

“India

Legal”

Now there is going to be a great debate this, PLAINTIFF understands. What PLAINTIFF is alleging is that based on the totality of the circumstances, is that DEFENDANTS were talking about Miki’s Tea Party and the legality of it (which is ironic and a devastating blow to them as you will see) and what would transpire between India, United Kingdom, and United States. So the key issue and part is the following part that is formatted as it appeared on screen:

“Indians continue to make progress in quieting recent Kashmir unrest, but need to do more. Indian Embassy

luncheon in honor of Defense Minister Antony this week will include reps from Boeing and Lockheed Martin — a rare development that could signal better U.S.-India defense trade is in the offing.”²³²

Obviously, Kashmir is an issue and PLAINTIFF is not denying that; but what PLAINTIFF is getting at is that HILLARY CLINTON expressed her complete desire and intent that Indians need to do more on behalf of America. Implicit in having multiple meanings construed, a “rare development” in sum also conveyed the meaning of a rare opportunity; and with there being a rare opportunity (against PLAINTIFF), DEFENDANTS necessarily understood DEFENDANTS and HILLARY CLINTON had to take advantage of the rare opportunity against PLAINTIFF. One would take actions when there is a need and when there are “rare” developments (i.e. rare developments are rare opportunities) and India and America would do just that. Furthermore, the specific use of the word “development” is a direction and intention that the rare opportunity be directed at the development(al) delays man (i.e. PLAINTIFF) seeing how American DEFENDANTS already referred to PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disabilities in Midyear before and would keep attacking PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability. The luncheon is had, and conspiracies are solidified and sales are made.

But PLAINTIFF, you are thinking, there are no definite times. That is immaterial because there are reasonable inferences that can be made at the time and especially if you already know the plan and have inside knowledge of the plan. The United Airlines flight from Chicago to London typically arrives in the morning in London-Heathrow, probably sometime between 9:30am-11am. If anyone who arrived at London-Heathrow between 9:30am-11am had to go to the Indian Embassy in London, they would arrive at the Indian Embassy just prior or during lunchtime. More importantly, DEFENDANTS knew there was always going to be a line outside the Indian Embassy in London which meant that even if someone got there before lunch, they would by the sheer fact of waiting probably step into the embassy around lunchtime. So after PLAINTIFF landed in the morning in London-Heathrow and after the direction by the Qatar Airways “representative,” PLAINTIFF would have necessarily gone to the Indian Embassy around lunchtime (which PLAINTIFF did in fact go to the Indian Embassy around lunchtime to the best of PLAINTIFF’S recollection) and waited in line outside the Indian Embassy. Why would PLAINTIFF not try to do something in order to continue on his journey after literally crossing over an entire ocean? Makes no sense, therefore, DEFENDANTS knew the most probable probability that PLAINTIFF was going to do what they had suggested (at their creation in violation of United States v. Gardner, 658 F. Supp. 1573 (W.D. Pa. 1987) in order for PLAINTIFF to continue on his way to INDIA.

So the luncheon hour had representatives of BOEING in it; PLAINTIFF’S plane on the way from London-Heathrow to Washington D.C. DULLES was a BOEING 777 and, in 2010, UNITED AIRLINES only operated and utilized BOEING aircraft to and from LONDON-HEATHROW. As PLAINTIFF alleges with DEFENDANTS, if you have the technical know-how via BOEING and the United States Government is so intertwined with Boeing, you could cause a Boeing aircraft to be tampered with in order to make sure a certain Boeing 777 plane departs late from London-Heathrow around an exact time in which Boeing shared with American DEFENDANTS ways to delay a Boeing 777 by tampering with the Boeing 777. In the alternative, American DEFENDANTS already possessed the knowledge on how to do so and BOEING didn't share the information on how to tamper with the plane at that time or allowed American DEFENDANTS to utilize Boeing systems to delay the plane, but Boeing was still a necessary and integral part of the conspiracy. Furthermore, there was some unknown scheme to delay the BOEING 777 that DEFENDANTS had concocted.

DEFENDANTS may allege that with no definite times, there was no conspiracy and therefore no RICO violation. Along the lines, that it is material as to having a definite time as to when the corruption or kickback scheme starts, and PLAINTIFF says yet again, that is immaterial. It is the fact that a plan was in place on 09/24/2010. You can still have and make a plan from before in which you utilize the plan when there is reason to know that the subject of the plan is going to be at a certain place around a certain time. So as soon as DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF was going to London, the plan started. Concerning the timing on when the "better trade" started, it started from at least the actual luncheon or as PLAINTIFF is arguing and alleging, the exact moment the plans are made or affirmed on 09/24/2010 in which better trade will be done in the future in which India wants to cooperate on "governance" issues. By necessarily giving the approval to "the offing," the better trade starts at the exact time the "offing" plan is made because it is about prospective trade in which there are no limits as to when and how much are at issue. Typically, when you do trade with someone and have a good relationship with them, you tend to want to do even more trade with that same person in the future--this is just basic human behavioral economic psychology; this is even more likely when the parties engaged in illegal behavior and have a reason to keep working together and have an incentive to keep quiet about what was done. Technically, there are no limits as to the termination period after the approval "the offing" plan is made because it is completely conditional in nature and if there is more trade (i.e. better trade) that occurs in the time period the plan is approved and after words, the conditionality of the time period applies and there is not a definite end because better trade will continue on to the future after the "offing." Assuming arguendo (as that is what PLAINTIFF expects DEFENDANTS to do) that the termination period ends when PLAINTIFF completes his tasks in "the offing" and started when the email was sent on 09/24/2010, DEFENDANTS never stopped engaging in better trade afterwards amongst each other which means they necessarily understood that the condition of "the offing" was necessarily just a part of an ongoing better trade in the future in which those countries and America derived benefits from (which makes it an ill-gotten gain). You could say it was a condition undertaken to ensure better trade in the future would occur in the future and the price on that can be seen in arms sales and planes sales between September 2010 and the entirety of 2011 and America providing more resources to DEFENDANTS. Furthermore, even if it can be alleged that the conditionality of "better trade in the future" is too indeterminable, that is immaterial because PLAINTIFF alleges that DEFENDANTS necessarily understood that phrase to mean that DEFENDANTS would get better trade in the future so long as they did the specific event involving PLAINTIFF. The fact that better trade did in fact happen between USA and India, USA and Britain, Britain and Qatar, and USA and Qatar afterwards shows they inherently understood that there would be benefits provided to them on doing the specific event as part of the RICO Enterprise.

The most important fact of the email is the following for RICO Enterprise 1. There would be financial monetary gain given to the INDIANS in doing whatever condition HILLARY CLINTON stipulated because there would be increased (defense) trade (which means more money to the INDIANS) (this affects foreign, interstate, and intrastate commerce) in which the Indians needed to do more. In case HUMA ABEDIN wrote it, HUMA ABEDIN earned her Bachelor of Arts from Georgetown University. Georgetown University is ranked #62 in best universities in America and would know basic grammar in order to graduate from Georgetown University; and having worked in the CLINTON White House in which she would have to know some aspects of the law, HUMA ABEDIN inherently understood what a condition was at the time this email was sent and wouldn't add unnecessary things to a sentence that completely changes the meaning of a sentence unless it was intentional. The same applies to HILLARY CLINTON. HILLARY CLINTON graduated from Yale Law School in 1973. Yale is one of the best law schools in the country in which every single graduate of Yale knows a condition when they see a condition. HILLARY CLINTON knows what a condition is, knew what a condition was at the time the email was sent, knew the binding and stipulating nature of what happens when someone places a condition on a legal premise to do something, and HILLARY CLINTON wouldn't add unnecessary things to a sentence that completely changes the meaning of a sentence unless it was intentional by placing a condition in it. This is supported by HAROLD KOH who said on March 25th, 2010: "I have extraordinary clients and you just saw one, Secretary Hillary Clinton, who is a remarkably able lawyer. Of course, another client of mine, the President, is also an outstanding lawyer, as are both Deputy Secretaries, the Department's Counselor, the Deputy Chief of Staff, and a host of Under Secretaries and Assistant Secretaries."²³³ There is no conceivable or plausible way that HILLARY CLINTON or her army of lawyers can deny the knowledge or existence of a condition when it does in fact exist or occurs. This is even more so because HILLARY CLINTON initially formulated (as will be explained later) in her Congressional confirmation to be the Secretary of State in early 2009 or so that increasing trade with India was an Obama White House priority in regards to India (which is fine, PLAINTIFF has no problem with that and is not seeking to impede on US-Indian commerce); however, what changed from 2009 to 2010 was a convergence of factors in which the condition became an issue by 09/27/2010.

So in light of the previous paragraphs, here is the thing with the phrase "a rare development that could signal better U.S.-India defense trade is in the offing." Whether or not PLAINTIFF says "defense trade" or "trade," it is immaterial as DEFENDANTS themselves disregarded that factual argument because it was not only about defense trade, but it was in part about all trade. If the issues were genuinely about developing trade in that rare opportunity, then the last part of "is in the offing" is absolutely not a necessary condition or requisite part of such because the point of developing trade is made by simply stating that it is "a rare development that could signal better U.S.-India defense trade." without including "is in the offing." PLAINTIFF alleges all of the following: HILLARY CLINTON intentionally put the condition of "is the offing," HILLARY CLINTON was directed to put "is in the offing" by the White House, HILLARY CLINTON was directed to put "is in the offing" by either ROBERT MUELLER III (head of FBI at the time) or by Leon E. Panetta (head of CIA at the time) or Jeh Johnson

(counsel of DOD), or that there was significant pressure by Congress and/or DOJ to do so because PLAINTIFF was the only one they could utilize after their fraud because PLAINTIFF had particular specialized services to them. Either way, PLAINTIFF alleges,

HILLARY CLINTON put it in there or was directed to put “is in the offing” in there. There is a necessary legal condition made by HILLARY

CLINTON that is intentionally and deliberately created through the purposeful and willful inclusion of the phrase “is in the offing.” In Saudi Arabia v. Nelson, 507 U.S.

349 (1993), the Supreme Court held that the commercial activity exception requires that the “tortious conduct itself” must qualify as “commercial activity”; the commercial activity that forms the basis for jurisdiction must also serve as the predicate for the substantive cause of action. The tortious conduct is the condition of “in the offing;” as PLAINTIFF will discuss in a bit, it was a commercial activity because it required PLAINTIFF’S services or labor in which DEFENDANTS forced labor out of PLAINTIFF. This condition was in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 and made in her official capacity in which she lost the privilege of immunity. Furthermore, circumstantial evidence provided by CRS INDIA (Congressional Research Service) in October 2010 demonstrated the Obama White House and Hillary Clinton all had the imperative of developing all-encompassing trade with India the future See: CRS India below and Legal House Keeping above. However, even with that imperative, Hillary Clinton and State still decided to put the condition of “is in the offing” which shows Hillary Clinton and State intentionally, knowingly, and willfully placed a monetary value in “the offing.”

“Where there is a clause in a contract, and that clause is the agreement of the parties, the defense of a lack of knowledge of its existence is untenable.

Courts are not created to relieve men of their bad bargains made. Where a clause of a contract is clear and unambiguous, “the letter of it should not be disregarded, under the pretext of pursuing the spirit.” Lama v. Manale, 218 La. 511, (La. 1951)

In Louisiana, the Civil Code “does not presume an equality between the bargaining parties; rather, it requires disclosures by the [creator of the contract] that are intended to assure the person accepted to the terms of the contract are freely given as to a matter understood by him.” Louisiana Civil Code. Article 1819...Under the jurisprudence of Civil Code articles 2474 and 1958, virtually all of the unconscionability cases involving [creator of the contract]...or other [Hillary Clinton’s/State’s] obligations would be resolved favorably to the [PLAINTIFF] in Louisiana, by virtue of the [State Department/Hillary Clinton’s] use of obscure or ambiguous language or by her failure to clearly explain the extent of her own obligations or draw the consumer’s attention to language clearly making that explanation.”²³⁴ In Louisiana, when the Court would utilize Louisiana Civil Code Articles 1945 and 1950, Article 1950 requires the court to endeavor what is the common intention of the parties (as opposed to just adhering to the literal sense of the terms). Under article 1945, the courts are bound to give legal effect to a contract according to “the true intent” of the parties, determined by the words of the contract.

PLAINTIFF is just going to get this following argument out of here as it is a complete non-starter. That what HILLARY CLINTON meant by “offing” is that it refers very most distant part of the ocean on the horizon. So the sentence would read: “a rare development that could signal better U.S.-India defense trade is in the part of the sea visible from shore that is very distant or beyond anchoring ground.”²³⁵ Ummm, no. Just no. That in light of the context of airplanes, doesn’t make much sense to incorporate a reference to what sailors would see. There are far too many double meaning contexts that cannot be explained away like how “signal” meant “signal intelligence.” PLAINTIFF will prove that it was about signal intelligence and both President Barack Obama and Prime Minister Singh came to security agreements just before then and after “the offing” email that involved those things. PLAINTIFF will prove that it is not just about “defense trade.” That in light of everything alleged, for it to be construed as having that meaning is completely implausible. Next,

Unconscionability cases such as involving the enforceability of clauses limiting a creator of a contract’s liability for consequential damages are meaningless in Louisiana. Although lenders, lessors, and contractors of work, labor, and services are not "sellers," Louisiana Civil Code article 2474 provides an explanation in which work, labor, and services can be extended to caselaw involving suppliers by analogy in Louisiana jurisprudence. The creator of the contract must provide the necessary explanation for the other party involved in the contract. The one makes the form or contract is more knowledgeable and an explanation is necessary. “By article 2474, a seller "is bound to explain himself clearly respecting the extent of his obligations: any obscure or ambiguous clause is construed against him. Article 1958 requires, in reference to cases in which the intent of the parties is unclear or not clearly expressed (as to which article 1957 lays down the general rule that the agreement is interpreted against him who has contracted the obligation) that if the "doubt or obscurity arise for the want of necessary explanation which one of the parties ought to have given, or from any other negligence or fault of his, the construction most favorable to the other party shall be adopted, whether he be obligor or obligee."²³⁶ The manufacturer of a contract is presumed to know the defects of the contract which it creates and therefore is deemed to be in bad faith. J. H. Jenkins Contractor v. City of Denham Springs, 216 So. 2d 549, 554-55. (La. App. 1st Cir. 1979) that "the fact that an informed and experienced person does not usually and customarily bind himself to unjust and unreasonable obligations, is a serious factor that must be considered the very backbone of the doctrine of unconscionable contracts: "one such as no man in his senses and not under a delusion would make on the one hand, and as no honest and fair man would accept on the other." This very idea can be found in Civil Code article 1934(4): "If the creditor . . . , at the time of making [the contract] ...knew of any facts that must prevent or delay its performance, and concealed them from the debtor, he is not entitled to damages."

Illinois Compiled Statutes 735 ILCS 5/13-215 provides the following--Fraudulent concealment: If a person liable to an action fraudulently conceals the cause of such action from the knowledge of the person entitled thereto, the action may be commenced at any time within 5 years after the person entitled to bring the same discovers that he or she has such cause of action, and not afterwards. PLAINTIFF did not discover “the offing” until August 2023 when he was in Illinois. American Intel, British Intel, Indian Intel, Qatari Intel necessarily know that is the truth after having PLAINTIFF under surveillance since 2011. Not once did PLAINTIFF directly bring up “the offing” until August 2023.

PLAINTIFF will talk about a Congressional Research Service Report later about India (SEE: CRS INDIA below), but what is relevant to know from that “As part of her confirmation hearing to become Secretary of State, Clinton told Senators she would work to fulfill President Obama’s commitment to “establish a true strategic partnership with India, increase our military cooperation, trade, and support democracies around the world”²³⁷ It confirms that from January 2009, there was going to be increase in military cooperation and trade (and, hey, if they intersected, cool, that’s fine PLAINTIFF doesn’t have a problem with this type of interaction). HILLARY CLINTON knew what she had to do in January 2009 in regard to American-Indian trade (i.e. increase it), but yet, if trade was her only one of her true priorities, she would not have included the condition of “in the offing.” Someone, somewhere, for some reason justified to HILLARY CLINTON that “in the offing” should be included, should happen, and it became a part of American-Indian trade. It is the fact that “in the offing” was made a condition that involved PLAINTIFF and is the nexus. PLAINTIFF would not have been harmed economically had it just been the case where “in the offing” did not happen. But it impacted PLAINTIFF’S business, economic, and property interests when Hillary Clinton included “is in the offing.” PLAINTIFF was the go to guy on “in the offing.” That further shows the condition “in the offing” falls outside the scope of her duties of increasing trade between America and India. At no time did India, Indian Intel, Britain, Britain Intel, Qatar, Qatari Intel, White House, nor American DEFENDANTS really have to do “is in the offing” to get more trade. BUT THEY INTENTIONALLY CHOSE TO DO SO and they cannot free and absolve themselves of their decisions to do so.

PLAINTIFF is going to make a temporary detour in this complaint to explain a major contributing factor to this issue as to how it happened. Say hypothetically that HILLARY CLINTON lacked the capacity to legally understand what happens when one puts a condition in a sentence for legal purposes. Regardless of whether she knew it was a condition (which she did), the question becomes who was her legal advisor that also should have recognized or understood the importance of putting the condition of “in the offing”? As Hillary Clinton’s legal advisor in 2010 was in current good standing with the Bar association, the question becomes what would have been going on in the mind of Hillary Clinton’s legal advisor when he would have seen or advised Hillary Clinton to the condition of “the offing.” The same individual wrote two things as: “The Legal Adviser’s Duty to Explain,” 41 Yale J. Int’l Law 189 (2016) and “The Legal Adviser’s Duty to Explain,” The Role of Legal Advisers in International Law (Andraz Zidar & JeanPierre Gauci eds. 2016). Albeit it was 6 years in the future, PLAINTIFF would argue this was somewhat important and relevant to Hillary Clinton’s legal advisor: HAROLD HONGJU KOH.

So who is Harold Koh, what is important to him, and what was going on daily in his time at State? He is quite a prolific published writer so ascertaining what was important to him is quite easy and keeping it relevant to the issues at hand. Harold Koh said in March 2010 during a State Department speech: “that each day we tackle extraordinarily fascinating legal questions. When I was a professor, I would spend a lot of time trying to think up exam questions. For those of you who are professors, this job literally presents you with a new exam question every single day. For example, I had never really thought about the question: “can you attach a panda?”” PLAINTIFF loved pandas and he is talking about attaching a panda or attaching someone as a condition. American INTEL DEFENDANTS absolutely knew that PLAINTIFF loved pandas and that is quite a coincidence, but not enough to support it was about PLAINTIFF. KOH discussed how in regard to foreign policy, from administration to administration, there will always be more continuity than change; you simply cannot turn the ship of state 360 degrees from administration to administration every four to eight years, nor should you. But, I would argue—and these are the core of my remarks today-- to say that is to understate the most important difference between this administration and the last: and that is with respect to its approach and attitude toward international law.” So KOH acknowledges that if the administration got stuck in their RICO Enterprise 1 ways during BUSH 2008, that would continue to occur under OBAMA too.

In discussing what was important to him, he talked about the “Emerging “Obama-Clinton Doctrine,” which is based on four commitments: to: 1. Principled Engagement; 2. Diplomacy as a Critical Element of Smart Power; 3. Strategic Multilateralism; and 4. the notion that Living Our Values Makes us Stronger and Safer, by Following Rules of Domestic and International Law; and Following Universal Standards, Not Double Standards... Second, a commitment to what Secretary Clinton calls “smart power”—a blend of principle and pragmatism” that makes “intelligent use of all means at our disposal,” including promotion of democracy, development, technology, and human rights and international law to place diplomacy at the vanguard of our foreign policy...And fourth and finally, a commitment to living our values by respecting the rule of law, As I said, both the President and Secretary Clinton are outstanding lawyers, and they understand that by imposing constraints on government action, law legitimates and gives credibility to governmental action. As the President emphasized forcefully in his National Archives speech and elsewhere, the American political system was founded on a vision of common humanity, universal rights and rule of law. Fidelity to [these] values” makes us stronger and safer...And in her December speech on a 21st Century human rights agenda, and again two weeks ago in introducing our annual human rights reports, Secretary Clinton reiterated that “a commitment to human rights starts with universal standards and with holding everyone accountable to those standards, including ourselves.”²³⁸ Okay, Court, you clearly heard what Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama just said—holding everyone accountable to those standards—including Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama. So both Barack Obama and Hillary Clinton talk about and know about imposing constraints on government action, law legitimates, and giving credibility to government action. Now how would one give additional credibility to government action after knowingly utilizing perjured testimony and material fabrications? You make more of it!

Harold Koh continued: “Now in implementing this ambitious vision—this Obama-Clinton doctrine based on principled international engagement, smart power, strategic multilateralism, and the view that global leadership flows to those who live their values and obey the law and global standards—I am reminded of two stories. The first, told by a former teammate is about the late Mickey Mantle of the American baseball team, the New York Yankees, who, having been told that he would not play the next day, went out and got terrifically drunk (as he was wont to do). The next day, he arrived at the ballpark, somewhat impaired, but in the late innings was unexpectedly called upon to pinch-hit. After staggering out to the field, he swung wildly at the first two pitches and missed by a mile. But on the third pitch, he hit a tremendous home run. And when he returned to the dugout, he squinted out at the wildly cheering crowd and confided to his teammates, “[t]hose people don’t know how hard that really was.” Another reference to PLAINTIFF perhaps? But that is okay. Carrying on.

“In this maze of bureaucratic politics, you are only one lawyer, and there is only so much that any one person can do. Collective government decision-making creates enormous coordination problems. We in the Legal Adviser’s Office are not the only lawyers in government: On any given issue, my office needs to reach consensus decisions with all of the other interested State Department bureaus, but our Department as a whole then needs to coordinate its positions not just with other government law offices, which include: our lawyer clients (POTUS/SecState/DepSecState); White House Lawyers (WHCounsel/NSC Legal Counsel/USTR General Counsel); DOD Lawyers (OGC, Jt Staff, CoComs, Services, JAGs); DOJ Lawyers (OLC, OSG, Litigating Divisions-Civ., Crim, OIL, NSD); IC Lawyers (DNI, CIA); DHS Lawyers, not to mention lawyers in the Senate and House.”²³⁹ PLAINTIFF is just establishing he interacted with POTUS Barack Obama, Hillary Clinton, DoD attorneys, DOJ Lawyers, CIA Lawyers, DNI Lawyers, DHS Lawyers, and Congress. PLAINTIFF is alleging HAROLD HONGJU KOH is necessarily part of the CIA, DNI, DHS, DoD, DOJ definition as a party to them. See: United States v. Cook, 793 F.2d 734 (5th Cir. 1986) (“[b]oth the fact of conspiracy and a defendant's participation in it may be proved by circumstantial evidence.” 793 F.2d at 736). “As was the case in United States v. Postal, 589 F.2d 862 (5th Cir.) ... “the mere fact that [defendant] made the statement is relevant to the issues of [his] knowledge of the conspiracy and his participation in it.”...As Professor McCormick explains: “Proof that one talks about a matter demonstrates on its face that he was conscious or aware of it, and his veracity simply does not enter into the situation.” [omitted].” U.S. v. Jones, 839 F.2d 1041 (5th Cir. 1988). “If the government's conduct in the investigation through a sting operation is so active that its conduct fabricated elements of the offense, it might be considered a violation of due process to prosecute the defendant.” U.S. v. Steinhorn, 739 F. Supp. 268, 271 (D. Md. 1990). See DEFENDANTS having violated 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 18 U.S.C. §241; 18 U.S.C. §226, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d)

HAROLD HONGJU KOH earlier talked about fascinating legal questions. So the questions become: what was of interest to Harold Koh and what was some of his legal reasoning. HAROLD HONGJU KOH should have been an ally to disabled former special education student PLAINTIFF because he wrote: The International Human Rights of Persons with Intellectual Disabilities: Different but Equal (Oxford University Press 2002) (with Stanley Herr and Lawrence Gostin, eds) and “A Dismal Record on Executing the Retarded,” New York Times (June 14, 2001). Okay, so there is some background that gives an inference that he cares about disabled folks, which is great! Furthermore and more importantly, HAROLD HONGJU KOH was an author of: “International Human Rights of Persons with Mental Disabilities,” 63 Md. L. Rev. 1 (2004). Okay, so HAROLD KOH wrote 6 years before March 2010 about international human rights of persons with mental disabilities that would include things like Autism. Furthermore, HAROLD HONGJU KOH wrote: "The New Global Slave Trade," Displacement, Asylum, Migration 232 (Oxford Amnesty Lectures) (Kate Tunstall ed. 2006). This would include things like peonage, indentured servitude. So within 6 years of September 2010, what was fresh in HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S mind necessarily included issues involving disabled individuals and global slave trade. Okay? Okay!

PLAINTIFF would argue that on a value ranking system, that was nowhere near as important to HAROLD HONGJU KOH as national jurisdiction issues and terrorism in which he wrote: "Transnational Legal Process and the 'New' New Haven School of International Law," International Legal Theory: Foundations and Frontiers, Jeffrey Dunoff & Mark Pollack eds., forthcoming Cambridge, "Civil Remedies for Uncivil Wrongs: Combatting Terrorism Through Transnational Public Law Litigation," 22 Texas Int'l.L.J. 169 (1987), "Commentary" in Michael W. Doyle, Striking First: Preemption and Prevention in International Conflict 99 (2008), "Transnational Legal Process After September 11," 22 Berkeley J. Int'l L. (2004), and "American Diplomacy and the Death Penalty" (with Thomas Pickering) 80 Foreign Service Journal 19 (October 2003). So in HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S mind: terrorism and transnational jurisdiction > (more important than) disabled individuals and global slave trade. Okay? Okay!

Too bad HAROLD HONGJU KOH didn't know about these two cases. When the United States Government artificially manufactured jurisdiction--whether it was through deceit, fraud, or deception is immaterial--a court can rule the government doing so violates constitutional rights in which the court can dismiss a case on the grounds of artificially created jurisdiction. For example, in a case that SCOTUS affirmed, United States v. Perrin, 580 F.2d 730 (5th Cir. 1978), aff'd, 444 U.S. 37 (1979) (hereon: Perrin), the court in Perrin recognized the validity of the defense in a proper case when it stated that the "defendants' argument that the government improperly obtained jurisdiction is for the court to determine as a matter of law, . . ." Id. This was confirmed by United States v. Marcello, 508 F. Supp. 586, 592 (E.D. La. 1981) as well. So no, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, what you aided and abetted was unconstitutional because the United States Government can't manufacture jurisdiction artificially. Jurisdiction provides necessary lines, limits, and boundaries. If they were followed, this case wouldn't have gotten this far.

Finally, most relevantly which you can infer how HAROLD HONGJU KOH would think and process issues that involved money and diplomacy in which terrorism and transnational jurisdiction > (more important than) disabled individuals and global slave trade to HAROLD HONGJU KOH that all implicate Miki's Tea Party and "the offing": "Dollar Diplomacy/Dollar Defense: The Fabric of Economics and National Security Law," 26 International Lawyer 715 (1992) (with JC Yoo), which contained the following points that PLAINTIFF will elaborate upon:

“national security policy regularly requires the use of economic power as a tool, either as a stick to sanction hostile nations or as a carrot to encourage the economic growth and development of friendly ones... National security may require that U.S. economic controls apply with sufficient force not just to adversaries, but also to allies, so as to ensure implementation of a unified and coordinated national policy... Although the Constitution assigns Congress the task of regulating foreign and domestic commerce, more often than not the executive branch has won the dominant hand in setting policy in these areas... More explicit acceptance of power-sharing as a constitutional norm would not only enhance the democratic nature of foreign policymaking, but would also recognize the indispensable checking function that other branches and international allies play vis-A-vis the exercise of U.S. economic and national security power... Although Youngstown reaffirmed the constitutional vision of balanced institutional participation in economics and national security policy, developments within each branch have promoted a policy trend toward growing presidential dominance. First, the executive has seized the initiative in policy making, primarily because it is the best structured to operate in a unified, swift, and secret manner... Even when Congress does legislate to check presidential discretion, it all too often leaves statutory loopholes that the president exploits to unlock sweeping delegated powers... Post-Vietnam era statutes sought to place a number of controls on presidential discretion, including requirements of fact findings and public declarations, committee oversight, legislative vetoes, and reporting and consultation with Congress... However, these obstacles have proven to be of surprising little weight, allowing Presidents to evade them either by exploiting their definitional limits, procedures, and substantive terms, or by challenging their constitutionality in court... in the post-Vietnam years the federal judiciary has steadily deferred to, if not expressly affirmed, executive claims of national security power. the Burger and Rehnquist Court's statutory interpretation techniques have eliminated the various limitations in congressional delegations, thereby granting the President unrestrained access to broad delegated powers over the economy and national security... Taken together, these cases have sharply limited the role of courts as arbiter of the national policy making process and endorsed, rather than countered, a decision-making system increasingly characterized by presidential activism and congressional acquiescence... the export laws have provided another powerful economic weapon for the pursuit of national security goals, which the President may wield largely at his own discretion.²⁴⁰

So to HAROLD HONGJU KOH, when you mix national security and economic diplomacy, trade is a carrot to encourage the economic growth and development of friendly nations in which-- based on some secret unascertainable reason known only to the executive branch--National security requires U.S. economic controls apply with sufficient force to allies to ensure implementation of a unified and coordinated national policy. Put in another way, Harold Koh would agree that the United States can force a foreign country to implement a unified and coordinated policy by dangling economic incentives and products to encourage economic growth and development of that foreign country. Okay? Okay.

To HAROLD HONGJU KOH, Congress can't do jack shit against the Executive Branch when it comes to national security and policy (i.e. international trade and domestic trade) because Congress gave up that power and even when Congress tries to do something, the Executive Branch exploits loopholes anyway that tries to provide some ascertainable limits to their power. The judicial branch is not going to do jack shit because SCOTUS kept giving more and more deferential power to the Executive Branch. So Congress=can't do shit. Judicial branch=won't do shit. Well that's not very good for checks and balances.

In HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S mind, the executive branch can completely evade legal obstacles (to him) like definitional limits, procedures, substantive terms, IGNORE REQUIREMENTS INVOLVING FINDINGS OF FACT in which the executive branch will operate in a unified manner, swift manner (i.e. rushed uninformed decisions in which findings of fact is completely ignored), and most importantly those decisions are done in a secret manner in which the courts won't do shit and Congress can't do shit involving national security and policy.

What the hell did PLAINTIFF just say?

In HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S mind, it is completely 100% acceptable that the executive branch can completely evade legal obstacles (to him) like definitional limits, procedures, substantive terms, IGNORE REQUIREMENTS INVOLVING FINDINGS OF FACT in which the executive branch will operate in a unified manner, swift manner (i.e. rushed uninformed decisions in which findings of fact is completely ignored), and most importantly those decisions are done in a secret manner in which the courts won't do shit and Congress can't do shit involving national security and policy. PLAINTIFF is alleging that HAROLD KOH advised HILLARY CLINTON that "trade is in the offing" was constitutional and legal in which numerous people would benefit except for PLAINTIFF. This was in complete violation of: violated 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 18 U.S.C. §241; 18 U.S.C. §226, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), 18 U.S.C §201 (bribery); 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer); 18 U.S. Code § 875 (mail fraud argument); 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion)

That is HILLARY CLINTON'S personal and senior legal advisor who taught at YALE at one point or another in his career.

Let PLAINTIFF wrap this up succinctly: if you put in your left hand HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S beliefs that 1) the United States can force a foreign country to implement a unified and coordinated policy by dangling economic incentives and products to encourage economic growth and development of that foreign country and 2) the executive branch can completely evade legal obstacles (to him) like definitional limits, procedures, substantive terms, IGNORE/EVADE REQUIREMENTS INVOLVING FINDINGS OF FACT in which the executive branch will operate in a unified manner, swift manner (i.e. make rushed uninformed decisions involving findings of fact in which they would rely on materially false fabrications and perjured testimony), and most importantly those decisions are done in a secret manner in which the courts won't do shit and Congress can't do shit involving national security and policy; and then put in your right hand HAROLD HONGJU KOH'S priorities that terrorism and transnational jurisdiction > (more important than) disabled individuals and global slave trade and work with the CIA and FBI who agree the same in which Midyear happened that is done in a secret echo chamber; and put your hands together and mesh all of those inside HAROLD KOH'S mind along with American INTEL: that's exactly how you illegally justify Miki's Tea Party.

Back to it.

So INDIANS must do something that “is in the offing.” What is “in the offing?” Simply and as PLAINTIFF is alleging: “is in the offing” is the DEFENDANTS’ PLAN in which QATAR/BRIITIAN/AMERICA/INDIANS/DEFENDANTS are offing PLAINTIFF off the plane to INDIA, making PLAINTIFF go to the Indian embassy during lunchtime, tampering with the United Airlines plane on 03/11/2011 to make it late on purpose, and illegally seizing and kidnapping PLAINTIFF in DC in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1. There would be kickbacks and quid pro quos done between all parties. This can be inherently understood when the phrase “is in the offing” includes the phrase ‘in’ as a double reference point to a location and the abbreviation of India (IN). One can be IN the INDIAN EMBASSY; one can be IN the airport, etc. etc. Next, “Is in the offing” refers to one singular plan. It is not plural: offings where it could be construed as the two flights on 03/11/2011, but that is not the case. But it is singular: offing. “Offing” is the plan. “Offing” necessarily a stipulated time performance and applicability—it is whenever PLAINTIFF performs it at the direction of DEFENDANTS. The phrase “is in” makes it even that much more conditional and dependent. The brevity and conciseness of including “is in” makes the phrase highly more specific and direct to the implementation of a singular plan (the offing). How it really could be read as to demonstrate the extreme conciseness, directness, and conditionality of the ‘offing’ plan involving trade is the following: “trade is in the offing.” So the phrase “development” is also a reference to PLAINTIFF in which PLAINTIFF has “developmental” delays and DEFENDANTS like the FBI have consistently and constantly referred to PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability from at least 2008 (See: Midyear in which they retaliated against PLAINTIFF on the basis of his disability) and therefore became a habit and routine practice by DEFENDANTS in doing so and conveyed the rare opportunity of the moment. “Signal” means signal intelligence gained overseas in BRITIAN by BRITISH AND INDIAN DEFENDANTS that were assisted by Qatar. once DEFENDANT BRITISH INTELLIGENCE AGENCIES, INDIAN DEFENDANTS, and 5 EYES have in-personam-jurisdiction over PLAINTIFF in London-Heathrow. By DEFENDANTS necessarily having incorporated PLAINTIFF in the condition of “is in the offing,” DEFENDANTS necessarily placed a monetary value of $14,900,000,000 that was completely contingent on PLAINTIFF when the “offing” of PLAINTIFF happened and was executed by DEFENDANTS. There is no factual or legal way to distinguish or separate PLAINTIFF here that is independent of the $14,900,000,000 DEFENDANTS necessarily obtained because of “the offing.” DEFENDANTS necessarily and unequivocally placed a value on PLAINTIFF of $14,900,000,000 in what they did to PLAINTIFF on 03/11/2011 in furtherance of kickback schemes and quid pro quos that will be proved later on. Period. By DEFENDANTS/HILLARY CLINTON making it so so so so so so conditional on PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF became a victim of their fraud and shall be compensated for being a victim of their fraud. PLAINTIFF was never given an ability to negotiate the terms and the fraud occurred when DEFENDANTS denied the opportunity for PLAINTIFF to negotiate and prevent him from knowing he was actually a party in the incident. Trade is all and well and a vital and necessary part of life, but by committing terrorism in obtaining trade, that is fraudulent. So in light of the conditionality of “is in the offing,” PLAINTIFF had to necessarily agree and consent to the conditions of the “offing” that DEFENDANTS placed on PLAINTIFF by following through and executing “the offing.” No PLAINTIFF and the “offing,” no $14,900,000,000 or more that was acquired by DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF alleges that this scheme is a quid pro quo between the DEFENDANTS: Americans, Qataris, British, and Indians in which they violate:

See: Neder v. United States, 527 U.S. 1 (1999)(fraud occurs on a misrepresentation or concealment of material fact) (Sandwich Chef of Texas, Inc. v. Reliance National Indemnity Insurance Co., 319 F.3d 205 (5th Cir. 2003) and Summit Properties Inc. v. Hoechst Celanese Corp, 214 F.3d 556 (5th Cir. 2000)(proximate causation could be established where “a plaintiff has either been the target of a fraud or has relied upon the fraudulent conduct of the defendants; 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act; This was in complete violation of: 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion).

Louisiana Civil Code Article 2451 states that “A hope may be the object of a contract of sale. Thus, a fisherman may sell a haul of his net before he throws it. In that case the buyer is entitled to whatever is caught in the net, according to the parties' expectations, and even if nothing is caught the sale is valid.” So even if the “offing” can be construed as a conditional hope that would occur in the future, it still can be the object of a contract of the sale. DEFENDANTS may allege that there was no definite price at the time, and well, under Louisiana Civil Code Art. 2465, a definite price was stipulated by a third person, BARACK OBAMA, when he stated “$14,900,000,000” in his presidential announcement. Furthermore, PLAINTIFF will explain the actual value of “better trade” in a little bit. But better trade necessarily means and includes trade at a previous level and more trade. You can't just have “better trade” without current trade.

Louisiana Civil Code article 2474 recognizes and understands the importance of disparity in knowledge and sophistication between buyer and seller in its requirement that "the seller is bound to explain himself clearly respecting the extent of his own obligations" and that "any obscure or ambiguous clause is construed against him." Louisiana courts have applied the principle of article 2474, by analogy, to contractors, lessors, and other suppliers." Louisiana Civil Code article 1958 likewise recognizes the disparity in the positions of suppliers and consumers by providing that in a supplier-prepared contract, any doubt or obscurity arising for want of a necessary explanation calls for the adoption of the construction most favorable to the consumer. See: Alexander v. Burroughs Corp., 359 So. 2d 607 (La. 1978): (Louisiana Supreme Court stated a manufacturer "is presumed to know of the defects of the thing which it manufactures and therefore is deemed to be in bad faith. Hence, article 2545 is applicable."

As a refresher, on 09/27/2010 at 04:02pm, HILLARY CLINTON and HUMA ABEDIN sent the following email: “Indians continue to make progress in quieting recent Kashmir unrest, but need to do more. Indian Embassy luncheon in honor of Defense Minister Antony this week will include reps from Boeing and Lockheed Martin — a rare development that could signal better U.S.-India defense trade is in the offing.”²⁴¹ 35 minutes pass in which the plans against PLAINTIFF were continued to be formulated at 04:37pm and approved of in the email between HUMA ABEDIN and HILLARY CLINTON with subject line of “FYI” (For Your Information): “but ds took your luggage out of van to go ahead to airport. Very odd and they just told me they did it. Not sure why, I told them to return the oscar gowns to van and all little bags are still in van too.”²⁴² Part of this message is justifying signal intelligence against PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS had planted baggies in PLAINTIFF’S room in Meth as there is a talking about little bags (as in baggie of drugs. See: Meth) in which DEFENDANTS aided and abetted the RICO Enterprise because the perpetrators of obstruction of justice of whomever placed the drugs in PLAINTIFF’S room (in violation of the HONOR CODE) were not apprehended and the “little baggies” are included to maliciously malign PLAINTIFF as a violent drug dealer and utilization of signal intelligence and 5 eyes against PLAINTIFF. Furthermore, JANET NAPOLITANO referenced ICE (as another name for meth) on February 2nd, 2011 thereby connecting that meeting of the minds on February 2nd, 2011 to “trade is in the offing” and the go ahead to airport plan. There is talk about PLAINTIFF’S grandma’s “gown” thereby using USA PATRIOT ACT because of FINANCIAL TERRORISM. The most important aspect of this email was that the DEFENDANTS’ ‘offing’ plan and conspiracy was officially sanctioned and approved of in this email and the “go ahead” to ‘offing’ plan was granted thereby initiating a plan of domestic and international terrorism with the phrase “go ahead to airport.” This was in complete violation of: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act; This was in complete violation of: 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3), 42 U.S.C. §1986, 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion).

About three weeks after granting “the offing airport conspiracy plan” alleged in the previous paragraphs, HILLARY CLINTON and HUMA ABEDIN had an email²⁴³ on 10/19/2010 that talked about the specific facts of: “an American man being convicted,” “a deep plan of an assault” (i.e. See: Peachy Miami and Sewanee Sabotage), INDIA, spies, a cash amount of around $25,000 (being given by a foreign intelligence service), and, most importantly and relevantly, “having returned to a location or being forced to go to a location.” The amount PLAINTIFF wired in FINANCIAL TERRORISM was $26,000+ , which is damn near close to the $25,000 talked about in the article. The $26,000+ was given to PLAINTIFF from his grandfather, who was not a spy and was a home builder, was not given this money by a foreign intelligence service, and who had built homes for a living. See: Financial Terrorism. The problem with DEFENDANTS’ manner of talking (DC double-speak) is that material facts that serve as exculpatory evidence get omitted, which only then reinforces a lie in DEFENDANTS minds because pre-conceived double-speak and agenda/plans refuses to acknowledge the existence of exculpatory truth or valid exceptions; these factors contribute to enabling and furthering obstruction of justice through routine Constitutional Violations. PLAINTIFF factually explained all of this exculpatory truth in the previous sections and all of it was omitted and willfully and intentionally ignored because DEFENDANTS had a specific agenda/plan in mind and needed a peon/slave to make their plans happen. They chose PLAINTIFF. Then this is when 18 USC §1961 section 1503 (relating to obstruction of justice) violations occur because material omissions and exculpatory evidence are not considered because they cease to exist in double-speak; especially when you have DEFENDANTS that are so power hungry and have a preset

A HILLARY CLINTON email three days later talks about INDIA when DEFENDANTS say in email on 10/22/2010: "India Bill wraps up his visit to Inda today; hgopes to steer Menon to a better place on nuclear liability."²⁴⁴ PLAINTIFF can't make sense of this one at this time, but it is relevant, and PLAINTIFF is including it just in case; but PLAINTIFF is making the allegation it could apply since they're talking about INDIA and steering someone to a right direction (through RICO). DEFENDANTS violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services"), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion).

HILLARY CLINTON and HUMA ABEDIN then sent emails on 10/27/2010²⁴⁵ & 10/28/2010²⁴⁶ that respectively talked about "Planes," "Chicago," "Britain," and "Bombs." The purpose of talking about it this way was to obstruct justice and utilize the USA PATRIOT ACT, signal intelligence, and gain in-personam-jurisdiction for their plot in furtherance of the RICO Enterprise against PLAINTIFF'S Constitutional Interests when PLAINTIFF posed no legitimate threat at the time in which exculpatory evidence was intentionally omitted and not included. In ANARCHY, PLAINTIFF established he did not have a copy of the Anarchist Cookbook from October 2008, which was exactly two years prior to this email being sent, PLAINTIFF, at no time in the entirety of PLAINTIFF'S existence, purchased any bomb making materials, and PLAINTIFF took absolutely no substantial step on committing any act of terrorism at this time. Furthermore, unknown DEFENDANTS reported that explosions were heard when PLAINTIFF'S home burned down in May 2010—what PLAINTIFF can allege on a good faith basis is that PLAINTIFF didn't burn down his home but PLAINTIFF is willing to allege unknown DEFENDANTS falsely alleged that PLAINTIFF made a bomb to burn down his home and utilized that fabricated evidence. DEFENDANTS had no probable cause to utilize the USA PATRIOT ACT against PLAINTIFF at this time. DEFENDANTS violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion).

“Trade is in the offing” is necessarily obstruction of justice. It is a thing that tends to influence as a court could not hear a claim against PLAINTIFF unless their jurisdiction gets extended beyond national jurisdictional limits. If there is no jurisdiction, there is no ability to bring or have a claim heard in court.

Jeffrey Feltman emailed William Burns and Jake Sullivan on 10/01/2010 in which the email said: “Ops center just called us to ask for HbJ’s mobile phone number for [CENSORED] wants to call him.” Jacob Sullivan forwarded the email to Hillary Clinton. From this moment on the State Department operations center, CIA, Jake Sullivan, and Hillary Clinton all have HbJ’s personal cell phone to further the conspiracy. PLAINTIFF is alleging that from 10/01/2010 through 03/11/2011, Jake Sullivan, unknown officers in the CIA and State Department operations center, and Hillary Clinton personally called HbJ on his personal cell phone over the wires to further the mail and wire fraud perpetuated against PLAINTIFF in “trade is in the offing” and further the 18 U.S.C.§1962(d), 18 U.S.C. §241; 42 U.S.C. 1985(2) and 42 U.S.C.1985(3) conspiracy against PLAINTIFF.

On 12/11/2010, HUMA ABEDIN, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, HILLARY CLINTON, WILLIAMS BURNS, were all privy to an email²⁴⁷ that talked about the IC (Intelligence Community), Sec of Defense Robert Gates, “This note is to give you a brief update on "homework" that is emerging from the New START resolution of ratification, which will have to be completed before the Treaty can enter into force,” “the IC informed us this week that they have completed a first draft, which we've been reviewing. I believe this report will be completed in good time for EIF. 2. Brief, separate Presidential certifications on telemetry and missile defense issues will have to be completed before EIF; they are dependent on the exact form and content of the final resolution of ratification. State L informs me that it will not be a long drafting process to draw up these certifications, once they know what's in the final resolution” and this little section right here: “3. The Defense Department will owe two reports, one on the Conventional Prompt Global Strike Program and one on the two-stage Ground-Based Interceptor (GBI). These reports will have to be provide prior to EIF, although they are not currently linked up to Presidential certifications. I understand from talking to OSD that they plan to have these reports completed so that SecDef Gates can review them prior to his departure on December 20. Once interagency clearance is in hand for each of these items In terms o in eragency omewor owever, •e iieve t at we are in good shape to be prepared for entry into force. Please let me know if you have any questions, and thank you once again—a thousand times—for your help and support on New START Treaty ratification.”

So PLAINTIFF alleges this is another email about the “offing.” When the media reports about “New Start,” they really only talk about from the missile defense way. What gets ignored or swept under the rug is telemetry defense issues. How the CIA/DoD/FBI/DHS can access computers from anywhere around the world and how they can do their “predictive” behavior analysis. The CIA/FBI/DHS et al. had to give a report to the President in which they would certify why actions should be undertaken against PLAINTIFF in “the offing,” which of course, would necessarily rely on perjured testimony, fabricated and misleading narratives, wire fraud, RICO Acts, etc. PLAINTIFF alleges that the “nis report” discussed in the email included a report about PLAINTIFF that discovery would produce. As a reminder: 1) False Identification—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 2) Peachy Miami—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 3) Sewanee Sabotage—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 4) Trespass Incident #3—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 5) This Side of the Street—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 6) METH—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL. The Devil Incarnate (Rebecca Wetherbee)—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 7) Victoria Flight—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL; 8) Anarchy—constitutionally tainted and RICO Act by American INTEL. Every single one of those are drenched in illegal, unconstitutional, and RICO racketeering activity. Now when they talk about “Homework” above, PLAINTIFF is alleging they are referring to The Roof, The Roof is on Fire. American INTEL and/or DoD murdered PLAINTIFF’S beloved cat, Sparky. PLAINTIFF is alleging that “State L” is actually referring to the State Department/Embassy in London or State Legal department—those two are the most plausible explanation as these are the following countries that start with the letter ‘L’ obtained from the State Department: Laos, Latvia, Lebanon, Lesotho, Lew Chew (Loochoo)* (Japan-ish), Liberia, Libya, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Luxembourg. So part of the certification would be that that would falsely prosecute PLAINTIFF for burning down his home because there were “reports of explosions” and they wanted to frame PLAINTIFF with all of the necessarily compromised listed incidents above as being the originator. Then with the previous emails involving a “bomb,” “plane,” and “Chicago,” it creates enough fabricated materially misleading narratives that they wanted to utilize against PLAINTIFF. Then you have: “one on the two-stage Ground-Based Interceptor (GBI).”—right, so this is the “offing” in which there was ground based interception of PLAINTIFF with GBI (Great Britain Intelligence) in London-Heathrow in which it was one of two stages between London and Dulles.

Under National Organization for Women, Inc. v. Joseph Scheidler. 510 U.S. 249 (1994), “RICO does not require proof that either the racketeering enterprise or the predicate acts of racketeering in § 1962(c) were motivated by an economic purpose. Nowhere in either § 1962(c) or in § 1961's definitions of "enterprise" and "pattern of racketeering activity" is there any indication that such a motive is required. While arguably an enterprise engaged in interstate or foreign commerce would have a profit-seeking motive, § 1962(c)'s language also includes enterprises whose activities "affect" such commerce. Webster's Third New International Dictionary defines "affect" as "to have a detrimental influence on"; and an enterprise surely can have such an influence on commerce without having its own profit-seeking motives. The use of the term "enterprise" in subsections (a) and (b), where it is arguably more tied in with economic motivation, also does not lead to the inference of an economic motive requirement in subsection (c). In subsections (a) and (b), an "enterprise" is an entity acquired through illegal activity or the money generated from illegal activity: the victim of the activity. By contrast, the "enterprise" in subsection (c) connotes generally the vehicle through which the unlawful pattern of racketeering activity is committed. Since it is not being acquired, it need not have a property interest that can be acquired nor an economic motive for engaging in illegal activity; it need only be an association in fact that engages in a pattern of racketeering activity. Nor is an economic motive requirement supported by the congressional statement of findings that prefaces RICO and refers to activities that drain billions of dollars from America's economy... since 1984 amendments broadened the focus of RICO prosecutions from those association-in-fact enterprises that exist "for the purpose of maintaining operations directed toward an economic goal" to those that are "directed toward an economic or other identifiable goal." In addition, the statutory language is unambiguous, and there is no clearly expressed intent to the contrary in the legislative history that would warrant a different construction... Section 1962(c) makes it unlawful "for any person employed by or associated with any enterprise engaged in, or the activities of which affect, interstate or foreign commerce, to conduct or participate, directly or indirectly, in the conduct of such enterprise's affairs through a pattern of racketeering activity or collection of unlawful debt." Section 1961(1) defines "pattern of racketeering activity" to include conduct that is "chargeable" or "indictable" under a host of state and federal laws. RICO broadly defines "enterprise" in § 1961(4) to "includ[e] any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other legal entity, and any union or group of individuals associated in fact although not a legal entity." Nowhere in either § 1962(c) or the RICO definitions in § 1961 is there any indication that an economic motive is required.”

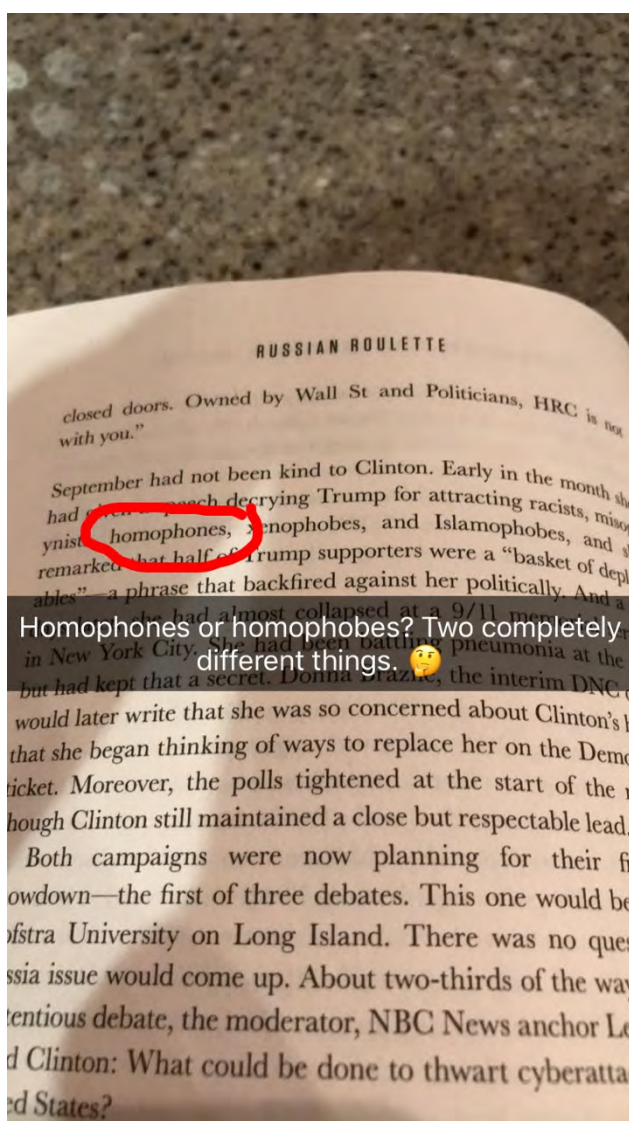

American INTEL’S identifiable goals in “the offing” had three core elements: 1) increase in economic trade, 2) telemetry defense/counter-terrorism purposes, and 3) intentional and wanton violation of constitutional rights eroding the People’s liberty. Motherfuckers murdered PLAINTIFF’S cat on fabricated evidence and racketeering. 9 different examples in which American INTEL wanted to erase the lines of constitutionally protected activity to go from somewhat questionable to illegal. The privacy inside your home? Gone. The curtilage outside your home? Gone. Your ability to defend yourself? Gone. The ability to question? Gone. To have meaningful conversations? Gone. To have a divergent view? Gone. To always be under their microscope? Yes. Therefore, there exists an association-in-fact and an enterprise under 18 U.S.C. §1962(c) and 18 U.S.C. §1961(4) amongst DEFENDANTS that had a defined purpose in which they would stop at nothing. American INTEL may not have caused An Anchor and a Pitchfork, but it was in their interest to allow it to happen not truly understanding that what was in their interest was to meaningfully talk to PLAINTIFF and not do to PLAINTIFF what they did and would allow to happen to PLAINTIFF.

Under National Organization for Women, Inc. v. Joseph Scheidler. 510 U.S. 249 (1994), “The phrase “The “enterprise” referred to in subsections (a) and (b) is thus something acquired through the use of illegal activities or by money obtained from illegal activities. The enterprise in these subsections is the victim of unlawful activity and may very well be a “profit-seeking” entity that represents a property interest and may be acquired. But the statutory language in subsections (a) and (b) does not mandate that the enterprise be a “profit-seeking” entity; it simply requires that the enterprise be an entity that was acquired through illegal activity or the money generated from illegal activity. By contrast, the “enterprise” in subsection (c) connotes generally the vehicle through which the unlawful pattern of racketeering activity is committed, rather than the victim of that activity. Subsection (c) makes it unlawful for “any person employed by or associated with any enterprise... to conduct or participate . . . in the conduct of such enterprise's affairs through a pattern of racketeering activity....” Consequently, since the enterprise in subsection (c) is not being acquired, it need not have a property interest that can be acquired nor an economic motive for engaging in illegal activity; it need only be an association in fact that engages in a pattern of racketeering activity. Nothing in subsections (a) and (b) directs us to a contrary conclusion. We also think that the quoted statement of congressional findings is a rather thin reed upon which to base a requirement of economic motive neither expressed nor, we think, fairly implied in the operative sections of the Act. As we said in H. J. Inc. v. Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., 492 U. S. 229, 248 (1989): “The occasion for Congress' action was the perceived need to combat organized crime. But Congress for cogent reasons chose to enact a more general statute, one which, although it had organized crime as its focus, was not limited in application to organized crime. . . . The parallel to the present case is apparent. Congress has not, either in the definitional section or in the operative language, required that an “enterprise” in § 1962(c) have an economic motive. We therefore hold that petitioners may maintain this action if respondents conducted the enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity. The questions whether respondents committed the requisite predicate acts, and whether the commission of these acts fell into a pattern, are not before us. We hold only that RICO contains no economic motive requirement.”

Therefore, at least from the American DEFENDANTS perspective, these are at a minimum some of the following people that were in an association who were in an enterprise that would meet the purposes stipulated under SCOTUS in National Organization for Women, Inc. v. Joseph Scheidler. 510 U.S. 249 (1994): ROBERT MUELLER, LEON PANETTA, HUMA ABEDIN, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, HILLARY CLINTON, WILLIAMS BURNS, JEFFREY FELTMAN, JAKE SULLIVAN, ANDREW MCCABE, JEH JOHNSON, PETER STRZOK, unknown White House Lawyers (WHCounsel/NSC Legal Counsel/USTR General Counsel), unknown DOD Lawyers (OGC, Jt Staff, CoComs, Services, JAGs), unknown DOJ Lawyers (OLC, OSG, Litigating Divisions-Civ., Crim, OIL, NSD), unknown IC Lawyers (DNI, CIA), and DHS Lawyers in which they all worked together (hooray for reaching across the aisle and across multiple agencies—talk about unity! lol) to violate: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1512, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1513, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1951, Section 504; Title VI; PLAINTIFF'S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

Furthermore, to credibly alleged the actual domestic terrorism by American INTEL and British INTEL that took place between 2008-2015, one of the most damning piece of circumstantial evidence that proves DEFENDANTS connection to PLAINTIFF via email in which issues would only continue on in the future is the following email written on either 01/28/2011 or 1/29/2011 from HUMA ABEDIN to HILLARY CLINTON that said: “Person we discussed apparently holed up in LONDON and avoiding people.”²⁴⁸ This is perfect in three ways to describe PLAINTIFF and only PLAINTIFF. First, DEFENDANTS are intelligent and competent enough know the difference between singular and plural; and well, it says an individual person and not persons so they’re only describing one individual. Secondly, DEFENDANTS are continuing their obstruction in materially misrepresenting TRESPASS INCIDENT #3 in which DEFENDANTS can describe it as PLAINTIFF having “holed up” in his room and was avoiding people in his room when he was in isolation. Furthermore and in addition to the previous point, PLAINTIFF was going to be holed up (as in the homophone of HOLD up) by DEFENDANTS in LONDON by DEFENDANTS on purpose when they intentionally held PLAINTIFF there by committing international and domestic terrorism on PLAINTIFF. You may be thinking that this is a silly distinction and PLAINTIFF says to the Court NAY NAY!. Luckily PLAINTIFF just happily caught this (See: above) during the early part of his investigation and having much like a Vinny moment in My Cousin Vinny showing that homophones and CLINTONS do truly matter in Intel based on the following snapchat by PLAINTIFF from a book either written by JAMES CLAPPER or JEH JOHNSON. Finally, there is the specific location of LONDON. Out of all the places HILLARY CLINTON could have said, she specifically chose LONDON in which “the offing” took place in London. This violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18

U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, Title VI, PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

Then on February 1st, 2011, HILLARY CLINTON, HILDA L. SOLIS, ERICH HOLDER, JANET NAPOLITANO, and ROBERT MUELLER (probably LEON PANETTA was there too) were all in the same room together just about one month or so before “trade is in the offing” occurred. PLAINTIFF alleges HILLARY CLINTON, HILDA L. SOLIS, ERIC HOLDER, JANET NAPOLITANO, ROBERT MUELLER had a meeting of the minds concerning “trade is in the offing” all violated 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1512; 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1513, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1951, Section 504, Title VI, PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

Doing DC double-speak, the meeting was about “the President’s Interagency Task Force to Monitor and Combat Trafficking in Persons.” Wow, PLAINTIFF, so those DEFENDANTS knew that Human Trafficking was wrong. But PLAINTIFF wants to draw your attention to the actual name itself. So there is a coordinated effort between DOJ, DHS, FBI, State, and Labor (and probably NSA and CIA was in the crowd). Part of the purpose of was to MONITOR. You would monitor someone via signal intelligence through their cell phones! Okay? Okay. Now take the phrase “combat trafficking” what else could that mean. Say would DEFENDANTS like to MONITOR a falsely accused “combatant” that would be going overseas? WHY YES! It is DC double-speak. So this task force has two purposes—actual human trafficking and monitoring PLAINTIFF and establishing precedent by using PLAINTIFF based on perjured testimony, fabricated narratives, and coercion undertaken against PLAINTIFF. So let PLAINTIFF have HILLARY CLINTON describe the purpose:

HILLARY CLINTON: “This is, as you probably saw on your schedules, the President’s Interagency Task Force to Monitor and Combat Trafficking In Persons. This is mandated by the Congress because it is an issue of such great and grave importance that Congress wanted as many members of the Cabinet and the heads of agencies to come together to discuss it once a year...Anywhere from 12 to 27 million people are currently held in forced labor, bonded labor, or forced prostitution. That’s equivalent to all the people who live in London at the low end and the combined populations of New York City, San Francisco, and Washington, D.C. at the high end.” Now why the heck would HILLARY CLINTON chose London of all places when talking about human trafficking in the United States? Do you know where actual human trafficking takes place in America? On the border in Texas, California, New Mexico, and Arizona. HILLARY CLINTON doesn't say Los Angeles or San Diego in California that are impacted by immigration and human trafficking, HILLARY CLINTON says San Francisco (where the tech hub is in America) which is more than 6 hours by car.

So HILLARY CLINTON continues: "The victims range from the men and women enslaved in fields, factories, and brothels to the girls and boys whose childhoods have been shattered and stolen, to the parents whose children have vanished. Whether they are far from home or in their own villages, they need and deserve our help and the help of the world... Today, I hope we can hear how we will take this work to the next level, how we can ensure that trafficking is an issue we continue to address within our agencies and throughout our government, and I hope we'll take on another important task – ending the practice of punishing the victims of human trafficking. For all the millions who are held in servitude, fewer than 50,000 have been officially identified as victims. Too many others are either ignored, or even worse, treated as criminals. So we need to do more to identify the true victims of human trafficking and help restore them to participation in our society... I just want to kick off by describing several of our State Department initiatives. First and foremost, we will publish another edition of our annual Trafficking in Persons Report. Some countries have been downgraded and may be downgraded again automatically from Tier 2 Watch List to Tier 3, because they have not taken steps adequately to address trafficking. Now, this is an uncomfortable position for them to be in and for us. And as I travel around talking to heads of state and governments and ministers, they watch this very closely, and they often raise questions about their position on this list... And finally, we are working with many partners to develop a voluntary international code of conduct for private security service providers. Companies that sign the code commit to not engage in human trafficking and report allegations to competent authorities. To date, nearly 60 private security companies have signed the code, including many that contract with the U.S. Government."²⁴⁹

This is sinister: so HILLARY CLINTON admits there is "several" State Department Initiatives; one of which is "trade is in the offing." Then PLAINTIFF doesn't fully understand what Tier system they are talking about, it could mean one of a few things: it could mean they are talking about how PLAINTIFF would undertake steps between different terminals in which tiers are the same thing as terminals, which makes sense to PLAINTIFF, but PLAINTIFF can't remember what terminals he was at in London and it was uncomfortable for PLAINTIFF because PLAINTIFF was prevented from leaving. The Prime Ministers and Heads of State (David Cameron, Singh, the Qatari sheiks, etc.) would want to do what HILLARY CLINTON wanted and their positions in how to execute the "offing" against PLAINTIFF. AT&T would report PLAINTIFF for trafficking via signal intelligence. PLAINTIFF alleges HILLARY CLINTON, HILDA L. SOLIS, ERIC HOLDER, JANET NAPOLITANO, 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HOLDER got a chance to speak as well: “Well, I apologize to everyone for being late. Bob (inaudible) had given me a task that took a little longer than I anticipated. (Laughter.) But thank you, Secretary Clinton. It’s an honor and a privilege to join my colleagues to mark the many breakthroughs that we’ve made over the past year and the momentum that we have generated for the year ahead in our fight to end human trafficking. Now this past year, and for the third year in a row, the Department of Justice has prosecuted more human trafficking cases than ever before. This modern day slavery is an affront to human dignity. And each and every case that we prosecute should send a powerful signal that human trafficking will not be tolerated in or by the United States... But we have more to do, and we have farther to go. On the 10th anniversary of the Trafficking Victims Protection Act last fall, I committed that the Justice Department would be launching a human trafficking enhanced enforcement initiative to take our counter-trafficking enforcement efforts to the next level by building on the most effective tool in our anti-trafficking arsenal: partnerships. Well, today, I am pleased to announce the launch of this initiative, which will streamline federal criminal investigations and prosecutions of human trafficking. The Departments of Homeland Security and Department of Labor have collaborated closely with the Justice Department in this historic effort, and I want to thank Secretaries Napolitano and Solis for their expertise and for their shared commitment... Now, as part of this fight against human trafficking, specialized anti-trafficking coordination teams, known as ACT teams, will be convened in a number of pilot districts nationwide. Under the leadership of the highest-ranking federal law enforcement officials in the district, these teams will bring together federal agents and prosecutors across agency lines to combat human trafficking threats, dismantle human trafficking networks, and bring traffickers to justice. The launch of these ACT teams will enable us to leverage the assets and the expertise of each federal enforcement agency more effectively than ever before. But we will not rest until this unprecedented collaboration translates into the results that matter most, the liberation of victims and the prosecution of traffickers...”²⁵⁰

PLAINTIFF alleges that the ‘BOB’ ERIC HOLDER is referring to was indeed ROBERT MUELLER. The task that ROBERT MUELLER had given him was looking over “trade is the offering” because PLAINTIFF had previously canceled (to the best of his knowledge) his previous plan and it would take a while from the time PLAINTIFF canceled to the time PLAINTIFF actually went to London. PLAINTIFF wants to make a specific allegation here. PLAINTIFF made a joke involving REBECCA WETHERBEE (next section) and that concerned human trafficking on top of the Alvarez story. If you note ERIC HOLDER’S exact phrasing, they had an initiative to take COUNTER trafficking (counter-terrorism) enforcement to the next level (i.e. next stop or stop in an airport: LONDON) in which their most effective tool was partnerships with British Intel, Indian Intel, and Qatar Airways. So ERIC HOLDER wanted to prosecute PLAINTIFF on fabricated evidence and materially misleading evidence in which they knowingly have used perjured testimony before. Then their ACT team would PILOT (i.e. aircrafts and pilots) PLAINTIFF to DC in which the highest ranking officials in America would prosecute PLAINTIFF for having arrived in Dulles. ERIC HOLDER, JANET NAPOLITANO, HILLARY CLINTON, LEON PANETTA, AND ROBERT MUELLER all violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

SECRETARY NAPOLITANO: Well, thank you. And thank you, Secretary, for hosting this meeting. We are, indeed, proud to play a strong role in combating human trafficking as demonstrated by ICE’s arrest last week at the JFK airport of a human trafficker who was one of its top ten most wanted persons. This past year, ICE, working with DOJ, initiated its highest ever number of cases with a nexus to human trafficking. Our success in combating human trafficking continues to be rooted in strong partnerships. This includes not only the partnership represented around this table today, but also state, local, tribal, international, nongovernmental, and private sector partners who see this problem every day on the ground... This is a fight that all of us around this table are committed to do. So I look forward to continuing on this work with my Cabinet colleagues and on all of our partners in order to combat this terrific problem.²⁵¹

ERIC HOLDER/JANET NAPOLITANO: To establish that Jones and Patronelli violated 21 U.S.C. § 843(b), the government must prove the knowing or intentional use of a communication device to commit, cause, or facilitate the commission of a narcotics offense. See United States v. Phillips, 664 F.2d 971, 1032 (5th Cir. 1981), cert. denied, 457 U.S. 1136, 102 S.Ct. 2965, 73 L.Ed.2d 1354 (1982). It shall be unlawful for any person knowingly or intentionally to use any communication facility in committing or in causing or facilitating the commission of any act or acts constituting a felony under any provision of this subchapter or subchapter II of this chapter.

JANET NAPOLITANO is talking about DHS’ playing a strong role in regards to domestic “enemy” “combatants.” It is a TERRific or TERRoist problem. So remember in METH that PLAINTIFF alleged that he was framed with bags of Meth in his dorm room Junior year, that is exactly what they referring to here. So the planted bags of Meth in METH was being used to prosecute PLAINTIFF. They talked about local partnerships so PLAINTIFF is alleging that Sewanee PD and Franklin County Sheriff’s office were in on the scheme against PLAINTIFF in METH in which it was the FBI and DHS that planted drugs in PLAINTIFF’S room in METH. Do you know what that also gives an inference to as well? If they were willing to plant false accusations against PLAINTIFF in METH, wouldn’t it be in their interest to further the malicious and false accusations against PLAINTIFF in Big Brother Big Sister in which they intentionally set up PLAINTIFF with the Alvarez’s for Nat Geo and MAP purposes? I believe so. International partners would include the United Kingdom and Germany. Kristina Khomova and Vera Pochtarev were probably snitches as well as Thao Bui and Ashley Macon. JANET NAPOLITANO violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

The Fifth Circuit has ruled, twice, that a defense of governmental misconduct, which is separate and distinct from ‘Entrapment,’ may bar a criminal prosecution on due process grounds in United States v. Marcello, 508 F. Supp. 586 (E.D. La. 1981) (holding: governmental overreaching presents a cognizable and legitimate defense) and United States v. Graves, 556 F.2d 1319 (5th Cir. 1977), the court ruling that “[t]here is still available in appropriate cases a governmental misconduct defense grounded on the dual principles of due process and the supervisory powers of the court, but such a defense does not fall within the narrow confines of ‘entrapment’ as that term has been explicated in Russell and Hampton.”

It is known that the Emir of Qatar visited Washington DC in February 2011, exactly one month prior to “trade is in the offing.” Mail and wires were used to call Emir to come from Qatar to Washington DC in furtherance of the mail and wire fraud committed against PLAINTIFF and to further the following violations and conspiracy against PLAINTIFF in which they affirmed their plans to undertake their actions against PLAINTIFF in violation of 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

02/20/2011: On 02/20/2011, there was some meeting with senior Qatari govt’ officials (Minister of the Interior and Minister of Commerce) and the State Department. Part of the “good session” included talking about issues “from near term ‘tactical’ concerns.” PLAINTIFF alleges the near term tactical concern was about PLAINTIFF and “trade is in the offing.” Mails and/or wires were used to call the Qatari Minister of the Interior and the Qatari Minister of Commerce, which is exactly in his domain of “trade is in the offing,” in which the mail and wire fraud committed against PLAINTIFF was furthered as well as violations of 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18

U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights against PLAINTIFF, as well as furthering RICO Enterprise 1.

Therefore, any business that concerns BOEING and Qatar is necessarily included in “trade is in the offing.”

HAROLD HONGJU KOH wrote on January 6th, 2011 to Hillary Clinton: “Hooray! That was an unbelievably complex and difficult meeting, but you are an absolutely amazing lawyer. You deftly got us to every position we have been trying to get to for months. And you were utterly forthright in speaking up for Principle and the Rule of Law. As always, I am so proud to know you and to work with you. Harold Hongju Koh The Legal Adviser.”²⁵² Now PLAINTIFF is arguing that in this meeting HAROLD HONGJU KOH spoke of, they were talking about legally justifying “trade is in the offing.” The only way HILLARY CLINTON and HAROLD HONGJU KOH could have got themselves to the position they were trying to get to for months in approving “trade is in the offing” against PLAINTIFF is the FACT that fabricated material evidence and fabricated materially misleading evidence was justified and relied upon. PLAINTIFF showed that with the cases he presented and argued, HILLARY CLINTON, ROBERT MUELLER, ERIC HOLDER, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, could not have reached the decision they reached. So HILLARY CLINTON, HAROLD HONGJU KOH, and unknown State and CIA officials violated 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

In January 2011, HILLARY CLINTON said the following remarks to the Embassy while in Qatar--“How can we work more closely and effectively with the United States?” Others, still, working to enhance bilateral security. Still others, working to strengthen trade between our countries. More than 120 American companies already operate in Qatar. Two-way trade with the United States has nearly tripled since 2003, and it even grew 40 percent, despite the global recession... And I hope you’ll think about new ways we can do it even better... So, before the planes fly away, we are going to have a chance -- I’d like to say hello to all of you. If you kind of just -- I will start down there, and just come on up, and I will meet as many of you as I can before I head to the airport.”²⁵³

HILLARY CLINTON reaffirmed the plans in Qatar at the United States Embassy in which the employees of the United States Embassy in Qatar and Qatari representatives would ensure “trade in the offing” as she made a specific reference to increased trade and that there would be new ways they could do EVEN BETTER. HILLARY CLINTON violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights. These statements directly tie Hillary Clinton, unknown others in working in strengthening trade between the United States and Qatar, and Qatar in “trade is in the offing.” There goes HILLARY CLINTON talking about PLANES flying away (before PLAINTIFF can board) in which there was a rare development in the “trade is in the offing” email and here she is talking about how they are going to have the chance to do something. This is furtherance of 18 U.S.C. 1962(d) and 42 U.S.C. 1985 (3) in “the offing.” Furthermore, two names are included: Joseph LeBaron and Mahmoud Kandathil (ph). Next,

CNN Article: 02/16/2011: There was an email Hillary Clinton received on 02/16/2011 that talked about her and her foreign policy that was written by CNN, the following are excerpts from it: “Clinton worked the phones the whole ride down to Haiti, talking to Defense Secretary Robert Gates, CIA Director Leon Panetta, National Security Adviser Tom Donilon, and British Foreign Secretary William Hague.”²⁵⁴ among others, about Egypt... It was a fallout she herself had warned of just two weeks earlier. In a dramatic speech in Qatar, Clinton warned Arab leaders their regimes would "sink in the sand" if they did not reform their autocratic governments and create opportunities for their young citizens²⁵⁵... It is perhaps her toughest test yet as the nation's top diplomat. For two years, she has traveled the globe, talking about the need for countries to become more democratic, more open to technology, more open to the demands of the young... There is never a meeting where she is not the best prepared, there is never a meeting where she has not thought just about this meeting itself, but about what follows this meeting," said Kurt Campbell, assistant secretary of state for East Asia. "There is just an incredible mastery of the details. It's not just the legal brief -- you have to figure out how the world works, how it functions, how the issues are integrated."... "Hillary Clinton brought much-needed good balance and judgment to counter some of the starry-eyed dreamers surrounding the president, who tend to reinforce his worst instincts about how fast any given situation can change," said Aaron David Miller, a Mideast negotiator for six secretaries of state and author of "The Much Too Promised Land," about the history of failed U.S. efforts in the Mideast peace process... The last few weeks have illustrated the complexities of diplomatic sausage-making inside the U.S. government, but since taking office, Clinton has kept her head down, proving herself to be a team player and tireless defender of the administration. She has been deferential to Obama in both public and private,

²⁵⁵ HILLARY CLINTON threatened Qatar to do as she pleased to their complete devastation and destruction which shows only coercion against Qatar at the behest of the diabolical HILLARY CLINTON never suggesting in any way she had an agenda other than his. "It's amazing that when she became secretary, every reporter in Washington was waiting for one inch of daylight (between her and Obama). That one inch of daylight would become one mile of daylight, which would then become a chasm of daylight," said Sandy Berger, former national security adviser in the Clinton administration and a close friend and adviser of Hillary Clinton's. "The fact there is no distance between them, in a town where division and conflict is the name of the game, I think is an enormous tribute to her... While acknowledging Clinton's considerable efforts to restore America's image, some critics have charged she has done little to consolidate these gains into advancing major foreign policy issues... Smart power means focusing on a package of national security challenges that don't fit easily into classic foreign policy boxes -- like women's empowerment, human trafficking, poverty, disease, internet freedom and climate change. These challenges, Clinton has argued, will do more to shape the 21st century than conflicts between states."

HILLARY CLINTON, LEON PANETTA, TOM DONILON, WILLIAM HAGUE, ALISTAIR BURT, were not just talking about Egypt in which they were talking about PLAINTIFF and "Trade is the offing." They used the wires to further RICO ENTERPRISE 1 and to wire fraud against PLAINTIFF in violation of 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF'S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.. If ALISTAIR BURT was not on the call in this instance, then there were numerous times that WILLIAM HAGUE had provided ALISTAIR BURT and vice-a-versa information about "trade is in the offing" through the wires in violation of the aforementioned crimes that furthered RICO Enterprise 1 as well as violating the aforementioned crimes in An Anchor and a Pitchfork.

Anne-Marie Slaughter sent an email on 03/06/2011 in which the content of which is completely censored except for the subject line of "Thank You." Hillary Clinton sent a response back that said: "it was my pleasure—and delight to meet her and all your family. And kudos to your tech trip. Only good reports." March 08th, 2011. Tony Blair's office sends Jake Sullivan and Hillary Clinton and Huma Abedin a censored email.

Jeffrey D. Feltman emailed Jacob Sullivan in which Jacob Sullivan was informed "that Hamad Bin Jassim (of Qatar) (HbJ) and Jeffrey D. Feltman had talked about Arabs and No Fly Zones." Jacob Sullivan forwarded the email to Hillary Clinton at 11:05 a.m on 03/10/2011. This occurred either on the same day or day prior to in which PLAINTIFF alleges that it confirms HbJ was in on "trade is in the offing" because PLAINTIFF would not be allowed to fly in their zones.

On 03/10/2011, Jacob Sullivan emails Hillary Clinton and Huma Abedin about how Jeffrey D. Feltman "initiated notifications on the embassy suspicion so we can say we are "in the process." The rest of this should work. Note that we are not "suspending our relationship." TWO

GENERAL FRAMES: with a question that is posed “Where do you stand on the No Fly Zone. Below some censored portions is the following list: “UNSCR, Arms embargo, asset freezes, travel bans, humanitarian action, outreach to the opposition, active planning for a range of contingencies, awacs 24-7 surveillance, suspending embassy operations.”

PLAINTIFF is alleging this was in reference to PLAINTIFF in which DEFENDANTS/State had PLAINTIFF under 24/7 surveillance at all time of the incident and did nothing to stop it. They talk about asset freezes like PLAINTIFF being frozen to prevented from flying, travel bans in which PLAINTIFF was “banned” from flying in Qatar and British zones, outreach to the opposition in which Qatar Airways reached out to PLAINTIFF directing PLAINTIFF at all times, they had meticulously planned Miki’s Tea Party (far more than PLAINTIFF ever did in Peachy Miami), and most importantly, there were FRAMES as if PLAINTIFF had been FRAMED or prevented from leaving two locations.

On March 10th, 2011, HILLARY CLINTON testified to Congress. It of course revolved around money and foreign policy. These are her remarks to Congress: “Thank you very much. I want to congratulate the Chairman upon assuming this important post at such a critical moment in world history, not just American history... I want to say a few words about these remarkable changes occurring across the Middle East [i.e. Qatar]. Yes, it’s exciting and it also presents very significant challenges to America’s position, to our security, and to our long-term interests...[In the context of middle east] I will be meeting with their transitional leaders, and I intend to convey strong support of the Obama Administration and the American people that we wish to be a partner in the important work that lies ahead, as they embark on a transition to a genuine democracy.” The very next sentence HILLARY CLINTON says after talking about a transition (The ‘Offing’ is a transition): “We know how difficult that will be. This is the kind of challenge that we have seen in other parts of the world. Some countries, such as most of those in the former Soviet Union and Eastern and Central Europe, navigated those challenges successfully; others have not.”²⁵⁶ Yea of course it is a fucking challenge if 4 governments are conspiring against you and you still attempt to travel and live on in your life. PLAINTIFF at no time

Carrying on: “And this is an unfolding example of how we are using the combined assets of diplomacy, development, and defense to protect our interests and advance our values. This integrated approach is not just how we respond to crises. It is the most effective – and cost-effective – way to sustain and advance our security. And it is only possible with a budget that supports all the tools in our national security arsenal. Now, I want to join my voice to those of the Chairwoman, who has made it very clear that the American people have a right to be justifiably concerned about our national debt. I am, too. But I know that we have so many tough decisions that we’re facing right now, that the American people also want us to be smart about the decisions we make and the investments that we are making in the future. Just two years ago, I asked that we renew our investment in development and diplomacy, and we are seeing tangible results... The FY 2012 budget is a budget that will allow us to continue pressing forward. We think it is a lean budget for lean times. I launched the first-ever Quadrennial Diplomacy and Development Review to help us maximize the impact of every dollar. We scrubbed this budget and we made painful but responsible cuts. We cut economic assistance to Central and Eastern

Europe, to the Caucasus, to Central Asia. We cut development assistance to over 20 countries by more than half.”²⁵⁷

DING DING DING. TITLE VI. So not only would HILLARY CLINTON force PLAINTIFF into labor because he was of Yugoslavian/Balkan ancestry in which she further continued to retaliate against PLAINTIFF in violation of 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights. PLAINTIFF alleges that HILLARY CLINTON took her actions against the Governments of Serbia and North Macedonia in 2011 as an additional retaliatory measure against PLAINTIFF because HILLARY CLINTON, ROBERT MUELLER, JEH JOHNSON, LEON PANETTA, etc would rob, steal, and fraudulently conceal PLAINTIFF’S work and hated everything about PLAINTIFF in which innocent people would be harmed because of features that PLAINTIFF had no control over from birth whether that was his autism or his Yugoslavian nationality. As a reminder, Bill and Hillary Clinton bombed Serbia in 1999. So, the people of Serbia and North Macedonia experienced an economic harm because of Hillary Clinton’s retaliatory actions against PLAINTIFF that was fueled by her animus against autistic and/or Yugoslavian people. Therefore, PLAINTIFF will include things that would benefit the Serbian and North Macedonian people as part of PLAINTIFF’S restitution because the harm flows from “trade is in the offing.”

“Fourth, we are committed to making our foreign policy a force for domestic economic renewal. We work very hard on this to bring jobs back to the United States, to create more economic growth here at home. To give you one example, the eight open skies agreements we have signed over the last two years will open dozens of new markets to American carriers overseas. The Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, Madam Chairman, will support – which already supports 300,000 jobs, will see billions of dollars in new business. And I know that Chairwoman Granger calls that the economic engine of north Texas.... We have diplomatic relations with 190 countries. Having served in the Senate for eight years, I know what it’s like to get a phone call when an American citizen somewhere is in trouble in one of those 190 countries. And I know what it’s like to be told as Secretary of State that somebody’s in trouble in a country where we don’t have adequate diplomatic relations. We have political officers defusing crises, development officers expanding opportunity, and economic officers working to make deals for American business... Generations of Americans have grown up successful and safe because we’ve stepped up. We think that in the world today we have more than we can say grace over, but we are positioned to try to deal with it. And we cannot do it unless we remember that our national security depends not just on defense, but on diplomacy and development working together unlike anything we’ve ever done historically today, to really deliver on America’s security, our interests, and our values.”²⁵⁸

On 03/11/2011 Hillary Clinton at PRESIDENT’S EXPORT COUNCIL (PEC)(CEOS), she said: “I hope that we can do more to encourage more small and medium-sized businesses. When I do travel, I try to do a commercial diplomacy event in many places. I was in Australia where we did an event with Caterpillar, John Deere, Harley Davidson, and GE. When I was in Russia, I visited the Boeing engineering facility in Moscow and witnessed firsthand the extraordinary cooperation, not only between Russians and Americans but between Moscow, Chicago, and Seattle...”²⁵⁹ First off, look at the name: PRESIDENT EXPORT. PLAINTIFF was exported and important from Chicago to London to Dulles. Hillary Clinton affirms that she was doing commercial diplomacy in my places and “trade is in the offing” can be commercial diplomacy, but ended up being corrupt commercial diplomacy. It affirms the GE indirectly benefitted from “trade is in the offing” as well as implicating Australia in “trade is in the offing.” So, any GE service or product is possible; however, PLAINTIFF will just limit it to locomotives and aviation for later on. Here is an interesting twist as there could be so many interpretations. Most, if not all, of United Airlines’ Boeing 777-200s were powered by a General Electric GE90 engines. Now if the British and British INTEL needed plausible deniability that they tampered with the plane’s GE90 engines, have the Aussies come in and do it. So PLAINTIFF will allege that if it wasn’t American INTEL nor British INTEL, then it was the Aussies. The British and Aussies both, as PLAINTIFF discussions in the restitution section below, donated twice and three times as much to CGI in which they would have a financial interest in ensuring the outcome of “trade is in the offing.”

Hillary Clinton at PRESIDENT’S EXPORT COUNCIL (PEC)(CEOS) said: “One of my big pleas to the Congress in my testimony over the last two weeks was if you cut our budget, which of course we know everything will be cut, but if we cut our personnel, our biggest personnel load is in consular affairs. And when it comes to visa waivers, there are very strict standards that have to be met by the Department of Homeland Security. China, India, and Brazil do not meet them, and that’s where a huge increase in visa applications are coming from.”²⁶⁰ PLAINTIFF alleges that Hillary Clinton caused some employees to be fired in consular affairs because they were fundamentally a part of “trade is in the offing.” Then Hillary Clinton says: India do not meet them and that is where a huge increase in visa applications are coming from. That refers to PLAINTIFF’S trip to the Indian Embassy and DHS (as well as CIA, FBI) undertaking the operation against PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF is alleging that two days afterwards, PHILIP J. CROWLEY (the assistant secretary of state for public affairs) resigned. PLAINTIFF is alleging that he got fired because of PLAINTIFF and “trade is in the offing.”

PLAINTIFF just said that India “does not meet them” and DHS meets them. Later on, Hillary Clinton at PRESIDENT’S EXPORT COUNCIL (PEC)(CEOS) says: “Senator Kerry and Senator McCain introduced bipartisan legislation in the Senate yesterday. We want to be able to fund those enterprise zones. We’re going to use some OPIC dollars, some ExIm support. We are looking at the full range of our tools, but nothing beats private sector investments. So we hope that even in the midst of the uncertainty people who are there will stay there (dulles, London, etc) and people who aren’t there will take a look at what we think will be a really promising

market if we can get some of the burdens off of the consumers and the business sector.”²⁶¹ PLAINTIFF alleges this is absolutely in reference to PLAINTIFF and “trade is in the offing.” Now here is another thing PLAINTIFF is alleging: Since Smith v. Maryland in 1979, SCOTUS ruled there was no expectation of privacy of data held by third parties (for all intents and purposes); now instead of the cost being imposed on private parties like Alphabet, AT&T, Verizon, etc, what if the Government can come in with one fell swoop and not have the burden of forcing third parties to produce the data (i.e. Patriot Act) in which different foreign intelligence agencies can come in with one fell swoop and obtain the data in third parties to be an independent source in which they could all share data with no repercussions and especially no pesky thing called the 4th Amendment prohibiting unreasonable searches and seizures of documents held within third parties and foreign countries? That was part of the “trade is in the offing.” So that means Tech DEFENDANTS necessarily have a financial interest because it would decrease the cost they spend on production in litigation, litigation itself, etc in regards to data held and stored by Tech DEFENDANTS. The scheme works by this: say American Intel is tainted and American intel needed my documents to prosecute PLAINTIFF; they need the evidence; so how can they get it? well why not have the Brits without a warrant access Alphabet’s servers in the UK and in America in which the Brits give American Intel “untainted” evidence to be used against PLAINTIFF. That’s obstruction of justice. On top of that, they enrich themselves so it’s a win-win for DEFENDANTS with no liability to them as they have effectively ruined PLAINTIFF’S life in which no one would want to side with PLAINTIFF.

On 03/11/2011, Hillary Clinton’s schedule consisted of: receiving a presidential daily brief; having a daily senior staff meeting at State; allegedly filming a tape for “Patrons of Diplomacy;” at 10:30 Hillary Clinton had Meeting w/ PRESIDENT’S EXPORT COUNCIL (PEC)(CEOS) (PLAINTIFF is alleging this is a meeting about PLAINTIFF); PLAINTIFF cannot account for HILLARY CLINTON in what she is doing between 11-12 at State seems to be like bullshit at the State Department on 03/11/2011; eventually, she would wind her way up to New York LaGuardia Airport; then around 7:45pm, she would arrive at the United Nations and then end up back at her private home in New York at 10pm.”

Jumping a little back as this email is so important because of its applicability in different sections: on 02/18/2011: Huma Abedin wrote to HILLARY CLINTON: [Subject: last min note on abbas): DANIEL suggested the following idea: if we could get the Emir of Qatar (not HbJ) to immediately convene a meeting of the AL-Follow-up Committee in Doha for today or tommrow that would allow the arabs to consider and to try to further negotiate the package, and the committee would request the UNSC to delay a vote until Monday, that would give 72 hours for the P’s to work with the US on the package.”

What PLAINTIFF is alleging is since SCOTUS granted cert to Ashcroft v. al-Kidd, 563 U.S. 731 (2011) in October 2010 and didn’t decide it until May 2011, two months after “trade is in the offing” occurred, whomever this DANIEL they are referring to is, it shows and establishes the connection between ERIC HOLDER, SCOTUS, NEAL KATYAL, “trade is in the offing,” in which SCOTUS would absolve Qatar and NEAL KATYAL, HAROLD KOH, and ERIC HOLDER and any other attorneys involved in “trade is in the offing” of the constitutional deprivations that occurred that they authorized to happen. Similarly, PLAINTIFF is alleging that

HILLARY CLINTON, HUMA ABEDIN, “DANIEL,” wanted to interact with the Emir of Qatar instead as to prevent PLAINTIFF from holding the Emir of Qatar liable in which it would be argued that he should be given head of state immunity under FSIA.

The same day of the “trade is in the offing” occurs on 03/11/2011, Hillary Clinton goes to the UN and PLAINTIFF alleges she talked to Indian representatives, Qatar representatives, or British representatives about “trade is in the offing” in furtherance of RICO Enterprise 1 in which everyone she talked to has now become an accessory after the fact.

As PLAINTIFF will allege and argue later in the Restitution section, HbJ and the Emir both know that Qatar and Qatar Airways must “further negotiate the package” in which it means they are inducing PLAINTIFF to act in a certain way at London-Heathrow airport because package is referring to PLAINTIFF and they must necessarily talk to PLAINTIFF in order to commit legal fraud upon PLAINTIFF.

Furthermore, when Huma Abedin wrote it would allow “P’s to work with the US on the package” (note: package (singular) and not plural), it meant getting PETER STRZOK involved with “trade is in the offing.”

On 03/11/2011, CHERYL MILLS was privy to an email in which Nicole A. Willett sent the following email: “hang tight folks-waiting on availability from a few here before we lock in time, ideally before 12. After that Mary and others head into an afternoon of meetings. I am assuming we can do this on an open line given access issues for some involved unless anyone shouts.” PLAINTIFF shouted and screamed at DULLES and the lock in time of 12 referred to the luncheon in the “trade is in the offing” email. Furthermore, if there are access issues, PLAINTIFF had access issues throughout his experience at London-Heathrow and Dulles in which DEFENDANTS had access to PLAINTIFF’S phone and had directed him to take the Flight to Dulles as previously alleged. PLAINTIFF alleges CHERYL MILLS violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

Stephen Mull sent Cheryl Mills an email on 03/11/2011 at 5:57pm that said: [censored subject line] Has decided to quit the State Department. So he won’t get any teachable moment with us. Cheryl Mills sent an email at 03/11/2011 that said: “FYI—the former [censored previous email] desk hand who caused the fervor.” PLAINTIFF is just including it because it seems important and PLAINTIFF can’t tell who they are referring to but PLAINTIFF alleges it is him.

The Incident Happened on either 03/10/2011 03/11/2011. So from now on, view the dates and how the tone of the emails changed after their terrorist act was accomplished and completed and their emphasis on a job well done.

HILLARY sent CHERYL MILLS an email with the subject line of: “Jake says Jim took the job?” on 03/13/2011. The content of the mail says: “Yes--he told me Friday he was leaning but not there yet and said he would decide for sure Monday. I will give you what details I gleaned when we talk next. Is the P.I announcement out yet? Also, I told Bill about the Zuma call and he is willing.” PLAINTIFF is alleging the Jim they are referring to is: James Comey in which New York would prosecute PLAINTIFF after “trade is in the offing” in which a tribunal would be utilized against PLAINTIFF because of what PLAINTIFF alleges HbJ said in restitution below.

April 13th, 2011 it was reported that Emir Sheikh Hamad bin Khalifa al-Thani is meeting with Vice President Joe Biden on Wednesday and with President Barack Obama at the White House on Thursday.²⁶²

Secretary Gates met with Amir of Qatar Amir Hamad bin Khalifa Al-Thani on April 14th, 2011 at the Four Season’s Hotel In Washington D.C.

On 03/19/2011 (PLAINTIFF will discuss these two emails more in depth in the Devil Reincarnate), DEFENDANTS HILLARY CLINTON sent HUMA ABEDIN on 03/19/2011 at 08:43 am the following email with the subject line “Re: Need to talk - pls call.” The Content of the email: “Can you get my berry and charge. I don't think the socket in the room worked.”²⁶³ HUMA ABEDIN and HILLARY CLINTON had this email on 04/11/2011: “also, seems like we are all on the same page regarding no qatar? its also too tough logistically without blowing up your schedule. and you would have to make hbj delay the meeting when all other ministers are asking him to make it earlier and earlier. the whole thing would be a mess.”²⁶⁴ PLAINTIFF alleges HILLARY CLINTON, HBJ, and HUMA ABEDIN violated: 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights. PLAINTIFF is alleging these two emails are in reference in trying to charge PLAINTIFF with some unknown crime after his “offing” in London and DULLES in which DEFENDANTS got richer. So something came up between 03/19/2011 and 04/11/2011 in which a post-analysis of the legal implications of their actions was done and probably that is why they decided not to charge PLAINTIFF with anything. So DEFENDANTS burned down

PLAINTIFF'S home in which some anonymous people reported explosions in which PLAINTIFF did not do anything to burn down his home in which DEFENDANTS murdered his cat in May 2010. Then DEFENDANTS tried to get PLAINTIFF for selling drugs (which was false in METH) thereby falsely making a case under narcoterrorism. All their actions were so necessarily prejudicial against PLAINTIFF and a complete continuation and fabrication scheme against PLAINTIFF to rob him of his constitutional interests, make him an indentured servant, and more atrocious actions.

Jake Sullivan wrote to Hillary Clinton on 04/08/2011 with the "Subject: QATAR." The email is the following format:²⁶⁵

"I talked to Bill at some length. We reached the same conclusion tentatively that you do not need to go to Doha. I say tentatively because this one could go either way.

both Bill and I will entirely understand. But pushed to a bottom line, we both come out on the don't-go side."

Do you want to know how irony in PLAINTIFF’S life played itself out? PLAINTIFF specifically remembers when discussing with WARWICK ALLEN in An Anchor and a Pitchfork one of the reasons why PLAINTIFF deleted HILLARY CLINTON’S emails was that because of something to the effect of: “what am I going to do with her schedule or why do I need her schedules.” American INTEL would most definitely had PLAINTIFF saying that and recorded PLAINTIFF saying that.

So PLAINTIFF is alleging that HILLARY CLINTON, JAKE SULLIVAN, JOHN O. BRENNAN, LEON PANETTA, ROBERT MUELLER, JANET NAPOLITANO, ERIC HOLDER, HAROLD HONGJU KOH knew PLAINTIFF requested to go to DOHA and was rejected in which “this one could go either way.” Either way, both of them acknowledge and know they intentionally kidnapped PLAINTIFF and committed an act of international and domestic terrorism against PLAINTIFF.

What did BARACK OBAMA tell the British Parliament in May 2011? The following: “Together, we have met great challenges. But as we enter this new chapter in our shared history, profound challenges stretch before us. In a world where the prosperity of all nations is now inextricably linked, a new era of cooperation is required to ensure the growth and stability of the global economy. As new threats spread across borders and oceans, we must dismantle terrorist networks and stop the spread of nuclear weapons, confront climate change and combat famine and disease. And as a revolution races through the streets of the Middle East and North Africa, the entire world has a stake in the aspirations of a generation that longs to determine its own destiny. These challenges come at a time when the international order has already been reshaped for a new century. Countries like China, India, and Brazil are growing by leaps and bounds. We should welcome this development, for it has lifted hundreds of millions from poverty around the globe, and created new markets and opportunities for our own nations...

And even as more nations take on the responsibilities of global leadership, our alliance will remain indispensable to the goal of a century that is more peaceful, more prosperous and more just. At a time when threats and challenges require nations to work in concert with one another, we remain the greatest catalysts for global action. In an era defined by the rapid flow of commerce and information, it is our free market tradition, our openness, fortified by our commitment to basic security for our citizens, that offers the best chance of prosperity that is both strong and shared.... That begins with our economic leadership. Adam Smith's central insight remains true today: There is no greater generator of wealth and innovation than a system of free enterprise that unleashes the full potential of individual men and women. That's what led to the Industrial Revolution that began in the factories of Manchester. That is what led to the dawn of the Information Age that arose from the office parks of Silicon Valley. That's why countries like China, India and Brazil are growing so rapidly -- because in fits and starts, they are moving toward market-based principles that the United States and the United Kingdom have always embraced... In other words, we live in a global economy that is largely of our own making. And today, the competition for the best jobs and industries favors countries that are free-thinking and forward-looking; countries with the most creative and innovative and entrepreneurial citizens... But in today's economy, such threats of market failure can no longer be contained within the borders of any one country... And we share a common interest in development that advances dignity and security. To succeed, we must cast aside the impulse to look at impoverished parts of the globe as a place for charity. Instead, we should empower the same forces that have allowed our own people to thrive: We should help the hungry to feed themselves, the doctors who care for the sick. We should support countries that confront corruption, and allow their people to innovate. And we should advance the truth that nations prosper when they allow women and girls to reach their full potential.”²⁶⁷

Confirmed. “trade is in the offing” was counterterrorism precedent in which both countries would obtain more commerce and wealth in which PLAINTIFF was to be used like a slave in which they fabricated material lies against PLAINTIFF and enriched themselves in the process.

HAROLD HONGJU KOH, HILLARY CLINTON, and Larry (last name unknown) wrote on October, 20th, 2011: “I'm so happy things have worked out thus far as they did in Lybia, Harold -- happy for the people there, happy for NATO, happy for the administration, and happy for you personally. It's true that I was among the people who were unpersuaded by your and the WH's legal view of what constitute "hostilities," anIknow hindsight can be 20/20, but in retrospect I have to say that your view of the matter may have been the wiser one. We obviously can't know precisely what the future there will hold, but thus far it's a marvelous triumph and one that sacrificed no American lives and relatively little American treasure. Larry Sent from my iPhone.”²⁶⁸ So HAROLD HONGJU KOH, HILLARY CLINTON, and the White House were all in agreement of what constituted “hostilities.” But PLAINTIFF alleges that fabricated evidence and materially false evidence was used in which there was no way they could have reached the conclusion they did with PLAINTIFF except for relying on perjured testimony and instances of DEFENDANTS murdering PLAINTIFF'S cat, conspiring with Sewanee PD, fabricating evidence repeatedly.

The Court in Sedima, S.P.R.L. v. Imrex Co., 473 U.S. 479 (1985) discussed and necessarily approved of the following: "Mail and Wire Fraud found to have occurred: Courts have sanctioned prosecutions based on deprivations of such intangible rights as a shareholder's right to "material" information, United States v. Siegel, 717 F.2d 9, 14-16 (CA2 1983); a client's right to the "undivided loyalty" of his attorney, United States v. Bronston, 658 F.2d 920, 927 (CA2 1981), cert. denied, 456 U.S. 915 (1982); an employer's right to the honest and faithful service of his employees, United States v. Bohonus, 628 F.2d 1167, 1172 (CA9), cert. denied, 447 U.S. 928 (1980); and a citizen's right to know the nature of agreements entered into by the leaders of political parties, United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108, 123-125 (CA2 1982), cert. denied, 461 U.S. 913 (1983)."

The Court in United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108 (2d Cir. 1982) found and ruled on the basic principle: "fraudulent schemes designed to cause losses of an intangible nature clearly come within the terms of the statute. See United States v. Bronston, 658 F.2d 920 (2d Cir. 1981)...A number of courts have approved the prosecution of allegedly corrupt politicians who did not deprive the citizens of anything of readily identifiable economic value. See, e.g., United States v. Mandel, supra; United States v. Keane, 522 F.2d 534 (7th Cir. 1975)... "From these cases, a basic principle may be distilled: a public official may be prosecuted under 18 U.S.C. § 1341 when his alleged scheme to defraud has as its sole object the deprivation of intangible and abstract political and civil rights of the general citizenry. The definition of fraud is thus construed broadly to effectuate the statute's fundamental purpose in prohibiting the misuse of the mails to further fraudulent enterprises of all kinds." United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108 (2d Cir. 1982)."

The United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108 (2d Cir. 1982) court cited United States v. Keane, 522 F.2d 534 (7th Cir. 1975) in their ruling. The United States v. Keane, 522 F.2d 534 (7th Cir. 1975) provided the following facts in which the court found mail fraud had been committed: "On May 2, 1974, a 21-count indictment was returned against the defendant Keane (a former Alderman in Chicago). The indictment alleged a mail fraud scheme in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1341 in which Keane would purchase through nominees, in some case with advance information, tax delinquent properties at the Cook County scavenger sale in 1966; that these properties would be held in various land trusts without disclosure of the beneficiaries; that they would receive favorable treatment, in having certain encumbrances removed, by the City Council and its various committees and subcommittees, without disclosure of Keane's interest in the properties and with Keane voting on matters that favorably affected his interest; that Keane would vote to authorize the acquisition of parcels in areas in which there were properties in which he had an interest and that he used his position and influence to aid in the sale of the properties to various private and governmental interests."

PLAINTIFF is going to call these the Keane facts:

- 1) you had a government official,

- 2) who had advanced information,
- 3) that involved sales of properties or assets of poor people,
- 4) that there was material information that was intentionally withheld or omitted that furthered the scheme that would reveal the ownership of the properties and reveal the scheme and/or that there was money from the scheme was deposited into an account or a trust at bank in which material facts were omitted
- 5) that the schemers would receive favorable treatment through the removal of obstacles by government officials
- 6) that someone's interest was intentionally omitted and withheld from government officials to further the scheme in which decisions were made on material omissions
- 7) that because of #1, #4, #5, and #6, the government official, through their trust and power bestowed upon that government official by the people, had an ability to take actions that would create benefits for that official in the area they had control over
- 8) the government official used their influence to aid in the sale of the properties to various private and governmental interests."

XX. "TRADE IS IN THE OFFING" IS BOTH A COMMERCIAL ACTIVITY AND/OR A STATE ACT UNDER FSIA.

The fundamental next question becomes what exactly is the legal nature of "trade is in the offering" from a legal perspective. The facts are the following: DEFENDANTS came to an agreement by 09/24/2010 as to the nature and purpose of the "trade is in the offering" plan—initial trade (i.e. commercial acts) in addition to a political purpose to which India, Britain, Qatar, and United States came into an agreement about in which they would derive even more commercial products and acts. Commercial acts are not political decisions. Two things can be true at once—it is both commercial and political. So legally this creates a little quagmire is it commercial or is a state decision. ODEFENDANTS devised a plan for PLAINTIFF to take a series of intentionally created steps in which DEFENDANTS necessarily coerced PLAINTIFF into taking when they knew how much PLAINTIFF had PLAINTIFF'S financial means didn't have the money or means PLAINTIFF is going to argue that whether "trade is in the offering" is a commercial act or if it is a state decision, it leads to the same result. PLAINTIFF is arguing that it is both commercial act and/or a state decision in which there is no immunity over.

(1)XX: "TRADE IS IN THE OFFING" IS A COMMERCIAL ACTIVITY UNDER FSIA.

First, "trade is in the offering" is a commercial act under FSIA in which government officials created it and decided it is immaterial in this case. Trade is in the offering was about trade that would happen both before and after "the offering" occurred in which DEFENDANTS would get even more trade. The underlying theme is that from start to finish was about trade (commercial activity) with an intermediate step in between that was both commercial and political in nature.

The dual nature of the intermediate step does not negate the nature of the commercial activity prior to and after “the offering” occurred. Say you own an ice cream shop and listed on the menu is an ice cream sundae. It is a “secret” condition that a cherry would be put on top of the ice cream sundae when it is being created, made, sold, and presented to a customer in which in the course of making the sundae, a cherry is put on top of the sundae. Putting a cherry on top of a sundae doesn’t make the sundae a fruit salad. It’s still a sundae and it’s still commercial activity. Even more so, the court in Southway v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 198 F.3d 1210 (10th Cir. 1999) (hereon: Southway), the court discussed Cicippio v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 30 F.3d 164 (D.C. Cir. 1994) (hereon: Cicippio) in which the Southway Court said the court in Cicippio suggested that the illegal character of alleged acts may be irrelevant in judging their commercial character under the FSIA. Even if it can be argued that act of trade is in the offering was a state act, there is no doubt as to the illegality of the state act in trade is in the offering; and if the illegality of the decision is irrelevant in determining the commercial activity under FSIA, then “trade is in the offering” is commercial activity under FSIA. Furthermore, the Southway court said: “FSIA defines “commercial activity” as “either a regular course of commercial conduct or a particular commercial transaction or act. The commercial character of an activity shall be determined by reference to the nature of the course of conduct or particular transaction or act, rather than by reference to its purpose.” 28 U.S.C. §1603(d). In Republic of Argentina v. Weltover, 504 U.S. 607 (1992), the Supreme Court further explained the meaning of “commercial” as used in the FSIA: we believe that illegal acts may be done “in connection with” a commercial activity as to invoke the FSIA’s commercial activity exception. [W]hen a foreign government acts, not as regulator of a market, but in the manner of a private player within it, the foreign sovereign’s actions are “commercial” within the meaning of the FSIA. . .” [B]ecause the Act provides that the commercial character of an act is to be determined by reference to its “nature” rather than its “purpose,” 28 U.S.C. § 1603(d), the question is not whether the foreign government is acting with a profit motive or instead with the aim of fulfilling uniquely sovereign objectives. Rather, the issue is whether the particular actions that the foreign state performs (whatever the motive behind them) are the type of actions by which a private party engages in “trade and traffic and commerce.” Southway v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 198 F.3d 1210, 1217 (10th Cir. 1999). Furthermore, this is supported by the following: In addition, the Supreme Court has made it clear that the sovereign’s motive for the commercial activity may not be considered: “it is irrelevant why [a sovereign] participated in [a commercial market] in the manner of a private actor; it matters only that it did so.” Id., 504 U.S. at 617 (emphasis in original). As our Court of Appeals recently noted, “in practice [this standard] means rejecting any argument that rests on the foreign state’s reasons for undertaking the activity alleged to be commercial.” El-Hadad v. United Arab Emirates, 469 F.3d 658, No. 06-7075, 2007 WL 2141943, at *14 (D.C. Cir. Jul. 27, 2007) (emphasis in original). Chalabi v. Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, 503 F. Supp. 2d 267 (D.D.C. 2007). It is immaterial if “trade is in the offering purpose was political,” The United States, Qatar, India, and United Kingdom were all private players in the marketplace in “trade is in the offering” in the commercial marketplace partaking in commercial activity.

Because “trade is in the offering” is a commercial act, materially and more importantly, the plan of “the offering” necessarily required the indispensable PLAINTIFF to affirmatively act in accordance to and follow DEFENDANTS’ proscribed and directed manner and tasks in which DEFENDANTS would obtain $14,900,000,000, BOEING got to sell planes, defense companies sold arms, Qatar Airways would receive cheaper planes, parts, and services from BOEING,

British Airways would receive cheaper planes, parts, and services from BOEING, INDIA got the “deliverables” they wanted, BRITAIN/5 Eyes got more 5 Eyes resources from the Americans, and further additional benefits, so long as the completely indispensable PLAINTIFF completed his tasks according to their proscribed and directed manner--this completion of tasks done in the direction of DEFENDANTS for their complete benefit in which no one else could have done their tasks the way PLAINTIFF did because of what he meant to DEFENDANTS necessarily makes it employment by DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF at no time was offered the ability to negotiate his salary in his completion of tasks in which DEFENDANTS necessarily omitted the benefit DEFENDANTS would derive from PLAINTIFF’S employment/work for them. For all intents and purposes, this is called Slavery where one is legally forced to work at the direction of someone and having an act of international and domestic terrorism against PLAINTIFF in the process. Simply, PLAINTIFF labored for DEFENDANTS. So now PLAINTIFF is seeking compensation for his employment and work for DEFENDANTS knowing the true value and the complete conditionality of “trade is in the offing” in which PLAINTIFF was worth more than $14,900,000,000 and numerous aircraft sales to Qatar, India, and Britain and Boeing because that is the exact price DEFENDANTS placed on PLAINTIFF at the time for his employment for PLAINTIFF’S labor. Whether or not PLAINTIFF consented to “the offing” is immaterial. It is the fact that proscribed and directed steps were undertaken and performed beautifully by PLAINTIFF in which PLAINTIFF labored for DEFENDANTS by providing his services to DEFENDANTS²⁶⁹ at their direction in which DEFENDANTS committed mail and wire fraud by not informing PLAINTIFF of the terms of the employment and they necessarily lied to PLAINTIFF to specific parts of their proscribed methods and directed manner in which they never informed him of the material benefit they would derive from PLAINTIFF.

As PLAINTIFF said: No PLAINTIFF and the “offing,” no $14,900,000,000 or more that was acquired by DEFENDANTS. That is how conditions work. PLAINTIFF is alleging that, ironically, because of how indispensable he was to DEFENDANTS at the time, DEFENDANTS could not have used anyone else in “the offing.” The question remains why was PLAINTIFF a central figure and completely indispensable to DEFENDANTS in “the offing” in which no one else could have pulled off “the offing” for them the way PLAINTIFF did? PLAINTIFF was indispensable because of their history, PLAINTIFF’S history, and their need to further RICO Enterprise 1. Since “the offing” is necessarily derived from RICO Enterprise 1 in which DEFENDANTS violated the HONOR CODE thereby perpetuating mail and wire fraud against PLAINTIFF, it necessarily entails that the $14,900,000,000 and any sales to INDIA involving defense and aviation are necessarily ill-gotten proceeds from DEFENDANTS’ prior acts (therefore, because of how materially indispensable PLAINTIFF was in the “offing,” it is a business and/or property interest). What was material is that DEFENDANTS routinely fabricated malicious narratives concerning Sewanee Sabotage in which DEFENDANTS falsely established the precedent that allegedly PLAINTIFF acted on his specific words in specific plans in specific locations in which it was DEFENDANTS that did the harm and fabricated material evidence to support that proposition against PLAINTIFF’S constitutional, liberty, and property interests. It was DEFENDANTS who induced PLAINTIFF to talk about Terrorism in Peachy Miami. It was DEFENDANTS who furthered RICO Enterprise 1 that planted drugs and a gun in

This Side of the Street and Meth and used the facts of Financial Terrorism to falsely establish PLAINTIFF'S belligerence and that PLAINTIFF was allegedly a violent drug dealer in a completely misleading and fabricated narrative. It was DEFENDANTS who coerced PLAINTIFF into signing the document in Trespass Incident #3 falsely alleging that PLAINTIFF posed a threat to the community. It was DEFENDANTS who intentionally sent Victoria (who was probably a cia/fbi/dod/nsa/dhs undercover officer) in to talk to PLAINTIFF about how to stop a plane in mid-air knowing PLAINTIFF routinely flew overseas (which is just allegedly another plot/plan that PLAINTIFF was falsely going to act on). This leads to just one completely and absolutely irrefutable conclusion: DEFENDANTS themselves knew how indispensable PLAINTIFF was to DEFENDANTS because DEFENDANTS--themselves--necessarily made PLAINTIFF to be indispensable to them.

It was the fact that in DEFENDANTS intentional and willing fabrications to make PLAINTIFF indispensable to them that are drenched with RICO Predicate Acts against PLAINTIFF and significant and major constitutional deprivations and legal fraud perpetuated against the Court that SCOTUS knew about. SCOTUS would only enable DEFENDANTS. So with SCOTUS laying the way to prevent PLAINTIFF from holding any government officers or officials accountable through 2 years of granting cases that were completely adverse to PLAINTIFF that necessarily denied PLAINTIFF access to the Courts, who was going to hold them accountable? HAROLD KOH, BARACK OBAMA, and HILLARY CLINTON all knew Congress couldn't do jackshit and the courts would probably not do jackshit. Since American DEFENDANTS knew that, they relayed such to Indian, Qatari, and British DEFENDANTS. DEFENDANTS knew that PLAINTIFF kind of lived in his own little autistic world and would be the perfect patsy to further their extremely unconstitutional counterterrorism plans, one of which necessarily required them to extend their jurisdiction over Americans anywhere in the world. DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF routinely traveled overseas and it was highly likely and probable PLAINTIFF would do so again. DEFENDANTS knew they had to get the help of the British to establish the overseas precedent because GEORGE SOROS cucked the entire country of England in the 1990s and made Britain America's own patsy to do whatever in the world. DEFENDANTS especially needed India and Qatar because of Qatar and the Military and Navy and INDIA to establish a base to monitor everything upcoming in India and Pakistan (and conceivably the Middle East). The cherry on top of the sundae was the fact that America would make $14,900,000,000 in the process furthering RICO Enterprise 1, what is a terrorist act committed by DEFENDANTS against an American they fabricated everything about from 2008 to 2010? Furthermore, DEFENDANTS needed to coverup their crimes committed against PLAINTIFF. Furthermore, the argument that PLAINTIFF's significance to DEFENDANTS was immaterial to "the offing" is wrong, completely unfounded, and not supported by the facts. If there is an argument that one person can't make third parties rich at the detriment to the original person, that is absolutely wrong. Just imagine if Nike or the Chicago Bulls never paid Michael Jordan and completely denied Michael Jordan from negotiating his salary and payment in Nike. There is a whole movie on the importance of the new precedent Michael Jordan established when it came to payment for his services. Just imagine the loss of revenue the NBA would experience if Michael Jordan or LeBron James never played. Just imagine if Sprite never paid LeBron James and completely used LeBron James without giving Mr. James the ability to negotiate nor pay him for his services. Fine, PLAINTIFF would pose the question to the Court if PLAINTIFF was so immaterial to SCOTUS, have SCOTUS overnight declare all the cases that materially involved PLAINTIFF overruled (PLAINTIFF provides a list of such cases in Star Chambers). These are all converging factors that met in PLAINTIFF in Miki's Tea Party.

As PLAINTIFF argued earlier: DEFENDANTS could have at any time negotiated with DEFENDANTS, but DEFENDANTS refused to do so. The necessary question to have asked between 09/24/2010 and 03/10/2011 is: would PLAINTIFF have consented to the terms of “trade is in the offing” since it effects his labor, business, and property interests and if there was an injury to those? If DEFENDANTS approached PLAINTIFF in 2010/2011 and said you will be part of “the offing” in which an act of international and domestic terrorism would be committed against you and in the process of doing so we will pay you [amount requested in Prayer for Relief Section] and everything stipulated about airlines and planes in the [Prayer for Relief Section] and we will end RICO Enterprise 1 against you once and for all, PLAINTIFF would have told them then that a deal has nearly been reached. Even if we assumed that DEFENDANTS did what they always did back then and omit the facts and totality of circumstances in which DEFENDANTS posed the following to PLAINTIFF: “if you do the “offing” and spend the night in DC on your mom’s credit card, we will get $14,900,000,000+ and more in BOEING Aircraft sales, arms sales, and in the process, further our political and unconstitutional goals,” PLAINTIFF would have considered it for a few minutes in which PLAINTIFF would have then asked “does PLAINTIFF have a seat at the table from now on” after being intentionally socially screwed over by DEFENDANTS in SEWANEE for the last three years at that time because it wasn’t only just about the money to PLAINTIFF then, there was like a 20% chance that PLAINTIFF would have said yes when PLAINTIFF had the ability to negotiate and include that condition to compensate for the damage they did to him already. But had PLAINTIFF been informed how DEFENDANTS unconstitutionally labeled him a counterterrorism threat, DOJ having committed legal fraud upon the Court in which the Court would continue to maliciously undermine 4th Amendment Search and Seizure precedent and prevent PLAINTIFF from holding anyone in DOJ accountable at that time, maliciously take advantage of PLAINTIFF’S disability and punish PLAINTIFF at every waking second in his life for PLAINTIFF’S speech, enable to have 3 different and/or foreign intelligence agencies watch PLAINTIFF every second of the day for 24 hours a day and 7 days a week, commit international and domestic terrorism against PLAINTIFF, penalize PLAINTIFF for Financial Terrorism, continue to have law enforcement fuck with PLAINTIFF’S life further and harm PLAINTIFF, PLAINTIFF will become a slave to DEFENDANTS and become an indentured servant to DEFENDANTS, continue to treat PLAINTIFF cruelly, unequally, maliciously, and unfairly, further RICO Enterprise 1, and in which DEFENDANTS would acquire will get $14,900,000,000+ and more in BOEING Aircraft sales, arms sales because of PLAINTIFF and DEFENDANTS have the ability to extend their completely out of control power anywhere in the world and harm additional people the way they did to PLAINTIFF with no repercussions for their actions and their extremely extensive and detailed plans, PLAINTIFF would have told them via “Itan” “It seems like my bomb has already made you blow it out of your fucking asses.”

That is where the fraud is as well and in PLAINTIFF is arguing in the alternative. By necessarily having committed legal fraud before between 2008-2011 that was not remedied by any stretch of the imagination against PLAINTIFF, Miki's Tea Party was done to furtherance of that fraud and RICO Enterprise 1 in which DEFENDANTS would DERIVE an additional $14,900,000,000 because of their actions regarding PLAINTIFF. PLAINTIFF was the only person the United States Government could have justified doing that to in 2011 after their plans had been created in 2010 because of their material fabrications and obstructions about PLAINTIFF in SEWANEE in which the fraud was perpetuated against PLAINTIFF on the basis of the HONOR CODE violations, law enforcement constitutional deprivations, and legal court proceedings that violated numerous PLAINTIFF'S constitutional rights that PLAINTIFF could have been compensated for at the time. DEFENDANTS were wrong at the time and they had SCOTUS rule the way they did on purpose in regards to PLAINTIFF to prevent PLAINTIFF from deriving any compensation or additional property interests (after they violated PLAINTIFF'S property interest in the HONOR CODE) from the incidents that DEFENDANTS themselves had directed. So back to March 10th, 2011:

PLAINTIFF did all the reasonable due diligence he could that day and before regarding his role "is in the offing." He regularly checked his cell phone at all hours of the day when he was awake (and even sleeping for that matter), he regularly checked his social media profiles daily, he checked his school's mailbox once a week or so, and checked his email accounts at least four to five times daily--DEFENDANTS necessarily knew PLAINTIFF'S cell phone number having unconstitutionally and illegally obtained all the information contained in his phone via the USA PATRIOT ACT and TITLE II, DEFENDANTS necessarily knew his social media accounts (Facebook) via having unconstitutionally and illegally utilized the USA PATRIOT ACT and TITLE II, DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF'S home address & school address and furthermore knew the exact dormitory and room he was living in at SEWANEE (Elliott 31) in 2010 and 2011; DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF'S primary school email account via having unconstitutionally and illegally utilized the USA PATRIOT ACT and TITLE II against PLAINTIFF. These are facts. At no time between 09/24/2010 and 03/11/2011 did DEFENDANTS notify PLAINTIFF of the plans and the cost of "is in the offing" via mail, text message, phone call, Facebook message, email, or even dropping off the paperwork in PLAINTIFF'S dorm room (in which DEFENDANTS had broken into numerous times before and knew PLAINTIFF left it unlocked because of the HONOR CODE and had unconstitutionally and illegally installed surveillance tools in PLAINTIFF'S room at Elliott 31 via Title II and the USA PATRIOT ACT/FISA from either: 01/01/2011-03/11/11 or 09/01/2010 to 12/31/2010 and they could have dropped off the paperwork in PLAINTIFF'S room if they wanted to). Lets be honest here, DEFENDANTS are not above doing things illegally and unconstitutionally here via Title II and the USA PATRIOT ACT so even with their nature at no time between 09/24/2010 and 03/11/2011 did DEFENDANTS hack into PLAINTIFF'S MacBook Pro laptop and leave a document on PLAINTIFF'S desktop with arrows surrounding the document that said "read me" and provide notice or information to PLAINTIFF about the details of "in the offing" to PLAINTIFF on how his services and himself were worth an estimated additional (on top of the fraud they committed before) $14,900,000,000 to DEFENDANTS for him to sign or look over. DEFENDANTS did not notify PLAINTIFF via email, text message, phone call, or text message in London at anytime on 03/11/2011 of "is in the offing" even when they knew his exact whereabouts at all times during that day. At no time did DEFENDANTS contact SEWANEE (seeing how they conspired with numerous SEWANEE officials before) and have SEWANEE officials inform PLAINTIFF of "is in the offing" nor did DEFENDANTS contact PLAINTIFF'S parents and have them inform PLAINTIFF of "is in the offing" (or they did do so, and PLAINTIFF'S parents did not tell PLAINTIFF about it). Absolutely no notice was given to PLAINTIFF about "is in the offing" and how he was in legal fact worth an additional

$14,900,000,000 to DEFENDANTS. Absolutely at no time did DEFENDANTS directly inform PLAINTIFF about “is in the offing.”

This is intentional concealment and omission by DEFENDANTS. See: Neder v. United States, 527 U.S. 1 (1999)(fraud occurs on a misrepresentation or concealment of material fact) (Sandwich Chef of Texas, Inc. v. Reliance National Indemnity Insurance Co., 319 F.3d 205 (5th Cir. 2003) and Summit Properties Inc. v. Hoechst Celanese Corp., 214 F.3d 556 (5th Cir. 2000)(proximate causation could be established where “a plaintiff has either been the target of a fraud or has relied upon the fraudulent conduct of the defendants; 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C.§1862 (d); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (c); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (b); 18 U.S.C.§1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C.§1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C.§226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights.

PLAINTIFF did all the reasonable due diligence that could have been expected from him at the time when PLAINTIFF landed at London-Heathrow involving PLAINTIFF. When PLAINTIFF initially landed and talked to the Qatar Airways representative, she did not inform PLAINTIFF of the true cause of why he would not be allowed to continue to India, which was “in the offing,” and she had directed PLAINTIFF to the Indian embassy. After denying the ability of PLAINTIFF to board the aircraft, the Qatar Airways “representative” did not inform PLAINTIFF of is “in the offing” at that exact time. The Qatar Airways “representative” knew that she had to inform PLAINTIFF on where to go that day at the behest of DEFENDANTS. Whether it was a Qatar Airways representative or Qatar Airways allowing a DEFENDANT officer to pose as a Qatar Airways representative to direct PLAINTIFF to the Indian Embassy, Qatar Airways had legally and necessarily been part of the plan of “is in the offing” prior to and during PLAINTIFF’S time in London and after. This constituted fraud and was aiding and abetting RICO Enterprise 1 by Qatar Airways. Had Qatar Airways been truthful to PLAINTIFF and notified PLAINTIFF about “is in the offing” in addition to the alleged “visa issues” in which Qatar Airways intentionally omitted “is in the offing” from PLAINTIFF that Qatar Airways necessarily knew about, PLAINTIFF would have still gone to the INDIAN embassy anyway BUT necessarily having not consented to “is in the offing” in which PLAINTIFF would have had the express purpose of finding a solution to being able to allow PLAINTIFF to go to India because PLAINTIFF did not consent to “is in the offing.” PLAINTIFF was in the Indian embassy and had talked to an Indian there trying to get an immediate visa to India. The Indian embassy did not inform PLAINTIFF of “trade is in the offing” having necessarily known of the plans from September 24th, 2009, purchasing certain aircraft in October 2009, DEFENDANTS like BARACK OBAMA going to India in which they talked about “trade is in the offing” in November 2009 in which BARACK OBAMA heard of the SpiceJET deal, and more. Even when PLAINTIFF inquired about the business visa at the Indian Embassy that allegedly would have allowed PLAINTIFF to go to India the next day based on what the Indian Embassy representative told PLAINTIFF, that Indian Embassy representative necessarily having talked about business/trade and being allowed to go to India would have immediately brought up “trade is in the offing” as that was the quickest way for PLAINTIFF to go to India because PLAINTIFF did not consent to “trade is in the offing.” The Indian embassy intentionally and materially omitted telling PLAINTIFF about “trade is in the offing” when they had an exact reason, the proper circumstances, and an exact time to inform PLAINTIFF of “trade is in the offing” that would have allowed PLAINTIFF to consent or not to consent to “trade is in the offing.” DEFENDANTS (INDIANS) could have granted the visa, informed PLAINTIFF of “trade is in the offing,” and negotiate with PLAINTIFF because PLAINTIFF would not have consented to “trade is in the offing” had he been informed of such in which he and his services were worth an additional $14,900,000,000 to DEFENDANTS. The fact that PLAINTIFF after doing all the reasonable due diligence in attempting to get the business visa shows that PLAINTIFF did not consent to “trade is in the offing.” DEFENDANTS omitted telling the truth about “trade is in the offing.” The head of the INDIAN Embassy or one of his representatives could have talked to PLAINTIFF because they knew PLAINTIFF was going to be there and asked for his consent of “is in the offing,” but DEFENDANTS did not do this. When PLAINTIFF got to the Indian Embassy that DEFENDANTS necessarily knew he was going to go to for more than a day prior, they could have had one employee in the Indian Embassy wait for him in the entrance and usher him into a room or talk to him as he was waiting in line outside for more than an hour that day and ushered him into a room to look over the details of “is in the offing” and given his consent, but DEFENDANTS did not. This involved all American DEFENDANTS, BRITISH DEFENDANTS, INDIAN DEFENDANTS, and QATAR DEFENDANTS. There are more than 5 opportunities and chances to have properly conveyed “the offing” to PLAINTIFF and DEFENDANTS intentionally failed at each and every single step and opportunity on purpose.

PLAINTIFF did all the due diligence that could have been expected from at the time he arrived back to London-Heathrow after coming from the Indian embassy involving PLAINTIFF. At the exact time that PLAINTIFF had inquired (whether it was the first time the flight was delayed and especially after the second time the flight was delayed further) into why United Airlines Flight #925 was delayed in departing from London-Heathrow in which DEFENDANTS tampered with the plane to make it late, the United Airlines “representative” could have told PLAINTIFF that info and that would have given cause to investigate it further, but DEFENDANTS did not. Had the United Airlines “representative” in London-Heathrow been truthful and intentionally deceitful and omit from PLAINTIFF the details of “is in the offing” that DEFENDANTS necessarily knew about on two separate and distinct occasions, PLAINTIFF would not have consented to “is in the offing” had he been informed of such in which he and his services were worth $14,900,000,000 to DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF inquired the first time into why the plane was delayed and then inquired into why the plane was delayed a second time at London Heathrow. PLAINTIFF could have done what DEFENDANTS always did to PLAINTIFF and enter into prohibited areas and broken into secured areas to figure out the cause, but PLAINTIFF did not. PLAINTIFF could not have committed illegal acts in the course of due diligence and breached security and gone down to the plane to inspect the plane for himself and determine through talking to ground workers on what the exact issues of the plane was that day in which DEFENDANTS tampered with the plane. BRITISH DEFENDANTS could have talked to PLAINTIFF in the 5+ hours he had been in London Heathrow that day in which they had so much CCTV as to know where PLAINTIFF was located at the exact moment inside London-Heathrow, BRITISH DEFENDANTS did not do so. PLAINTIFF is recognizable and doesn’t blend well in the crowd. These are four separate acts of fraud in furthering RICO ENTERPRISE 1 involving AMERICAN DEFENDANTS, UNITED AIRLINES, BRITISH DEFENDANTS, and INDIAN DEFENDANTS. So this is at minimum at least nine total times that PLAINTIFF inquired or DEFENDANTS had the opportunity to inform PLAINTIFF of “is in the offing.”

PLAINTIFF did exactly all the reasonable due diligence that was exactly required out of PLAINTIFF at the exact right time to determine his actions accordingly. DEFENDANTS knew the exact time the plane departed from London-Heathrow and landed at DULLES. PLAINTIFF landed in DULLES. PLAINTIFF got off the plane in which DEFENDANTS had tampered with the plane to make it late to Dulles because PLAINTIFF was worth an additional estimated $14,900,000,000 to DEFENDANTS. At no time in the flight did United Airlines communicate with PLAINTIFF about the details of “is in the offing” in which PLAINTIFF would not have consented. In the alternative, at no time did DEFENDANTS inform United Airlines (had they truly not known) about details of “is in the offing” that day in London or during the flight in which they would have necessarily become a party to it in which United Airlines could have informed PLAINTIFF and United Airlines could have not consented to it. Had United Airlines staff informed PLAINTIFF of “is in the offing” during 1-4 hours in the flight, PLAINTIFF would not have consented and would have asked the pilots to increase speed of the aircraft to get PLAINTIFF to land in Dulles 10 minutes early so he could have made his connecting flight (let alone being informed at the gate about whether or not he would consent to “is in the offing.”) DEFENDANTS did not communicate to the United Airlines in the course of the flight (between 1-4 hours in the flight) to make the plane arrive 10 minutes early to allow PLAINTIFF to make his connecting flight since they became a party to it and to inform PLAINTIFF of “is in the offing” at the gate to allow PLAINTIFF to make a decision that United Airlines and DEFENDANTS knew about at that time. DEFENDANTS did not do this. This is more than 10 times that day that things could have gone differently, but DEFENDANTS intentionally did not do these actions.

PLAINTIFF did exactly all the reasonable due diligence that was exactly required out of PLAINTIFF at the exact right time to determine his actions accordingly. At no time did DEFENDANTS take any affirmative step or action of allowing PLAINTIFF to make his flight to Chicago from the moment PLAINTIFF landed in Dulles. When PLAINTIFF deboarded the flight from London-Heathrow, there was no one that informed him at that gate of the plans of “is in the offing” in which he would not have consented because he would not have wanted DEFENDANTS to make an additional $14,900,000,000 in which he would have been seized by DEFENDANTS that made him a slave to DEFENDANTS. PLAINTIFF would have ran like his life had depended on it and would have pissed himself in the process to make the connecting flight to Chicago had he been made aware of “is in the offing.” Speaking of running, DEFENDANTS knew that “Miki Kotevski does not run”—DEFENDANTS knew that from Peachy Miami, PLAINTIFF lost weight by rowing (but was a little chonky at this point in 2010 weighing around 240ish), DEFENDANTS having observed PLAINTIFF routinely knew he never jogged, never ran for fun as a hobby, his cardio at the gym would be but a certain guarantee of PLAINTIFF being on the elliptical, bike, or row machine, PLAINTIFF never ran outside of Fowler Gym at SEWANEE the entire time he was in college (even if by miracle out of the infinitely small possibility that PLAINTIFF did run anywhere on campus in conjunction with the infinitely small possibility that DEFENDANTS had recorded in some way, it couldn't have been more than 10 seconds max). DEFENDANTS knew PLAINTIFF his entire junior year biked from Quintard to central campus. PLAINTIFF did not run then. Period. Even if it could be plausibly argued that DEFENDANTS didn't have to inform PLAINTIFF about "trade is in the offing" (which is a lie because of the express conditionality of it because it was absolutely conditioned on PLAINTIFF that required his knowledge as not to perpetuate the fraud further), PLAINTIFF did something completely out of character for PLAINTIFF to show that he did not consent to "trade is in the offing." PLAINTIFF ran. PLAINTIFF uncharacteristically ran in Dulles trying to make the connection, but attempts were had and PLAINTIFF tried. PLAINTIFF did multiple short bursts of running trying to make the connecting flight. To PLAINTIFF, at a minimum, it was completely beyond his reasonable due diligence required of him trying to make the connection in Chicago that was only made possible by DEFENDANTS schemes.

See: Neder v. United States, 527 U.S. 1 (1999)(fraud occurs on a misrepresentation or concealment of material fact) (*Sandwich Chef of Texas, Inc. v. PLAINTIFF ran at those bursts because PLAINTIFF did not consent to "trade is in the offing." When PLAINTIFF arrived at the gate and observed one or two United Airlines "representatives" still at the gate for the flight to Chicago. PLAINTIFF still sees the United Airlines aircraft attached to the airbridge and is still at the gate. The "United Airlines" "representative" only informed that he was just short of making the flight. The "United Airlines" "representative" did not inform PLAINTIFF of "trade is in the offing" because DEFENDANTS intentionally omitted the truth from PLAINTIFF as to why he was not allowed to board the aircraft after he requested to get on the aircraft at the gate. All the due diligence required here was that PLAINTIFF ask to be allowed on the flight. PLAINTIFF did. PLAINTIFF then demanded to open the door and gate. DEFENDANTS did not. If PLAINTIFF acted like DEFENDANTS through the years (especially in 2008 and 2009), PLAINTIFF should have kicked down the door at the gate and barge right on in to the aircraft and PLAINTIFF should have seized the aircraft without a warrant or probable cause. So PLAINTIFF is asking for that plane as well. PLAINTIFF kicked and screamed showing that he had not consented to “trade is in the offing” after having performed all reasonable due diligence required out of him at the time from being directed by Qatar Airways “representative” to go to the Indian embassy, having gone to the Indian embassy in which there were at least 15 times and more than 8 hours to have properly notified PLAINTIFF of “trade is in the offing.” DEFENDANTS intentionally did not in order to derive an additional $14,900,000,000 and future income.

The deliberate omission of “trade is in the offing” necessarily related to trade and it was not to honest government services. Therefore, it necessarily constituted mail and wire fraud. PLAINTIFF would not have consented had he been informed of the true causes after performing reasonable due diligence at the exact time it was required. Necessarily, DEFENDANTS obtained $14,900,000,000 via mail and wire fraud and committed an international and domestic act of terrorism against PLAINTIFF in the process.

XX. Was PLAINTIFF’S kidnapping in “the offing” commercial in nature or was it a state act for FSIA purposes? Either/or.

Here is an intriguing question: was the kidnapping a commercial act under FSIA?

18 U.S. Code § 2331 defines international and domestic terrorism as having occurred when one does an act that is dangerous to human life in violation of the criminal laws of the United States or any state (or would be a criminal violation if committed within the jurisdiction of the United States or any state) in which that individual acts in a manner dangerous to human life that is a violation of the criminal laws of the United States or of any State, or that would be a criminal violation if committed within the jurisdiction of the United States or of any State and appears to be intended to affect the government by kidnapping. 18 U.S.C. §226

So there’s no way that the United States Government can argue that aircraft sabotage is not illegal or is an act dangerous to human life. Then American Intel and British Intel kidnapped PLAINTIFF in DULLES to INTENTIONALLY AFFECT the conduct of the United States Government, British Government, Qatar Government, and Indian Government. That's international and domestic terrorism. So is it possible to construe the act of international and domestic terrorism against PLAINTIFF as commercial in nature under FSIA for the United Kingdom (as well as Qatar and India)? There is a case on point:

“Insisting that a given act be judged in context before concluding whether it is commercial activity is not inconsistent with eschewing consideration of purpose. The provision of the statute which requires us to ignore purpose was obviously designed to prevent the foreign sovereign from casting a governmental purpose, which always can be found, as a cloak of protection over typical commercial activities, not to reach out to cover all sorts of alleged nefarious acts that are grist for John Le Carre novels. Here the kidnapping by itself cannot possibly be described as an act typically performed by participants in the market (unless one distorts the notion of a marketplace to include a hostage bazaar). That money was allegedly sought from relatives of the hostages could not make an ordinary kidnapping a commercial act any more than murder by itself would be treated as a commercial activity merely because the killer is paid. Perhaps a kidnapping of a commercial rival could be thought to be a commercial activity. If so, it would not be because the kidnappers demanded a ransom, but because the kidnapping took place in a commercial context.” Cicippio v. Islamic Republic, 30 F.3d 164, 168 (D.C. Cir. 1994)

British Intel and American Intel's cover ended up being a double-edged sword for the United Kingdom, Qatar, and India. Precisely because American Intel, British Intel, etc cover was in a commercial context of PLAINTIFF'S flights, it ended up becoming commercial in nature. The Supreme Court in 1993 would have agreed with PLAINTIFF'S analysis because:

"[B]ecause [FSIA] provides that the commercial character of an act is to be determined by reference to its 'nature,' rather than its 'purpose,' the question is not whether the foreign government is acting with a profit motive or instead with the aim of fulfilling uniquely sovereign objectives. Rather, the issue is whether the particular actions that the foreign state performs (whatever the motive behind them) are the type of actions by which a private party engages in 'trade and traffic or commerce.'"...Therefore, had the hospital retaliated against Nelson by hiring thugs to do the job, I assume the majority — no longer able to describe this conduct as "a foreign state's exercise of the power of its police,"--would consent to calling it "commercial." For, in such circumstances, the state-run hospital would be operating as any private participant in the marketplace, and respondents' action would be based on the operation by Saudi Arabia's agents of a commercial business.” Saudi Arabia v. Nelson, 507 U.S. 349 (1993)

So, if it is not terrorism for state purposes, then PLAINTIFF'S kidnapping could be construed as commercial in nature. “The offing” could be construed as a necessary economic condition to occur and any purpose could be vitiated for commercial activity purposes under FSIA. Therefore, PLAINTIFF'S “the offing” is economically connected to the trade between the United Kingdom, United States, Qatar, and India and that trade would have occurred but for PLAINTIFF'S economic interests in “trade is in the offing.” PLAINTIFF acquired his economic interests when he was kidnapped in which his economic interests were worth $14,900,000,000.

XX. What was the nature of the “offing”

So if the offering is not a state act terrorism against PLAINTIFF and if there was no economic interests in kidnapping, then PLAINTIFF has this even more valid legal argument saying PLAINTIFF had an extreme economic interest in “the offering.”

Here is an intriguing question: was the kidnapping a commercial act under FSIA? As PLAINTIFF has proven thus far, American INTEL treated PLAINTIFF like a rival or separatist (when he wasn’t in the first place based on PLAINTIFF’S actions). PLAINTIFF will grant their erroneous assumption based on their actions.

If American Intel, British Intel, Indian Intel, Qatari Intel, White House, xx et. al say they arrested PLAINTIFF or seized PLAINTIFF in Washington D.C, they all had the specific intent on placing and returning PLAINTIFF to a condition of peonage in which they violated 18 U.S. Code § 1581. They violated 18 U.S. Code § 1581 when they HELD PLAINTIFF in Washington D.C. and in London to a condition of peonage in which they made $14,900,000,000 in the process by holding PLAINTIFF in both London and Washington DC and PLAINTIFF received nothing and is in over $325,000 in debt to the United States Government. When PLAINTIFF left London, they placed PLAINTIFF to a condition of peonage. Every single person within American Intel, British Intel, Indian Qatari Intel has obstructed and at a minimum attempted to obstruct as to prevent the enforcement of 18 U.S. Code §1581 because they never informed PLAINTIFF and when given the opportunity within the applicable statute of limitations, they intentionally withheld PLAINTIFF from knowing about trade is in the offering, and never paid PLAINTIFF for his services and labor. Furthermore, when PLAINTIFF was in Washington D.C. and went to visit with DOJ, CIA, FBI, and FISA court, they all turned him away and that was within the applicable statute of limitations in which they could have informed PLAINTIFF of “trade is in the offering.” That is obstruction because they all knew PLAINTIFF was in town with the intent on visiting them in person and they still withheld information. Because of this peonage in created in “trade is in the offering,” they kidnapped PLAINTIFF in the process, DEFENDANTS would later commit aggravated sexual abuse in An Anchor and a Pitchfork partly because of “trade is in the offering,” and attempted to kill PLAINTIFF in 2017 because of Miki’s Tea Party, An Anchor and a Pitchfork, and PLAINTIFF having discovered RICO Enterprise 2 in 2016 and 2017.

If the “trade in the offering” incident wasn’t a seizure and if it wasn’t a job, then it was slavery. Then—sorry United Airlines and Delta Airlines-- American Intel, British Intel, Indian Intel, Qatari Intel, White House, xx et. al. violated 18 U.S. Code § 1582, it is illegal for: “Whoever, whether as master, factor, or owner, builds, fits out, equips, loads, or otherwise prepares or sends away any vessel, in any port or place within the United States, or causes such vessel to sail from any such port or place, for the purpose of procuring any person from any foreign kingdom or country to be transported and held, sold, or otherwise disposed of as a slave, or held to service or labor, shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than seven years, or both.” So they being a factor fit out, equipped, loaded and prepared an aircraft by sabotaging it in London and then loaded PLAINTIFF into their intentionally selected aircraft and made it land in Washington D.C. to get $14,900,000,000 and to obtain beyond jurisdiction. Because of this slavery, they kidnapped PLAINTIFF in the process, DEFENDANTS would later commit aggravated sexual abuse in An Anchor and a Pitchfork partly because of Miki’s Tea Party, and attempted to kill PLAINTIFF in 2017 because of Miki's Tea Party, An Anchor and a Pitchfork, and PLAINTIFF having discovered RICO Enterprise 2.

If the "trade in the offing" incident wasn't a seizure and if it wasn't a job/forced labor, then it constituted slavery. Then—sorry United Airlines and Delta Airlines-- American Intel, British Intel, Indian Intel, Qatari Intel, White House, xx et. al. violated 18 U.S. Code § 1583 in which they kidnapped and carried away PLAINTIFF with the intent that PLAINTIFF be sold into involuntary servitude by selling PLAINTIFF at $14,900,000 and they kidnapped and carried away PLAINTIFF with the intent that PLAINTIFF be held in Washington D.C for them to obtain $14,900,000,000 and PLAINTIFF received nothing from that and is in over $325,000 in debt to the United States Government. But for Qatar Airways inducing PLAINTIFF to go to the Indian Embassy, but for the Indian Embassy and India agreeing with Hillary Clinton, Harold Koh, Huma Abedin, and Barack Obama with trade is in the offing plan, but for British Intel sending PLAINTIFF out of the country to Washington DC, and but for DEFENDANTS inducing PLAINTIFF to board the aircraft to go to Washington DC in which they all had the specific intent that PLAINTIFF be made or held as a slave and/or sent PLAINTIFF out of the United Kingdom to be made or so held as a slave. Every single person within American Intel, British Intel, Indian Qatari Intel has obstructed and at a minimum attempted to obstruct as to prevent the enforcement of 18 U.S. Code § 1583 because they never informed PLAINTIFF and when given the opportunity within the applicable statute of limitations and when trade is in the offing was planned and when PLAINTIFF was in United Kingdom on March 11, 2011, they intentionally withheld PLAINTIFF from knowing about trade is in the offing. Furthermore, when PLAINTIFF was in Washington D.C. and went to visit with DOJ, CIA, FBI, and FISA court, they all turned him away and that was within the applicable statute of limitations in which they could have informed PLAINTIFF of "trade is in the offing." That is obstruction because they all knew PLAINTIFF was in town with the intent on visiting them in person and they still withheld information. If the "trade in the offing" incident wasn't a seizure and if it wasn't a slavery, then it was job and forced labor. Then American Intel, British Intel, Indian Intel, Qatari Intel, White House, xx et. al. violated 18 U.S. Code § 1584 in which they knowingly and willfully held PLAINTIFF to involuntary servitude or they sold PLAINTIFF into a condition of involuntary servitude in which they planned "trade is in the offing" in the United States and then brought PLAINTIFF from the United Kingdom to the United States and held PLAINTIFF in a condition of involuntary servitude in which they obtained $14,900,000,000 and PLAINTIFF received nothing and is in over $325,000 in debt to the United States Government in which harm will continue to befall upon PLAINTIFF. Every single person within American Intel, British Intel, Indian Qatari Intel has obstructed and at a minimum attempted to obstruct as to prevent the enforcement of 18 U.S. Code § 1584 because they never informed PLAINTIFF and when given the opportunity within the applicable statute of limitations, when "trade is in the offing" was planned, and when PLAINTIFF was in United Kingdom on March 11, 2011, they all intentionally withheld PLAINTIFF from knowing about "trade is in the offing," which is obstruction. Furthermore, when PLAINTIFF was in Washington D.C. and went to visit with DOJ, CIA, FBI, and FISA court, they all turned him away and that was within the applicable statute of limitations in which they could have informed PLAINTIFF of “trade is in the offing.” That is obstruction because they all knew PLAINTIFF was in town with the intent on visiting them in person and they still withheld information about “trade is in the offing.” Because of this involuntary servitude, they kidnapped PLAINTIFF in the process, DEFENDANTS would later commit aggravated sexual abuse in An Anchor and a Pitchfork partly because of Miki’s Tea Party, and attempted to kill PLAINTIFF in 2017 because of Miki’s Tea Party, An Anchor and a Pitchfork, and PLAINTIFF having discovered RICO Enterprise 2.

The DEFENDANTS in U.S. v. Kaufman, 546 F.3d 1242 10th Cir. 2008), are very much like DEFENDANTS in this complaint in regard to An Anchor and a Pitchfork and Miki’s Tea Party. The Kaufman’s exploited disabled individuals who were forced to live in squalid conditions and work for them taking full advantage of their disabilities. The court in U.S. v. Kaufman, 546 F.3d 1242 10th Cir. 2008) talked about the definition of “involuntary servitude,” “labor,” or “services:”

“Neither statute defines the terms "involuntary servitude," "labor," or "services."

However, Instruction 14C, which explained the involuntary servitude counts, stated that:

The term "involuntary servitude" means a condition of compulsory service in which the alleged victim is compelled to perform labor or services against the victim's will for the benefit of a defendant due to the use or threat of physical restraint or physical injury, or by the use or threat of coercion through law or the legal process. Rec. vol. 5, doc. 305, instr. 14C.

Instruction 16 informed the jury that, in deciding whether the Kaufmans had violated the forced labor statute,

[Y]ou must decide whether the defendant obtained the labor or services of another person, namely, the alleged victim named in that particular count of the indictment. "Obtain" means to gain, acquire, or attain. "Labor" means the expenditure of physical or mental effort. "Services" means conduct or performance that assists or benefits someone or something.”

The Court went off on the Kaufman’s for alleging those aforementioned definitions were too broad in which the court said:

“First, as the government observes, the jury instructions' definitions of "labor" and "services" set forth the ordinary meaning of those terms. See 8 OXFORD ENGLISH DICTIONARY 559 (2d ed. 1989) (defining "labour" as "[e]xertion of the faculties of the body or mind, esp. when painful or compulsory; bodily or mental toil"); 15 OXFORD ENGLISH DICTIONARY 34, 36 (2d ed. 1989) (defining "service" as "[t]he condition of being a servant; the fact of serving a master" and as "[t]he action of serving, helping, or benefitting; conduct tending to the welfare or advantage of another"); see also Hackwell v. United States, 491 F.3d 1229, 1233-34 (10th Cir. 2007) (relying on the RANDOM HOUSE DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE'S definition of services as "the performance of any duties or work for another").

Moreover, the authorities on which the Kaufmans rely do not establish that "labor" and "services" under the involuntary servitude and forced labor statutes are limited to "work in an economic sense." In Kozminski 487 U.S. at 945, 108 S.Ct. 2751, the Supreme Court considered the "involuntary" component of the phrase "involuntary servitude" in § 1584. The Court concluded that Congress had borrowed the phrase from the Thirteenth Amendment, and it therefore interpreted the statute "in a way consistent with the understanding of the Thirteenth Amendment that prevailed at the time of § 1584's enactment." Id. at 945, 108 S.Ct. 2751. Rejecting the government's argument, the Court held that "compulsion of services by the use or threatened use of physical coercion is a necessary incident of a condition of involuntary servitude." Id. at 952, 108 S.Ct. 2751. Kozminski thus addressed the means by which services are coerced, but it did not determine what kinds of services are covered by § 1584. See id. at 942, 108 S.Ct. 2751 (stating that "while the general spirit of the phrase 'involuntary servitude' is easily comprehended, the exact range of conditions it prohibits is harder to define"). As to the forced labor statute, § 1589, we note that Congress enacted it as part of the Trafficking Victims Protection Act of 2000, a subset of the Victims of Trafficking and Violence Protection Act of 2000, Pub.L. No. 106-386, 114 Stat. 1464 (2000). See United States v. Bradley, 390 F.3d 145, 150 (1st Cir. 2004) (discussing § 1589). The stated purpose of the Trafficking Victims Protection Act is to "combat trafficking in persons, a contemporary manifestation of slavery whose victims are predominantly women and children, to ensure just and effective punishment of traffickers, and to protect their victims." 22 U.S.C. § 7101(a).

The legislative history reveals that, in enacting § 1589, Congress sought to expand Kozminski's limited definition of coercion under § 1584, stating that "[s]ection 1589 will provide federal prosecutors with the tools to combat severe forms of worker exploitation that do not rise to the level of involuntary servitude as defined in Kozminski." See H.R. Conf. Rep. No. 106-939, at 101, as reprinted in 2000 U.S.C.C.A.N. 1380, 1393. There is no indication that Congress sought to limit the scope of "labor or services" in the manner suggested by the Kaufmans.

We acknowledge that many cases invoked by the Kaufmans and interpreting the Thirteenth Amendment, § 1584, and § 1589 involve "work that was economic in nature" and describe slavery and involuntary servitude in economic terms. See, e.g., Pollock v. Williams, 322 U.S. 4, 17, 64 S.Ct. 792, 88 L.Ed. 1095 (1944) ("The undoubted aim of the Thirteenth Amendment as implemented by the Antipeonage Act was not merely to end slavery but to maintain a system of completely free and voluntary labor throughout the United States."). Nevertheless, the authorities invoked by the Kaufmans also describe slavery and involuntary servitude in a broader fashion. For example, in Bailey v. Alabama, 219 U.S. 219, 31 S.Ct. 145, 55 L.Ed. 191 (1911), the Court stated that [t]he words involuntary servitude [in the 13th Amendment] have a larger meaning than slavery. . . . The plain intention was to abolish slavery of whatever name and form and all its badges and incidents; to render impossible any state of bondage; to make labor free, by prohibiting that control by which the personal service of one man is disposed of or coerced for another's benefit, which is the essence of involuntary servitude.

Id. at 241, 31 S.Ct. 145 (emphasis added) (internal quotation marks omitted).

Moreover, the fact that these various authorities describe slavery in economic terms does not mean that was all there was to the institution or that the Thirteenth Amendment and the subsequent legislation implementing it apply only to economic relationships. Indeed, scholars have discerned a broader meaning in the condition of slavery and the legislation that abolished it. In Professor Amar's assessment, "many slaves were in fact the victims of sadism and torture rather than being put in the fields[,] . . . and yet they were surely covered by the core of the Thirteenth Amendment." Akhil Reed Amar, Remember the Thirteenth, 10 CONST. COMMENT. 403, 405 (1993); Neal Kumar Katyal, Men Who Own Women: A Thirteenth Amendment Critique of Forced Prostitution, 103 YALE L.J. 793, 796, 811 (1993) (observing that "the context of coerced prostitution, which involves compelled sexual chores, surrounds the Thirteenth Amendment's prohibition against forced labor"). That analysis supports the government's contention that §§ 1584 and 1589 are applicable here. In our view, if an antebellum slave was relieved of the responsibility for harvesting cotton, brought into his master's house, directed to disrobe and then engage in the various acts performed by the Kaufman House residents on the videotapes (e.g., masturbation and genital shaving), his or her condition could still be fairly described as one of involuntary servitude and forced labor." U.S. v. Kaufman, 546 F.3d 1242, 1261-62 (10th Cir. 2008)

For all intents and purposes, Hillary Clinton, Harold Koh, etc. XX were PLAINTIFF'S masters. The inescapable conclusion was that they were my masters. Why? If PLAINTIFF was not their servant or slave, then PLAINTIFF would have been allowed to have gone to Doha after having paid for the trip to go to Doha from London. DEFENDANTS XX coerced PLAINTIFF through "law" and "legal process" in which they falsely alleged and concluded PLAINTIFF did not have a specific right to travel to Doha--in which PLAINTIFF paid to exercise that right to Qatar Airways-- and denied PLAINTIFF through "legal process" of not giving him the ticket he paid for allowing PLAINTIFF to go to Doha. PLAINTIFF was forced to serve his masters when they denied him the ability to freely leave in their XX and XX conspiracies. Suppose even if PLAINTIFF called the cops on Qatar Airways, would the cops in London have taken PLAINTIFF'S side or would they have gone along with what MI5 and MI6 had directed them to do via XX. Then Qatar Airways via their Qatar Airways representative falsely asserted that the only legal process for PLAINTIFF was for PLAINTIFF to go to the Indian Embassy when it was not his only legal option. PLAINTIFF obeyed his masters and servants wishes and provided the service of going to the Indian Embassy, interacting with the Indian Embassy, leaving the Indian Embassy, and then returning back to London-Heathrow. Then DEFENDANTS either: hacked into PLAINTIFF'S phone directing PLAINTIFF into taking United Airlines Flight #925 to Dulles flight and/or DEFENDANTS tampered with the United Airlines Boeing 777 and/or its GE90 Engines via access given to them through United Airlines, GE, Heathrow/BAA plc, and/or BOEING. PLAINTIFF provided the services of waiting in Heathrow and obeying his masters' wishes of having him take the flight to Dulles because it was exactly what my masters' had planned and wished. Furthermore, tampering with the plane or united airlines system is a physical compulsion against PLAINTIFF but for the physical intrusion on to the United Airlines BOEING 777, that flight would not have been delayed and physically forced PLAINTIFF into waiting. PLAINTIFF had no other means of escape nor money to leave Heathrow. So PLAINTIFF leaves London-Heathrow and flight goes smoothly. Then PLAINTIFF does one of the few things he never did at that time and started running AS TO TECHNICALLY ESCAPE HIS MASTERS. PLAINTIFF ran for one of the only few times in his life during Sewanee and he made it to the gate on time. Then PLAINTIFF'S masters prohibited him from escaping his masters and their devious plans when all they had to do was make a brief phone call and open two doors—that's all they had to do. PLAINTIFF'S masters knew PLAINTIFF disobeyed them by not following protocol by running to escape them and they still denied him the escape he desired. PLAINTIFF'S masters at any time could have told the United Airlines flight to hurry from London to Dulles. PLAINTIFF'S masters prevented him from leaving Washington DC thereby ensuring "trade is in the offing" would occur. PLAINTIFF mentally toiled and exerted himself in two different countries and performed services of the mind and body. Therefore, PLAINTIFF provided compulsory service in which PLAINTIFF was compelled to perform labor and services against PLAINTIFF's will for the benefit of PLAINTIFF'S masters due to actual physical restraint, physical injury, and prohibition on exercising PLAINTIFF'S constitutional rights to leave in which PLAINTIFF'S masters coerced PLAINTIFF to do so through law and legal process against his rights. PERIOD.

U.S. Code § 1587 prohibits: Whoever, being the captain, master, or commander of any vessel found in any river, port, bay, harbor, or on the high seas [i.e. over the Atlantic ocean] within the jurisdiction of the United States, or hovering off the coast thereof, and having on board any person for the purpose of selling such person as a slave, or with intent to land such person for that purpose. American, British, Indian, and Qatari Defendants/American Intel were essentially captains and commanders of the plane because American intel intentionally made it late which shows control over the aircraft/vessel because of their actions to it. Yea when you seek to have United States jurisdiction go beyond borders, this includes America obtaining jurisdiction over the entire Atlantic ocean and in London (and Tokyo as well). So they violated U.S. Code § 1587.

If it was not a job in which the masters (i.e. American Intel, India, Britain, Qatar) would receive $14,900,000,000 in trade on the condition of PLAINTIFF, then PLAINTIFF became a slave. 18 U.S. Code § 1588 prohibits Whoever, being the master or owner or person having charge of any aircraft (in which they had charge by making it late in arriving in Washington D.C.), receives on board any other person with the knowledge or intent that such person is to be carried from any place within the United States to any other place to be held or sold as a slave (PLAINTIFF was sold for a price tag of $14,900,000,000 in trade is in the offing), or carries away from any place within the United States any such person with the intent that he may be so held or sold as a slave (in which DEFENDANTS HELD ME after having sold PLAINTIFF for $14,900,000,000), shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than 10 years, or both. American Intel violated U.S. Code §1588.

If it was a job in which forced labor was used, then DEFENDANTS violated 18 U.S. Code § 1589 - Forced labor because 1) they used force to sabotage the aircraft in London and then they physically restrained PLAINTIFF in Washington DC in which PLAINTIFF was not free to leave after performing work for them in which they prevented PLAINTIFF from continuing on to Chicago; 2) used means of serious harm against PLAINTIFF when they committed an act of international and domestic terrorism against PLAINTIFF and that is a serious harm; 3) American Intel/India/Indian Intel abused legal process and law by extending national jurisdiction beyond limits in which American Intel/India/Indian Intel got jurisdiction through an act of international and domestic terrorism beyond jurisdiction limits (which is an abuse of legal process and law; 4) had devised a scheme, plan, and pattern that physically restrained PLAINTIFF in Washington D.C. because of the plan and scheme of "trade is in the offing” by American Intel and Hillary Clinton and Harold Koh. American Intel, British Intel, Qatar, Indian Intel, India knowingly benefited from trade is in the offing, financially benefitted from trade is in the offing and received numerous things of value from participation in a venture which has engaged in the providing or obtaining of labor or services by any of the means described above.

American INTEL violated 18 U.S. Code §1590. American Intel knowingly harbored, transported, obtained by fraudulent means PLAINTIFF when they sabotaged the aircraft in which they needed PLAINTIFF’S labor and/or services in the Indian Embassy in London by being there in person so that Indians could get jurisdiction over PLAINTIFF, in London because PLAINTIFF had to travel and go in London to get to the Indian Embassy, in Heathrow to get to the gate on time, wait at the gate, and board the aircraft, and Washington D.C in which he necessarily had to be there and be prevented from going anywhere with PLAINTIFF’S concocted background that American Intel significantly contributed in creating based on racketeering from before.

Under 18 U.S. Code §1592, it is a crime for DEFENDANTS to “knowingly destroys, conceal, removes confiscate, or possess any actual or purported passport or other immigration document, or any other actual or purported government identification document, of another person” in the course of a violation of section 1581, 1583, 1584, 1589, 1590, 1591, or 1594(a) with the intent to violate section 1581, 1583, 1584, 1589, 1590, or 1591.

Under 18 U.S. Code § 1593, Notwithstanding section 3663 or 3663A, and in addition to any other civil or criminal penalties authorized by law (i.e. RICO), the court shall order restitution for any offense under this chapter. The order of restitution under this section shall direct the defendant to pay the victim (through the appropriate court mechanism) the full amount of the victim’s losses, as determined by the court under paragraph (3) of this subsection.

18 U.S. Code § 1593A makes it a crime to any DEFENDANT that “knowingly benefits, financially or by receiving anything of value, from participation in a venture which has engaged in any act in violation of this chapter, knowing or in reckless disregard of the fact that the venture has engaged in such violation.”

True, under 18 U.S. Code § 1595, there is a 10-year statute of limitations. However, Illinois Compiled Statutes 735 ILCS 5/13-215 provides the following--Fraudulent concealment: If a person liable to an action fraudulently conceals the cause of such action from the knowledge of the person entitled thereto, the action may be commenced at any time within 5 years after the person entitled to bring the same discovers that he or she has such cause of action, and not afterwards. PLAINTIFF did not discover “the offing” until August 2023 when he was in Illinois. American Intel, British Intel, Indian Intel, Qatari Intel necessarily know that is the truth after having PLAINTIFF under surveillance since 2011. Not once did PLAINTIFF directly bring up “the offing” until August 2023.

In the alternative, there was a contract, then Louisiana Civil Code Art. 1939. “When an offeror invites an offeree to accept by performance and, according to usage or the nature or the terms of the contract, it is contemplated that the performance will be completed if commenced, a contract is formed when the offeree begins the requested performance.” As soon as PLAINTIFF started to talk to the Qatar Airways representative that was directed by Hillary Clinton, Shiek Qatar, Alistair Burt, PLAINTIFF had accepted the terms of the condition of the contract through PLAINTIFF’S performance. Under Louisiana Civil Code Article Art. 1940: “When, according to usage or the nature of the contract, or its own terms, an offer made to a particular offeree can be accepted only by rendering a completed performance, the offeror cannot revoke the offer, once the offeree has begun to perform, for the reasonable time necessary to complete the performance. The offeree, however, is not bound to complete the performance he has begun.” PLAINTIFF wasn’t bound to complete the performance PLAINTIFF began when he started to talk to the Qatar Airways representative, but he completed it as they had so directed. Louisiana Civil Code Article 1942 states: “When, because of special circumstances, the offeree's silence leads the offeror reasonably to believe that a contract has been formed, the offer is deemed accepted. Hillary Clinton, et al knew PLAINTIFF as the offeree had accepted the terms and completed the task as soon as he finished kicking the benches at Dulles and screaming in Dulles. They had PLAINTIFF under surveillance and monitored PLAINTIFF’S progress from the moment he landed in London-Heathrow through leaving Dulles. If there was a contract, Tenet v. Doe, 544 U.S. 1 (2009) does not apply because the central and core case Tenet v. Doe, 544 U.S. 1 (2009) relied upon was a spy in the rebel army who had contracted his services with the Union Army; and in that case, the spy actually had the opportunity to negotiate his terms of employment prior to engaging in the work. In PLAINTIFF’S case, there was no consideration under Louisiana law, no meeting of the minds, it was completely unconscionable, etc.

In support of PLAINTIFF’S allegations that American Intel, the White House, State Department, British Intel, Indian Intel, Qatari Intel, India, Qatar, and the United Kingdom violated 18 U.S. Code § 1581, 18 U.S. Code § 1582, 18 U.S. Code §1583, 18 U.S. Code §1584, U.S. Code § 1587, 18 U.S. Code § 1588, 18 U.S. Code §1589, and 18 U.S. Code §1590, and PLAINTIFF’S 13th Amendment Rights. 18 U.S.C §1951 (EXTORTION); Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §1862 (d); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (c); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (b); 18 U.S.C. §1862 (a); 42 U.S.C. §1981; 42 U.S.C. §1983, 42 U.S.C. §1985(2); 42 U.S.C. §1985(3); 42 U.S.C. §1986; 18 U.S.C. §226, 18 U.S.C. §241, 42 U.S.C. §1983, 18 U.S.C. §1961 Sections 1581-1590 (relating to peonage), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1510 (relating to obstruction of criminal investigations), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1343 (wire fraud), 18 U.S.C. §1961 section 1346 (to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services”), 18 U.S.C. §1961 Section 1503, 18 U.S. Code §201 (bribery), 18 U.S.C. §872 (Extortion by officer), 18 U.S. Code § 875, 18 U.S. Code § 880 (receives proceeds of extortion), Section 504, and PLAINTIFF’S 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, and 14th Amendment rights, and 18 U.S.C. §1961 Sections 1581-1590 (relating to peonage) to do so, the case of United States v. Kozminski, 487 U.S. 931 (1988) is so important to PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF’S case. It is especially applicable in An Anchor and a Pitchfork.

United States v. Kozminski, 487 U.S. 931 (1988) held that “for purposes of criminal prosecution under 18 U.S.C. §241 or 18 U.S.C. §1584, the term "involuntary servitude" necessarily means a condition of servitude in which the victim is forced to work for the defendant by the use or threat of physical restraint or physical injury or by the use or threat of coercion through law or the legal process. This definition encompasses cases in which the defendant holds the victim in servitude by placing him or her in fear of such physical restraint or injury or legal coercion.”

The facts of United States v. Kozminski, 487 U.S. 931 (1988) are the following: Two individuals in the case--Robert Fulmer and Louis Molitoris--both had a form of a cognitive disability—an intellectual disability (developmental disabilities/developmental delays are intertwined with the issues of an intellectual disability in which there are varying degrees of such)—in which Robert and Louis were found in poor health, in squalid conditions, and in relative isolation from the rest of society on a farm. The two owners of the farm were husband and wife (Mr. and Mrs. Kozminski) along with their son (John Kozminski). Robert had a different job in a different farm, but Mrs. Kozminski picked up Robert when he—too--was walking down the Side of the Street in which Mrs. Kozminski committed a legal act on his behalf by writing his former employer a note (probably never telling Robert) that Robert had gone.” Id.

PLAINTIFF is alleging just in case--because he doesn't believe his mother and father--that they were not informed of issues concerning PLAINTIFF and American Intel in Sewanee. For example, PLAINTIFF'S memory was that part of the proceeds of the Roof Is On Fire was forced to be deposited in PLAINTIFF'S name in which American Intel DEFENDANTS can attest to PLAINTIFF never went on any shopping sprees, did not buy a lot of clothes, shoes, etc. PLAINTIFF'S mother and father both routinely subject PLAINTIFF to physical abuse and assault involving matters of money when PLAINTIFF was in SEWANEE and so did American Intel DEFENDANTS. They routinely subject PLAINTIFF to issues involving money in which everyone all benefitted except for PLAINTIFF.

“Louis and Robert both lived and worked on the farm for 7 days a week, 24 hours a day (often working 17 hours a day). The Kozminskis subjected the two men to physical and verbal abuse for failing to do their work, and instructed herdsmen employed at the farm to do the same. The Kozminskis directed Robert and Louis to never leave the farm, and on several occasions when the men did leave, the Kozminskis or their employees brought the men back and discouraged them from leaving again. On one occasion, John Kozminski threatened Louis with institutionalization if he did not do as he was told. The Kozminskis failed to provide Fulmer and Molitoris with adequate nutrition, housing, clothing, or medical care. They directed the two men not to talk to others, and discouraged the men from contacting their relatives. At the same time, the Kozminskis discouraged relatives, neighbors, farm hands, and visitors from contacting Fulmer and Molitoris. Fulmer and Molitoris asked others for help in leaving the farm, and eventually a herdsman hired by the Kozminskis was concerned about the two men and notified county officials of their condition. County officials assisted Fulmer and Molitoris in leaving the farm, and placed them in an adult foster care home.” Id.

PLAINTIFF routinely worked for PLAINTIFF'S parents such as at 1616 Grand Ave, Waukegan, IL in which PLAINTIFF'S parents abused PLAINTIFF into having effective control of all the money he earned and abused him while working. American Intel DEFENDANTS were very well aware of these facts. PLAINTIFF--a graduate from law school--was abused numerous times into being prevented from leaving the home in any cars that were legally under his name. American Intel DEFENDANTS knew this. American Intel knew they could abuse PLAINTIFF too. After PLAINTIFF arrived back home from law school in January 2017 in which American Intel/DOJ made it impossible for PLAINTIFF to ever be a lawyer in the future, PLAINTIFF tried explaining the factual circumstances of RICO Enterprise 2 to his parents in which both his parents, Dr. Best, and his brother had argued to PLAINTIFF that he needed to be institutionalized for pointing out the truth of RICO Enterprise 2 in which when PLAINTIFF was trying to get help for his autism (as well as the torture ANDREW MCCABE/FBI/CIA/DHS subjected PLAINTIFF to), they prevented PLAINTIFF from getting the proper help he needed when ANDREW MCCABE/FBI/CIA/DHS furthered this treatment when they falsely diagnosed PLAINTIFF with having schizoid personality disorder because of what happened in Star Chambers and An Anchor and a Pitchfork. American Intel, et al. never provided PLAINTIFF with any housing in which they made $14,900,000,000 off of him in which he had to pay back the housing costs with interest when he was in law school, DEFENDANTS necessarily having violated the sanctity of his dorm rooms every year in Sewanee. The conditions of Sakura House in An Anchor and a Pitchfork were squalid. When PLAINTIFF arrived home from law school, the conditions of his home were squalid in which raccoons had broken into the home, made a den above PLAINTIFF'S bedroom, and the raccoons pissed and shit all over PLAINTIFF'S ceilings in which he begged his father to clean it up and kick out the raccoons. PLAINTIFF and his father got into a heated argument in which PLAINTIFF'S father so abused PLAINTIFF that he completely denied what PLAINTIFF was seeing and this Snapchat (See: Right) gives a present sense impression and fact of what PLAINTIFF and his father had argued about. Numerous times, PLAINTIFF begged his father to kick out the raccoons and clean up the squalid conditions and PLAINTIFF'S father said no as PLAINTIFF'S father enjoyed the fact that raccoons were living in his home and did not give a single fuck that the racoons were pissing and shitting on PLAINTIFF'S ceiling. The raccoons were in the ceiling for at least a year. American INTEL knew all of this and did nothing.

PLAINTIFF brought up the fact in Upbringing that if he really didn't want to do something as a child, he could make his nose bleed. PLAINTIFF became so stressed out because the torture American Intel subjected PLAINTIFF to over the years that he couldn't even sleep without his nose bleeding. (See: Below).

No there's nothing there—fuck outta here

PLAINTIFF'S father being such an abusive delusional psychotic piece of shit would go on these harangues-- in which one time, that PLAINTIFF has video evidence of, PLAINTIFF'S father threatened to kill PLAINTIFF—making these false accusations that PLAINTIFF allegedly threatened him every day and would blame everyone in which between 2017-2023, the police routinely came to PLAINTIFF'S house in which domestic violence occurred between PLAINTIFF'S Father and PLAINTIFF'S mother. Furthermore, he thought PLAINTIFF was sick when PLAINTIFF was telling the truth to him. American INTEL knew of all the abuse PLAINTIFF was being subject to and American Intel did nothing.

PLAINTIFF does not give a single fuck when DEFENDANTS are going to accuse PLAINTIFF of being a fraudster, you would do anything to leave the man on the left. You can infer the financial abuse PLAINTIFF'S father subjected PLAINTIFF to over the years and it is excusable because it was done under duress. What American Intel defendants knew is that PLAINTIFF always tried to pay back his credit cards and had major issues with PLAINTIFF'S father's financial abuse. Furthermore, PLAINTIFF alleges that his father and mother did something involving PLAINTIFF because there is no fucking way a U.S. Federal Bankruptcy Court make a bankruptcy case with numerous creditors magically disappear into thin air unless the United States and PLAINTIFF'S parents came to some sort of agreement about something. PLAINTIFF is alleging PLAINTIFF'S parents fucked over PLAINTIFF legally at the direction of the United States Government/American Intel to absolve American Intel in their wrong doing.

More medical issues? This is PLAINTIFF'S toe over the course of a year and a half after the torture in which this occurred in 2017 or 2018:

More medical issues? PLAINTIFF had diverticulitis in which that is only common for old people. PLAINTIFF owes money to Northwestern Hospital and has medical debt collectors hounding him in which after torturing PLAINTIFF in Japan in Summer of 2015, American Intel/DOJ tried to arrest PLAINTIFF for allegedly committing medical insurance fraud when PLAINTIFF was trying to get help for some of his medical issues: Star Chambers will explain that. That is just the tip of the medical iceberg.

The Court in United States v. Kozminski, 487 U.S. 931 (1988) went explained further: “Unlike § 1584, which by its terms prohibits holding to involuntary servitude, § 241 prohibits conspiracies to interfere with rights secured “by the Constitution or laws of the United States,” and thus incorporates the prohibition of involuntary servitude contained in the Thirteenth Amendment. See United States v. Price, 383 U. S. 787, 383 U. S. 805 (1966)... This judgment is confirmed when we turn to our previous decisions construing the Thirteenth Amendment. Looking behind the broad statements of purpose to the actual holdings, we find that, in every case in which this Court has found a condition of involuntary servitude, the victim had no available choice but to work or be subject to legal sanction... Similarly, in United States v. Reynolds, 235 U. S. 133 (1914), the Court held that “[c]ompulsion of . . . service by the constant fear of imprisonment under the criminal laws” violated “rights intended to be secured by the Thirteenth Amendment.” The Court has also invalidated state laws subjecting debtors to prosecution and criminal punishment for failing to perform labor after receiving an advance payment. Pollock v. Williams, 322 U. S. 4 (1944); Taylor v. Georgia, 315 U. S. 25 (1942); Bailey v. Alabama, 219 U. S. 219 (1911). The laws at issue in these cases made failure to perform services for which money had been obtained prima facie evidence of intent to defraud. The Court reasoned that “the State could not avail itself of the sanction of the criminal law to supply the compulsion [to enforce labor] any more than it could use or authorize the use of physical force.” Moreover, in Robertson v. Baldwin, 165 U. S. 275 (1897), the Court observed that the Thirteenth Amendment was not intended to apply to “exceptional” cases well established in the common law at the time of the Thirteenth Amendment, such as “the right of parents and guardians to the custody of their minor children or wards,” id. at 165 U. S. 282, or laws preventing sailors who contracted to work on vessels from deserting their ships. Id. at 165 U. S. 288.” Id.

PLAINTIFF had no choice but to work in which American Intel/DOJ/White House/ et. al. subjected PLAINTIFF to FISA rulings, numerous unconstitutional search and seizures, planting bugs in PLAINTIFF’S dorm rooms, routinely had the cops after him, never had a cop help PLAINTIFF, had their jurisdiction extended to subject PLAINTIFF to legal sanctions. There was always a constant fear of imprisonment because of what DEFENDANTS intentionally did to PLAINTIFF—no reasonable person in PLAINTIFF’S position could tell you otherwise. Someone approved physical force to be exerted against PLAINTIFF in Miki’s Tea Party and in the offing. PLAINTIFF is alleging that PLAINTIFF’S parents have abusing PLAINTIFF into signing numerous power of attorney intentionally withheld information from PLAINTIFF and PLAINTIFF’S parents had no right to be PLAINTIFF’S guardian because it was done fraudulently in which PLAINTIFF was never informed of any of the issues and American Intel can affirm that to be true because they were always motherfucking watching PLAINTIFF at all times between 2008 through 2023.

The Court in United States v. Kozminski, 487 U.S. 931 (1988) continued: “The other precursor of §1584, the Padrone statute, reflects a similarly limited scope. The "padrones" were men who took young boys away from their families in Italy, brought them to large cities in the United States, and put them to work as street musicians or beggars. Congress enacted the Padrone statute in 1874 "to prevent [this] practice of enslaving, buying, selling, or using Italian children." 2 Cong.Rec. 4443 (1874) (Rep. Cessna). The statute provided that "whoever shall knowingly and wilfully bring into the United States . . . any person inveigled or forcibly kidnapped in any other country, with intent to hold such person . . . in confinement or to any involuntary service, and whoever shall knowingly and wilfully sell, or cause to be sold, into any condition of involuntary servitude, any other person for any term whatever, and every person who shall knowingly and wilfully hold to involuntary service any person so sold and bought, shall be deemed guilty of a felony."Id.

This is exactly what fucking happened in “Trade Is In The Offing.”

The Court United States v. Kozminski, 487 U.S. 931 (1988) continued: “This statute, too, was aimed only at compulsion of service through physical or legal coercion. To be sure, use of the term "inveigled" indicated that the statute was intended to protect persons brought into this country by other means. But the statute drew a careful distinction between the manner in which persons were brought into the United States and the conditions in which they were subsequently held, which are expressly identified as "confinement" or "involuntary servitude." Our conclusion that Congress believed these terms to be limited to situations involving physical or legal coercion is confirmed when we examine the actual physical conditions facing the victims of the padrone system. These young children were literally stranded in large, hostile cities in a foreign country. They were given no education or other assistance toward self-sufficiency. Without such assistance, without family, and without other sources of support, these children had no actual means of escaping the padrones' service; they had no choice but to work for their masters or risk physical harm. The padrones took advantage of the special vulnerabilities of their victims, placing them in situations where they were physically unable to leave.”

American Intel, British Intel, Indian Intel, etc all took advantage of the special vulnerabilities of PLAINTIFF and placed PLAINTIFF in situations in which PLAINTIFF was unable to leave whether that was in Dulles, An Anchor and a Pitchfork, and anytime after 2017 in which they all made more than $14,900,000,000. DC was absolutely hostile to PLAINTIFF in which PLAINTIFF was literally stranded. American Intel intentionally deprived PLAINTIFF of any assistance toward self-sufficiency in An Anchor and a Pitchfork and that is what this complaint necessarily includes.

United States v. Kozminski, 487 U.S. 931 (1988) continued: “The history of the Padrone statute reflects Congress' view that a victim's age or special vulnerability may be relevant in determining whether a particular type or a certain degree of physical or legal coercion is sufficient to hold that person to involuntary servitude. For example, a child who is told he can go home late at night in the dark through a strange area may be subject to physical coercion that results in his staying, although a competent adult plainly would not be. Similarly, it is possible that threatening an incompetent with institutionalization or an immigrant with deportation could constitute the threat of legal coercion that induces involuntary servitude,
